NEWS BRIEFS

From Over The City and County

SECOND SERIES OF THE COMMANDMENTS WILL BE GIVEN TUESDAY NIGHT

The words of the First Commandment are very brief: "I am the Lord Thy God, thou shalt not have strange gods before Me."

The second part can be dismissed without much discussion, but the first contains all that God would have men understand in their duty to Him. The words: "Lord" and "God" had a tremendous significance for everyone of the children of Israel. Their previous history had prepared their minds for it. But what was the form of honor that God wished; what grew out of the conception of the words. Their importance lies in the fact that God gave them the principles of worship. Those principles will be discussed on Tuesday night at the Catholic church, at 7:45. All are invited.

ONE OF AMERICA'S GREATEST BIBLE TEACHERS TO VISIT GREENVILLE NEXT WEEK

Miss Amy Manning Taylor of Chicago will come to Greenville next week to teach a series of Bible classes extending through the entire week. She is one of the greatest and most widely known Bible teachers in this country. The following excerpt from one of the leading officials of the Y. W. C. A. bears eloquent testimony to her ability as a teacher of the Bible.

"I wish it were possible for me to make every woman in your city, young and old alike, realize the great opportunity which is coming to her. Did she realize it everything would be put aside for this one thing.

You are indeed fortunate to have secured Miss Taylor. She is a woman of fine intellect and broad culture. One recognizes this immediately and is further impressed by her spirituality. I have never met anyone to whom Christ was more real or who appropriated more fully the things which Christ has for those who love him. Every lesson that Miss Taylor gave here was a beautiful one, revealing to use the great fundamental truths as they are not often presented. I feel sure that no earnest hearer could fail to be led into closer fellowship with God and into truer living. Christ is lifted up and all are drawn unto Him."

Miss Taylor will make her lectures each night at St. Paul's Epis-

Announce Secret Wedding of Kahn

New York, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Somewhere on Honeymoon Lane, Roger Wolfe Kahn, wealthy musician and aviator, and the former Hannah Williams, daughter of the stage, were celebrating their secret wedding today.

His father, Otto H. Kahn, international financier and chairman of the Metropolitan Opera company, announced that the couple was married January 23 on the family estate at Cold Spring Harbor, N. Y. The ceremony was performed by Justice of the Peace John Deans. The couple left on an extended trip to an unannounced destination—possibly to Florida by airplane.

Mr. Kahn gave his age as 23 and his bride's as 20. It was his first martial adventure and her second. Her first marriage to Charles Kaley, a bandmaster, was annulled on June 30, 1927, in Chicago. She was 16 at the time. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Williams of Taylor, Pa.

The news of the marriage was not disclosed until Billy Rose, theatrical manager, announced that Miss Williams had left the cast of "Sweet and Low," a current musical production in which she had been a starred performer. Otto H. Kahn gave his approval to the union, only on the condition that she forsake her stage career.

When he was 16, young Kahn pursued the world of finance to become an orchestra leader. He became the owner of a night club and the leader of ten orchestras.

He met his bride at his New York night club, Le Perroquet De Paris, where she became the featured dancer.

Son of Police Chief Held on Murder Charge Today

Hamlet, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Authorities today held the son of the town's police chief in connection with the death of a man found stabbed to death.

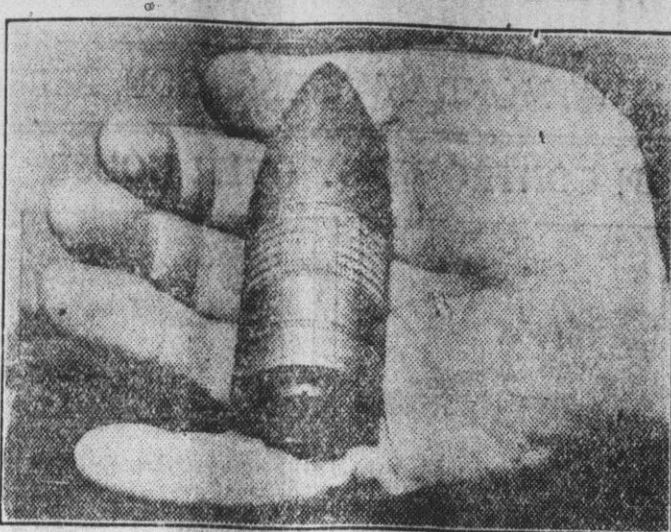

Shortly after a coroner's jury found James E. Spence, 27, formerly of Durham, assistant manager of a commissary here, had come to his death at the hands of unknown persons, Arthur T. Miller, son of Chief W. T. Miller, was arrested.

