TACOMA FLYER FORCED BACK BY HIGH WINDS

Harold Bromley Returns to Tokyo After Flight to U. S.

Tanabe, Aomori, Japan, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Still defying the series of misfortunes preventing him from flying across the Pacific, Harold L. Bromley, flight instructor at the Rango News Agency, today told a Tacoma News Agency reporter he would continue his efforts to span the ocean to Tacoma by airplane.

Bromley said a broken gasoline feed pipe was the decisive factor in causing him to turn back and land here today after having flown several hundred miles eastward in his attempted non-stop dash to Tacoma, but that "adverse elements" contributed to the decision.

The break, Bromley said, was noticed late Sunday off Kamchatka Peninsula, when gasoline began spraying him, chafing his face and inflaming his eyes. Bromley said he and his navigator Harold Gatty, alternated at the controls throughout the night, suffering great discomfort.

Soon after the landing this morning, a physician treated the flier's eyes but found no permanent injury.

Tokyo, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The fourth attempt of Harold Bromley, American aviator, to span the Pacific ocean ended today when he and his co-pilot, Harold Gatty, were forced by adverse weather to return to within a few miles from where they had taken off for America nearly twenty-five hours previously.

Bromley landed the huge monoplane "City of Tacoma" near the village of Shatukari on Cape Shirayama, Aomori prefecture, at 6 a. m. (1 p. m. PST). Neither the pilot nor Gatty were injured, but dispatches did not say whether the plane was damaged.

The monoplane, attempting a 1,600 mile flight over the ocean to Tacoma, Wash., was in the air 24 hours and 52 minutes and from calculations apparently had flown approximately 2,400 miles. The plane had reached 300 miles beyond Cape Lopatka, nearly half way to the western-most Aleutians, before turning back when the flier encountered thick fog and headwinds.

Fear for the flier's safety were increased when no reports were received after they began his hazardous flight. Although the plane carried a wireless set, operators on ships at sea and land stations were unable to pick up signals from the flier. It was believed rain had disabled the radio set.

Before their take-off from Samishiro Beach, near Sambogai, at 5:08 a. m., Sunday (12:08 p. m. Saturday, PST), the aviators had been promised ideal weather along almost the entire distance of the great circle route to Tacoma.

Headwinds and adverse weather halted the progress of the big vermilion monoplane, which was capable of flying less than 100 miles an hour, and Bromley apparently realized the futility of trying to reach Tacoma and turned back.

After Bromley and Gatty landed on the cape, the American embassy dispatched an interpreter to Shatukari to aid the fliers.

Their return involved official complications because Shatukari is near the Omonato naval base and within the 45-mile zone over which flying is forbidden.

North Carolina Apple Crop Short

Raleigh, Sept. 15.—(AP)—North Carolina's apple crop had an indicated production of only 110,000 barrels, 25 per cent less than last year and half a usual crop, as of September 1, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service announced today.

The late crop of Irish potatoes in the western "hill" counties has suffered from the drought. The early truck crop grown in the east is now indicated as 4,062,000 bushels or 21 per cent more than last year with the yield per acre being the same for both years. The total potato crop is indicated as 4,436,000 bushels, or slightly more than a year ago, but the condition is 65 per cent, or about 20 per cent under last year.

The west potato crop, with 15 per cent increase in acreage, has an indicated production of 10 per cent less than a year ago. The yield is indicated at 8,280,000 bushels compared to 9,126,000 last year.

About half the usual production of pears is indicated, with a completion of 33 per cent and an expected yield of 108,000 bushels compared to 205,000 last season. Grape production is almost normal.

MASS MEETING TO BE HELD IN CITY TUESDAY

County to Select Representative for Gov. Gardner's Relief Commission

A mass meeting has been called for the courthouse in this city tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock to select a representative from this county for Governor Gardner's Tobacco Relief Commission in order that the representative may attend the mass meeting at Raleigh Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock when plans will be formulated for the relief of the tobacco growers of this state.

The meeting was called this morning by E. F. Arnold, director of the Pitt County Department of Agriculture, following a telegram from Dean I. O. Schaub, of State College, immediately in order that Pitt county might be able to send a representative to the commission meeting.

Another meeting of Pitt county farmers has been set for Thursday afternoon at 2 P. M., when members of the Federal Farm Board will visit the city to outline plans of this department for aiding the distressed farmers.

Raleigh, Sept. 15.—(AP)—With financial aid estimated by Governor Gardner at from $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 in sight from the Federal Farm Board, tobacco interests of Eastern North Carolina today pushed preparations for Wednesday's relief meeting here.

