SUPERVISORS OF TAXES TO CONFERENCES

Raleigh Gathering Tables Resolution to Vote Themselves Out of Job

Raleigh, Dec. 12.—(AP)—County tax supervisors from almost every county in North Carolina closed a three-day session here today after tabling a resolution to vote themselves out of a job.

The resolution, asking the General Assembly to amend the machinery Act of 1929 to the extent of postponing a general revaluation of property until January 1, 1933, was introduced yesterday afternoon by D. W. M. Roberts, supervisor of Caldwell county.

The resolution held that "the general business depression prevailing at this time throughout the entire country is not conducive of a real or adequate valuation of real property" and that "a revaluation of real property during the present general business depression is more dangerous to the welfare of the people of the State of North Carolina than a revaluation during an inflated period."

The resolution was not immediately seconded this morning and the motion to table, coming after a second by J. E. Hart of Anson county, was carried overwhelmingly.

The school opened Wednesday and heard Gov. O. Max Gardner, Allen J. Maxwell, commissioner of revenue; Dennis G. Brummit, attorney general; Charles M. Johnson, secretary of the county government advisory commission; Leroy Martin, secretary of the state board of equalization; and Lieutenant Governor R. T. Fountain talks on the fair and just valuations of property in the state with every piece of real property being returned for taxation.

Two Men Sentenced To Ten Years in Pen for Killing Sheriff

Greenville, S. C., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Carlos Rector and J. Harmon Moore, convicted of manslaughter of Sheriff Sam Willis, today were sentenced to 10 years imprisonment after withdrawing a motion for a new trial.

After withdrawing their motion for a new trial, Rector and Moore moved for an arrest of judgment. This was overruled by Presiding Judge E. C. Dennis, who then pronounced sentence.

Judge Dennis said he would admit the men to bond, presumably to permit them to arrange their affairs before beginning service of their sentences or to allow them time preparing an appeal if they should determine to make one.

Judge Dennis denounced the two defendants in scathing terms in passing sentence.

He related that he had been highly impressed with the conduct of Rector when the latter was sheriff and "could hardly believe you were mixed up in this affair."

"Killing in America," he said, "is not as despicable now as stealing, but an assassination is most despicable."

Rector, a state constable, was appointed sheriff by Governor John G. Richards after Sheriff Willis was shot to death in his yard by an assassin the night of June 11, 1927. Moore served under Rector as a deputy.

Bank Fails to Open in West Asheville

Asheville, Dec. 12.—(AP)—The Bank of West Asheville, which survived the financial crisis in Asheville and Western North Carolina three weeks ago, failed to open this morning. A notice on the front door explained that the institution was "closed by order of the board of directors to conserve assets for the benefit of depositors."

G. R. Hensen, liquidation agent for the Central Bank and Trust company and three other closed state banks in Buncombe county, was instructed by the state banking department to take charge of the bank. He announced that auditors will begin either today or tomorrow the task of checking the financial records.

Suspension of the bank was attributed to frozen assets, which more than absorbed the capital and surplus, and the large amount of public deposits, exceeding $100,000. More than $17,000 in cash was on hand when the bank closed at the end of the regular banking day yesterday.

Senate Adjourns Out Of Respect For Overman; Pronounce Brief Eulogy

Indigent Mother Seeks Help For Baby and Herself

A scantily clad young mother about thirty years of age, with a year old baby in her arms, knocked on the door of the Salvation Army workers house seeking aid of any kind for herself and baby. She had been turned out of her home by her own mother, merely because she couldn't find a job and help pay with the rent, she then, having nowhere else to go turned to the "helping hand". A home was found with a neighbor, the Salvation Army is supplying with clothing and other necessities as best they can under their existing financial circumstances, while trying to find her employment.

N. C. Farmers Receive Smaller Average With 15,500,000 Increase in Quantity

Raleigh, Dec. 12.—(AP)—North Carolina tobacco farmers received an average of $7.50 per hundred pounds less for tobacco sold this year prior to December 1 than they did a year ago and sold almost 15,500,000 pounds more during the period.

The monthly summary of the State-Federal Crop Reporting service, issued today, shows a 1930 average up to December 1 but last per hundred pounds and in 1929 the farmers were getting an average of $21.43 per hundred.

Total sales to December 1, 1929 totalled 400,083,645 pounds and this year sales have aggregated 415,481,856 pounds.

Mebane, with an average of $17.53 for about two and a half million pounds, led all the markets in average up to December 1 but last year the same market had an average that date of $23.50.

Wilson, by a wide margin, holds its place as leader in total season's production, sales with 61,566,015 pounds sold before December 1. Greenville's total was 52,469,563. Kingsport's 34,318,079. Rocky Mount 33,143,543 and Winston-Salem 24,127,860.

The composite average of markets handling fire-cured type No. 12 was slightly higher than the old bright belt markets handling Type No. 11. Type No. 12 sold at Eastern Carolina markets, brought an average of $14.41 up to December 1 and Type No. 11, sold at the central and Piedmont markets including Henderson, Fuqua Springs, Durham, Winston-Salem, Mount Airy and others, sold for $13.38 per hundred.

SAYS HE TOOK POWER JOB AS PUBLIC DUTY

Frank McNinch Testifies Before Interstate Commerce Commission

Washington, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Frank R. McNinch, of Charlotte North Carolina testified before the Senate Interstate Commerce committee today he had agreed to accept an appointment on the Power Commission as a "public duty."

President Hoover indicated two years ago he was considering offering a Federal appointment, he said, and he told the President he could not accept a government position.

McNinch said as far as he knew no one had asked the President to appoint him.

He had turned the nomination down last July he said, but reconsidered two weeks ago when asked about it by Senator Simmons, Democrat, North Carolina.

McNinch said he had played a prominent part in organizing the anti-Smith forces in North Carolina in 1928.

This stand he said, was based on Governor Smith's prohibition and immigration views.

"I challenge any man in North Carolina to say he heard me mention religion during the 1928 campaign," McNinch said.

"I have never been a machine politician. It is what some of them had against me."

McNinch said he voted for President Hoover but in speaking for Hoover urged votes for the entire Democratic Congressional ticket.

In 1930, McNinch said he voted for Representative Jonas, Republican candidate for re-election but did not vote at all on the Senatorial ticket.

Chairman Coughens placed in the record a letter from Representative Warren, Democrat, North Carolina, opposing confirmation of Mr. McNinch.

Warren's letter, addressed to Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, said President Hoover was "attempting to flit McNinch upon the country" and said he would not measure up to the test for membership.

DR. JOE SMITH PRESIDENT OF PITT DOCTORS

Other Officers Elected During Annual Ladies' Night Program Here

Dr. Joseph Smith, prominent Greenville physician, was elected president at the regular monthly meeting of the Pitt County Medical Society held at the Woman's Club in his city last night. Other officers elected were Dr. John Winstead vice-president, and Dr. W. M. B. Brown, secretary and treasurer.

Dr. Smith succeeds Dr. E. B. Beasley, of Fountain, who held office over the usual period of one year. During his administration the association made commendable progress, and many interesting programs were enjoyed by the society from time to time.

In addition to the election of officers, the doctors enjoyed a delightful banquet. Drs. S. M. Crisp and Alfred Schultz were hosts.

Wives and sweethearts of the doctors had been invited to attend and they were presented with favors during the evening's program.

The ladies were welcomed in a most happy vein by Dr. H. M. Bonner, who assured them that their annual entertainment was one of the highlights of the year's program. The response was made by Mrs. McGeachy, wife of the newly elected director of the Pitt County Department of Health.

MAN ADMITS HE IS SHORT OF MILLIONS

Secretary of California Loan Organization Confesses Shortage of Accounts

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Charles A. Whitmore, building & loan commissioner, announced today that delinquencies totaling several million dollars from the Guaranty Building and Loan Association were admitted in a written confession by Gilbert Beesemyer, 45, its secretary manager.

