HOOVER BEGINS CONSIDERATION OF DRY REPORT

Commission's Findings Will Be Submitted to Congress Probably Tuesday

Washington, Jan. 19.—(AP)—The law enforcement commission's prohibition report was submitted to President Hoover today. Chairman Wickersham arrived at the White House proper just before nine a. m. He carried the long awaited document in a bulky envelope.

The President soon went over to his offices, but whether to study the report was not revealed. He is expected to submit the commission's findings to Congress without delay, possibly Tuesday or Wednesday.

At that time it will be available for publication. The report of the commission as a whole has been described as largely factual, but embracing recommendations for improving conditions in connection with Volstead enforcement.

The word has been given that no recommendation for repeal or for modification is included, in this main report, at least, sources close to the commission said no effort is made to gloss over facts either favorable or unfavorable to the dry laws, however.

The report as submitted includes individual opinions from among the eleven commissioners. How many dissented from the majority report is expected to be made known only through publication of the documents themselves.

Under the plan upon which the report finally was drafted the members have written separate reports or opinions to take care of these divergencies.

The task of studying and reporting on all the nation's laws was put in the hands of the commission and George W. Wickersham, the 72-year-old chairman, exactly 19 months and 23 days ago.

Now that the prohibition report is out of its hands, the commission is to concentrate on other phases of study. A final report is expected to be made in the spring.

At the White House later, the announcement came that President Hoover had begun study on the prohibition report.

His engagement list was held to the very minimum in order that he might devote the entire day to the task. He expects to send it to Congress tomorrow noon.

No summary of the long document will be issued. The conclusions of the majority of the commission have been placed at the very beginning of the document.

Prince of Wales and Brother Off On Long Voyage

Santander, Spain, Jan. 19.—(AP)—After a restful trip from Paris, the Prince of Wales and his youngest brother, Prince George, were enroute today aboard the liner Oropesa on an 18,000-mile journey which will culminate with their inauguration of the British trade exhibition in Buenos Aires in March.

The two Princes were many hours late in reaching Santander, where they found the Oropesa, hauled up to the dock ready to begin the trans-Atlantic trip. After stopping at Coruna today, the vessel will proceed to Hamilton, Bermuda and Kingston, Jamaica. The royal passengers will touch Central America and go on down the west South American coast.

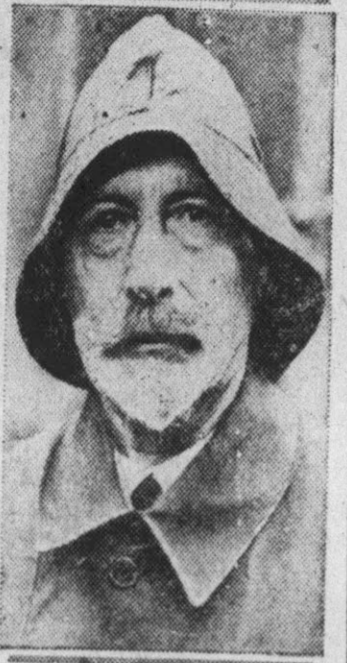

The Prince's trouble began late Saturday night when their train was held up 30 miles below Bordeaux by the derailment of a northbound train from the Spanish frontier. Awakened by the halt, both watch the work of clearing the track.

French railroad officials at Bayonne sent a special train north to pick them up and carry them to Herdaye.

There, already four hours late, they transferred to motor cars, beginning a dangerous ride over sloping mountain roads to Santander, watering place of the Spanish kings. At Bilbao the automobile occupied by the Prince of Wales steered into that in which Prince George was riding but no one was hurt.

SOUTH HONORS HEROES OF THE CONFEDERACY

Birthdays of Lee and Jackson Observed With Appropriate Exercises

Charlotte, Jan. 19.—(AP)—The Carolinians joined with the rest of the Southland today in honoring the memory of Lee and Jackson, heroes of the Confederacy, on the 124th anniversary of the birth of General Lee, leader both in war and peace.

The 107th birthday of General Jackson falls on Wednesday and was observed today along with that of Lee.

The two heroes of the North Carolina General Assembly will hold a special joint session tonight to honor the names of the two leaders. Senator Rivers D. Johnson, president pro tem of the Senate, will be the principal speaker of the occasion.

In South Carolina, banks were closed today, and Lee-Jackson services were held in various places in the state under the direction of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Observances in North Carolina cities and towns were also under the supervision of the U. D. C. At Charlotte, the Stowell Jackson U. D. C. chapter prepared a dinner for Mecklenburg county veterans of the Confederacy as a feature of the city's observance of the birthdays of the two heroes.

Special Lee-Jackson services were sponsored at Asheville by the two U. D. C. chapters of that city. Arrangements for short Lee-Jackson speeches and patriotic services at schools, colleges, churches and other gathering places were made by the U. D. C. chapters at Raleigh and other cities and towns of the state.

A special broadcast of "The Highlights in Lee's Life" by Mrs. John H. Anderson, of Raleigh, was on the program of station WPTF, Raleigh, for 5:15 p. m. today.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 19.—(AP)—General Robert E. Lee, who turned from the field of Appomattox to lead in peace with the same foresight and courage that placed him in command of the Confederate forces in war, was honored today throughout the Southland.

From Virginia to Texas, the boundaries of the old Confederacy, the 124th anniversary of the birth of the southern chieftain was observed and Lee lauded no less for his worth as a man and a citizen than for his brilliant career as a soldier. Probably no more impressive service was held than that at Washington and Lee university which General Lee headed after the War Between the States and where he passed on his philosophy of life to thousands of young Americans.

No longer are the students and visitors of the college able to assemble in the chapel where lies the famous recumbent statue of General Lee and his exercises were held in the gymnasium with R. Gray Williams, of Winchester, as founder's day speaker.