After a conference with the governor, Dean I. O. Schaub, head of the State College Extension Service, telegraphed his county agents throughout the belt instructing them to call a mass meeting in their respective county seats for tomorrow, at which representatives will be selected to attend the general meeting on the following day. Dr. E. C. Brooks, State College president, attended the conference.

In accordance with a plan approved at a meeting last Thursday a "Tobacco Relief Commission" will be organized Wednesday. In commenting upon the prospects, Governor Gardner declared that the selection of the right kind of leaders will be the most important factor in the success of the movement.

"Whatever plan is pursued with respect to taking advantage of the offer of the Farm Board to come to the aid of the tobacco farmers with from twenty five million to thirty million dollars," the governor said, "the most important factor for immediate success would be selection of some outstanding man or men to direct and manage the organization."

James C. Stone, vice chairman and tobacco representative on the Federal Farm Board, is expected to be here tomorrow night to confer with the governor, and to attend the meeting of Wednesday.

Democratic Nominee for United States Senate Declares the Abuse of Monetary System By Republican Party Has Brought About Present Crisis In Industry

Carthage, N. C., Sept. 15.—(AP)—J. W. Bailey, Democratic nominee for the United States Senate, declared in a campaign speech here this afternoon that the policies of the Republican party, as applied to both industry and agriculture, are responsible for existing conditions of business depression.

"Republican failure and responsibility for the existing conditions is not limited to agriculture," Mr. Bailey said, "they have as completely failed with respect to industry and business. We must not forget that the present and preceding administrations not only permitted, but actually encouraged, the most flagrant abuses of our monetary system in all our history. The responsibility for the concentration of a large proportion of the money and the credit of our people in New York for speculative purposes lies at the door of the Coolidge and Hoover administrations."

Declaring that this resulted in "the greatest orgy of speculation the world has ever known," until "speculation ran riot throughout the country," Mr. Bailey said, "values of stocks were boosted to undreamed of prices, while land and all else were depressed. Even when the inevitable crash came President Hoover issued an optimistic statement saying that it was 'only temporary'."

Pointing the Federal Reserve System established by Woodrow Wilson and a Democratic Congress, Mr. Bailey asserted "Even the best of systems provide no protection against mismanagement and misuse such as the Republican party has subjected it to the last three years."

"Under the Republican policy of protection so much as of privilege," Mr. Bailey charged, "our industries are being driven to other countries to such an extent that in recent years American industrialists have been forced to build or acquire 2,000 factories in foreign lands. The Republican party," he said, "is rapidly making it unprofitable for any business that looks to export trade to get along in our land, and business and labor and agriculture agree that export trade is indispensable to our prosperity."

The Hawley-Smoot tariff bill, Mr. Bailey said, "arrayed all nations of the earth against us in a boycott of American farm products and American manufacturers. And, by way of defending against this ruinous policy, the Republican campaigners are now saying that American industry is producing too much."

"We may safely assert, therefore, not only that the Republicans are estopped by their solemn representations to say that they are responsible for the financial depression, but also that the Republican policies, sins of commission and of omission, have contributed directly to it."

ENTERPRISE AGAIN LEADS SHAMROCK V

Slim Yacht Two Miles Ahead of Lipton's Boat At End of Twenty Miles

U. S. S. Kane, off America's Cup Course, Sept. 15.—(By Radio to the Associated Press)—The Enterprise defending the America's cup from the challenge of Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock V won the second consecutive race of the series today.

The slim American defender came across the finish line at 2:41:31 this P. M.

U. S. S. Kane, off America's Cup Course, Sept. 15.—(By Radio to the Associated Press)—Enterprise, slim marvel of a racing yacht, led Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock V by two miles at the end of the first twenty miles of their second thirty-mile race in the series for the America's cup.

Outmaneuvered at the start and outfooted in the ten mile beat into the wind, Sir Thomas' boat appeared to have no chance against the American defender and what may prove to be the Irish Baronet's last attempt at the "Silly Old Mug" seemed to be another lost cause.

Harold S. Vanderbilt, wealthy amateur sportsman, who skipped the Enterprise, handled his white-hulled boat like a master and put her on the mark straight and true. Ernest (Ned) Heard, veteran English skipper at the helm of Shamrock, appeared to have met his master in the American sportsman. He fought a losing battle from the start and lost precious minutes at the turn when he reached for the mark a bit too early and was forced to pull up the challenger so hard that she almost lost way.

Ahead of him all the way from the starting line was the towering mast and wind filled sails of the Enterprise and tack as he would, that barricade of sail stood between him and the breeze.

