DOCTORS PAY TRIBUTE TO DEAD LEADER

Pitt Medical Society Holds Memorial Service for Dr. C. O'H. Laughinghouse

At the regular monthly meeting of the Pitt County Medical Society at the Women's Club last night a large part of the program was devoted to a memorial service for the late Dr. C. O'H. Laughinghouse, secretary of the State Board of Health and native of this county. In addition to several tributes to the long years of service of Dr. Laughinghouse, the society also discussed the pelagra situation, and heard the discussions dealing with the subject. The speakers were Dr. S. M. Crisp, who discussed the "History and Etiology of Pelagra," and Dr. J. L. Winstead, who brought out several interesting facts in connection with "Differential Diagnosis of Pelagra in Primary Anemia."

Dr. E. B. Beasley, of Fountain, presided over the session and Drs. Joe Dixon and M. B. Massey were hosts. Supper was served by the club.

Two of the several eulogies on Dr. Laughinghouse, one by Dr. J. C. Green and the other by Dr. J. J. Morris, were unanimously voted to be printed in the columns of the Daily Reflector. The copies of the eulogies follow:

Address by Dr. J. C. Green
It is difficult to associate death with Charlie Laughinghouse. He was as strong and vigorous as a dynamo; busy and aggressive, always ready to be called upon for the shock of death which recently befell us. I will make no effort to review his brilliant career because the Press of the state has familiarized all who did not know his useful life. Suffice it to say that he has held every position of high trust in the gift of the medical societies favored by his membership, and always discharged such duties with marked ability.

Dr. Laughinghouse was indeed the friend of man. He had a great loving, human heart; a keen intellect and wonderful capacity for work. He seemed never to tire and never to sleep; always alert to respond to the call of the rich and the poor alike, pay for his services was a secondary consideration. He was a man of high ideals, if some put over a proposition, he never became discouraged but continued to preach the same gospel of progress and reform. He had the peculiar faculty of mending any rent that might occur in his friendly relations with physician, patient or layman and there remains no scar in the heart of those with whom he occasionally clashed.

Our friend has gone to join the spirit of Ellen, Dawson and Brown. We bow down in humble submission, grief stricken.

He was a versatile public speaker and the peer of any man in North Carolina. In recent years he has been in much demand and his name appeared in the program of many of the states most important functions.

Address by Dr. Jenness Morrill
In the afternoon of August 25, there flashed over the wires a message that carried sorrow and pain to thousands of hearts in North Carolina.

It was the message that bore the announcement of Dr. Laughinghouse's untimely passing. With a year of warning, like a bolt out of cloudless sky on a perfect day, it came, and for a moment we stood stunned, hoping against hope, that the report was some awful mistake, and that the end had not really come. But alas! it was only too true, that the big heart was still, and the active brain at rest.

It was my privilege to know Dr. Laughinghouse from his very early manhood, and to come in very intimate contact with him during the intermediate years. In my own home, in his home, in our common field of endeavor, I had the opportunity of knowing him as he really was, and of recognizing and appreciating his sterling worth and genuine merit.

I knew him as a friend, as a physician and as a citizen.

Dr. Laughinghouse was a delight and a joy to all who knew him, and his happiness wherever he happened to be. He seemed to feel that the time to be happy is now, the place to be happy is here, and that the surest way to achieve happiness is to bring happiness to those with whom his life was spent.

As a friend he was loyal and true and ever ready to make any sacrifice for those he loved, and of him it could be truthfully said, that like Abou Ben Adhim, he loved his fellow men.

As a physician, we had a right to expect of Dr. Laughinghouse, the

FRENCH FLIERS TO BEGIN TOUR U. S. MONDAY

Coste and Bellonte to Fly Over One Hundred Cities in Thirty States

New York, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, French trans-Atlantic fliers, will start Monday upon a 15,000 mile coast-to-coast tour across the country during which they will fly over 100 cities in 30 states.

Their itinerary will take them up New England to Boston, thence westward across the northern part of the country to Seattle, down the Pacific Coast and eastward over a southern route, then up the Atlantic Coast back to New York. The flight is expected to require 25 days.

Stops will be made in 29 of the larger cities overnight or for lunch. The fliers plan to circle over and drop messages of greeting. They will fly over state capitals wherever possible.

The stopping places indicated are: Boston, Cleveland, Indianapolis, Detroit, Chicago, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Omaha, Denver, Salt Lake, Boise, Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Phoenix, El Paso, San Antonio, Oklahoma City, Kansas City, St. Louis, Memphis, New Orleans, Pensacola, Atlanta, Winston-Salem, Richmond, Baltimore, Philadelphia.

Charles Hayden, chairman of the committee sponsoring the flight, said the itinerary chosen was not as extensive as that of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's flight in 1927, because of the limited time at the disposal of the French fliers and because it would entail too great a strain upon them.

The decision to begin the flight Monday was reached when it was found the propeller of their monoplane, the Question Mark, could be made serviceable. After discovery of a crack in it, the fliers ordered a new one shipped from France and said beginning of next week. They later decided to use the cracked one until the new one arrives.

Major George Witten will be tour manager and fly in a Department of Commerce plane as an escort to the Question Mark.

RYE WHISKEY STILL NABBED BY OFFICERS

Negro Distiller and 35 Gallons of Booze Captured On the Grindle Creek

Pitt county bootleggers, who have been suffering from a slump in trade as result of the superior brand of corn whiskey produced in Craver and Martin counties, have hit upon a novel plan of regaining some of the lost business through the manufacture of real honest-to-goodness rye whiskey.

Information to this effect was brought to the city today by Constable H. D. Gurganus, of Carolina township, who last night captured a still on Grindle Creek in Greenville township, together with thirty five gallons of "real" rye whiskey. In addition to the still and booze, the officer also arrested the distiller, Snedie Little (flooded) and brought him to Greenville to await trial in the Pitt county jail. The officer and his assistants also destroyed approximately twenty barrels and two tubs of beer which in a short time would have been made into whiskey and diverted to the usual bootleg channels.

The still, the officer said, was the usual type copper affair employed in the manufacture of whiskey by the liquor making element in this section of the country but it held additional significance to the officers by reason of the fact that it was producing a product which has been foreign to this section since the prohibition legislation became effective.

While this was the first capture of the kind so far reported, it was believed that the chance brand is the outgrowth of a desire on the part of the illicit manufacturers to provide their patrons with rye whiskey at a price considerably below that charged for the first county.

Quarts of bottled in bond rye whiskey, this section from time to time. The chance was also attributed to a desire to offset the operations of bootleggers from adjoining counties who have been able to produce a better brand of corn whiskey than the Pitt county distillers, and consequently enjoyed liberal trade in.

Blackwood Wins Nomination for Governor S. C.

Columbia, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Returns tabulated by the Associated Press from official county figures show that Ira C. Blackwood of Spartanburg was nominated for governor in Tuesday's primary over Olin D. Johnston, of the same city, by a majority of 998 votes.

The majority of James F. Byrnes also of Spartanburg over Senator Cole L. Blease was 4,479.

