NEW WRANGLE HOLDS UP THE DROUGHT BILL

Senator Caraway As- sails Conferees for Not Permitting Him to Appear

Washington, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Another wrangle over government loans for purchases of food today, dekedlocked the $60,000,000 drought relief appropriation bill.

After Senator Jones had reported conferees were unable to agree on the Senate's $15,000,000 food amendment, Senator Caraway assailed the conferees committee for not permitting him to appear before it.

Mr. Jones sought a Senate vote to recede from the Caraway amendment, an action which would clear the way for final Congressional approval.

The House, meanwhile, again heard charges of a filibuster from Representative Tilson, the Republican leader, directed this time at Representative Parks, Democrat, Arkansas.

The latter has made frequent points of "no quorum" since he was refused permission to address the House for thirty minutes last Saturday. Roll calls to obtain a quorum occupy much time which might be devoted to legislation.

Parks gave assurance he would not persist, but asked Tilson: "Is this armistice just for today?"

Tilson's reply was that "every little helps."
Senator Walsh, of Montana, asked the foreign relations committee today to reconsider its action deferring the world court treaty until next December. No action was taken on his request.

A naval construction program to cost $74,000,000 was approved by the House naval committee. The bill calls for a 13,500-ton aircraft carrier, a flying stock cruiser with 15 planes, four submarines and 130 airplanes.

The committee declined to approve Secretary Adams' recommendation for a six-inch gun cruiser at a cost of $16,605,000.

An appropriation of $210,000 for control and prevention of the European corn borer was added to the agricultural supply bill by the Senate appropriations committee.

Other additions included $30,000 for tobacco market news service. Assailing the action of the conferees committee in disagreeing on his amendment, Senator Caraway said "there hasn't been a piece of legislation before this Congress that's been the subject of such hostile propaganda."

He said the recent statement of Chairman Payne, of the Red Cross, that the drought presented the "gravest emergency" in peace times in the nation's history and the biggest peace-time fund was needed to be raised proved Payne was not acquainted with the situation while ago when he said before the Senate appropriations committee that the organization could take care of it.

Pleading for the $15,000,000 "in the name of God and humanity," Caraway said "we have the money to keep American cities from starving."

"Children who are forming ragged food lines in the schools are as good as the grandchildren of President Hoover who had eight Christmas trees on Christmas Day," Caraway said.

The Arkansas Senator said "we might just as well let them starve" as giving starving people one dollar a month as the Red Cross is doing in Arkansas.

MRS. STANCILL LOSES OUT IN COURT CASE

Court Considers Case of Blount - Harvey Co. vs. R. L. Smith and W. J. Hardee

A jury in the civil term of Pitt County Superior court last night returned a verdict denying Mrs. Alice Stancill, of Greenville, wife of the late Hubert Stancill, the sum of $1,400 in her suit against Harvey Stancill, brother of the deceased.

The case, one of the most vigorously contested of this term of court, consumed practically all day yesterday and the jury did not return a verdict until last night about 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Stancill was suing for a sum of money involved in government insurance carried by her husband, contending that she had been designated as beneficiary sometime prior to his death.

Although a letter purported to have been written to the government concerning the change was introduced, representatives of the insurance department said they had not received such a letter, and consequently had paid the money to Harvey Stancill.

Another case that promises to be one of the most stubbornly fought of the present term was started yesterday afternoon. It was that of the Blount Harvey Company against R. L. Smith and W. J. Hardee and their receivers.

The suit is centered around notes and accounts estimated at approximately $12,300 which the plaintiffs claim the defendants owe them.

Blount Harvey Company, evidence tended to show, supplied tenants of two farms owned jointly by Hardee and Smith but Smith contends he had not authorized any such agreement and refused to agree to settlement. Hardee, on the other hand, acknowledged his responsibility for part of the debt.

Both of the defendants in the case were involved in bankruptcy proceedings sometime ago and their estates at this time are in the hands of receivers for settlement, hence the inclusion of the names of the receivers in the action.

Testimony was completed during the morning hours, and it was indicated that the case would go to the jury sometime this afternoon, probably shortly before dusk.

The hearing of these two cases brought a slight halt to the proceedings by the court in the opening session Monday, but in case no other long drawn out issues are considered after disposition of the debt case, court officials expected to be able to make rapid progress the remainder of the term.