Directors of the association said Beesemyer's misappropriations might aggregate $300,000. They were said to have affected not only the association in which he was a 65 per cent stockholder, but also the North American Bond and Mortgage Company and the Guaranty Holding Corporation, both of Los Angeles.

Beesemyer was described as having been a director of the latter concerns.

The confessions Whitmore said, were given to him and to directors of the association early today after which Beesemyer was taken into custody. The speculations were said to have taken place over a period of five years.

The Building and Loan Association was capitalized at $11,000,000 but officials said its deposits exceeded that figure. It was allied with the Bank of Hollywood, a relatively new institution which failed to open its doors Monday.

Beesemyer had been a leader in the building and loan movement here since 1921 and was a director of many such organizations as well as industrial firms.

Whitmore, a Examiner Milton O. Shaw discovered discrepancies in the association's books. His findings were presented last night to the board of directors after which Beesemyer arose, directors said, and stated he had caused the trouble.

"How much was the delinquency?" one director asked.

"More than you think," he answered.

The directors guessed $1,500,000. "More than that, several millions," Beesemyer was quoted as saying.

"I am a dirty crook."

GIANT TREE ERECTED AT FIVE POINTS

Feature Attraction of Christmas Decorations Placed in Position Today

Decorations for the holiday season reached a climax this morning with the erection of a giant Christmas tree in the center of Five Points, the heart of the Greenville business district. The tree is similar to the one used in the same location last season, and is expected to be the cynosure of all eyes during the Christmas season.

The tree was erected by members of the Greenville Merchants Association, sponsors of the movement to make Greenville the best decorated town in this section of the state during the holidays. It is, thirty-five feet tall and will be brilliantly decorated with tinsel and scores of red and green lights.

The tree will be visible for several blocks and will add life and color to that section of the city. It is the feature decoration of the movement to beautify the city during the holidays, and will convey a merry message to the thousands of people who will throng the business district during the busy evenings preceding Christmas.

Hundreds of other decorations have appeared in store windows, on store fronts, and across business thoroughfares during the last several days and the city even at this time presents an appearance of beauty and splendor.

The decorators, however, are expected to show a pronounced increase during the intervening days between now and Christmas, and the business area probably will be more brilliantly dressed up than any other season since the decoration movement was started.

Hardly any decorations have appeared on the fronts of homes at this time, but these will probably get under full way the beginning of next week, and the ending of the week undoubtedly will see the residential sections as elaborately dressed up as the business district.

Score of home were decorated last year, and they did much to scatter gloom and add real spirit of cheer and happiness to the city's population.

Charlotte, N. C. — Annabelle

Washington, Dec. 12.—(AP)—A sudden illness today took from the Senate one of its oldest and most highly regarded members.

Lee Slater Overman of North Carolina, closed 76 years of life and 28 of service in the Senate chamber shortly before one o'clock this morning. An indisposition of a few days standing had suddenly turned dangerous yesterday afternoon when he suffered an internal hemorrhage. He had rallied and was expected to last through the night at least when late at night unexpectedly, he was stricken by a second hemorrhage. Death then was inevitable.

With him were Mrs. Overman, who had shared his life since 1878, and one daughter, Mrs. E. N. Snow of Washington. Two other daughters, Mrs. E. C. Gregory and Mrs. Gilbert Hamby, were expected to arrive today from Salisbury, the Senator's North Carolina home. His body will be taken there for burial.

Senator Overman will be given a state funeral in the Senate chamber at 8 o'clock tonight. Arrangements for the services were completed at the capital this forenoon. After the Senate services, the body will be placed aboard a train at 11:55 p. m., and taken to Salisbury for burial tomorrow at 3 p. m.

Dr. J. H. Brannard, pastor of the church, and Rev. H. W. Sprinkle, presiding elder, will conduct the services. They will be assisted by the Rev. H. H. Milne, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal church, and Dr. N. H. D. Wilson, of Fayetteville.

A guard of honor from the Salisbury post of the American Legion will escort the body to the Chestnut Hill cemetery where Senator Overman will be buried. Members of the escort will be active pall bearers.

After a political career already distinguished, Overman entered the Senate in 1903 and soon became a leading figure in the Democratic party ranks. During the world war particularly, he became essential to President Wilson. His snowy white hair was acquired in the heavy war tasks which included service on five major committees. He sponsored the act which gave President Wilson war-time powers more sweeping than any ever exercised by an American chief executive, and was the author of much vital legislation of that day.

A queer stroke of fate ended the Senator's life but a short time before he would have become North Carolina's senior Senator. Two years before he came to the Senate, North Carolina had sent Furnifold M. Simmons to the chamber. Neither was defeated until last year Simmons lost in the Democratic primary of his state. He steps out on March 3, Overman then would have been dean of the Senate. As it is, Reed Smoot, of Utah, eight years his junior, will become the dean. Both began service on the same day.

Overman kept at his duties in the Senate right up to the end. He had been at his office Monday and made calls at government departments. Yesterday, though remaining at home, he had given considerable attention to Senate affairs.

He was noted for taking joy in public service, with a deep affection for his colleagues which kept his tongue from becoming personal or vitriolic in the most heated debate. Just a year ago, he was in the thick of one of the most hotly contested battles of the Senate, leading the unsuccessful drive for confirmation of Judge John J. Parker of North Carolina, as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.

Salisbury, Dec. 12.—(AP)—While the nation knew Lee S. Overman perhaps best as a lieutenant of Woodrow Wilson in the Senate in the troublous war period, Rowan county, his home, knew him first as a pioneer for prohibition, good roads, and educational advancement.

The death of Senator Overman yesterday in Washington in his 28th year in the Senate ended an unusual political career.

For the greater part of 50 years he had held public office and only once in that time was a major defeat recorded against him. That was in 1896 when Jeter C. Pritchard defeated him for the U. S. Senate.

Chapel Hill, Dec. 12.—(AP)—The body of Morgan P. Moorer, University of North Carolina student who disappeared last February 28, was found today in a wooded section four miles from here. He had been shot through the head and a pistol lay by his side.

The disappearance of Morgan P. Moorer, Jr., 17-year-old freshman, has constituted one of the strangest episodes of University of North Carolina history.

A moody, temperamental youth, slender of body, dary-eyed, Moorer was not well understood ever by members of Sigma Delta fraternity to which he pledged himself. Touched with genius, they believed him. Of literary inclinations he was given to the fancy that he was the reincarnation of Edgar Allan Poe.

Last February 27 he disappeared. For a week University officials quietly investigated. Then the press was given the story and a nation-wide search, spurred on by Mrs. Moorer's offer of a large reward, began.

Two theories were followed. One, that Moorer had committed suicide. It was believed, though not established, that he carried with him a pistol when he disappeared. Search of wood and field about Chapel Hill for months gave no evidence as to his fate.

The other theory, that Moorer was suffering with amnesia and wandering blindly, produced little—reports that he had been seen picked up by motorists, sheltered for the night, rumors from widely scattered cities. Various persons, picked up by police over the nation, were checked by Moorer's description, but to no avail.

Mrs. Moorer moved to Washington, still clinging to her hope that the boy lived. The search went on. In September, 1930, Boy Scouts and woodsmen were set to scouring the territory about Chapel Hill for some clue to the boy's fate.

A group of University Geology students making a field trip discovered the body.

Woods and fields in this section had been combed as part of a nation-wide search made for Moorer, the 17 year old son of a deceased Asheville physician, after his disappearance. The body was found in a thick undergrowth.

During the hunt for him, numerous searchers had passed within a few yards of where the body was eventually found.