For governor: Johnston, 117,742; Blackwood, 118,740.

For Senator: Blease, 116,348; Byrnes, 120,727.

Blackwood carried 26 counties to Johnston's 20. Byrnes led in 26 and Blease in 21.

Johnston here last night declared to comment on the official returns. Blackwood, in the city also, refused to make a statement.

Reports of the county executive committees, giving the official tabulations in all races, will be submitted to the state Democratic Executive committee at its regular meeting here Tuesday. Friends of Johnston believe that he will ask for a recount at that time.

In the meantime, the state executive committee has ordered all boxes held under lock.

PRES. HOOVER TO COMPLETE TARIFF BODY

Names of Other Four Members of Commission to Be Decided Upon By Tuesday

By JAMES P. SELVAGE
Washington, Sept. 12.—(AP)—President Hoover is to complete before next Tuesday the new Tariff Commission which is to administer what he considers the "outstanding step" of the revised tariff legislation—its flexible provision.

With Henry P. Fletcher of Pennsylvania as its chairman, the new commission will supplant the old one upon the expiration on September 16 of the ninety day period allotted the President by Congress for reorganizing the personnel. The Chief Executive has selected already, in addition to Chairman Fletcher, Thomas Walker Page of Virginia, a Democrat, who was chairman of the commission under President Wilson.

The names of the other four members selected are to be announced after week-end conferences with Chairman Fletcher.

Reports have been current for some time that chairman and vice-chairman of the present commission will be retained as members by the Chief Executive. They are Edgar B. Brossard of Utah, a Republican, and Alfred P. Dennis, of Maryland, a Democrat. Confirmation of these reports has been declined, however, at the White House.

In accepting recent appointments now from Mr. Hoover, each of the new members must face the Senate for confirmation in December. This prospect has added to the difficulty the President has met in filling the six posts, as many of those he desired declined to serve because of possible opposition and rejection by the Senate.

Taking full time allowed him under the law in selecting the six men, President Hoover has called through scores of names. He made his most vigorous stand of the entire tariff controversy upon his demand that the flexible provisions for changing the duties up or down within a range of 50 per cent be retained, and it is upon them that he must rely to correct any inequalities in tariff.

Under the law the commission will investigate rates and make recommendations for changes which must be either disapproved or promulgated by the President, who is left without authority to direct the changes himself.

LEAF GROWERS VOTE IN FAVOR ORGANIZATION

Resolution at Raleigh Seeks Formation of Co-operative Form of Marketing

Raleigh, Sept. 12.—(12)—Co-operative marketing through an association of Eastern North Carolina tobacco farmers today boomed as the result of discussion of the "price crisis" on the new bright leaf market.

At a meeting here yesterday of 2,000 farmers, warehousemen, and business men, a resolution that organization of such an association be launched at once was adopted amid a burst of enthusiasm.

The resolution also called upon Governor O. Max Gardner, one of the principal speakers at the meeting, to call a conference of governors of South Carolina, Georgia and Virginia in order to discuss the "seriousness of the situation."

The first actual step in the way of formation of a cooperative marketing association, will probably come next week when James C. Stone, tobacco member of the Federal Farm Board, will be invited to come here and discuss formation of the association.

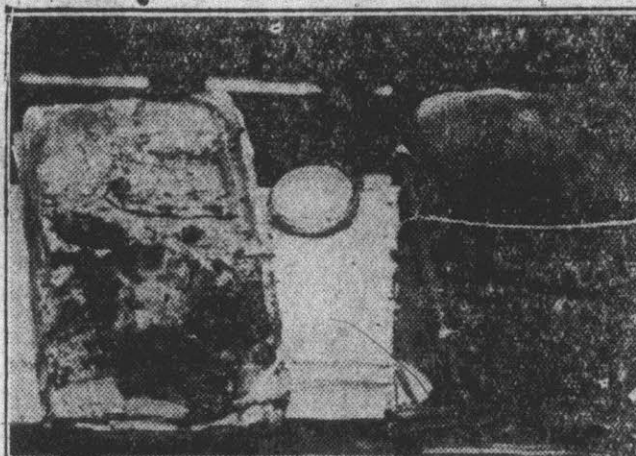

Mr. Stone is scheduled to be in Florence, S. C., next Tuesday and he will be featured here either Monday or Wednesday.

In urging formation of a cooperative association M. L. Corvey, one of the receivers of the Tri-State Co-operative Association, pointed to the favorable results obtained by members of the newly formed tobacco cooperative in South Carolina.

Members of that group, he said, have already been advanced a sum practically equal to the present price of tobacco and are expecting to get five cents a pound additional when all sales are complete.

Educational Conference Of County Teachers Held At College Here Today

Rev. W. A. Lillycrop, Rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Delivers Principal Address As Teachers Prepare for Opening of 8-Month Schools

Pitt county teachers gathered here this morning for a discussion of some of the problems which they are to come in contact with during the school term which begins next Monday morning with the opening of approximately eighteen schools in different parts of the county.

The principal address of the conference was delivered by Rev. W. A. Lillycrop, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church. The speaker paid a glowing tribute to the splendid achievements of the schools in the past years, and declared that this improvement should be as evident in the future as in the past.

He impressed upon his hearers the importance of implanting high ideals in the minds of the thousands of children who come under their supervision from year to year, in that these ideals might furnish inspiration for foundation of the young lives.

He told the teachers that upon their shoulders rested one of the greatest responsibilities of the age—the education of the child for service in the complex life of the future—and urged them to do their best at all times despite the handicaps which might be thrown in their way from time to time.

Superintendent R. G. Fitzgerald discussed the new school years in a brief way, and instructed the teachers as to what would be expected of them in the great field of service.

The major objective of the county school system were discussed at length by Miss Ida E. Seidel, supervisor of rural education. The objectives provided from beautification of school grounds, increased interest in the public health program, a summary of the physical standards, improvement of the physical equipment of the schools, creation of pleasant environment, examination of pre-school children, cooperation with T. P. A.'s and other school organizations, and several other things of minor importance in the life of the school.

The opening session was held at 10:30 and the concluding session at 3:45. There were several departmental and group meetings during the afternoon at which time school activities were discussed at length by various school principals.

The conference today was preparatory to the opening of schools next Monday morning and furnished the teachers a clear insight into what would be expected to them during the term. The conference for teachers of the six-months school will be held at the college Monday, October 13.

Montana Democrat, Ranked As Dry In Congress, Says Regulation of Traffic Should Be Left to Each of the States; United Textile Workers At New York Assert Repeal of 18th Amendment Would Give 100,000 Men Employment

Washington, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Montana Democrat, ranked among the dries in Congress, issued a statement today saying he had come to the opinion "that national prohibition is a failure and that each state should be left to regulate the liquor traffic as a majority of its citizens deem advisable."

His statement follows: "I voted for prohibition in Montana because I felt that the old saloon was a curse to the American people and I wanted to do away with it. In the old days the breweries in many instances owned the fixtures, the buildings and the licenses, and in many instances controlled local politics."

