TWO DERBIES TO COMPLETE FLIGHT TODAY

Mrs. Phoebe Omlie Leading in Women's Derby On Journey to Chicago

(By The Associated Press)
Two of the half-dozen air derbies that have been focusing on Chicago and the national air races from the four corners of the nation were to end today.

The Southern Men's Derby, Brownsville, Texas, to Chicago, made the last overnight stop at East St. Louis, Ill., and took off at 9:30 a. m. (CST) today for Aurora, Ill., and Chicago. An Aurora pilot, Jack Livingston, held an unofficial lead of one hour and 12 minutes over the only other contestant, W. G. Moore of Kansas City.

The Men's Atlantic (Class A) Derby, Miami, Fla., to Chicago, had a much longer flight ahead to reach Chicago by nightfall. The three pilots were delayed a day at Augusta, Ga., by unfavorable weather, and when they took off from there today they planned to omit the scheduled overnight stop at Cincinnati and fly on, so as to arrive in Chicago in time to land for the first day of the air races. The leader was Art Phillips of La Grange, Ill., but his margin over the other two airmen—Art Davis of Lansing, Mich., and George Burrell, also of La Grange, was less than even minutes.

Two women's derbies, one from the east, one from the west, were progressing more leisurely. Mrs. Phoebe Omlie of New York and Memphis, was the leader of the Dixie Derbyists, who took off this morning from Raleigh, N. C., to Columbia, S. C., on the day's lap of their Washington to Chicago journey. Five other women are in the race.

In the women's race from Long Beach, to Chicago, Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell of Long Beach, maintained a lead over five other fliers as the planes moved northward from Wichita, Kansas.

Five Seattle-Chicago fliers had a tail wind to push them along as they took the air from Billings, Mont., headed for a luncheon stop at Bismarck, N. D. Aberdeen, S. D., is the night control point. Nick Nam, of the Spokane airman, was the leader.

The Hartford, Conn., to Chicago derby moved from Cleveland, Ohio, to Detroit this morning and then advanced toward Bay City, Mich., and finally South Bend, Ind., for the last night's stop before going to Chicago.

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Mrs. Phoebe Omlie, New York aviatix, appeared to have added a comfortable lead to her first day's margin in her flight from Raleigh to Columbia today.

With four of the six Dixie Derbyists at Owens' Port at 12:30 p. m., her time bettered that of her nearest rival by more than 40 minutes. She led the race from Washington to Raleigh.

Official time given for the fliers was:

Mrs. Omlie, 1:21:53.
Nancy Hopkins, Washington, 2:01:25.

Martie Bowman, St. Louis, 2:17:30.
Mrs. Charity Langdon, Norfolk, Va., 2:24:40.

Miss Bowman said her compass had taken off her route from Raleigh and she landed at Charlotte, N. C. She resumed her trip to Columbia from Charlotte.

Order Reduced Rate Put In Force On Tanning Extracts

Raleigh, Aug. 23.—(AP)—The State Corporation Commission to-day ordered 11 railroads to put reduced freight rates on tanning extracts and materials in force between Wilmington and western North Carolina points on or before September 10.

The order stipulated that the rate be 2 1/2 cents per hundred pounds less than the current rates on tanning materials and extracts in effect between Norfolk, Va., and the North Carolina points.

Wilmington, the commission said, was found to be an average distance of 10 miles nearer the North Carolina points than Norfolk. The Norfolk rate was set arbitrarily at 3 1/2 cents per hundred pounds less than the rate from Baltimore to the North Carolina points, the commission said, without regard to distance, and "it follows that it will be both reasonable and logical to make Wilmington rates to similar groups arbitrarily something less than rates from Norfolk."

Boost Annexation of Two Counties

Danbury, Conn., Aug. 23.—(AP)—There may be soon 99 instead of 100 North Carolina counties.

A sub-committee of the Stokes County Taxpayers' Relief committee has been instructed to call upon Forsyth county officials and discuss ways and means whereby Stokes might be added to Forsyth by annexation. The proposal is contained in a plan for tax relief to be offered at a mass meeting of Stokes citizens scheduled for the first Monday in September.

SMITH & SUGG PREPARED FOR LEAF SEASON

Warehouse Firm In Better Position Than Ever to Care for Their Patrons

With a total floor space of 78,208 square feet, the Star Warehouse, operated by Smith & Sugg, was ready today for the opening of the Greenville tobacco market September 2.

Improvements at the Star warehouse last year converted it into one of the most modern and up-to-date houses in this part of the state. One of the principal features of the Star's accommodations is a ladies' rest room which has become very popular and is considered a necessity in every modern warehouse. The warehouse is also provided with new and larger entrances by the driveway on Eighth street.