Members of the fraternity to which Moorer, a freshman, was pledged, identified the body. The pistol found by his side was his.

The youth's mother, Mrs. Eva Moorer, lives in Washington.

BANK INVOKES GOV. GARDNER 30-DAY RULE PRAISES LIFE AT RALEIGH OF OVERMAN

Mechanics Bank Will Accept No Deposits Unless They "Stick" Thirty Days

Raleigh, Dec. 12.—(AP)—The Mechanics Savings Bank of Raleigh today invoked the 30 day rule on withdrawal of deposits and announced no deposits were being accepted unless the depositor would leave the funds untouched for 30 days.

The bank's doors were open as usual. Walters Durham, president of the bank, said this morning that the 30-day rule was invoked so that all depositors "may share alike."

The Mechanics Bank invoked the 30-day rule in September on the day the Raleigh Banking and Trust Company shut its doors. W. B. Drake, president of the Raleigh Banking and Trust Company, was replaced as president of the Mechanics Bank the day the Raleigh Bank failed.

Bank officials said today that at that time "exchange" checks, given in "due course of ordinary banking business," were honored but that under the rule invoked today no checks are being paid.

The call statement of the bank September 24 listed deposits at $600,658.49. It is capitalized at $150,000 and the September 24 statement listed a surplus of $50,000 and total resources of $784,467.18.

Mr. Durham gave out the following statement: "The directors of the Mechanics Savings Bank have found it necessary in the interest of their depositors to invoke the thirty day clause or deposits. This means that depositors cannot withdraw their deposits until thirty days notice to the bank has been given. The directors are of the opinion that this action is necessary to prevent any sudden withdrawal of funds which would imperil the bank and possibly result in some depositors securing a preference."

"Says Future Power Will Be Obtained Out of Sunshine"

New York, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Dr. Robert A. Millikan, the physicist, said today that science already knows enough to outline a method of getting power out of sunshine.

He predicted this will be done when coal and oil sources are exhausted in an address before the Association of Life Insurance Presidents.

He said one other possible continuous source of energy exists in hydrogen from sea water, but with no known way of using it.

"For the past century," he said, "men have been using the sunshine bottled in coal and oil in bygone ages, and this reserve will do for us and our children, but what then? The answer is here, and it is not a hopeless one."

"It is this—there is enough energy sent us each day by the sun for all our needs, those present now and those reasonably in prospect, and without calling upon tired—up supplies of any kind. Two modern countries in our latitude receive from the sun in a day as much heat as is produced by all the coal burned 24 hours throughout the world."

"Further, we know enough already to be able to outline the main methods by which to go to work to utilize this inflow of sunshine. It cannot be done without work or without brains. That alone makes it worth doing. But it is only an economic reason that prevents us from utilizing sunshine directly now. We are not likely to utilize it appreciably so long as coal and oil and gas are as abundant and accessible as now."

Other State Officials Express Sorrow At Passing of United States Senator

Raleigh, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Commenting on the death today of Senator Lee Slater Overman of Salisbury, Gov. O. Max Gardner said "One of the finest types of our southern civilization" has been removed from the life of the state and the nation.

"The death of Senator Overman," the governor said, "removes from the life of North Carolina and the nation one of the finest types of our southern civilization. In all the vicissitudes of his long and distinguished career in the public service he always rang true to the highest ideals. The texture of his private and public life sheds a beautiful light and offers the highest testament of virtuous living and patriotic service to his state and nation."

Other state officials commented on Senator Overman's death. Chief Justice W. P. Stacy of the Supreme Court said "Senator Lee S. Overman has by his life and labors brought to the state and nation something richer and finer than could be known without them. We shall not see his like again."

A. J. Maxwell, Commissioner of Revenue, said "Senator Overman's death brings to a close a public career distinguished for its sustained duration, its dignity and poise, its frequent recognition of ability and its ever faithful devotion to the welfare of his state and its people. He brought honor to the state that honored him."

James A. Hartness, Secretary of State, said, "The sudden death of Senator Lee S. Overman was a shock to the people of the state."

Cowboy of Screen Sued for Divorce

Los Angeles, Dec. 12.—(AP)—A divorce suit on file here today asserted Tom Mix, hard riding, quick shooting cowboy of the screen and the circus, had galloped away from home and didn't intend to come back.

Mrs. Victoria Mix, in filing the suit yesterday, said Mix left November 26 and by way of emphasizing his statement that he would not come back, twirled a loaded gun on his trigger finger in wild west fashion. She was greatly frightened, she said.

Ben Lindsey and Bishop Manning Go to Court Today

New York, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Ben B. Lindsey and Bishop William T. Manning have an engagement in court this afternoon.

Lindsey appears as defendant on a charge of disorderly conduct, growing out of his interruption of the prelate during prayer in the Episcopal Cathedral of St. John the Divine last Sunday.

The Bishop comes as a subpoenaed witness for the defense as a result of his denunciation of Lindsey's views and Lindsey's eviction from the cathedral.

Lindsey will be tried under sections of the state penal code which classify the disturbing of a religious service as a misdemeanor and make it punishable by a fine of not more than $50 or six months in jail or both.

Bishop Manning has been requested to bring a marked copy of Lindsey's book on marriage and a letter and telegram which Lindsey sent him before the sermon. The author set forth his stand on marriage and asked for a fair presentation from the pulpit.

Social and Personal

Mrs. Norman Winslow is visiting relatives in Columbia, S. C. Mrs. John R. Carroll, of Winterville, spent today with her sister, Mrs. A. E. Hobgood.

Mrs. J. B. James of Bell Arthur, is visiting her son, J. A. Joyner and family, on Dickinson avenue.

Enjoy Oyster Roast.

Members of the Baraca class of Immanuel Baptist church were entertained at an oyster roast at Crisp's barbecue stand on Tenth street Tuesday night. The affair was most enjoyable and a majority of the members of the class attended.

Winterville P. T. A. Meets.

The Winterville P. T. A. held its regular December meeting on Tuesday evening December 9 at the 11 building, the president presented reports of committees and business of the evening was finished, a most interesting and helpful program was rendered, closed with several Christmas carols.

H. TAFT INJURED WHEN RUN DOWN BY CAR AT THE CAPITAL CITY

Mr. A. H. Taft returned to his home in Greenville this afternoon on Raleigh, where he has been confined in a hospital since Wednesday as result of injuries which he received when knocked down by an automobile. His injuries were not considered serious, although quite painful.

SHAMROCK DINING ROOM TO GIVE TO POOR FUND

The Shamrock Dining Room has offered 10c on every 50c dinner sold Sunday to the support of the poor. Come and help the cause. A good dinner awaits you.

Meeting of Garden Club.

On Tuesday afternoon an interesting meeting of the Garden Club was held at the Woman's Club. Mrs. Adelaide Bloxton of the college faculty, gave a very enlightening talk on the values of food, and the great importance in the diet of infants and growing children, but in the treatment of disease.

Following this talk, Dr. Carr told us of the different kinds of trees and vines that could be brought from the woods and transplanted in our gardens, and how the transplanting should be done. Also where the different varieties may be found.

Members of the Garden Club are planning a trip to the woods in the spring, in search of small cedars, long leaf pine, dogwood, myrtle, crab-apple, and gall-berry to put on their home premises.

For Christmas, we hope as many people as can, will plant living Christmas trees. Orders for such trees will be taken at reasonable prices in the curb market by the following ladies: Mrs. Carl Langley, Mrs. Leon Hardee, Mrs. J. R. Mills, Mrs. J. R. Worthington for Mrs. David Smith.

Spanish War Veterans Meet.

