COUNTY FAIR TO OPEN HERE NEXT MONDAY

Attraction to Continue for Six Days With Best Program in Years

General arrangements have been completed for the staging of the annual Pitt County Fair, which will open here next Monday and continue for a period of six days. In the opinion of Haywood Dail, Jr., secretary, the attraction this year will be the greatest in history and is expected to attract thousands of people from many parts of the state.

Mr. Dail announced that one of the outstanding changes decided upon by the fair management this year was a reduction of the general admission price. He said the price had been reduced to 25 cents, and this price will be effective both day and night. The cut is one of the most drastic inaugurated by any fair in this part of the country in years and will be the means of drawing additional thousands of people who found themselves unable to attend as often as desired at the 50 cent rate.

Intense activity prevails at the fair grounds at this time as exhibits are received and concessions owners get everything in readiness for the opening day. By Monday morning it was believed every one of the hundreds of attractions would be in place and ready to receive the throngs of people who will file along the midway from day to day.

The program provides for one of the most complete agricultural showings in years. In fact, special attention has been given to this feature alone, and hundreds of exhibitors portraying the resources and possibilities of Pitt and surrounding counties will greet the eyes of the visitors when the exhibits buildings swing open Monday morning.

In keeping with the live-at-home movement inaugurated by Governor Gardner the first of the year, fair officials have made an effort to make the display of live-at-home products one of the main features. Each community of the county will be well represented, and general exhibits will be more complete than ever.

The schools of Pitt county will also come in for their share of attention in the educational building. The teachers of the various schools have put forth unusual effort this year to make this department surpass all previous years, and the public will get an opportunity to see what the students of the schools are accomplishing.

Down in the live stock buildings the showing unquestionably will rank among the leading fairs of the state. Pitt county farmers have confined right much attention to hogs and poultry raising the last few years, and the results of their efforts will be in evidence in the form of scores of hogs and chickens covering practically every breed of the day.

Free acts as usual will be put on in front of the grandstand during the day. These will include some of the celebrated actors of the country. In addition there will be plenty of fireworks beginning every evening at 8 o'clock.

Midway will be in charge of the West Greater Shows, the same appeared here last year. Among the main attractions of the midway will be the largest elephant in the world.

To Devise Plans for Relieving the Cotton Market

New Orleans, La., Oct. 9.—(AP)—Prominent figures of the cotton trade have been invited by the American Cotton Shipper association to meet here Monday to devise plans for relieving what the association has termed "the deplorable and demoralization of the cotton market."

The meeting is expected to bring together Chairman Legg of the Federal Farm Board, Secretary of Commerce Lamont, Carl Williams, member of the Farm Board for cotton; E. F. Cheekmore, general manager of the American Cotton Co-operative Association; J. P. Henican, president of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange and a score of others prominent in the trade.

R. C. Dickerson, of Memphis, Tenn., vice-president of the American Cotton Shippers Association, said the invitations at the suggestion of D. E. McCuen, president of the shippers organization.

The telegraphed request that the leaders in the cotton trade attend the gathering, said:

"Owing to continued decline and demoralization of the cotton market this association has been requested to call a general meeting of the cotton trade for the purpose of considering ways and means to help the situation."

Woman Flyer Battles Storm To Set Record In Flight Across U. S.

Los Angeles, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Battling storms and groping through dense mountain fogs during the last 300 miles of a transcontinental flight, Laura Ingalls, diminutive 25-year-old aviatrix, has established a mark for fliers of her sex—an elapsed time of 30 hours, 27 minutes for flying across the United States.

Miss Ingalls left New York Sunday, making nine stops en route to Grand Central Air Terminal, Glendale. She completed the last leg from Kingman, Ariz., her last fueling stop, four hours, 40 minutes, dropping down at Glendale at 4:25 P. M. (P. S. T.) yesterday.

The aviatrix made the crossing in the same plane with which she recently set the world's record of 980 consecutive loops. Miss Ingalls is a transport pilot and has been flying two years. She won third place last summer in the Dixie Air Derby, held in connection with the National air races at Chicago.

Miss Ingalls said the last leg of the flight was the worst of the entire trip.

"Fog, fierce headwinds, I struck up and down draughts, clouds, rain squalls and fog," she said. "I was glad to see Los Angeles loom up on the horizon."

At the completion of the flight Miss Ingalls said she would take off again today in an effort to set a mark for an eastward flight.

PRICES STILL REMAIN FIRM ON LEAF MARI

Greenville Averaged $16.50 Per Hundred Pounds On Yesterday's Offerings

With the price situation remaining firm, the Greenville tobacco market yesterday averaged $16.50 per hundred pounds on 639,884 pounds of tobacco according to the official report made public this morning by K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales. The total amount paid out by the market was given at $10,385.99.

It was estimated by the supervisor that there was approximately 700,000 pounds of leaf on the market today, and sales were expected to finish about 4 o'clock. There was little change in the price situation from the previous day. Good tobacco continued to command the attention of the buyers and bidding was spirited throughout the day.

The report of the supervisor stated that farmers from as far as twelve miles of Greenville marketed tobacco here yesterday. They were described as highly pleased with the rapidity with which sales are conducted on this market, and expressed gratification at the price they received for their offerings.

The supervisor declared that farmers from a greater distance than ever before were selling their tobacco on the Greenville market this season. He attributed the gain in trade to the splendid service rendered by the market from year to year, and the high dollar in evidence at all times.

He said the growers from the Greensboro area were not only pleased with their sales here, but declared they intended to come again in the near future.

Sales have been comparatively light here this week owing to the dry weather prevailing in this section of the country. The dryness was said to be handicapping the farmers in the preparation of their tobacco for market.

Patrick Hurley Sends Wilmington Convention Message, Expressing His Interest in the Plans for Development of the Waterway Projects of Nation

Wilmington, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The Atlantic Deepwater Waterways association, holding its 23rd annual convention here, was assured today in a message from Patrick J. Hurley, secretary of war, of his interest in its work. The convention will meet next at Boston.

Frank S. Davis, Massachusetts delegate to the convention, extended the invitation. Miami and Charleston also bid for the next meeting.

Election of officers is scheduled for tomorrow.

Major W. A. Snow, of Wilmington, United States district engineer, praised the state legislature's action in obtaining right-of-way for the Beaufort-Cape Fear line of the Intra-Coastal canal. That action expedited completion of the project, he said.

Other district engineers spoke of the waterways work in their areas. Col. H. B. Ferguson, of Norfolk, discussed progress in his district. Major General Lytle Brown, chief of army engineers, read the message of Patrick J. Hurley, secretary of war, to the convention.

"It must be," the message said, "A matter of gratification to the members and delegates of your association from the Atlantic Coast States who have, since your organization in 1907, been collecting data and striving for better harbors and waterways, to view the progress that has been made during the intervening 23 years."

"The Cape Cod canal has been cut and taken over by the Federal Government; the inland waterways approaching New York have been improved; a minimum depth of 12 feet from Trenton, New Jersey, to Beaufort, North Carolina, has been secured and provisions have been made for continuing the inland waterways from Beaufort and Morehead City, North Carolina, all the way through to Miami, Fla."

