House Passes Score Of Bills Today As Senate Debates School Measure

Bill Seeking Clearer Definition of Illegal Punchboards And Slot Machines Are Among Measures Passed By Lower Body; Also Vote for Resolution Asking Congress to Pass Measure for Cash Payment of Veterans Compensation Certificates

Raleigh, Jan. 29.—(AP)—While the Senate continued debate on the MacLean school bill today the House waded through a heavy calendar to pass a score of bills, including a measure to define illegal punchboards and slot machines and regulate their use.

As its last act of the day the House unanimously passed the joint resolution of Senator Johnson of Duplin asking Congress to immediately pay world war veterans certificates, and also approved the resolution of Senator Johnson of Moore asking Congress to delay foreclosure of mortgages by federal land banks doing business in North Carolina.

The Senate approved seven local measures before Senator Ward of Craven opened the discussion of the MacLean bill. He was followed by Senators Folger of Surry and Ward of Beaufort and all supported the measure, opposing the Campbell amendment offered yesterday.

Senator Grier of Iredell spoke against the measure. The finance sub-committee this morning tentatively agrees to include in its bill to allow relief to counties and sub-divisions in financial straits that the county government advisory commission be abolished and a local government finance commission created.

The county government advisory commission on the other hand, would be made more effective under a bill introduced today by Senator Wheeler of Perquimans.

During the debate on the MacLean bill threats that "the counties will not operate their schools" were made by Senator Ward of Beaufort. After Senator Grier finished his attack on the bill during which he stated that he did not think the taxes on farmers of the state were unjust, motion was made for recess until tonight.

The Senate recessed at 2 o'clock until 8:30 tonight without taking a vote on the bill. A motion to set 10 o'clock tonight as the hour for a vote on the question was ruled out of order when it was opposed.

Senator Folger said he was going to vote for the MacLean bill without the Campbell amendment, which was offered yesterday, as he interpreted the measure as a resolution. He asked the senators to consider the bill "as an urge to do more by the children of this state in barren counties."

Senator Ward of Beaufort called attention to the many farms and hopes being advertised for sale for years throughout the state. He asserted that continuation of excessive taxes on land will convert the landowners into tenants, "which means our civilization will stagger."

The state is as cruel to its counties as death," Senator Ward said. He charged that for years the schools have been operated by the counties under a misconception of the constitution and a misconception of the duties of the state. Among the bills passed by the General Assembly today were:

Blount of Pitt, to validate acts of Justices of the Peace in Pitt county.

Holmes, of Pitt, relating to criminal jurisdiction of mayor of Farmville.

Flight of DO-X to Spain Delayed Until Saturday

Lisbon, Portugal, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Departure of the DO-X, giant German flying boat, on a trans-Atlantic flight to Brazil, was delayed today until Saturday to permit further tests of newly arranged motors and recent wing repairs.

The start of the trip originally was planned for today but it was said that a trial flight yesterday morning failed to give complete satisfaction. The ship's route will be by way of Madeira, the Cape Verde Islands, the Canary Islands, and Natal to Rio de Janeiro.

Captain Friedrich Christensen said this morning that the start was definitely fixed for Saturday, providing of course that the weather is good. This afternoon the motors were thoroughly inspected.

Confessed Slayer of Six Members Of Same Family Lynched By Mob In N. D.

Charles Brannon, confessed slayer of six members of same family, lynched by mob in N. D.

Charles Brannon Taken From Jail At Schafer and Hanged On Bridge Two Miles From Town; Father of Man, Held in Connection With Sensational Crime, Not Molested

Schafer, N. D., Jan. 29.—(AP)—One day before Charles Brannon, 22, was to have been arraigned on charges of murdering a family of six, he was taken from the McKenzie county jail here shortly after last midnight by a crowd of 30 men and hanged from a bridge.

Bannon was arrested last November after he had sold hogs belonging to A. E. Haven, a farmer for whom he worked. He confessed to slaying Mr. and Mrs. Haven and their four children last February. He pleaded with the mob in behalf of his father, James F. Bannon, also held for the crime, who was not molested.

The men, all masked and some of them armed, battered down the jail door. The leaders asked Deputy Sheriff Peter S. Hallan for the prisoners. Upon his refusal they overpowered him, broke into Bannon's cell and departed with him in automobiles, first tying up Sheriff F. A. Thompson who was aroused by the noise.

Bannon's body was found some time later. It was cut down and brought here.

Although the mob was intent only on getting Charles Bannon, the latter pleaded that his father be not harmed. "Save my Dad," he urged. He was told that the elder Bannon "would be given a chance" with the courts and would not be hanged by them.

Reaching the bridge, a one-inch rope was produced from a car, it was fastened to the railing and a slip-knot placed around Bannon's neck. He was pushed off the rail and dropped about twenty feet. The mob dispersed. No shots were fired and, save for the sheriff and his deputy being tied up, no one else was bothered.

Sheriff Thompson, who lives two blocks from the jail, was seized when he came to investigate the noise of the timbers breaking down the doors.

Young Bannon was brought to the McKenzie county jail here several days ago from the Williams county jail at Williston, N. D., where he had been held for safekeeping since his arrest. He and his father were to have been arraigned tomorrow on first degree murder charges for the Haven slaying.

Officials estimated that 80 men were in the mob. All wore masks and some were armed. They gathered quietly at the jail and then, using huge timbers, battered down the front door of the place.

Leaders of the attackers argued with Deputy Hallan for some time in an endeavor to get keys for the cells. Hallan, however, refused to say where they were and the leaders left. They returned within a few moments, however, and using the timbers again, smashed down a steel door to reach young Bannon.

Confessed by Charles Bannon early in December that he had slain Mr. and Mrs. Haven and their four children climaxed one of the sensational crimes in North Dakota's history.

Bannon had been employed on the Haven farm, near Schafer, which is in northwestern North Dakota. Last February he told the authorities, that after a quarrel, he shot and killed first one, and then another of the Havens and buried their remains in a barn on the place.

He told friends and neighbors that the Havens had left the farm and had gone to live in Oregon. No suspicion was attached to him until late in November when he was arrested on a charge of selling property that did not belong to him—hogs from the Havens farm.

He was questioned repeatedly about the whereabouts of the Havens. Checking in Oregon failed to locate them. Finally he told the authorities he had helped bury a baby which he said Mrs. Haven had killed during a fit of insanity.

He held the officers to where the baby was buried. Further questioning and search eventually led to all the bodies and a confession that he alone was responsible.

FLAYS VIEWS OF MELLON ON VETS BONUS

Rep. Patman, Texas Democrat, Testifies Before Senate Finance Committee

Washington, Jan. 29.—(AP)—While Secretary Mellon again today was voicing his objections to cash payments on veterans compensation certificates, his recommendations were attacked by Representative Patman as being tempered by personal views.

The Texas Democrat, in testimony before the Senate finance committee, said "We all know Secretary Mellon has been against veterans legislation."

"His feelings naturally cause him to make estimates in accordance with his opinions," Patman said. "His feelings are such that his mistakes are always against veterans."

Patman added that he did not mean to imply Mellon "is dishonest or there is any corruption."

The secretary who appeared yesterday before the committee, meanwhile retreated before the House ways and means committee his objections to cash payments now.

Chairman Hawley asked Undersecretary Mills what funds were available for cash payments.