"I am no more in favor of the saloon, no more in favor of the sale of liquor today than I was before, but under prohibition you have in many cities more dives and speakeasies where they are openly selling rotten whiskey than you had in the old days. Today in many communities the bootlegger is becoming a greater political power and has more influence than the old time saloon keeper as evidenced by the fact that he is able to reach many of our higher officials. He is generally a much lower type of citizen. He has had a frightful, corrupting influence upon our social, moral and political life."

"In view of the fact that this administration and the previous administrations have apparently been helpless in stamping out the evil I am reluctant; I voted to the opinion that national prohibition is a failure and that each state should be left to regulate the liquor traffic as a majority of its citizens deem advisable."

Wheeler last February introduced a resolution asking a judicial committee investigation of enforcement. No action was taken. In view of his statement today, a renewal of the inquiry demand is in prospect for the next session.

Senator Walsh, the Democratic colleague of Wheeler from Montana, and a dry, said last spring he would be willing to submit a referendum to that state on prohibition and to "stand by the result." His attitude coincided with one expressed just previously by another of the strong Senate dries, Jones of Washington.

Walsh is up for re-election in Montana. His republican opponent is Justice Albert J. Galen.

New York, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Repeal of the eighteenth amendment and adoption of the six-hour day and the five-day week were advocated as steps to relieve unemployment in resolutions adopted today, by a unanimous vote, by the United Textile Workers of America.

Speakers in favor of the repeal resolution contended repeal would give 100,000 men employment in breweries and would "directly or indirectly create employment to two million workers."

The resolution approving "in principle" the thirty hour week as a means of giving employment to more workers was adopted without debate when the resolutions committee reported it favorably.

A campaign to organize silk mill workers in Pennsylvania was authorized by the delegates after speakers had denounced working conditions in Allentown, Pa., as "a menace to the entire industry."

A resolution was adopted calling on labor to combat alleged efforts of insurance companies to prevent manufacturers from employing workers more than 45 years of age because of their poor risk in group insurance policies.

Another resolution called on the executive council to enter upon a campaign to reduce working hours in Connecticut where the 55-hour week is prevalent in textile establishments.

It was voted to establish a bureau of information to collect statistics and labor conditions in the entire country.

A letter was ready from Alfred Hoffman, union organizer in jail at Marion, N. C., under sentence of 30 days and a $1,000 fine. The executive council was instructed to investigate the case and if necessary to pay the fine. It was also directed to handle the defense of 80 other union men awaiting trial in the same district.

PROMINENT FARMVILLE WOMAN DEAD

Mrs. Annie Phillips Lang Passes At Rocky Mount After Short Illness

Farmville, Sept. 12.—Mrs. Annie Phillips Lang, one of the most prominent and best beloved women of this city and county, died this morning at 7:10 in a Rocky Mount hospital, where she had been undergoing treatment for several days. Suffering with heart trouble for the past eight months, she had been in a critical condition for two weeks and her death was not unexpected. She was in her 63rd year.

As an indication of the high esteem in which Mrs. Lang was held, a community Christmas tree was planted last year and dedicated with formal ceremonies to her as a symbol of local appreciation of her keen interest in community enterprises. She was unable to attend, but viewed the exercises from her window.

Coming to Farmville after her marriage in October, 1882, to William Moyer Lang, who preceded her to the grave by 16 years, she was one of the first residents of the then small village and has since been identified with all of the progressive steps taken here. A zealous and loyal member of the Christian Disciples church, she was engaged in activities relating to the state meeting of that body convening here in November, when she was stricken.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Lang residence Saturday afternoon and interment will be in Forest Hill cemetery.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Nannie Moyer Humphrey, Mrs. J. Y. Monk, and Mrs. Paul E. Jones; four sons, Jack P. Lang, of Charlotte; W. Harry James, R., and Robert G. Lang, A. Sister, Mrs. Jim Murphy, of Kingston, and several grandchildren.

A Fine Speaker!

Davidson, Sept. 12.—(AP)—President W. E. Lingle came before the nearly 60 men of the 1930-31 edition of the Davidson college student body.

HEAVIEST SALE OF SEASON RECORDED ON GREENVILLE BRIGHT LEAF MART TODAY

Approximately Million Pounds of Tobacco Offered for Sale This Morning; Highest Average Price of the Season Established Here Yesterday

There was more tobacco in Greenville today than any other time since the opening of the market, according to reports from tobacco town this morning.

It was estimated that there was something like a million pounds on the floors of the nine warehouses with indications that sales would be completed about four or five o'clock this afternoon.

The price situation for good tobacco was described as fairly good with the big companies bidding spiritedly for the superior grades. As usual at this time of the season, inferior grades predominated and this will have a tendency of holding down the general market average.

The market yesterday succeeded in establishing the highest average price of the season when over a half million pounds of leaf went over the nine dollars per hundred figure. The official report of sales made public this morning indicated that the market disposed of a total of 555,462 pounds of tobacco for a total sum of $51,749.19, at an average of $9.15 per hundred pounds.

Tobaccoists were still of the opinion today that the market average would show even greater strength when the offering of good tobacco increases. This prediction was made at the beginning of the season, and the small amount of improved quality of leaf so far offered for sale has verified the statement.

It was expected that sales, which have been abnormally small during the last two weeks, would pick up considerably during the remainder of the season and much of the inertia which has existed in tobacco town during the afternoons and nights is expected to be replaced by intense activity both in warehouses and factories.

AYDEN YOUTH FATALLY SHOT EARLY TODAY

Sam Wayne Dies Two Hours After Accidental Discharge of Shotgun

Sam Wayne, sixteen-year-old school boy of Ayden, accidentally shot himself this morning about 7 o'clock while dressing preparatory to going to school. The bullet took effect in his right side, and he died in the hospital in this city about two hours later.

From information received here, the boy had eaten breakfast and had gone to his room to study. A short time afterward a noise was heard and his mother entered the youth's room and found him lying on the floor with the wound in his side.

It was said that a shotgun was kept in a corner of the room in front of which stood a chair with bed quilts packed upon it. The shotgun was believed to have been knocked down and discharged when the youth reached over the chair to pick something up from the floor.

Funeral services will be held from his late home in Ayden tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock by Rev. A. C. D. Noye, pastor of the Ayden Episcopal church. Burial will be made in the cemetery at Vanceboro.

Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wayne, the youth is survived by four sisters, Mrs. J. R. Jenkins, Lula Bell and Elizabeth of Ayden, Mrs. Armistead Laughinghouse of Vanceboro, and three brothers, Pittman, Arthur and Robert Wayne of Ayden.

