SEEK FAIRER TAX BASIS IN PITT COUNTY

Situation to Be Discussed At Meeting At Court House On Next Monday

By C. W. HEARNE
Secretary Pitt County Tax Relief Association

Pitt county's chief industry is farming, and this has been true throughout its history. Today farm property is truly without commercial value. Why is this true? All products purchased by farmers are, directly or indirectly, controlled by organized interests engaged in manufacturing and selling, working on a business basis which includes a fixed profit.

Farm products are created without guidance of organized interest and does not work on a business basis, and does not have a fixed profit in selling prices. Uncertainty in weather conditions, crop yield, selling prices places farming on an uncertain basis and returns are uncertain, therefore owners of money are not willing to invest in farm property. Again, all farm property is visible and is easy to the "tax gatherer." The general run of owners of farm property are indebted, and the debts are secured by mortgages. In most instances these debts exceed the true value of the farm property, and leads to the following fact, though extremely unjust:

Farm property is valued at $5,000, it is mortgaged to secure the payment of $4,000, the owner pays 6 per cent interest on $4,000, and taxes on $5,000, while in truth he owns only $1,000 worth of property at the outside. The farm property is taxed at $5,000, the debt is taxed at $4,000, a total of $9,000, on which taxes are being levied, while in truth, at most there is only $5,000 worth of property.

Can farming continue under such extremely unjust burden? If not, what next? Now in sound judgment and thinking, what is the best thing to do for the general good of Pitt county? The answer is: If you are a good citizen of Pitt county, on Monday, July 14, at 10:30 o'clock for a short time only, in the interest of your own interest and your county, put aside other duties and attend, with your best impulses, a meeting of Pitt County Tax Relief Association, at the court house in Greenville and make your thought and presence felt in this meeting to compel taxes for 1930 to be fixed on a fair basis with Pitt county principal business farming.

Advocate Increase of Postal Rates

Washington, July 11.—(AP)—Convinced that an increase in postage rates is the only feasible way of lifting the world's biggest public utility "out of the red," postal officials are preparing to press their advocacy of a higher charge for carrying first class mail.

The Postmaster General Brown submits his annual report to Congress in December, the enactment of legislation authorizing the increase is to be his most urgent recommendation. The postmaster believes a rate of 2.1 cents an ounce on first class mail would balance the department's budget for the present.

Assistant Postmaster General Tison, generally regarded as the financial expert of the department, said today an increase in the rate on letter mail is the only solution of the deficit problem. "We see no other way out," Tison said. "If the public or Congress sees one, we shall be glad to have them point it out."

Last year's postal deficit amounted to $50,000,000. Tison estimates it will run over $60,000,000 this year. The present loss in handling the mails is now a charge against the general funds of the treasury. Brown and Tison are of the opinion the post office department as a public utility should be self-supporting, the cost of service to be borne by those it serves rather than tax the paying public.

Negroes Bound Over in Murder Case at Clinton

Clinton, July 11.—(AP)—Ernest and Chevis Herring, negroes, will be tried in the August Sampson County Superior court for the killing of F. F. Newton, aged Kerr postmaster June 28.

Probable cause was found late yesterday in a hearing before Magistrate Peterson and Bell here. The negroes are held without bond. Testimony of Sheriff W. H. Moore was that Chevis confessed the murder to him and implicated his brother, Ernest, as the only accomplice.

MAN AND WIFE GO ON TRIAL FOR MURDER

Charged With Fatally Shooting Filling Station Manager in South Carolina

Sumter, S. C., July 11.—(AP)—O. E. S. Howell and his wife, Carrie S. Howell, were placed on trial in general sessions court here this morning for the murder of C. Hartwell Williams, filling station manager who was fatally shot by Howell on June 18.

The court room was filled with spectators as Howell and his wife were brought into court. Howell appeared pale, but collected and fully recovered from his recent stupor which three physicians said was faked.

Mrs. Howell seemed calm. Her four children were brought in the court room by a relative.

Numerous relatives and close friends of Williams from Calleton county were seated at Solicitor F. A. McLeod's table. Among these were former Judge James E. Pennington and Senator R. M. Jeffries of Walterboro.

