DEFER ACTION TO REDISTRICT NORTH STATE

Committee Will Meet Again Tuesday to Hear Persons On Reporting Out a Bill

Raleigh, March 14.—(AP)—Meeting for the purpose of "reporting out a bill to re-district the state for election of Congressmen," the joint General Assembly committee on congressional districts today failed to take action and set another public hearing for Tuesday.

Absence of certain persons who had asked to be allowed to appear before the committee was given as the reason for the failure to report out a bill.

Several different proposals for redistricting the state, most of them centering on splitting the present "imperial fifth" and adding one to two other counties to the two districts thus formed, have been introduced.

Senator Grier of Iredell, chairman of the Senate group on districting, presented another plan to the joint committee, as did Senator Folger of Surry.

The Grier plan leaves the first, second, third, sixth, eighth, ninth and tenth present districts composed as they are, the first three retaining their present number and the present sixth becoming the seventh, eighth, the ninth, the tenth and the eleventh.

The new fourth would consist of Franklin, Wake, Nash and Johnston counties. The new fifth would spread along the Virginia line and include Vance, Granville, Person, Caswell, Rockingham, Stokes, Surry and Forsyth. The new sixth would include Durham, Orange, Alamance, Guilford, Chatham and Randolph.

The new eighth would include Scotland, Hoke, Lee, Moore, Richmond, Anson, Union, Montgomery, Davidson, Davie, Yadkin and Wilkes.

The Folger plan is another split of the present fifth to place Alamance, Chatham, Durham, Granville and Guilford in one district and Caswell, Forsyth, Orange, Person, Rockingham, Stokes and Surry in the other.

Mother Jumps to Her Death After Hurling Children Into Ocean

Mattapoisett, Mass., March 14.—(AP)—Mrs. William Chester Allison of Saylesville, R. I., last night hurled her three children from a Mattapoisett dock and jumped into the ocean to her death after them.

Wayne Allison, 9, who was found dripping wet and exhausted a mile from the dock, told the story to the state police. The lad said that his mother had taken him, his sister, Hope, 6, and his boy brother, DeWitt, 3, to the dock on the pretense of showing them the New York boat. She hurried them into the water, he said, as they stepped to the edge of the wharf, and then jumped in herself.

Wayne, unable to swim, clung to the rocks beneath the wharf and pulled himself ashore. The vicinity was deserted and the boy started to walk for help. Ralph Purinton found him on the street and called a constable, Sylvester Savage, who heard the exhausted and frightened boy's story.

The boy was wrapped in bed at Purinton's home in New Bedford and state police began a search for the bodies of the brother, sister and mother. They had not been recovered after several hours of grappling today.

The husband and father, who learned of the tragedy on his return from work yesterday, started for Mattapoisett immediately.

Friends of the family and neighbors said that Mrs. Allison had been despondent for several weeks.

BEAUTY HELD FOR KILLING MATE

Mrs. Fred G. Nixon-Nirdlinger, the former Charlotte Nash of St. Louis who won beauty honors in 1923, was held in Nice, France, after she had shot to death her husband (inset), Philadelphia theatre magnate. She is shown with her son, Fred, Jr. (left), and Charlotte Lou. She claimed self-defense.

LAST OF NOTED SISTERS DEAD IN RACE FOR ATMETROPOLIS

Miss Ella Von Wendell, Heiress, Dies In Sleep At Age of 80 Years

New York, March 14.—(AP)—Miss Ella V. Von Wendell, last of the Wendell sisters who inherited the last fortune of John Gottlieb Wendell, died in her sleep last night. She was 80 years old.

The simple announcement said merely that Miss Wendell had "died during the night."

Miss Wendell finished her days in the red brick mansion on Fifth Avenue which stood through the years, now amid towering office buildings, as a monument to the family motto "Buy, but never sell real estate."

There were six daughters and one son in the family to inherit the $100,000,000 fortune which John Wendell started in fur as a contemporary of John Jacob Astor.

The son, John Gottlieb Wendell, Jr., became head of the family upon the death of his father. He frowned upon marriage for his sisters and decreed they should stay out of society, live in the simplest possible style and wear the fashions of their youth.

Georgiana Wendell once defied her brother's decree and made a trip to Europe. She came back speaking several languages and indicating she preferred to live as a lady of fortune. She died two years ago in a sanitarium.

Rebecca also defied the brother. She married. Her death last July left Ella alone in the mansion.