Judge W. A. Devin, of Oxford, is conducting the court. It is his first visit here to hold court in five or six years, and he has been accorded a warm welcome by members of the bar and the citizenship generally.

The officers started a search for two unidentified men who ran from the room, they said, after the shooting.

THE TWELVE MONTHS

In January when the snow is on the ground.
We take our sleds and go down the hill with a bound.
In February 'tis Valentine day.
Then we take our Valentines and give them all away.
In March the wind comes and plays all along the dreary days.
April brings us lots of showers.
And we have many happy hours.
A very happy month is May.
All we want to do is skip and play.
In July comes Independence day.
We wave our flags along the way.
When August summer days arrive.
We go to the beach where we can dive.
In September we start to school.
We have to learn some very hard rules.
In October we will have some fun.
We will take our jack-o-lanterns and away we will run.
In November comes Thanksgiving day.
We can go to Grandmother's house to stay.
In December we will have a Christmas tree.
Mother will fix it for you and me.

It was very encouraging to have forty people present for the Church School of Missions last evening. There are many others who should be attending and we hope that a much larger attendance may be in evidence this evening. Where are the members of the Woman's Missionary Society? We only had 23 for the class last evening.

The theme for discussion this evening is "Kingdom Extension and Foreign Missions." The instructor is putting much more into his lectures than the theme might suggest. There will be information and in inspiring messages for you in any one of the lectures. There are only three more. We invite you and your friends to be present for these.

GOV. RITCHIE ASSAILS THE DRY MEASURE

Attacks Prohibition Upon Taking Oath of Office At Annapolis Today

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 14.—(AP)—Taking the oath as governor of Maryland for the fourth consecutive time, Albert C. Ritchie, the first ever to be re-elected to that office, today made an attack on national prohibition and federal centralization and called for a return to the virtues of a larger measure of self-help and localized government.

He declared that business must realize the problem of unemployment "is its own, and not the state's, and that 'government itself has helped create the present crisis.'"

Governor Ritchie often mentioned as a Democratic presidential possibility, made his address over a national radio hook-up in the House of Delegates after he had been sworn in the Senate chamber by Chief Judge Carroll T. Bond of the Court of Appeals.

Two Men Sought for the Beating of Aged Women

Winston-Salem, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Forsythe county was searched today for two white men, charged with beating and attempting to rob two aged women who had given them food.

The men appeared yesterday at the home of Misses Sallie and Laura Hanes near Clemmons and asked for something to eat.

Touched by the appeal of the men, the two aged women brought them food. Before they had finished eating, one of the men, the officers were told, drew a revolver and demanded of the two women what money they had in the house.

The women screamed. The men grabbed them, knocked them to the floor, and beat them on the head. The nose of one of the sisters was broken and several of her teeth were knocked out in the attack.

The aged women continued to scream, and their assailants, apparently frightened, ran from the house.

Neither of the sisters could identify the men or give clear description of them. One was said to have been well-dressed, and the other attired in shabby working clothes.

"We have been steadfast in this position when critics who now embrace it and acclaim it lacked either the courage or the conviction to declare it."

Henderson, Jan. 14.—(AP)—President C. C. Alexander, of Louisburg college, announced today a campaign to raise $12,000 to enable the century-old institution to complete the present collegiate year here being successful.

The college, owned by the North Carolina Methodist Conference has 100 students. President Alexander said he expected an enrollment of 200 next year, which would make the school self-supporting except for carrying a $14,000 debt which remains to be provided for.

DORTCH, PLEASED WITH PLACE IN LEGISLATURE

Raleigh, Jan. 14.—(AP)—One man who got what he wanted—all too rare these days of discontent—is State Senator Hugh Dortch, of Wayne.

During the world war Senator Dortch served as an enlisted man. Yesterday named the legislator chairman of the Senate committee on military affairs, which handles matters pertaining to the adjutant general's department.

Senator Dortch grins over that. "I've been waiting twelve long years," he declared, "to get in a position where I could talk rough to generals."

Abandon Hope for Safety of Missing N. Y.-Paris Fliers

Horta, Island of Fayal, Azores, Jan. 14.—(AP)—A British cruiser engaged in gunnery practice off Sao Miguel Island, Azores, Sunday night, unwittingly gave rise to a false hope of a clue to disappearance of the airplane Tradedwind on its flight from Hamilton, Bermuda, Saturday.