The Shamrock crossed the line on the weather side but she was outfooted by the Enterprise which quickly crossed her bow and held that position to within sight of the ten mile marker.

The Enterprise rounded the turn at 12:21:30, just one hour, 41 minutes and 30 seconds after the starting gun had sent them on their way.

With the wind on their beam on the second leg, it was expected they would sail along much faster and then at the next turn they would have the wind behind them for a quick run home.

The race today was over a triangular course as compared to the straight windward and leeward course that was sailed the first day.

The series goes to the first yacht to win four races and if today's race may be taken as a fair indication of which way the wind is blowing, more than that it will be necessary to decide possession of the old silver cup America has held for 73 years.

Mother Jones Reported Near Death Today

Washington, Sept. 15.—(AP)—"Mother" Mary Jones, militant labor crusader during many of her 100 years, realized today that the end was near.

Today, physicians said she had lost the ground she gained yesterday when she took a small quantity of cocoa.

Fliers Plan to Take Off for London Tuesday

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Unfavorable weather conditions held Captain Erroll Boyd and Lieutenant Harry Connor, who are contemplating a trans-Atlantic flight. At Tea Hill, five miles from here, today, they landed here Saturday in the Columbia, Clarence Chamberlin's old trans-Atlantic plane. From Montreal enroute to Harbor Grace, N. F., on the first leg of their flight to London.

They said they did not expect to be able to take off before tomorrow morning.

HEAVIEST SALE OF SEASON ON LEAF MARKET TODAY

Five Primaries Tuesday To Clear The Stage For The November Election

Voters of Democratic and Republican Parties Will Select Candidates In New York, Connecticut, Wisconsin, Delaware and Massachusetts

Washington, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The last primaries and nominating conventions of the year will be held tomorrow in five states, clearing the political stage for the final six-week campaign drive before the November elections.

Voters of the Democratic and Republican parties will select candidates in New York, Massachusetts and Wisconsin. In Connecticut a Republican convention will nominate the party choices while in Delaware the Democrats will select standard bearers in like fashion.

The only senatorial nominees are to be selected in Massachusetts and Delaware. In Massachusetts, Wisconsin and Connecticut there are gubernatorial contests while in New York state only candidates for the House are to be voted on.

The issue of prohibition enters the Massachusetts Senatorial contests in both parties. The Republican candidates for the seat to be vacated by Senator Gillet are William M. Butler, former chairman of the rational committee, a dry; Eben S. Draper, wet former state senator, and Andrew J. Gillis, self-styled "moist" mayor of Newburyport. The Democrats are Marcus A. Coolidge, wet former mayor of Fitchburg; Eugene N. Foss, dry former governor, and Peter J. Joyce, a manufacturer; Thomas C. O'Brien, former district attorney, and Joseph F. O'Connell, once a member of Congress.

In Delaware the Democratic contest the wet former Senator Thomas F. Bayard is opposed by Josiah Marvel, national committeeman who has had dry support. The winner will oppose the Republican Senator Daniel O. Hastings who has been renominated.

Governor Frank G. Allen of Massachusetts is seeking Republican renomination for a second term, opposed by Mayor John D. Devir, of Malden. Former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald of Boston reappeared for the Democratic race because of illness but his name still is on the ballot against John J. Cummings, of Boston and Joseph B. Ely, of Westfield.

In Wisconsin Philip F. LaFollette, brother of Senator Robert LaFollette is seeking the governorship against Walter J. Kohler, millionaire incumbent.

Lieutenant Governor Ernest E. Rogers is considered the likely choice of the Republican convention in that state for the governorship. Governor John H. Trumbull has announced he is not a candidate for renomination.

The New York primaries offer few contests of importance Representative Ruth Baker Pratt of the Seventh District of New York City has the primary opposition of George Hiram Mann of Brooklyn. In November the winner is to meet both Democratic and Socialist opposition. Heywood Brown is on the latter ticket.

Parliamentary Chaos Looms In Germany As Result Of Elections

Fascists and Communists, Bitterly Antagonistic, Receive Almost a Landslide of Votes; Fall of the Bruening Government Almost a Certainty; Minor Disorders Attend Elections In Berlin and Other Provinces

Berlin, Sept. 15.—(AP)—A parliamentary chaos, in which no government will be able to survive, loomed in Germany today as a consequence of Reichstag elections Sunday.

So extensive may be the results of the polling, in which Fascists and Communists, themselves bitterly antagonistic, received almost a landslide of votes, that fall of the present Bruening government—now almost a certainty—appeared the least serious of the developments which now threaten.

