Jodie Whitley Sentenced To Fifteen Years In Pen On Manslaughter Charge

Jury Recommends Mercy for Penny Hill Man Charged With Slaying of Paul Forbes; File Notice of Appeal to the Supreme Court; John Scott, Negro, Given From Three to Five Years In Pen for Criminal Attack On His Child

Convicted on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the slaying of Paul Forbes, Jodie Whitley, of the Penny Hill section of this county, was sentenced to from 10 to 15 years in the penitentiary by Judge Walter L. Small, of Elizabethtown, in the closing session of the criminal term of Pitt County Superior court here last night. Immediately after the verdict had been announced, attorneys for the defendant filed notice of appeal to Supreme court. The bond was fixed at $4,000.

The decision of the jury came after thirty minutes of deliberation and contained a recommendation for mercy of the court.

John Scott, Greenville negro, charged with criminally assaulting his five-and-a-half-year old daughter, was sentenced to from three to five years in the penitentiary after he pleaded guilty to the charge.

The Whitley case was begun on Thursday afternoon and was featured by the introduction of considerable evidence by both the state and defense. Whitley at first was charged with first degree murder, but Solicitor D. M. Clark announced at the beginning of the trial that this had been changed to manslaughter.

Whitley was charged with killing Forbes sometime last summer as a result of an affair at a tobacco barn on the Forbes' farm. Whitley, it was alleged, struck one of Forbes' daughters, and the father retaliated by hitting Whitley with a hammer, inflicting painful injuries.

Whitley, according to testimony, later went home. He came out on the highway sometime later in company with one of his children. As he passed the Forbes house, Forbes, it was said, came out with a shotgun under his arm. Whitley, fearing violence, fired at Forbes, a single shot taking effect in the latter's eye.

Forbes died a few days later and as there was some question as to the cause of his death the county coroner ordered an autopsy. This revealed that the shot from Whitley's gun had passed through Forbes' eye, burying itself in the back of his head. The injury was said to have produced a severe hemorrhage which resulted in death.

Whitley, who disappeared immediately after the shooting, surrendered to county authorities a few days later. He was held in jail here without bail for some time but was released at the last session of criminal court under bond of $2,500.

The defense contended that Whitley shot in self-defense and introduced considerable evidence tending to bear out this point.

John Scott was arrested by city authorities several days after his daughter was caught in the act of attempting to criminally assault his child. The child's cries attracted the attention of neighbors, who peeping through a crack in the Scott house, saw the father as he was attempting to commit the act. An officer was called and he also was said to have been a witness to the assault.

Scott, admitting the crime, also stated to officers that he had attempted the same thing before. Some doubt was entertained as to his sanity, and this was believed to have played an important part in the case.

English Novelist Married to Banker

Abingess, Surrey, Eng., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Miss Rebecca West, one of England's foremost novelists, was married here this afternoon to Henry Maxwell Andrews, a London banker.

England enjoyed this wedding, recalling that not so long ago Rebecca West had referred to the average British husband as "a perfect nuisance," and this, she wrote in a critical article, was an opinion shared by the whole stratum of "domesticated upper and middle class Englishwomen."

On the other hand, she wrote it is eugenically unsound to demand that intellectual women stand aside while their sweet, clinging sisters march to the altar with the flower of British manhood.

J. J. SUMMERELL HEADS LOCAL KIWANIS CLUB

Other Officers Elected At Regular Meet of Organization Last Night

J. J. Summerell was elected president at the regular twice-a-month meeting of the Greenville Kiwanis club last night. He was elected on the first ballot. His term of office will begin at the first meeting of the club in January.

Aside from the election of the president, the club also elected a vice-president, district trustee, and five directors. W. A. Dardner was chosen for the vice-presidency and Martin Wright as district trustee. The five directors are: Joe Taft, Dr. Tom Watson, K. T. Futrell, Berry Bostle and Charlie Harvey.

The election was conducted by R. G. Fitzgerald, and J. C. Galloway and Charlie Harvey acted as pollholders.

Mr. Summerell will succeed B. B. Sugg, prominent tobacco warehouse man who has held the office for the usual period of one year. Mr. Summerell is southern representative for an internationally known fertilizer manufacturing concern, and has made Greenville his headquarters for many years. He has taken an active part in the affairs of the club since his residence here and is well qualified to fill the high office to which he was elected.

President Sugg called the attention of the club to the important part which the various civic and banquet clubs were playing in the life of the city. He said the organized efforts of these bodies had done much toward the improvement of community life the last few years and urged the Kiwanians to be ever on the alert to continue to serve the city.

He declared Greenville and Pitt county were among the best sections of the country and that conditions here were as good as they were anywhere except in the oil regions where booms are likely to occur at any time. He impressed his hearers with the necessity for faith in the community and the spirit to go forward ever under extraordinary circumstances.

Joe Taft, Boy Scout leader, told of "Bundle Day" program to be inaugurated by the Scouts November 8, and asked the Kiwanians to get out their old clothes, bundle them up and have them ready when the Scouts come for them.

He received assurance that virtually every member of the club would endeavor to provide a bundle for the worthy cause, an expressed opinion that if other organizations would do likewise, the day should be a great success.