Police Raid Hotel Used As Headquarters for Henchmen of Al Capone and Arrest Fifteen Men and Six Women; Ledgers and Other Papers Tell of Whiskey, Gambling and Vice of Underworld

Chicago, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Records, described by prosecutors as revealing "astounding graft" that reached into high places, was in possession of the law today for presentation to the special grand jury investigating the police department.

The records were seized from two safes found in the Rex hotel, headquarters on the South Side for henchmen of Al "Scarface" Capone in an early Sunday morning raid. Assistant State's Attorneys Charles J. Mueller and Charles E. Lumsbury said they showed dealings between Capone gangsters, politicians, policemen, and public officials whose names they "did not even dare to talk about."

Dennis "The Duke" Cooney, operator of the hotel, the prosecutors said, was shown to have had "business or social connections" with various officials. Fingerprint "pay-off" lists, ledgers, and other papers pertaining to liquor, gambling and vice were among the documents seized.

Panic prevailed in the underworld after the raiders, described as trusted detectives from the state's attorney's office, surprised the operators of the hotel, and kept it under guard for more than four hours. Newspaper investigators reported that virtually every speakeasy in the Loop was quickly closed. So, too, were gambling houses.

Cooney is reported to be in Florida. He is known as "The Duke" because he wears a different suit each morning, afternoon and night. In his place the officers found "Tommy" Miller, whom they arrested, as well as 15 other men and six women. In addition to the records the officers found in the safes about $15,000 in currency, revolvers, blackjacks, a shot gun, and police night sticks.

While the raiders were in charge, two uniformed policemen and two detectives sauntered in, saying they had been under instructions to call at the place every hour to see if there were any violations of the law, but that they had never found any.

"How long," asked Mueller, "have you been blind?" Miss Bernice Shaw, 34, was under subpoena to appear before the special grand jury today and testify regarding her charges that Police Sergeant Jack Herderson was a "go-between" for vice operators and Jack Zuta, slain business manager of George Moran's North Side ranch. Herderson was arrested on the charge of buying his promotion with $1,500 obtained from Zuta.

Former Congressman Harry W. Starr testified in a contest over Zuta's will that the slain gangster told him he was forming an organization to support Mayor Thompson and expected to become "a power in politics."

JUDGE DEVIN CHARGES NEW GRAND JURY

Oxford Jurist Appeals for Complete Law Enforcement at Opening of Court

The laws of the country may be multitudinous, but every one of them is necessary to safeguard the happiness and welfare of the public, Judge W. A. Devin, of Oxford, told members of the new six months grand jury at the opening of the one-week term of Pitt County Superior court here this morning for the trial of criminal cases.

He declared that the necessity for legislation was most impressive in every section of the country and especially in the large cities where the best interests of the people can not be properly guarded and protected without laws covering every human activity.

In an effort to improve the condition, some might suggest that the laws be blotted out so that the lawmakers might start over again, or that the individual might have the privilege of making some of his own laws, he said. But this would not do, because it would bring about a condition of chaos and anarchy unparalleled in the history of the world.

Impressing upon the jury the importance of strict law enforcement, he defined many of the most flagrant forms of violations which would come before their attention at this term of court, and urged them to be honest and sincere in their deliberations. The jurors were told that it was their duty to uphold every law of the land, and as far as possible, see that it was enforced, if the rights of society are to be preserved.

Referring briefly to capital punishment, Judge Devin asserted he was not in favor of its abolition. He expressed belief that crimes coming under this category were so revolting and reprehensible to society that they could be paid for only in death.

He told the jurors that they would be required to be guided by the will of the state and not by personal opinion or prejudice in any single instance, and urged them to do their best to see that the law is fully enforced during their administration.

The grand jury, which will serve during the next six months, follows: J. A. Whicheard, J. S. Willard (foreman), J. I. Allen, E. D. Hodges, William Adams, H. C. Smith, J. R. James, Robert Hodges, J. R. Jenkins, H. G. Tellerton, Charlie Harris, W. S. Hudson, J. B. Briley, G. A. Rouse, B. G. Little, R. P. Gaskins, J. A. Tripp.

Among the most important cases which will come up for consideration during the present term is that against C. B. Fancher, superintendent of the county road forces, who is charged with embezzlement and bribery, and cruelty to prisoners.

The superintendent is alleged to have unlawfully disposed of goods assigned for use on the county roads.

He is also alleged to have attempted to pay off a witness in the embezzlement case and get him to leave the county before the case came up for hearing.

The cruelty charges grew out of alleged inhuman treatment of two prisoners on the county roads forced Fancher, indicted by the grand jury at the last sitting of criminal court, stoutly denied the charges and asserted they were the outgrowth of ill-will of political enemies.

LEGISLATURE ENTERS THIRD WEEK TONIGHT

Indications Are That It Will Be Weeks Before Major Issues Are Decided

Raleigh, Jan. 19.—(AP)—North Carolina's lawmakers enter the third week of the 1931 session of the General Assembly tonight with indications that it will be weeks before many major questions to be decided will have reached the floor of the two houses.

Among the biggest questions to be decided by the General Assembly are: Appropriations, state support of the six months school term, revenue sources and levies, whether or not to increase the gasoline tax and reorganize the highway commission and whether to allow the people to vote on a constitutional convention for 1933.

Thus far with two weeks gone, only two administration measures to answer questions among these have been given the assembly. The appropriations bill is before committees of both houses and the constitutional convention bill is in committee of the lower branch.

The administration revenue bill is expected to be given the two houses either tonight or tomorrow.

As today is being celebrated throughout the south in memory of General Robert E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson, the General Assembly will meet tonight, earlier than usual and will then hold a joint session at 8 o'clock to hear Rivers D. Johnson, president pro tem of the Senate, speak on the two Confederate leaders.

Before this week is over the administration highway bills are expected to be before the General Assembly. Thus far no formidable opposition has shown itself to the increase in the gasoline tax but the proposal to reorganize the highway commission has caused a flurry with John Sprunt Hill of Durham, member of the present commission and Col. T. L. Kirkpatrick of Charlotte, road-roads advocate, leading the fight.