SAYS COTTON GROWERS ARE HIT BY SLUMP

Head of Growers Association Seeks Aid of Bankers in Providing for Situation

Raleigh, Sept. 12.—We are immensely interested in every movement looking to the improvement of prices for the tobacco farmers, but we would not have our agricultural leaders or bankers or supply merchants and the public generally to overlook the fact that cotton prices are about the lowest since 1925 and that conditions are just as deplorable in a way for the cotton producers as they are for the tobacco farmers," remarked U. B. Blalock, general manager of the Cotton Growers Association, today, in discussing the present situation as it affects both tobacco and cotton farmers. Our cotton farmers are more fortunate, he said, in that through their state cooperative association, they are in a position to receive aid from the Federal Farm Board in holding their cotton off such an unimpaired market.

"We have written to all of the bankers and the supply merchants in the North Carolina cotton belt, advising them of our ability to advance to the grower approximately 90 per cent of the value of cotton at a very low rate of interest, the present rate being only 4 per cent. The present rate advance is nine cents per pound for middling 7-8 inch cotton."

Mr. Blalock said that association officials are very much gratified at the responses which are being received from these bankers and the merchants to the appeal to cooperate with the farmers and allow them to pool their cotton. Quite a number of these bankers and merchants have signed membership contracts themselves and will help to swell deliveries to the Cooperative Association. One prominent banker who is a large producer of cotton has indicated that he will deliver more than a thousand bales, said Mr. Blalock.

There still seems to be a question in the minds of some people as to what became of the 16 cent cotton which the Cooperative Association landed last season. Mr. Blalock answered this question with the statement that all of this cotton has been turned over to the Cotton Stabilization Corporation which has been set up by the Federal Farm

Re-elected In Maine

William Tudor Gardiner, republican, was re-elected for a second term as governor of Maine.

It has been announced that this cotton will not be thrown upon the market until there is a demand for it. If, however, this cotton of last year's crop should be marketed at a loss, it will be the loss of the Cotton Stabilization Corporation and not ours, said the North Carolina association manager. "Neither our association nor our members owe anyone a penny on this cotton," he declared, "and we will not be called upon to absorb any loss. The cotton farmers can be assured that this year's cotton will be banded independently of any previous year's crop. In fact, we will have between $175,000 and $200,000 yet to distribute to our members on the 1929 crop, this being the amount due for better grades and staples over the 16 cent advance. The above amount really means so much value to North Carolina cotton producers for growing better grade and staple."

SAYS WOMEN LOSING SIGHT OF HOME LIFE

Census Bureau Presents Findings in a Study of Women in Gainful Occupations

Washington, Sept. 12.—(AP)—A 30-year study of women in gainful occupations from 1870 to 1929 today was published by the United States Census Bureau as background for 1930 census discoveries on feminine status.

Dr. Joseph A. Hill, assistant to the census director, author of the monograph pronounced its theme one of the most interesting economic studies in the province of the census.

A foreword by Seymour L. Andrews set forth: "Whatever opinions may be held as to the proper sphere of women, the fact is that to a considerable extent, woman's place today is no longer in the home."

Andrews commended Dr. Hill for "refraining from excursions into realms of speculation" and making "no generalization as to the presumed effect on home life of the participation of women in gainful occupations."

In 1929, Dr. Hill discovered, 24 per cent of all women were engaged in gainful occupation, and women comprised 20 per cent of the total working population. One married woman in 11 was working for a wage and 2 out of every 9 women at work were married. Of unmarried women, 48.6 per cent or almost half, were earning money.

A special study of married women in 11 cities was included in the monograph to answer the question, "Do gainfully employed married women have a normal home life?"

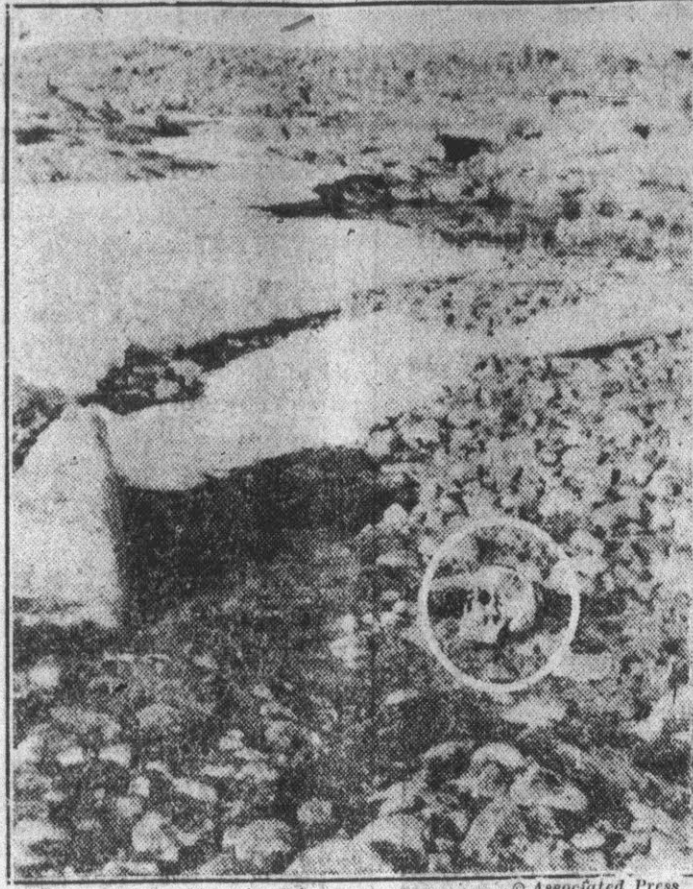

It was found in these cities 37.6 per cent of the married women engaged in gainful occupations were not living with their husbands in homes of their own, but were either boarders or lodgers.

"If the normal home life for a married woman be defined as living with her husband in a home of her own, then somewhat more than one-third of these married women gainfully employed did not have a normal home life," was Dr. Hill's conclusion.

In the fifty year period, Dr. Hill found, women school teachers increased in number from 87,047 to 652,500, partly accounted for by replacement of men by women. He noted decided decreases in the number of women employed as servants, dressmakers, laundresses, millers, tailors and boarding and lodging house keepers.

"Women are not leaving the oc-

Labor Federation To Push Relief From Injunctions

Atlantic City, Sept. 12.—(AP)—The Morris-Blaine-Walsh bill, designed to give labor relief from injunctions, will be pushed vigorously by the American Federation of Labor.

William Green, president of the Federation, and members of the executive council departing here announced last night they would prepare a report urging support of the law for submission to the Federation council in Boston next month.

"We have considered the whole matter of injunction relief legislation," Green said, "and we intend to deal with it in an emphatic, direct and detailed way in our report to the convention. In order for labor to function it must have relief from these drastic orders which limit free speech, freedom of the Press and our rights under the constitution. We regard it as of transcendent importance."

Judge Small Upholds Court's Disposition of the Morton Children

Judge Walter L. Small, of Elizabeth City, who is presiding over the civil term of Pitt county Superior court in this city, yesterday upheld a former decision of Judge Daniels regarding the disposition of two children of Sam V. Morton, of this city, and his former wife, Mrs. Nell Winther, of Orange, N. J. The decision provided that the children should stay in the possession of the mother except two months during the summer when the father should keep them. It was also provided that Morton should pay the sum of $50 a month for the support of the children, and that Mrs. Winther should furnish bond of $1,500.