Presiding Judge John S. Wilson, of Sumter, ordered the bar cleared of everyone except lawyers, newspapermen, jurors and witnesses.

The jurors were excluded from the court room on motion of Montimer Weinburg, defense attorney, soon after the opening. He then asked continuance of the case.

In support of his plea for a continuance he asserted a resolution by the American Legion published in the Sumter Daily Item two days after the case had been set for trial was calculated to arouse feeling against Howell.

Solicitor McLeod opposed the motion and Judge Wilson ordered the case started.

R. D. Epps, of defense counsel, then asked for a severance of the case. This was refused and selection of the jury was started.

Discourtesy Costs Institution $50,000
Sydney, Australia, July 11.—(AP)—Because a secretary was discourteous a charitable institution here is reported to have lost $50,000.

Charles McNeess, western Australian millionaire and philanthropist, walked into the institution and asked to see the governor "on private business."

"If you can't state your business, you can't go in," replied the secretary tartly.

"Well," said McNeess, "if that is the way you treat poor people, I might as well tear this up."

He tore up a check for $50,000 and gave the secretary the fragments.

Denunciation Takes Place As Members of Senate Await Answer From President Regarding Demand for Secret Paper of Conference

Washington, July 11.—(AP)—President Hoover today refused the Senate's request for the secret documents on the London naval treaty.

Washington, July 11.—(AP)—Amidst expectation of a refusal from President Hoover of its request for the confidential documents about the naval conference, the Senate today heard the treaty negotiated at London denounced by Senator Hale.

Hoover and Secretary Stimson discussed the situation caused by the call for the papers. They do not consider publication of the material to be in the public interest and a quick reply to the Senate to that effect was being looked for.

Pending a settlement of that difference between the White House and the Senate, debate on the pact brought renewed opposition of Hale. The Maine senator, who heads the naval committee, contended ratification would prove the United States was incapable of looking after its own interests.

His long prepared speech recalled the one of detailed speech given Tuesday by Senator Swanson, of Virginia, who law good where Hale saw evil in the pact. Again the galleries were filled.

For the third day, a bare quorum of 49 answered the first roll call. The man from Maine had been waiting two days to express his opposition. He spoke slowly.

"The British by the terms of this treaty," he said, "have us hamstringed and hog-tied, and there they will keep us as long as limitations of armaments are the order of the day."

His Majesty wore the scarlet and gold uniform of colonel-in-chief of the Scots Guard. He stood beside Queen Mary before the twin golden thrones of Buckingham Palace and received the debutantes, some of whom, motivated by the approaching dog days, wore as brilliant rainment as Buckingham Palace has ever seen.

Her Majesty was attired in a gown of powder blue and silver brocade, embroidered in pearls, with the Kohinoor diamond flashing from her breast. Prince George, Princess Mary, Countess of Harewood and the Earl of Harewood, and other members of the royal family were grouped behind them.

It was not determined until just prior to the court that it was announced King George would attend. At that time his physicians pronounced him fit and allowed him to appear.

The American girls presented were: Miss Helen Lee, Washington, D. C.; Miss Justine Townsend, New York; Miss Elizabeth Wurts, Philadelphia; Mrs. Roy Baker, Washington, N. J.; Mrs. Samuel Meek, New York; Mrs. R. B. Moon, Indianapolis; and Mrs. K. Botsford, New York.

FARM BOARD TO GIVE OUT PRICE FACTS

Organization Claims to Have Saved Consumers $33,000,000 a Month

By FRANK I. WELLER

Washington, July 11.—(AP)—Figuring it has saved consumers $33,000,000 a month in the retail price of meat and increased producers profits, the Farm Board has decided to inform the public whenever it believes conditions warrant a cut in the price of agricultural products.

C. C. Teague, board member representing fruits and vegetables, said today that while no definite policy had been established he had no doubt the board would issue statements in regard to retail prices whenever the opportunity arose to benefit the general public.

Teague's statement followed reports of a drastic cut in the retail price of beef since June 26, when C. B. Denman, representing livestock on the board, announced that as a result of the decline in wholesale and live weight prices the consumer should find current prices of beef considerably lower.