Public hearings on the appropriations bill will start tomorrow afternoon. These will be completed before February 1. The appropriations bill includes a provision to place a 10 cent salary cut in effect in every town, city and county in the state to affect every official and employe paid from public funds.

School bills are expected out from committee this week or next. Several calling for support of the six months school term have been introduced but no administration school measure has yet been sent.

One administrative proposal to postpone the quadrennial revaluation of property, is expected to be enacted into law tonight or tomorrow. It is generally believed that the House will concur with a Senate amendment deferring the work until March 15. The Neal bill passed both houses last week but was amended from the House date of April 1 to read March 15.

The constitutional convention measure is expected from committee any day.

Two N. C. Persons Victims of Accidents

Charlotte, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Two North Carolinians were dead today—victims of peculiar accidents—one of a bursting millstone and the other of a runaway circular saw.

Eight-year-old Clyde Tillman, of Glendon, Moore county, was fatally injured in the millstone accident. He was sitting under his father's grist mill Saturday when one of the bursts of the mill, revolving at high speed, burst.

One of the flying fragments tore through a wall of the building and struck the lad on the head. He died yesterday at a Sanford hospital. Two other persons, inside the building, were less seriously injured.

Charles Lowrance, 41, of Watauga county, was decapitated Saturday when a saw at a lumber mill where he was working tore loose from its shaft, whirled through the air and struck him.

Says High Point Getting Too Doggy

High Point, Jan. 19.—(AP)—High Point is getting too doggy, S. D. Clapp told the city council. He embarrassed Councilman S. W. Horne, who owns 12 dogs by his own statement. Mayor Yerke declared that "moonshine blues" kept him awake nights. Clapp said he had already taken the law into his own hands by executing two strays, but said they didn't belong to Councilman Horne, who lost one that way recently.

The mayor exonerated Horne by admitting his dogs were kept in confinement, and ordered police to enforce the city ordinance calling for execution of strays and told the police chief to "notify dog-owners the dog-gone business will get under way at once."

Wild Oil Well Threatens Oklahoma City; Soldiers and Firemen Called Out

One Workman Seriously Injured As Well No. One of Slick Estate Gets Out of Control; "Doorstep" Oil Field and Business District Imperiled; All Fires Ordered Extinguished

Oklahoma City, Jan. 19.—(AP)—An oil well blew wild inside the city limits of Oklahoma City today, injuring a workman seriously and imperiling the "Doorstep" Oil Field and adjacent industrial and residential districts.

The well, No. 1, Wapaco, of the T. B. Slick estate, is about a mile from the city's principal business block. Power connections were cut by sand and blown out under great pressure as the well was being opened for production. When it was completed last October the flow was 58,000 barrels daily.

Two companies of the Oklahoma National Guard were ordered out. All city firemen were ordered on duty.

The spray was being blown south over the great oil field. Authorities said much chemical equipment was on hand in the area in case of fire.

All fires in a radius of one-half mile around the well were ordered extinguished. Jim Hewgill, Slick superintendent, expressed the opinion that the well would be capped late today or early tomorrow, barring accidents.

A dye nipple, used in bringing other wild wells here under control, already has been made and is at the well site.

All trains were stopped on the main lines of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas and Rock Island railroads because of fire hazards and a barricade was established to prevent spectators from getting into the danger zone.

Mr. Ryan was tendered the pastorate recently vacated by Rev. Lee Sadler a few days ago, and his acceptance was announced by members of the church board yesterday. He will assume charge of his new duties at once, and his family, consisting of his wife and two children, will move here the first of the month.

The new pastor is considered one of the leading ministers of the south. He has held pastorates in Pittsburgh, Baltimore, and had been with the church in Richmond several years. The Virginia charge was one of the largest in the south, and the largest in the city of Richmond.

Mr. Ryan preached his first sermon in Greenville on the Sunday following the resignation of Rev. Lee Sadler, which became effective January 1. He has appeared here each Sunday since the time, and the congregation was said to have been favorably impressed with his sermons each time.

ATTEMPTS TO STALL RELIEF MEET DEFEAT

Reed Motion to Defer Consideration of the Red Cross Fund Is Voted Out of Order

Washington, Jan. 19.—(AP)—The attempt of administration leaders in the Senate to defer consideration of the $25,000,000 appropriation for the Red Cross until February 9 was ruled out of order today by Vice-President Curtis.

Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, moved the postponement with the argument that the Red Cross be permitted a complete its campaign for $10,000,000 in private subscriptions.

After more than two hours debate Senator Norris, Republican of Nebraska, made the point the Reed motion was out of order because of an agreement requiring that the Senate vote today on the appropriation. Vice-President Curtis sustained Norris.

The Red Cross drive in its first week yielded only about $600,000. Leaders of the organization complained the congressional proposal was having an adverse effect upon the campaign. Without mentioning the Democratic-sponsored project upon which Congress is working, Mr. Hoover yesterday referred to the voluntary subscription method of raising relief funds as "the American way."

He used the term in announcing appointment of his special committee.

"It is essential," said the President, "that we should maintain the sound American tradition and spirit of voluntary aid in such emergency and should not undermine that spirit which has made our Red Cross the outstanding guardian of our people in time of disaster."

There have been strong intimations that Mr. Hoover would speak even more plainly than that if Congress persists in its present plan, and a veto has been hinted by his friends.

With Former President Coolidge, who has accepted the honorary chairmanship, the special drive committee will have as vice-chairmen Alfred E. Smith and John W. Davis, last two Democratic presidential nominees General John J. Pershing and General Abel Davis of Chicago.

Fifty others who have agreed to serve as leaders in politics, labor, religion, the professions and business, education and finance.

The proposal that the Senate defer consideration of its relief plan came from Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, who urged this method of keeping the fund from conflicting with the Red Cross campaign. Yet Reed is among the Republicans who are ready to support the $25,000,000 appropriation. Democratic spokesmen have voiced a desire to see the Red Cross drive succeed also, but they contend citizens are without money to contribute.

Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho said yesterday that "had it not been for the agitation in Congress thousands of men, women and children would have bitterly died of hunger and exposure."

Death Claims Negro Sought By Mad Mob

Shreveport, La., Jan. 19.—(AP)—Death in the form of peritonitis claimed Leman McDaniel, negro, last night, and dispersed a militant crowd of 1,500 persons, who filled the hospital where he was being treated for wounds suffered in a police gun fight. The shooting was fatal to two officers.

Headless of the pleas of authority, a few members of the crowd claimed an unguarded fire escape and gained the negro ward on the third floor of the hospital before McDaniel's death, but they left after three of the group had been called into the negro's room by Dr. E. L. Anderson, superintendent, and shown the body. Dr. Anderson said peritonitis developed in one of his wounds causing death.

The entire police force, augmented by all available sheriff's deputies and a score of city firemen, guarded the narrow stairway to the upper floors holding most of the crowd to the ground floor.

The negro was brought to the hospital after a raid Saturday night upon his grocery which was led by three policemen wearing old clothes and with faces blacked. The officers said they suspected the grocery was hiding a gambling den.

In a pistol battle, Teddy Williams, policeman, was shot dead, and Lee Allen Williams, no kin to his fellow officer, was wounded fatally.

THINKS GRID TRAINING WILL BE A BIG HELP

By LARRY GREEN
Columbus, O., Jan. 19.—(AP)—When he leaves school after completing a commerce course and goes into business, Wesley Fesler, all-American football player at Ohio State University, expects his football training to help him a lot in meeting the problems of life.

Fesler has found football an incentive to study. He modestly admitted that he had "made" all his work at Ohio State. He confessed further that his general average in class work was a "little above B" which means that he is just a shade below the highest average obtainable in scholastic endeavors.

"What if I hadn't studied and made good grades?" he asked. "Folks would say 'now there's Fesler for example. He's a football player'—he omitted the adjectives good, excellent outstanding, any of which might apply—" but he devotes so much time to football he's falling down in his classwork. I'd rather they wouldn't say that, so I've found that I can play football, basketball and baseball and still keep up in my classes."

Incidentally he acknowledged he had made Beta Gamma Sigma, an honorary commerce fraternity, whose members are chosen from among the highest fifth of the class. He was one of 15 men so chosen—Dick Larkins, another star of the football team, being another.

"Why," he continued, "I believe that my football training gave me the will-power to get good grades in my classes. As soon as you find it is easy to accomplish the really hard things football expects of you, it's not hard to buckle down and get the most out of studies."

Football doesn't appeal to Wesley as a business, he has scouted all suggestions that he turn professional.

"I don't want to coach," he said. "That is, I don't care for coaching as a life's work. I expect to go into business as soon as I finish school, and I'm going to stay right here in Columbus."

However, he expects to serve in an assistant coaching capacity for his alma mater next fall, while he is finishing his course in the college of commerce, to which he switched after starting engineering.

Fesler in his Sophomore year attracted national recognition. He was named to the Associated Press all-American in 1929 and 1930. He was awarded in 1930 the Chicago Tribune's cup presented annually to the Big Ten player considered the most valuable to his team.

SPORTS SLANTS

Harrison "Jimmie" Johnson, the former national amateur champion, is the inventor of a new indoor golf diversion that seems likely to keep the spirit of competition alive in the winter time, in the home, the back yard or the club-room.

It is called "Dark Golf" and as the name implies it is based on the idea of throwing darts, from distances of three to six yards, at a target on which a composite golf layout is pictured, including everything from an unplayable lie and water hazard to a hole-in-one the latter of course corresponds to the "bull's-eye."

It's a big chunk of entertainment, with all the possibilities of workmanship, and trouble common to the royal and ancient game of golf. If I can base a verdict on a trial match with "Jimmie" recently.

He quickly had me three down in three holes, which is about as well as he could be expected to do under the circumstances, but by a supreme effort I managed later to have a hole or two.

Johnson has done the "course" in 48, which is 21 under par and a record that Bob Jones can shoot at without having any concern about his amateur status. "Jimmie" spent a lot of time developing "Dark Golf" before turning it loose and he has worked out its features along scientific golfing lines.

Johnson had an off-season on home links last year despite a great showing abroad, but he hopes this year to repeat in the amateur championship, which he won at the memorable Battle of Pebble Beach in 1929.

"My putter got back on me both at Irterlachen and Merion last year," said Jimmie. "I felt I was capable of as good golf as I ever played but they just simply would not go down. If you will recall, I took something like 41 or 42 putts on that horrible round of 83 the first day of qualifying at Merion. Ten strokes off that wasn't quite enough to get me in the fold."

"I've got my heart set this year on winning the amateur at Beverly. The man who looks most dangerous to me now is George Voigt. He is a great match player and perhaps he's due to break through to the top. I don't think the younger players such as Seaver and McCarthy are quite ready yet but they are all coming along."

open at Irverness way not look like the real thing without Bob Jones, but the competition is sure to be keener in fact because they won't be thinking so much about what Bob is doing.

"He will be missed but in my opinion Bob has done the right thing and done it in a fine way. He is entitled to all he can get out of it now. The game owes him plenty."

Maxie Rosenbloom, the fistic clown who holds the light heavyweight championship, at least is willing to entertain. Maxie did a radio to pounce at midnight from a New York studio recently.

Ever since William (The Duke Of) Muldoon, as a young man in his early seventies, began an iron-handed rule of pugilism in New York, it has been customary to make heavyweight fistic affairs as complicated as possible.

The Schmeling-Sharkey fuss is mere kindergarten stuff compared to the robust days when Jack Dempsey did the fighting. Perfumery Jack Kearns did the gabbing and Tex Richard did the match-making. Rickard pulled the strings then and the big bouts had a habit of coming off, properly ballooned, but even the Texan had his troubles with Muldoon and the other Dukes of the State Athletic Commission.