Rest and sleeping rooms have been provided for both white and colored patrons of the house, and the owners have taken several other steps looking to the comfort of their customers while they are in the city with their offerings of golden weed.

The Star is owned and operated by Smith & Sugg and is the oldest warehouse firm in Greenville. Smith & Sugg have owned and operated the Star for the past sixteen years and number their friends by the thousands in Eastern Carolina.

This is one of the nine mammoth houses that will cater to the thousands of farmers who dispose of their offerings on the Greenville market this year, and those who come here may be assured of the best and quickest service of any market in this part of the country.

HOPE TO HOLD REDUCTION OF INCOME TAXES

Hoover and Mellon Do Not Believe One Percent Cut Will Be Discontinued

Washington, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Clouds on the financial sky lifted today with word from the White House and the Treasury that prospects were good for continuing the present one per cent reduction in income taxes.

No promise was made, but President Hoover said prediction of a deficit would prevent continuing the reduction was unwarranted and Secretary Mellon added there was a "probability" the lower schedules would be continued. As the reduction authorized by Congress for this year was not made continuing legislation will have to be passed or the previous higher rates will return.

The two statements late yesterday followed earlier pessimistic forecasts by treasury experts. Publication of these gloomy reports brought a round of conferences and the optimistic announcements followed.

President Hoover said several items not taken into account in calculating a deficit could be counted upon to swell treasury receipts. Among these he cited increased customs receipts—temporarily reduced "because of advance imports to anticipated new tariff law—increased construction at home and substantial payments on the debts of foreign nations. Not the least important in his list was the downward revision of government expenditure.

Partial reports on the drive for new economies in government departments; the President said, indicated a reduction of about $75,000,000. Several departments have voted to turn in estimates.

"A very real hope," of continuing the tax reduction was voiced by Mr. Mellon, who pointed out also that the last fiscal year ended with a $186,000,000 surplus.

The one per cent cut reduced income taxes by about 169,000,000, in amounts ranging from $3.75 on $4,000 incomes to nearly $100 on larger personal earnings. Corporations benefited proportionately.

Cotton Ginning Ahead of 1929

Washington, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Cotton ginning prior to Aug. 16 from the growth of 1930 was announced today by the Census Bureau as having totaled 572,686 running bales, including 12,173 round bales, counted as half bales, and excluding lint.

To that date last year 304,771 bales, including 4,169 round bales, were ginned and in 1928 ginnings to that date were 279,568 bales, including 5,893 round bales.

The ginnings to Aug. 16 include 77,956 bales of crop of 1930 ginned prior to Aug. 1 and counted in the supply of the season of 1929-30, compared with 85,974 and 88,761 bales of the crops of 1928 and 1928.

Shoots His Child, Believed Burglar

Albermarle, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Mistaking his 7-year-old son, James Harold, for a burglar, J. S. Nance, employe of a local dry cleaning plant, fired a shotgun point blank into the boy's face early today.

The child, doctors say, may recover.

Mr. Nance had the week's payroll and the day's collection with him last night. Alarmed, consequently, by a creaking door, he fired.