"Not a penny," Mills replied. J. Thomas Taylor, legislative representative of the American Legion, said before the Senate committee his organization had taken no stand on the question of whether the full face value or the current value of the certificates should be paid.

Taylor presented the resolution passed by the national executive committee of the Legion at Indianapolis last Sunday.

Members of the committee asked what the resolution meant by endorsing "the principle of immediate cash retirement but Taylor said he could not interpret the phrase.

"It means it rests with Congress what method should be adopted," Taylor said.

Thomas Kirby, national legislative chairman of the Disabled American Veterans, told the committee cashing the certificates would not only benefit the veterans but would be "an extremely valuable method of meeting the national depression."

Kirby urged early enactment of legislation to provide more hospital space for disabled veterans. Their program, he said, calls for 5,000 beds at a cost of $15,000,000.

"The cash bonus is needed," Kirby said "but the hospitalization program is the thing most imperatively needed at the present time."

TWENTY-NINE MINERS DEAD AFTER BLAST

Remaining Members of Crew in Little Betty Coal Mine in Indiana Rescued

Linton, Ind., Jan. 29.—(AP)—The lives of 29 miners were snuffed out in an explosion at the Little Betty coal mine near here late yesterday. With the rescue of two men last night and seven more this morning, all of the men in the mine had been accounted for.

Identification of the victims proceeded slowly. Many of the bodies were so badly burned and disfigured a check of the dead was made difficult.

The cause of the explosion had not been definitely ascertained this morning. Soon after the blast, it was understood the accident had been caused by a spark igniting a quantity of blasting powder. Later reports, however, stated the explosive had been found intact and that the disaster was the result of a gas explosion.

The dreaded "black damp" quickly filled the passages of the mine and hampered the work of rescue troops.

The men who were rescued this morning had barricaded themselves in an entry off one of the main entries.

Dioscean Convention To Close During Afternoon After Eventful Session

Next General Gathering of the Episcopal Church to Be Held At Edenton; Dr. John Wood, Foreign Missions Secretary, Principal Speaker Last Night; Bishop Darst Declares Convention Great Success

Despite chaotic conditions existing in some of the foreign mission lands, the work of the church is progressing, declared Dr. John Wood, treasurer of the general church, speaking at the 48th annual convention of the Episcopal Diocese of Eastern Carolina at St. Paul's church here last night.

The address came as a climax to the opening day of the convention and was heard by a congregation that taxed the new church building to capacity. The convention will close this afternoon with an address by Miss Agnes Taylor, of Chicago.

Introduced by Bishop Thomas C. Darst as a man who is playing a dominant part in carrying the teachings of the Bible to foreign lands, Dr. Wood brought to the convention a graphic picture of what the church is doing in the foreign missions field.

He paid a glowing tribute to the splendid service which the Eastern Carolina Diocese had rendered in this field of activity, and said it proved an inspiration to the national organization. He declared the diocese could always be counted upon to put forth a forward-looking program from year to year, and that it had set a pace which had stimulated the entire church body.

He declared he brought a word of good cheer from the national church in view of the fact that they were able to close the year without any deficit. This situation was made possible through the splendid co-operation of the various churches of the nation and the untiring effort of members to live up to their responsibilities, the speaker said.

U. S. Offers Apology For Gen. Butler's Remarks; Butler Court Martialled

Governor Gains Support In Plans To Reorganize The Highway Commission

Chief Executive Explodes Another Bombshell in Camps of Opposition By Announcing Receipt of Letters From Frank Page and Thomas McDonald, Chief of U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, Backing Proposed Changes; Declare Reorganization Necessary

Raleigh, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Governor Gardner today hurled another bombshell at opponents of his plans to reorganize the State Highway Commission by making public letters from Frank Page, former highway commissioner, and Thomas H. MacDowell, chief of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, backing him.

At the same time the governor issued a statement declaring their approval is his reply "to the critics of the proposed reorganization who appeared before the joint road committee Tuesday."

"If approval of my program from those personally and professionally equipped to give sound advice based on accurate knowledge and personal experience is of value in checking the alarm of those critics who fear we may adopt a half-baked program or a pork-barrel basis of building highways, I today offer competent evidence, the testimony of Frank Page and Thomas H. MacDowell," the governor said.

"I am sure the General Assembly and the citizens of this state will be interested in learning what both Mr. Page who built our 9,000 miles of hard-surface roads, and Mr. MacDowell think of the administration's program on roads and highways," he added.

Mr. Page wrote that "I am convinced that both the highway districts and the present method of allocation of funds should be abolished, and that the state highway system should be a state system in the future rather than a nine-district system."

He said when the present highway law was enacted in 1921, "it seemed wise to divide the state into nine districts and allocate the funds to these various districts upon a basis of road mileage, population and area, as compared to the total road mileage, population and area of the state."

"But conditions have changed entirely in these eleven years," he continued, "and now the state highway system, so far as construction work is concerned, is practically completed. . . . During the last year of my association with the State Highway Commission, there were many instances which convinced me the road system of the state had outgrown the present method of allocation of funds and that, for the best interests of the whole system, these limitations of expenditures should be abolished."

He added that he believed in centralized authority and responsibility to produce efficient administration.

Mr. MacDowell wrote that he highly approved of the governor's plan to abolish the present highway system and transfer its functions to a department of highways; to abolish the nine highway districts and permit the creation of such other administrative districts as may be required, and to make the state highway engineer the head of the bureau of highways and to provide for his appointment by the commissioner.

"In every state where outstanding results have been secured," he wrote, "they are primarily due to the lodging of authority in a competent individual."

He added that by personal experience he knows that "in North Carolina it is absolutely necessary to restore centralized control under the state highway engineer over the engineering policies and personnel."

Secretary Stimson Expresses Regret to Mussolini for the Charges Made By Fiery Marine Commandant; Butler Placed Under Arrest and Ordered to Confine Himself in Barracks at Quantico, Va.; Stimson Says Butler Admitted Statement Made At Philadelphia

Washington, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The United States Government apologized today to Premier Mussolini of Italy because of a recent speech in Philadelphia by Major General Medley D. Butler of the Marines, in which remarks derogatory to the premier figured.

Secretary Stimson in a note handed Italian Ambassador De Martino today formally apologized to Signor Mussolini and the Italian people of the remarks made by Butler.

Only a short while before Secretary Adams had ordered a court martial for the celebrated marine officer. Butler had been reported subtly as saying he had been told martial seemed fair to assume De Martino's automobile struck a child and that the Premier drove on without stopping.

Secretary Adams while not divulging his explanation of the incident said today that on the strength of the order for the court by a friend that Signor Mussolini accused the "substance of his alleged Philadelphia remarks, criticizing Mussolini."

"Having learned from the Navy Department that Major General Medley D. Butler, United States Marine Corps," a formal statement by Stimson said, "has admitted that the quotation of his remarks in the press was substantially correct, I have this morning handed a note to the Italian ambassador, expressing to Signor Mussolini and to the Italian people the deep regret to this government at this unauthorized action on the part of an officer on active duty."

Ambassador De Martino called on the secretary at the latter's request to receive the note. The ambassador expressed satisfaction after his conference with the secretary that the American government had acted to ameliorate what was considered by the Italians an affront to Italy.