The mansion has for years been a famous landmark, pointed out to sightseers. The sisters lived behind drawn curtains, refusing flattery offers for the property.

Rebecca, who was Mrs. Luther A. Swepe, journeyed daily on an elevated train to a small office on Lower Broadway from which she managed the family's real estate holdings—holdings that stretched from the Bowery to Maiden Lane and Grand street to Middle Broadway.

She kept in force four family tenets: "never mortgage. Never sell property. Broadway moves northward ten blocks a decade. Tenants must make their own repairs."

WALES OPENS TRADE SHOW IN ARGENTINA

British Prince Expresses Wish of His Nation for Lion's Share of Trade

Buenos Aires, March 14.—(AP)—Britain's wish for a lion's share of South American commerce was expressed in emphatic form today with inaugural of the British trade exposition at Palermo park.

Twenty million dollars worth of British made goods and the British heir, the Prince of Wales, and Prince George were the principal attractions at the opening. An international radio hookup was arranged for broadcasting the opening ceremony to very American country.

The inaugural took place at 3 p. m. (1 p. m. EST).

The exhibits include automobiles, locomotives, airplanes, farm and factory machinery. The British government transported some of the exhibits here on its own warships and erected one of the largest pavilions on the exposition grounds.

Sir Herbert Gibson, president of the exposition, recalled the Prince's visit to Argentina five years ago and thanked him for coming back to open this British fair. He addressed President Uriburu in Spanish, thanking him for his part in making the exposition possible, and the British heir spoke after the president had replied.

The Prince, commented that he might have opened the exposition in London through some contrivance based on modern invention, but that he had preferred to come to Buenos Aires, realizing that that would "have been inadequate to express my sense of appreciation at the exceptional importance of this exhibition to the future of British trade with the Argentine republic."

After calling attention to various branches of the exhibits, he declared: "Is, as we all hope, the response of the Argentine purchasing public to the appeal of the exhibition leads in some measure to the revival of industrial prosperity in Great Britain and consequently to the diminution of industrial unemployment, a reciprocal result of increase in British consumption of Argentine meat and Argentine cereals is certain."

Charges against Major Cannon of issuing worthless checks in the operation of a summer school in the mountains near here were dismissed in Superior court yesterday with the announcement Bishop Cannon had made them good.

PARI-MUTUEL BILL MEETS WITH DEFEAT

Buncombe Gambling Bill Voted Down By Senate After Public Hearing

Raleigh, March 14.—(AP)—There won't be any race track in Buncombe county with Pari-Mutuel betting machines.

The Reed racing bill, which at one time in its stormy career lacked only a third reading roll call in the Senate to become law today was as dead as legislatively possible.

Given an unfavorable report late yesterday by the Senate committee on counties, cities and towns after a three-hour public hearing, the "climber" was applied by the Senate last night.

Today it lies on the table underneath a couple of dead motions and its days are over.

Ministers and laymen from all sections of the state denounced the bill at a public committee hearing yesterday afternoon.

The bill was re-referred after sliding through the House on a safe majority and second reading in the Senate by 25 to 17.

Among those who spoke against the measure were Mrs. T. W. Bickett, widow of late Governor Bickett; J. B. Ivey, prominent Charlotte merchant and church leader; Josephus Daniels, Raleigh editor; Dr. W. L. Poteat, president emeritus of Wake Forest college; Don Elias and Charles A. Webb, Asheville publishers, and Mrs. Palmer Jerman, leader of women's affairs in the state.

Y. J. Jordan, Jr., Asheville attorney, made an impassioned plea in behalf of the measure, asserting opposition to it came from the ministers. "What we need is more tolerance," he said.

Opponents attacked the betting proposal as "unmoral practice" while proponents claimed it would financially benefit Asheville and Buncombe county.

Business Woman Claims Altitude Records At Akron

Akron, O., March 14.—(AP)—A business woman, who is just as efficient in the air as in the office today claimed to have broken the women's altitude record by more than half a mile.

Miss Frankie Renner, 30, who ordinarily is known as secretary-treasurer of the Robbins Flying Service, took her Waco biplane up through a howling gale and numbing cold yesterday to a ceiling estimated by the weather bureau at 33,000 feet.

If calibration of her barograph at Washington sustains her claims, she easily will have surpassed the record of 30,064 feet claimed only eight days ago by Miss Ruth Nichols, Rye, N. Y., society girl. Her altimeter stopped recording at 28,000 feet.