The social Democrats, one of two bases for the defunct government of Chancellor Mueller, remained the largest single group in the Reichstag, as a result of the polling, with a probable 143 deputies elected, a loss of ten under their 1928 figure.

The Fascists of Adolf Hitler, young Austrian responsible for the notorious 1923 Munich Putsch, made astounding and sweeping gains in virtually every section of the country, and jumped from twelve seats in the 1928 elections to 107, a figure which surpassed even the claims of their campaign managers.

The Communists, at the opposite end of the parliamentary arc from the Fascists, but with them opposed to the Republic and to the present treaties, gained 22 new seats in the Reichstag, jumping from 54 to 76 to become the third largest party in the body.

Other totals, estimated by the Federal electoral supervisor on the basis of total votes cast were: Centrists 69, Nationalists 41, People's Party 26, Economic Party 23, State Party 22, Bavarians 18, Farmers' League 18, Christian Socialists 15, Peasants Party 6, Brownists 5, Landbund 3, Conservatives 2; total 573 against 491 seats in the 1928 elections.

Chancellor Bruening's fall might almost be taken for granted unless he can enlist the collaboration of the Social Democrats who preceded the elections refused continually to ally themselves with him in most of his important moves.

A new government, it would appear, will have to be built round a left combination in which the Social Democrats have the greatest authority. In such a case there practically always would be a certain opposition comprising Communists, Fascists and Nationalists who together can muster 224 Reichstag votes, not a majority but sufficient with other probable opposition elements to make any government step dangerous.

The probable consequences, it appeared, would be several attempts of Chancellor Bruening or someone else to get together a Reichstag majority, a probable short life for such a government if it is formed, and constant further bickering during which the new dissolution and re-establishment of government by decree would always be just around the corner.

Some disorders attend the elections, but both in Berlin and in the provinces they were of minor character, although Communists and Fascists met here and there in fairly active hostilities. The chief weapons of antagonists were beer steins and pieces of furniture, the government having forbidden carrying of knives, and even walking sticks, to the polls.

Cotton Farmers Plan for Meeting At Snow Hill

A meeting of cotton farmers will be held in the courthouse in Snow Hill on September 19 at 7:30 p. m. At this meeting Mr. M. G. Mann, secretary and treasurer of the Cotton Growers Association will be on hand to discuss fully what the cotton cooperatives are doing in the way of helping the cotton farmers from having to dump his cotton on an unwilling and very low market. Other men who are expected to speak are: John T. Thorne, of Farmville, president of the Cotton Growers Association, and Judge J. Paul Frizzelle, of Snow Hill, president of the Eastern North Carolina Chamber of Commerce. All farmers, business and professional men in the surrounding territory are urged to attend this meeting.

Two young men who had been paying her attention have been questioned by police without, however, providing any clue to the identity of the killer.

Less than three weeks ago the body of seven-year-old Marberine Appel was found in an alley near her home. She had been attacked, then murdered.

The two killings today prompted the taking of added precautions for protection of South Bend school children. There was a noticeable absence of children from the streets last night.

Alex Pietrzak, who was twice questioned yesterday and who was to be questioned today, told police he and Alice were engaged to be married. Pietrzak had taken the girl to a dance Saturday night and had been with her and her mother in the kitchen of the Woltman house up to a few hours before the murder.

Barney Kluszczycki, 23, who was Alice Woltman's escort to several dances recently, was taken into custody in the belief that questioning might draw from him information of value in hunting the girl's slayer. Crowds gathered about the Woltman home yesterday in such numbers that police had to stretch ropes about the place to hold them in check.

No motive for the killing had been discovered early today.

ABOUT TOWN

If plans of the tree planting organization formed here last week materialize it will not be long before scores of new trees will make their appearance in different sections of the city. It is not only a project looking to the beautification of the principal residential sections, but an effort to furnish more shade during the hot summer months.

The clubs assigned to look after the planting and preservation of trees in the different wards should not fail to realize the responsibility resting upon them, and a spirit of competition should develop to see which can get the greatest number of trees planted.

The tree life of the city has been greatly impaired in recent years because the people failed to realize the importance of preserving trees, and it is to be hoped the entire citizenship will co-operate with the organization in its work to restore the shortage.

Trees play an important part in the beauty of a town or city, and thousands of dollars are being spent by cities in different parts of the country to effect improvements of this kind, and Greenville surely will not be a laggard in this respect.

This fact has been proved to the satisfaction of virtually every business man of Greenville, and whenever they wish to dispose of anything they resort to this medium of letting the public know what they have to offer.