Deposed Leader Breaks Up Meet of Mill Strikers

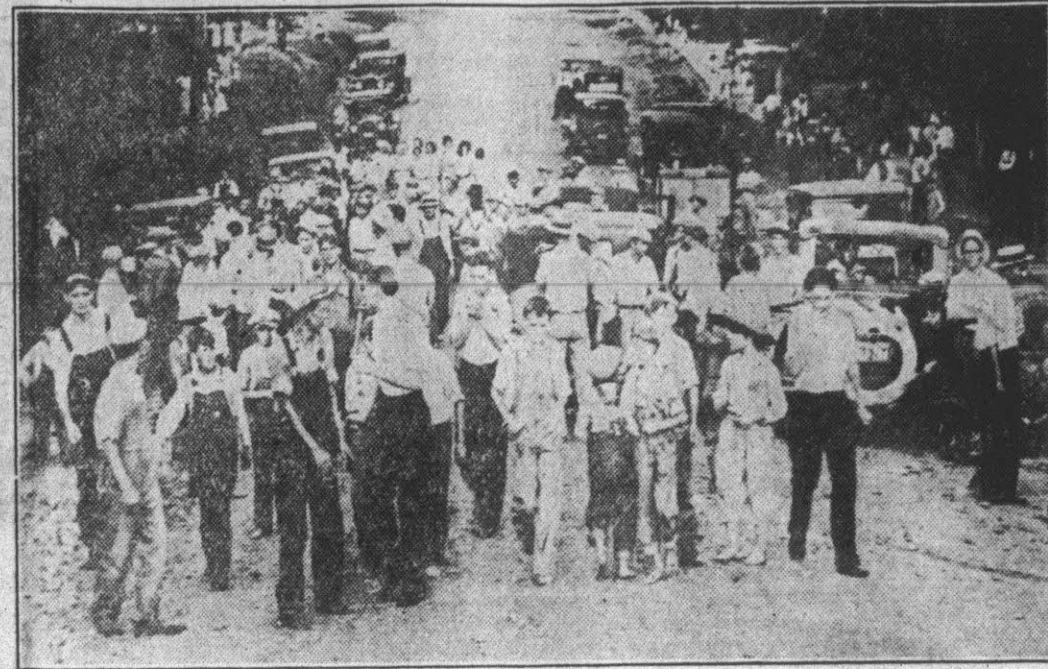

Bessemer City, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Sol Goldberg, son of the president of the American Mills No. 1 and 2, said this afternoon a strike at the two textile plants which went into effect Monday, had been settled.

Bessemer City, Aug. 23.—(AP)—E. L. Gillespie, deposed leader of the striking operatives of the American Mills here, broke up a meeting of the strikers today which was called to pass day a strike settlement agreement committee had made with the mill management.

R. O. Gregory, chairman of the strikers committee, attempted to outline to the meeting the settlement his committee was prepared to carry through, but Gillespie interrupted him and took the floor. The meeting broke up in an uproar.

Gregory said the workers would hold another meeting this afternoon and that Gillespie would be prevented from interrupting it.

REDUCTION OF CROPS URGED BY SPEAKERS

No Relief Seen for Depressed Prices Until Over-Production Is Relieved

Reduction of acreage in North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, as a means of improving the price situation prevailing in the tobacco industry, was advocated by speakers at the regular twice-a-month meeting of the Greenville Kiwanis club last night.

With the market glutted with a surplus of bright leaf, opinion was expressed that the only way to relieve the situation was through curtailment of the crop in the three important tobacco raising states of the south. Unless this should be done little hope was foreseen for any improvement over the situation as it exists today. It all goes back to the case of supply and demand, it was said, with the supply far greater than the demand, and the manufacturers purchasing what they can handle and nothing more.

The program last night was devoted to a discussion of the commercial life of the community, and was in charge of W. H. Woodard, vice-president of the Greenville Banking & Trust Company. President B. B. Sugg presided. The singing was led by C. B. Rowlett with Mrs. Ray Tyson, Jr., acting as accompanist.

J. S. Ficklen, president of the Ficklen Tobacco Company, expressed opinion that prices would be low in this section, but held out hope for an improvement after the market had been in operation two or three weeks. He said that considerable inferior tobacco was always offered during the opening sales, and as soon as this had been disposed of he believed the price situation would be much stronger.

He declared that all farm commodities were low as result of over-production. This applies especially to the tobacco field where there is far too much bright leaf. He asserted that many of the dealers were loaded with tobacco they purchased the first part of last season and this would prevent them from purchasing as liberally as under ordinary conditions.

He declared that the only relief for the farmers must come through reduction of acreage, and urged that an active campaign be waged with this end in view. The campaign should not be confined to this section alone, but to all of the principal tobacco producing states of the south. It was described as the only salvation of the farmer with the markets flooded with commodities and production still far in excess of consumption.

J. J. Summerville, southern representative for one of the largest fertilizer concerns of the country, told during the last hundred years, he gave his hearers an intimate glimpse into virtually every branch of the industry, and explained the difference between the natural and synthetic fertilizer.

Discussing the crop situation in this part of the country, he said he found that the crops in this section were not as good as in South Carolina. He said that South Carolina, after several crop failures, had one of the best yields in years, and were doing everything possible to combat a bad situation resulting from depressed prices. He did not anticipate any improvement in prices for commodities in this section, and especially in the tobacco field, and urged his hearers to put their shoulder to the wheel and do their best to meet the situation.

He said the pendulum had begun to swing back after lingering on the side of depression, and that by (Continued on page three)

Red-Flannel Weather Predicted for West

Chicago, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Get out your red flannels and put some alcohol in the radiator: The martins have left for the south.

The little purple birds, whose flights are taken by many persons as certain indications of change in seasons, have completely evacuated their summer homes in Washington park. Park officials said they took off for the southland fully three weeks earlier than last year.

T. E. Clarke of Hinsdale, who has kept a record of his martin visitors for years, says he has not seen any of the birds for a week.

It looks like an early fall. Brt.

FOUR GERMAN FLIERS HEAD FOR AMERICA

Captain Von Gronau Arrives in Greenland On Way to the United States

Ivigtut, Greenland, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Captain Wolfgang Von Gronau and his three German companions, who landed here yesterday in a flight from Iceland, will continue to Labrador or Newfoundland tomorrow if weather permits. They presumably are on a flight to the United States, although they have not so announced definitely.

Copenhagen, Denmark, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Captain Wolfgang Von Gronau, German aviator, and three companions, today were at Ivigtut, Greenland, presumably on their way to the United States, after a flight from Reykjavik, Iceland.