The Spanish War Veterans of Capt. J. T. Smith Camp No. 17, N. C., met in the court house December 9 for their first anniversary of this organization. After the usual routine of business they proceeded on election of officers for the ensuing year. The following were elected: Camrades Watt Parker, commander; D. C. Dudley and J. D. White, vice-commanders; Wm. Size, chaplain; P. T. Atkinson, adjutant.

A Correction in Club Paper.

In the account of the Junior Woman's Club carried in yesterday's Reflector, we stated that Mrs. J. H. Rose read a paper on "The Origin of Christmas Customs." The paragraph stating, "The origin of Christmas" should have been "the origin of the Christmas tree" was attributed to Martin Luther."

Mr. Forbes and Mrs. Fortense Moya were called to Richmond yesterday.

Surprise Birthday Dinner

On last evening Mrs. A. W. Fleischmann delightfully entertained at a surprise birthday dinner party celebrating the birthday of her husband, Rev. A. W. Fleischmann, pastor of Memorial Baptist church, and having as guests the members of the board of deacons of the church.

Rev. Mr. Fleischmann was out of the city yesterday and as soon as he returned late in the afternoon one of the deacons called for him to carry him in the country in order that he might not become aware of the preparations going on inside the home. When he and the deacon returned to the house at seven o'clock, to Mr. Fleischmann's surprise the guests were present and dinner was announced.

The decorations in the dining room carried out suggestions of the Christmas season and the table centerpiece was a crystal tree. Dinner was served in three courses after which the guests enjoyed an informal evening with their pastor wishing him many happy returns of the day.

REPRESENTATIVES OF 'LIBRARY COMMISSION HERE

Representatives of the North Carolina Library Commission, Miss Frieda Heller, organizer, and Miss Mossa Eaton, came to Greenville yesterday to work with the staff of Sheppard Memorial Library for a few days. Yesterday afternoon Miss Eaton instructed a class in mending and repairing worn books. This is a very worthwhile part of library work and the benefit will be widespread. In the class, in addition to the staff of the local library, were representatives from school libraries in the county and city. Miss Eva Keeter and Mrs. Luther Herring, Greenville city schools; Miss Adelaide Turnage, Bethel school; Miss Blanche Clark and Miss Esther Hardee, Belpor school; Miss Bessie Thompson and Miss Myrtle Melton, Arthur school; Miss Emma Baldwin and Miss Mary R. Pittman, Chicod school; Miss Bertha Hart and Miss Dorothy Bridgers, Winterville school; Miss Mary Butler, Grimesland school; Miss Mabel C. Case, Grifton school; Miss Mary Broadhurst, Fountain school; Miss Vivian Smith and Miss Edna Melton, Galloway school; Miss Ida Seidel, supervisor of the Pitt county schools.

CHOIR OF CHRISTIAN CHURCH TO RENDER SPECIAL MUSIC ON NEXT SUNDAY EVENING

Special Christmas music will be given by the choir of the Christian church Sunday evening, as follows:

Organ Prelude, Mrs. Hearne, Hymn, 87, Invocation.

Chorus—"There Were Shepherds." "And Suddenly There Was With the Angel." Glory to God in the Highest.

Solo, "Birthday of a King." Miss Bessie Brown.

A short talk by pastor.

Carol, "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear"; "Silent Night."

Quartet, "Christmas Lullaby." Misses Fullilove, Miss Brown, Mrs. Settle.

Offertory.

Solo, O Holy Night, Mrs. Knot Proctor.

Anthem, "Brightest and Best." Benediction.

VIOLIN ENSEMBLE TO PLAY AT IMMANUEL BAPTIST CHURCH HERE SUNDAY

On Sunday morning, the violin ensemble from the college, under the direction of Miss Correll, will play at Immanuel Baptist church during closing period of Sunday school. Their selections for this are familiar hymns. As a prelude to the church service, they will play "Austrian Hymn," and for offertory, "Song Without Words, by Mendelssohn."

At the evening service Mrs. Ola Tucker will sing a solo.

On Sunday evening December 21, the choir of the church will give the Christmas cantata, "The Everlasting Light."

AVIATOR-EXPLORER AT COLLEGE THIS EVENING

Sir Hubert Wilkins, the great aviator-explorer, this evening at 8:30 o'clock in the college building of East Carolina Teachers College, will tell the story of his experiences in "Flying Both Ends of the Earth."

His coming has long been looked forward to as one of the most interesting events in the college year. Teachers and students have been reviewing and recalling the many interesting events in his life. A bulletin board is filled with press notices about him. Old magazines have been pulled out and articles re-read.

The admission for this evening has been put at a very low price, that for children, which means boys and girls of the high school age, is placed at half price.

Short stories of his achievement and life have appeared from day to day for some time in the paper, so those who have followed these are prepared to enjoy this evening and appreciate the explorer's story.

CHRISTMAS PAGEANT AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

A Christmas dedication service will be conducted at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening, December 14. The service will be in the nature of a pageant. A chorus consisting of twelve singers, assisted by Mrs. Charles A. White as soloist, and two readers, Miss Lucile Charlton and Mr. Frank Brown, will take part. The music is under the direction of Miss McIntyre of the music department of East Carolina Teachers College.

The first part of the service will consist of Scripture reading, prayer, appeal by Rev. W. S. Harden for dedication of life, service, and possessions to Christ. An offering will also be taken for the homes and children under the care of ministerial relief. The remainder of the service will be confined exclusively to the presentation of the pageant, entitled "Sing, O Heavens" which is an expression of thanks and praise unto God for His Unspeaking Gift.

In rendering the pageant, the climax comes at the end, when the various church groups, consisting of representatives of the session, the diaconate, the officers and departments of the Sunday school, the Auxiliary and the young people come forward for the final part of the service, kneeling in dedication before the congregation, and at which time the pastor pronounces the benediction.

GERMAN CLUB TO GIVE BANQUET FUND TO POOR; DANCE SET FOR DEC. 19

Members of the German club have voted to donate to charity the money formerly planned to be spent for the banquet for club members. The dance will be held at the Country club December 19th, from 9:30 until 2 o'clock.

Christmas decorations will be used in profusion throughout the club house and refreshments will be served at intermission in the club room.

Although this affair is not to be carried out as elaborately as originally planned, it is expected to be one of the most delightful festivities of the holiday season.

SOCIAL MEETING OF HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The Home Demonstration Club of Winterville held its annual social meeting on Wednesday night, Dec. 10 in the home of Mrs. O. H. Jackson, beginning at 6:30 o'clock.

Clever invitations were sent to the members requesting each to bring her husband, sweetheart or a friend.

The guests were entertained in the living room and dining room which were tastefully decorated with Christmas wreaths and holy. General conversations were being enjoyed when Misses Nannie Loy Tucker and Sarah Brown Braxton and Mrs. J. O. Edwards opened a series of contests which were heartily engaged in by every one. The winners in these contests were Mrs. V. T. Corey, Mrs. B. T. Cox and Mr. Ed. Smith.

Delicious hot cocoa and sandwiches were served by Mrs. B. T. Cox, Mrs. L. A. Manning and Mrs. J. L. Rollins, and each guest said good night, assuring the hostess they had spent a most pleasant evening.

This social meeting created quite a bit of enthusiasm for home demonstration work in our midst for the coming year.

U. D. C.

Farmville, Dec. 11.—The Rebecca Winbourne chapter U. D. C. held its monthly meeting this week at the home of Mrs. Madeline Rountrier, with the president, Mrs. J. W. Parker presiding. A report of the Flag Day sale was gratifying and proceeds being used for donations to the Old Ladies' Home at Fayetteville and the Soldiers' Home in Raleigh, Thanksgiving. Gifts from this chapter will also be sent at Christmas.