The progressive merchant these days knows that he is bound to keep his customers informed if he realizes the volume of business he should, and it is for this reason he sets aside a specific sum of money each year to carry on his advertising campaign.

The Reflector reaches thousands of people in this great trade territory and it is better able to serve the advertiser than any other paper in this section of the country. Every afternoon its pages are carefully scanned by the buying public and the advertiser who has something in demand seldom ever fails to get results.

This is the season of the year when the people with cash watch the columns of the paper for the things they want and when they find them presented in an attractive way they are busy to supply the demand. It would pay every advertiser to increase his space at this season of the year, and in that way keep his offerings before the public more extensively than any other season.

If you have been neglecting your advertising, Mr. Merchant, renew your contracts immediately and watch business take a jump.

The Board of Aldermen has been called upon to provide legislation looking to the protection of the city tree supply. The request is a part of the campaign to provide the city with more trees and the presentation of those already in evidence.

That the matter will receive favorable consideration cannot be doubted. Members of the board, many of whom are property owners, realize the important part which trees play in the life of the city, and will do everything possible to foster the movement looking to an increase of the tree supply.

There are many persons who ruthlessly destroy trees on other people's property without giving their value a thought. But with legislation specifically declaring it unlawful to mar the beauty or damage any trees in the city limits the situation should be greatly improved.

The time is ripe for legislation of this kind and it is to be hoped the board will act in time to protect the young trees which will be set out in the near future.

Greenville is acknowledged as the principal shopping center of Eastern North Carolina because her merchants are always on their toes to render the most efficient service at all times.

 They not only give service, but they offer the most seasonable goods at prices in keeping with the greatest trade centers of the country. Styles faithfully portray those in evidence in the world's greatest style centers at every season of the year, and the man or woman buying from reputable firms here may be assured of receiving the last wild scream in sartorial splendor.
 If you are one of the thousands of people casting about for something to wear this season, do not fail to visit the Greenville stores and in that way assure yourself of having bought the best the market has to offer. In many instances savings are sufficient to defray cost of transportation for many miles, and this one thing should prove of interest to the thrifty shopper.
 If you have been in the habit of buying elsewhere, why not make it a point to visit Greenville stores this season and convince yourself that the city's claim as the "principal shopping center of this part of the state" has plenty of foundation.

To Tobacco Growers
 These are trying times. Tobacco growers are in distress. Suggestions for help are being offered everywhere. The consumer is paying $2.56 per pound for manufactured tobacco and buying it in larger quantities than ever before. Nearly 12 billions of cigarettes were manufactured in the month of July. This is more cigarettes than was ever manufactured in any month before in the history of the world. Yet the farmer faces ruin with a normal crop.
 Is there any remedy? I can see no aid that may come from the government. The government gets $1.26 per pound out of tobacco and when this rate is charged it will probably be up instead of down. This is the history of all taxes in general. I see no help that is likely to come from the manufacturer. The manufacturer is working for the interest of the stockholders of his company not the producer of tobacco. The manufacturer not only buys tobacco as cheaply as he can, but he buys all other supplies the same way. This is fundamental with all business.
 Where then is the remedy if there be one? If it be true that supply and demand determine price, it seems reasonable that the producer of necessity must consider ways for regulating production. This will necessitate an organization. This organization should be composed of farmers. Men who sit up right after night to cure tobacco and day after day to grade it can be relied upon to go all the way. Men who have no experience with it except to chew or to smoke it can have but secondary interest. For this reason outside leadership should be avoided. An organization would be worthless unless a large majority of growers signed an agreement providing for acreage regulation. And here comes the crux of the whole proposition: Unless there is sufficient determination among those forming the organization to force non-members to abide by the same rules as members, the whole venture will be the most dismal failure. By members I mean producers. Force of course should be the last resort. But without force many producers, believing that prices would be better another year on account of a cut in acreage, would increase their acreage, probably raising a larger crop than even before causing prices to go even lower than they are at present. It would appear that a governing board composed of tobacco growers selected from strategic points in the bright leaf belt, the powers of initiative and authority being vested in this board. Under this authority there would be an executive chairman in each tobacco producing county. Under the county chairman would be a township chairman. Each township would be divided into four districts with a deputy in each district. The acreage of each grower could be quickly and easily ascertained in this way, allotments made and the general rules of the governing board executed.