Secretary Adams ordered court martial after reading the fiery marine officer's explanation of a speech in Philadelphia which aroused Premier Mussolini of Italy.

Butler's commander, Major General Fuller, immediately called the former and ordered him to place himself under arrest. He was also told to confine himself to his barracks at Quantico, Va. Butler commands the marine post there.

He has registered a formal protest against General Butler's remarks and the address has become an international incident.

The Italian ambassador, De Martino, called at the State Department today and was informed of the action.

Secretary Stimson said he might issue a statement later in the day.

Butler was quoted in his speech as saying he had been told by a friend that the Italian Premier's motor car struck a child and that the duke drove on. Mussolini quickly informed his embassy here that he had done no such thing.

The specific charge against Butler was not made public nor was his letter.

He has had to explain speeches before to the navy secretary, but did so satisfactorily. The general returned to his Quantico post after another speech in Philadelphia last night. Marine officers there, however, said "he was unable to come to the telephone."

Shortly after the Italian protest General Butler declined to comment.

Butler is known in the marine corps as a fearless officer, but he has been in trouble before because of speeches.

He was called in by Secretary Adams in 1929 to explain an address he made about the marines in connection with Nicaragua elections. He satisfied the navy secretary, however, that he had been misrepresented and the matter was dropped.

The general's career as a director of public safety in Philadelphia was spectacular but he returned to the marines after trouble with city officials.

Adams in his first announcement did not give the specific charge against Butler.

V-C FERTILIZERS FILL EVERY ROW WITH PROFITS.

"When markets drop, some farmers let their next crop go hungry for fertilizer. But that's not the way to save," says Arthur M. Hyde, Secretary of Agriculture. The right way to cut production costs is to use more fertilizer, good V-C fertilizer, and to grow bigger crops, better crops, on fewer acres.

"The cultivation of the earth is the most important labor of man."—Daniel Webster

"A great many farmers are inclined to buy fertilizer simply on the basis of price. But fertilizers should be bought on the basis of Quality."—J. M. Purdon, Atlantic Coast Line Railroad.

It's not what a farmer can raise, but what he can sell at a profit, that makes the money.

What's inside the bag?

First, see what's on the outside. Analysis, sources, other statements, are printed there with the name of the company that filled the bag. What name is this? Virginia-Carolina Chemical Corporation? Then everything that is promised outside is contained inside the bag—for this name is a name you can depend on, a name that means you get what you buy.

"What the farmer really sells is dirt and air in attractive packages," says Dr. Edward E. Slosson. You can't do anything about the air, but you can make dirt rich with V-C Fertilizers.

CHERNAVSKY TRIO HERE TOMORROW EVENING

Tomorrow evening at 8:30 o'clock in the campus building of East Carolina Teachers College, the Cherniavsky Trio will be heard in their third concert before a college and Greenville audience. Both times before they have received with enthusiasm, and this, the third time they will receive a warm welcome.

Those who have heard them in the past expect to get double enjoyment from the playing of these artists, because the rich experience the artists had during the three years of their successful world-wide concert tour will doubtless have its effect on their playing.

At the morning assembly hour today, Miss Gorrell, teacher of piano and violin, gave the college students a most enjoyable and illuminating talk, telling about the men themselves and explaining the program so that they can follow intelligently the various numbers. She gave interesting little incidents throwing light on the personalities of the men and repeated expressions of appreciation that she heard from those who had heard them. When they first played here there were some who had fears that the music would be too heavy or that they would not enjoy the concert because they were not musicians, but found they were carried away with it.

Tomorrow evening tickets will be sold at the door. Children, which term includes high school students, will be admitted at half price.

One month from tomorrow evening Albert Spalding will be the attraction at the college.

Golden Rule Check Campaign Under Way In the City Today

Merchants of Greenville today began issuing "Golden Rule" checks to stimulate the payment of accounts during the next ten days.

One hundred checks with ten places for endorsement for $10 each will bring in a total of $1,000 on persons receiving them are expected to apply them on account with somebody else. The hundred checks will bring in a total of $10,000 on old accounts and help to stimulate business to no little extent.

The following directions are contained on the check: "Fill in this check to someone you owe, have same certified by the bank, pass same to party you owe, who will give you credit on account with the understanding he will handle it in a like manner. This method will continue until the tenth endorsement is secured, when the holder may receive cash for same. It is understood and agreed that where anyone holds the check more than 24 times it becomes worthless and void."

Says Independent Merchants Holding Own Against Chain

Washington, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, believes the independent retail merchant is holding his own in competition with the chain store.

Basing his conclusions on data collected on a tour of the midwest, he is outspoken in his opinion that the local independent, engaged in the stiffest commercial contest in modern times, is achieving a considerable measure of victory.

"The new chain store extensions are taking their first experience with seriously slackened business," Dr. Klein observed, "and my idea is that the impact on adversity has not been any lighter upon this relatively new form of retail organization than upon the traditional independents."

In my opinion, chain stores, in spite of the recent growth in numbers of their units, are not doing much more than 15 per cent of the country's retailing. Of course, they are holding a larger per cent of the grocery trade, perhaps purveying 35 per cent of the American food supply, but the advance has been checked there.

"It has been rather noticeable that the local grocer has been able to dig in and fight back, and to use cooperative methods of equaling chain service, which is his real hope."

Where to Throw Huge Dam's Dirt Puzzles Bidders

Las Vegas, Nev.—(AP)—Wanted: Some place to put 3,700,000 cubic yards of rock and dirt. Notify engineers for Hoover dam project.

With waste land surrounding the dam site on every side, the engineers are still finding a baffling problem in planning removal of excavated material. Sheer cliffs tower hundreds of feet above the Colorado river bed, and loom as forbidding barriers to the removal of material to higher ground, where it will not interfere with future work, nor hamper normal flow of water below the dam site.

More than 75 prospective bidders have been in Las Vegas to study topographical conditions at the dam site, preparatory to making bids which will be opened in Denver on March 4.

The ruggedness of surrounding territory and the confined area of the dam site, engineers say, presents enormous problems.

Two coffer dams must be built first. Otherwise some of the 1,800,000 cubic yards of dirt and rock to be gouged from the river bed and canyon walls could be utilized for the temporary barriers.

Another 1,900,000 cubic yards must come out of the rock walls themselves for the four diversion tunnels, each 50 feet in diameter and approximately 4,000 feet long. Through these the turbulent waters of the Colorado will flow around the dam site while construction goes forward.

Other physical disadvantages to be overcome, prospective bidders point out, are problems of transportation across the river, delivery of material on the canyon walls and location of machinery and equipment in the rough terrain.

While prospective bidders survey the situation, a 20-mile railroad spur from Boulder Junction to the government town site near completion. A power line is being built from San Bernardino, Cal., to the dam site.

EGYPT TO BUILD RADIO STATIONS IN THE MID-DESERT

Cairo.—(AP)—The Egyptian government plans to modernize the desert.

Under King Faud's proposed expansion program for radio, three large oases will be the sites of high-powered transmitting stations, while supplementary services will be had through six mobile stations located at strategic centers of Egypt and the Libyan desert.

Radio engineers, acting with government agencies, have left here to begin the installation of sets at the Great Oasis of the Interior; at Siwa, the oasis of Jupiter and Ammon, and at Bahariya, the oasis of the North.