Miller was taken to the county jail at Rockingham, where he denied bond. He is a switchman for the Seaboard Air Line Railroad, is married and has several children.

Spence's body was found in an automobile parked two doors from Miller's home. Police arrested Miller after they had alleged blood stains were found on one of his coats. Blood was also found in his front yard, police were told.

Spence was stabbed just above the heart and had evidently been struck across the face with a blunt instrument. Both wounds were held by physicians to be accountable for his death.

"Valentine Day we'll celebrate With games and hearty laughter; Next Friday night we'll meet at eight; Don't come a minute after."

The members of Red Oak Home Demonstration Club will entertain their husbands and sweethearts at a Valentine party Friday night, February 13, at eight o'clock at the club house. All members are urged to be in attendance.

It was this writer's good fortune to attend services at our neighbor church, Piney Grove, last Sunday.

Rev. Woodard is the pastor this year and he is a true servant of God and he and his wife are well liked by the people of Red Oak community. His text was taken from Proverbs 22:2, "The rich and poor meet together; the Lord is the maker of them all." In his discourse he said that the rich and poor should meet: (1) In sameness of origin; (2) In construction of person; (3) In consequence and penalty of fall; (4) In stream of redeeming love; (5) In field of mutual dependence on God; (6) In infirmities of human decay and disease; (7) In the precincts of the dark and silent tomb; (8) At the judgment bar of God.

Practically every family in our community has been hit by the recent epidemics of influenza, chicken pox and measles.

Remember that if you do not already attend Sunday school somewhere else, you are invited to attend our Sunday school at Red Oak every Sunday morning at 10:00 o'clock.

"Somewhere back of the sunset. Where loveliness never dies. He dwells in a land of glory. With peace in his gray blue eyes. And laughter lies all about him. And music sways on the air; He is far from all thoughts of sadness.

Of sacrifice, sorrow and care. "The flowers of his life of service—The pure gold of his true worth Are wrapped like a cloak about him Who hurried too soon from earth. And we who loved him always His beauty of soul which brings swift tears. Will cherish his memory forever. To brighten the drifting years. He is not dead—such souls forever live In boundless measures of the love they give."

U. S. Leads World In Length of Air Transport Lines

Washington, —(AP)—Progress of commercial flying in the world is shown by the aeronautics trade division of the Department of Commerce in a survey of miles of airways in operation during 1930.

The United States led the world with 49,425 miles of airways covered by scheduled air services. Routes totalled 72,034 miles in all of Europe, 3,799 miles in Africa, and 9,453 miles in Australia.

In point of domestic mileage, Germany led the field of European air transportation with an extensive network of routes within her own boundaries, and with the entire mileage of her lines confined to Europe.

For total service operated at home and abroad, France had the greatest system, 18,542 miles, including 6,917 miles in South America connecting to home airlines by a route down the west coast of Africa and steamer transportation to Natal, Brazil.

The Netherlands boasted the longest single line in the world, running from Amsterdam to Java, 9,185 miles.

Great Britain's regular air routes, with a single exception, were international in scope, while Italy's operations were distinctive in being carried on almost wholly by seaplanes.

While night-flying operations were most extensive in the United States, plans are being made to extend this type of service in Europe during 1931.

Designer of Lindbergh's Engine Heads Air Industry In 1931

New York—(AP)—The designer of the airplane engine which carried Lindbergh to Paris is the new leader of aviation's trade association.

He is Charles L. Lawrence, new president of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America, Inc., and associates regard his election as a tribute to his part in making possible the flights of Lindbergh, Byrd, Kingsford-Smith and other famous pilots.

