Charge Democrats With Attempt To Destroy The Present Dry Law System

Thomas Ozlin, Vice-Chairman of Virginia Democratic Party, Declares If They Continue to Persist It Is Incumbent Upon South and Middle West to Organize "to Prevent This Folly"

Kenbridge, Va., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Thomas W. Ozlin, vice-chairman of the Virginia Democratic party, in a formal statement today asserted National Democratic party leaders and officials apparently have a single idea and aim in view—destruction of the present system of prohibition—and that if they persist it is incumbent upon the states of the South and Middle West to organize "to prevent this folly." Mr. Ozlin emphasized that he was speaking as an individual.

"The feeling is growing that our party leaders and officials are rapidly maneuvering the party into the position of making prohibition a party issue, so paramount, that it will overshadow all others in the party's appeal to the American people," Ozlin said.

"No candidate has been seriously discussed, as the Democratic standard-bearer in 1932, but who is known to the nation principally because of his opposition to prohibition. No one, apparently, can gain the attention of those in party authority save on this issue alone.

"If the party machinery, largely in the hands of the wet states of the north and east, persists, as it now appears to be doing, in centering interest on the sole issue of prohibition; if it is so using this machinery that this will be the paramount issue in the next national convention, dwarfing those of more transcendent importance—then it is time for the real Democrats and lovers of the party to organize, and see to it that a single group does not use this great party to vent their disapproval of one law, and sacrifice the party on the altar of that disapproval—making it ridiculous in the eyes of the country."

Mr. Ozlin, a former speaker of the Virginia House of Delegates, and active in support of the party ticket in 1928, said it would be too late for this organization if the states waited until the next national convention. Without such organization he said the "states which have always furnished the party's electoral votes, and without which success is impossible, will be unable to effectively oppose or prevent the consummation of the plan now so evidently in the making."

"In the present condition of the country, the question is no longer what and how shall we drink, but what and when shall we eat," Ozlin said.

Mr. Ozlin said he as in no sense satisfied with conditions under prohibition as they exist and that he joined with J. J. Shouse, the chairman of the National Executive committee in the assertion that the party must "face squarely and honestly the prohibition question."

"I want to see the best brains of my party brought to bear on the question that a tolerable solution may be found," he said. "I do not, however, wish to see the Democratic party be merely one of destruction or opposition to what is, offering nothing nothing for what may be destroyed."

Mr. Ozlin asserted that the party in all history had never had a better chance for success than presented it now, and that he believed it would be just as good next year.

NATION PAYS HIGH HONOR TO LINCOLN

Hoover to Extol the Civil War President in Radio Address This Evening

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 12.—(AP)—One hundred and twenty-two years ago today a boy was born in the backwoods of Kentucky. No particular importance was attached to his coming, but today, the anniversary of his birthday an entire nation paid tribute to the memory of the most famous backwoods rail splitter of them all.

In the schools, memorial halls, and other places throughout the length and breadth of the country, Americans talked again of "Honest Abe" and listened as others extolled the virtues of America's Civil War president. Springfield, focal point for exercises honoring Abraham Lincoln's memory because he lies buried here, heard him describe as a world figure who had "taught lessons which mankind, whether east or west, must take to heart."

The speaker was Katsuji Debuchi, the Japanese ambassador, who pleaded last night for a return to the ideals of Abraham Lincoln.

"The nations," said the ambassador, "are now becoming more and more interdependent. We can conceive of few problems which, though apparently domestic and generally so called, do not produce direct or indirect effects upon all nations. In such a world-society to nation, however powerful, however self-sufficient, can be independent of other nations and indifferent to their weal or woe. Today Lincoln's idealism cries for rescue as it did when Lincoln saw in America a house divided itself. In saying this I do not refer to any specific country—rather I have in mind all countries in the world."

Governor W. M. Brucker of Michigan, speaking before the mid day luncheon club, read in public for the first time the letter from an eleven year old New York girl which influenced the emancipator to grow a beard. The letter, written by Grace Biddle of Westfield, N. Y., follows in part:

"Westfield, Chautauque County, New York.
"October 15, 1860.
"Hon. Abraham Lincoln,
"Dear Sir:
"My father has just come home from the fair and brought home your picture. I am a little girl only 11 years old but want you should be President of the United States very much. So I hope you won't think me very bold to write such a great man as you are.