"Although an adequate canal across the state of New Jersey from New York to Philadelphia, for which you have striven, has not yet been secured, the last rivers and harbors bid contained an authorization for a survey for the most desirable route for such a waterway."

The secretary's message said the Atlantic Intracoastal waterway was part of a larger and more comprehensive system which President Hoover foresaw as secretary of commerce. He quoted the following passage from a letter the President sent the up-Hudson convention of the association last year:

"The growth of our country requires incessant labor on the part of both Federal and state authorities in the improvement of this essential basis of transportation."

"The comprehensive scheme of waterways which he felt to be necessary to bring the country's transportation facilities to a par with production and distribution from and to the farm and factory, has been legislatively realized."

"Under the auspices of the War Department the practical work of putting the system in order from the Mississippi to the Atlantic Ocean and from the lakes to the gulf will be undertaken as funds are made available."

BLOODY FIGHT IMMINENT IN BRAZIL TODAY

Battle Pending Between Revolutionists and Federal Forces in Two States

Montevideo, Uruguay, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Brazilian revolutionary troops were rushed today to the border of the states of Parana and Sao Paulo, where a battle with defending federal troops was imminent.

Two regiments of cavalry and artillery accompanied by considerable reserves, and 800 volunteers organized into a military brigade which have left Santa Ana Do Livramento had Castro, if the state of Parana, as their destination. Revolutionary quarters referring to Castro, which is about 75 miles from the border of Sao Paulo and Parana said in a message here that "a very bloody battle" possibly would be fought there.

Insurgent troops already in the battle area, who probably will bear the brunt of any early fighting, are under the command of the Chief of the Miguel Costa.

The Rio de Janeiro government dispatches state, depending upon troops in Sao Paulo to keep the southern armies away from the capital while the revolution is put down in the north, and to this end has strengthened its military bases for defense of the coffee capital.

In Rio Grande do Sul, hotbed of the revolution, and in Parana and Santa Catharina, adjoining states, almost every hamlet is furnishing its quota of volunteers to aid in the advance on Sao Paulo and Rio de Janeiro.

Reports through Uruguayan border points say that 80,000 men are under arms and that armies totaling 100,000 men already have been mobilized. Parana and Santa Catharina armies totaling 30,000 men are marching toward the Uruguay river to effect a union there for the march northward.

Some successes are reported from the detachments and larger divisions advancing northward. Forces from Vacari and Bom Jesus yesterday took Villa Lagos, while a dispatch from Porto Alegre said Villa Antipollos, strategic Santa Catharina Coast point, had fallen to the revolutionary forces.

Nye Committee Seeks Quarters In This State

Raleigh, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The Nye campaign funds investigating committee today applied to Gilliam Grissom, custodian of the Raleigh federal building, for quarters in which to meet here Monday.

The committee will open a probe in the state to delve into alleged irregularities and use of "outside money" in the J. W. Bailey-F. M. Simmons Senatorial primary fight.

An undetermined number of subpoenas for witnesses to appear before the committee were placed in the hands of United States Marshal E. C. Geddie today.

At the marshal's office information as to the number of persons to be served with papers or who they are was withheld.

Special Subscription Offer

Instead of a subscription campaign in which a large amount of money is given away to contestants, the management of The Reflector has decided to put on a subscription drive beginning today, in which the premium money is given to the subscriber in the form of a forty per cent discount on all yearly subscriptions paid during the limited time that this offer is open.

A similar recent co-operative dollar day staged by members of the Greenville Merchants Association and the response was most gratifying to us, but many persons because of financial conditions here at that time were unable to take advantage of the offer and after receiving numbers of requests from our subscribers we have decided to repeat our special for a limited time in order that all our subscribers and those who would like to become subscribers may receive the benefits of this forty per cent savings.

Under this offer no subscriptions will be taken for a shorter period than one year. The regular price of The Reflector is $3.00 per year, but while this special offer lasts you can subscribe or renew your present subscription for a full year for $3.00.

This offer will remain open for but a short time and after its close there will be no further reduction of this kind. If you want to save $2.00 on the price of The Reflector, bring or mail your subscription to the Circulation Department at once.

REDUCE SHIP TONNAGE OF U. S. FLEET

Personnel of Navy Also Reduced As a Part of the Economy Program of Chief

Washington, Oct. 9.—(AP)—For greater efficiency and economy the navy will decommission shortly about 120,000 tons of ships now in service and will reduce its enlisted personnel by 4,800 men.

The fleet and base shake-up, initiated by Admiral William V. Pratt, who has just become chief of operations, will reduce the number of destroyers in each division from six to four, create a gaining squadron of two battleships and eight destroyers, concentrate all minelayers and sweepers in one force, cut the number of submarines by 25, redistribute the air force and dispose of numerous miscellaneous auxiliary craft.

Most of the changes will be placed in effect during the winter maneuver off Panama. Only the Asiatic fleet, operating in China and the Philippines, will be unchanged.

For the fiscal year ending next June a saving of $3,440,000 is calculated and for the following year $7,788,940. The personnel reduction is to be accomplished by cutting enlistment from 400 to 200 monthly, beginning in November. The navy already has less than the $4,500 men it is allowed.

The destroyer squadron, involving the layup of sixteen of these ships will be primarily. Admiral Pratt said to reduce as much as possible the tremendous destroyer replacement program with which the navy shortly will be faced. The destroyers in the fleet are becoming old and most would have to be replaced almost all at once unless some were saved by being maintained idle. Many destroyers already are tied up waiting to replace those in service as they wear out.

The submarine curtailment will bring the fleet within London treaty limits in that class as far as commissioned tonnage is concerned. Nine R-type ships will be kept at New London Conn. the V-type submarines will remain with the battle fleet on the Pacific and the S-type boats will be stationed at Coco Solo, Canal Zone, and Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. Fifty-five subs will remain in service. All O-type vessels will be disposed of and five of the S-type, but seven K-class boats will be preserved for possible future use.

New York—Charles E. Hughes, Jr., has been named a member of the same directorate as Calvin Coolidge. Interview with him upon his induction, in substance: "I think Brown will beat Princeton Standbury."

After Commander Bodenhamer had announced that the "ayes" had it in a voice vote, Michigan, Kentucky and New Jersey delegates called for a roll call. The vote was 771 to 470 for the tabling of the minority report.

A motion presented by the New York delegation calling for a resolution favoring the repeal of prohibition charged the hall with excitement but was defeated by a voice vote. A roll call was asked by the New York delegation but the necessary seconding by three states was not forthcoming.

Commander Bodenhamer ruled that the motion was not germane to the purpose of the American Legion and that it conflicted with the political restrictions clause of the Legion constitution. He stated that the organization should never take sides in a political issue. The proposal stirred the delegates more than any other one feature of the meeting and wild cries went up at its presentation.

This is set forth in an interview with the colonel printed in Pictorial Review.

TWO FLIERS TAKE OFF AT HARBOR GRACE FOR FLIGHT OVER ATLANTIC

American Legion Adopts Resolutions Calling For Preparedness In The U. S.