Lawrence, however, sought no such honor, and when friends have lamented that he did not share Lindbergh's popular acclaim, he has asked them:

"Who ever heard the name of Paul Revere's horse?"

Lawrence formerly was president of the Wright Aeronautical corporation and later vice-president of the Curtiss-Wright corporation, but now heads his own research company.

While at a private school, he started building an automobile which he finished while a freshman at Yale. The war was a success, boasting what was then a novelty, a standard gear shift and worm-and-sector steering gear.

His first venture in aviation was not with motors, but with a new type of wing designed to give more lifting power. Both England and Germany used the Lawrence wing design on many of their fighting planes during the World war.

Turning then to the problem of building a light, efficient engine which would not overheat, he succeeded, when he was 35 years old, in producing a three-cylinder, radial, air-cooled engine of 60 horsepower which was the sire of the air-cooled engines which have since carried many aviation heroes to fame.

Lawrence succeeds, Frederick B. Rentschler as president of the Aeronautical chamber.

ABOUT TOWN

Persons who wish to express their opinion concerning the city's program to make the "Bama" a part of Greenville will be given that opportunity at a special session of the Board of Aldermen next Thursday evening at 7:30.

At that time engineers will have prepared the boundary lines for the area to be incorporated, and those who have anything to say for or against the proposition may say it with the full attention of members of the board.

The plan to take over the district is a means of increasing revenue and at the same time opening up employment for fifty or more laborers hard hit by the lack of employment in this community.

Mayor Lanier is anxious to provide the idle people with sufficient employment to carry them through the winter, and while the improvement of the "Bama" contemplated as a part of the extension program will not provide work for all the idle people, it will greatly alleviate the situation and enable scores of men to keep the wolf away from the door.

The plan is looked upon by members of the board as one of the most direct means of effecting a permanent improvement by which the city will derive direct results in the years to come and if it should meet with approval of the public, it is understood that the improvement program will get under way immediately.

The Greenville tobacco market has closed for the season with twenty million pounds more leaf to their credit than they had last season.

The achievement is being viewed with more or less interest by members of the industry in spite of the fact that they did not realize their ambition of selling around seventy-five million pounds of leaf and thereby putting the market ahead of the 1928 season when they shattered all poundage records in history.

The tobaccoists are not setting any goal for next season, but with five sets of buyers assured them when the market rings up the curtain on another season they feel confident of setting a new record.

This confidence is not a result of the expectation of a larger crop of tobacco, but the handling of more of the bright leaf produced in this, the greatest bright leaf producing county in the world.

The possibilities of this market are unlimited, and with five sets of buyers operating at full blast there is no reason in the world why they should not be able to convert the city into the greatest market in the world, instead of one of the greatest.

The advertising campaign is already under way for the coming season, and by the time of the opening date virtually every section where tobacco is grown will be fully informed concerning the resources and possibilities of the Greenville market.

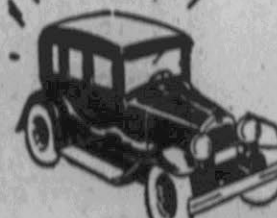

If you have not contributed to the fund for the relief of unemployment in this community, why delay this important matter any longer?

The committee has sent out an earnest plea for help, declaring that the demand upon the commissary has been so heavy the past several days that it has been almost impossible to take care of it.

The commissary, it was said, filled nearly one hundred requisitions in one day, showing to what extent the serious situation has spread among the poor people.

Bruce Sugg, chairman of the finance committee of the relief committee, stated last week that conditions among the poor were more accentuated than any period since the Civil war. This is no idle statement, but is based on actual facts which members of the committee have compiled during their investigations of the situation.

You probably have been called upon to give to many different things the past several months, and no doubt you responded liberally, but think of the human misery and deprivation existing among the

CARD SHARKS REAP PROFITS FROM BRIDGE

Many Passengers On Ocean Liner Fleeced in Game With Sharps

By BYRON DARTON

New York, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Assume you are the person called north and you are seated at a bridge table in the smoking room of a trans-Atlantic liner. You had better—and this is the advice of Sidney S. Lenz, bridge expert—keep a weather eye on the East, South and West.