MORROW WILL TALK NAVIES WITH DAWES

Senator to Stop In London to Discuss Naval Situation With Ambassador

Washington, March 14.—(AP)—Secretary Stimson announced today that Senator Dwight W. Morrow, now en route to Europe on the Leviathan, had wiredless him agreeing to a request by the secretary that he stop in London and confer with Ambassador Dawes on the naval question.

The secretary said he made his request to the senator by wireless after Morrow had sailed. He asked that the senator explain to Ambassador Dawes the general attitude of the American government toward the recently concluded Franco-Italian naval settlement.

There was no comment in the State Department on who the United States would designate if it accepted a British invitation to participate in drafting the final agreement embodying the Franco-Italian settlement.

Secretary Stimson was hopeful he might secure the senator's services if he accepted the invitation.

Washington, March 14.—(AP)—The United States may yet take an active part in the Franco-Italian naval agreement.

It has been invited by Great Britain to join the other five powers signatory to the London treaty in drafting the final form of the new settlement.

This invitation was extended yesterday and taken under consideration by Secretary Stimson, but acceptance was interpreted here in an effort to enable Japan and the United States to reorganize an approve officially the new agreement without the necessity of signing.

Heretofore, the State Department has followed the theory that it would be best for the United States only approve passively the Franco-Italian agreement, Japan adopted the same attitude.

Secretary Stimson can see no necessity for the United States to sign the treaty since it relates solely to Great Britain, France and Italy. Signing would require Senate approval and delay the date of effectiveness.

The click of automatic printer telegraph machines, which constantly speed the news of the world to more than 1300 members, will give a realistic background to the event.

Every part of the story behind the news is to be covered, including news photographs, in the broadcast which is to start at 7:30 p. m. (EST) and continue half an hour. Two short wave stations will make the program available in foreign countries.

Mr. Cooper, who is to make a short address, will be introduced by M. H. Aylesworth, president of the National Broadcasting Company, after which there is to be unfolded for the listeners, as if it were a dramatic presentation, details of the efforts required to present the day's news accurately and speedily.

Mr. Aylesworth speaks from Chicago.

Announcers will be George Hicks and James Wallington of the NBC staff under the guidance of J. M. Kendrick, executive news editor in charge of the report to morning newspapers, will visit every point of interest in the news room. With the help of editors, reporters and special writers at their desks, there will be revealed just what is taking place.

PROGRESSIVE FIGHT STILL GAINS SCOPE

Underground Courtship of Democrats and Republican Independents at Work

Washington, March 14.—(AP)—Ambitious Democrats and independent Republicans are working toward a union of ideas they hope will give them political supremacy in 1932.

Their underground courtship broke to the surface again yesterday in a manner not especially pleasing to old-line G. O. P. members, to whom the progressives have been ever troublesome.

Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, who thinks the country should have a progressive President, announced his only hope is with the Democratic party. Senator Hull, Democrat, Tennessee, had the same idea, describing what he thinks are similarities in the policies of the two groups.

Norris wants "another Roosevelt" in the White House. He declined yesterday, however, to name the candidate he would like to see nominated. He said if Owen D. Young were chosen, he and other independents would have to "go fishing."

He concedes the nomination of President Hoover for a second term.

Hull did not commit himself on a Presidential nominee. He limited his statement to agreeing with Norris that a third party is inadvisable and to saying numerous policies suggested by progressives at their conference here earlier this week "were in complete harmony with the course and attitude of most of the great Democratic rank and file."

Others, though, were more outspoken. Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, said if the Democrats do not choose his colleague, Senator Robinson, he would like to see Governor Roosevelt of New York, in the race. Norris has explained he did not have that governor in mind when he mentioned "another Roosevelt." He conceded that interpretation could be made.

While this wooing continued, the House progressives said they would demand enactment of legislation they will draw between now and the next session, when their votes will bear tremendous weight in the organization.

Some progressives indicated they would combat the recently announced intention of the Republican organization to sell the administration to the farm belt. Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, was understood to be ready to take the stump if necessary in opposition to the agricultural advisory council of the Republican National Committee.

Lexington, N. C., March 14.—(AP)—Lonnie Woodrow Wilson, negro, got a marriage license, but something happened between him and his bride-elect over in Winston-Salem.

"Give me a writin' showin' I'm not married," Lonnie told Registrar of Deeds Redwine.

Three State-wide Bills of Little Importance and Several Local Matters Receive Favorable Consideration of Senate; Jeffress Bill Passes in the House

Raleigh, March 14.—(AP)—The General Assembly brought its tenth week to a close today with desultory sessions of both houses after a busy week.