Greenland authorities reported the fliers' arrival there yesterday afternoon after several hours of mystery as to their course after they left Reykjavik, avowedly going to Germany but actually heading in the opposite direction.

Departure from Reykjavik yesterday was at 6:35 a. m. (2:25 a. m. EST). One hour and 35 minutes later a radio message from the plane indicated a westerly rather than easterly flight, and information later said the plane landed at Ivigtut at 3:30 p. m. EST. The trip was about 1,000 miles, over water most of the way, and required about 11 hours flying.

The four airmen have the same Dornier Wal flying boat that brought Roald Amundsen and his companions back from their unsuccessful attempt to reach the North Pole in 1925. Besides Von Gronau, they are: Franz Back, mechanic; Herr Albrecht, wireless operator and an aviator student named Zimmerman.

Considerable mystery has surrounded the flight from the start. Captain Von Gronau flew here from the Faroe Islands early in the week and intimidated the American flight. Later he denied that such was his intention and said he was taking off yesterday to fly back to Germany.

His radio an hour and a half after departure however gave the American direction of his flight and added that, landing arrangements had been made in Greenland and Canada, "thanks to the good assistance of Iceland."

Jury Returns Verdict That Negro "Was Lynched By Mob of Masked Men Whose Identity Is Unknown"; Edgcombe Jailer Tells of Mob Violence

Wilson, Aug. 23.—(AP)—A verdict that Oliver Moore, 29, negro, was "lynched by a mob of masked men whose identity is unknown" was returned by a Wilson county coroner's jury today.

The jury heard the story of the attack at the jail last Tuesday and of investigations made since, but no evidence was given which connected anyone with the lynching.

Deputy Sheriff R. O. Watson, who was in charge of the jail at the time of the mob's descent upon it, told of how the jail door was broken in and he was overpowered and the negro taken. He said there were more than 100 men in the mob and all but 25 or 30 were masked. He said he did not know any of those who were unmasked.

Sheriff W. E. Bardin, of Edgcombe county, testified concerning his investigations following the lynching. He said he had been unable to learn the identity of a single member of the mob.

H. M. Casby, of Tarboro, said he saw a number of automobiles parked near the jail shortly before Moore was taken from it and went there to learn what was occurring. A man armed with a shotgun stopped him, he said, and ordered him to "get back." Casby said the mob was orderly and made the entrance to the jail quietly.

The inquest was attended by L. R. Reynolds, of Richmond, Va., secretary of the Commission on Interracial Co-operation, who is investigating the lynching on behalf of the Southern Inter-racial Commission of Atlanta, Ga.

C. S. Elks Buried Near Grimesland

Funeral services for C. S. Elks, 65, well known farmer of the Grimesland community, were conducted from his late home yesterday afternoon by Rev. Robert Hodges, pastor of the Bear Creek Holiness church. Burial was made at the Elks' home place under a large oak tree which had been selected by the deceased at his final resting place.

Death followed an illness of two weeks' duration, although he had been in declining health over a period of several months.

Mr. Elks was probably one of the best known growers of his community, having been engaged in the farming industry the major part of his life.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, Raymond and Daniel Elks, and a daughter, Mrs. Claude Haddock, all of the Grimesland community. He is also survived by several grandchildren and six brothers.

SACCO-VANZETTI MEETING CALLED AT CHARLOTTE

Charlotte, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Jennie Cooper, district organizer for the International Labor Defense, announced here today that a Sacco-Vanzetti memorial meeting by her organization at Gastonia for this afternoon would not be held because she feared the speakers would be attacked.

"We are informed there will be a 'lynching party' if we try to hold this meeting," she said.

SWEDEN WILL CLAIM BODY OF EXPLORER

Bodies of Three Men Lost In First Air Expedition to Pole On Way Home

Stockholm, Aug. 23.—(AP)—The Swedish government has decided to bring the body of Salomon-Auguste Andree, famous explorer and balloonist, back to his native land aboard a Swedish battleship.

The ship will meet the sealing vessel Brattvaag, which is carrying the body, at some convenient point and make the transfer. Solemn ceremonies will mark the bringing of the body to Sweden and its interment.

Oslo, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Salomon-Auguste Andree, Swedish balloonist explorer who in 1897 tried to fly to the North Pole in a balloon was believed here today to have reached a point less than 500 miles from his objective, and to have been beaten back to the uninhabited world when death overtook him.

Dr. S. Horn, scientist with the expedition which August 8 found Andree's body, and those of his two comrades, Nils Strindberg and Knut Frankel, said he did not think their balloon landed on White island, or Hvitoen, since there were distinct traces of the party having arrived by rowing or walking.