For years the cudgels were wielded in behalf of Harry Wills, who had strong political backing in New York. Dempsey never "feared" Wills, as many supposed. In fact the old "Maui" would have preferred to battle the giant negro instead of the more cautious, elusive and troublesome Mr. Tunney. Wills, in the opinion of many unprejudiced critics, never saw the day that he was the equal of either Tunney or Dempsey.

The commission tried to bar Big Jess Willard's come-back, afterwards adopting an age limit rule of 40 to keep the Kansas giant from further ring activity in New York. The two Dempsey-Tunney fights were forced out of New York, to the greater profit of those involved. Tunney, although a home-town product, was treated somewhat shabbily by the solons, although the Marine finally waged his last championship fight in New York.

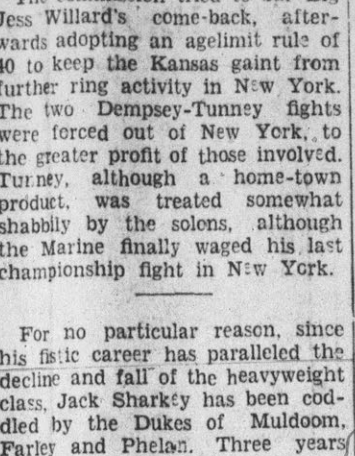

For no particular reason, since his fistic career has paralleled the decline and fall of the heavyweight class, Jack Sharkey has been coddled by the Dukes of Muldoon, Farley and Phelan. Three years ago Sharkey bungled his chances of being the man to fight Tunney in the last legitimate world's heavy weight match. Last year the sailor threw away his second opportunity to gain title recognition, at least.

Meanwhile the courteous recognition of Schmeling as a champion has worn out its welcome, even so far as the three Dukes are concerned, but since the German was set up on the pedestal, it now seems likely for some one to try to knock him off. By a rapid process of elimination, Sharkey being too unreliable and Carnera too inflated.

However, no amount of proclamation will establish a real heavyweight champion and successor to Turvey. It will take a convincing exhibition inside the ropes by a fighter at least able to leave the premises under his own power.

Landis Says Night Ball Good for the Small League Town

Judge Kenneth Mountain Landis, czar of all the baseball leagues, has few opinions available for immediate publication about the realm over which he rules, but he is very emphatic on what to do when one's golf ball gets into a trap.

Belleair, Fla., Jan. 19.—(AP)—Judge Kenneth Mountain Landis, czar of all the baseball leagues, has few opinions available for immediate publication about the realm over which he rules, but he is very emphatic on what to do when one's golf ball gets into a trap.

"Say," he interviewed an interviewer yesterday. "When you play golf and our ball gets in a trap, do you say 'tsk-tsk-tsk,' or do you cuss?"

Then, without waiting for a reply, he added: "When you get in a fix like that, don't say 'pshaw,' or 'my gracious,' but walk up to the ball, cuss it for all it's worth, and then sock it."

In speaking of baseball the snow headed commissioner confined himself to expressing belief that night baseball should be good in small league towns, and probably not so

"You Will Benefit Public Health"

Says
DR. J. F. X. STACK
Health Commissioner, City of Hoboken, N. J.

... one of 56 health officials from 56 different points approving Cremo's crusade against spit or spit-tipping.

Every smoker, every wife whose husband smokes cigars, should read Dr. Stack's letter.

"Who are the friends of 'Spit'?"

YOU MAY WELL ASK THIS QUESTION WHEN 56 IMPORTANT HEALTH OFFICIALS HAVE WRITTEN SO STRONGLY AGAINST THE EVILS OF SPIT OR SPIT-TIPPING.

Dr. Stack writes: "I am heartily in favor of your campaign to better your industry by making it cleaner."

The war against spit is a crusade of decency. Join it... Smoke Certified Cremo - a really wonderful smoke - mild - mellow - nut-sweet! Every leaf entering the clean, sunny Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture.

DR. J. F. X. STACK
212 GARDEN STREET
HOBOKEN, N. J.
June 17, 1930.

American Cigar Company,
111 Fifth Avenue,
New York, N. Y.

Gentlemen:

I have seen your advertising displays in the newspapers and on billboards, telling people about the harm spitting may cause and the dangers lurking in cigars when the tips are sealed with spit. Your efforts to teach the public and thus prevent suffering will do more than sell cigars. You will benefit public health, and for that reason I want to give my enthusiastic approval to your campaign.

As a health commissioner, I am interested in seeing information of this sort brought home to everybody. Human ills would be greatly lessened if every person knew what danger there is in spitting in public places and in using the tongue to seal or moisten anything in manufacturing. Your campaign is indeed a "Crusade of Decency" and my department wishes you success in your efforts.

You are welcome to use this letter in your plan of public education, if you wish, with the understanding that I am not publicly endorsing your product in preference to any other, but that I am heartily in favor of your campaign to better your industry by making it cleaner.

Very truly yours,
J. F. X. Stack, M.D.

Duke Will Meet Terrors Saturday

Charlotte, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Although only two inter-Big Five basketball games were booked for this week, one of them promised plenty of action and thrills for the followers of the indoor collegiate sport.

State also toppled the Deacons in one of its two Big Five tilts thus far but lost to Davidson in the other. The Presbyterian's nosed out North Carolina in the fourth and only other Big Five encounter of the first two weeks of the 1931 season.

The Tar Heels will play Wake Forest tomorrow at Chapel Hill in the second Big Five match of the week.