Communications regarding activities in the state and district were read from head officials, and the following program was delightfully presented: a paper, "The Jefferson Davis Highway," was read by Mrs. R. H. Knott, and a number of Christmas stories were told by Miss Annie Perkins. The attendance prize for the year, offered by Mrs. G. M. Holden, was presented to Mrs. R. H. Knott. Cheese biscuit, olive and sandwiches were served by the hostess.

"RAIN OR SHINE" WELL KNOWN RECORD BREAKER PRODUCED WITH JOE COOK

"Rain or Shine," which for two seasons broke all records for attendance on Broadway, has been made into a film by Columbia Pictures and it is scheduled to play at the New Theatre Monday and Tuesday. Joe Cook who starred in the stage version, plays his original role on the screen. On the stage he scored one of the greatest personal successes it is possible for an actor to achieve.

"Rain or Shine" was written by James Gleason, author of "Is Zat So," "The Sharnons of Broadway" and other popular stage and screen hits. The dialogue of this film of circus life follows most closely the stage version.

Frank Capra the directorial genius who made "Flight," "Submarine" and "Ladies of Leisure," handled the production.

The cast is of stellar proportions, including such personalities as Louis Fazenda, Joan Peers, William Collier, Jr., Alan Roscoe, Adolph Milar and Clarence Muse.

Progressive Bridge Club.

Farmville, Dec. 11.—Mrs. G. A. Jones was hostess to her bridge club on Wednesday afternoon. A long period spent in piling up scores for the tournament series now in progress, was followed by a delightful social hour when delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. C. F. Dixon and Mrs. J. L. Shackelford were special guests.

MISS MAUDE JOHNSTON, BRIDE-ELECT, HONORED

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church entertained at a miscellaneous shower complimentary to Maude Johnston, Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. C. Deal.

The guests were met at the door by Mrs. R. C. Deal, Mrs. W. S. Harden and Mrs. Chas. Horne, who presented them to the bride-elect.

Progressive hearts were played during the afternoon and each guest was requested to write a short article on "How to Manage a Husband." These were presented to Miss Johnston. She was also presented with a bride's book in which every guest had written her name.

Misses Agnes and Carolyn Fullilove accompanied by Miss Eva Hodges sang several lovely duets appropriate to the occasion.

Miss Mary Agnes Deal surprised the guest of honor by bringing in a huge box wrapped in Christmas paper and presented it to her in the name of the Auxiliary. This box contained a beautiful assortment of useful and lovely gifts, which are dear to the heart of every bride-elect.

WHEN CHILDREN CRY

CHILDREN often cry for no apparent reason. Many times we can't guess what is wrong. The crying may mean a touch of colic; the little bowels may be sluggish—or some other upset. It may mean any of the common little ailments that children suffer. To bring quick comfort to your little one, give a few drops of Castoria. Most upsets of children are soon soothed away by this pleasant-tasting remedy that children all love.

In five million modern homes, Castoria is a mother's first thought when a child is out of sorts, feverish, cross, doesn't eat right or sleep right. When bad breath, coated tongue, or languor tells of constipation. These five million wise mothers know that children should never be given stronger medicines meant for the fully developed systems of grown-ups. Castoria is gentle—safe, yet always thorough and effective for a child of any age. It may be given to the tiniest infant for any little upset. When buying, look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher on wrapper.

LEE S. OVERMAN.

News of the death of Senator Lee S. Overman brings sadness to the people of his state as well as to those men from all over the country who have been associated with him during his years in the United States Senate. It is needless here for us to attempt to review his record or even praise it. His life has been one of service to his state and nation and his fine character is worthy of emulation by his successors and the future generations of our state.

HELP MAKE IT A HAPPY CHRISTMAS.

With just two weeks remaining before Christmas the last minute rush of preparation for the celebration of that holiday will be on and it is to be hoped that our people will not overlook the joy that will come to them through making possible a happy Christmas for those in our community who will have no Christmas unless it comes from someone else. The Salvation Army is asking for funds to carry Christmas cheer to our unfortunate people. Similar appeals are coming from the Merchants Association and the County Welfare Department. If you possibly can give to one or all of these funds or if you prefer, look about you for some family that is in need and then see to it that their needs as far as you are able are supplied. Such action on your part will make it a happier Christmas for you and surely your aid will prove a great blessing for those you help. This matter is too important to be overlooked. Attend to it now.

ABOUT TOWN

Some of the boys who have been walking the streets without jobs are going to find employment during the holiday season if the Merchants Association has its way about it.

The secretary of the organization announced yesterday that they would open up employment headquarters at their offices on Evans street and attempt to provide jobs for as many as possible.

The public-men and women who have work to be done—have been requested to co-operate with the many workers are needed. All classes of labor will be furnished through this medium, and it is hoped to do much toward carrying relief to the jobless men and women so that they may be able to provide themselves with some of the joys of Yuletide.

If all the organizations trying to raise money for the poor in this state meet with success this ought to be one of the brightest Christmases in years for the indigent population of the state. Practically every club of any importance is waging a campaign for the relief of the poor, and it is to be supposed that hundreds, nay thousands of dollars, will be raised between now and the holiday season.

This is one of the most commendable things to be attempted at this season of the year, and it is an assured fact that the people who have been signally blessed throughout the year will respond magnanimously to the pleas for aid.

Each case to receive support, however, should be fully investigated by the charity workers so there will be no duplication of effort or discouragement for the hundreds of human parasites to be found in every progressive commonwealth.

A Christmas fund is being raised by the Merchants Association of Greenville, but every case has been investigated and those receiving aid will be required to furnish substantial proof that they have no means of support.

Blinking their messages of joy and happiness to the hundreds of people who visit the business district at night, the red and green electric lights are doing much to brighten up the main streets of the city for the holiday season.

The lights have increased considerably during the last week, and at this time they may be seen on the fronts of the majority of stores along Evans street and suspended across street corners.

While the Merchants Association has made no announcement concerning the kind of decorations to be used at Five Points it is to be hoped a large Christmas tree will be erected and decorated with hundreds of tiny lights. This same type of decoration has been used for the last two years, and it proved a source of delight to the thousands of children and grown-ups city during the holiday season.

Few decorations have appeared in the home up to the present time, but it is expected that they will begin to show up next week and reach their peak the following week. The lights and trees have a tendency toward adding life and color to the Christmas season and everybody will hope to see them in greater profusion this year than ever before.

With counters literally groaning under the weight of Christmas goods, Greenville merchants continued today to impress upon the public the importance of "shopping early." Not that they haven't enough goods to go around, but simply that trade may be so speeded up that the usual rush during Christmas will not be as terrific as usual.

People who realize the importance of shopping early should not need the admonition heralded from one end of the land to the other weeks before the arrival of Santa Clause. They should know by this time that the early bird "catches the worm" in this case as all others, and ought to use this knowledge for their benefit.

Greenville merchants enjoy the reputation of being the "principal shopping center" in this part of the country and they live up to the claim as much during the holidays as any other time. Visit the city, Mr. and Mrs. Shopper and pick your wants from the thousands of bargains which have been assembled for your inspection.

Have you bought those Tuberculosis Christmas seals?
If not why not see some member of the Woman's Club and do so at once.

Money invested in this manner will go to the establishment of a bed for indigent children at Pitt Community Hospital.

This is a movement that concerns every person in the county interested in the welfare of humanity, and it is to be hoped every sea will be held before the holidays come to a close.

See that all packages and letters contain one or more of the seals, and in that way let the recipient know that you are doing your part to stamp out the dread disease in your community.

Literary Club.

Farmville, Dec. 11.—With Mrs. J. H. Harris as hostess, the members of the Farmville Literary Club enjoyed a delightful meeting on Wednesday afternoon. The home on Wilson street was bright with decorations of holly sprays.

Miss Tabitha DeVisconti, treasurer of the tuberculosis fund, made a report, and told of her recent visit to the Farm Colony near Kingston on Book and Shrub day, and Miss Annie Perkins appointed committees for the Christmas Tuberculosis Seal sale.