National Convention Advocates Standing Army of 125,000 Fighting Men and a National Guard of 210,000; Also Asks for 12,000 Officers

Boston, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Ralph T. O'Neill of Topeka, Kansas, was elected National Commander of the American Legion at today's session of the national convention.

O'Neill defeated Munroe Johnson of Marion, S. C., the only other candidate whose name went before the convention. The vote, on a roll call of the state delegation, was:

O'Neill, 879; Johnson, 346.

Upon request of Johnson, the election was made unanimous.

Boston, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Preparedness was the keynote of a series of resolutions adopted by the American Legion at the opening of today's session of the organization's national convention. The first of these called for a standing army of 125,000 men and a national guard of 210,000.

Three recommendations were contained in the report of the national defense committee as presented to the convention by C. B. Robbins of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and adopted. It called for 12,000 officers in addition to the enlisted personnel in the standing army.

Other resolutions adopted favored: Furtherance of legion marksmanship program; interdepartmental rifle and pistol matches and the building up of bigger and better rifle clubs; the appropriation by Congress of $50,000 for development of rifle clubs; more adequate recognition for band leaders; support for the R. O. T. C., and an investigation of lobbying against the R. O. T. C.

The convention went on record as favoring a navy up to the strength permitted by the naval treaty; purchase of a 17,000-acre plot of land adjacent to West Point for the development of the U. S. Military Academy; better means of promotion for navy congressional support for the merchant marine; and increased coordination between the military and aeronautical forces.

The first fight of today's meeting was precipitated on the report of the committee on internal organization made by C. M. Mitchell of Louisiana. A minority report was presented after the majority report, which favored changing the present basis for determining parade positions, housing plans, membership campaigns, etc.

Austin A. Peterson of Wisconsin, departmental adjutant, spoke against this report. E. R. Bentley of Florida moved that the report be adopted.

After Commander Bodenhamer had announced that the "ayes" had it in a voice vote, Michigan, Kentucky and New Jersey delegates called for a roll call. The vote was 771 to 470 for the tabling of the minority report.

Mr. Marsh has been on the stand since the commission started its hearing here Tuesday in continuation of its probe to determine if there is evidence that oil mill operators have sought by control of gins or by any kind of agreement to "fix" cottonseed prices in illegal restraint of trade.

The hearing is by Congressional resolution and will extend into most of the southern states before it is concluded. Hearings have already been held in Alabama and Georgia and upon completion of the probe here, probably two weeks hence, the commission representatives will sit next in South Carolina.

Through the morning session Walter F. Wooden, attorney for the commission, questioned Mr. Marsh closely as to the methods of grading seed employed by the Association.

At one juncture Mr. Marsh admitted that he thought the "modified Meloy plan" as used for grading during the 1930 season "not fair to mill producer or dealer" in its resultant price levels.

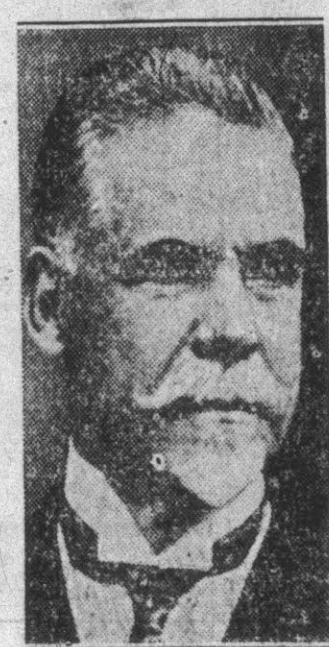

In 1929-30 the qualitative features of the Meloy system were applied in grading. This year, with both the quantitative and qualitative features of the system being applied, he said the ginner and others concerned seemed fairly well pleased.

Mr. Wooden asked if the fact that independent buyers were subject to grading and deducting while commission buyers were not subject to deductions had not caused many former independent buyers to seek "3 commission contracts." Mr. Marsh replied that he believed there was a slight increase in commission buyers this year.

The quality of cottonseed, Mr. Marsh testified, is much better this year than last but due to low prices for products of the seed the prices being paid for seed are considerably below those of a year ago.

MARSH STILL ON STAND AT SEED INQUIRY

Secretary of Cottonseed Association Is Subjected to Gruelling Examination

Raleigh, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Attorneys of the Federal Trade Commission today turned to a grueling examination of W. F. Marsh, secretary of the North Carolina-Virginia division of the National Cottonseed Producers Association, to determine the methods of cottonseed grading employed by the association and their effect on seed prices.

Mr. Marsh has been on the stand since the commission started its hearing here Tuesday in continuation of its probe to determine if there is evidence that oil mill operators have sought by control of gins or by any kind of agreement to "fix" cottonseed prices in illegal restraint of trade.

The hearing is by Congressional resolution and will extend into most of the southern states before it is concluded. Captain Errol Boyd and Lieut. Harry Connor, Flying the Monoplane Columbia, Veteran of Many Flights, Will At- tempt to Fly to Eng- land; Flight Is Being Backed By John A. O'Brien of New York City

Harbor Grace, N. F., Oct. 9.—(AP)—Captain Errol Boyd and Lt. Harry Connor hopped off here today in their airplane for a trans-Atlantic flight to England at 11:20 a. m. E. S. T.

The two fliers, who flew here from New York more than a week ago, had been "og bound at the local airport since. Early today fog still hung over the New Foundland coast but, impatient at the delay, they prepared to take advantage of the first break in the weather.

It came during the forenoon when the clouds broke away and the fliers decided to take the leap immediately.

John A. O'Brien, of New York, is backing the flight.

The veteran monoplane, Columbia, essayed her second trans-Atlantic crossing when she put out over the Atlantic ocean today from Harbor Grace, with Captain Errol Boyd at the controls and Lt. Harry E. Connor as navigator.

The old ship, which belongs to Charles A. Levine, is the vessel in which Clarence Chamberlain and Levine flew across the Atlantic from Roosevelt Field to Kottbus, Germany, in June, 1927.

Since then it has carried Mabel Boll to Havana, it cracked up at the take-off of a projected flight to Rome, and it was damaged in a crash, which Levine himself made in the monoplane over Roosevelt Field.

No other plane still in rigorous service has, perhaps, the sturdy record of Levine's Bellanca.

Captain Boyd, in command of the projected flight to London which started today, began last spring to prepare for the trip. He hoped at first to start from Montreal on the flight in the early part of May or early June.

The first Canadian to enlist in the Royal Air Force during the world war, Boyd has flown the mail for several years. He selected Connor, who navigated the plane in which Roger Q. Williams recently flew to Bermuda, as his navigator.

From late August, when Boyd finally got ready for his ocean hop, until today the project had combatted misfortune in getting under way.

He reached Montreal on September 1, from Toronto and found the plane under seizure at St. Hubert airport under a warrant obtained at the instance of Roger Q. Williams, who insisted that it be detained for a debt he alleged was owed him.

While legal entanglements delayed the flight, Captain Boyd decided to break at Harbor Grace what was to have been a non-stop flight from St. Hubert to Croydon airdrome.

Finally on September 11 the plane was set free in court, and two days later Boyd and Connor got away for St. Hubert.