Portuguese admiralty officials ordered the destroyer Ibo to the scene but withdrew the order after learning the facts.

The cruiser sent up several rockets. One of these which disappeared into the ocean about 20 miles off Mosteiros Point, Sao Miguel, was mistaken by some for the Tradedwind falling into the sea, and a radio station there is said to have broadcast an appeal to ships to keep a lookout in the vicinity.

Meanwhile the steamer Uoalpa and others are continuing the search for the Tradedwind and its two occupants, Mrs. Beryl Hart and Lieut. William A. MacLaren, but with almost no hope of finding them.

The plane left Bermuda at noon Saturday for Horta, but has not been heard from since. It was enroute to Paris from New York and Norfolk, Va., with a "payload."

Carolina Boy is Strongest

"My little son suffered with his stomach and bowels until he was quite listless and weak," says Mrs. C. F. Hood, 48 Central Avenue, Asheville.

"Now it's a different story as you can see from his picture. He's strong and full of life. I gave him California Fig Syrup on the advice of my doctor. It increased his appetite, helped him wonderfully. Since then I have used California Fig Syrup myself with benefit as a laxative."

To show how California Fig Syrup acts to build-up and strengthen half-sick, headachy, constipated children through giving tone and strength to weak stomach and bowels, nothing could be more convincing than praise like this.

Your doctor will approve of this pure vegetable product—as often as an impure breath, coated tongue, listlessness, feverishness or lack of appetite warn of constipation—or to keep bowels from clogging during colds or children's diseases.

When buying, look for the word California on carton and bottle. That marks the genuine.

ABOUT TOWN

The reduction of four million dollars in the state budget is a pretty good slice for a beginning, and should be instrumental in easing up the economic situation for the next two years.

The budget was figured according to the reductions in salaries as suggested by Governor Gardner, and no doubt will be approved along that same principle.

It is up to the House and Senate to say what they are going to do with the question. They may cut or they may add to appropriations of some departments, but it is a certainty that little adding can be expected.

The departments evidently sensed the demand for economy which would be made upon the Legislature at this sitting, and trimmed their sails accordingly. If they can live within the bounds they have set for themselves, then conditions ought to be sufficiently improved at the expiration of the two year period to enable them to get back to normal.

Living at home will be stressed among the farmers of this county during the present year if sentiment of the mass meeting at the courthouse last night crystallizes sufficiently the next several weeks. Business men heard of the plan to grow more of the things consumed at home and in that way enable the farmers to live regardless of the prices for their main crops.

The plan is the same as that suggested by Gov. O. Max Gardner last year, and should receive more impetus in this county by reason of the fact that the first demonstration farm in this connection is located in Pitt County.

This farm was started by the state in an attempt to encourage the farmers to grow crops all year around instead of confining themselves to the cultivation of money crops certain seasons of the year.

There is no question that something of this kind is going to be necessary to bring about an improvement in conditions in this section of the state, and it seems the live at home plan holds forth more hope than any other thing suggested.

As long as the farmers are able to keep their smokehouses and barns well stocked with the things they consume at home, there should be no fear about the way cotton, corn and tobacco sell. The market may hit the bottom but the grower can still live and not be troubled by the tremendous bills incurred in the purchase of these things from some other part of the country.

They want to work—hundreds of them—yes we can find employment for all them," stated C. B. Rowlett, secretary of the Greenville Merchants Association, discussing the unemployment situation existing in this city and county.

"Scores of men and women greet me at my office door every morning, asking for work," the secretary said, "but only in a very few instances have I been able to send them to a job."

Mr. Rowlett said the majority of the applicants for jobs were negro women, who having been laid off by the tobacco factories, find it almost impossible to furnish food and clothing for their families.

One woman, he said, declared that her children were actually starving and would die if she did not find employment and provide food and fuel for them.

The secretary, who has been conducting an employment bureau at the associations offices since the holiday season, described the situation as the most serious in his memory. The cases coming to his attention from day to day are pathetic, and the suffering the people will have to undergo during the cold winter months is indescribable.

If you have any kind of an odd job around your house, let the secretary know about it. Every cent counts in this battle to keep the grim spectre of starvation from stalking through the homes of the poor with deadly effect.