On the back page of the balloon's log, one of the two books found in the camp with the bodies, there is the notation, "83 degrees north 23 east" with the date of entry, July 18, 1897, even days after the start on the balloon from Dane's island, Spitzbergen.

The position given in some distance north of the spot where the men's bodies were found, and about 475 miles from the pole itself.

The captain of the sealer Brattvaag, which is bringing the bodies back to Tromsø, Norway, to arrive there September 10, said the camp was arranged in intelligent manner. Moccasins and other equipment were found very much worn, indicating long use. Andree, apparently lived the longest. Rifles and instrument were placed at his side; also there was his personal diary in which he wrote his last words.

Andree's body was said by the captain to be in an exceptionally good state of preservation.

Two Percent of U. S. Population Now Unemployed

Washington, Aug. 23.—(AP)—A total of 2,598,151 able-bodied Americans, comprising two per cent of the country's total population, were listed today by the census bureau as unemployed last April and looking for work.

The total was announced on the basis of preliminary returns from every section of the country. The bureau explained that six other classes of unemployed were not included in the present total, but added that those "without a job, able to work and looking for a job" unquestionably constituted the bulk of those to be listed as unemployed.

Because tabulations have not been completed on the number of persons now gainfully employed, a definite comparison was not available. The bureau estimated, however, employed would approximate 40 per cent of the total population. This would bring the number idle to approximately five per cent of the normally employed population.

By states, the percentage of job seekers ranged from 0.3 in South Dakota and Mississippi to 3.2 in Rhode Island and New Jersey and 3.3 in Michigan.

The other classes to be covered by the unemployment census include those having jobs but laid off without pay; persons unable to work; those having jobs and voluntarily idle, and vacationists and others drawing pay but not at work.

Bar Association Closes Sessions

Chicago, Aug. 23.—(AP)—A new note on international peace was sounded last night as the American Bar Association ended its Chicago convention.

Addressing the closing banquet, at which Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes was the honor guest, the Rt. Hon. Lord Tomlin said there could be no peace that is not based on justice.

"You are a great nation of great ideals," Lord Tomlin said. "Peace is very near your heart—not the mere absence of war but peace in the broadest sense. There can be no peace not founded on justice and no justice that is not based on the principles of the laws and the courts."

THE TOBACCO PRICE CONTROVERSY.

We feel quite confident that if tobacco companies, particularly the larger tobacco companies are left unmolested they will buy what tobacco they need at whatever price it may be obtained, regardless of the manner in which the sales affect the farmer. Like many other businesses we might easily name, the tobacco corporations are not remotely interested in the welfare of the farmer. The responsibility for producing dividends each year has reduced the business of buying tobacco and selling the finished product to a cold-blooded process. The buyer hopes that the farmer will look at his crop in the same way, and it is fairly safe to add that the price determinant is the law of supply and demand. If the farmer cuts his crop to the point where there are one thousand pounds less tobacco raised than desired by the tobacco manufacturers, there will be real competition on the floors of the market.

That the four great domestic companies are interested in selling their product first goes without saying, and just as long as the buyer can straddle the farmer, we assure the farmer that the buyer will do just that. The buyer feels under no obligation to aid the grower, particularly when the growers persist in over planting. The law of supply and demand works just as effectively in the growing of tobacco as it does in the manufacture of cotton sheets or cigarettes. The producer is too wise to flood a market with his product; yet the grower insists upon saturating the market. The result is obvious.

And all the Federal organization in the world will not beat the law of supply and demand. If all of the tobacco raised in this country could be placed in a great pool, the buyer would be made to purchase at a higher price not one pound more than he needs. There would be a surplus of tobacco for which there would be no sale price, and Federal aid would be without avail, all other arguments to the contrary. In Kansas Chairman Legge and his Farm Board are not able to benefit the wheat growers. The mere fact that the Farm Board holds several millions of bushels of wheat and that there is a remote possibility that the board will dump this on the market has done much to depress wheat prices. And if the Farm

Board were to buy all Kansas wheat this year and haul it to the middle of the Atlantic, dump it in the water and ask farmers to take advantage of the opportunity, the same crucial conditions would exist within the next few years. The Kansas farmer wants the other man to reduce his acreage. The other man asks why he should be discriminated against and the result is over-production.

The cotton co-operatives may buy every pound of cotton produced and hold it until the buyer is forced to pay a price that assures profit for the grower. But the co-operative organization will be holding cotton for years that they cannot unload. The law of supply and demand is just as deeply entrenched in our economic system as the system itself. If we agree in the breakdown of our plan of bargaining, then we can disregard the law. But the penalty for disobedience under our system is depression, such as we are undergoing now.

China is less able to buy our tobacco this year; the tariff may affect our sales abroad. Consequently the farmer must look to his own needs just as the corporation looks to his. Sentimentalism and hard-boiled business do not inter-mix.