Featured by the bitter fight over the Reed bill to allow pari-mutuel betting in connection with horse and dog racing in Buncombe county, the tenth week saw little major legislation enacted into law but each house disposed of a number of important measures.

The Senate held a half-hour session today and passed three minor state-wide bills and a number of local measures.

In the House the Jeffress bill to require all sub-divisions to receive competitive bids before letting contracts involving more than $100 was approved.

State's prison was assured of a new, modern, fire-proof central home when the administration bill to reappropriate $400,000 for a building on Cary farm near here passed both divisions. Its approval came within less than a week of the Duplin stockade holocaust which took the lives of 11 negroes.

The Senate passed the Blount-Lawrence bill to require all operators of motor vehicles to be licensed but killed the Whedbee bill to establish a state insurance fund to administer the workmen's compensation act.

The McKee bill to protect shrubbery alongside highways by imposing a tax on the removal of native growth to other states for ornamental purposes passed the Senate, as did measures to reorganize both the State Health Board and Park Commission.

Mandatory reduction of gross tax levies in the counties to reflect any savings made in general legislation passed by the 1931 assembly was approved by both houses and further postponement of the quadrennial reassessment of property until April 1 also prevailed.

Night work for women under 18 years of age in industry was prohibited under the Newman bill which completed its legislative course with Senate approval and the Senate also got a new bill to consolidate and reorganize the Department of Labor and Printing, Industrial Commission and Child Welfare Commission.

Action of the joint finance committee in dissolving over the sales tax question was unprecedented and the House group voted to levy a gross sales tax on retail merchants of one-half of one per cent if sales are less than $10,000 annually and one per cent on sales of more than $10,000.

The House passed the Ewing corrupt practices bill.

Conferees on the Connor road bill reached an agreement but it not formally reported.

After lacking only one reading before final passage, the Reed bill met its death on being re-referred to committee.

The important Seawell banking bill, establishing a state department of banking separate from the Corporation Commission, passed second reading in the House and was carried over today.

The House passed a measure amending the laws relating to pleadings in action for libel and slander and also approved the substitute for the Senate bill providing that registers of deeds, clerk of court and state registrar of vital statistics maintain a closer check on pension rolls.

Both houses will meet at noon Monday.

Diphtheria Epidemic Spreading In Alaska

Point Barrow, Alaska, March 14.—(AP)—The diphtheria scourge has the upper hand again here today but Dr. Henry Griest of the Presbyterian Mission hospital and his wife were fighting back with renewed spirit and an additional supply of antitoxin.

The number of serious cases had mounted to 24, the only hospital was overflowing and the disease was spreading rapidly. Some of the patients were expected to die.

The new supply of serum was brought here from Fairbanks yesterday by Joe Crosson, aviator. He made a previous flight here with antitoxin and fruits last Sunday shortly after the aviator's arrival yesterday, four new cases were reported and the same number today.

ABOUT TOWN

The teaching of health in the public schools of Greenville has brought such fine results that it has attracted the attention of both county and state health specialists.
One of the most prominent achievements recently is the "Health House" constructed from foodstuffs by students of the second grade of the Model school.

The little house has been put on display in the Pitt County Department of Health and is a revelation of the splendid conception which the children have developed in the matter of diet.

The diminutive structure contains all of the foods necessary to a balanced diet for all three meals of the day, and indicates intensive training in the value which the various kinds of foods play in keeping the human body healthy, strong and vigorous.

Education can be of little value to civilization without a thorough understanding of the things which supply the power for the brain and physical part of mankind, and it is not surprising that so much emphasis is being confined to the public health question.

The more mature citizenship should visit the health office and see what these children are doing to inform themselves of the health sustaining vitamins that go into their bodies from day to day. The youngsters are gaining a keener appreciation of the health-giving value of foods thereby broadening their chances for better and more efficient service and longer life.

Pitt county legislators have not eschewed the opportunity to render distinct service to the people during their stay at Raleigh this session of the Legislature.

Several matters pertaining to the welfare of the state as a whole have come up for consideration from time to time, and it has been noted that the three men from Pitt always cast their vote on the side they believed to be right.

The most conspicuous evidence of their service was seen in the bill to permit the operation of gambling machines on the race tracks in Buncombe county. Believing the measure was opposed to the moral development of the state, every member of the Pitt county delegation voted against it.