Within ten days the retail meat dealers had reported a cut of 10 per cent in the price of good beef and 20 per cent on common grades.

At Kansas City, Mo., a general 10-cents a pound reduction was reported and in Washington, D. C., for the first time in years, cold steaks were advertised on 50-cent dinners.

Prior to Denman's statement the retail price of beef had maintained a constant level despite the succession of dips taken by wholesale and live weight prices. The chain store group, Denman said, had made some reduction, but it was not until housewives made a concerted demand for lower prices that the general price line took its precipitate dive.

Estimating total beef consumption at 8 billion pounds a year, Denman said a 5-cents a pound reduction in retail price would save consumers $400,000,000 a year or $33,000,000 a month.

In the first week following his announcement, Denman said, the country beheld for the first time in history—the spectacle of retail prices going down while live weight prices ascended.

Declaring that administration of the agricultural marketing act contemplated the welfare of the consumer as well as that of the producer Denman said the possibilities of what the producer and consumer could do collectively in adjusting retail prices were unlimited. He pointed specifically to the retail prices of dairy and poultry products.

Spiritualists Get Ready for Coming of Doyle's Spirit

London, July 11.—(AP)—Spiritualists have set the stage for Sir Conan Doyle's re-appearance before them during a memorial service to be held Sunday at Albert hall.

The author's favorite chair will occupy the center of the platform, the lay empty, but to his devotees occupied by the spirit of the man who created Sherlock Holmes, and who died Monday.

Lady Doyle, his widow, will sit at the left side of their chair, a place she always occupied during her husband's public lectures. She was said today to regard this as the last public demonstration that she would attend with him.

At Lady Doyle's request, Frank Hawken, organizing secretary of the spirit memorial service, said, a demonstration of Clairvoyance will be given. She supports Sir Arthur's view that Clairvoyance is a religious rite.

"We expect it to be the largest attempt at Clairvoyance ever made, but whether Sir Arthur will be able to demonstrate sufficiently yet for the medium to describe him is problematical. Even if he should it be doubtful if the evidence would be accepted by the skeptics, but we who have known Mrs. Estelle Roberts, who will be at the Clairvoyant, have no doubt at all."

HEAT CLAIMS THIRTY LIVES IN THE WEST

Death List From Killing Heat Continues to Mount, Especially Around St. Louis

Chicago, July 11.—(AP)—Killing heat surged anew over the midwest today, causing more deaths. The total for the present heat wave now is 31.

The scourge of summer struck hardest in the St. Louis metropolitan area yesterday. Six people died and eleven were prostrated.

The six deaths brought the Missouri heat casualties in the present oppression to 11. The state also had the highest unofficial temperature, Sikeston reporting a reading of 112.

Most of Iowa was perched above 100 degrees. Marshalltown, Atlantic and Council Bluffs cooked beneath 104. The total deaths to date from heat prostration mounted to four with one yesterday in Council Bluffs. Livestock in all parts of the state succumbed and farmers sought relief by working in the fields at night.

The death of a woman in Omaha brought the Nebraska heat fatalities to four. Temperatures ranged above the century mark over the state.

Thunderstorms and rains brought relief to northern Illinois, but caused crop and property damage.

Harrisburg, seven times smitten by temperatures of 100 degrees or more, reported the state's highest yesterday at 106.2.

A fatality in Springfield brought the Illinois heat deaths to five.

In the torrid northwest, five have died; four in Minneapolis and one in St. Paul. North and South Dakota were baked.

Eisconsin's first heat victim was a boy in Beloit, who dropped dead yesterday while at play.

Lake Michigan's breezes brought a comparatively cool respite to Chicago, Milwaukee and other lakeshore cities. In Chicago, the maximum was 79, in Milwaukee 82.

But the prediction was for warmer weather today.

NOTED GERMAN WARRIOR DEAD AT AGE OF 81

Gen. Von Bernhardt Passes After Leading Armies to Victory and Defeat

Berlin, July 11.—(AP)—General Friedrich Von Bernhardt, who led the Imperial Army both in victory and defeat, died here yesterday at the age of 81.

In the war of 1870 General Von Bernhardt was the first German officer to enter Paris after its fall. In 1912 he wrote an article predicting an Anglo-German war. His prediction proved correct.