In my judgment the importance of the vigilante arm of the organization is paramount. The organization will succeed or fail on this point. There is not sufficient moral force inherent in the nation to maintain the government of the United States without certain police powers and the same will be true with a norganization of tobacco growers.
 In submitting the foregoing opinion, my councils may be questioned but my sentiments are unmistakable. The question is vital and the objective all important. For this reason I want to see some policy inaugurated that is fundamental. Anything less is trivial.
 Personally I would take pleasure in signing an agreement under the foregoing conditions or any other agreement that gave promise of results. And I should be pleased to learn the sentiments and opinions of others in this connection.

Engaged Naval Officer Comrnts Suicide

New York, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Lieutenant Woodward Phelps of the United States Navy, eldest son of Rear Admiral William Woodward Phelps, was found dead last night aboard the U. S. S. Northampton, in dry dock at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, with a bullet wound in his temple.

Captain Venou of the cruiser said no reason was known why the young officer should have committed suicide, and declined to call the death a suicide until an official report was made, but the lieutenant was believed to have shot himself.

He was found on the deck at about 11 o'clock, the captain said. Lieutenant Phelps was graduated from the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, in 1924. He was 29 years of age married to a young Maryland woman whom the officers at the Northampton did not recall the name. The Northampton had come into dry dock at the Brooklyn Navy Yard last Thursday night. It is

Turtle Causes Wreck
 Pittsfield, Mass.—George B. Madocks, who likes to fish, probably will avoid turtles hereafter. He caught a 20-pounder, wrapped a coat around it and threw it in the back seat of his car. George must go to court accused of operating a car so as to endanger life. The turtle broke away from its moorings and bit George in one leg. Then the automobile hit two other cars.

Pritchard to Begin Stump Cagin Soon

Charlotte, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Hard on the heels of the formal opening of Josiah W. Bailey's Democratic campaign for the Senate, his Republican opponent, Representative George M. Pritchard, of Asheville, prepared today to take to the hustings for two weeks with an itinerary that provides for fourteen speeches. Republican headquarters at Greensboro announced a schedule for Pritchard, beginning today with addresses at Yanceyville and Stoneville, and continuing through September 29, on which date Smithfield will be the scene of his appeal to the voters.

Other dates on the itinerary follow: Tuesday, Rocky Mount; Wednesday, Goldsboro; Thursday, Wallace; Friday, Wilmington; Saturday, Ash in Brunswick County; Monday, September 22, Whiteville; Tuesday, Lumberton; Wednesday, Fayetteville; Thursday, Dunn and Friday, Troy; Saturday, Shilfield; Monday, September 29, Shilfield.

Bailey made his first formal campaign speech in Burlington Saturday night, denouncing the Hoover administration as a "100 per cent failure" in his address to 1,000 voters.
 On the same day, Jake F. Newell, Charlotte Republican lawyer, was returning the compliment by lambasting the Woodrow Wilson administration and the state Democratic regime in his key note speech to the Watauga County Republican convention at Boone.

Other political developments over the week-end included a formal announcement by former Governor Cameron Morrison that he intended to be a candidate in the 1932 Democratic primary for the seat now held by Senator Overman, and the resignation of Judge T. L. Johnson, from the Superior bench, coupled with the statement that he would not be a candidate for governor two years from now. Judge Johnson resigned to become a member of an Asheville law firm.

DOROTHY DAINIT
 In my judgment the importance of the vigilante arm of the organization is paramount. The organization will succeed or fail on this point. There is not sufficient moral force inherent in the nation to maintain the government of the United States without certain police powers and the same will be true with a norganization of tobacco growers.
 In submitting the foregoing opinion, my councils may be questioned but my sentiments are unmistakable. The question is vital and the objective all important. For this reason I want to see some policy inaugurated that is fundamental. Anything less is trivial.
 Personally I would take pleasure in signing an agreement under the foregoing conditions or any other agreement that gave promise of results. And I should be pleased to learn the sentiments and opinions of others in this connection.

Floating Distillery Burned At St. Louis

St. Louis, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The charred hull of the Sternwheeler steamboat Illinois lay at the bottom of the Mississippi river today, supposedly burned by incendiaries who sought to cover up the operations of the old craft as a floating distillery.

Just as federal prohibitionists were about to investigate the boat, it disappeared from a dock at Alton, Ill. early yesterday and was sent floating down the river, a towering mass of flames.

It was the first floating distillery ever to come to the attention of federal operatives here and they suspect it was the largest source of alcohol heretofore. Estimates of its daily capacity ranged from 600 to 1,000 gallons.

The old vessel had a long and honorable career on the Mississippi and Illinois rivers, first as a packet and later as a fish and game conservation boat. It was equipped with large tanks, formerly used to carry live fish.