The program of the Telegram, a rather homely one, we admit, is a reduction in acreage. If we told the average farmer that his salvation lay in his willingness to reduce his acreage, he would say we were trying to make him the victim of some scheme to deprive him of his rights. The farmer has never been introduced to His Majesty, the Law of Supply and Demand. And he shows not the slightest inclination to become familiar. We advocate a reduction of about 20 per cent in tobacco acreage, the nation over. In the place of tobacco we suggest hogs, corn, sweet potatoes, Irish potatoes, small grain, hay, cows, chickens and truck. Whatever profit the farmer makes from a crop of tobacco, the farmer can deposit in a bank. He will have to buy shoes and clothing and sugar and coffee, and a few incidentals, but he can sell his chickens and his various products. Through this plan lies independence. The farmer will have to work a little harder, but the average laborer works day in and day out for his board and a place to sleep. In short, we suggest an ancient Biblical reference, "Go to the ant, thou sluggard, for wisdom."
 —(Rocky Mount Telegram)

the country and it is at once apparent that its people should be able to send interesting products to the county expositions. This should be their purpose with the coming of each season and the displays should faithfully portray the possibilities of the locality.

The time is ripe for preparation along this line and the man and woman who goes into the work with his heart will be bound to come out with honors flying.

With the approach of the tobacco season, Greenville people should turn their attention to the relief of traffic conditions in the business section. Streets will be crowded to capacity by visitors during the opening days of the market and it is the purpose of the police department to keep as many of the streets clear as possible.

There are lots of ways the citizenship can help improve the traffic situation, but the most important is in the matter of observing the one hour parking ordinance in the main business section. This law will be fully enforced beginning with the first of September and home town people will face much worse than visitors if they are guilty of violating the ordinance.

Business men can aid in keeping the main thoroughfares clear by leaving their cars at home or by parking them around on the side streets. This will afford more room on the main streets for the visitors and enable them to find parking places at the busiest part of the city.

Good traffic regulations are absolutely essential to the progress and prosperity of a city, and by observing the things mentioned above the people of Greenville should be able to make the city one of the best regulated cities in this section of the state from the standpoint of traffic conditions.

With the number of automobile thefts reported in and around Greenville the last month or so, people should begin to realize the importance of removing their keys from motors before leaving their cars. This will eliminate many of the thefts, and prevent the car owner from suffering such heavy loss.

Very few people remove the key from the switch when they leave their cars in the business district, and it makes it mighty easy for a thief to steal—much easier than if the key were removed.

Every automobile represents a considerable sum of money, and the owner should protect it just as if it were a bank account of something equally as valuable. The same amount of money would be required to replace the car as it did to buy the old one, and everybody should make an effort to save themselves the loss and annoyance that goes with every theft.

Last night was a night for optimists at the Greenville Kiwanis club and the membership was given something to think about in this connection.

What this section of the country needs more than any other thing at this time is optimists, and if every organization should do as the Kiwanians have done—try to instill optimism into the hearts of its members—it should not be so very long before there would be an entirely different atmosphere in this section.

This is the season of the year when everybody should begin to brighten up a bit. It is the season preceding the opening of the tobacco market—the beginning of the greatest industry in Pitt county, and people ought to begin casting about to see what they can do to make the year the greatest in history.

The tobacco men say they are going to sell 75,000,000 pounds of the weed—near four million more than the 1928 record—and if they do that they will have accomplished a feat deserving of the commendation of every living soul in the county. But they cannot accomplish this momentous task alone—they must have the co-operation of the people in talking up their business and interesting outsiders to come here and actually see the greatness of the market.

It matters not what your station in life may be, you realize indirectly from the activities of the market, and it is your duty to do every thing in your power to make it a success. Begin talking the resources and possibilities of Greenville at once, and don't let up until you feel that the record of 75,000,000 pounds has been made possible.

ABOUT TOWN

County fair season is drawing near and the people of this community should be preparing the exhibits which they plan to put on display at the various county attractions to be conducted in this territory during the fall.

There is no better way to let the public know of the resources and possibilities of a community than through the fair exhibit and it is to be hoped our farmers and members of the various farm clubs will get busy and see what they can do in this field of endeavor this year.

In recent years the county has been able to capture numbers of blue ribbons at the fair here and in other sections, and there is no reason on earth why they should not be able to increase the laurels by more attention to the type of exhibits.

Pitt county is recognized as one of the most prolific farm centers in

ENTERTAIN FOR MISSES WILLIAMS AND WINSLOW

On Friday evening Miss Patti Whitehurst and Ed Whitehurst entertained about forty of their young friends in honor of their cousins, Misses Rebecca Williams, of Newport News, Va., and Sarah Winslow of Scotland Neck. The home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Z. M. Whitehurst on Ninth street, was attractively decorated with summer flowers.