Mrs. J. W. Parker read extracts from the council speech of the Federation president, Mrs. Land, and Miss DeVisconti read an article from the News and Observer, "No Depression Among Clubwomen." The program on "Folklore" consisted of a paper and stories illustrative of the subject, "Once Upon a Time in Ireland, England and America," by Miss Perkins.

Delectable refreshments carried the Christmas colors, and a Santa Claus cleverly contrived from an apple and a marshmallow was placed on each plate as a favor. Additional guests of the hostess included Mesdames C. R. Townsend, W. J. Rasberry, Loyd Smith, W. D. Bryan and Misses Fanny Gary and Susie Copeland.

Newton, N. C. —(AP)—Taking with her her black dog, Gene Tunney, Elizabeth Stellmore Clire, 15, has disappeared from her home in Maiden.

SAYS HELP FOR POOR GREATLY NEEDED HERE

J. J. White Urges Support of the Salvation Army Campaign On Next Monday

In discussing the Salvation Army drive which starts Monday December 15, Chairman J. J. White stated that he could not imagine a time when help to the poor of our community is more needed. He stated that no community or individual is immune from disaster and regardless of the degree of prosperity a community may enjoy, need is always apparent.

Mr. White brought out the fact that to a city unorganized to solve the problems of relief, the task often looms above its real proportion. He meant by this that in the event of a cyclone, fire or any great calamity where trained workers were needed immediately, that the record shows that the Salvation Army organization was often the first relief organization on the ground. Mr. White said this was due to the fact that the Salvation Army was military in character, therefore their officers received orders from headquarters to report to the stricken community without delay. Being soldiers of the Lord and the people their orders were taken without question and executed.

Mr. White stated that illness and lack of employment contribute to poverty and in most cases, distressed ones are not responsible for their predicament. He said that we all know that hunger and illness and lack of adequate shelter will often drive a person to seek his needs dishonestly when circumstances deny him the necessities of life.

Mr. White was prevailed on by the Advisory Board, composed of the following: W. L. Best, Wiley Brown, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Ballard, K. W. Cobb, Rev. W. S. Harden, F. C. Harding, and Mrs. Edd Harvey, J. C. Lanier, J. H. Rose, C. B. Rowlett, Dr. A. M. Schultz, A. C. Tadlock, J. H. Waldrop, Miss Lill Wilson and J. E. Winslow to act as their chairman during the campaign drive for $3,500. At a meeting of the Advisory Board December 1, the budget was discussed by the officers of the Salvation Army and Advisory Board members. The budget was presented for $3,700, but after a careful check by the members of the Board and Army officers, it was agreed that $3,500 is the minimum on which the Army can function efficiently and give relief to the distressed ones in our community.

Mr. White stated that the Army officers were the liaison officers between the more fortunate ones in the community and the less fortunate ones. The Army officers merely pass on the money and supplies given to them for the relief of the distressed. The Army officers receive just a bare existence. They do not ask more because they are in this work to look after God's creatures instead of for the purpose of accumulating for themselves.

Mr. White said that the following quotation very aptly fit the cause and need: "The poor shall never cease out of the land; therefore I command thee, saying, 'Thou shalt open thine hand wide unto thy brother, to thy poor and to thy ready in thy land.'" Deuteronomy 15:11.

Merry Matrons Meet.

Farmville, Dec. 11.—The members of the Merry Matrons were guests of Mrs. J. O. Pollard on Tuesday afternoon at her home, on Pine street. Interesting papers relating to "North Carolina History" were presented by Mrs. J. I. Morgan on "The Stamp Act on the Cape Fear River," and by Mrs. J. W. Parker on "The Last of the Royal Governors." A congealed salad course was served by the hostess during a pleasant social hour.

Mrs. M. L. Turnage to Contribute 10c of Every 50c Dinner Next Sunday

Although contributions to the Merchants Association Christmas fund for the poor continued to trickle in slowly today, members of the campaign committee were greatly encouraged by the announcement by Mrs. M. L. Turnage, operator of the Shamrock Dining Room, that she would contribute 10c of each 50c spent for dinner at her dining room next Sunday.

Mrs. Turnage said she desired to do everything possible to help carry relief to the poor people of the community during the holiday season and had adopted this plan as a means of realizing the ambition.

Only one other contribution has been reported since yesterday. That came from Frank Parks, Jr. who gave $1. This brought the total contribution, including cash and clothing, to $36.

The fund is also expected to be swelled considerably by the contribution from the New Theatre, whose manager, "Red" Corbett, several days ago signified his intention to give 10 percent of this week's theatre receipts to the cause.

Realizing that the condition among the poor is not as severe in Greenville this year as last year, the campaign committee has adopted an entirely new plan for distribution of the fund this season.

Every person applying for aid must furnish substantial proof that he is in actual need and unable to provide for his family. This will eliminate the giving to parasites who in past years have taken advantage of the charity movement. Contributions to the fund this season have moved far more slowly than any other time since the movement was inaugurated several years ago, but it was expected gifts would increase rapidly next week and enable the merchants to supply the needs of every person applying for aid.

CITY POLICE FACE INQUIRY AT RYMOUNT

Investigation to Follow Series of Thefts From a Member of the Force

Rocky Mount, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Plans for an investigation of the city police were made by Rocky Mount officials today following charges of a series of thefts against Claude S. Henry, for 11 years a member of the force.

Mayor Van S. Watson said an inquiry would be made into the activities of the police force for the last two years.

Henry was formally charged with breaking an entering in a warrant signed by O. P. Hedgepeth, chief of police.

Private detectives Tuesday night arrested Henry in a drug store from which there had been continued thefts.

The detectives, employed by the owners of the store, said Henry put a key into the door, opened it and entered. They were hiding in the store.

Henry asserted he found the door unlocked and entered it to telephone the owners.

Before Henry's arrest the owners of the store had determined the door by stretching a fine thread across the doorway after locking it at night. After one of the thefts the string was found broken.

Henry was released on bond of $500.

Farmville, Dec. 11.—The American Legion Auxiliary held its regular monthly meeting this week in the Legion Home, the meeting being well attended and enthusiastic. Plans were laid for sending gifts to Oteen veterans at Christmas, and for filling stockings for children of the community, who might be neglected by Santa Claus. Refreshments were served after the business session.

Eastern Star
Farmville, Dec. 11.—The local order of the Eastern Star met in the Masonic Hall on Monday evening with the Worthy Matron, Mrs. A. C. Hodges, in the East. The Home committee was instructed to send a Christmas package to the Masonic and Eastern Star Home at Greensboro in a business session which preceded the program. Short talks on the symbolism and history of the O. E. S. were made by Mrs. J. W. Parker and R. A. Joyner.

MURRAY DECLARED MOST VALUABLE MAN AT DUKE UNIVERSITY

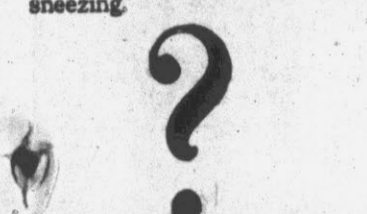

Durham, Dec. 12.—(AP)—"Smiling Bill" Murray was labelled today "the most valuable player" on the 1930 Duke football team.

The honor went to Murray, half-back on the Devil crew, by a majority of the votes of sports editors of the state. With it went a handsome silver trophy donated by the Duke University store.

Merry Christmas

It's going to be hard to be merry, even on Christmas, if you have to wear overcoats to the dinner table and the whole family's sniffing and sneezing.

But why be cold? Why sniffle or sneeze? All so unnecessary when a Heatrola will keep the whole house—upstairs and down—bountifully supplied with moist, circulating warm air—the most healthful kind of heat, as any doctor will tell you.