J. C. Galloway, of Grimesland, called attention of the club to the importance of bringing more industries to Greenville and asked that (Continued on page eight)

Man Identified As Frank Carpenter of Durham Slain By Carl Forrest After Obtaining Several Thousand Dollars in Bank Holdup; Companion Escaped

Efland, Nov. 1.—(AP)—A woman's daring today frustrated the robbery of the Bank of Efland and brought about the death of one bandit.

As a man tentatively identified as Bruce Carpenter, of Durham, fled from the bank, several thousand dollars of loot in his pockets, a shotgun in the hands of Carl Forrest, merchant and vice-president of the bank roared from across the street. Carpenter fell dead, two charges of shot in his back.

A confederate, waiting in front of the bank in a yellow coup, sped away in the direction of Greensboro, while shots whistled about him.

Mrs. George Shambley, local woman, spoiled the bandits' plans. As she started to enter the bank at 10:30 o'clock this morning, the man in the automobile warned her to stop.

"There's trouble inside," he said. He commanded Mrs. Shambley to stand in front of the car. Instead she hastened across the street to Forrest's store, where she gave the alarm. Arms were hastily collected.

As Carpenter, having held J. L. Efland, bank president, and Robert Riley, cashier, at bay while he scooped together all available cash, ran from the door as the shots sounded.

The dead bandit's body was held here today pending more complete identification. Papers in his pockets, however, made bank officials certain he was Carpenter.

Efland is without police protection.

Durham, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Bruce Carpenter, reported slain in an attempt today to rob the Bank of Efland, was a former inmate of the State Hospital for the Insane and had been in Police court here several times charged with minor offenses. He was about 29 years old.

HEAVY SALES CONTINUE ON LEAF MARKET

Sales for the Season Pass the Thirty-seven Million Pound Mark Here

During the week just closed the Greenville tobacco market sold 4,813,998 pounds of tobacco, according to the official report of K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales, which was made public at the conclusion of sales yesterday afternoon. This brought the season's total to 37,808,132 pounds against 32,597,324 pounds for the corresponding period last season.

The market paid out this week a total sum of $781,421.07 and the general average was $16.23 per hundred. For the same week last season the market handled 4,079,958 pounds of leaf at an average of $21.50 per hundred pounds.

The total amount of money paid out by the market this season was estimated at $5,132,699.78, and the price average was $13.57 per hundred pounds.

With the coming of improved weather, offerings here yesterday were among the heaviest of the season and the price situation was described as fairly strong on the better grades of tobacco.

The marketing of the leaf is expected to continue briskly from now on through the holiday season, but with five sets of buyers the market is equal to meet any emergency in this direction. Farmers are able to dispose of their offerings and return home the same day, proving a great saving both in time and labor.

SPEAKERS TO END POLITICAL DRIVE TONIGHT

Brickbats and Roses Tossed Around in Frantic Pre-Election Vocal Battle

Charlotte, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Brickbats and roses, both of the vocal variety, were being tossed around today in frantic fashion as politicians marshalled their strength for a final pre-election drive.

Cameron Morrison, former governor, was one of the Democratic campaigners who expected to wind up his speaking tour tonight. Mr. Morrison was billed as chief speaker on a rally program at Charlotte.

The Republicans, led by George M. Pritchard, their senatorial nominee, and Congressman Charles A. Jones, who is seeking reelection from the ninth district, held their Charlotte meeting last night.

Mr. Pritchard was on the program as principal speaker but Mr. Jones, who introduced him, took time to speak his mind on a number of political matters.

The senatorial nominee declared "prohibition is the sole issue" in his campaign against Josiah W. Bailey, his Democratic opponent. Mr. Jones dwelt on the "wet Tammany wing of the Democratic party" and took a verbal shot at Governor Gardner for the chief executive's statement that the Republican party "offered no chance of advancement to the youth of the south."

Governor Gardner was in Smithfield telling voters there that the Republican party was attempting to "inveigle and proselytize" thousands of "loyal, devoted Democrats" into the Republican fold.

"Their (the Republicans) one over-weening ambition," the chief executive said, "is to add to their normal state vote a substantial number of the 130,000 loyal, devoted Democrats who did not vote for the successful Democratic candidate for the United States Senate in the primary."

Mr. Bailey, the man who the 130,000 "loyal, devoted Democrats" did not vote for in the primary, was in Asheville wading into "Republican prosperity" and the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill.

Over in Wilson, Leslie M. Shaw, former secretary of the treasury, who was sent into North Carolina by the Republican National Committee, was telling voters that the same tariff J. W. Bailey was deriding had "made America rich and prosperous."

The Republican party, he said, by the grace of high tariffs, was "responsible for all industries in America."

In addition to the headline speakers of the two parties, numerous lesser campaigners, office seekers, officials and vote-getters were talking the issues of the day.

FINAL RALLY MADE BY U. S. VOTERSTODAY

Millions of People prepare for General Election Set for Next Tuesday

Across the breath of a nation racked by political dissension the party captains sounded today a final rallying-call to the millions who will choose a new Congress and the governors of thirty states at Tuesday's general election.

Except for the new vaudeville ceremonial reserved for election eve, the campaign is ended with the week, bringing to its big moment in carnival profusion the customary noise and color of climatic political emotion. Today and tonight many thousands of Americans exercise the constitutional right of tumultuous free assemblage, as hundreds of travel-weary candidates petition for victory with their last hoarse whisper.