"I have got four brothers and part of them will vote for you anyway. If you will let your whiskers grow I will try and get the rest of them to vote for you. You would look a great deal better for your face is so thin. All the ladies like whiskers and they would tease their husbands to vote for you and then you would be president."

FOUR BANKERS ARE HELD FOR FEDERAL JURY

Asheville Officials Bound Over On Conspiracy Charges During Morning

Asheville, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Four Asheville bankers were bound over to the Federal grand jury by U. S. Commissioner Vonnon L. Gidger this morning after a hearing that lasted all day yesterday and brought forth a large portion of the government's evidence behind charges the four had conspired to violate the national banking laws.

Commissioner Gidger, saying that the attempt of J. Charles Bradford, one of the defendants, "to account to the great beyond," had "touched him," reduced Bradford's bond from $10,000 to $5,000. The other bonds will remain as they were. Bradford was cashier of the Central Bank and Trust Co. The other three defendants were: Wallace B. Davis, president of the Central Bank and Trust Co., bond $15,000.

L. L. Jenkins, president of the American National Bank, bond at $15,000. Mr. Jenkins also faced a charge of abstracting $15,000 from the American National Bank. He was bound over on this charge.

Russell C. Davis, active vice-president of the Central Bank and Trust Company, bond $10,000.

The hearing came to an end shortly before 11 o'clock this morning. Only two witnesses were called to the stand. Then each of the defense attorneys made one or more short speeches in which they asked for a dismissal of charges against their clients.

After hearing G. Lyle Jores make a plea for Bradford, who attempted Monday to take his life by slashing his throat, and who was unable to attend the hearing, Commissioner Gidger said:

"It is not for me to go into the reasons for my decision, that of binding the defendants to the higher court; as I understand it, the whole case is based on a conspiracy to impair the capital of the American National Bank. I feel that the government has offered a good line of evidence.

So far as Bradford is concerned, I have been touched. Where there is a will to account to the great beyond, it gets beyond me. I can't turn him loose but I will reduce his bond to $5,000. The other bonds will remain as they are."

Voice Of Pope Pius XI Heard Around The World During Morning Hours

Supreme Pontiff of Catholic Church Officially Opens Vatican Radio Station With Message of Peace

Vatican City, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Pope Pius XI, broadcasting twice within an hour and a half today, sent the voice of the Vatican around the world for the first time in the history of the Catholic church.

From the new Vatican radio station he spoke to his congregation and his priests in all parts of the world. Half an hour later at the Pontifical Academy of Science, he spoke again. Both addresses were carried across the seas, the first in Latin and the second in Italian.

Guglielmo Marconi, builder of the new station and long time friend of the Pontiff, introduced him on both occasions. A throng of invited guests and church dignitaries crowded the Vatican grounds as the Pontiff entered the radio station for the first speech, but only a few privileged persons were in the transmitting room as he talked.

After the inauguration of the station he was driven to the Academy in his red automobile and seated in a gilded damask covered throne.

He presented Senator Marconi a diploma of membership in the Academy and spoke briefly, thanking the inventor for his service.

Senator Marconi, introducing the Pontiff, spoke briefly before the address for which men and women were listening in far distant cities of the world.

Bandits Make 'Gold Brick' Haul In Daring Holdup Of Mail Truck At Washington

Mail Pouches Bearing Mutilated Currency Seized By Robbers After Beating Clerk With Lead Pipe

Washington, Feb. 12.—(AP)—A daring holdup of a mail truck carrying registered pouches in the Union Station here early this morning, was announced by postal officials as netting the robbers nothing but mutilated currency.

The stolen sacks, after a mail clerk had been beaten with lead pipe, contained only old bills cut in half for shipment to the Treasury department.

Police and government operatives were at work in many portions of the capital and watching its outskirts in an attempt to apprehend the holdup men.

The Treasury Department said the other halves of the mutilated bills had been received here in a previous mail shipment.

The robbery occurred between two and three A. M. in the Union Station concourse.

Peter Johnson, in charge of 28 sacks of registered mail being shipped from the Federal Reserve Bank in New York to the Treasury, was the mail clerk bludgeoned by the robbers.