Especially now, when you can buy a genuine Heatrola—made by Estate—the original cabinet heater, with the Intensi-Fire Air Duct and other exclusive heat-making, fuel-saving features, on these extraordinary terms:

Pay only a small amount down—then NO MORE UNTIL SEPTEMBER, 1931, when monthly payments may be started on our budget plan. And $10.00 allowed for your old stove ($5.00 on the Junior or Wood Heatrola).

MINORS HOPE TO COMPETE WITH MAJORS

By HERBERT W. BARKER Associated Press Sports Writer New York, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Definitely alienated from the majors, the three big minor leagues, American Association, International and Pacific Coast circuits, hoped today to build their organizations to the point where they can challenge the baseball supremacy of the National and American leagues.

Charles H. Strub, president of the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast league, thinks the minors in three or four years, can so develop their circuits as to compete on equal terms with the two major leagues.

The program that the minors must follow to achieve this is four-fold as Strub sees it. First, the minors must have one sort of court or final arbitration such as is represented now in the person of Kenesaw M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball.

Secondly, the big minors must see that in order to protect their own investments, they must offer financial and material assistance to leagues of smaller classifications.

Fourth, the minors, particularly the class AA circuits must build themselves up in the next three or four years to the point where they can offer themselves to the public as new major league circuits.

Strub pointed out that the three class AA organizations have a far wider distribution than the majors, covering as they do the country from the east coast to the west. He believes that the big minors by keeping their stars instead of selling them to the majors, can develop within a few years to leagues of major classification, in fact if not in name.

He added that it was his belief that the majors, with their stars growing older and no longer replaced by youngsters who used to come in steadily from the class AA minors will have dropped so in standard of play that they will not be able to compete with the class AA teams who will, in the meantime, have hung onto their stars and developed them.

Most cities represented in the three big minors, he went on, are plenty large enough to support major league baseball. He hopes eventually to secure world's series recognition for the three class AA organizations, believing the public will come to demand it.

The majors, on the other hand, perhaps will see to it that certain class A leagues are strengthened to AA standards and then select these circuits for developing their players. The majors still will be able to draft players from the smaller minors just as they have in the past but the fact remains that most major league ball players have had to have the benefit of class AA competition before they were ready for the majors.

A wide open split between the two groups came over the question of optioning out players for seasoning and the price to be paid for athletes selected in the draft. The majors wanted to be able to draft players who had had four years' experience in the minors anywhere. The class AA minors insisted they be allowed to hold a player three years regardless of what previous minor league experience he had had. As for the draft price, the majors offered $7,500 where $1,500 had been offered at the recent Cleveland conference.

The big minors declined to accept any sum less than $10,000. When the conference reached an impasse, the big minors suggested that the whole matter be referred to Commissioner Landis for arbitration and decision but the major league representatives turned down this offer.

WADE HOLDS BIG POSITION IN FOOTBALL

Tuscaloosa, Ala., Dec. 12.—(AP)—A former Brown University guard, who took his post graduate gridiron work under Dan McGugin at Vanderbilt, has become a dominating figure in southern football during the past decade.

Other coaches have reached the heights once, or twice, but none has crowded the championship picture as has Wallace Wade and his Crimson Juggernauts from the University of Alabama.

Ten years ago, Wade, who despite his small stature had starred on the eastern eleven, attracted the attention of McGugin, the sage of Dixie mentors, by directing the Fitzgerald-Clark prep team of Tallahoa to a Tennessee scholastic championship.

The next year found Wade at Vanderbilt as line coach. For two seasons he worked alongside the veteran McGugin. During this time the Commodores did not lose a game.

In 1923 Wade's opportunity came. Alabama, called the thin red line, had been floundering around in the conference scramble like a rudderless ship.

The next eight years are well-known history. Few coaches have ever turned in such a remarkable record in their first major coaching assignment. Wade's eleven won or shared four Southern Conference championships during the period, scored 1,844 points against 346 for the enemy and posted an eight-season percentage of .822.

The thin red line became an almost forgotten myth and in its place charged the Crimson Tide as powerful a gridiron machine as the South has ever seen. The Tide, always fast, heavy and alert, won 60 games, tied 13 and lost only three.

A defeat by Florida in the closing game of 1923 kept Wade from a championship in his first year at 'Bama. The next season his team lost to Centre, but won the conference championship in 1925 and 1926 the Tide swept ahead to victory and earned two invitations to the Pasadena Rose Bowl classic.

The first year Wade hurled a Southern thunderbolt against the University of Washington and won 20-19 and the following season tied Stanford 7-7.

For three years Alabama settled back to a position well down in the conference standings, but in 1930 a mighty machine fulfilled Wade's brightest hopes. It won nine successive games, scored 247 points and limited the opposition to 13. It received another bid to the New Year's Day feature contest and now Wade is busy adding the final trimmings to his last team at Alabama. After the Washington State game January 1 Wade terminates his connections with Alabama and becomes head coach at Duke University.

STRIBLING TO FIGHT GRIFFITHS TONIGHT Chicago, Dec. 12.—(AP)—W. L. "Young" Stribling of Macon, Ga., will risk his preeminence as challenger for the world heavyweight championship against the ambitious charge of Tuffy Griffiths, Sioux City, Ia., youth, in the Chicago Stadium tonight before $100,000 worth of trade.

If the wagering—which is largely of the "shallow" variety—is an indication of the probable outcome, Stribling's record will contain another victory. He was a prohibitive 2 to 1 favorite today, and there was lots of Griffiths' conversation, but little Griffiths' money.

ARMY-NAVY WILL BATTLE FOR CHARITY

New York, Dec. 12.—(AP)—The Army-Navy football game Saturday is going to be a sellout if there is any means within the powers of the various people who are handling ticket sales in New York to make it one.

With a few thousand good seats still to be sold, one of the biggest selling stunts ever to be tried is scheduled to take place with a grand windup when the Navy team, arriving here tonight, joins the ballyhoo parade.

A parade up Broadway, in which a 90-piece Navy band and detachments from various army and navy units around New York will take part, is scheduled to start the program. The parade will end at 46th street and Broadway where a concert by the band is scheduled to stimulate sales made from the 45 army trucks in which will be in the line. The Navy team is due to arrive in the midst of the demonstration and to take a brief part in it.

Whether or not the game is a complete sellout, the prospects are that it will be highly successful as a means of raising money for the benefit of the unemployed. And as a great football spectacle the outlook is even better. Reports is to be expected rather than a wait and that it may result in a duel in which each team tries to outscore its rival.

New York, Dec. 12.—(AP)—The men from Annapolis, calm and confident, were here today for battle with the Army tomorrow on the Yankee Stadium's battle torn gridiron.

There's an air of careless ease about the 43 powerful Midshipmen who form the squad that will tackle the Cadets for the sake of charity in the first game the service schools of Uncle Sam have played since the break in relations in 1927. They look and act just like Army did before heading west to shock Notre Dame and all but tie the greatest eleven of the year. They are the underdogs and they feel they have everything to win and nothing to lose. They have a hunch they're going to surprise everybody, the Army most of all.

Up from the caverns under the Penn station they filed last night, trim and big in their blue uniforms, and into one of the most spontaneous receptions any football squad ever received here. The life and drum corps from the U. S. S. Pensacola and the band from the Brooklyn navy yard greeted them with roaring "Anchors Aweigh" until the echoes rolled up and down the station and the big tri-motored airplane on exhibition on the main floor almost took off in the wind. Crowds rushed down from the street to join the relatives and navy men that formed the nucleus of the gathering, and the negro porters, the red caps and the innocent bystanders alike all went wildly and noisily under the spur of the blaring brasses.