The question of the disposition of the children came before the court the second time in the form of a petition of Morton that the order issued by Judge Daniels be revoked. He contended that since Mrs. Winther's second marriage she had not properly cared for the children. Mrs. Winther contended that she had separated from her second husband and was amply able to provide for the children.

Attorneys for Morton were prepared to seek a further ruling in the case this afternoon, and it was known that Judge Small had the matter under consideration.

The lighted gridiron is being prepared for the Tar Heels by North Carolina State, with four games scheduled after nightfall.

Lenoir-Rhyne will wait until the twilight falls at Hickory before inviting Newberry, Milligan and Guilford to walk over its gridiron. It may be a new experience for the South Carolinians and the boys from Johnson City, Tenn., but it will be just another night game for Guilford.

The Quakers are going up into Varsity for four games and three of them are already set to be played under floodlights while the fourth is likely to be switched from afternoon to evening.

Guilford meets Emory and Henry William and Mary, and Naval Apprentice College with the lights on and the Randolph-Macon game may be played at night.

CUTTING ACREAGE IS FIRST STEP.

If the movement launched by Governor Gardner yesterday for a twenty-five per cent reduction in tobacco acreage in Georgia and the two Carolinas is carried out, we have no fear for the future of tobacco raising in our section for regardless of the plan of marketing tobacco, we do not believe that the farmer can obtain a living price so long as the supply exceeds the demand and not until the farmers and business men who run the farmers, realize this can we hope for better tobacco prices. As was to have been expected, the proponents of co-operative marketing were on hand to sponsor such an organization as the way out of the wilderness for the farmer, and while such an organization might have its good points in the way of orderly marketing, we do not believe that for long it could put up and hold up the price of tobacco so long as there were no limits as to the acreage. For many years our farmers have been warned against increasing the tobacco acreage but heedless of these warnings, even from the buying companies themselves, the farmers have continued to raise more and more tobacco confident that the companies were all wrong about the supply, and demand business, that tobacco must bring a good price regardless of the quantity raised. Just such a practice on the part of those interested in tobacco growing has brought about the present low prices of tobacco with the resulting bad financial conditions, and the only way for us is to cut the production down to the point that there will be strong competition between the buying companies for the tobacco rather than the present condition of competition between the sellers. So long as there is more tobacco than the companies need, the grower who makes a good sale will be extremely fortunate and the vast majority of the growers will continue to receive less than living prices.

As we see it at this time, our chief worry is, not the system under which we sell our tobacco, but the quantity of tobacco we have to sell, and this end is where our first step toward better prices must be made. If the farmers want co-operative marketing we have no objection. If they prefer the present auction system let them have it, or if they prefer both, ditto, but in either event whether it is co-operative or open market there must be a reduction in production if we are ever to get fair prices for tobacco, and we urge our people not to overlook this most important fact. How you sell it will not matter must just so long as you do not have too much to sell and the buying companies need what you have and are anxious for it.

ABOUT TOWN

Greenville will extend a cordial welcome to the county teachers assembled here in the first meeting of the new school term, and will hope that their stay will prove both pleasant and profitable.

Situated in the capital city of the county, Greenville naturally feels a strong personal interest in the development of education even in the most remote rural regions, and is always ready to do every thing possible to aid those charged with the responsibility of moulding the young lives of the communities affected.

The teachers will come here from time to time during the remainder of the school term and it is to be hoped they will always find the same spirit of hospitality in evidence that they find today. The slogan of Greenville is "Our Greenville, Yours if You Come," and it is the desire of the entire citizenship that visitors from different parts of the county take advantage of the invitation.

The latchstring always hangs on the outside and we wish the teachers to do just like they would do at home during their entire stay here.

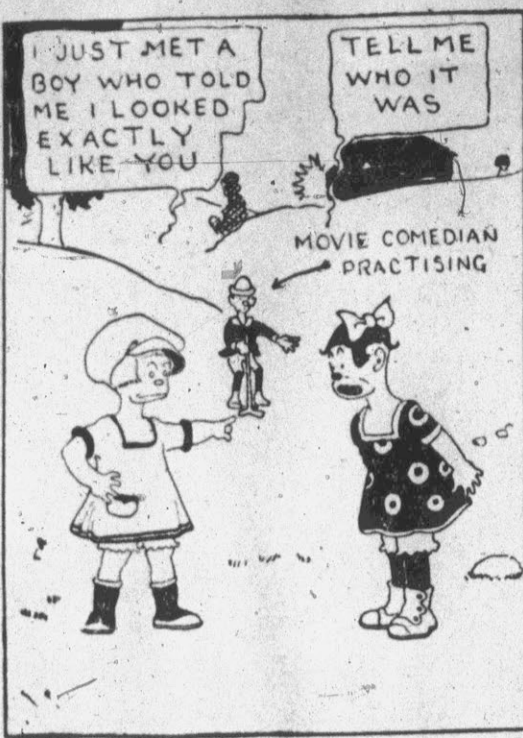

Governor Gardner, speaking before the mass meeting at Raleigh yesterday, advocated a twenty-five per cent reduction in tobacco acreage during the next planting season.

The same opinion has been expressed by men prominent in the life of the industry for the last three or four years, but for some unknown reason it was impossible to get the farmers to realize the importance of doing as advised.

It has been proved conclusively that the tobacco growing states of the South have been producing too much weed in past years, and if they expect any appreciable relief from low prices it is going to be necessary for them to reduce acreage next year, and do it in a way that will be noticeable to even an inexperienced observer.

The old way of passing the buck to Bill Jones or some other fellow of the neighborhood no longer holds good. The responsibility for reduction rests upon the shoulders of every individual farmer. He cannot expect his neighborhood to curtail acreage without he himself doing the same thing. It is his battle as much as anybody's.

and the sooner he realizes the fact that begins planning for the planting of surplus acreage in some other crop the sooner he will find himself on the high road leading back to prosperity.

"I had heard of Greenville all my life but I had no idea it was the thriving city it really is," declared a citizen from Texas on his first visit to this city during the early part of the week.

"I can see the reason why this section should not take its rightful place in the world of finance and industry with its splendid background for agricultural development, and I honestly believe the next several years will see even greater development than the past.

"Your tobacco market, situated as it is in the largest bright leaf producing county of the world, should also enjoy the distinction of being the largest market, and if the tobaccoists continue hammering away as they are doing at this time I believe that ambition will be fully realized during the next several years.

"My grandfather spent his entire life in Pitt county, but my father moved away while still a very young man. I can readily appreciate now the reason he always talked of this section. He probably realized that he let one of the best regions of the country, and was filled with great because investments in other sections prevented him from returning."

Some of the manufacturing plants in other parts of the state have returned to full time schedule after having been working on part time the last several months.

This indicates that business is beginning to look up in the industrial field, and that conditions may be quite as severe as some people apparently anticipate.