Tables for bridge were placed in the living room and dining room, and the girls enjoyed bridge for an hour before the boys arrived. Miss Mary Rachael Teel made high score and was awarded a string of beads. The low score prize, a novelty pin, fell to Miss Helen McGinnis. All the visitors got for a pretty handkerchief, which fell to Miss Dorothy Poole, of New Bern. The guests of honor, Misses Williams and Winslow, were presented similar handkerchiefs. Mints were served during the bridge game.

After bridge, the boys arrived and a variety of games were enjoyed. An appropriately decorated table was arranged in one corner of the dining room from which punch, peanuts and candies were served throughout the evening.

New Vegetable Causes Speculation In This Section

W. W. Worthington, well-known farmer of the Bethel community, has produced something that looks like a squash, gourd, or pumpkin, yet, according to Mr. Worthington, it is neither. It really looks like a freak of some kind, but neither is it that. Mr. Worthington said he obtained the seeds through mail, and that the company he got them from offered him the munificent sum of $500 to name the product.

The vegetable, if it may be called that—is on display in the business office of the Daily Reflector. It is of a greenish color, 40 inches long, and ten inches in circumference.

Mr. Worthington says the nameless thing when sliced like a cucumber and fried provides a palatable dish—one that has proven quite acceptable to his household. But he isn't satisfied about the plant—he wants to learn what it is as near as possible and then provide a name and win the $500.

Those who enjoyed Mrs. Murphy's hospitality were Misses Olive Spence, Mary Wall Bost, Doris Garriss, Mabel Glenn, Bst. Christine Wilkerson, Helen Fleming, Annie Horne, Katherine Ulley, Mary Frances Whitehurst, Agnes Gaskins, Jim Moore, Emma Frances Hardee, Virginia Jones, Eloise Gallup and Margaret Tyson.

Circle No. 3 of the Immanuel Baptist church, will meet with Mrs. R. E. Ricks Monday afternoon at four o'clock.

Man Confesses Killing Woman In New York

Raleigh, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Will Sloan, convicted of a murder in Per. sen county and now under sentence of electrocution, has confessed that he killed Mrs. Elsa Marshall near Greenville, N. Y., Sept. 16, 1927.

Sloan, who was suspected of having killed the Rev. E. Frank Lee of Durham last January, confessed the N. Y. crime to Westchester county officers here yesterday.

The man, according to Durham officers, who killed the Rev. Mr. Lee was a negro answering Sloan's description. Investigation has shown that Sloan left Durham the morning after the killing of the minister and went to Person county. Some time later he killed Phoebe Gillit, negro, for whose murder he was convicted. He was also charged with attacking a granddaughter of the negro woman. He has denied that he committed the Durham killing.

Sloan told the New York officers that he shot the woman there accidentally as she approached him when he was sitting by a road with a cocked shotgun across his knees. When she was wounded by the accidental shot, he said, he then killed her to stop her screams. He admitted that he stole the shotgun with which he shot her.

The New York officers said that Mrs. Marshall had been criminally attacked before, she was killed but Sloan steadfastly denied attacking her.

sticking to the great task before them, everybody should experience something of old time prosperity in the next few years.

W. H. Woolard said the banks of the county had urged a conservative policy for the last several months, and believed they were in better shape to take care of the farmers than they were last year. He said he believed all institutions would be in better condition at the first of the coming year than the first of last year. He urged people to adopt a live at home policy, and to reduce acreage until the flooded condition of the world market is relieved.

J. J. Galloway of Grimesland, said he believed that the way to success lay in the curtailment of crops and believed that co-operative effort ought to be practiced by the farmers of this county in order to make this possible.

Carey Mayo, who with B. E. Sugg represented the club at the annual Kiwanis convention at Atlantic City, made a few remarks about the convention, but left the complete story of the trip to Mr. Sugg, who reserved the narrative for some future date.

Mr. Sugg said the people of this section should face conditions as they actually exist and do their best to work out their own salvation. He urged a spirit of optimism and faith in the possibilities which the future holds for the people of this locality.

James E. Ferguson, ousted governor barred from the race by his impeachment, conducted his wife's campaign on the promise of "two governors for the price of one." Notable among his campaign utterances was the promise that all imprisoned violators of the prohibition law would be liberated if Mrs. Ferguson won the election. He said she would free 2,000 convicts.

Ferguson attacked Sterling's proposal that the state issue $50,000,000 in highway bonds, his education, his ability, his attitude toward labor and his reputed wealth. Sterling, a novice in politics, countered with an attack on Mrs. Ferguson's pardon and parole record, references to Ferguson's impeachment and named "honesty in government as the paramount issue."