Treasury officials called the loot a "gold brick" saying it was made up of only parts of bills which once had a value of $807,000.

Numbers of Bills Passed By Both Houses During the Morning; Senate Receives Second Bill Seeking to Tax Electrical Energy; House Kills Bill to Impeach Witnesses

Raleigh, Feb. 12.—(AP)—The General Assembly today voted to invite former Governor Alfred E. Smith, now at Pinehurst, to address the legislature and then waded out into a heavy calendar of local bills.

The lower House again took up the matter of unseating B. L. Lunsford of Buncombe, reading clerk, after disposing of the local calendar and the Senate resumed argument on the bill to allow a party in a suit to impeach its own witnesses.

During extended debate on the resolution to unseat Lunsford two Representatives said that if impeachment should be the reason for the proposal a resolution to unseat President Hoover should be sent up.

The Senate received a bill from Gravelly of Nash to levy a two mill tax on electrical energy.

The upper House killed the bill to allow impeachment of witnesses and then in rapid order passed measures defining and regulating the sale of oleomargarine, raising the educational standard for professional nurses, and allowing payment of taxes on individual parcels of land instead of the whole tract.

After debating the resolution to remove Lunsford for nearly two hours the House killed it 41 to 60.

The Senate killed the minority favorable report on the Gattie bill to allow the Supreme Court to set up rules of procedure and passed a substitute for the House bill relating to use of nets by non-residents within a marine mile of the shore.

Bills passed by the legislature follow: House: HB 388—LeGrand of Davie to abolish Davie treasurer.

HB 100—Bennett of Swain, to amend compulsory school law for the Cherokee Indians.

HB 113—Harmon of Avery, relating to election of Avery commissioners.

HB 367—Helms of Union, to abolish Bertie treasurer.

HB 375—Brady of Bladen, to close a street in Elizabethtown.

HB 388—Heffress of Guilford, to permit Guilford board of education to deed property.

HB 327—Finnanagan of Pitt, to authorize Greenville school trustees to deed property.

HB 333—Loven of Avery, to regulate office hours of Avery registrar of deeds.

ASK LIBERAL DONATIONS TO RELIEF FUND

Emergency Relief Committee Issues New Appeal for Funds

An appeal for more liberal donations to the movement looking to the relief of the unemployed people of the community was issued today by members of the Emergency Relief committee organized sometime ago to direct the work of feeding the community poor.

It was stated that contributors to the cause had been moving sluggishly the last several days, and that it would be impossible for the committee to continue their work indefinitely unless the public began, giving more irrely of cash, food, clothing and fuel.

B. B. Sugg, chairman of the Finance Committee, reiterated his statement today that the situation is decidedly the most serious that has confronted this section in the last generation and urged the people to reach down into their pockets and give until they feel like they have contributed their part to alleviation of the misery and abject despair prevailing among the cold half-starved people.

Members of the committee in charge of the operation of the commissary, established at the beginning of the relief campaign, asserted this morning that they had been feeding at the rate of between 75 and 100 families daily the last several weeks, and that this was making great inroads on both supplies and the cash surplus which they had at the beginning of the relief movement.

It is impossible to estimate the number of people suffering from the pangs of hunger and cold, despite the fact that members of the committee have made an effort to obtain a definite check on the situation. Almost every day new faces appear at the commissary and the number has increased until the finance committee finds it difficult to provide for the demands of the campaign as urged to do so at once. All contributions should be sent to the Relief Committee direct or to the Daily Reflector. Anybody having clothing that was not collected in the recent canvass has been asked to notify this paper and somebody will be sent for the package immediately.

TYSON FINED IN RUM CASE

Aberdeen Man Pays $100 and Costs On a Charge of Transporting Liquor

W. E. Tyson, of Aberdeen, charged with transporting whiskey, was fined $100 and cost by Judge W. L. Wheeler in the regular weekly session of County court in this city yesterday.

The charge grew out of the discovery of a considerable quantity of whiskey in Tyson's automobile after it had collided with another machine driven by L. E. Turnage, at Lang's Cross Roads, several months ago. Mr. Turnage was seriously injured and his car badly damaged by the impact, but it was understood that Tyson paid for damage to the car and hospital expenses of the injured man thereby eliminating legal action in this connection.