Other games scheduled include:

RED MEN ARE HOLDING GOOD MEETINGS
The local tribe of the Improved Order of Red Men held one of the finest meetings of the year last night with a large attendance.
The man who invented pep could find no fault with the enthusiasm manifested during the evening under the leadership of L. S. Spence, Sachem of the Tribe. The old reliable members with their smiles, extended hand of fraternity and words of encouragement are to be seen at each meeting. The secretary again reported success. The membership campaign just ended, has netted us many new members and all will be entertained with a banquet and card game Feb. 6. This is but the beginning of a series of entertainments that our social committee has planned for once a month during the winter and spring season. We urge all members to unite with us to make each and every entertainment a little better. By so doing we will be more united in promoting a fraternal feeling toward one another. We have a lot of loyal members who are anxious to promote the interests of the order and extend its limits.
Mr. Spence made a wonderful talk in the interest of the farmer. It was well timed and well taken. It was a gem and to the point. This organization is growing in membership. They are taking in new members and having a good time and our Sachem, L. S. Spence, intends to repeat it on a larger scale.
This tribe has experienced quite a growth in the past few months. L. A. Lee and B. G. Albritton are later as 100 per centers in the membership campaign.
Our members are well satisfied. They know that investment in the Improved Order of Red Men is a gilt-edged security. That when you join this great fraternity you are a stockholder in a growing concern which will experience no wild fluctuations. Membership in the Improved Order of Red Men is a guarantee against such disasters, for Redmanship is ever ready to respond to the call for help from the widow, the orphan or the less fortunate brother. When the clouds of disappointment and despair gather overhead, when the wave of misfortune threatens to wreck our ship the standard of freedom, friendship and charity appears upon the horizon as a beacon light which guides us safely into port.
Life seems a perpetual succession of events and we never know from which direction the sudden blow will come. Misery and happiness enter and make their exit like unexpected guests. Fate sometimes turns her wheel so fast that we can hardly distinguish the link between yesterday and today. Membership in the Improved Order of Red Men is a sound investment that will pay dividends in time of need. If its members are wounded in life's battle, the merciful hand of Redmanship pours the balm of hope into the wounds and inspires them to rise and continue the strife. When the winds of adversity white —when hope is frost-bitten and the fountain of aspiration is frozen—when your stock in the market of life begins to depreciate and you are "broke" physically or financially, the hand of Redmanship is extended, not to ask for more margins but to pay dividends in the way of succor and relief, on your investment as a member of this great American fraternity.

"KISMET" FAMOUS STAGE PLAY, NOW ON SCREEN WITH NOTED CAST

"Greatest cast" is a familiar phrase in connection with film offerings, but the term seems to fit the aggregation found in First National's most ambitious film of the year, "Kismet," coming Monday and Tuesday to the New Theatre.
Of course, the cast roster begins with the glamorous name of Otis Skinner, playing the role has made famous on stage and screen throughout the world, Hajj, the beggar.
Loretta Young enacts the daughter role, and David Manners that of the Caliph. Both the young stars paused in their own program of films to appear together in the romantic leads of this particularly important screen play.
Sidney Blackmer is Mansur in this Vitaphone version of "Kismet," and Mary Duncan the role of his wife.
Theodore von Eltz is Nazir, the guide, and Edmund Breese of stage fame, Jawan.
Edward Knoblock's play was adapted and additional dialogue written by Howard Estabrook, and it was filmed under the direction of John Francis Dillon.
The settings, representing Baghdad, most colorful and exotic of cities at a time when it was the crossroads of the world of caravan routes, are extraordinary in art and lavishness.

CITY SCHOOL SYSTEM HARD HIT BY ILLNESS

Epidemic of Measles, Chicken Pox and Colds Cuts Attendance 15 Percent

The city school system has been hard hit by the epidemic of measles, chicken pox and influenza which has swept over this community the last several days, according to information given out this morning by J. H. Rose, superintendent of schools.

It was stated that the illness had resulted in a fifteen percent reduction of attendance of the entire system, the largest in the memory of school officials.

Although the major part of the student body was sticking tenaciously to their studies today, it was stated that many were suffering from colds, which in their most aggravated form, are said to resemble a light form of influenza.

Although no definite check has been made of the country school system, it was said that attendance had not been normal since the holiday season. Numbers of students in virtually every section of the county were reported ill, suffering principally from colds.

The epidemic of measles and chicken pox was believed to be more pronounced than any other time in years, and quarantine signs have appeared on scores of homes the last week or so.

Although Mr. Rose described the situation as the most serious confronting city schools since the "flu" epidemic over ten year ago, he expressed hope that the end of the week would see a decided improvement with enrollment considerably nearer normal than it was this morning.

ABOUT TOWN

Greenville high school basketball teams are playing the best brand of ball in years this season. Yet they have received mighty poor support from the public in the way of attendance. At the last game played by the girls in which they defeated one of the strongest teams in this part of the state, the receipts were not even sufficient to defray expenses of the game.

The public should exhibit more interest in the progress of the youngsters than that. Think what it would mean to them if the auditorium was crowded, and gate receipts were good. They would be inspired to climb over all difficulties and merge at the end of the season with the championship dangle from their belt.

In defeating Roanoke Rapids, the girls claimed the distinction of becoming the only undefeated club in the conference. Prior to that time Roanoke Rapids and Greenville had enjoyed the honor together, and the clash here was watched with interest from sports lovers of the cities.

While the boys have not been quite as successful as the girls, they are among the leaders of the conference and have hopes of regaining the conference lead in a few days. Illness of the principal players figured largely in the last game and prevented Greenville from walking away with honors.

If you have not seen the boys and girls in action this season, why not attend the next game and let them convince you they have the best clubs the city has had in many a day. You will enjoy the thrill of the clash and return home happy in the fact that you have done your part by the support of the athletics department.

People have been wondering how the Legislature was going to reduce taxes on land and then operate the government under normal conditions.

They now have the solution, or at least something to show them what the solution may look like when finally completed.

The shortage of funds, it has been stated, is to come about through a sales tax and two bills have already been introduced for this purpose.

The Legislature, however, has not yet had time to act, and this will give opponents of such a tax time to marshal their forces and get ready for battle.

A sales tax of any kind has been fought by the business interests of the state over a period of many years, and it is expected they will offer just as much opposition this time.

But, fight or no fight the Legislature has been told most emphatically that the tax burden must be lifted from land and put somewhere else, and this the solons are going to do before the present session is over. It may not be a sales tax, but it will be something else that will create probably just as much disturbance and call forth just as much criticism.