At the outbreak of the world war he was commander of the home units of the Fifth Army Corps but at his own request was assigned to a field command.

He was an early advocate of the use of asphyxiating gases and before the end of the war was recognized as one of the premier strategists of the Imperial army. In a book published less than a decade ago, he predicted a war of the future in which gases and airplanes would play major parts.

General Von Bernhardt was born November 22, 1849, at St. Petersburg, the son of the counselor of the Prussian legation. Schooled in Germany for a military career, he even as a young man came into the limelight. He was the first of the German troops to leap over a barrier the French in 1871 had stretched across the entrance to the triumphal arch in Paris.

He was best known to Americans through his book "Germany and the Next War," which was widely read and cited against Germany and the allied countries during the world war. He made himself unpopular in pre-war days in Germany by continually harping in his writings on "Unpreparedness" of Germany for an inevitable European war.

HUSTON AGAIN PITTS DOCTORS DECLINES TO MAKE STUDY OF QUIT HIS JOB DISEASE HERE

Tells Republicans He Will Make Announcement After Congress Adjourns

By FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON

Washington, July 11.—(AP)—Turning back his party foes for a second time, Claudius Huston has given word he will announce his status as chairman of the Republican national committee in his own time—after the Senate adjourns.

This was the declaration he made yesterday to officers of the national committee who had announced before they went into session with their chairman that his resignation must be forthcoming.

His statement that "what I have to say on that subject will be withheld until after the adjournment of the Senate" was accepted by the Republican chieftains and they immediately interpreted it as meaning he then would announce his resignation.

But Mr. Huston emphasized later to newspapermen that "I have made no promise" and he warned them to make interpretations "on your own responsibility." Joseph F. Nutt, treasurer, and James F. Burke, counsel, heard Huston's word to the newspapermen and they did not challenge them. They are among those demanding his retirement.

Twice now Mr. Huston has told Republican leaders he will not quit under fire. They are beginning to believe him and they are endeavoring to end speculation and get the party controversy out of the press.

It was last April, not long after Huston's encounter with the Senate lobby committee, that a group of Republicans including two cabinet members, Secretary Hyde and Postmaster General Brown, called upon Huston to quit. He refused, while under fire.

Then it was gossiped at the capital that Huston would quit when Congress adjourned. President Hoover began looking for a successor. Senator Fess, of Ohio, was the general choice. Then the President talked to Huston and Mr. Huston let it be known his intention had not changed.

His foes within the party again got busy and it was agreed among those attending yesterday's session to have a showdown with their chairman.

He silenced them at the morning session by confining the meeting to the purpose which he called it—a discussion of the party's campaign plans. Then in the afternoon he himself brought up the subject of his future as chairman.

There was a full and free discussion in the words of Huston. Again he gave notice that he was not going to be forced out nor was he going to quit under fire. He said he would publicly state his plans after the Senate adjourns. The Republican leaders retired without asking for the resignation.

Five Killed As Airplane Crashes

Aransas Pass, Tex., July 11.—(AP)—Soaring through the clouds a mile high, five Kansas City, Mo., business and professional men yesterday plunged eastward in a plane and met death in the salt flats on the Texas coast, near where movie cameras a few hours had recorded their exploits at tarpon fishing.

The men killed were Murat Boyle, president of the Missouri State Bar Association; Raymond Watson, son of I. W. Watson of the firm of Watson, Gage and Ess; Roy Delano, realtor; Eugene Lynn and Gene Gabbert, aviator and pilot of the plane.

Meeting of Medical Society Confined to Study of Different Phases of Disease

Syphilis, one of the greatest scourges of humanity, especially among members of the colored race, came under the critical scrutiny of members of the Pitt County Medical Society assembled in regular monthly session at the Woman's club in this city last night. The session was one of the most largely attended in months, and several visitors from surrounding counties and more remote parts of the state were in attendance.

Dr. E. B. Beasley, of Fountain, president, and Drs. B. McK. Johnson, of Greenville, and C. C. Garlington, of Bethel, acted as hosts. A delightful supper was served by the women of the club.