Several other cases were disposed of by the court Tuesday.

Miss Fannie Savage, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, was sent out to the county roads to spend 9 months at hard labor.

Lewis Hudson, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, was bound over to Superior court under bond of $300.

The men, dressed in the usual costume for Papal reception minus the women clad in black with long veils and long sleeves. The white and yellow papal flag fluttered from the station building.
As the Pontiff's large motor swept up the gravel drive of the Vatican gardens passing the observatory and the grotto topped from the famous one at Lourdes, six trumpets sounded their silver instruments.
The Pope, assisted in alighting by a noblesman-in-waiting smiled graciously at the cheering crowd.
As he passed the threshold of the station Senator Marconi and its director, Gathers Gianfranceschi, directed his attention to a veiled marble plaque before him.
At that moment an official drew a cord and the veil fell revealing an inscription in Latin to the effect that the station had been founded by Pope Pius XI in order that the words of the Supreme Pontiff might be sent on aerial waves to the ends of the earth for the Glory of God and the good of souls.

The Pontiff nodded and smiled. Father Gianfranceschi and Senator Marconi then escorted His Holiness over soft carpets to the generating room. There the Pope pressed the switch which sent the generators running.
From the generating room he passed across the long hall to the transmitting room and pressed another switch and sent the current flowing into the radio tubes. The Pontiff sat in a large gilded chair throne covered with red damask, as he presided the liver.
Senator Marconi and Father Gianfranceschi, director of the station, knelt and kissed the Pontiff's hand. The Pope bowed and gave them cordial greetings.
He went immediately into the telegraph room and seated himself in a throne before the mechanical transmitting machine. He wrote out a few words on the typewriter keyboard and Father Gianfranceschi took the strip of paper which issued from the machine and placed it in the transmitting machine which ran off the words.
The Pontiff watched eagerly, smiling all the while, and complimented the station director on the perfect performance of the transmitter.

MAY CALL OFF INQUIRY IN CANNON CASE

Nye Undecided Whether to Continue Investigation of the Bishop's Activities

Washington, Feb. 12.—(AP)—After eliciting from witnesses that some of the funds deposited to the credit of the Virginia Anti-Smith committee in 1928 were transferred to the personal account of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., the Senate Campaign Funds committee today remained undecided whether further hearings would be held.

The Nye group, which is investigating political activities of the Southern Methodist prohibition leader, yesterday questioned a number of bankers.

It was acting upon complaints filed by Representative Tinkham, Republican, Massachusetts, that Cannon violated the corrupt practices act through failure to report expenditures of funds contributed to the campaign against the Democratic presidential nominee.

The Bishop came to the hearing in a wheel chair, still crippled by arthritis from which he has been suffering for some time. At the outset a letter from his was read asking permission to file, as soon as his health allowed, a sworn statement to prove no "criminal or dishonorable act" had been committed. Chairman Nye granted the request.

Perry Seay, vice-president of the American Bank and Trust Company, Richmond, Virginia, told Nye that Bishop Cannon's Anti-Smith committee opened an account July 24 1928, with $58,708, on February 11, 1929, three checks were deposited totaling $18,605. One was for $17,364. The same day this exact amount was transferred to Bishop Cannon's personal account. It was not traced further nor was its source disclosed.

William Tyler Page, clerk of the House, testified that the report of the Cannon campaign committee was not filed, as required by law, on January 1, but was presented February 15, 1929. However, he pointed out the physical impossibility of making a cumulative report of the year's transactions on the first day of the year, a legal holiday.

Tinkham's complaint charged specifically that Bishop Cannon received $65,300 from E. C. Jamieson of New York for the campaign, but accounted for only $17,000 in reporting to the clerk of the House Cannon previously had advanced the contention that the law did not require accounting of the full amount.