Tobacco growers interested in producing the leaf at a profit even under the unusual conditions which have existed in this section of the country the last year or so should not fail to attend the meeting to be held at the courthouse tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Specialists—two of them—will tell how it is to be done, and any planter desiring to obtain this information may do so by attending the meeting.

This is one of a series of meetings held in this county this week with a view of interesting the growers in the live at home plan and the producing of better grades of tobacco.

The market is always ready to buy the better brands of tobacco, agricultural leaders have noted, and it is their plan to try to educate the farmers to produce this kind of tobacco and no other.

The average price for bright leaf produced in this community would be considerably more than it is each year if the common grades could be eliminated, and the demand would be more pronounced at all times.

It has been proved time after time that the man with good tobacco always comes out better than the man with poor crops and this should inspire every grower to confine more attention to his needs and try to raise better crops each year.

It would benefit every grower in the county to attend the meeting tonight. In fact, it should result in increased earnings if he would execute some of the plans he hears discussed.

DOROTHY DARNIT

PIESKIN STAR HITS CRITICS OF THE GAME

By Paul Mickelson (Associated Press Sports Writer) South Bend, Ind., Jan. 14.—(AP)—If college football is about to be "de-emphasized," the little Napoleon of Knute Rockne's all conquering armies of 1929 and 1930, is tickled that he became "emphasized."

Dropping an armful of ominous looking text books between the rush and bustle of classes, Frank Carideo, Notre Dame's all-American of all Americans, came to the defense of "emphasized football" by describing it as one of the best emblems of good character building and college student can experience.

"I'm only 22 years old—a comparative kid, I realize—but football has done too much for me to let the quips and charges of over-emphasis go by unchallenged. I've had a wonderful experience playing the game. It's taught me the value of discipline, self assurance, training, stick-to-it-iveness, and determination. They're lessons a fellow can't forget easily. Lessors that come hard. Like many of those on a football field when you're in the thick of a great battle, can't be forgotten easily."

With that, Carideo related some incidents that helped him scale helped him scale heights of football few players ever reach. "One of the first things I learned was the simple old-fashioned value of a good, healthy grin. That's a Rockne trait if you've ever noticed it. When he has a tough game ahead, he is always smiling during the practice. That's what a quarterback or general of a team must do. If your opponent notices that you are weakening, he'll tackle you that much harder. He'll play that much harder. Smiling or even laughing out loud at an opponent often is good psychology when the going is the toughest.

"I'll never forget the Northwestern game last fall. Those Wildcats were the hardest surest tacklers I ever ran up against. Every time I got the ball, I was tackled harder and harder although the tackles were as clean as a whistle. So were Marty Bill, Marchy Schwartz, Larry Mullins and the rest of the boys. The going got tougher and tougher. Finally Mullins and I were dumped hard for a big loss and he landed like a ton of lead. But up he came with a big broad grin spread across his face. It struck me funny and we all laughed. Better than that, we kept right on laughing and it gave us renewed spirit. We fought harder and won that great battle.

"We beat Chris Cagle and his great Army team in 1928 by laughing and joshing the Cadets. We entered the game with rather drab prospects for victory. Then some wag hit a na trick and it caught. We called every player on the Army team "Captain"—all except the mighty Cagle. We called him "Cadet." I believe to this day our quips sort of befuddled him. Anyway, toward the end of the game, Freddy Collins, who has been making most of our gains, starts a play and shouted to Chris: "Come on Cadet old boy, follow me this time if you can."

"Cagle did, so did most of the Army players. Well, Freddy just sucked my way out and then flipped a nice pass through the big opening to O'Brien who went for the winning touchdown."

"But what a play! Cagle was, He and Russ Saunders of the Southern California Trojans were the hardest ball carriers to stop I ever faced."

Agua Caliente Golf Race Gets Underway

Agua Caliente, Mexico, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Richest of all the money stakes and the goal of competitive players, the Agua Caliente $25,000 open golf tournament today became a reality for 97 professionals and 17 amateurs. This is a select list, made up of the leaders in the national open, the national professional golfers' association championship and the survivors of a qualifying round which attracted approximately one hundred. A more severe test will face the starters than in the inaugural last year, won by Gene Sarazen. New York professional with a 298 total for 72 holes. Par has been boosted from 71 to 72, with the course 6,902 yards long from the back tees. The chief hazard of the course is the narrow line wind which blows full in the faces of the players on the opening tee and harasses from all sides on the rest of the holes. Top notch contenders admitted that the one fortunate error probably would do no better than four 74s.