Greenville is in need of industries of this kind, not only during periods of low prices, but all the time in order that as all-time weekly payroll may be created. This would do away with the periods of depression felt during the summer months and put the people in position where they could realize a little ready cash all the time.

If you want to see a people happy, give them the ordinary comforts of life and a little spending money on the side. As long as they feel like they are able to live and enjoy a few of the luxuries they can't be beaten but when these things are denied them they begin to show signs of discontent, and this finds expression in complaints about hard times and other rumblings of dissatisfaction.

The pickling plant, or canning factory now under discussion would do much to improve the situation in this county, and if it is possible to bring such a project to the city it is to be hoped the business men will keep plugging away until they get it. Payrolls are what we want and the sooner we get them, the sooner the wheels of industry will begin to sing the song of prosperity for this territory.

Discover $25,000 In Deposit Box of Missing Judge

New York, Sept. 12.—(AP)—The New York World says an examination of the safe deposit box of Joseph Force Crater, missing Supreme Court justice, has resulted in the discovery of securities worth $75,000.

At the time of Justice Crater's disappearance on August 6 he had virtually depleted his two bank accounts by withdrawing $5,500, and this was generally believed the extent of his wealth.

Discovery of the securities was made by friends who pointed out that Justice Crater had wanted to do so, could have realized many times the sum he took with him.

Mer) while, police pressed their search for the missing justice in at least three places in the Adirondacks. The most promising clue came from the manager of a public hunting lodge at Racquette Lake who said two men, one of whom he said was "positive was the missing justice, had stopped at his lodge August 30, and part of August 31. Two detectives are trailing these two men.

In his investigation of income tax fraud in connection with the alleged purchase by George F. Ewald of his office of magistrate, United States Attorney Tuttle said he has discovered that Martin J. Healy, Tammany leader who received $10,000 from Mrs. Ewald about the time of her husband's appointment, was paid more than $22,000 in nine years by the American Book company to promote the sale of its text books in the public schools.

It is in connection with the Ewald case that Tuttle would like to question Justice Crater who was president of the Tammany Club in the district where Healy was leader.

Two Youths Await To Be Sentenced In Bank Robbery

Salisbury, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Two youths who pleaded guilty to robbing the Bank of Rockwell waited in court today for their sentences while their girl companions were being tried.

John Ellis and Ted Honeycutt, both of Charlotte, yesterday admitted robbing the bank on August 2, but Mable Yarbrough, Charlotte, and Mary Frick, Rockwell, charged joyfully with the youths with robbing and conspiracy to rob the bank, pleaded not guilty.

Witnesses testified yesterday that the girls had parked an automobile near the town of Rockwell the day prior to the robbery in order to aid the bandits to escape. Others said they saw the men enter the car with the girls after the bank had been robbed of $1,126.

Authority here and in Charlotte questioned the girls after their arrest in Charlotte and received information which led to the arrest of Ellis and Honeycutt at Clearwater, Fla.

State Dairymen Meet At Raleigh

Greensboro, N. C., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Featured by addresses of Gov. O. Max Gardner, and O. E. Reed of Washington, chief of the bureau of dairy industry of the United States Department of Agriculture, the first annual meeting of the North Carolina State Dairymen's Association

Dr. Clarence Poe, of Raleigh, editor of the Progressive Farmer; Dr. D. W. Daniels of Clemson College, S. C.; and H. H. Kildee, professor of animal husbandry of Ames College, Iowa, also addressed the dairymen.

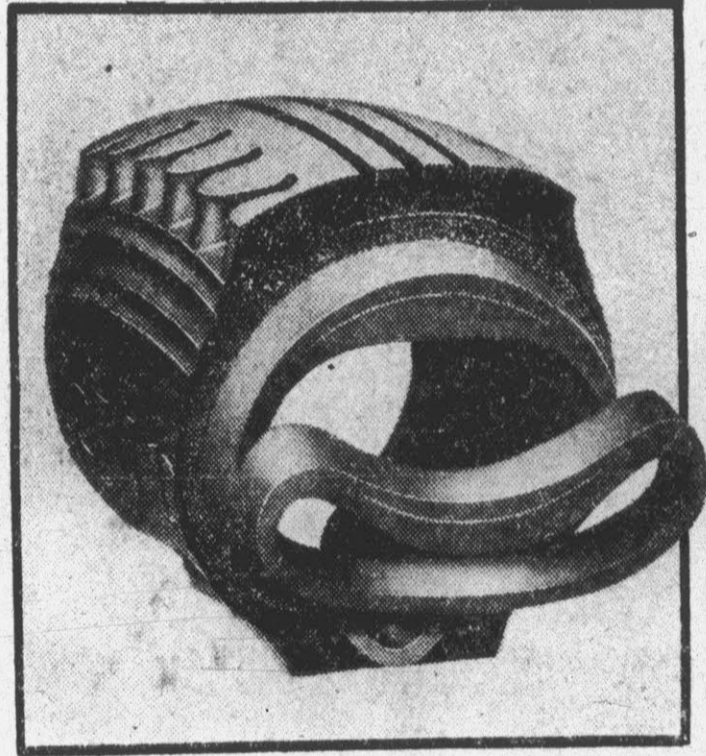

Mr. Reed, painting a picture to show the tremendous spread of the dairy industry in the United States, said $3,000,000,000 was received by United States farmers in 1926-28 for dairy products. The dairymen, he asserted, is not faced with overproduction if the consumption becomes what it should, but the two big problems are efficient and economical production and increase in consumption.

In 1917 the consumption per capita of milk and cream was 42.4 gallons and in 1926 it was 55.3 gallons. Mr. Reed pointed out.

HOUSE LOSES MORE MEMBERS THAN SENATE

Seven Members Already Retired By Elections and Three More Due to Go

Washington, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Although proportionately less hard hit than the Senate by this year's party primaries, the House appeared today to have lost through verdict of the voters so far five more members than its companion chamber.

While five Senators were refused re-nomination, seven representatives have been eliminated definitely and three more appear slated to go into unsought retirement.

An official canvass of the vote in a questioned county showed Representative Louis C. Crisp, Republican, an almost certain loser to an opponent who favors a referendum on prohibition. The death of the all-Party Democratic Georgia Representative Thomas H. Bell, seemed for a long time to have been a foregone conclusion.

Not figure perceptibly in the defeat of Box in the Second Texas District by Martin Dies, or in the loss of the over-throw of Sears in the Second Nebraska District by H. Malcolm Baldrige and by Whitehead in the Fifth Virginia District of Thomas H. Burch. It was not a Louisiana or Georgia issue.

Those definitely beaten for re-nomination in the primaries held so far include: Willis J. Brown, Nebraska; W. W. Chalmers, Ohio; Grant H. Hudson, Michigan; and John Franklin Miller, Washington.

Republicans, and John C. Cox, Texas; Joseph Whitehead of Virginia, and J. Zeb Spangier of Louisiana, Democrats.

Miller and Hudson, both pronounced drys, lost to wets in Wednesday's voting. Miller was elected to the sixty-first Congress and has served continuously since Hudson, former superintendent of the Michigan Anti-Saloon League, has been in Congress since 1922.