The Legislators, poor fellows, have a big task on their shoulders, and if they get by without incurring any criticism they should be "especially lauded as perfect" and placed in the hall of fame.

the next few years and give more of their time and attention to the cultivation of the things which they use in their own homes. This would give the big companies time to dispose of some of the surplus crop and at the same time open up a new source of revenue for the growers.

For some unknown cause, consumption of tobacco products has fallen off noticeably the last several months. It may be due to depression or what not, but even if this were not so the surplus still exists, making it impossible for the companies to buy as heavily as they used to do.

Pitt county farmers were told practically the same thing during the live-at-home campaign here last week, and with all of these men who are in position to know, offering the same advice, there must be something to what they say. Growers, who heretofore have been slow to heed words of wisdom in this connection should pause and deliberate this year before planting, and in that way go about their work confident that they know what they are doing.

It ought not to be necessary to impress the people of this great fertile farming district with the fact that Greenville is the logical place to do their shopping.

This fact has been proven to the satisfaction of everybody so much and so long that nobody should have any doubt as to the nature of the things he will be offered when he trades here or the kind of prices he is going to have to pay.

Holding tenaciously to its distinction as the "principal shopping center of Eastern Carolina," Greenville is forever offering special inducements to the people of the great trade territory which it serves from year to year, and each season will see prices and quality in strict conformity with the largest shopping centers of the country.

It matters not what you may need in the way of merchandise, come to Greenville on your next shopping tour and be convinced that this is indeed the proper place to buy.

CRIMINAL ELEMENT ON THE QUIET IN COUNTY

The criminal element was unusually apathetic in Pitt county during the week-end just closed and county officers didn't make a single arrest, it was stated at the office of Sheriff Whitehurst this morning.

This was described as a record for the new year, although the criminal class has been strangely inactive the last several months. Only a minor number of arrests were made during the previous week-end, the sheriff said.

SIX COUPLES APPLY FOR LICENSES TO WED IN PITT

Employees of Register of Deeds, J. C. Gaskin's office who predicted that Saturday would witness a certain degree of activity among the love-lorn in Pitt county knew what they were talking about judging by the records on display in that office this morning.

Covering considerable territory in this and surrounding counties Dan Cupid was instrumental in the sending of six couples to the office of the registrar of deeds to obtain licenses to marry. Although applications for licenses have been continuing almost daily since the first of the year, it is possible that Saturday set a new high mark for the year, although the previous week-end furnished plenty of competition.

Two of the couples obtaining licenses Saturday were white and the remainder colored. They were R. C. Lancaster, of Vanceboro to Miss Pearl Lilly, of Vraven county, David Dixon, of Craven county, to Miss Irene Skittlethorpe of Greenville.

Colored: Oscar Taylor to Nisher Greeman, both of Greenville; J. H. Daniel to Nannie Daniel, Greenville; J. T. Speight to Mable Edwards, both of the Farmville community.

McBride Thinks Wets Are Losing Still More Ground

Raleigh, Jan. 17.—(AP)—The prediction today of F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the anti-Saloon League of America was that it will take the wets "a billion years at the rate they are going" to get enough strength in Congress to repeal prohibition.

Mr. McBride here yesterday to a meeting of the board of trustees of the North Carolina branch of the league, said he believed prohibition enforcement conditions were "better than they have ever been before."

The board, its leaders announced, drew up plans for a militant 1931 program "in each city and section of the state."

PRaises Work OF THE ROUND TABLE PARLEY

Ramsay MacDonald Makes Pronouncement On the British Policy In India

London, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Ramsay MacDonald, in his long-awaited pronouncement on British policy in India, today told delegates to the Indian round table conference that he accepted the idea of an all-Indian federation as the desire of the round table delegates.

"It is a great achievement," he said, "both for India and Great Britain. We are grateful to you." The Indians, said the prime minister, must settle their own communal disputes, for Britain is neither pro-Hindu, pro-Moslem, nor pro any section of the Indian population.

"The attitude of the British government," he told the assembled delegates, "is nothing more than an overpowering desire to let you settle your own affairs."

He said he did not like the idea of placing "safeguards" about the proposed Indian government, but he pointed out that they exist in every constitution of the world.

"It is not that we want to interfere," he said, "but such safeguards as the financial safeguards which are proposed are necessary to keep India right in the eyes of the world."

He declared that all Indian communities, small and great, must be safeguarded in any constitution for India.

It was interpreted as a reference to Mahatma Gandhi when he said he regretted that all the elements an India were not represented at the round table.

"He who stirs up dissension and suspicion among any people is doing a disservice," he said.

One of his most important pronouncements was a promise to grant amnesty to political prisoners in India if appeals made in their behalf at the round table conference are responded to in India by civil quiet and order.

He said also that the necessary steps would be taken for the separation of Burma from India. This was an outstanding issue of the conference.

The delegates followed his every word with rapt attention as he read a declaration by the government deciding to transfer full responsibility for the government of India to the federal and provincial legislatures.

The work of negotiations for the future Indian government will be continued without interruption, he said, but details of the structure are still to be decided upon.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Journalists Sees End of Depression

Chapel Hill, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Full of expressed enthusiasm over the business outlook for the future, North Carolina editors and publishers swung today into the final session of the annual state newspaper institute.

The institute, held at the University of North Carolina, opened Wednesday with adjournment set for today.

Discussing their problems and the present business outlook at conferences yesterday, the journalists expressed confidence that the period of depression was nearing an end. The consensus appeared to be that decided improvement might be expected by spring.

Turning last night to more strictly journalistic matters, the editors and publishers heard Mark Sullivan, nationally known newspaper man, advise them against essaying the role of a prophet in public affairs.

"A newspaper prophet," Sullivan said, "is not only without honor in his own country but is without honor in any other country."

Although it is the business of the Washington journalist to make prognostications regarding national politics and public trends, he urged his hearers to avoid "prophesying" as you would avoid a plague.