The crowd shouted for Bill In-

COACHES HOWL ABOUT FUTURE GRID OUTLOOK

Chapel Hill, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Coaches have started their annual lament about poor prospects for next year, with this year's headlines in the Southern Conference leading the parade.

Among those at the meeting of southern coaches who view, with alarm the future in Bierman, of Tulane, who tells his questioners he is losing one entire side of his line and center, together with a couple of good backs.

He was none too optimistic last year when he lost seven backs, but his team is this year's co-champion.

Frank Thomas, who goes from Georgia to take Wallace Wade's place, declares he "will have an armful" next year.

He made a speech on spring practice at last night's meeting of coaches in Durham, urging that spring practice be continued.

"Gloomy" Monk Younger, of Davidson, whose team upset the University of North Carolina this year, is gloomier than ever. Losing lots of good men and have no freshmen coming up, he says.

Tulane will have more Southern Conference games next year than this season, Coach Bierman says. The schedule has not been completed, however, and he refuses to make public the incomplete list.

Washington and Lee is expected to start movement asking that spring practice be abolished.

Coach Bill Raiferty, of Virginia Military Institute says it won't make any difference to him, since he has only a half hour anyway.

Battalino Promises To Give Chocolate Kid Tough Going

New York, Dec. 12.—(AP)—The conviction seems to be growing on New York's fight faithful that Bat Battalino is a real featherweight champion or near enough to it to fight an even battle with Kid Chocolate if their 15-round title bout which heads the Christmas fund program at Madison Square Garden tonight.

The New Yorkers who first installed the Cuban Kid as an overwhelming favorite over the almost unknown title holder have changed their minds now so that Chocolate is favored only at a rate of 7 to 5, and the prospects are that they will be held at events before the going. Still they are a long way

COTTON MARKET

New York, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 2 to 5 points on covering, trade buying, and a scattering commission house demand which was influenced by steadiness in Liverpool and talk of a firmer technical position following recent declines.

There was further hedging by the South and some additional liquidation but it was quite readily absorbed during the early trading with new December selling up to 9.90 and May to 10.49 by the end of the first half hour, or about 4 to 7 points net higher. Reports of a steadier tone in the stock market were contributing factor on the advance.

Liverpool cables said that hedging had been light in that market and that prices advanced on covering and Continental buying but reported only a small cloth business for the home trade and export in Manchester. The New York Cotton Exchange service estimated consumption in this country for November at 421,000 bales compared with 444,000 in October and 542,000 in November a year ago.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Attention of traders today centered chiefly on corn, which displayed good rallying power on declines. Renewed strength of securities had considerable effect, but holders of corn whose confidence had been shaken were rather free sellers at times. Wheat made little response and ignored a drop at Winnipeg that took the July delivery down to a fresh low-price record for the season. Late declines in provisions were ascribed by houses with eastern connections.

Corn closed nervous 1-2 to 1 lower than yesterday; wheat irregular 1-8 off to 1-4 up; oats 1-4 to 3-4 down and provisions at 2 to 25 setback.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Dec. 12.—(AP)—The stock market saw-sawed uncertainly today, trying to find a trend between conflicting periods of strength in the industrials and utilities and heaviness in the oils and rails.

The list opened with considerable buoyance, as shorts, impressed with the equanimity with which the news of the closing of an uptown bank was received yesterday, hurried to cover. The institution, however, was unimportant to Wall Street. A technical rally of some proportions seemed to be developing but before midday some of the rails sagged, and dragged the list down. Another upturn, wider than the first, was followed by pronounced heaviness of the oils.

Standard of California dropped 2 points to new low ground, and Standard of N. J., General Asphalt, and Phillips were among issues selling off a point, or so to new low ground. Atchafalaya lost about 2 points, rallied, and sagged again. Union Pacific dropped 3, then recovered. U. S. Steel was one of the firmest issues in the list, selling up 2 points, and refusing to yield much of its gain. Cother issues selling up 2 or more included American Telephone, Westinghouse Electric, National Biscuit, Anaconda dropped 2 to the lowest in six year, the recovered partially. Call money renewed at 2 percent then rose to 2 1/2, the first time it has gone above 2 percent since September 16.

The Federal Reserve condition statements showed that the system was working to keep money easy, despite increased requirements. There was an increase of $41,000,000 in currency in circulation, $25,000,000 in Bankers' Acceptances, and $15,000,000 in government securities.

Under the Wilson administrations, Senator Overman was chairman of the important Senate rules committee, acting chairman of the judiciary committee, and ranking member of the appropriations committee. He also held many other important committee assignments, including chairmanship of the joint inaugural committee for President Wilson's first inauguration.

At the personal request of President Wilson, he headed a committee to investigate lobbying in the national capital and also was chairman of a committee to investigate alleged German and Bolshevik propaganda during the war period. He was active in securing enactment of important agricultural legislation in the Senate.

Spanish-made typewriters are exported to 100 different countries. China, Nevada's poultrymen have estimated, will export 250 tons of eggs ever month in 1931. Fresno, Cal. Japanese have presented the city with 50 to 100 Japanese cherry trees.

Among the important legislation he put through the Senate was the Overman act, a measure to greatly extend the powers of the President during a period of war. For this service, President Wilson wrote him a personal note of thanks as follows: "It is admirable the way you have been handling these important bills and I thank you with all my heart for standing by the bill which bears your name without any compromise of any kind. You are a splendid fighter."

In the 1914 North Carolina political campaign, President Wilson wrote a letter urging the voters to give Senator Overman "their highest kind" of endorsement in the approaching election. Later he thanked the North Carolina Senator for steering successfully through the Senate 13 important war measures in addition to the Overman bill.

SENATOR LEE S. OVERMAN PASSES AT CAPITAL AFTER A SHORT ILLNESS

Overman sprang into prominence as a local leader in 1882 when, as a prohibition candidate, he was elected to the General Assembly from Rowan county. The county had gone against prohibition the year before, but young Overman waged his prohibition fight with all the more vigor.

He was elected to the House, while his Democratic anti-prohibitionist was defeated for the Senate. He served five terms in the legislature and in 1893 became speaker of the House. During the five years, he introduced the university bill and the first good roads measure and made strong speeches in their behalf.

Following his defeat by Pritchard, Overman after a long, bitter fight was again nominated by the Democratic party in 1902. After three weeks of balloting, he won the nomination on the 51st ballot, over Locke Craig and Cyrus B. Watson. That year the legislature gave him 138 votes to 24 for Pritchard. He has served continuously in the Senate since that time.

Among the important legislation he put through the Senate was the Overman act, a measure to greatly extend the powers of the President during a period of war. For this service, President Wilson wrote him a personal note of thanks as follows:

"It is admirable the way you have been handling these important bills and I thank you with all my heart for standing by the bill which bears your name without any compromise of any kind. You are a splendid fighter."

In the 1914 North Carolina political campaign, President Wilson wrote a letter urging the voters to give Senator Overman "their highest kind" of endorsement in the approaching election. Later he thanked the North Carolina Senator for steering successfully through the Senate 13 important war measures in addition to the Overman bill.

SMART DESIGNS

HERE they are in our store—the smart new patterns in Seallex Linoleum, the very ones you've seen in all the magazines. Stunning effects to give the living room, dining room and hallway an atmosphere of luxurious elegance... patterns that are the last word in neat charm for bathrooms, kitchens and pantries... quaint, Old-World designs to help you carry out authentic decorative schemes. You'll want to see them all.

Seallex Linoleums are the modern-as-tomorrow floor-coverings. With them you have a colorfully decorative floor, or a subdued background; a practical floor that is stain-proof and spot-proof—one that can be kept immaculate with a minimum expenditure of money, time and energy.

Let us tell you about our modern laying methods—and how little it will cost you to have up-to-date floors of Seallex Linoleum.