Contemplating this picture, on pre-election Saturday, the leaders of both of the great parties turned hopeful but anxious faces toward the fast-approaching day of decision.

Heard by what they conceive to be a wide-spread dissatisfaction with the Hoover administration, on the score of the business depression, prohibition, the tariff, farm relief and other issues, the Democrats stood by their predictions that their unrelenting campaign of attack would mean Democratic House of Representatives and a material reduction, at least, in the Republican majority in the Senate.

The Republicans, acknowledging that some losses are likely, took new hope for reports—denied by the Democrats—that the last week or two had been a turn downward in Democratic fortunes—one of those anti-climaxes which sometimes mark the last days of a party election campaign.

It will be for the count of the ballots, of course, to decide what substance there may be in these premises, on either side. But the hope engendered by them, on both sides, was substantial enough today to throw both party headquarters in Washington and the many lesser, into a last convulsion of activity, into a last convulsion of supreme activity.

The vigor of this final struggle was evidenced, and had been evidenced for some days past, in the mounting bitterness of the play and counter-play of political debate. It had become a campaign of strong words.

Speaking last night to a national radio audience, Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader of the Senate, forecast a time of "utter chaos" should a Democratic Congress be chosen, declaring "No man could even begin to describe the appalling conditions that inevitably would come."

Former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, assailing the Republican farm policies, spoke thus of his old-time antagonist in Missouri politics, Secretary of Agriculture Hyde: "One gains nothing by a debate with an intellectual ulcer."

Thus goes the argument in these last days; and by no means does the national forum have a monopoly either of direct speaking or emotional enthusiasm. In an unusual number of states, local contests on local issues are stirring the spellbinders to fury.

Two Negroes Killed At Halloween Party

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 1.—(AP)—As a Halloween celebration clad in female clothes, Ivy Allen, Negro, simply killed his male admirers.

Allen, attired in skirts, high-heeled shoes and a modish hat, attended a Halloween party. His costume was so realistic that two Negroes followed him home.

He became frightened, grabbed a knife and killed Willie Mosely and Horace Allen.

Then he went to a police station and surrendered. Even the police were fooled by his costume.

Declare Night Work For Women Is More Desirable Than Actual Starvation

Leaders of Women's Party Make Special Trip to Washington to Protest Against Textile Mills Limiting Production By Failing to Employ Women At Night

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Some plain talk against limiting production in textile mills by throwing women out of night work and keeping them on the job has been spoken by leaders of the national women's party to officials of the Cotton Textile Institute.

Headquarters of the party disclosed today that Mrs. Harvey Wiley, widow of the pure food pioneer, flew to New York City, three other members of the party to make the protest to George A. Sloan, president, and Walker D. Hines, chairman of the board of the Cotton Institute.

"Mr. Hines admitted first," said the women's party, that the action taken throwing women out of the night work jobs was in order to "limit production." Replying Mrs. Wiley said, "No matter how unhygienic the conditions of work may be, nothing injures the health and the morals more than starvation."

Mrs. Elizabeth Selden Rogers and Mrs. Jane Norman Smith of New York, and Mrs. Florence Bayard Hille of Delaware, members of the party's national council, joined in the protest. Mrs. Wiley is chairman of the party.

"Mr. Hines' second point was that the elimination of women from night work is but a first step toward abolishing night work for both men and women and is an important aid in bringing about the stabilization of production and employment," the announcement said. "It is a bad principle to do evil that good may come." Mr. Wiley replied.

"All over the country today there is a tendency, as is always customary in times of unemployment, to dismiss women and give the places to men," Mrs. Wiley continued. "With regard to night work in the mills, no one thinks it is desirable, but it is more desirable than starvation."

Democratic Executive Chairman Predicts Overwhelming Majority for His Party in Pre-Election Statement; Speaking Campaign to Close At Black Jack Tonight With Address By Lindsay Warren

W. E. Hooks of Ayden, chairman of the Pitt County Democratic Executive Committee, this morning issued a statement in which he called upon the Democratic voters of the county to rally to the polls next Tuesday and vote the Democratic ticket from "top to bottom."

The statement of the Democratic chairman came as his forces made a final effort to line up the constituency in one of the most spectacular and dramatic campaigns probably ever staged in this county before. The speaking campaign will come to a close tonight with an address at Black Jack by Lindsay Warren, Congressman of the First District.

Harold Cooley, of Nashville, spoke to a gathering of Democrats at Bethel last night, and urged them not to listen to the Republican promise of tax reduction, but to go to the polls next Monday and vote for the party that had established a brilliant record of service in this and other states.

Mr. Hooks expressed belief that the Democratic victory this year would be one of the most outstanding in years. He called attention to the effort of the Republican party to elect two members to the County Board of Commissioners, but asserted, "I do not believe the Democrats will allow this to be done."

He declared the campaign in each of the fourteen precincts of the county had been conducted along the most extensive scale possible, and that his co-workers also expressed opinion that they had everything lined up for an overwhelming victory.