The Illinois first came to the attention of prohibition agents in August, when it was found anchored between two barges, one of which was filled with whiskey mash and the other with distilling utensils and fuel. The agents returned the next day with a search warrant, but the old stern-wheeler had vanished and the barge with the mash was scuttled before they were able to reach the scene. The Illinois was located only Saturday in a dock at Alton.

Sunday morning St. Louis papers contained a story that federal agents had located the craft and were investigating its activities, reached Alton at 9 p. m. Saturday night. Less than six hours later the vessel was cut loose from its moorings, and apparently towed out into the current. Opinion was current in Alton today that the boat was fired immediately after its owners learned of the federal inquiry.

Major Steadman Grows Weaker

Two American Girls to Attempt to Swim the English Channel

Dover, Eng., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Bernice and Phyllis Zittengeld, 17-year-old New York twins, were engaged today in an attempt to swim the English Channel.

Entering the water at South Foreland at 6:50 a. m., the twins dived slowly away from land and headed toward the far away French shore.

Their mother expressed confidence that her children, who are 15 years old, would complete the long grind successfully. "We came over two years ago," she said, "but the girls were not in shape for the ordeal."

"Now I am confident that they have the strength and vitality to go through with it. They're all muscle and I have fed them beef-steak and roast beef so that they can endure any amount of cold."

The twins, who are making an attempt to win the Dover gold cup, were taken to their starting point by a motorboat and commenced their swim under fairly good conditions except that a smart north-westerly wind was blowing which they may possibly feel when they get farther out into the channel.

One Slain In Raid On Safe Blowers Nest

Kansas City, Sept. 15.—(AP)—One suspect is dead, his companion was under arrest and stolen liberty bonds and money orders valued at $100,000 were in possession of police today as the result of a raid on what they described as a "safe blowers' nest."

The slain man, shot down when he sought to escape a raiding party of police and postal inspectors yesterday was tentatively identified as John Williams of Sioux City, Iowa. Frank Pelser, 37, his companion, has served three prison terms. The men posed as solicitors for a photography firm.

No motive for the killing had been identified, officers said, as part of loot taken in robberies recently in Stillwell and Frederick and Central City, Colo.

Police found a number of guns, 200 pounds of ammunition, a quantity of nitroglycerin and the stolen valuables in the room occupied by Pelser and his slain companion.

Prepare to Begin Audit of Office of Clerk of Court

Greensboro, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Certified accountants, employed by the Guilford county commissioners, today were prepared to begin an audit of the office of Mason W. Gant, clerk of Superior court, whose handling of Confederate pension funds has been questioned by R. L. Dixon, Republican candidate for register of deeds.

The Democratic executive committee this afternoon will nominate a candidate for clerk of court in place of Gant, who on Saturday withdrew from the race for re-election although protesting he had done no "intentional wrong" in connection with the pension funds.

Dixon charged pension checks drawn in favor of his father, Lemuel S. Dixon had been collected several years after the elder Dixon's death, and that the checks were witnessed by Gant.

With the register term of Superior court convening here today, the grand jury will be in session, and Solicitor J. Frank Sprull, of Lexington, said he would direct the attention of that body to the allegations against Gant.

Direct orders for a thorough investigation were given by Governor O. Max Gardner, after the State Pension Board had considered the charges made by Dixon. The chief executive asked Attorney General Dennis G. Brummitt to take charge of the inquiry.

COTTON MARKET

New York, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 3 points to an advance of 2 points. There was some liquidation in the old style October and December contracts, but the relatively steady showing of Liverpool was reflected by scattered buying of other deliveries and the general market was steady after the call.

After selling off to 10.91 at the start, the old October rallied to 10.97, while the new October sold up to 10.88 with the active months generally showing net advances of about 3 to 5 points. Business was comparatively quiet and trade buying helped to absorb the offerings. Liverpool cables said that hedging and liquidation in that market had been absorbed by continental buying and reported a fair business pending in cotton cloths and yarns at Manchester.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Topped over by heavy selling and by 7,585,000 bushels increase of the United States wheat supply, wheat today fell to new low price records. September delivery of wheat collapsed to below 80c a bushel. Only in June and July, 1914, have wheat values been as low as at present since as far back as 1907. Oats and rye gave way with wheat and touched new bottom levels.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The bears took another fling at the stock market today, but ran into the same obstacle their professional opponents have encountered—dullness.

Failure of the Saturday rally to do much more than eliminate that day's early declines, leaving the market lower on the week, encouraged renewed operations by the shorts, who hammered with especial vigor at the utility, steel, merchandising shares. The result of the German elections, reflected in selling on the Berlin Bourse, may also have contributed to the weakening of speculative sentiment.