The program for the evening was presented under the direction of Dr. O. C. Winger, of the U. S. Public Health Service, who has charge of the syphilis campaign at the present time being waged among the colored population of the county. The entire program was confined to a study of syphilis, and men prominent in the medical life of the state read interesting papers dealing with the problem.

The program held more than passing attention for members of the profession by reason of the campaign now under way in this county. The campaign is being sponsored by the Julius Rosenberg fund through the United States Public Health Service in co-operation with the North Carolina Department of Public Health. The fund provides for the expenditure of $3,000,000 and the experiment is being conducted in one county of five or six southern states with a view of interesting the various state health departments in the importance of combating the disease.

Interesting paper dealing with the question were read during the evening and numbers of cases of colored people with syphilis in its various forms and stages were present and appeared in demonstrations at different intervals.

Dr. Charles O'H. Laughinghouse, of Raleigh, secretary of the State Health Department, read a paper on "Syphilis as a Public Health Problem." Dr. Dr. H. B. Ives, of Goldsboro, read a paper on "Differential Diagnosis of Skin Lesions in Syphilis."

Dr. C. A. Shore, director of the State Laboratory of Hygiene, discussed "The Interpretation of the Wassermann Reaction."

Dr. O. C. Winger read a paper dealing with "The Modern Treatment of Syphilis."

Dr. C. E. Waller, of the United States Public Health Service, showed some very interesting lantern slides of patients with syphilis. The papers were discussed at length by members of the society and the visiting doctors, and many interesting sidelights on the disease were brought to the surface during the discussions.

Three Poisoned By Eating Beans

Winston-Salem, N. C., July 11.—(AP)—Presumably poisoned by eating beans which had been dusted to keep off the bean beetle, three Yadkin county people today probably owe their lives to the quick work of a physician.

Edgar Bell, Winifred Smith and Sant, Shores of Hamptonville section were at a "thrashing dinner" yesterday where the beans were served.

They became ill and a swift diagnosis and administration of antidotes by a physician saved them.

WOOD AGAIN TAKES LEAVE FROM PRISON

Most Widely Known Prisoner Makes His Fourth Escape From North Carolina Pen

Raleigh, July 11.—(AP)—A police dragnet extending over six states today had failed to find any trace of Otto Wood, North Carolina state prison's best known inmate, who walked away sometime yesterday afternoon to perfect his fourth escape.

Wood, selected by Gov. O. Max Gardner from among 2,300 inmates of the prison for an "experiment in humanities" was last seen at the prison about noon yesterday. His absence was not noted until the night check of the prison population was made after supper.

A description of Wood, an escaped convict from the Ohio prison, and also wanted by the United States Government and the state authorities of Tennessee, Virginia, and Indiana, according to records at state's prison, was sent out last night to police in North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Indiana, Virginia, Kentucky and West Virginia.

Today pictures of the man and his description, also the announcement of a $25 reward for his capture, will be sent throughout the country. Wood is now 36 years old, his left hand is severed at the wrist and his left foot is deformed, both deformities having resulted from a train accident while he was a railroad fireman.

The escape blasted an "experiment in humanities" of Governor Gardner, whose order had terminated a period of 26 months in solitary confinement for Wood, and who subsequently made him an honor grade prisoner.

The fugitive was serving a term of from 22 1/2 to 30 years for the murder of a Greensboro pawnbroker, begun in 1923. Wood once escaped from Ohio state penitentiary and is wanted by Virginia and Tennessee after completion of his term here.

The Wilkes county prisoner was in broken health when brought from "solitary." He made an excellent record and when promoted to "A" grade was made an assistant in the canteen and in the zoo.

Minus his left hand and with a limp because of a deformed left foot, the result of the railroad accident, Wood was a familiar figure in the prison grounds.

Otto's first escape was in 1924 when with a pistol he forced a guard to drive him through the front gate. He was gone but two days. The next break was a year and a half later when he hid in a section of pipe that was placed off a freight train. He was at liberty two weeks.

The third get-away—and by that time Wood's reputation as a prison-breaker was firmly established—was made by walking through the back gate when it was left unlocked. He was not apprehended for three months. Then for 26 months he was in "solitary."