Particularly watch their bidding, for if East, that charming and somewhat wistful gentleman whom you met yesterday on the promenade deck, says "one spade," he may mean something entirely different from "I bid one spade." At least it will mean something different to the sweet little girl who so graciously consented to take the fourth hand. To her, confederate of East's, many a high seas bridge encounter, the shift in words may identify every important card in East's hand.

For the card sharps, who have seized upon the game of contact bridge as their especial gravy, work out revealing codes which net them plenty of profits, says Mr. Lenz.

"By a code of nine words I can identify every one of the fifty-two cards," the bridge expert declares. "The sharps can do as well—and they have."

The codes are constantly shifted to avoid recognition.

Two other methods are used by the ocean-going slickers. They mark cards, and they use the old cold deck game.

Cards are marked either with a sharp finger nail or with a pinpoint set in the player's vest. The idea is to raise a slight bump on the back of the Ace, King and Queen of each suit. The dealer feels these bumps as he deals, and "second cards" his unsuspecting opponents. To "second-card" is to deal the card next to the top instead of the one on top—and the nimble fingered gentry are so facile at it that even wise old-lookers can't detect them.

Cold decks ordinarily are not resorted to, says Mr. Lenz, until a game is adjourned to a sharp's

KIMREY WILL CLASH WITH 'AD' WARREN

Charlotte, Feb. 9.—(AP)—A country boy with a hard punch and plenty of stamina will be given a 10-round chance at the heavy-weight boxing title of the Carolinas here tonight.

Despite his inexperience, Dewey Kimrey, the Norwood lumberjack, had plenty of backers in his effort to put a licking on Addison Exum Warren, of Aurland.

Warren, former heavyweight fighter for the University of North Carolina, has worn his crown with little trouble since he has followed the roped arena for a living.

In Kimrey, he faces one of the largest opponents he has ever met in a North Carolina ring. The hunky lad from the back country stands four inches taller than Warren's six feet. He weighs 200 pounds to Add's 188 and has a three and one-half inch reach on the Durham fighter.

Kimrey has fought fourteen battles, winning 12 and losing two decisions. He has never been knocked out and just to keep his record clean, he beat the fighters who won decisions over him in return bouts.

Warren has had 48 professional fights and as many collegiate scraps. He boasts that only three technical knockouts have marred his record.

The fight bids fair to take place before a record boxing crowd in Charlotte, with betting odds in favor of each fighter, depending on the backers one meets.

SPORTS SLANTS

Loyola of the South is just as well pleased that the University of California did not succeed in any attempt to lure Clark D. Shaughnessy away from his post as head football coach at the New Orleans institution.

It is no secret, however, that W. W. Monahan, California's graduate manager, thought very highly indeed of Shaughnessy's qualification during the hunt for a successor to "Nibs" Price. There is reason to believe that some overtures actually were made to Shaughnessy before decision was reached to engage "Navy Bill" Ingram for the post at Berkeley.

Meanwhile, New Orleans and Loyola, around the banquet table, made it quite clear to Shaughnessy that they want him to stay there indefinitely.

No doubt this was a little embarrassing to Mr. Shaughnessy, who is a strong, silent man of very few words but very effective works. Nevertheless, Fred Digby, in the New Orleans Item, indicates Mr. Shaughnessy became a trifle glibulous to the extent of two short paragraphs. They are worth quoting:

"Football is not over-emphasized at Loyola nor at any school where the boys play for the fun of it. They play football because they love it; play winning football and they keep up their studies, too."

"I've come to the conclusion, after hearing all the bunk about over-emphasis on football that the ones who complain the most are those who are the least successful. The universities and coaches who cry the loudest are those who have had a run of bad teams."

Romeyn Berry, Cornell's graduate manager, sums up the over-emphasized gridiron debate for the New York Herald Tribune in this very choice fashion:

"Football has been living too comfortably in the seven fat years and has acquired the ailments that go with rich food, late hours and the wrong kind of companions."