Chalmers, from the Ninth Ohio District, was also dis-nominated in his party's nomination for a man classified as a wet. Wilbur M. White.

COSTE HONORS UNKNOWN SOLDIER

Capt. Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, French trans-Atlantic fliers, paid a visit to the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Washington.

As a practitioner, Dr. Laughinghouse was studious, careful and careful. Each case was to him a study in itself, and nothing less than an accurate knowledge of the condition with which he had to contend satisfied him.

DR'S HONOR DEAD LEADER

(Continued on page five) Dr. Laughinghouse, like many others, had a hobby. It was the question of Public Health and of State medicine. He was by temperament peculiarly adapted to this line of endeavor. He loved to pioneer. He loved to talk and discuss the problems that arose in his work, and he never appeared happier than when making an address on some health problem. Withal, Dr. Laughinghouse was a good organizer and a good diplomat, and these several traits of character, made him outstandingly useful in the field in which he was laboring, when the summons came.

As a citizen Dr. Laughinghouse was always found in the van guard of progress. He was always active in any undertaking for the betterment and uplift of the community and his constant endeavor was to make the world, and especially his part of it, a better place in which to dwell.

To us in our human short-sightedness Dr. Laughinghouse's passing seems premature, untimely, that he should have been with us longer. But we cannot know. Compared with time, our brief span is but as yesterday, and a few years is as nothing.

It does not make much difference how long we live, as long efficiently we live, how usefully we live, how happily we live, during the days that are ours, and how beneficent an influence we leave when our sojourn is over. For we cannot, even if we would, really die. Our bodies return to the dust, but our influence, our impulses on the world lives on and on.

We can cast a pebble on the surface of a lake and it will vanish forever beneath the limpid surface. But disappearing it will create a series of ripples that go on and on until they break upon the shore. Dr. Laughinghouse, by his life work has cast a pebble in the sea of life. His body sleeps tonight beneath a wilderness of flowers, beautiful flowers, sweet flowers, brought by some loving hands for whom he had done some loving service, but his spirit and his example, like the ripples on the lake, go ever on, and on and on to bless the lives of myriads yet unborn. There is no death. Our stars go down. To rise upon some other shore. And bright in Heaven's jeweled crown they shine forever more.

Pointing out that American states, particularly those which provide raw materials for commerce, depend upon the prosperity of Europe for their own economic betterment, the diplomat said: "America, therefore, welcomes a move for European collaboration."

Such a union would not be regarded by Americans as a reaction against pan-Americanism, the Cuban asserted.

Tells League U.S. Deeply Interested In the Federation

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Oreste Ferrara, Cuban ambassador at Washington, told the League of Nations assembly in an address today that American countries are "profoundly and favorably interested in the success of a scheme for economic co-operation among European countries."

Ambassador Ferrara described pan-Americanism as the "synthesis of American international political sentiment, and an absolute negation of continental egoism."

Today's meeting was a field day for the representatives of lesser nations.

Beelaerts Van Bloekland, of Holland, spoke first. Referring to the project of M. Aristide Briand, French foreign minister, for a federation of European states, Mynheer Van Bloekland told the assembly that in any scheme of international cooperation participation of the League of Nations would be essential. Mynheer Van Bloekland, who represents a free trade country, also warned the assembly that if the growing tendency to strengthen systems of protection is not checked it is possible that free trade countries will be forced to abandon their present policy and themselves set up tariff walls.

Richmond, Va.—(AP)—A coroner declared Robert H. Holclaw, 62, formerly of Lenoir, N. C., who was found dead of asphyxiation, committed suicide.

ROBINS MAKE CLEAN SWEEP WITH CHICAGO

St. Louis and Brooklyn again were triumphant yesterday in the National League race and placed themselves only a half game behind the lead of Cubs.

The Robins made a clean sweep of their three game series with Chicago as Dazzy Vance turned in a third successive five hit performance to give Brooklyn a 2 to 1 victory.

The Cards with Chief Hays' first-inning home run as the deciding factor, again defeated the Giants, 5 to 4.

As the Cubs today to the safer regions of Philadelphia and the Giants and Cards remained in New York for a final clash, the race shaped up this way:

Vance fanned 13 Cubs. Hack Wilson's 4th home run of the season a clout over the right field wall in the seventh inning gave the Cubs their first run of the series.

In the first inning Wilson hit the ball into the left field bleachers after Heman had walked to give the Robins a head start that Chicago never overcame.

Guy Bush, who allowed Brooklyn only eight hits in seven innings, was the victim.

After Adams had singled and Frisch had walked in the opening inning, Hays of the Cards made a home run. The Giants overcame that lead in the fifth inning and made another comeback in the seventh, but they failed in their third attempt after the Cards had scored their fifth run, leaving the bases filled when the game ended.

Walker pitched for the Cards. Pittsburgh's Pirates placed themselves 7 1/2 games behind first place by winning a tight game from the Boston Braves, 5 to 2, although they were out of the race.

The Philadelphia Athletics, leaders of the American League had a day of idleness and a half game was presented to them by their rivals from Washington and New York.

The second place Senators dropped a second straight encounter to the St. Louis Browns as Walter Stewart kept their blow from doing serious damage while the Browns piled up four runs in the sixth inning.

New York's Yankees all but dropped out of the race as the Cleveland Indians turned on them after two beatings and hammered out a 9 to 5 victory behind the steady pitching of Clint Brown.

The best the Yankees can do now is to tie Philadelphia if they win all their 15 games and the A's lose all 13 contests.

Red Lyons, veteran Chicago hurler, went 12 1/2 times in the opening game to win his 21st victory of the season, defeating the Boston Red Sox, 4 to 3. Lyons gave 13 hits but had a homer by Carl Reynolds to aid him.

Wilson Man Hurt In Auto Collision

Wilson, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Spencer Harris, of Wilson, was fatally injured last night near Sharpsburg in a collision of his roadster and a truck.

Harris died en route to a hospital. A companion, Francis Meek, escaped with slight injuries. The truck's driver leaped from the overturned vehicle and fled. His two companions have been arrested and a search is being made for him.

FORD PLANT WILL INCREASE ITS OUTPUT

Atlanta, Sept. 12.—(AP)—The Atlanta Ford Motor Company plant, according to announcement today, will start Monday on an increased production schedule with 150 additional employees. The new schedule calls for 25 additional cars a day in the plant, bringing the total to 135 cars a day.

SPORTS SLANTS

Gallant old Sir Thomas Lipson has heard the enthusiastic cheers, the affectionate well wishes of his American friends since arrival. No sportsman will begrudge the famous Irish baronet the achievement of a 31-year ambition to "capture the old mug" when his Shamrock V slips out to race Enterprise off Newport.

Nevertheless, it will be boat for boat sail for sail, man for man, with no favors asked, when the naval struggle for the America's Cup begins September 13. It would be no satisfaction to Sir Tom to win otherwise than on the merits of his boat, his brawny seamen and his capable skipper.