When made an honor prisoner Wood told Governor Gardner, "I won't offer you my word of honor, because that wouldn't be much; but you can be sure of one thing, I'll never run away as long as you are governor."

Governor Gardner said of Wood's latest escape: "I do not regret releasing him from solitary confinement but I do regret his betrayal of my trust in trying to treat him as humanely as other prisoners at state's prison are treated."

ATTORNEYS GET ANOTHER SHOT AT TOBACCO CO-OPS

Raleigh, N. C., July 11.—(AP)—The three attorneys who helped throw the Tri-State Tobacco Growers Association into a receivership and late petitioned Federal Judge I. M. Meekins for $75,000 in additional attorney fees, will have another chance to get what they are asking for.

Judge Meekins, several weeks ago, denied the petition of the men, B. W. Gildewell of Reidsville, B. W. Buford of Lawrenceville, Va., and the late Willie M. Person of Raleigh and Louisville, J. C. Briggs, attorney for the petitioners, appealed the case to the Circuit Court of Appeals.

The Circuit Court heard the appeal in Asheville June 24 and has remanded the case, it was learned here today, with directions that Judge Meekins "find the facts as to whether allowances made to counsel as attorneys for the three receivers were intended to cover services rendered in the institution and prosecution of the suit, and if not so intended, and he is of opinion that institution of the suit was beneficial to the members of the association and yielded in the preservation of a found for their benefit, he will make such allowances to the petitioning attorneys as will reasonably compensate them for their services."

ABOUT
TOWN

If you have weeds on your premises, why not cut them down and do away with the mosquitoes?
Rank growth of weeds furnish the best breeding places in the world for the mosquito and it should be the purpose of every person interested in safeguarding the health and happiness of his community to see that no weeds are permitted to stay close to his home.
Mayor Lanier has issued a statement calling upon the citizenship to cut down all rank growth of vegetation. There is an ordinance making this compulsory, and those who fail to comply may be summoned into court to answer why.
Weeds not only give off an unpleasant odor, but they form a menace to any community from the standpoint of health and should be cut down while young. This eliminates the possibility of them becoming breeding places for the mosquito and malaria fever.
There were seven automobiles
stolen in North Carolina every day
last year, according to an official report given out at the capital city yesterday.
This brings us face to face with the importance of every driver taking the key out of his switch when he parks his car. Not long ago the writer was interested in knowing how many cars were left in front of churches without being locked.
He looked into ten machines, and kegs had been left in seven of them.
These cars were on the highway and could have been stolen with all ease in the world.
With this condition existing it is amazing that more cars are not stolen. People should realize the investment they leave behind in their automobiles and should not leave the machines parked in public places unless securely locked.
By a little more thought on the part of the owner the automobile thefts could be greatly reduced in North Carolina during the present year. And the most important thing connected with the reduction is the matter of locking the motor
when the car is parked.
Greenville established something of a record in the way of fire loss last year, and it is the purpose of the fire department to make even a better showing this year.
The public can render invaluable aid in making this ambition possible by using more care in handling of fires. The cigarette and cigar smokers could take just a little more time and see that butts are properly extinguished before consigning them to ash trays or trash heaps, and this action alone would help reduce the annual fire loss
to a considerable extent.
The fire demon takes an awful toll in the United States every year, and the most of it is the result of carelessness on the part of the public who fail to realize the responsibility resting upon them. It matters not where you may be or what you are doing if you have anything to do with fire, see that the property about you is properly protected before leaving the blaze.

been able to record the hottest weather in several years, but even then we are far more fortunate than other sections of the country where the temperature has gone
above the hundred degree mark, causing vegetation to wilt and people to die from prostration.
When the elements become violent in other sections of the country at any season of the year, it is always noticed that North Carolina and particularly Pitt county, are able to enjoy life under almost normal conditions.
Of course we have had crop seasons and a few light storms which take the lives of a few people occasionally, but our condition is nothing to compare with the other regions where loss of life at times is appalling and people are forced to resort to emergency measures to protect themselves.
This is truly a section blessed by the hand of Providence, and even if money is a little tight and crop
failures occur from time to time, we should thank our stars that human life—the world's greatest asset—is spared by the fury of the elements.