"Football is seeing things. When the alumni of 800 different little colleges all insist in having a team as good as Notre Dame's and the alumni of all the big colleges insist on having team as good as the little colleges have and get mad if they don't something has got to give somewhere. (See Florida and the stock market.)"

But the cure is simple, automatic and just around the corner. The seven lean years will supply it. Every thing will be fixed soon because the public is becoming fed up. When people stop coming to the Purple Panthers of Whozis College, Whozis College will resume its simple, academic, scholarly ways very rapidly. You can't reorganize a business while it's making lots of money.

"If and when attendance at games falls off materially there won't be any trouble about giving football back to the students. The only difficulty will be to catch on for the purpose. There are lots of disillusioned owners who are in favor of giving horse racing back to the horses."

FASCISTS PUT TABOO ON CAMPUS KIDDERS

WILL ROGERS TAKES CHEER TO ARKANSAS

Noted Humorist Turns to Dry Area After Bagging $183,427 for Relief Work

Tulsa, Okla., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Will Rogers turned to Arkansas today after having bagged a relief fund of $183,027 in a two-week tour of Texas and Oklahoma for the south-west's drought and unemployment victims.

The erstwhile Oklahoma cowboy bartered his barbs here last night for $29,500, the largest single pot of his charity tour.

The humorist, transported by Capt. Frank Hawks, noted speed flier, had three engagements in Arkansas today, at Fayetteville, Rogers and Fort Smith. He said he planned to give a performance at Little Rock Tuesday night and to fly Wednesday to Fort Worth, Tex., en route to Hollywood to begin work on a new picture.

Politics received his share of attention last night. "Hoover," drawled Will, "means well but it just looks like he's misadvised. Now just look how he went and let Niagara Falls cave in. They never caved in under Coolidge."

"Watch Coolidge," he went on. "What's he doing? Same as me writing a joke a day. I write on current events and he writes on the commandments 'get up early,' 'brush your teeth,' 'be good.' He ain't out of the picture yet."

Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Houe was revived today for this year's crop in the drought-ravaged sections of the south, for rain had fallen through the parched areas.

Most of it had fallen west of Mississippi, but in parts of Kentucky, North Carolina, tender-dry southern Illinois and Virginia rain had moistened the fields.

Arkansas, where more than a half million sufferers of the drought are being fed by the Red Cross, received the greatest share of the Sabbath's rainfall.

Forests in Arkansas and North Carolina were made less susceptible to fire hazards.

Kentucky Has Two Big Games Ahead

By Dillen Graham (Associated Press Staff Writer) Atlanta, Feb. 9.—(AP)—The decision as to whether Kentucky, leading the Southern Conference cage race with five victories, will remain as the sole unbeaten quintet by this week end rests with two Empire State teams, Georgia Tech and Georgia.

The Wildcats who maintained their perfect rating by downing Washington and Lee 23 to 15 last week, must hurdle both of these fast teams to remain unconquered.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agents for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

CREOMULSION FOR THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

ALL BIG FIVE TEAMS TO PLAY DURING WEEK

By WHITNEY THABIN (Associated Press Staff Writer)

Charlotte, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Four basketball games within the state this week will bring all Big Five teams into action against opponents they have played once before this season.

North Carolina State shares top honors in the state race with Davidson, will meet Wake Forest in a return game at Raleigh tomorrow night.

The Pack with one win already to its credit over the Deacons, has an excellent chance to add another on the basis of the poor showing Wake Forest made on its eastern invasion last week.