Other speakers yesterday included Fred Fuller Shedd, managing editor of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin and publisher of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, and Albert Coates, professor of criminal law at the University.

Sore Throats and Coughs

Quickly Relieved By This Safe Prescription

Here's a doctor's prescription called Thoxine that is really throat insurance. Its success is due to its quick double action. With the very first swallow it soothes the sore throat and stops the coughing. It goes direct to the internal cause.

The remarkable thing about Thoxine is that while it relieves almost instantly it contains nothing harmful, and is pleasant tasting and safe for the whole family. Singers and speakers find Thoxine very valuable. Put up ready for use in 35c, 60c, and $1.00 bottles. Your money back if not satisfied. Sold by Pitt Drug Co., and all other good drug stores.

Way to Get At a Cold Is Through the Bowels

As soon as you catch cold, the pores close; perspiration is checked. Gases and waste can't escape through the skin. That's why your doctor's first advice in case of colds is a mild laxative like Casercin. Medical authorities agree it actually strengthens bowel muscles. You get Casercin in its most pleasant form in candy Casercin.

Remember this when you catch cold; whenever breath is bad; tongue coated; or you're headachy, bilious, constipated.

Why resort to harsher things when Casercin activates the bowels so quickly, so harmlessly and pleasantly—and cost only a dime?

COTTON MARKET

New York, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today, 3 points higher on old January contracts, but generally 1 to 2 points lower in response to the relatively easy Liverpool cables.

There was some foreign trade buying here at the decline, while offerings were light with little or no southern selling in evidence and after showing net losses of 3 or 4 points on the more active months, prices held fairly steady at the end of the first half hour. March sold off to 10.16 and July to 10.62 under the initial pressure but showed rallies of a point or two later on trade buying and covering.

Liverpool cables said that hedging and Continental liquidation in that market had been absorbed by covering with the undertone steady in sympathy with steadiness in the market for Egyptian cotton at Alexandria. The cotton goods market in Manchester was reported inactive with the weaving lock-out restricting business.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Jan. 19.—(AP)—United States visibly supply decreases gave impetus to late upturns in grains today. Tough weather prevalent over the corn belt was also a strengthening factor. Trade lacked volume, and the markets flustered nervously.

Wheat closed irregular, at 1-4 cent decline to 5-8 advance, corn 5-8 to 1 cent up, oats unchanged to 1-2 cent higher, and provisions varying from 2 cents setback to an equal rise.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Jan. 19.—(AP)—The financial markets began a new week reluctantly today, thoroughly under the blue Monday influence.

Share prices drifted moderately lower, with a few prominent issues breaking their 1930 minimum levels, but bear prodding failed to bring out important liquidation, and the market seemed to have been sold almost to a standstill. Trading was in extremely slim volume, the bond division was likewise apathetic, although prices there showed a fairly good undertone.

The share list eased 1 to 3 points during the morning, stiffened for a time around mid-day, and again eased off in the early afternoon. Bethlehem Steel, Westinghouse Electric and Allied Chemical sagged more than a point to breaks through previous lows. Other shares losing a point or more included American Can, Eastman, American Telephone, North American, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Dupont, Johns Manville, Woolworth, American Rolling Mills, American Tobacco B and Air Reduction. Issues off 2 to 3 included Coca Cola, Kellogg, Lackawanna, Lambert and Western Union. U. S. Steel and Radio eased fractionally and General Electric nearly a point.

The share market was again under the influence of uncertainty over the disclosures of the annual earnings statements about to appear, with such important dividend readjustments as may be indicated. The comparative stability of indices of business activity from November to December, now that the figures are available, has led to the sanguine hope that the depression has reached bottom, but the financial community is evidently anxious to take a more accurate measure of the shrinkage in corporate profits, before beginning to discount the prospects of recovery.

The bond market is being watched more carefully than stocks for signs of improvement. While the better grade new bonds offered publicly last week found a ready market, it is understood that dealers are still left holding a substantial amount of the new issues.

WOMAN GIVES CURE FOR ALL FUTURE WARS

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt Also Gives Conference Some of the Causes of War

Washington, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Carrie Chapman Catt, veteran advocate of world peace, opening today the sixth annual conference on cause and cure of war, defined what she termed "the one cause, the one cure."

From countless definitions submitted, Mrs. Catt said the studies of the "given women's organizations in the conference had simmered down to this:

"Competition in armament building is the chief cause of war."

"Pacts of peace and of disarmament are the chief cures of war."

All nations now recognize these facts, Mrs. Catt said, whereas six years ago there was "a veritable mental and political chaos on the subject of peace and war."

"The crucial question now is, how may our nation be persuaded to assume world leadership in the peace movement—a question which we ought to answer before we part," she concluded.

From James G. McDonald, chairman of the foreign policy association, came an assertion that the United States had a "checked record" last year in the path toward peace and Europe took "a step backward for nearly every step forward."

The Young reparation plan was a distinct advance over the Dawes plan, he said, "but owing to rapid fall in prices, German's payments, in gold, are approximately 20 per cent more difficult to bear than was anticipated."

In June Germany rejoiced in the Rhineland being freed of French troops, but in September the Fascists, who demanded scrapping of the treaty of Versailles, increased their popular vote by more than five millions.

Even the London Naval conference, which resulted in an agreement of limitation of naval vessels between the United States, Great Britain and Japan, he held responsible for the disagreement between France and Italy which leaves them today "farther apart than before their representatives went to London."

Teach Federal Officers How to Enforce Dry Law

Charlotte, Jan. 19.—(AP)—A school to teach the Federal Prohibition agents of North Carolina more about the business of holding the liquor traffic in the state in abeyance opened today in this city.

W. H. Krause and Davide B. Paul, two expert enforcement officers, from the Richmond district headquarters, were the instructors.

In accordance with the educational program of Ames "W. W. The Woodcock program calls for two weeks instruction of every officer in the prohibition service.