Some idea of technical difficulties to be overcome is seen in preliminary studies at various sites, which showed a noon temperature of 140 degrees and a night temperature below zero.

A similar program, on a modified scale, is being undertaken by King Inbu Saud throughout his Arabian kingdom.

England Gapes At Ford Plant On Thames River

Dagenham, England.—(AP)—Before a wide-eyed congregation of conservative British industry, Henry Ford's engineers are rearing here a brain-child of concrete, glass and steel in a huge automobile factory.

In this structure, which takes advantage of every stray beam of English sunlight, workmen will have "no more privacy than goldfish" as they assemble 1,000 automobiles daily when the production peak is reached.

Built on what was formerly a "spoil bank" on the Thames, the factory also serves to reclaim a large section of waste land.

Even as the Chicago packers are heralded as using all the hog save the squeal so will the new factory take advantage of the surroundings.

According to officials it is planned to salvage considerable quantities of the old waste, extracting by a magnetic conveyor every sizable particle of iron or steel scrap.

This would be used as part of the flux for the giant foundries, while the residue of old, dried, would be fed into fires which generate steam for the manufacture of electricity. The electrical equipment of this new factory will have a capacity equal to requirements of a city of 250,000. Production is forecast for the fall of 1931.

Driving approximately 13,500 piles of 50, 60, 70 and even 80 feet into the ground, no two areas of the 500 marshy acres reclaimed presented the same problem to engineers.

In some cases bedrock in small quantities was reached within 20 feet of the surface. In other places some of the longer piles were still "floating" after their tops had been shot below ground.

Long Pipelines Soon May Cut Gasoline Costs

Tulsa, Okla.—(AP)—A new era is dawning in the transportation and distribution of gasoline, the petroleum industry's principal money product.

Shipment of gasoline through pipelines built specially for the purpose is about to be inaugurated. By the first of February the Great Lakes Pipeline company expects to be conveying gasoline from Oklahoma refineries to Kansas City through a new underground carrier.

Work on a second gasoline pipeline from Borger, Tex., to St. Louis is being rushed by the Phillips Pipeline company, a subsidiary of the Phillips Petroleum company.

These are the first pipelines to be built expressly to carry gasoline, although the fuel previously has been shipped through Pennsylvania pipelines originally built for crude oil.

Material lessening of distribution costs and delivery of greater gallonage are advantages claimed for the new form of transportation.

The Great Lakes company estimates its line, which is to be extended as far north as Minneapolis and as far east as Chicago, will carry the refined product at a cost of about one cent a gallon for the long haul, as compared with 2.38 cents by rail.

Bulk stations at 50-mile intervals along the lines will serve adjacent territory. Engineers say the operating problems of dangers in transporting gasoline by pipelines do not vary greatly from those involved in the transportation of crude oil.

The Great Lakes Pipeline company was organized by the Barnsdall corporation and the Continental Oil company, but other companies have completed negotiations for use of the line.

The Phillips line will run from the company's Borger, Tex., refinery northeast to Wichita, Kas., thence to Kansas City and across Missouri to St. Louis. At the latter point docking facilities will be available for shipping by barge up the Mississippi to the Twin Cities, southward to Memphis and New Orleans, and eastward via the Ohio waterway to Louisville, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh.

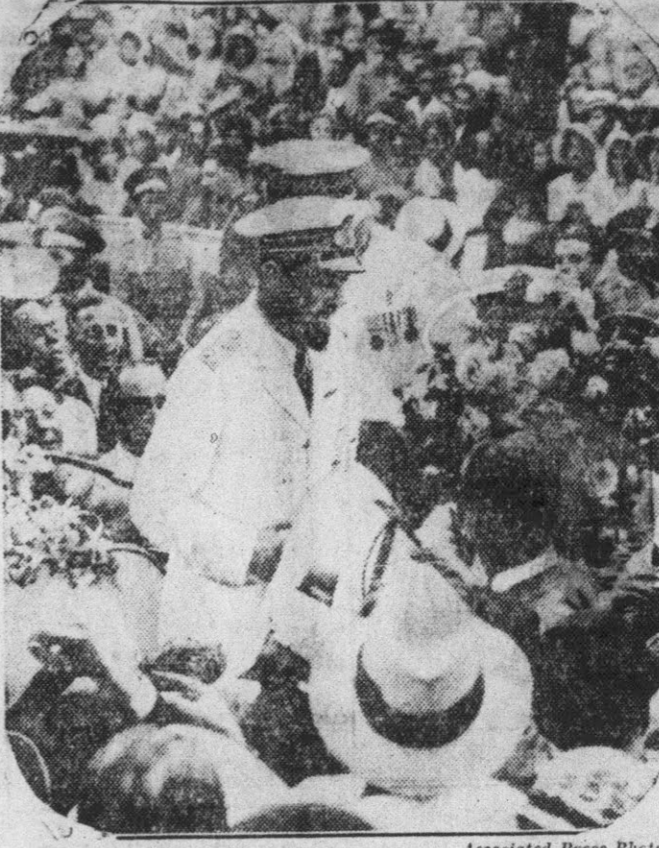

BREAD BOOTLEGGED FROM BELGIUM IRKS BAKERS OF FRANCE

Lille, France.—(AP)—The bootlegging of bread from Belgium into France has reached such proportions that the recent Congress of French Millers and Bakers asked the government to stop it.

Frenchmen residing along the Belgian frontier for some years have been authorized to purchase as long as the price in Belgium two pounds of bread in Belgium, and France remained about at par, these purchases were insignificant.

Recently, however, French bread soared, and with the difference in relative value of the currencies, helping the bootleggers, a wholesale traffic in loaves was organized. Proprietors of some large hotels and restaurants have been using Belgian bread exclusively.

Newest Secrets of Sea Are Told By Mathematics

La Jolla, Calif.—(AP)—Mathematics is taking over the depths of the sea as one of its latest fields of usefulness.

An oceanographer, sitting in his laboratory, can plot wind velocities, temperatures and the amount of salt in ocean water to map ocean currents with fair accuracy.

And he can predict velocities and directions of those currents at various depths with considerable certainty.

The mathematical method is considered especially appropriate for detailing with large-scale ocean currents, especially drifts which regulate climates of nations and even of continents, and which affect the fertility of the sea in food products.

How these indirect mathematical methods have been developed is described by Dr. George F. McEwen of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography of La Jolla.

The ocean rivers are so huge and complicated that complete observations of them upon and under the surface have been impossible.

Resourceful oceanographers have largely overcome this handicap by discovering the laws of motion of both surface and deep waters.

Winds give surface water a motion of about two per cent of the wind velocity. This is modified by depth, friction, temperature coast and bottom contours and the varying weight or density of the water. Even the earth's rotation is a she'll find it... lots of it... in our new collections.

About this time in January, a woman is usually afflicted with "mal-de-wardrobe." She needs a spirited print frock, or a springlike pastel. A coat with a bit of color, a chic suit. She needs, indeed, a change of clothes more than a change of climate. And she finds, as usual, plenty of the new models in our spring showing.

ABOUT TOWN

Pride and lust are large responsible for present day conditions, in the opinion of William F. Pelham, prominent Chicago business man and leader in the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, who spoke at the pre-convention banquet of the Eastern Carolina Episcopal Diocese here on Tuesday evening.