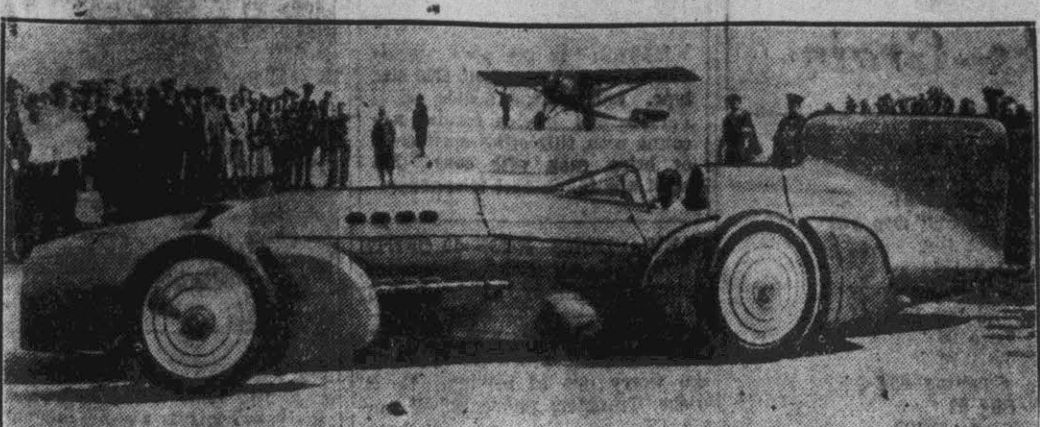

Davidson will figure in two important games, meeting North Carolina at Chapel Hill Thursday night and State in Raleigh the following evening. The Wildcats have liked both teams this season.

Although it will probably have the last effect in Big Five standings, the Duke-North Carolina game at Chapel Hill Saturday night bids fair to attract a lot of interest.

The Tar Heels gave the Blue Devils a trouncing in their first match this season, but Duke's improvement since then should make the game hard fought.

Four out-of-state games are also on the basketball card. North

CAMPBELL TESTS RACING CAR ON FLORIDA BEACH

Capt. Malcolm Campbell of England shown on the ocean speedway at Daytona Beach, Fla., with his 1,450-horsepower Blue Bird II racing car ready for a practice trial preliminary to his proposed attempt for the world's straightaway record.

Carolina plays Washington and Lee and Lexington tonight, and moves up to College Park for a match with Maryland tomorrow.

Duke visits Vanderbilt at Nashville tomorrow and will call on the University of Tennessee at Knoxville Wednesday.

Collegiate fighting slows up this week. Duke being the only school with any serious scrapping to face. The Devil wrestlers grapple with State in Durham Wednesday and Friday the boxers face Virginia at Charlottesville.

Although Davidson's quint remained idle last week, the Wildcats advanced into a tie with State for first honors in the court race when the Pack downed Duke Saturday night, 26 to 24.

The Devils were forced into third place, with North Carolina trailing and Wake Forest bringing up the rear. The Deacons have not won a Big Five game this year and their three losses will be hard to overcome in the percentage column.

Catawba, with three wins and one loss appears to have a firm grip on the North State conference basketball race. Appalachian, with as many wins but two losses, is runner-up to the Salisbury outfit.

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET

New York, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 3 to 5 points in response to relatively easy cables, reports of Lancashire weavers had refused to negotiate for a settlement of the more looms per weaver dispute in the British mills, and reports of good rains in Arkansas.

May sold off to 1083 and new cotton to 1135 under the initial selling but the selling was not heavy and was quite readily absorbed by trade and commission men buying at the decline. This ended the market which was quiet at the end of the first hour with active months ruling net unchanged to 2 points off.

Liverpool cables reported liquidation and Bombay selling in that market and said the turnover in cotton cloth was unimportant with the Indian boycott remaining inactive. The standard cloth statistics for January published in the official market showed an increase of 9.9 per cent in unfilled orders and a decrease of 2.3 per cent in orders on hand for the month.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Helped by stock market buoyancy, grains fell today, with wheat and oats leading the highest prices reaching January 15. Sub-zero temperatures northwest caused apprehension that a cold wave would set down into winter wheat territory, and bring about crop damage. A decrease of the corn visible supply attracted attention also as total is now 16,723,000 bushels, compared with 17,174,000 a year ago. Wheat closed firm unchanged to 1-8 higher; corn 1-3-8 to 2-1-8; oats 7-8 to 1-4 up and regions showing a rise of 10 to 15 cents.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Feb. 9.—(AP)—The start of the new week in the stock market found the bear faction in retreat.