Another transaction which held the attention of the committee was the transfer first from one bank to another and then to a second account in the latter bank of an $8,000 check received by the Bishop. The check was identified by Nye as bearing the number of one which records of last year's Senate Lobby committee showed came from Mr. Jamieson.

the situation is to be met.
 It is the "Dollar Day" in Greenville and several thousand shoppers from a radius of fifty miles or more are thronging the business district taking advantage of the hundreds of bargains which Greenville merchants have assembled for their inspection.
 It is the first trade event of the new year, and the merchants have left nothing undone to make it surpass all previous years both from the standpoint of price and quality.
 "Dollar Day" is one of the many special bargain days put on by the Greenville Merchants Association from time to time to stimulate interest in the importance of this city as the "principal shopping center of Eastern Carolina," and thousands of values are moved from the counter at prices below their original value.
 Greenville extends a cordial welcome to the shoppers and gives them an invitation to come again and profit from the action of the merchant to share their profits with the public.

NEW BALL WILL ALSO HAVE ITS BAD HOPS

Hot Springs, Ark., Feb. 12.—(AP)—The new ball to be used by the major leagues may enable pitchers to have more control over curves, but it won't reduce the number of bad hops on the infield, opines Joe Booley, leading fielding shortstop in the American League and one of the big factors in the success of the Philadelphia Athletics.
 "However, you can't tell much about it until you play it," Booley continued. "It may slow up the infield considerably and then again it may not. If the ball is deadened to any great extent we infielders will be able to play in closer on the green without any fear."
 "It probably will give the pitchers a better grip on the ball and enable them to control curves better, but it won't reduce the number of bad hops we get on the infield."

PIPGRAS IMPROVES AFTER OPERATION

Hot Springs, Ark., Feb. 12.—(AP)—George Pigras, star New York Yankee pitcher, was in a hospital here today with his condition reported as "extremely good" after an emergency operation late yesterday for appendicitis.
 Pigras was stricken early yesterday morning and taken to the hospital about noon. Physicians said the operation was "highly successful" but that he had a "narrow escape."
 With the most rapid recovery, however, his physician, Dr. W. V. Laws, said he would be unable to leave the hospital before a month and would not be able to indulge in any strenuous exercise for about four months.

Charlotte, Feb. 12.—(AP)—William Lee of African ancestry told he saw it. Now he's not so sure. Friends he knew a bargain when he swapped a tough old hen for an oil stove. With its aid he started a still. Police found him, refused to believe his "medicinal purposes only" story. Now Williams thinks his bargain may prove mighty expensive.

BACK ACHED ALL THE TIME
 Georgia Lady Tells How She Got Well and Strong After Taking Cardui.

Augusta, Ga.—Mrs. Lizzie Newsome, 1830 Greene Street, this city, says she is "delighted" to tell about her use of Cardui because she believes it helped her so much.
 "Six years ago, my mother gave me Cardui because my health was poor," writes Mrs. Newsome. "I was a pale and sickly girl, suffering constantly with backache. My strength seemed to give out."
 "Mother had taken Cardui herself and had been so greatly benefited by it that she thought of it as the very medicine for me. It brought me right out, and after I had taken it awhile, I felt fine."
 "After I was married, I was run-down and needed something to build me up. I was weak and had to drag myself to my work. I suffered from shortness of breath and backache."
 "I remembered how much good Cardui had done me before, and started taking it again. I took eleven bottles of Cardui. I got well and strong again, and ceased having any ache or pains."

 It's a trifle late to continue any football arguments. Perhaps we should put them away in the moth balls until next fall, but it is always of interest to have a word from the old warrior, Pop Warner.

It's about that celebrated ball-hidder-under-the-jersey play, the origin of which is in some dispute. Credit for it was claimed in Warner's behalf when he was coaching Cornell in 1897, but along came documentary evidence to show it was tried by Auburn (of Alabama) in 1895.

Here's what Pop writes me:
 "The story about Auburn using the hidden ball play by putting it under the jersey in 1895 may be true, although it would seem that I would have known about it—since I was then coaching Georgia and Auburn was our big wind-up game and such an unusual play would have been impressed upon me as coach of the team meeting Auburn and having to be prepared for them."

"I saw Auburn play a game in 1896 when I personally scouted them and they used a play wherein the whole team in close formation formed a close circle when the ball was passed back and then this revolving mass moved to one side and left Tichenor lying on the ball as though he was injured. When the mass of players left him clear he jumped to his feet and ran with the ball. However, when I saw that play tried it did not get very far. This may be the type of play which (Fuzzy) Woodruff and Tichenor consider the hidden ball play, but in that case it was concealed under the clothing and covered up by the player curling over it on the ground."
 John Heisman coached Auburn in '95 and '96 and he could tell you the straight of this thing if you get in touch with him."