But later that day, Sept. 13th, the plane was forced down in a farmer's field at Charlottetown on Prince Edward Island, 500 air miles from its Harbor Grace goal by fog and bad weather and for ten days the plane was land bound. Finally on Sept. 23, it got from Charlottetown to Harbor Grace and Boyd and Connor made the final preparations for their take-off.

The Columbia carries no radio equipment on her flight over the Atlantic, but is equipped with a delicate instrument which Captain Boyd declared will make flying safer through fog.

Woman Leaves Baby Girl At Sanford Hotel

Sanford, Oct. 9.—(AP)—A six-month-old attractive baby girl was crying and kicking in a crib at the Central Carolina Hospital here today while Lee County Welfare Officers were searching for a well-dressed woman believed to be the child's mother.

The infant was deserted at a hotel here between 10 and 11 o'clock last night by a woman who entered as Edith Calvert of Charlotte.

The woman came to the hotel about 10 o'clock, asked for a room and went to it, carrying a hand bag and under her left arm a baby wrapped in a paper. Fifteen or 20 minutes later she left the hotel and has not been seen since.

The woman was described by the clerk as tall, rather handsome, Auburn haired, well dressed and apparently about 30 or 35 years of age.

TWO ROBBERS AT POINT OF DEATH TODAY

Murphy Pays Final Tribute to Policeman As Poses Seek His Slayer

Murphy, Oct. 9.—(AP)—While Walter Bryson, of Unaka, and Jeff McPherson, of Stump, Ky., shot in a gun battle with officers here on Tuesday night lay at the point of death in the Cherokee county jail today, posse continued their search for Kay Bryson, the third member of the party, which held up and robbed a postoffice at Coker Creek, Tenn., who escaped.

Meanwhile Murphy paid its final tribute to its dead chief of police, Mack Carringer, who was slain in the battle which occurred just west of Murphy when authorities sought to capture the three bandits.

Carringer's funeral was held at 10 o'clock this morning at Murphy Baptist church, with the pastors of the three churches officiating. Interment was in the Murphy cemetery. It had originally been planned to hold the funeral yesterday afternoon, but the dead officer had often asked that he not be buried while it was raining, and when rain began to fall yesterday, the services were postponed.

A large crowd attended the services. Bryson and McPherson, physicians believe, have little chance to recover. Bryson was shot through the chest, and McPherson has wounds in the abdomen, hip and head.

Both men have dictated confessions, which they signed, that they, accompanied by Kay Bryson, younger brother of Walter Bryson, held up and robbed the Coker Creek postoffice.

Walter Bryson has been sought by Cherokee authorities since 1922 when he is alleged to have killed his father-in-law and to have shot his mother-in-law and his brother-in-law.

Raleigh, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Gov. O. M. Gardner today authorized a reward of $100 for the arrest of K. Bryson, twelve months in connection with the slaying of Mack Carringer, chief of police of Murphy.

Bryson, a 17-year-old lad, weighs 135 pounds, escaped after the gun battle Tuesday night in which Carringer was killed.

Bryson, Walter Bryson and Jeff McPherson were alleged to have robbed a postoffice at Coker Creek, Tenn., and had been stopped by officers at Murphy.

Bryson is 5 feet 9 inches tall, has light hair, fair skin and blue eyes, the governor's office was advised.

Murphy and Cherokee county offered $250 reward for the apprehension of K. Bryson.

Kings Mountain Proud of Visit of the President

Kings Mountain, Oct. 8.—(AP)—This little town today re-lived in conversation the stirring events of yesterday when the President of the United States visited here and crossed the line in South Carolina in connection with the sesqui-centennial of the battle of Kings Mountain.

The home folk talked of everything that happened yesterday, from the speech President Hoover made to the haughty manner of march displayed by the brilliantly uniformed Washington Light Infantry from Charleston, S. C.

They argued about the size of the crowds and whether more persons came from North Carolina or South Carolina for the celebration. To practically everyone had fallen the privilege of seeing a chief executive of the Nation for the first time.

Others chatted about the trio of governors from North and South Carolina, and Georgia, while the sight of three United States Senators, Corman, Blease and Smith, was sufficient to inspire conversation for many.

Those to whom the dedication of a marker at the grave of the British revolutionary leader, Colonel Patrick Ferguson, was but a memory today, found listeners to hear about the wonderful time everybody had at the street dance here last night.

All agreed that it was a great thing for Kings Mountain and the Carolinas to entertain the vast crowd who came to hear Mr. Hoover while those of a political turn speculated on the effects the gathering will have on the November vote battle between Republicans and Democrats.

Taken all in all, Kings Mountain was feeling quite proud of itself, and many of its inhabitants were already looking forward to the day when they can tell less fortunate members of the ever-present younger generation: "I remember the day President Hoover came here."

Promise Early Report On the Dry Law Work

Washington, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Promise of an early report on prohibition in which there will be "no pussyfooting" emanated from President Hoover's law enforcement commission today after long hours of argument at its opening session yesterday.

It has become definitely known that the controversial subject of prohibition is now dominating the discussions of the commission and also is known that virtually all of the day and night sessions of yesterday were spent in arguing the demands of an insurgent element of the commission for an immediate report on this question.

Leaders of this insurgent element are understood to be Judge William S. Keryth, of Iowa, and Kenneth S. Mackintosh, former Washington jurist both Republicans and dry, but neither of these would talk. They are reported to have insisted that the commission thrash out the prohibition controversy and do it at once.

Chairman George W. Wickersham announced after the long opening session that the commission hoped to report to Congress by the opening of the December session. He added he believed if the commission reaches the conclusion that prohibition is not enforceable, "I think we should say so."

With prohibition an issue in several campaigns this year, political leaders are wondering whether the commission might actually recommend prohibition.

With before election day, little more than three weeks hence, it is not believed, however, the report will be reached by that time.

Miss Selma Hooks, of Kenly, Is Dead

Kenly, N. C., Oct. 9.—The death of Miss Selma Hooks, of Kenly, was announced today. She died at her home in Kenly at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

Miss Selma had not been well this summer, but was able to be up and enter into her regular activities. She was planning to return to East Carolina Teachers College where she was to begin her senior year on the morning that the fatal attack came. She was rushed to the hospital where all was done to relieve her that skill and love could do, but to no avail.

Just as the dawn was breaking and God was giving a new day to the world, He took a young life thus making Heaven more brighter and beautiful and adding a stronger link between Heaven and Earth.

Amid a crowded church of loved ones which included friends, relatives and school mates, the funeral services were held on Saturday afternoon at the Methodist church, conducted by her pastor, the Rev. James H. Brizley, who paid a most beautiful tribute to her life.

The flower bearers were school mates in high school and college. These formed a line on either side of the steps through which the body was brought into the church and placed before a flower banked altar. A mixed quartet composed of Mesdames C. P. Darden, H. M. Grizzard, Messrs. Geo. Walston and Elton Neighbors sang "Sometime We Will Understand," "In the Sweet Bye and Bye" and "Asleep in Jesus," services were concluded at the cemetery in Fremont, the old home of both her parents. Beneath a mass of beautiful flowers the body was interred beside her little sister, who preceded her several years ago. Among the floral offerings from the student body of Eastern Carolina Teachers College, the Senior Class of which she was a member, her Sunday School and the Methodist church.