Miriam Ferguson Opposes Sterling In Texas Primary

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 23.—(AP)—The fate of Miriam A. Ferguson's attempted political comeback today is in the balance today as the state's former woman governor opposed Ross D. Sterling, Houston publisher and capitalist, for the nomination for governor in the Democratic run-off primary.

Stearns, chairman of the State Highway Commission, and Mrs. Ferguson, emerging from a field of eleven candidates in the first primary, concluded a vitriolic campaign last night which aroused the state.

James E. Ferguson, ousted governor barred from the race by his impeachment, conducted his wife's campaign on the promise of "two governors for the price of one." Notable among his campaign utterances was the promise that all imprisoned violators of the prohibition law would be liberated if Mrs. Ferguson won the election. MANY NEW YORK SONG HITS IN ALL-COLOR "SONG OF THE WEST"

Some of the most tuneful music written by Vincent Youmans, author of the songs and music of "Hit the Deck," "Rio Rita," "Louisiana Lou" and many other operettas, are heard in "Song of the West," Warner Bros. spectacular all-natural color, talking and singing picture of the covered wagon days, at the New Theatre Monday and Tuesday.

Youmans wrote the "Song of the West" music, popular, yet in the spirit of the Old West, for the operetta by Laurence Stallings and Oscar Hammerstein II, called "Rainbow" when it was first produced on the New York stage several years ago.

The songs "I Like You As You Are," "The One Girl," "I Want a Man," "The Bride Was Dressed in White," "Along the Covered Wagon Trail," "John Barleycorn," "Come Back to Me," "Song of the West," "My Mother Told Me Not to Trust a Soldier," and many more are sure-fire popular hits.

At the time "Rainbow" was produced radio had not yet attained its widespread popularity, and the musical rights were never released to be played over the radio at the time. And because of the large company and costly staging, "Rainbow" was never taken on the road.

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET

New York, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 1 point to a decline of 4 points. The Liverpool cables were better than due on the New York close of yesterday but their influence appeared to be offset by private reports of rains in parts of Texas and the more active positions raised off a few points right after the opening.

Offerings were light, however, with the market showing indications of a firm technical position and prices soon steadied up again on covering with new December contracts advancing to 11.11 and March to 11.36 or about 2 to 3 points net higher. Business was comparatively quiet as if traders were inclined to await more detailed information on the weather reports or the publication of the census figures on ginnings later in the morning. Liverpool reported covering and trade calling there with an improved demand for cotton cloths and yarns. The amount of cotton on shipment at U. S. ports awaiting clearance was estimated at 43,000 against 42,000 bales last yr.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Prospects that the use of wheat as feed this season will be by far the largest ever known did much to hoist all grain prices today. On the upward swing of the markets, though, profit-taking sales broadened out, and during the final hour something of a reaction to the day's top level ensued. Persistent reports were received from a wide area telling of barren stalks in corn fields and of poorly filled ears.

Wheat closed nervous 1 1/8 to 1 5/8 higher than yesterday's finish; corn closed unsettled 5/8 to 1 1/4 up; oats 1-8 to 3/4 advance and provisions unchanged to a rise of 15 cents.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Aug. 23.—(AP)—The stock market came to the close of quiet week today with the bull forces maintaining undisputed leadership. Trading was extremely quiet, sales for the two hour session aggregating 700,000 shares, but several pool favorites were marked up 2 points or more, and gains of a point or so were numerous among pivotal shares. The market closed with a firm tone.

Such issues as American Can, U. S. Steel, Johns Manville, General Electric, Fox, Sears Roebuck and Radio gained a point or so. Practically all groups of shares participated in the rise to some extent with the exception of the oils and coppers. Firmness in the grain markets was helpful to stocks. A few stocks were heavy, notably Sinclair, Atlantic Refining and Bendix, reflecting unfavorable earnings reports.

The market was favorably influenced by statements from President Hoover and Secretary Mellon holding out real hope of continuance of the income tax reduction, and discrediting predictions of a large treasury deficit. Week-end business reports and surveys coming to hand were mildly optimistic. Bank clearings as reported for the week by Dun's however, still failed to show any change of trend. Cities outside of New York showed a drop of about 21 per cent from last year, and including New York, the reduction was nearly 29 per cent, reflecting in part lessened stocks market activity.

Earnings reports from oil companies continued to reflect unsatisfactory conditions in the industry. Sinclair reported only 49 cents a share for the first half, compared to dividend requirements of $1. Atlantic Refining earned only $1.06; about equal to regular dividend requirements, but only a third of the net for the same period a year ago. Bendix Aviation, which serves the automotive and airplane industries, reflected the curtailed operations in both during the first half with net of 73 cents a share, against $2.56.

Week-end reports from the steel industry, however, maintained the more hopeful note of a few days ago. Operations in the Youngstown area are expected to show a little improvement next week and steel scrap prices at Chicago were marked up 50 cents a ton.