GIANTS TO HAVE EIGHTEEN PITCHERS
New York, Jan. 14.—(AP)—The New York Giants will have 18 pitchers in coming tripling season this year and none of the rookies will be watched more closely, perhaps, than Jimmie Ivey. Mooney from Charlotte of the South Atlantic league.

Rogers Hornsby, a St. Louis county, Missouri, farmer, who is also interested in baseball, is shown here admiring one of his calves with his son, William. ## SCHMELING TO FIGHT GEORGIA PEACH IN JUNE

By HERBERT W. BARKER
New York, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Max Schmeling and W. L. Young, Stribling have signed for a heavy-weight title bout to be held in June and thereby precipitated what may develop into a bitter duel between the New York State Athletics commission and Madison Square Garden corporation. Under terms of a contract drawn up and signed yesterday, Schmeling and Stribling will meet in a city to be selected 90 or more days before the match with the winner, defending the title against Primo Carnera, Italian man-mountain in September. Carnera arrived here from Europe yesterday.

The contract was signed by representatives of the three heavyweights with the Madison Square Garden corporation of Illinois, a subsidiary of the New York Garden. The Stribling-Schmeling bout will be for the benefit of the Hearst milk fund which will not figure, however, in the second match between Carnera and either Stribling or Schmeling. Under a further agreement, the ultimate survivor will defend the championship for the milk fund alone in 1932. Entrance of the Madison Square Garden corporation of Illinois into the negotiations was expected in some quarters to lead to drastic action by the New York State Athletic commission against the New York Garden.

Although contracts for the Schmeling-Stribling bout failed to specify either time or place, experts here believe that the third week in June had been selected as the time and that the title would be picked from a list of three cities—Jersey City, Detroit or as a more remote possibility, Chicago. Selection of Jersey City, it was said, depended upon the completion of a new stadium there to seat something like 100,000 persons. The second bout, involving Carnera, also might be held there. If it develops that the stadium will not be ready, then Detroit was considered a strong second choice. Chicago, with its Soldier's Field seating 125,000, still was considered the logical spot for the first title bout provided difficulties at present standing in the way of taking it there, can be ironed out.

SPORT BRIEFS

The New York Yankee ball club, which finished third last year, played to 1,500,000 fans in home games.
Frank Ball, pro at Bobby Jones' home golf course, set a new record of 93 or five less than par over the course.
A case of "poison ivy" kept "Licht House" Harry Cooper from playing in the $10,000 Los Angeles open this year. The golf pro won the event in 1925.
John Neibert, of Port Smith, Ark. has a pair of horseshoes which won first prize at the state fair in 1883. He made them.
Charles Leonard, 57-year-old owner of the Nevada Stable, attributes his longevity to riding horses. He has followed the track since he was 15.
The New York Yankees, a third place team in the American league, scored 111 more runs than the pennant-winning Philadelphia Athletics.
Merchmont Schwartz is the only regular of the Notre Dame backfield available for the 1931 team.

QUIET REIGNS ON THE STATE CAGE FRONT

Charlotte, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Comparative quiet reigned on the North Carolina collegiate basketball front today after ten days of high excitement in Big Five cage circles. Only one major tilt was billed for tonight—a clash between the fierce Davidson Wildcats and the Erskin Seceders from Due West, S. C., at Davidson.