The remedy for this, he declared, is association with religion. The speaker made a profound impression upon the Brotherhood and it was expected his address would play an important part in bringing members to a realization of the important part which the church is playing in the life of the nation.

Pride is all right when properly applied, but it is to be tolerated in the slightest sense of the word, and the man or woman troubled by either should temper the first and get rid of the latter as soon as possible if they would prosper and be happy.

How to earn additional revenue will be one of the big problems faced by Pitt county farmers this year, and while many of them will solve it, there will be others in the same old rut at the end of the harvest season.

Among the extra money industries, tried out by growers in past years has been that of chicken raising. Not many have gone into the business on a large scale, but they have produced enough poultry to realize a comfortable income the last two or three years and this has done much toward relieving them of the depression experienced by those who failed to raise anything but the money crops.

The shipment of poultry will be at its height in this county the next month and money will begin rolling in to the farmers who had vision enough to look ahead and see the need of something to offset the losses of the main crops. It is impossible to say what the total income from poultry raising will amount to this year, but it is safe to say it will go into thousands of dollars.

Another good way to realize extra funds is through the raising of hogs. Like poultry raising, this industry has not reached any great scope in this section at the time, but it bids fair to increase as long as prices for the money crops remain below normal.

Through the production of the things they use at home from day to day, the growers should be prepared to weather most any kind of financial storm in the future, and keep the roof over their heads and the wolf away from the door.

A bill is before the legislature looking to a definition of illegal punchboards and slot machines and to provide punishment for their operation.

Legislation already exists for the operation of such things, but it is confused in the minds of law enforcement officers, and the situation has been little improved.

Wherever one goes these days he may see some kind of a slot machine or punchboard in operation. This is especially so in the case of small stores that have found sledding rather difficult during the period of depression.

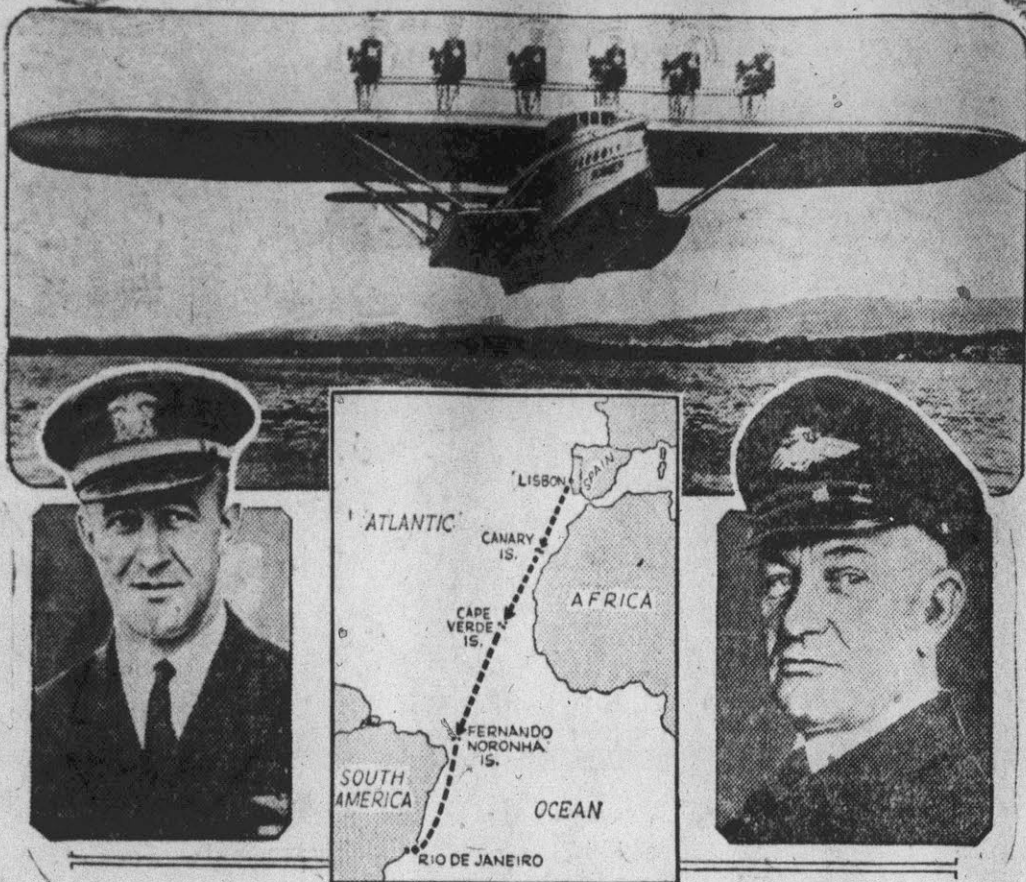

The legislature should not generalize too much in providing the definition. It should be direct and unequivocal and leave no loophole by which responsible parties can escape.

The county court docket this week consisted mainly of charges of larceny, showing to what extent thieves have carried on their operation in this community the last three weeks.

The same situation prevailed in criminal court last week when over a half hundred such cases were handled. Both courts had no alternative in such cases. They sent defendants to the county roads and to the pen, and they will continue to do so as long as people continue to steal.

Depression is given as a cause for some of the larceny cases, but the general run came about through a desire of the defendants to gain a livelihood other than through honest toil. In such cases the court should deal severely, and that they will do so in the future cannot be doubted after the sentences meted out the last two weeks.

Delegates to the convention of the Diocese of Eastern Carolina will leave this afternoon, bringing to an end the first gathering of the kind ever held here.

Greenville people will hope the visitors had a good time while here and that they took advantage of the city's slogan "Our Greenville, Yours if You Come."

Numbers of conventions of this kind have been entertained by the city the last two years, and the delegates always departed with expressions of gratitude for the splendid reception which they were accorded upon every hand.

Greenville is proud of the rapid stride made by the local congregation. The beautiful new church building and parish house in which the convention was held is a memorial to the wonderful work of leaders of the congregation who were always cheered by messages of inspiration from other churches.

The Episcopalians are planning to spend a total sum of four and a half million dollars on evangelistic, educational and social enterprises in all parts of the world, and the entire nation will watch them as they attempt to improve the condition of mankind through this spirit of generosity.

The convention was one of the best in years, and it is the hope of Greenville and Pitt county that the Diocesan gathering will not wait too long to come again.

Biggest Steel Mill In World Being Built In Russia

Magnetogorsk, U. S. S. R. —(AP)—Here, a thousand miles from any city of importance, the Soviet union is building one of the biggest steel mills in the world.

Americans who have seen it describe the place as "the Gary of Russia." It is rising from barren steppes in much the same manner as the steel town at the southern end of Lake Michigan mushroomed amid sand dunes of northern Indiana.

A city is springing up here, too, but thus far the town consists principally of shacks and tents. And as in World War days, when military mind of the United States looked to Gary as a lifesaver in case of disaster overseas, so the Soviet authorities are appealing to the patriotic sense of Russian workers to hasten the Magnetogorsk project to completion.

From the standpoint of invasion by a foreign army, the project would be classed as "impossible." It is more than 1,000 miles almost due east of Moscow near where Siberia and European Russia meet. The Magnetogorsk works alone would constitute an important military vertrieb for Soviet defense, both from the east and west. But it is only one link in a chain of such enterprises which the communist regime has planned at Niji-Tagil, Bakalsky, Sinarzky and Kuznetsk.