Mr. Editor:—
Wherever you see two or more people together you can bet your last dollar they are discussing taxes.
I have come to the conclusion that lots of them are like me, don't know what they are talking about,
but just joining in on the knackers
chorus.
I feel sure that some of our tax money has been wasted but none of us have gotten one hundred percent for all we spent, have we?
I don't believe the gentlemen who spent our tax money tried to waste it any more than they would their own money when all of them are taxpayers in Pitt county.
I will admit that I have no idea how much was spent wisely but when I stop knocking a minute to think what good has been done with our taxes in the last few years I feel ashamed of myself for there is so much more been done for us than we give credit for.
Who remembers how dry and deep the land was in the summer time, and how deep and wet the mud was in the winter time, on all of our roads?
Who remembers the old fence rail bridges. Many times I have gotten from my buggy to fix them
before my horse would cross over.
Who remembers the many streams
we had to drive through the water and many times when I had been to sell tobacco or cotton, I had to wait all night for the high water to run away.
One question we most always ask
our friends was how are the roads
down your way?
Who remembers the one room log school house with no ceiling on the walls, or overhead, you could see the sky through the roof and hogs
sleeping through the floor.
To keep from freezing we had a fireplace in one end, and all the fuel we had was what wood the larger boys could pick up in the woods nearby.
Why talk about squawking if we fathers and mothers had to start our children to a school of this kind this fall, there would be plenty going on.
Suppose our children had to walk
from one to another miles on the old muddy roads to a school of this kind, I don't believe we would say so many unjust things about the good people that are doing all they can for our children.

We hear some funny expressions
about the tax question out here anyway. One of my neighbors said the worst mistake that had been made was not keeping the old roads and school houses just like they were for the class of people that always complain about any improvements that are made for the public.

He said we should have two classes of taxes, and let everybody take their choice, low tax, old roads, schools, etc., higher tax, use new roads, schools and other improvements that were made from time to time. Maybe not a bad idea after all. Some of our worst kickers are like a fellow, a friend of mine, in Greenville was telling me about last Monday. It seems that during the time the crowds were waiting for the election returns Saturday night around your office, a fellow had a crowd around him telling them all about the tax question, and how to get everything in first class shape in short order. Also that they would be cut one-half soon.
My friend began to ask him questions and he soon admitted that he had been out of a job most all winter
and had gotten most of his food for his wife and six children at the store run by the good people of Greenville free for the poor and needy. Also the Salvation Army man had been nice to him.
My friend asked him who his doc-

Three Greenville People Injured In Wreck Near Raleigh

J. H. Waldrop, Rufus Teel and Miss Mary Woolard, of this city, who were painfully injured in an automobile collision near Raleigh yesterday, were reported to be getting along nicely today, although Mr. Waldrop was still confined to his bed at his home here. A mail carrier operating in and out of Raleigh, received a fractured leg in the crash. He was held responsible for the wreck.

The collision occurred a few miles out of Raleigh as the local people were returning home. The car driven by the mail carrier attempted to pass a truck ahead of him. Seeing that the approaching car would not have time to pass, Mr. Waldrop pulled his car off the road in an effort to avoid a collision. Instead of keeping on the highway, the postal employee also pulled off the road, making the collision inevitable. The two Greenville men were badly bruised, and Miss Woolard suffered mainly from shock.

The injured were picked up by Judson Blount of Greenville, who happened to be passing at that time and carried to Raleigh for medical attention. Miss Woolard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Woolard, was so badly shocked by the impact that she was carried to the home of a relative where she remained several hours before returning to Greenville.

Mr. Waldrop's car was almost completely demolished by the impact and the other machine was also badly damaged.

Local Lions Hold Meet at Bayview

The regular meeting of the Greenville Lions club was held at Bayview Wednesday night, and an interesting program was put on under the direction of Reid Perkins. President Sam Carson presided.

The meeting was held at the Bayview Hotel where an elaborate supper was served. The program consisted mainly of stunts. The guests were required to turn a fortune wheel and this contained a message telling them what to do.

After the program at the hotel the guests went to the pavilion out at the end of the pier where dancing was enjoyed during the remainder of the evening, music being furnished by the Duke Blue Devils.