Things will pick up somewhat tomorrow for one North Carolina team, however, with the Duke Blue Devils tackling Maryland at College Park in the first game of a northern invasion. From College Park the Devils will go to Philadelphia for a game with Temple University Friday night, and will meet the Navy at Annapolis the following evening. The North Carolina Tar Heels last night rounded out a week of post-holiday competition in fine form by handling the Gamecocks from South Carolina a 33 to 8 defeat at Chapel Hill. N. C. State wound up a southern tour by taking a 26 to 20 licking from Georgia at Athens—the fourth straight defeat of the Terrors on the trip. The high lights of the last week or ten days of Big Five competition center around Charlotte where the Davidson Wildcats toppled two of their most formidable rivals for Big Five honors to step far out in the lead in the title chase. The Wildcats started off by crushing N. C. State, 26 to 19, after the Terrors had defeated Wake Forest, 42 to 20, in Raleigh. Last Saturday, two days after their triumph over State, the Presbyterians nosed out the Tar Heels, 18 to 17, in the second Charlotte game. The heels showed improved form, however, Monday night to defeat the strong Furman University five, 23 to 16, at Chapel Hill. State and North Carolina take

SPORTS SLANTS

According to Francis Powers and several other sporting authorities, though the Professional Golfers association, so far as I have learned, has said nothing official about it as yet, pro golfers soon may be divided into two classes—those who maintain club positions and may be termed resident professionals; and those who follow the tournaments. There is no doubt that game is drifting steadily to such a division, and, while it is not precisely or definitely classified as yet, there is a sort of tacit understanding about it. When the Cragston Yacht club and Horton Smith sign a contract, there is no sort of suspicion on the part of the first part that the party of the second part is going to stick around in a shop or on an instruction fee the greater part of the year and sell clubs and give lessons. A number of other famous competitive golfers in professional ranks are under contract with clubs in this fashion, but all the obligation entails is to register from that club in the tournaments. This mode of advertising, for it is that, seems to be quite popular with some golf and country clubs. Now, according to Robert E. Harlow, director of the P. G. A. tournament bureau, the tournament game has developed into a business. He says it would be possible to arrange a tournament schedule, following the course of summer around our expansive native land, which would keep the professional busy the year 'round. But, he adds, there are two drawbacks to such a plan. The strain of continuous tournament competition would be too much for the contestants; and every city promoting a tournament naturally would want a fair share of top-notchers in the show, if not all of them. This, in the mind of Harlow, indicates a nine-months' season. The plan, then, is to start the so-called winter tournament season in September next year, instead of November, as heretofore—a couple of months after the Ryder Cup match with Great Britain and the two open championships, American and British. If this earlier start is achieved, cities like Omaha, Denver, Colorado Springs, Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle, Tacoma and Spokane—all new on the schedule—will have the chance to put on open open tournaments. The summer season of course contains the national open, the metropolitan open, all tournaments in which glory and prestige are more at stake than cash. The elongated loop, with, prospectively, near a quarter of a million dollars in purses, appears reasonably tempting to the tournament professional who prefers the constant din of battle to the more placid routine of shop and teaching fee. W. Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET

New York, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 1 point to an advance of 2 points. There may have been some scattered selling on the decline in bar silver following yesterday's rally and rather lighter domestic consumption figures for December than expected.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Uneasiness over possible damage to domestic winter crops owing to colder weather and lack of a snow blanket sent wheat sharply upward today. July wheat jumped more than 3 cents a bushel. Government sponsored agencies hoisted their bids for wheat deliverable at once.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Although the more eager expectations were disappointed by the weekly steel trade reviews today, the stock market was inclined to be patiently hopeful, and its downward drift was reversed.

laborites Oppose New Scheme For Belgian Defenses Brussels, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Plans to reconstruct some of Belgium's permanent fortifications and modernize the country's army are meeting stiff opposition. Before the Senate is a plan of Count de Broqueville, minister for national defense, calling for reconstruction of defenses along the Meuse river and at Antwerp, as well as changes in the army. The bill, backed by the general staff, asks a special credit of $1,500,000, and is reported to be the first of a plan to cost between 40 and 50 million dollars. But the labor party's general council has denounced the plan as being "in opposition to Belgium's international agreements, as well as the party's peace policy." Socialist leadership in the general staff and government are acting under inspiration from the French general staff in accordance with the Franco-Belgian military agreement. From the technical viewpoint, they argue, the scheme to prepare Belgium against a new aggressive war is absurd. They say the utility of permanent fortifications was demonstrated in the world war, and that reconstruction of the Liege and Namur forts means that the south of Belgium would be given up to an invader as it was in 1914. Count de Broqueville, answering these critics, said: "The utility of permanent fortifications was demonstrated in the great war. Their purpose is not to resist definitely, but to retard the enemy's advance. Liege, Namur and Antwerp made the Marne victory possible." Kills Robert With Rake.