His statement follows:

To the Democrats of Pitt County:

Next Tuesday November 4, is election day, and as Chairman of The Pitt County Democratic Executive Committee, I appeal to the men and women of our County to go to the polls on the above date and vote the Democratic ticket from "top to bottom." The nominees on the Democratic ticket are all true, good men, and deserve your support. They were nominated in the Democratic Primary last summer and it is the duty of every Democrat who took part in that Primary to vote the straight Democratic ticket in the election. In other words, the man or woman who participated in the Primary is honor-bound to support the nominees, so I beg of you to go out and do your full duty on Tuesday, November 4, by voting for every Democrat on the ticket. The Republicans are making every effort to elect two of the County Commissioners but I do not believe the Democrats of Pitt County will allow this to be done. But let us not take anything for granted. Let us every one go to the polls and do our full duty by voting the straight Democratic ticket.

Very truly yours,
W. E. HOOKS,
Chairman Pitt County Democratic Executive Committee.

ABOUT THAT $100,000.

There still seems to be a question in the minds of some about the $100,000 that the county was supposed to have borrowed but as a matter of fact never did borrow, and it is regrettable that in making its report to the court late Thursday the Grand Jury did not make mention of its investigation of the matter and its findings that there had been nothing irregular in regard to the transaction. Such a report by the Grand Jury would have settled the matter and stopped its use as political propaganda.

According to the information we have received, and we are informed that the findings of the Grand Jury were the same, on June 16 the county offered for sale $100,000 worth of notes and the same were bid in by one of the local banks which, of course, was making the purchase for one of its northern correspondent banks. The county delivered the notes properly executed together with a check to cover the discounts on the notes and so far as the county was concerned the sale had been made in accordance with the law and the money would be forthcoming from New York as soon as the notes were received and accepted by the correspondent bank. Later the same day injunction papers prohibiting the sale of the notes were served on the county authorities and immediately the county attorney announced that the notes had already been sold hence the injunction was ineffective. In the face of the litigation the New York bank was reluctant to accept the notes from the local bank and as the first of July drew near the county authorities realized that the notes were fast reaching maturity and no money had been realized upon them, so the notes were recalled together with the county's check and were voided and placed in the records of the Treasurer's office. Following the recall of the notes, the county in order to meet immediate demands, accepted the loan of $15,000 from local banks as an advance on the larger loan until the litigation could be cleared up. As is well known to our readers, the county, after the Supreme Court had heard and dismissed the litigation, borrowed $250,000 out of which the $15,000 was repaid to the banks and the matter closed.

Just a few days ago the Auditor's published statement showed that $15,000 and $250,000 had been borrowed by the county during the period from May 25 to September 25, and the public unaware of the facts in the case and believing that the county had actually received the $100,000 loan in June, immediately began to ask questions as to what had become of this money, or the $85,000 difference between the supposed loan and the $15,000 actually borrowed. Such a question gave those in opposition to the county administration something else to talk about until it reached the stage that the matter was thoroughly investigated by the Grand Jury this week.

In making its report to the court no doubt those gentlemen of the Grand Jury thought it sufficient just to give each of the offices in the courthouse a clean bill, but in view of all the talk about this $100,000 that has been making its rounds as political propaganda, we say again it was regrettable that the Grand Jury in its report did not specifically set out its findings in this matter, in justice to the county officials who have come in for more than their share of criticism as a result of this money that the county was supposed to have borrowed but as a matter of fact never did receive.

ABOUT TOWN

Mayor Lanier has issued his proclamation for "Prosperity Week." He called on the public to do everything possible to make the week the greatest success it should be by paying up old accounts and creating as much employment as they could in behalf of the jobless men and women in quest of work.

The occasion can be made to count largely in behalf of driving out Old Man Depression if the people will respond to the proclamation in the way they should, and it is to be hoped the main business district will be crowded with shoppers every day of the week.

The merchants are doing their best in behalf of the week by offering the best of the season's merchandise at prices not to be compared by any other city in this section of the state.

It matters not how far you may live from the city, Mr. and Mrs. Shopper, you would do well to visit Greenville on this occasion and do your part in the campaign to drive out pessimism and calamity howling. It is just what the community has been needing for a long time and if you, as a public-spirited citizen, will do your part, there is no question about success.

W. E. Hooks, of Ayden, chairman of the Pitt County Democratic Executive committee, is not in doubt about the outcome of the Democratic vote in the general election here next Tuesday.

He has been enough of the Democracy of Pitt county to know that the people are going to the polls and vote the ticket from "top to bottom" in behalf of party nomi-

Boys and Girls of Methodist Orphanage

This is a group of the boys and girls of the Methodist Orphanage, Raleigh, N. C. A special offering will be taken at the Methodist church tomorrow for the support of the orphanage and it is hoped that all the interested in the work will contribute as liberally as possible. Your contribution will be greatly appreciated.

The chairman has visited virtually every community the last three days. The things he heard and saw caused him to return to the capital city with a broad smile on his face. "You can tell the boys we are going to poll an overwhelming majority this election as in past years," he declared.

Mr. Hooks has impressed upon the voters the importance of going to the polls this time in order to offset any inroads by Republican candidates for county offices. He believes that the Democratic nominees will, as in past years, pile up a splendid majority.

The Reflector, as customary upon election days, will furnish its readers with complete reports of the general election next Tuesday night. These reports will be flashed over leased wires from every section of the county, and county returns will be received over long distance telephone the minute the vote is counted.