Like most of the big projects now under way in the union, Magnetogorsk is being bossed by American engineers, the Arthur G. McKee company of Cleveland having the contract.

Twenty McKee specialists are on the job, although the winter weather here runs the North Pole temperature a close second. But with 20,000 men working in three shifts of eight hours each the Americans must ignore the climate.

The huge metal plant is to be completed, according to "the five-year-plan," by 1933, but if work continues at the present pace engineers believe it will be in full operation before that time. Two of the big blast furnaces may be ready for work by the end of 1931.

While the Soviets may envisage the uninterrupted production of war materials here in the future, the first orders to be filled will be for the transport service of the Union.

"More metal" is the cry of the Soviet planners in their five-year scheme to build "the world's greatest industrial nation." So the Magnetogorsk steel mill will be surrounded by factories which will hasten the conversion of its products.

Nearly a number of machine building plants, including those for industrial and agricultural machinery, are to be erected. Foundation work is already underway for chemical plants and some smaller factories of the light industry class.

The first plant is at the foot of "magnet mountain" which is almost solid iron. No watch can be guaranteed to keep the right time in its vicinity and compasses are worthless. Preliminary estimates place the mountain's content at a billion tons of ore.

A little more than a year ago Magnetogorsk was a small village called Mazuraya. By the time the various factories are completed it is expected to have a population of more than 80,000. State and collective farms are being organized to furnish food for the coming city.

Lady Who Had Suffered Took Cardui Until She Felt Perfectly Well.

Huntington, W. Va.—How a West Virginia woman got rid of a nervous, painful condition is described below by Mrs. Nettie Meehling, of 50 "A" Street, this city, who writes:

"Twelve years ago, I was in bad health. I couldn't eat, sleep or work. My household tasks were a burden, and I had to drag around to get them done.

"I could not sleep a night through, and at the least time I would go all to pieces. My back ached and my limbs hurt, too. "I began taking Cardui because a friend urged me to do so. It was not long until I was feeling much better. My improvement was steady. I soon got so I could eat and sleep just like I did before I was taken sick. I continued taking Cardui until I felt perfectly well.

"Since that time I have taken Cardui when I was run-down and felt weak. I can recommend Cardui to other women for I found it a great help when I was ill."

SUNSHINE MELLOWS Heat Purifies

LUCKIES are always kind to your throat

The advice of your physician is: Keep out of doors, in the open air, breathe deeply; take plenty of exercise in the mellow sunshine, and have a periodic check-up on the health of your body.

Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why the "TOASTING" process includes the use of the Ultra Violet Rays. LUCKY STRIKE—the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED." MANAGEMENT DESCRIBED AS GRID TROUBLE

Atlanta, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The trouble with football in a vicious system of management in the opinion of Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe university.

"The fault lies in the vicious system of allowing alumni students and 'outside business men' to operate and control the athletic programs. Consequent lack of interest in and authority over athletics by the college faculties is at the bottom of all so-called evils of the game," Dr. Jacobs said.

"These schools would not consider turning over the operation of their chemistry department to students and alumni, but evidently, think nothing of placing one of the most important and most popular departments in their hands.

"The department of physical culture, including intercollegiate and intra-mural sports, should come under the faculties the same as any other class or subject, with the coach having direct supervision."

Dr. Jacobs favors the awarding of self-help scholarship to students, athlete or non-athletes, who need aid to finance their way through school.

"I don't hesitate to offer a scholarship to a good violinist to study here and play in our orchestra, so why the objection to making the same proposition to the athlete, he said. Any other attitude in the matter is hypocritical. If this is subsidization you can say Oglethorpe university is in favor of it."

"A college athlete receiving help should not be regarded as a professional. He is as clean an amateur as any. He receives less for his participation than the so-called amateur in golf, tennis and other sports not connected with collegiate sport," he said.

Dr. Jacobs says there is no such thing as over-emphasis in football.

"It may be that other departments are under-emphasized but certainly the physical culture division is worth all the attention given to it. An athlete gives less time to his game than any single subject of his college course."

GOLF FARED BAD IN SOUTH DURING 1930

By FOSTER BAILEY
New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Golf fared well during 1930 in the sunny southwest, home of the first big money tournaments in the United States, but across the Mississippi, in the deep south, conditions were not so good.

Through Louisiana, Alabama, Tennessee, Mississippi, western Florida and western Georgia, the old game of the Scottish moors was in more or less of a decline during the year of depression, 1930. With business in the deplorable and drought playing havoc with the fairways there was little construction during the year and little planned for 1931. Many clubs feel they will be doing well if they repair the ravages of the drought. It was the only section of the country failing to show a big increase in courses and players during the year.

There were bright spots in the picture. Atlanta, Bobby Jones' home ground, went along its golfing way rejoicing, with a large increase in play on the public courses, the addition of one new 9-hole course and work being pushed on another municipal link. Bobby's home club, East Lake, completed a new 18-hole layout during the year and opened it for play.

In the border state of Kentucky activity was in line with that in other sections of the country, with around $150,000 spent on course development in 1930 and an estimated $75,000 contracted to be spent this year. Some Kentucky clubs reported they lost members on account of the business depression but expressed confident expectations of getting them back again.

The courses in Virginia were hard hit by the drought. The Associated Press survey disclosed, fairways being left almost bare in places. One of the few courses that did not suffer was the famous Cascades layout at Hot Springs, where a half million dollar sprinkling system was installed several years ago. The green keepers estimated it paid for itself last year alone.

Through Texas, Arizona and New Mexico, golf had a good year.

"I'm so glad we found a breakfast they like."

"Thank goodness for Shredded Wheat! The children just wouldn't eat breakfast and I was so tired of coaxing them. But when they tried the crisp, tasty biscuits, floating in milk and cream, they were delighted. And best of all—Shredded Wheat is ideal for children. It's just the food to build bone and muscle."

DUKE'S RING PUNCHERS TO MEET STATE

By PAUL SIMMONS
Associated Press Staff Writer
Charlotte, Jan. 29.—(AP)—There will be a chance to even up some old scores when Duke and N. C. State unch-swappers meet tomorrow night in Raleigh.

The tentative line-up for two of the headliner bouts is Espy vs. Hyatt, unlimited, and Gardner vs. Brewer, light-heavyweight division.

This Espy is none other than Red Espy, center on the Wolfpack football team last fall. Hyatt was a star end on the Duke grid team. Kid Brewer, it is remembered, also saw service with the Blue Devil gridsters last season. Her- man Gardner was substitute center on the Wolfpack eleven.

The fan recall how the Duke-State football game came out.

On the basis of earlier showing, Espy should have the edge on Hyatt tomorrow evening. In a previous tilt this season, the Wolfpack heavyweight bested the Dukeman for State's only win in the contest.

This battle as the first of N. C. State boxing team ever engaged in. The institution is participating in intercollegiate boxing this year for the first time.

Interest in high school basketball is booming in Raleigh. "Bleachers" are being erected in the Hugh Morrison gym to take care of the crowd at the class eastern conference match tomorrow night between Raleigh and Fayetteville.

Wrestling is attracting quite a bit of interest at N. C. State college and upwards of 20 likely prospects are working out in the freshman squad, to say nothing of the varsity crew. The frosh team will open its season with home match tomorrow with the Duke Blue Imps.