The pall bearers were class mates of the deceased.

Miss Selma was truly one of the finest Christian characters the town of Kenly has ever known, although only 19, her life was one of usefulness. She was a member of the Methodist church and took a leading part in all its activities. She was interested in the young people's work of the church and was a leader in that capacity. In college she was actively engaged in the Y. W. C. A. serving on the Cabinet last year. She was president of the Sunday School class there.

The town of Kenly will greatly miss Selma, she always wore a cheerful smile and had a good word for every one with whom she came in contact she had so much to live for because her life was so useful. She was preparing herself to teach others which would have included, besides her knowledge of books the fine qualities which she possessed.

The deceased leaves besides her

BUSINESS MEN ASKED TO MEET ON SATURDAY

J. E. Winslow, of Tobacco Relief Commission, Calls Special Meeting

J. E. Winslow, member of the Tobacco Relief Commission, today called a meeting of business men at the court house here next Saturday morning at 10 o'clock for the purpose of determining the extent of the support which business interests will accord the Tobacco Cooperative Association.

Regarding the meeting, Mr. Winslow has sent out the following letter:

A mass meeting in the Greenville court house, called by the order of Governor Gardner, is asked to serve on the Tobacco Relief Commission.

The Tobacco Relief Commission in conference with Governor Gardner, representatives of the Federal Farm Board and agricultural extension workers of N. C. State College, thought that a Farmers' Marketing Association for sale of tobacco should be organized according to regulations of the Federal Farm Board as soon as possible.

"At a meeting of farmers in the Greenville court house Wednesday, I was asked to call the business men of the county together at the Greenville court house at 10:00 o'clock Saturday morning October 11, so that the business men could let the farmers know how the business interests of Pitt County will support a Farmers' Marketing Association for tobacco."

"As you know, under the present system of doing business, the farmer can not do much unless the business interests of the county in meeting expressed the opinion that it was useful for them to try to start any movement at all without first receiving assurance that the business interests would back them up in this undertaking, so I am asking that you be at the courthouse promptly at 10:00 Saturday morning, October 11, in order to give the farmers your view on the marketing association for sale of tobacco. If you can not be there, please let me or Mr. E. P. Arnold, county agent, hear from you by letter or telephone so we can advise the farmers of your position."

"The prosperity of Eastern North Carolina depends on the welfare of the farmers and it is up to the business interests to give their best thought and advice in an emergency of this kind."

Birthday Party.
Farmville, Oct. 8.—The Woman's Auxiliary of the Episcopal church celebrated the birthday anniversary of its members on Monday afternoon at an enjoyable party held at the home of Mrs. W. C. Askew.

Much merriment was caused by a "Naming the Baby" contest, in which was used the baby photos of the members; a spelling match of Bible names, and fortunes foretold by zodiacal signs were the main features of entertainment. Sandwiches and tea were served and a birthday cake, bearing 15 candles was cut.

The birthday donations were collected and turned into the United Thank Offering fund by the treasurer, Miss Helen Smith. At a business session, held prior to the party, plans were made for the annual bazaar to be held on Thursday, October 30.

KRYL AND HIS BAND HERE MONDAY AFTERNOON AND EVENING

The afternoon concert by Kryl and his band at 3:30 o'clock in the auditorium of the campus building at East Carolina Teachers College is arranged especially for the school children and boys and girls. Popular prices are announced for them.

The rate for children means for all school children, including the high school. A lower rate is also offered to the general public in the afternoon. School children are also for half price in the evening.

Both programs have a wide range of selections, but the one in the afternoon has more of the lighter numbers.

ABOUT TOWN

The property loss resulting from fires in North Carolina during the past year was nothing compared with the loss of life.

The Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Board of Health has reported that two hundred and sixty five lives were destroyed by fire in 1929.

This is a situation that should demand the attention of every man and woman in the State and cause them to adopt more safety measures than ever before in an effort to reduce the heavy toll of life taken by the fire demon.

In the words of Governor O. Max Gardner, in his proclamation for this week, Fire Prevention Week:
"Our fire loss is still a disgrace to North Carolina and all of us should be alert to relieve our beloved State of it."

Members of the Greenville fire department are "doing everything possible to get local people to pay attention to the dangers of fire this week, and expressed hope that every effort would be forwarded in the future to decrease the city's annual loss.

W. E. Hooks, of Ayden, chairman of the Democratic Executive committee of Pitt county, is optimistic concerning the outcome of the election in Pitt county next month.

He believes that party members will go to the polls and give the candidates the same overwhelming majority they have in past years. Mr. Hooks is doing everything possible to further the interest of the campaign during the next several weeks, and if he is given the support he deserves, there is no reason in the world why his ambition for an overwhelming victory should not be realized.

The next few weeks will mean much to the success of the campaign and hope has been expressed that leaders will get busy and do their duty.

First advertising in connection with the Pitt County fair was begun this week and from now on until the first of next week when the annual attraction opens the people of this county are going to be told lots of things expected to feature of the week.

Every effort is being put forward by promoters to make the agricultural department the greatest in years, and at this time indications point to realization of the ambition.
Many farmers and farm clubs have indicated their intention to furnish exhibits and if they all come in as promised there will be plenty of products of Pitt county on display.

One of the really big features of the farm exhibit building will be the "Live-At-Home" display. It is the first time the people have undertaken anything of this kind upon such an extensive scale, and it should be an inspiration to everybody interested in the movement for raising more of the things consumed at home.

Make it a point to go out to the fair and see what the people of this great agricultural region are capable of doing. It will prove both surprising and inspirational.

Considerable money is in circulation in Pitt county at this time, and people should try to settle as many long standing accounts as possible. The time to pay bills of this kind is when we have the money. If we do not do it then, the money may be devoted to some other cause and later on we will find it impossible to pay the old accounts.

Credit firms have been liberal to the people of this county the last several months. Had it not been for their generosity and faith in the people, thousands would have gone hungry and the county would have experienced one of the worst situations in the history of the county.

Consider some of the favors extended to you by the business men and then go down into your pocket and pay them. Don't delay the matter, because procrastination in a case of this kind may mean that the debt will not get settled this year.

People in this section of the county realize the fact that Greenville is the principal shopping center of Eastern North Carolina, and it is for that reason they flock here from one trade day to another to inspect the thousands of bargains offered them.

The showing in every field of merchandising is more elaborate at this season of the year than any other time, and the person hunting for the latest creations of the fashion world should not fail to visit the city and take advantage of the offerings.

The distinction as the leading trade center of the eastern part of the State makes it necessary for Greenville merchants to compete with the largest cities of the country both from the standpoint of bargains and prices, and for that reason every shopper may be assured of getting everything coming to him.

If you are looking for the best offered, both from the standpoint of quality and prices, make a visit to Greenville stores during the winter months.