Political leaders in every precinct have been urged to co-operate with the paper in compiling these reports, and if they do that a compilation of the vote should be possible in a few hours after the polls are closed.

Those interested in the returns are urged to assist as much as possible. By keeping in touch with the poll holders, the situation should be handled in comparatively short time.

The Reflector has rendered this special service to its readers for years, and has striven to make each year better than the previous. Voters are invited to visit the office the night of the election to receive the returns as they are flashed over the wire from all parts of the nation.

Members of the North Carolina College Press Association, attending the Fall convention of the organization in this city the last three days, were much impressed with the hospitality shown them by Greenville people. They were treated with the utmost consideration from the time of their arrival Thursday afternoon until they left this morning.

This was one of the many conventions entertained in this city this year, and it is gratifying that the delegates left with words of praise on their lips for the kindly way they were treated. Greenville has established an enviable reputation as a convention city and it is probable this will be instrumental in the coming of more organizations in the near future. To all of them, the city extends a cordial welcome.

Have you taken advantage of the special subscription offer to the Daily Reflector? If not, why not? Buy immediately and do so. The offer will close November 3, and after that time readers will be required to pay the regular rate of $5 a year.

The reduced rate was inaugurated for the purpose to give the readers the advantage of the usual amount of money invested in subscription campaigns. It is a saving most any person should appreciate, and hundreds of folks have already taken advantage of it.

Don't delay this important matter, but send a check to the office immediately and reap the benefit of this saving of $2.00.

Durham Visited By $400,000 Blaze

Durham, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Damage estimated today at approximately $400,000 was done yesterday by a fire that swept through an American Tobacco Company storage warehouse, destroyed four negro houses, a store and 1,100,000 pounds of tobacco stored in hogsheds.

Two negro children that were believed to have died in the fire were found by their frantic mother safe in a house two blocks from the conflagration.

All-Night Dancing Celebrates Return of King and Bride

Scia, Bulgaria, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Scia, celebrating the return of Czar Boris III and his bride, Queen Ionna, danced the night through in as heart-felt and spontaneous a celebration as the capital has known in generations.

The royal couple, happily in the plaudits of their subjects, attired themselves in the plain clothes of ordinary Bulgarian citizens and, at midnight, left the palace by its back door to mingle with the throng.

They remained outside the palace grounds, dancing and laughing with the crowds for a long time and presumably were not recognized by any one. They listened to students serenading in their honor, the students being entirely unaware that their rulers were present.

Police measures were so relaxed for the occasion that children and even adults were allowed to climb the grill of the principal palace gate, a thing which old-timers said they had never heard of before.

Four hundred prisoners, some political and some criminal, are to be pardoned unconditionally by a special act of royal clemency and the terms and fines of 800 others materially reduced as a sign of favor from the newly-wed king, or Czar, or Tsar, as he is known in Bulgaria.

THE DURATION OF AN INFLATED TOY BALLOON

The toy balloon is but a small piece of rubber, the size of which is extended to many times its original by means of air. It is inflated, but is looked upon with admiration by the youthful owner whose imagination does not extend beyond actuality.

The merchant who deals with a customer, upon whom he depends for the success of his business, must have vision and imagination. He must look beyond the present, and into the future, or his business will be like the inflated balloon.

So when it comes to marking our goods down, it must be borne in mind that the reductions are genuine and are not inflated price reductions.

To do otherwise, our business mind would be like that of the youthful owner of the toy balloon.

HIGH LOSES CLOSE GAME TO TARBORO

GEORGIA TECH PLAYS TAR HEELS TODAY

In a close hard-fought battle at the Third Street Stadium yesterday the strong Tarboro football team defeated the Greenvillians 7 to 2. The game was replete with everything that goes to make up a good football game, long end runs, rapturous passes, and a series of short end runs and reverse plays Tarboro marched down the field to a score with Thomas carrying the ball on a run around his left end. Lewis added the extra point on a line play. This completed the scoring of the afternoon for the visitors. Greenville played a good defensive game for the rest of the half and the ball remained in the immediate vicinity of the center of the field.

With the beginning of the second half the Greenville team began to open up. Hodges and Hardee tore through the Tarboro forward wall for substantial gains and several nice passes were completed. The Tarboro team, however, tightened its defense at critical moments and it was not until near the close of the fourth period that Greenville had an opportunity to score. Taking the ball on a fumble on their own 42 yard line the Greenville lads started a march down the field. In this march two forward passes, Lee to Bullock, aided by several nice gains through the line by Hodges, played an important part. Again the Tarboro line proved equal to the occasion and held for downs on the one foot line. On the following play Thomas went back to kick out of danger but stopped out of the end zone thereby registering a safety and 2 points for Greenville.

For Tarboro the work of Lewis at halfback and Fountain at quarter was outstanding. It would be hard to pick an individual star out of the Greenville aggregation. Hodges gained the most ground but he had before him a line that was charging hard and fast. To the line should go the most credit for it was due to their efforts that Greenville was enabled to register more first downs than Tarboro.

Kentucky-Alabama Game Feature of Gridiron Activity

Atlanta, Nov. 1.—(AP)—For the second successive week-end one big game—Kentucky-Alabama conflict—stood out above all others today in the Southern Conference.