ROCKY MOUNT PLAYS HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

Time is drawing near for Greenville's game with the Rocky Mount High School team in the Greenville High School auditorium Friday night at 7:30. It is predicted to be a closely fought game. Rocky Mount is not in the Northeastern Conference, but is in the higher rating North Carolina Conference, which is made up of larger cities than those of the Northeastern Conference. This fact intimates that Rocky Mount has a strong team.

Through Texas, Arizona and New Mexico, golf had a good year.

FRANCE HURRIES TO BAR DOOR AS JOBS DECREASE

Paris, (AP)—France has been a year late in feeling the pinch of the world economic depression, but now discovers that she is not destined to escape it.

With unemployment increasing at the rate of 1,500 a week, workmen and statesmen are equally concerned to find that their nation has an immigration problem on its hands. It is pointed out that 1,700,000 foreigners are among the 12,000,000 working men drawing wages and salaries in France.

That state of affairs did not seem so significant last October 31, when official figures showed that there were fewer than 2,000 working men drawing doles from benefit or other funds.

In November the number of unemployed increased at the rate of about 1,900 a week, and December I found the official total close to 6,000. The next four weeks found unemployment increasing at the rate of 1,500 a week, and the turn of the year saw the total almost at the 12,000 mark.

The Ministry of Labor, has decreed that all demands for work permits emanating from foreigners desirous of entering France shall be handled by a special bureau created for that purpose. Each application is examined individually.

New instructions have been issued for a general census of all foreigners working in the country, to ascertain how many have entered fraudulently. Any culprits will be escorted to the frontier.

A DOCTOR'S ADVICE FOR STUBBORN BOWELS

"Drink at least six glasses of water daily—preferably before meals. Eat bulkier foods, such as vegetables, fruits and coarse breads. Use a mild laxative as needed."

That is Dr. Caldwell's advice to people with stubborn bowels. He specialized on the bowels; treated thousands for constipation and its ills. The prescription he used over and over in his practice has become the world's most popular laxative! "Syrup Pepsin," as it is now called, was tested by more than 47 years of practice.

Today you can get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drugstore in America. It is always the same; made exactly according to the original prescription, from laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other valuable ingredients. Nothing in it to harm even a baby. It does not grip, loosen or cause any discomfort. But it moves the bowels; it gets rid of all the souring waste which clogs the system; makes you bilious, headachy, gassy, bloated, weak, half-sick. A doctor or should know what is best for the bowels. Syrup Pepsin is a famous doctor's choice of a safe, pleasant, effective laxative for men, women, older folks, babies and children.

This Game of GOLF

By O. B. KEELER
When I was a youngster, and that was back in the fairly gay nineties, I used to read occasionally about a golfer named A. H. Fenn, who was a contemporary of Charles Blair Macdonald, who was our first American amateur champion, and somewhat older than Findlay Douglas.

There was a man named Betts—W. R. Betts. I think it was. And another man named Tyng, whose initials I do not recall.

That was quite a long time ago. And in the paper the other day I saw the name of A. H. Fenn once more; the late Arthur H. Fenn, it was; and a note to the effect that his daughter, Miss Bessie Fenn, was manager-in effect, of the Palm Beach Golf club, with its beautiful course extending between the Breakers and the Royal Poinciana hotel.

Miss Fenn is not the only feminine golfer professional in this country, of course, and she is quoted as saying he expects more and more women golfers to take up the profession.

It's a good idea. Women are admirable teachers of other things, and it seems reasonable that one woman should understand another woman's golfing perplexities somewhat better than a man, other factor being anywhere near equal.

Miss Fenn has been playing golf since she was 7 years old; indeed, at that tender age she played a fair game. Her father, though never winning a major championship, was good enough to be used as an example in the book by H. J. Whirlham, published about 1897, in which the first movie was employed for depicting a golfing stroke.

He also, as I recall it, won the famous Lennox Cup in 1896 or 1897. He was for years manager of the Palm Beach Golf club and five years ago, at his death, his daughter was madam manager in his place.

Miss Fenn says the sweater-suit is the ideal costume for women in golf, because it fits snugly without binding in any way. There is likely to be one drawback, however, if the wear is playing in an important tournament and it begins to rain.

I saw Miss Ada Mackenzie, famous Canadian golfer, lose a match with Glenna Collett which the Canadian seemed to have well in hand, in the American championship of 1925 at St. Louis through a mishap which involved both a sweater-suit and a pair of rubber-soled shoes.

Going into the last nine, Miss Mackenzie had Glenna two down and was playing with great confidence and steadiness. Then came the rain. The Canadian's knitted skirt began to catch water and stretch, and her rubber-soled shoes began to slip. She sent to the clubhouse for hosiery, but before they arrived Glenna had picked up the lost holes and was getting out in front.

Poor Miss Mackenzie finished that match a most bedraggled golfer, her blue knitted skirt dangling saggingly about her ankles, nearly to the ground.

CHILEANS REVAMP NAVY AS GUARDIAN OF SOUTH PACIFIC

Santiago, Chile.—(AP)—"Guardian of the South Pacific" is the title applied to the revamped Chilean navy, now one of the outstanding fleets among the minor naval powers.

Largest in the Pacific, except for armadas of the United States and Japan, the Chilean navy is just completing a three-year program of modernization and expansion.

The Almirante Latorre, a battleship built in England before the World war, is being refitted in English yards and soon will steam back to this country.

Carrying ten 14-inch guns, in addition to smaller bore rifles, the battleship has been refitted with oil burning engines, has been given new battle control equipment and has generally been revamped at a cost of $5,000,000.

When the Almirante Latorre gets home the Chilean navy will count one battleship, four cruisers, eleven destroyers, nine submarines, a new submarine tender, two new oil tankers, a submarine mothership, two mine sweepers, a large schoolship and several lesser craft.

Six destroyers and three submarines are brand new and follow the latest designs in naval engineering.

The navy has about 10,000 enlisted men, including the coast guard and the personnel at the naval academy and naval stations. The 1931 budget submitted by the minister of marine, Rear Admiral Eduardo von Sproeder, lists $14,000,000 for the 453 line officers, with a total salary roll of 16,500,000 pesos.

A British mission of naval consultants recently completed an assignment here, acting in an advisory capacity to Chilean officers.

MICE TESTS SHOW BORDER DIVIDING LIFE FROM DEATH

McPherson, Kan.—(AP)—Those few seconds just as life is ending, when it is still possible to "come back," have been measured on mice in the McPherson college chemistry laboratory.

Dr. J. Willard Hershey, professor of chemistry, controls the life threads of his mice delicately by placing them in a near-vacuum. At an air pressure about one-seventh that of normal the thread snaps, but not suddenly.

Death—in its ordinary meaning—is indicated by the mouse's ceasing to breathe. But as late as 30 seconds after breathing has stopped the animal still can be brought back to life, by putting him in fresh air.

The come-back takes a long time, two days for full restoration and it usually is several minutes before breathing can be seen to resume.

At an unidentified point between 30 and 60 seconds the irreparable break comes. Sixty seconds after breathing stops the head found always fatal.

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritation. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after a cold or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today unchanged to a decline of 3 points under some further hedging and scattering liquidation.