They realized that to voice their sentiment in behalf of legislation tending to corrupt the morals of the people of Buncombe would place them definitely on the side of the gambling element, even though the bill was introduced with a view to help relieve depression.
The vote against the bill was a stinging rebuke to that element who would sacrifice human morality for monetary reasons.

Former veterans of the world war will converge on Greenville tonight to attend the mass meeting of the Pitt County Post of the American Legion.

Although the nature of the session has not been definitely stated, officers predicted that the program would be filled with interest for every man who fought in the great world conflict and urged that everybody attend.

One of the highlights of the gathering will be the address by the state commander which will be broadcast from Raleigh. In addition there will be a member of the Raleigh Legion present to deliver a brief address dealing with some of the objectives of the state and national organization.

The Legion long ago perceived favorable auguries ahead of the men who crossed the ocean to fight a foreign foe simply that humanity might be saved and its members are beginning to realize some of their objectives. The stronger the membership of the body the more effective will be its nostrum in the years to come.

Now that the Legislature has decreed that the revaluation of property shall begin April 1, the various counties of the state will begin recalling the boards of appraisers appointed for this work during the month of January, preparatory to the beginning of the campaign.

This is one of the most monumental tasks which county officials have to handle this year and if it is the success it should be it is in-initely important for people in all sections to render all assistance possible. Bitter opposition has been registered against the reassessment program this year, the opponents desiring its deferment until 1933, and it is likely the appraisers may incure some outspoken criticism of their work.

However, the work must be done and its success will be largely determined by the spirit of co-operation which the people bring into play in the various communities.

There is nothing chimerical attached to plans of leading men and women to transform Greenville into one of the most beautiful cities in this part of the state.

The beautification project enunciated by leading organizations sometime ago is gradually developing into a reality and before the summer is over many a spot which heretofore has been nothing more than an eye sore will be metamorphosed into a thing of beauty.

By the planting of flowers, trees and shrubbery around homes, vacant lots and public places, the committee has accomplished something that will not only be the pride of home folks, but will attract the attention of the thousands of visitors who come here from year to year.

It is infinitely important for the public to lend all possible aid in this program. It is a movement launched in behalf of the community as a whole and on individual will profit more than the other.

Perhaps you have delayed contemplated improvements of this kind. If so, why not begin now while Mother Nature is beginning to don her new spring attire.

Meeting of College Dames
On Thursday afternoon the College Dames were delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. L. R. Meadows. Mrs. Howard J. McGinnis, was joint hostess with Mrs. Meadows. The house was tastefully decorated with spring flowers, with green predominating in honor of St. Patrick's birthday.

Games and contests with an Irish flavor kept the guests in a gay mood, and an enjoyable musical feature was furnished by Mrs. H. C. Haynes.

Guests of the afternoon were Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. Murphy, Mrs. Blanton and Miss Wahl. A delicious salad course was served by Miss Elizabeth and Mae Meadows. —Reported.

Meeting of Garden Club
One of the most interesting meetings in the history of the Garden club was held at the club house on Thursday afternoon, with large attendance. On assembling the members were delighted to note the presence of four new shade trees around the house. These are a gift of the Woman's Club, two from the Garden club, one from Mrs. McGeechey and one from Mr. Henry Martin, who set them out.

Eighteen roses have been planted by the fence on east Fifth street, which encloses the city lot which was set aside for a library lot. These roses have all been donated by individuals, and are red and pink climbing, placed alternately. Paul's Scarlet, climbers and Meary Wallace. In the future this spot on Fifth street which has been such an eye sore to the passersby will truly "blossom like the rose."

Another effort to beautify a city plot is being made at the intersection of Fifth and Elizabeth streets. An evergreen hedge has been set out, and more iris planted. Mrs. Moore and Randolph have donated flowering quince for the corners, and Mrs. Spence and Mrs. Ficklen have also given shrubs.

Mr. J. J. Summerell, who is well known as a dahlia expert (although he calls himself an "amateur") gave a very instructive talk on dahlias. He said, on looking around for a hobby, he decided on the dahlia, and giving the best return for the output both of money and labor. There are over 6,000 known varieties, each one with a name, but of these, there are only about a dozen good ones, the rest being crosses.

The most fascinating thing about raising dahlias is planting the seed, and watching to see what you get. No two are alike. Out of 100 seed only two or three are likely to be good dahlias, although all may bloom. The good one may be a beauty, 10 or 12 inches in diameter, and when cultivated and established, may be worth $5 or more.