Near the Lexington, Ky. title from the standpoint of general interest ranked the Savannah, Ga., game between Georgia and Florida, the Chapel Hill, N. C., meeting of North Carolina and Georgia Tech and the Knoxville, Tenn., clash of Tennessee and Clemson.

Others near the top were the Vanderbilt-Mississippi engagement at Nashville, Tenn., and Tulane-Mississippi Aggies battle at New Orleans.

In the upper half of the conference, Maryland engaged Virginia while Virginia Poly and Virginia were pitted against Washington and Lee and Davidson, respectively.

Sewanee journeyed into Texas for its appointment with Rice Institute and Auburn picked Wofford. Duke was given a fair chance in its intercollegiate bid against Villa Nova, but William and Mary and Mississippi College were rated far below Harvard and Colgate.

Stribling Scores Technical Knockout Over Christener

Boston, Nov. 1.—(AP)—William L. Stribling, Jr., Georgia's boxing pride, strengthened his championship contender claim here last night when he battered rugged K. O. Christener of Akron, Ohio, for a three-round technical knockout verdict.

The cool-headed southerner in an impressive fashion and had a wide lead on his veteran opponent when he split the latter's nose with a barrage of heavy left and right hooks halfway through the third session. Christener was courageous and aggressive but Stribling's sharp shooting left spoiled most of his attempts to crowd inside to land body punches, Meyer's favorite tactics.

The blow that damaged Christener's nose landed with the same terrific force as the one that knocked out Otto Von Porat and Phil Scott. Stribling's last two victims. The Georgia was spattered with his rival's blood when his left hook struck its mark.

Referee Johnny Basil quickly decided that Christener, who has given warm arguments to most of the top-ranked heavyweights, was in no shape to continue.

Arthur Dekan, New York Italian giant, who has been signed as Stribling's next opponent, at Atlanta, on November 11, won a decision over Big Bill Hartwell of Kansas City, in an 8-round semi-final.

Fights Last Night

Boston—W. L. (Young) Stribling Macon, Ga., won a technical knock out from K. O. Christener, Akron, O., (3).

Chicago—Jerry (Tuffy) Griffiths, Sioux City, outpointed George Nelson, Greece, (8).

Charlotte, Nov. 1.—(AP)—North Carolina football fans turned their eyes on Chapel Hill today where the University Tar Heels and Georgia Tech were meeting in a homecoming day game for Coach Chuck Collins' outfit.

Wake Forest, the first member of the Big Five to get in action this week, met a Tartar in Temple University last night and the Philadelphia chafed up a 36 to 0 score at the expense of the Demon Deacons.

Elon sprung a surprise in "Little Seven" circles last night by slipping over a 12 to 9 defeat on Guilford in a game at Greensboro. At the same time, Catawba's powerful team was holding Henoir-Rhyne scoreless while Zaengle made the touchdown of the evening to lead his team to a 12 to 0 victory over the Bears.

Two other Big Five teams, Duke and Davidson, were out of the state today. Duke was calling on Villa Nova in Philadelphia while the Wildcats were guests of V. M. I. in Lexington, Va. Appalachian state was in Dahlonega, Ga. for a game with North Georgia Aggies and Atlantic Christian and High Point were prepared to mix things up in High Point.

New President of Brazil Arrives At Rio De Janeiro

Rio de Janeiro, Nov. 1.—(AP)—This capital today shed the carnival attire it donned yesterday to receive Dr. Getulio Vargas, new Brazilian chief of state, and turned to the serious business of cementing revolutionary gains and constructing a new government.

Dr. Vargas, who came from Sao Paulo and the Parana-Sao Paulo border fighting front, still lacked official title but his authority was recognized, and it was felt that some legal means would be found to place him in the office vacated by deposition of Dr. Washington Luis.

The problem was complicated by the former president's refusal to resign. He is still confined in the officers' quarters of the Copacabana fortress and insists upon serving out his term, which expires November 15. At that time Dr. Julio Prestes was scheduled to succeed him but Dr. Prestes now is a refugee in the British consulate residence in Sao Paulo. Dr. Vargas was Prestes' opponent in the national elections.

The train, guarded by cowboy troops from Rio Grande do Sul, arrived several hours late. An enormous crowd met Dr. Vargas and escorted him to Catete palace, which the military junta had invited him to occupy.

There were 33 automobiles in the official procession. The first was occupied by Vargas and General Tasso Fragoso, head of the military junta which deposed Dr. Washington Luis.

Shortly before nightfall army airplanes circled over the crowds and dropped confetti.

Ticker tape was thrown from win dows in the business district, as the revolutionary leader was driven through the streets to the palace.

Mayor Thompson Wages Grim Fight Against Peritonitis.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Mayor William Hale Thompson today was fighting a battle more important to him than any he had faced in his spectacular political career.

Peritonitis—a dread aftermath of appendicitis operations, possible symptoms of which were reported in his case—was the mayor's foe, but whether he would win or lose could not be told until some tomorrow afternoon, physicians said.