Stripped of all sentiment, the facts favor Enterprise and her millionaire skipper, Harold S. Vanderbilt, who handle the helm as deftly as he does a bride hand.

Shamrock V seems the best of her line, fit in every respect to give a good account of herself, but Enterprise is the best of four racing sloops embodying the very latest most scientific racing designs and ideas.

American sportsmen altogether sponsored the expenditure of upwards of $3,000,000 to produce the fastest all-round racing yacht possible. Enterprise has met all tests under varying weather conditions. She has the subtle "after guard" or board of strategy that can be assembled.

In short, all that money, science and skill can produce in yachting has been concentrated in the development of Enterprise.

In a measure, the same thing can be said of Shamrock V. for after all this is as much a battle of millions as it is a sport. Given a fair breeze and a "break" or two, the challenger may offset any technical advantages possessed by the defender, sailing in home waters.

If any further evidence was required to show full of holes the charge that American track and field athletes were on the decline due to dissipation, national championship performances at Philadelphia furnished it.

In all-around excellence of achievements, this year's A. A. U. meet, bringing together the pick of college and club athletes, surpassed anything I can recall including the famous Olympic final trials of 1928 at Cambridge.

The track and field campaign of 1930 has witnessed the best American performances of all time in the 100-yard dash, the mile run, the shotput, the discus, the javelin throw and the high hurdles.

If Charley Paddock can detect any decline, outside of his own, in this picture, he is entitled to the prize for the best imagination of the year.

Football hasn't many winning streaks to carry over from 1929. Detroit's long run of victories was checked late last season by a defeat at the hands of Oregon State but the University of Tennessee will attempt to extend one of the longest streaks on record.

The Volunteers have been tied but not defeated since they lost to Vanderbilt in 1926. They have had three straight unbeaten campaigns. The only blotch on an otherwise clean slate last Fall was a 6-3 tie with Kentucky. And Tennessee has Hackman and McEver to keep the parade in motion again.

TRAFFIC HALTED AS CAT GRIEVES OVER KITTEN Elizabeth City, Sept. 12.—(AP)—The rumble and roar of traffic at one of Elizabeth City's busiest street intersections died away to a whisper while a mother cat grieved over her tiny, white kitten, victim of a hit-and-run driver.

Having coaxed all her brood but the smallest across the street, at Main and Broad streets, she returned for it. Halfway across the roadway she overtook them.

Mother-like she refused to leave the broken little body until passer-by helped her get the dead kitten to the curb.

Elkin, N. C.—(AP)—John H. Cook, 56-year-old negro, fired both barrels of a shotgun into his body and died.

Durham, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Henderson was one-up on Durham today as the Piedmont League leaders prepared to battle again tonight in an effort to win the post-series and championship.

A battle of pitchers went to Henderson last night when Moose Swaney, Gamecock twirler, gained a 3 to 2 decision over Dick Cherry.

COTTON MARKET

New York, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 2 to 5 points in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables and a renewal of the selling which was in evidence yesterday.

This was encouraged by reports of rather free hedging from the South, and the figures of the New York Cotton Exchange service, placing domestic consumption of cotton for August at 357,000 bales compared with 379,000 in July and 558,000 in August last year may have been another factor on the decline. There was some trade buying and covering which steadied prices right after the call but the selling continued with the market working off to 10.99 for the new October and 11.45 for March contracts by the end of the first half hour or about 6 to 9 points net lower.

Liverpool cables reported hedging in that market but said there was more inquiry for cotton cloth from Egypt and that rather more encouraging reports from China, were reaching Manchester.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Persistent selling of wheat future deliveries by houses with Canadian and foreign connections, coupled with scattered liquidation, carried wheat prices here to new low levels for the season today. Winnipeg prices were lower than at Chicago and heavy hedging pressure from there was one of the weakening factors here. The movement of wheat to market continues heavy in the Canadian northwest. Support for wheat came mainly from commission houses on resting orders but at various fixed levels and from holders of bids, but there was little rallying power shown. The downturns started at the opening of trade and selling in small lots continued practically all the session. Corn was also weak from the start on a break of almost 3c a bushel for deferred deliveries. Little attention was paid to crop report and selling of corn against purchases of wheat; was also a depressing influence.

Wheat closed weak at 5-8 to 11-8 net lower than yesterday's finish; corn closed at almost the bottom levels reached, 11-8 to 2-5-8 down, oats 3-4 to 11-8 off, rye 7-8 to 13-8 lower and provisions ranged from unchanged to a decline of 10.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Sept. 12.—(12)—Bulls lifted their forces to give the stock market an upward tilt at the end of the week today, as they have done for the past three weeks. Professional operations for the advance coverage upon the utilities, and embraced several of the merchandise, food and miscellaneous manufacturing issues. Although the amount of public participation which has been coaxed back into the stock market has been meagre enough, professional traders know that the market must close the week with an upward tendency, or speculative confidence will weaken before Monday.

The market was inclined to sag for a time in the morning, but the trend was turned by midday. American Water Works, American Power and Light, National Power and Light, Electric Power and Light, consolidated Gas, National Biscuit, Coca Cola, U. S. Steel, Westinghouse Electric, Worthington and Gillett, gained about one to two points.

International Telephone, Curtis Publishing, Vanadium auto strip, and Eastern advanced about 2 to 3. Higher fliers were International Business Machines, and Newton Steel, up 6 and more. Case, however, dropped a few points, and Sears Roebuck was under pressure.

Along with the move in the utilities was heard considerable gossip in brokerage circles about a big merger being arranged by the electric bond and share interests. This old rumor has been brushed off and trotted out so often that it doesn't make much impression any more, but still Wall Street would not be surprised if the bond and share properties were eventually unified.

Further heaviness of the wheat market was used as a basis for further selling of the farm implement and Case broke several points during the morning, momentarily unsettled the entire list.

Money continued plentiful, as funds piled up at the banks in preparation for the September 15 settlements. Call money officially renewed at 21-2 per cent, but was soon being offered outside at 13-4

Ohio Republicans Seek Enforcement of Law In Platform

Columbus, O., Sept. 12.—(AP)—The Ohio State Republican platform placed before the party's convention for adoption today carried no mention of prohibition though calling for enforcement of all laws. Efforts of prohibition opponents to obtain from the resolutions committee a pronouncement for repeal or a referendum on prohibition met with disastrous failure. Three votes, all cast by Cleveland members of the committee, were all the proposal could muster. Twenty one of the twenty two members of the committee participated in framing the document.

The plank dealing with prohibition follows closely the plank of the Kansas City national platform and the one adopted by the state convention two years ago. It follows: "We heartily endorse the declaration relative to law observance and law enforcement contained in the Republican National platform. We believe in the sincere observance and conscientious enforcement of the provisions of our state and Federal constitutions and all the laws pursuant thereto." Proposed planks calling for repeal of prohibition, referendums on both the Volstead and state enforcement Acts were summarily voted down. Advocates considered an attempt to carry the fight to the convention floor today.