We hope, eventually, to run this story to its foundation and settle the great Hidden Ball Controversy. For as we have not been able to check down Mr. Heisman but scouts may report further developments any time. We shall continue the hunt even if it takes all spring and summer.

The famous Washington stroke, which of many a thrilling victory at Poughkeepsie, has been overruled and charged for the 1931 naval campaign, which is news to receive the boys row, row, row.

Mainly, Head Coach Al Ulbrickson of the Huskies has reduced the stroke and layback, which for years have been very pronounced in the action of the Washington crews coached by Rusty Callow as well as his young pupil and successor. The new stroke, as illustrated and described by George Varnell in the Seattle Times, shows the oarsman more erect and better balanced as he handles the sweep.

This modification is strikingly similar to the adaptation of the original Cornbar stroke at Yale by Ed Leader whose success since 1923 has spoken for itself.

Primarily the so-called Leader stroke gives greater flexibility, while giving the cedar shell a more even "run" and this presumably is the objective of Ulbrickson in making the change at Washington. Its results at Poughkeepsie this June 17 will be interesting to watch.

South Atlantic League Seeking Two New Members

Charlotte, Feb. 12.—(AP)—With two of its clubs apparently out of the picture, the South Atlantic Baseball Association today looked for former southeastern league teams as possible members of the circuit.

Columbia, S. C., automatically surrendered its franchise yesterday when organizations and fans failed to raise sufficient cash to enable the team to stay in the loop after the Pittsburgh Pirates had dropped the club as a farm.

Although no official statement was forthcoming from Augusta, Ga., the same situation apparently prevailed there.

When Marvin Wolfe, for years president of the club, relinquished his control, the franchise assumed the same status as that at Columbia.

No effort was made to post the forfeit money, due at noon yesterday.

W. G. Braham, president of the Sally, refused to make any statement in regard to the status of the two clubs pending formal notification that they had forfeited their franchises.

Selma, Ala., one of three Southeastern teams to apply for admission into the Sally, yesterday raised $1,000 of a $5,000 forfeit necessary for admission to the league. Fans announced the remaining $4,000 would be raised without any trouble if the franchise were granted.

CATS HOPEFUL HISTORY WILL BE REPEATED

Charlotte, Feb. 12.—(AP)—The hope of the Davidson Wildcats today as they faced crucial tests on successive nights with two of their arch-enemies in the basketball realm was that "history will repeat."

The Presbyterians will meet the North Carolina Tar Heels at Chapel Hill tonight in the first of the two contests. From there they will go to Raleigh for a tilt tomorrow night with N. C. State.

In earlier games this season, the Wildcats licked both these opponents. State by a 26 to 19 score and North Carolina 18 to 17. If they can "repeat" this week, the Big Five championship will be within their reach.

These two battles, however, will not end the Big Five warfare for the Wildcats, for they are slated to meet Duke at Charlotte next Tuesday and have a tentative engagement later with Wake Forest. The Blue Devils beat them 27 to 18 at Durham this season.

On an out of the state foray, the Dukemen dropped a match to Tennessee, 36 to 25, last night at Knoxville. They now return home to get ready for North Carolina Saturday at Chapel Hill.

Appalachian took possession of second place in the Little Seven Conference last night by whipping Atlantic Christian, 51 to 33, at Boone. The defeat was the third of the week for A. C. C.

Duke and State grapplers started the ball rolling this week in that sports division by putting on a contest last night at Durham. The Blue Devils won 20 to 6. The Blue Devil grapplers will meet Davidson Saturday.

The boxing brigade will swing into action tomorrow night when the Dukemen meet the Virginia Cavaliers. The Virginians were liked last week 4 to 3 by North Carolina.

Racer Complains About Plane Speed

New York, Feb. 12.—(AP)—There was one passenger aboard the airplane who complained about the slowness of the craft.

"These flying machines are all right, but when you want to get some place in a hurry, give me an automobile—my automobile, anyway—every time."