News of the World Briefly Told

Stockholm, Sweden, Oct. 9.—(AP)—

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified cresote that is pleasant to take.
Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs cresote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to cresote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the cresote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

"COOK WITH ELECTRICITY"

Only a few years ago, people were lighting their homes with candles, kerosene, oil or gas. They were hard to convince that Electricity was more desirable. Today how many of those same people would dare go back to the old method of lighting. The answer is—

VANDERBILT ALL SET FOR VIRGINIANS

Atlanta, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Over at Nashville some serious statisticians recall that in 1925 Vanderbilt whipped Minnesota 16 to 0 and the rowed to Seavane of Tennessee soil.

The moral of that bit of history chasing is renewed vigilance lest this year's Vanderbilt football vehicle be upset Saturday by Virginia Poly in its first engagement after last week's 33 to 7 triumph over Minnesota.

Line defensive work, blocking and other fundamentals of the game are being stressed at Nashville and every precaution invoked against overconfidence.

Georgia charged into the North today aboard an iron horse bound for New Haven, Conn., late of the Yale Bulldog. Thirty troops were in the invading contingent under Coach Harry Mehers. Northern experts give Georgia only an outside chance to repeat its victory of last year when Yale was trampled 15 to 0 at the dedication of a new stadium at Athens, Ga., but the real strength of the Southerners is an unknown quantity. They used straight power plays to knock out Oglethorpe and Mercer in warm up games and there is a general feeling that Mehers, a Rockwell pupil, has saved some important dynamite for Yale.

Georgia Tech sped toward Pittsburgh for a tussle with Carnegie Tech, its prospects depending in part upon the performances of a backfield which will have at least two sophomores. Virginia and Hampden-Sydney were booked against Pennsylvania and Cornell, respectively, but the most optimistic Dixie observers conceded defeat in advance.

Virginia Military, held to a score touchdown triumph over St. Johns of Maryland, promoted Jim Rea, a substitute center to the varsity squad, and hoped to make an impressive showing against Citadel in a week end engagement.

A muddy field delayed until today a scheduled scrimmage test for the injured McEver of Tennessee, but regardless of his practice work it appeared likely he would be held out of the lineup at least until the October 18 game with Alabama.

TAR HEEL LINE REFLECTS BIG IMPROVEMENT

Charlotte, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The rip and snort that helps win football games came to life in N. C. Carolina Big Five camps in the final hard workouts of the week, which may or may not mean glory on the morrow.

The Tar Heel line, Chapel Hill's question mark, perked up in yesterday's scrimmage. Coaches pronounced the showing made in defensive work against Maryland plays as "good".

The varsity backs at North Carolina advanced at will in practice. The reserves showed up rather poorly on their ground game but looked fairly good on passes.

McLachlan furnished the pep at North Carolina State as Coach Van Liew put his proteges through a stiff workout for the Clemson game here Saturday. State's line, sure to get a severe test against the Tiger team, made wagon trails through a freshman wall that worked against the varsity.

Duke, priming for Davidson invasion, held its first scrimmage of the week and Coach Deltari appeared very well pleased with the prospects for the morrow.

Brewer, Ersler, Murray, Abbott and Mullen looked good in the backfield. Lemons, a sophomore ball carrier, returned to the heavy work after being out three weeks with an injured ankle.

Ray Gregson, Wake Forest, still far and will sit on the bench and watch his team-mates engage Baltimore College, a bad knee injury has not healed properly and Pat Miller ordered the player to take a rest.

Davidson returned somewhat to form in the week's final scrimmage and Monk Younger saw his ace's gain at will against a strong fresh men aggregation.

Joe McCall did the fancy stuff for the varsity backs. He was ably aided by Fleagle. Sophomores, who have been out sometime due to injuries. The workout cost Davidson its freshman fullback and Merkte captain, Reid Brown, who fractured an ankle when tackled while running back an intercepted pass.

High Point and Lenoir-Rhyne will open the week-end attraction with games today. Julian Beal will take his team to Clinton to meet Presbyterian College this afternoon and Lenoir-Rhyne will play Newberry in Hickory tonight. It will be the second game of the week for the Hickory boys, Erskin having plastered a defeat on them at Kings Mountain Tuesday.

BOTTOMLEY COMES TO LIFE

Jim Bottomley's first hit of the World Series was a double to right in the eighth inning of the third game, which the Cardinals won from the Athletics, 5-0. A few minutes before Bottomley reached into a box to snare a foul. It was the most sparkling field play of the game.

EARNSHAW IS BIG LIGHT OF BALL WORLD

New York, Oct. 9.—(AP)—There was only one nomination today for the player most entitled to enter the ranks of the world's star heroes.

He is George Livingston Earnshaw, New Yorker by birth, Philadelphia by adoption and achievement, alumnus of Swarthmore College and right-handed "iron man" pitching ace of the world's champion Athletics.

Earnshaw is 30 years old now, long past the day when he used to hear the old college cheer, but he still parts his hair in the middle and looks the part of an undergraduate. He was a great football player as well as a star pitcher in college. He is the greatest right-handed "iron man" in baseball now and entitled to rank with such famous old-time stars as Joe McGinnity, Colby Jack Combs and Big Walsh.

After sharing the pitching "big act" with his team-mate and star, Robert Grove, most of the way, Earnshaw wound up in a blaze of glory of the last 18 innings for the A's. Earnshaw broke up what was expected to be a reputation of the fifth game with last man was out, even though it was a struggle, while Grove continued to make gestures in the bullpen.

Earnshaw, altogether, pitched 23 innings against the Cardinals in three games, beat them twice and held them scoreless for the last two innings of the game, while Grove finished in St. Louis, and received official credit for winning. The "Big Moose" of the A's beat his rivals scoreless for 22 innings in a row, which in a day and a half featured by the so-called "Iron Rabbit" ball stands comparison with the remarkable record of Christy Mathewson in pitching 27 successive shutout innings against the Athletics in 1905.

Mathewson allowed 14 hits in the three shutout games he pitched against the Mackmen of 23 years ago. Earnshaw gave out only 13 hits and two runs in the 25 innings he worked against the Red Birds.

Grove, who scored two victories against one defeat, pitched a total of 19 innings, during which time the Cardinals collected 14 hits and five runs. Only three of these runs, however, were earned, the others two being due to an error by Dykes.

Al Simmons was the most consistent of the Athletics at bat, hitting safely in five of the games as he lived up to the best traditions of the league's batting king, leading the regulars of 20 teams with the stick. Simmons had the long range support, however, at various times of Cochrane and Fox, as well as Dykes and Miller, who staged hitting regiments in the final game.

Fox struck the most potent and important single blow, when he fired his home run into the St. Louis stands in the ninth inning to decide the critical fifth game.

For the Cardinals, 22-year-old Charley Gelbert, appearing in his first world's series, was a sensation at bat as well as in the field, he reached spectacular heights in the two victories scored by the Red Birds to even the series at St. Louis. He led the Cardinal regulars at bat and handled 26 chances without a slipup in six games, making a number of sensational plays on ground balls.

Sunny Jim Bottomley, Cardinal first sacker, was the biggest disappointment to the Cardinals at bat, striking out nine times as he fell only one short of the record set made by George Kelly of the Giants in 1901. Bottomley probably has played his last game in a St. Louis uniform, the general expectation being that he will be traded before another season rolls around.