The share list made one of the latest advances of the new year, trading set one of the brightest seen since January. A wide assortment of issues sold up 1 to 3 points, with a few mercurial issues making wider gains.

General Motors sold up 2 points, and other prominent issues such as S. Steel, American Can, Bethlehem Steel, American Telephone, Sears Roebuck, J. M. Scherer, United Pacific and Atchafalpa recorded advances of similar extent. Issues up 3 to 5 included Westinghouse Electric, DuPont, Republic Steel, Preferred, Worthington, American Chaco, Eastman, Allied Chemical and Case. Volatile issues such as Industrial Rayon and Auburn shot up more than 10 points. Issues up a point or so embraced a wide assortment of utilities, industrials and merchandising shares. In the main, the oil and copper were inclined to lag. The oil broke out with gains of a point or so in Standards of New York, New Jersey and California, reflecting the favorable decision of the Socony-Vacuum merger case.

Reports of the past few days indicating a more conciliatory attitude among factions in Washington, together with indications that investors are taking a calm and persistent attitude toward the vicissitudes of business recovery, finally silenced the bear forces.

Strength of sterling exchange and indications that Paris is taking definite steps toward developing a market for foreign loans, were constructive developments in the foreign situation, while domestic gains in the middle west have tended to quiet the nervousness over the growing lack of water.

Most of the commonly used indexes of business activity as correct, for normal seasonal variation, show little change from December, and it is felt that real improvement in business will be needed to back up any sustained advance in share prices.

GENERAL BUTLER SHARPLY REPRIMANDED AS CHARGES ARE ABANDONED BY NAVY

 officials the Navy Department has furnished Ambassador De Martino of Italy a copy of the correspondence between Secretary Adams and Major General Smedley D. Butler relative to the calling off of the marine officer's court martial.

The trial, which was scheduled to start a week from today in Philadelphia, was ordered cancelled after Butler had acknowledged making remarks derogatory to Premier Mussolini.

The transmission of the correspondence was informal, but considered by both State Department and Embassy officials to be sufficient to end the matter definitely so far as the two governments were concerned.

Signor Mussolini, in a dispatch to the Embassy, more than a week ago asserted he considered the incident closed by the apology the American government made him for Butler's assertions.

Butler continued today to maintain the silence he has held since word he was under arrest came from the Navy Department. His home at Quantico declined to answer telephone calls from Washington, while his aide, who previously had talked to newspapermen, likewise placed himself out of reach.

Other officials at the marine reservation commanded by Butler, declined even to say whether the general was in Quantico, saying no one cared to assume responsibility of saying anything about the post's commandant.

Washington, Feb. 9.—(AP)—There will be no court martial for Major General Smedley D. Butler of the Marine Corps.

Instead, after expressing regret for his recent "indiscreet remarks" concerning Premier Mussolini of Italy, the outspoken officer drew yesterday a sharply worded reprimand from Secretary Adams which included a hope the incident would have "a salutary effect on your future conduct in matters of this character."

The action was taken evidently after consultation between Butler's legal representatives and the Navy Department. The general placed his regrets in a letter which pointed out that the speech responsible for his trouble, made January 19 before the Contemporary club of Philadelphia, was delivered under assurance that his words would not get out of the room.

Butler's concluding sentence was: "I very greatly regret this incident and the fact that my indiscreet remarks have caused embarrassment to the government."

Adams' reply said in part: "You are informed . . . that the Navy Department cannot express too clearly its disapproval of the conduct of any officer making remarks which tend to embarrass the international relations of the government. Such action on the part of an officer of our rank and length of service merits and receives unqualified condemnation of the Navy Department and for their utterance, which you admit, you are hereby reprimanded."

"In view of your letter expressing regret, taken in connection with your long record of brilliant service, the Navy Department feels that it is no longer necessary to resort to proceedings by general court martial, and expects that this incident will have a salutary effect upon your future conduct in matters of this character."

The action automatically relieved General Butler of the arrest under which he has confined himself to quarters at the Quantico stations which he commands. The trial was to have begun in Philadelphia next Monday.