Some buying was reported on the relatively steady Liverpool cables, while there was some buying in futures for the trade in near months and the comparatively light offerings were well enough taken to give the market a steady undertone at declines of 2 or 3 points from yesterday's closing prices. May sold off to 10.51 and was holding within a point or two of that figure at the end of the first half hour.

Liverpool cables were better than due on the New York close of yesterday on continental buying, covering and trading in Manchester reported a fair business in cotton cloth for the British home trade but said export trade was quieter.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Wheat scored a sharp advance late today, and added upturns in corn. Dry weather complaints increasing both from winter and spring wheat territory gave strength to wheat, and so did big export purchases of Canadian wheat, 3,500,000 bushels in the last 48 hours. On early declines, rice as well as corn, made new low price records.

Wheat closed irregular, a shade lower to 2 cents up; corn 5-8 to 1 3-8 advance; oats 1-2 to 3-4 up and provisions 5 to 35 down.

STOCK MARKET
Jan.	8.25
Mar.	8.30
May	8.45

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The latest decline in share values became a mere drop in today's stock market.

Continued selling of government issues in the bond market, together with the impending Bethlehem Steel earnings report, due after the close of the market, were dispiriting influences. But the liquidation of stocks was in meagre volume, and the list held up better than it did yesterday.

Strength of the mail order shares together with short covering in some of the professional trading favorites by bears discouraged with the lack of activity, tended to rally the list at times. Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck sold up about 2 points and Auburn, Worthington and General Railway Signal gained about as much. Electric Power & Light firmed. Wabash lost 2 points in response to deferring dividend, and Chesapeake Corp., St. Louis Southwestern, and Lambert lost about 2. Shares off a point or so included the American Tobacco shares, American Telephone, Air Reduction, McKeesport, N. Y. Central, Pennsylvania, Paramount and Westinghouse. U. S. Steel and Bethlehem held barely steady.

The mail order stocks were helped by the earnings statement of Montgomery Ward showing that fourth quarter earnings wiped out the deficit of the first nine months and left a small balance.

The slim volume of stock appearing on the decline was indicated in brokerage and banking circles as evidence of the underlying soundness of the security market situation.

AMOS 'N' ANDY CONVINCED HILL FOLKS RADIO'S REAL

Hueyville, Ky.—(AP)—It has taken Amos 'n' Andy to convince eastern Kentucky's hill folk that the radio is on the level.

The attitude of the mountaineers toward the early radio was fairly well summed up by: "You can't fool me—that thing's full of records."

But Amos 'n' Andy have changed this opinion. The mountaineers now have decided that their first decision as to what the radio box contained was wrong, and that the entertainment actually comes thru the air.

Grainer and Robert Strange, both of Wilmington, were elected trustees of the diocese.

The following were elected deputies to the general convention of the church which will be held in Denver, Col., next September: Rev. Wm. H. Milton, D. D., Rev. Walter R. Noe, Rev. Robert B. Drane, D. D., Rev. Stephen Gardner, George B. Elliott, George C. Royall, Judge George Roundtree and Champ McD. Davis. The alternates were Rev. W. A. Lillycrop, Rev. Alexander Miller, Rev. Archer Boogher, Rev. George Frank Hill, John G. Bra-gaw, E. R. Conger, J. Q. Beckwith, and John R. Tolar.

George B. Elliott presented a new method of apportioning each parish and mission for the support of the general church, the diocesan expense and the missionary work in the diocese. The convention adopted the plan which is to make an effort through the Lenten and the Easter offering to take care of the apportionment for the general church, an assessment of $3.00 per year per communicant, or 25 cents a month to take care of the diocesan expense, and the missionary work of the diocese to be under the direction of the Woman's Auxiliary.

Rev. Dr. Milton, chairman of the diocesan commission on evangelism, presented the report of the commission, by saying, "the diocese realizes that there cannot be a return to normal times without a revival in religion." Taking this into consideration, the convention adopted the report of the commission which is to prepare immediately a diocesan mission in conjunction with a teaching mission which the Province of Sewanee is conducting in the fall. This mission will be held in November of this year culminating in the every member canvass. This was enthusiastically adopted.

William Gather of Elizabeth City presented a plan for the establishment of an Episcopal fund of the diocese of East Carolina, whose purpose is to provide a fund, the interest of which is to be used for religious, educational and other church purposes, such as providing help for young men studying for the ministry, young women desiring to do social and church work, and helping the poorer and weaker churches of the diocese. The plan was referred to the executive council to put into action.

Giant Tube To
X-Ray Buildings
Now In Prospect

Washington.—(AP)—A giant tube which X-ray a whole building is in prospect.

This electrical Leviathan is one of the aims of three young Carnegie Institution scientists who have just received the $1,000 annual prize of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Their award was for making a 2,000,000-volt X-ray tube producing artificial radium rays that penetrated three inches of lead. The winners are Doctors M. A. Tuve, L. R. Hafstad and O. Dahl.

Having learned how to make a tube that does not break under this extremely high voltage, they expect to produce a ray engineering force of from 5,000,000 to 10,000,000 volts.

So far the rays projected with pressure of 2,000,000 volts have been "turned on" for only a few minutes of a second owing to the danger of injuring both the men working with them and the laboratory instruments.

Thus while these rays have as great a penetrating power as radium rays at their highest intensity, they have been "in action" only momentarily.

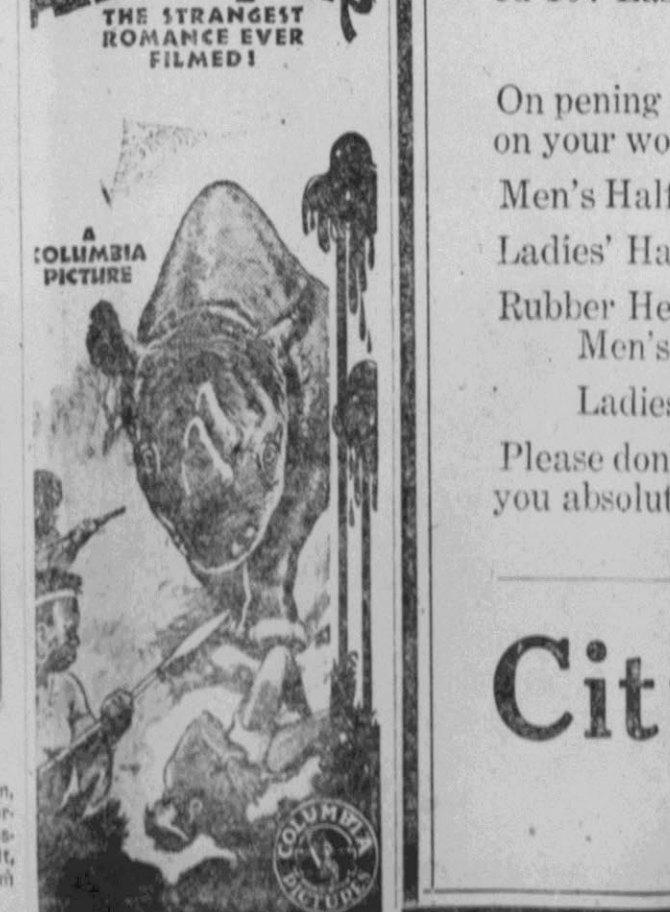

Although they have prospective therapeutic value in treatment of cancer, just as radium has, their use in medicine is to be determined by medical authorities, the scientists say.