WORLD SERIES SETS SIX NEW PLAY RECORDS

New York, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Although the 1930 world's series never will be famous for its record breaking, a half dozen new marks for world's championship play were inscribed on the books by the Athletics and the Cardinals. And the records are evenly divided between the most and the least.

Frank Frisch, veteran Cardinal second baseman, led on the positive side as he collected five hits in the six games to set a new total series record of 45 safe blows.

Right behind Frisch, his team-mate, Chick Harey, set a new mark by smashing out five two-base hits, one higher than the total which formerly gave a large group of players a tie for the record. The Athletics set a mark of a new kind when they went thru two games without getting a one base hit, all their blows going for extra bases. In the first clash, they made five long hits and in the last seven extra base allots. In each case they scored a run for every hit.

The A's also put their great lead or Connie Mack, still further ahead of all major league managers in getting results with his clubs. Under his guidance, Philadelphia has won five world's championships, and has lost in the world's series only twice. John McGraw has led the New York Giants to three world's titles in nine attempts while the New York Yankees under Miller Huggins also won three times.

On the low side of the record breaking, the performance of the clubs on assists stood out. In the second game of the series, the Cards had only four assists, one under the former low mark made by the Yankees while the Athletics had five, setting a new low record for both teams. Three days later, in the fourth game, the Athletics recorded only three assists, again breaking the record. They also equalled the low mark in base stealing as a theft by Frank Frisch was the only one for the series.

SPORTS SLANTS

Unquestionably the best rookie battery of 1930 in the big leagues was Bob Phelps and Al Lopez of Brooklyn. In keeping with the Old Spanish custom, Lopez also did the backstopping for the veteran Adolfo Luque of Havana, Cuba, and sometimes this October the Latin pair will share the guests of honor in a gay celebration at Ybor City, Latin quarter of Tampa, Florida.

Lopez was born in this picturesque Southern spot, the son of a Spanish father and German mother. He was a star player in school, college and later with the Tampa Smokers of the old Florida State League. Like most youngsters, he started with ambitions as a pitcher but wound up on the receiving end. Washington thought $10,000 too much to pay for Lopez's release, when he was still a raw recruit so far as big league ability was concerned, but he went up fast, by way of Jacksonville and Atlanta before coming under the wing of the Robins of Brooklyn.

So far as Wilbert Robinson, the rotund Robin pilot, was concerned, Lopez was still "that Cuban" what's his name? as late as this spring in the Dodger camp at Clearwater, but later Bobbie found no difficulty locating Lopez in the regular lineup. His hitting scared him the first string job this season and his all-around work forced Robinson to substitute the youngster for the veteran Hank DeBarry, long the special battery-mate of Dazzy Vance.

It wouldn't be baseball if the experts did not have something to worry about or some mystery to unravel. The Great Hornsby mystery has been solved by the revelation of his break with Joe McCarthy and selection to replace Joe as the manager of the Cubs in 1931. Now, the problem is what will McCarthy do?

The Cubs won their first pennant in a dozen years under McCarthy, but twice, in late season, they bogged down after gaining five or six games lead in the stretch. The head of the House of Wrigley wants a world's championship and believes Hornsby can duplicate his winning work in St. Louis in 1926. It is another strange turn in the wheel of fortune for the Rajah, who has drifted half way around the National league circuit in some what mysterious fashion, but without taking any salary cuts.

McCarthy's major league opportunities may be limited. The boys talk of his signing as an understudy for John McGraw, no longer able, due to the condition of his heart, to withstand the daily strain on the bench. Pittsburgh may want a new pilot to replace Jewel Ems. Otherwise, every National league club has a manager under contract for 1931.

Mention of quarterback timber in the south brings up the name of Ellis Johnson, Kentucky sophomore, regarded as one of the best college prospects of the year. Last year the Wildcats uncovered a star sophomore halfback in Shipwreck Kelly, and they expect to have one of the real contenders for Southern conference honors this year.

Public Building Contracts Amount to $43,000,000

Washington, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The treasury has contracted for $43,000,000 worth of public building since January.

Perry K. Heath, assistant secretary, disclosed the figure today in answer to a complaint to President Hoover by an unnamed member of Congress that the government was not expediting the expanded public building program as much as possible. The contracts numbered 1,688.

In addition to these contracts, 49 others aggregating $30,000,000 will be let in the remaining months of 1930. Adding the cost of the land to the $73,000,000 called for in the years building program, the total cost will be approximately $108,000,000.

"Since the foundation of the government we have never had a building program of such magnitude as is now in progress," Heath said. "The Treasury and Post-office Departments are exerting more diligence than ever before in pushing the building program."

Treasury officials estimated that, of the total cost of the buildings this year $40,000,000 would be paid to labor.

The expanded program calls for a total expenditure of $568,000,000 over a ten year period which began in 1928.

On January 1 the Treasury had 32 building contracts underway and in the intervening months 21 buildings have been completed. Contracts are being awarded at the rate of one every two and one half days.

New Trial Ordered in King Murder Case

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 9.—(AP)—In his cell in the state penitentiary here, Raie King awoke today happier probably than he had been in months. Temporarily, at least, he has escaped the electric chair.

For over 12 months King has occupied his small cell, under a sentence of death for the murder of his school teacher-wife, Faye Olson King, while his appeal was before the Supreme court.

That body yesterday returned its decision, ordering a new trial for the former Shelby, N. C., man. The high court reported it found several errors in the proceedings and in the rulings of the trial Judge J. K. Henry, of Chester.

King's counsel, which included former Congressman Clyde R. Hoot, of North Carolina, filed 61 exceptions. The opinion went at length into the Judge's charge to the jury, saying that "the honored circuit judge departed many times from the usual instructions given in a homicide case, and, doubtless this departure caused him to commit several errors in instructing the jury, which we regard as being so prejudicial as to require a reversal of the judgment against the appellant."

Other exceptions were sustained by the Supreme Court, whose opinion was written by Associate Justice Eugene S. Cress.

The Kings lived in Sharon, York county. King's father and his wife taught French in the high school. Mrs. King's body was found in an outhouse January 27, 1929. King insisted she committed suicide.

The Supreme Court remanded the case to Chester county for a new trial. When this will be held has not been decided.

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET

New York, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 7 to 12 points on buying which appeared to be influenced by the standard cloth statistics for September, relatively steady Liverpool cables and the possibility that constructive developments might grow out of the meeting of the Cotton Trade called for on Monday in New Orleans to discuss measures for stabilizing the market.

There was very little southern selling but the advance met some realizing around 1044 for the new December and 1074 for March. This checked the upturn but prices held steady and within a point or two of the best at the end of the first half hour. The standard cloth statistics for September showed a decrease of 11.4 per cent in stocks of cotton cloth on hand and an increase of 26.1 per cent in unfilled orders.

Liverpool cables reported continental buying in that market but said that business in cotton goods was slow in developing as buyers were cautious.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Stop-loss selling developed both in the wheat and corn markets today after announcement that Prince and Whitely, who had a membership on the Chicago Board of Trade, were insolvent. As a result of increased selling pressure, grain values crumbled rapidly as the day neared an end. Final transactions were at virtually the lowest level reached.