Both the State Department and the Italian Embassy indicated the incident had been closed for them when after the Italian complaint about the speech the State Department dispatched an apology to Mussolini, which was accepted. Secretary Simson said the reprimand instead of court martial was "satisfactory."

Whether President Hoover had taken a hand in softening the treatment of the brilliant Marine was not determined. Walter Newton, one of his secretaries, said as far as he knew Mr. Hoover had had nothing to do with it.

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., purported to be the man behind Major General Smedley Butler's Mussolini anecdote, added a new mystery to the incident today.

Referring to statements made in the affiliated bureau in New York last November, at which place and time the Marine Corps officer was said to have gathered material for the Mussolini hit-run story, Vanderbilt said:

"The public would be more interested in what another person, more prominent than General Butler of myself, said at that time."

"If the newspapers really want to run this down why don't they find out what some others said there?" Asked the young publisher.

Informed of the cancellation of the court martial ordered for Gen. Butler, young Vanderbilt expressed himself as being "glad of it."

Vanderbilt never has told the story behind the Mussolini hit-run anecdote as related by the Marine Corps officer.

"I have no motive other than General Butler's for keeping silent," he said. "I offered to appear at his trial and tell my version of the story from the witness stand. Cancellation of the court martial cannot affect my attitude. If it is a closed incident with the government it is a closed incident with me, too."

Depression Costs American Industry One-Third Profits

New York, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Just about one-third of their 1929 profits was what the current depression cost American industry in 1930, the latest figures reveal.

A tabulation of annual earnings statements of 419 companies providing a cross section of industry, compiled by Standard Statistics Company for the Associated Press, show combined net income in 1930 was 33 per cent less than the previous year.

The list includes those reporting their annual incomes last week and will be subject to further revision as additional earnings are heard from, but the number is now sufficiently large to give an idea of how the slump in trade affected profits, a too cheerful idea, perhaps, since the more favorable reports are likely to appear early.

The net earnings of these companies were the lowest for any of the four years since their comparative figures were first gathered in 1927.

Compared with almost uninterrupted gains in recent years, utility earnings on the basis of 30 companies that have reported, declined one per cent. Fourteen electric light and power companies actually reported a slight gain.

The compilation of 359 companies in the industrial group shows that 1930 profits slumped 35 per cent, and railroads ran them a close second. Thirty carriers report a combined decline of 34 per cent.

Fishermen Rescued By the Coastguard

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Seven Coast Guards and three fishermen whom they had gone out to rescue from a drifting ice floe in Lake Erie were brought to shore this morning and were able to make their way across the ice to land.

The three fishermen were the last of a group of 20 cast adrift Saturday morning when the ice on which they were fishing snapped away from the main body.

Sixteen men and a nine year old boy, cast adrift when the ice on which they were fishing broke away from shore Saturday, were brought ashore last night and the Coast Guards went back for the remaining three fishermen.

Then the treacherous ice pack shifted, wedging the Coast Guard boat solidly into an ice floe which was cut off from the main pack by a rapidly widening stretch of open water. The boat was held in the position for hours before the rescue was effected.

Gov. Gardner To Talk Roads And Prison On Radio

Raleigh, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Governor O. Max Gardner will carry his views on his proposed highway program and the State's Prison problem to the people tonight in a radio address over station WPTF, Raleigh, at 7:45 P. M.

His remarks will be made with the knowledge that representatives of organized labor in the state are opposed to his ideas.

Before a gathering of 300 labor men in High Point yesterday, R. R. Lawrence, of Winston-Salem, president of the State Federation of Labor, charged a lobby was at work in Raleigh for "the big interests of the state."

The speaker denounced the governor's recommendation that salaries of state employees be cut 10 per cent and argued that competition of prison labor with free labor was abhorrent.

Other measures reportedly favored by the governor, including a bill to require children to complete the six grade before leaving school, were denounced by the representatives.

Governor Gardner, in a statement issued last night, called upon the General Assembly to conduct a thorough investigation of the State's Prison and its policy to ward prison labor in connection with work on highways.