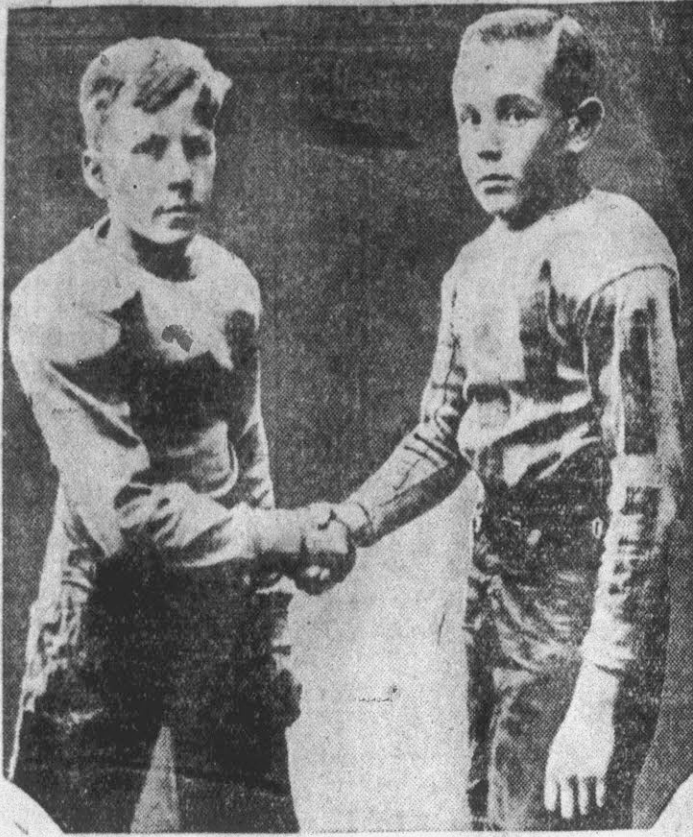

Courage—that all-important ally in fighting disease—however, was with the mayor, and this, with his favorable reaction from the shock of the operation, performed late yesterday, gave his friends hope that the ultimate outcome would be victory. His wife and the few friends permitted in his room at the Passavant Hospital following the operation were met with the usual smile and were comforted by the calm determination with which he was fighting for recovery.

The presence of free fluid in the abdomen gave rise to the fear of peritonitis, but this is not always a certain symptom of this complication. Dr. Milton M. Portis, one of three surgeons who attended the stricken mayor reported. During the night the mayor got several hours sleep and Robert N. Robbner, a close personal friend, remarked that he had a "fighting chance to live and it looks pretty good."

The appendicitis attack caught the mayor in the midst of a stormy political campaign in which he, although a Republican, had come out in opposition to the party's nominee for United States Senator, Congresswoman Ruth McCormick, and at a time when there has been talk that he would seek a fourth term at the mayoralty primary next Spring.

Mount Airy.—(AP)—W. H. Chandler, Democratic registrar for Bryan township, was stabbed and seriously wounded in a political argument. His alleged assailant, John Wall, Republican, has not been located.

KEEPS UP ROCKNE TRADITION

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET

New York, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Cotton prices steady today at a decline of 1 to 6 points in response to rather heavy Liverpool cables and further week-end realizing. There was also some southern buying but offerings were fairly well taken by trade buying and covering off to 11.05 for new December and 11.65 for May, or about 11 points net lower, the market held fairly steady at the end of the first half hour. The trade seemed to pay very little attention to the cold weather reported in the north, or week-end reviews of the domestic goods markets confirming earlier reports of a good business during the period. Liverpool cables and that hedge selling and local liquidation had been taken by the calling on the decline in that market. The amount of cotton on shipward awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 207,000 bales against 222,000 last year and 149,000 two years ago.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Influenced by late reports that Argentine rust complaints were increasing and that one third of the wheat acreage of Argentina was infected led to a quick rally in wheat prices today at the last. The rest area was described as comprising most of Cordoba and San Juan Provinces. Buying on the part of a leading speculator accompanied the upturn of the market which earlier had declined on account of reassuring news about wheat; closed nervous at the close as yesterday's finish. Corn 5-8 to 5-8 off, oats 5-8 to 11-8 down, and provisions varying from a decline to a rise of 2c.

more in the first half hour, but a rally set in during the last half hour which cancelled most of the day's losses, and carried several shares a little above yesterday's final levels. The closing tone was firm. Transfers approximated 1,100,000 shares. Trading was sluggish, however, and the late rally appeared to be largely the result of short covering. It was notable, nevertheless, that the unremitting selling pressure of the preceding three days was lifted. U. S. Steel was well supported from the first, and rose to close with a gain of 13.4 points. American Can, American Telephone, Union Carbide and Eastman closed 1-2 to 3-4 higher, after selling off 2 points or more. Such shares as Standard of N. J., Bethlehem Steel, General Electric, Radio, Consolidated Gas, Westinghouse Electric and air reduction gained 1 to 1-2. Coca Cola, a recent weak spot, rallied 6 points in short covering. Allied Chemical dropped 4, then rallied 71-2 from the bottom. Ingersoll Rand dropped 9 and rallied 6. American Water Works declined 41-2, an recovered only a point. It was notable that several of the prominent shares met good support from the first. The motion picture shares generally sold off a point or so, but rallied before the close. Most of the days selling was in specialties and a few of the utilities. The fact that the market failed as a whole to break into new low ground on the recent decline was generally regarded in speculative quarters as encouraging, although the trading had been rather too sluggish to give the recent resistance levels much of a test. Today's quiescence was not surprising in view of the fact that there is but one more market session before election day. The market is apt to grow hesitant just before election. The week-end business and trade reports brought further indications that retail trade was being well maintained, although some reports indicated a quieting down of whole sale buying.