Wheat closed heavy 1-1/2 to 2-1/8 lower than yesterday's finish; corn closed 2-1/4 to 4 down; oats 5-8 to 1-1/8 off and provisions unchanged to 15 decline.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The most serious financial casualty among members of the New York Stock Exchange in recent years occurred a fresh flood of liquidation in today's stock market.

Although supporting orders appeared in some volume during the early hours of the session, efforts to maintain recent resistance points were soon abandoned, foreshadowing the announcement of the suspension of Prince & Whitely, which was made from the rostrum of the exchange shortly after noon.

Selling was taken in an orderly manner, however, and practically nothing approaching demoralization developed in the trading. The new faster ticker system, nevertheless, was unable to maintain the pace, and fell a few minutes behind.

U. S. Steel was crushed down to the lowest price in two years at 147-1/2, off more than 3 points, after substantial buying orders failed to hold it at 150, the low of last November. Only 25,500 shares were taken at the 150 level, indicating that its sponsors were making no such determined effort to support it as they did last autumn, when an order for 150,000 shares was said to have been placed. This was interpreted in Wall Street as indicating that important banking interests felt that the market was on much more stable basis, and that no emergency measures were necessary.

Losses of 3 points to more than 10 were numerous. The stocks with which Prince and Whitely were identified, such as National Dairy and Kelvator, were well taken in the main, declining only about 2 points. Young Spring and Wire, however, tumbled 12 points. Such stocks as General Electric, Bethlehem Steel, and American Can sold off 3 or 4 points. Shares losing 5 to nearly 10 included Westinghouse Electric, Johns Manville, American Water Works, Canadian Pacific, Gillett, Columbian Carbon, and Allied Chemical. The market showed mild rallying tendencies soon after one o'clock, and the flow of selling orders slackened.

Money was a little tighter, with the larger maturities and time loans a fraction higher. Call money held at 2 percent.

Convicted Striker Plans to Take His Case to High Court

Danville, Va., Oct. 9.—(AP)—M. J. Mahon, convicted yesterday in police court on a charge of attempting to incite mill strikers to sabotage, plans taking his case to a higher court.

Mahon noted an appeal immediately after Justice Charles K. Crater sentenced him to three months in jail and fined him $50 on the charge. Police said he suggested to strike pickets at the Riverside and Dan River Cotton Mills at Schoolfield that they dynamite the plant. Mahon gave his address as Richmond, Va., and said he had been working in Muskegon, Mich.

The case of William R. Murdoch, vice-president of the National Textile Workers Union charged with distributing dodgers conducive to violence was continued until tomorrow. Officers said Murdoch had a police record in New Bedford, Mass.

Probe Activity of Soviets in Schools of Los Angeles

Los Angeles, Oct. 9.—Charges that dissemination of communistic propaganda in Los Angeles high schools by students was intense, and that 20,000 stands of arms in communistic hands in Los Angeles foreshadowed a revolutionary attempt to be launched here November 24 were being considered today by a Congressional committee investigating communistic activities.

The charges of Soviet activity in the local schools was made yesterday by Thomas Elson, principal of Roosevelt high school. He said the work of young communists had been evident for years and was on the increase. In four major high schools, he said, the propaganda work was "intense." From 50 to 100 students in each of the city's 31 schools were active propagandists, he said.

Lieut.-Col. Foy F. Smith, chairman of the Speaker's Bureau of the Better American Federation, said communists had imported arms from Mexico and would mobilize fighting men November 24 in an attempt to seize control of the country. He said the guns would be used to arm members of the Cheka, former Russian police.

He refused to give the source of his information except in executive session.

Hamilton Fish, Jr., chairman of the Congressional committee, said information the committee has obtained through hearings covering practically the entire country indicated the communistic movement was less advanced in California than in New York.

"There is no communist menace at the present time," he said. The hearing will continue through today.

Confers With Young Democrats

Mrs. James L. Scott, state vice-chairman of the Young Peoples Democratic club, was in Greenville yesterday where she conferred with Dink James, county chairman of the same organization, regarding organizing all counties of the First Congressional district. While here Mrs. Scott announced the appointment of Miss Jessie Moye as vice-chairman of the First district.

Woman Confesses Connection With Slaying Husband

Aiken, S. C., Oct. 9.—(AP)—Two men and a woman's widow were in jail here today, charged with the murder of Howard Bell, of Clearwater, S. C., whose body was found in a ditched automobile last Monday night.

Mrs. Bell and the men, Elbert Floyd and Floyd Barnell, of Greenville, were arrested yesterday in Greenville and brought here.

Officers said Mrs. Bell confessed to being connected with the killing. Floyd, she said was quoted as saying, killed Bell in the latter's garage in Clearwater by striking him over the head with a tire tool.

Then, officers reported the woman said the body was put in the automobile and was purposely driven off the highway in an attempt to conceal the crime. Darnell substantiated the widow's story but Floyd denied it.

Chicago Observes Fire Anniversary

Chicago, Oct. 9.—(AP)—"Chicago Day" was celebrated today, the anniversary of the great fire, with parade, pageantry and speech-making and with William Randolph Hearst, the publisher, as official guest of the city.

A parade 25 miles long featured the celebration starting at 1:30 P. M. Mr. Hearst arranged to arrive a few hours earlier. He was a luncheon guest of President Hoover at the White House yesterday.

A private luncheon with Mr. Hearst, Senators James E. Watson, of Indiana and Smith W. Brookhart of Iowa, and former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri numbered among the guests was scheduled to precede the parade for which 5,000 flag-draped motorcars assembled. Fifty bands on buses were among the parading cars.

Kingsford-Smith Begins Flight Home

Yeston, England, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Wing Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith, whose aerial exploits have included flights across both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, took off from this airfield today on a voyage home to Australia where he is expected to end his career in aviation and marry Miss Mary Powell, of Melbourne.

Kingsford-Smith left here today in "Southern Cross Junior," name-sake of the plane in which he flew to America in June. He expected to make hops of 2,000 miles.

Waiting for the birdman in Melbourne is the pretty Australian girl whom Kingsford-Smith fell in love with at first sight when they were passengers on a ship going to Australia after the aviator had flown the Pacific ocean. She is a native of Ireland.

Bad Collection Method

LADY'S AILMENT DISAPPEARED

Cardui "Did Me a Great Deal of Good," Says Florida Lady Who Suffered.

Tampa, Fla.—Mrs. O. M. Hamilton, of 517 North Idlewild Street, this city, says she was in bad health three years ago, and had not recovered good health after a weakening illness when she began to suffer as described below:

"At times, I suffered with pain in my right side that was so bad I could hardly stand it. I did not have any strength. I was pale. I looked bad and felt worse."

"I thought Cardui, which I had read about, would help me. My sister had taken it at one time with good results, so I started taking Cardui."

"I can't praise Cardui too highly, for I feel it did me a great deal of good. My trouble has entirely disappeared and I feel much better."

"I can certainly recommend Cardui, for I think it is a wonderful medicine."

Thousands of other women, who had been in a suffering condition, have reported that after taking Cardui their health improved. 2-220