It was Captain Malcolm Campbell speaking and he was referring to the Blue Bird Special which set a world's record at 245 miles an hour at Daytona Beach, Fla., last week. The locale was a passenger plane in which he arrived here last night from Washington after an audience with President Hoover.

Captain Campbell expressed the belief that there virtually was no limit to the speed at which man could travel.

"Perhaps the speed of light is our limit," he said, "away off in the future, and assuredly there is nothing permanent about my record. I believe it can be surpassed in the same machine I used last week."

He and his wife will leave for England on the liner Mauretania tomorrow—along with his prize automobile.

High School Fight Tournament Opens At Chapel Hill

Chapel Hill, Feb. 12.—(AP)—High school boxers and wrestlers assembled at the University of North Carolina here today for their first state tournament.

Greensboro, Durham, Gastonia and Raleigh have entered pug teams in the meet while grapplers have been sent here from Broughton and Salisbury in addition to Greensboro and Durham.

Preliminaries will be held this afternoon and tomorrow with the finals scheduled for tomorrow night.

The 27 boxers and 28 wrestlers will take part in matches in eight different classes in each tournament.

PERKINS AFTER ANOTHER HIGH SCORE RECORD

By DILON GRAHAM
 Associated Press Sports Writer
 Atlanta, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Bill Perkins, Georgia Tech bean-pole basketball center, is shooting after a new Southern Conference high scoring mark.

And if his performances during the next week are anywhere near his average he will fly past the 1929 figure he set last year by shooting 61 years ago, and the latest effort failed 126 to 113.

In eleven conference games, Perkins has rung the bell for 129 points, an average of nearly 11 per game. If he can play his usual game against Georgia in Athens Saturday night, he will break the 1929 mark.

Georgia Tech has five more conference games this season prior to the championship tournament here and with a little luck, Perkins should establish a mark for future sharpshooters: to aim towards.

Perkins has led the conference, ever since early in the campaign, while neither Williams nor Cox have approached their 1930 accuracy. Both were in rare form against North Carolina recently, however, Cox getting 23 points and Williams 12.

Word from Chapel Hill is that two former Tar Heel grid stars are under consideration as assistant coaches for Chuck Collins next fall. They are Ray Farris, one of the best guards in Southern Conference history and Odell Sap, a star end. Sap won all-star honors for three years in Carolina while Farris was All-Southern in 1925.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified croscote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs croscote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to croscote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the croscote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

NOTED SPORTS WRITER DEAD

Death Claims Charles Dryden, Greatest of All Sports Humorists, At Chicago

By CHARLES W. DUNKLEY (Associated Press Sports Writer) Chicago, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Charles Dryden, first and perhaps the greatest of all baseball humorists, is dead.

The man who originated nearly all the expressions used in writing baseball today, passed on yesterday in his modest little cottage in Ocean Springs, Miss., after being a helpless paralytic for ten years. He was about 71 years old.

Dryden, who worked on Chicago, San Francisco, and New York papers up until about fifteen years ago, became famous for the unique manner in which he reported baseball games. He always built his stories around an incident which struck him as humorous. He was nationally recognized as one could pick a nickname for a baseball player and make it stick, and make the baseball players like him.

He was the first to call Frank Chance, late manager of the famous Cub team of 1906, the "peerless leader." He was the first to call a baseball park a "ball yard." He hung the name "Big Moose" on Ed Walsh, the famous White Sox pitcher, and once wrote of Walsh as "the only man in the world who could strut standing still."

Dryden regarded baseball as a huge joke, and always wrote humorously of the games. While employed in New York twenty five or thirty years ago the late John T. Brush, then owner of the New York Giants, took exception to the facetious way in which Dryden described a ball game, and had him barred from the ball park. That made no difference to Dryden. He climbed a tall telegraph pole outside the park and proceeded to report the games day after day while perched atop one of the cross bars. Finally Brush relented and Dryden was later admitted to the park.