Herbert Hoover, Jr. Arrives In Asheville

Asheville, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover, Jr., son of the President of the United States, arrived in Asheville early this morning for a stay of several months for recuperative purposes. Mr. Hoover was met at the station by his wife, who preceded him here by three days to open Blue Briar cottage on Sunset Mountain where the Hoovers have established residence. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Seely, friends of the family, Mrs. Stark McMullin, friend of Mrs. Hoover who came to Asheville Thursday, and a group of re-spectable, secret service operatives and police. The young Mr. Hoover was smiling as he stepped from the train. He showed no signs of his recent illness. He was tanned, and was wearing an Oxford gray overcoat and a light gray hat. As he got off the train he, pulled off his hat and nodded to the group around the car door, and then rushed over to kiss Mrs. Hoover.

The Salvation Army

THE UNIFORM: WHAT IT MEANS AND WHY USED

Like the organization itself, the uniform of the Salvation Army is rather the result of evolution than of deliberate planning. The change from the Committee to the Military form of government, and the consequent adoption of titles, no doubt suggested the need for a distinctive garb. The first Captains, however, wore the most part ordinary civilian dress and peak caps (for men), and mission bonnets (for women), while the soldiers and converts were content with a shield, or piece of ribbon or an armband bearing the name of the organization. This "label" was, in actual fact, the first uniform, and was adopted with a very definite purpose in mind, that of acting as a silent testimony for God, when for some reason testimony by word of mouth would be an impossibility. Its chief value, therefore, was not when worn in the presence of other Salvationists, but when the Salvationists arose from the Army's insistence on plain attire. Separation from the world in this matter was strictly enjoined, yet women Salvationists experienced difficulty in securing suitable wear from the ordinary sources of supply, and in their efforts to dress in accordance with their pledges they sometimes presented ludicrous appearances, something had to be done. The Army Mother, therefore, set to work to devise a head dress which would be at once plain, distinctive and attractive. The result was the now famous "Hallelujah Bonnet". It was not the Founders intention to impose the wearing of the bonnet or any other portion of the uniform or the world at large. When the Salvation Army invaded the East, the Hallelujah Bonnet was readily exchanged for the graceful Oriental veil, and the sun hat; and the navy blue dress for the grey or white costumes, or the picturesque (red and yellow) dress of the Indian style, or the Japanese Kimono. The uniform as worn in the western lands has been subject to certain minor modifications in style from time to time. With the growth of The Army, and the consequent sectionizing, additional uniforms have been introduced for the use of Bandsmen, Songsters, Life Saving Guards and Scouts and other comrades. The advantage of Uniform for giving distinctiveness of appearance and uniformity in the Open-Air, and when on the march, cannot be disputed but the original intentions are still the underlying principle of uniform wearing, and constitute the paramount reason for its retention. Testimony of Salvation and Separation from the World.

To such credit has the uniform been worn, and now, instead of providing persecution, the appearance of uniformed Salvationists is usually calls for the respect, is a check on wrong doing, and will offer of spiritual help. Temporal help also is ensued, of the Army itself, having become a great social force, the Uniform has come to mean to the populace that the wearer is ready to render social or personal service as the need for such may arise.

Seek Death Sentence For Two Kidnappers

Kewanee, Ill., Nov. 1.—(AP)—While state and local police sought Floyd Winslow, reputed mastermind of the plot to kidnap Earl L. Yocum, Galva, Ill. banker, the authorities today prepared to ask the death penalty for his two alleged confederates held here. Winslow's capture was believed imminent with reports that a man answering to his description had been seen driving a stolen truck toward Pecora. Orville Whiskers, another alleged member of the extortionist gang, was being hunted in the vicinity of Waukegan, 15 miles from Galva. His brother, Harry Whiskers, and Vernon Ahlgren, in custody and said by officers to have confessed their share in the plot aimed to extort a large sum from Yocum, were held to the grand jury yesterday in bonds of $10,000 each. "We will ask the death penalty," State Attorney Carl Melin said. "When a leading citizen is taken from his doorstep and held for ransom under the threat of death, the penalty can not be too severe." He said he would ask indictment when the grand jury convened Monday.

GORMAN'S MARKET REPORT Prices on all grades have held their own this week with all the buying companies taking their percent without any downward trend in prices. We would not advise holding your tobacco longer as we believe that prices have about reached their level for this season. GORMAN'S sale yesterday of around 350,000 pounds was the most successful sale of the season. All of our customers went home satisfied and assured us that they would be back with their next load. GORMAN'S sales are growing by leaps and bounds and we are making numerous new customers every day. GORMAN'S, we are told every day, is running the best and most satisfactory sale in town. We are working harder for our customers than ever and we make it a point to see that every attention and courtesy is shown our customers while in Greenville. Preacher Boyd, of Richlands, sold with us on Wednesday the last of six acres for Mr. Charlie Findeison, and this six acres brought $1,978.29 and all of it was sold at GORMAN'S.