The model receiving the largest number of ballots for the two nights will be given the title of "Miss Fashion Queen of Greenville," and sent to the North Carolina Fashion and Beauty Extravaganza at the Carolina Theatre in Greensboro, where she will compete against the representatives of 20 other cities of this state for the title of "Miss Fashion Queen of North Carolina," who in turn will go to New York City to strive for the honor of becoming "Miss Fashion Queen of America."

Many of the various cities representatives of North Carolina have been selected to enter the state pageant. Among them are Miss Elaine Goode, "Miss Fashion Queen of Rocky Mount"; Miss Margaret Pennington, "Miss Fashion Queen of Statesville"; Miss Frances Thompson, "Miss Fashion Queen of Salisbury"; Miss Dorothy Furr, "Miss Fashion Queen of Raleigh"; Miss Lucy Hall, "Miss Fashion Queen of Fayetteville"; Miss Katherine Herling, "Miss Fashion Queen of Wilson"; and Miss Virginia Rogers, "Miss Fashion Queen of Durham."

ensemble scenes.

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET

New York, July 11.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 4 points to a decline of 2 points.

There was some further buying on reports of continued hot weather in the south, but the initial demand for cotton was supplied by realizing or liquidation which was probably coupled with some local or Wall street selling on relatively easy cables, unfavorable cotton cloth statistics and small private consumption figures for June.

New October contract eased off to 13.95 by the end of the first half hour, when active months generally showed net losses of about 1 to 7 points. Trading was comparatively quiet. Consumption of lint cotton of all growths in this country for June, as estimated by the New York Cotton Exchange service, was 410,000 bales, compared with 570,000 in June last year. Liverpool cables said that further continental buying and covering had been supplied by realizing in that market.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, July 11.—(AP)—Rains in Canada and some moisture also in domestic spring wheat territory led to a late setback in wheat prices today, overcoming earlier gains. Traders who had been the most active in buying wheat switched quickly to the selling side. Fading away of wheat values was influenced also by an easing down of the corn market in the late dealings.

Wheat closed unsettled 1 7/8 to 2 3/8 lower than yesterday; corn closed at 1-4 to 1 net advance; oats at a shade decline to 1-4 gain and provisions varying from 5 setback to a rise of 20c.

STOCK MARKET

New York, July 11.—(AP)—The stock market appeared frightened today in view of its retrospect, its boldness in advancing three days on end for the first time since May, moderate though the advances were, and recession was again in order.

There has been circulated some bullish but unconfirmable rumors this week of plans to revive the long dormant bull market, but the traders appeared unconvinced, and anxious to take profits on shares bought at the recent low levels. The rail, in particular, reacted after their brisk upturn yesterday.

There was no aggressive bear selling, however, and the market was about as loath to decline as it has been to rise. Losses in pivot al shares were held to small proportions, and trading was again dull. The opinion was held in brokerage circles that the market had reached an impasse which would not be broken without important news from business.

The day's quota of industrial and trade news was no more decisive than it has been during the last few days. The first second quarter earnings statements to come to hand have not been as unsatisfactory as the more gloomy predictions had indicated, and there is a growing ni speculative quarters that the market may already have discontinued the unsatisfactory results of that period.

After renewing at 21-2 per cent, call money sank to 2 for the first time in a week, and tended to discredit predictions based on a firm tone in the longer maturities of acceptances and time money lately that the credit had again turned upward.

THEY GAVE A new Thrill

THAT'S WHY THEY GOT THERE... SO QUICKLY

IT WAS JUST TWO YEARS AFTER HE SAW HIS FIRST RACE HORSE THAT SANDE WAS CROWNED "EARL" OF AMERICAN JOCKEYS.

FAST SUCCESS STORY NO. 5
EARL SANDE

The first race horse he ever saw was hitched to the tailboard of a prairie schooner. Two years later, every track in America resounded to that famous cry, "C'm on Sande!" He always gave the public the best run for its money.

That's the reason, too, for OLD GOLD'S quick success. OLD GOLD always gives the public a run for its money with a new taste-thrill. And no throat-hack.

Explain Sande? Explain OLD GOLD? ... Sande and OLD GOLDS are born ... not made.