When Dryden decided to become a writer he went to San Francisco. He hung around a newspaper office and there, being no regular reporter available, Dryden was assigned to the job. He wrote an amusing story about the fire, neglecting to mention that several firemen had been killed, but the story made such a hit with the editors that Dryden was given a permanent job. Dryden hung the name of "The Old Roman" on Charles A. Comiskey, 73-year-old owner of the White Sox. He called the White Sox of 1906 who won a championship under Fielder Jones, the "hitless wonders" because of their inability to win ball games without making hits. The famous play in which Fred Merkle, first baseman of the New York Giants of 1907 failed to touch second base in the deciding game of the regular season inspired Dryden to refer to Merkle as "bonehead" and the name stuck until Merkle passed out of baseball history.

HYDE TO MAKE QUICK REPLY IN DRY ISSUE

Secretary Expected to Give Interpretation on Drought Bill Sometime Today

Washington, Feb. 12.—(AP)—A prompt reply from Secretary Hyde to the Senate's request for interpretation of the drought relief compromise bill was predicted today by Senate administration leaders.

Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, who is in charge of the bill, said he expected Hyde's reply during the day.

Senators Watson, the Republican leader and Goff, Republican of West Virginia, conferred earlier in the day with President Hoover.

The Republicans have urged a prompt reply by the agriculture secretary to the Senate's query whether the proposed $20,000,000 drought loan funds could be expended by the farmer borrowers for the purchase of food and clothing.

Senator Heflin, Democrat of Alabama, told the Senate today he was not opposed to the compromise relief plan as published today, but was going to vote for it. He said that while he was not satisfied with the agreement "the matter has reached such a point" that he would vote for it.

Secretary Hyde was in Louisville today and it was reported at the capitol that President Hoover had conferred with him. It was confidently predicted a reply from the agriculture secretary which would be satisfactory to the Senate was forthcoming.

The secretary was expected by Senators to take the position that once the government loans are given to the farmers, it is up to them to spend the money as they see fit and without government supervision as to whether the money was used for purchase of food and clothing.

Meanwhile, the Senate marked time, anxiously awaiting the Hyde interpretation.

Senator Ransdall, a Democrat from Louisiana, opened today's Senate debate with a speech for adoption of the compromise. He contended the plan would permit loans for food, clothing, and medicine.

He expressed confidence that Secretary Hyde would administer the law sympathetically, as President Hoover has assured Democratic Leader Robinson. He paid tribute to President Hoover's work in connection with Mississippi river flood relief.

Synod Decides to Close College

Newton, Feb. 12.—(AP)—The winding up of the affairs of the 75-year-old Mount Pleasant Collegiate Institute was in the hands of the trustees today following decision of the United Evangelical Synod of North Carolina to liquidate the institution.

The Synod decided yesterday to close the school after a sharp debate on the convention floor between Col. G. F. McAllister, president of the institute, and Dr. H. B. Schaffer, president of Lenoir-Rhyne College.

Colonel McAllister claimed Mount Pleasant had been slighted in the allocation of funds from a recent campaign in behalf of it and Lenoir-Rhyne. Dr. Schaffer replied that the campaign needed no defense.

Commending Colonel McAllister for his service to the institute, the Synod cancelled its agreement with him and left the closing of the school in the hands of the trustees. It voted to assume a $20,000 debt on the school.

This matter disposed of the convention turned to other business before it with adjournment set for today.

ASK REPEAL OF OLD LAW BARRING GAMES NEAR CHAPEL HILL

Raleigh, Feb. 12.—(AP)—It's against the law to play football, baseball and other competitive games within five miles of Chapel Hill, seat of the State University.

Representative Sam Gattis of Orange found an old law, enacted, he said, by some ancient legislative body, making it a crime to stage any game near the temple of learning which opens the way for betting by spectators.

He entered a bill in the House to repeal the law.

Investment Company Directed Deposits Of Tennessee Funds

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 12.—(AP)—The legislative investigating committee today had before it testimony that Caldwell and Company and affiliated banks paid more for state bonds than they sold them for with the agreement the funds were to be deposited in banks designated by them.

John P. Nolan, state treasurer, told the committee yesterday that the Nashville syndicate bought a $20,000,000 bond issue and resold it to Lehman Brothers of New York at a discount of between $150,000 and $200,000.

The Caldwell contract stipulated the funds were to be deposited in banks designated by the syndicate until withdrawn for completed highway projects while the bid entered by Lehman, the syndicate's only competitor in the original bidding, carried no such provision.