Heaviness at the opening was followed by vestiges of a rally as week-end selling orders were disposed of, but the list soon resumed its downward course. Shares losing 3 points or more included R. H. Macy, Safeway Stores, American Telephone, American Can, American Power & Light, Foster Wheeler, Gulf States Steel and Lackawanna. U. S. Steel, Crucible Steel, Woolworth, International Harvester, General Electric, Johns-Manville, Loew's and American Tobacco new slumped about 2 points. Case and Allied Chemical lost half a dozen points, and DuPont, Westinghouse Electric and Eastman Kodak dropped 4. American Water Works, which rallied briskly on Saturday, rose another point but yielded its advance. Auto stop moved up 5 points.

Call money, renewing at 2 1/2 per cent, dropped to 2, the first ease in some time in the official rate this is the day of the quarterly dividend turnover in the money markets incident to the government re-financing.

GRID TEAMS PREPARE FOR FIRST CLASH

With the period of preparation slipping away and the time for the test of actual, combat near at hand, gridiron squads of the Carolinas today began another week of intensive training.

Some of the coaches pointed their elevens to opening games at the end of the week, but the majority had another week to prime their moleskin warriors for their initial engagements.

Interest of football fandom will be focussed on three contests involving members of the Southern Conference this Saturday. The conference aggregations are favored to win over their outside foes in every instance but the manner in which they do it, if at all, will furnish some facts to replace the speculation that has developed since the training season opened.

North Carolina State and High Point will draw many fans to Raleigh. Both teams have new coaches and will be composed largely of raw material but the purple panthers from the furniture city are confident they will give the capital lands a run for their money.

Coach Ver Lew, beginning his first season at State, is quoted as optimistic in dispatches. Julian Beall, old South Carolina center who is making his debut in North Carolina coaching circles, has had little to say about his charges, but the word from High Point has been all encouraging.

Both of South Carolina's conference teams will get into action. Billy Laval's university "Gamecocks" will appear as usual against Erskin's Seceders at Columbia, while Josh Cody's Tigers of Clemson will meet the always scrapping blue stockings of Presbyterian College at Clemson.

Laval is reported well pleased with the machine he has in prospect, to be built around the fleet and shifty backfield star, Bru Bojman, while the Erskin outfit will be composed almost entirely of untried material. Coach Jackie Todd lost practically his whole squad by graduation last year.

Clemson is figured not quite so strong as it was last year, but Cody is thought to have enough to thrust back the P. C. threat without serious danger.

Hickory will be the battleground for the season's opener. Lenoir-Rhyne and Atlantic Christian College, members of the North State conference, successor to the "little six" of other years, will clash under the arc light Friday night, on the same day, Mars Hill journeys to Tennessee soil to meet Maryville.

THREE TEAMS ON EVEN TERMS FOR PENNANT

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr. (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Brooklyn, St. Louis and Chicago, lined up in a new order today, are practically on even terms in the National League pennant race. Each has lost 60 games. The difference in the number of victories puts Brooklyn a half game ahead of St. Louis and a full game ahead of Chicago.

The New York Giants were practically eliminated from the race as they lost a double header to Pittsburgh yesterday and found themselves 5 1-2 game back of first place. The Giants lost the first clash in the tenth inning, 8 to 6, then went down before the pitching of Charley Wood in the seventh inning second game, 7 to 3.

Brooklyn's amazing Robins won their way to the top yesterday by scoring their tenth straight victory at the expense of the Cincinnati Reds. The score was 8 to 3. Thurston gave the Reds three runs in the first inning, but Jim Elliott shut them out with 6 hits in 8 2-3 innings while powerful hitting against Rixey and Kolp soon put the Robins ahead.

The Cardinals who took the lead Saturday as Chicago's Cubs hopped to third place through a defeat by the Phillies, promptly went back to second place yesterday. Effective pitching by Burleigh Grimes and equally effective hitting gave the Cards the first game 9 to 2, but the Braves slumped Sylvester Johnson around to take the second 7 to 4.

The Cubs and Philadelphia were idle yesterday but have a double header today.

The Philadelphia Athletics held their hold on first place in the American League a little safer by bumping Wesley Ferrell and the Cleveland Indians for a 7 to 1 triumph, while Washington was losing a close decision to Chicago. Earnshaw, starting his second game in as many days, gave ten hits and came close to a shutout while homers by Dykes and Simmons helped the champions pile up a score.