Mr. Summerell brought a tuber which he used to illustrate how to separate where the eyes are. In the fall, the tubers should be taken up and put in a warm cellar, or else well covered, and left in the ground.

At this time of year, they begin to sprout in the ground, and should be dug and separated. The hole should be 6 inches deep, and stakes to tie to should be driven before the bulb is planted. These should be covered with dirt two inches, and as the shoot appears, more dirt should be applied. Never leave more than two sprouts.

Good drainage to a plant is more important than rich soil. If soil is too rich the plants run to foliage. In watering dahlias, they must be drenched. It is better to give good drenching once in two weeks, than to sprinkle daily.

The leaves come in pairs — when three pairs appear, pinch out top, if leaves are large. If leaves are small, it is well to let it grow naturally, as flowers will not be large anyway.

Buds come in threes, and the two side buds should be pinched off and center one left to grow. When cutting dahlias, always cut full length of stem, so new bud can form. Dahlias should be cut in early morning or late evening, never in hot sunshine. Many insects attack dahlias, and the two best sprays are Evergreen and Black 40.

The most popular varieties are the decorative and the cactus. Good standard dahlias, and easy to raise, are Jersey Beauty, and Z de ver Warner. Jane Carroll is a handsome yellow dahlia and Edna Ferber, Kathleen Norris, Almee and Fort Mon Mouth are also popular.

Dahlias should be planted in four rows and stakes should be three feet apart. A good fertilizer is woods mold or peat, or potato, or "4-4-8" — which must not be allowed to touch the roots.

The club feels much indebted to Mr. Summerell for this lucid lesson in dahlia raising, and we hope to have some real beauties to exhibit next fall, as all are so enthusiastic now to raise dahlias.

Mrs. J. N. Hart gave some short and helpful suggestions about perennials, emphasizing the green background of shrubs or running roses, and showing how a small piece of ground may do double duty by taking care of perennials after bulbs have finished blooming.

Group planting is most effective. It was interesting to hear this bulb enthusiast tell of the many varieties of iris — first, the common purple iris, or German, then in sequence, the Dutch, Siberian, Spanish, English, and Japanese.

Tulips should be lifted when they finish blooming, and be re-set in October. —Reported.

STATE THEATRE—Monday—Tuesday

HIGH CAGERS END SEASON WITHOUT LOSS OF A GAME; NEW BERN FINAL VICTIM

The Greenville High School basketball team wound up the 1931 season in a blaze of glory by defeating the sextet of New Bern High School 35 to 22. This victory enabled the local team to close the season as the only undefeated team in Eastern North Carolina and also gives them the unquestioned championship of the eastern part of the state. It was the 13th straight victory for the local team on Friday, March 13, thereby proving that Friday the 13th is no bad omen to the Greenville High School.

The largest crowd of the season attended this final game. They came to see in action for the last time a group of girls who have made history in Greenville High School. This group of girls, Jones, Askew, Respass, Thilpen, Briley, Overton, Robeson and Hearne are all seniors and will be in the graduating procession of the local high school on Friday night, June 5.

The work of this group last night was up to the usual high standard as set for the season, accurate and goal shooting, guarding closely and cleanly, and team work of the highest type. It is impossible to pick out a star from this group because no individual endeavored to outshine another.

The game last night started off with a rush and Greenville scored 10 points before New Bern got into action. The first quarter ended 12 to 2 in favor of Greenville. The second quarter saw more action on the part of New Bern and the half ended 21 to seven in favor of the locals. In the last half the New Bern guards did better work and the Greenville forwards found it hard to do any scoring. However, the last quarter saw the best work for New Bern. During the last quarter Greenville only scored four points while New Bern scored eight.

When the gong sounded at the close of the game and the tremendous crowd realized what had happened the high school gymnasium sounded like bedlam itself.

The work of the New Bern guards in the last half is particularly noteworthy. Stallings as forward for New Bern did a beautiful piece of work in the last part of the game scoring 8 points.

A picture of this championship team will appear in this paper shortly, as well as in other state papers. The line-up and summary follows:

Greenville	Forwards	New Bern
Jones (5)	Stallings (14)
Askew (16)	Stevenson (7)
Respass (11)	Cherry
Thilpen (3)	Weatherington
	Guards
Briley	McSorley
Overton	Pulcher
Hearne	Chadwick
Robeson	Lane

The game was refereed by Mrs. Rand of the Wilson High School faculty.

Two Local Youths Fined in Rum Case In Sanford Court

Charged with possessing whiskey for the purpose of sale, Aubrey Smith and Cecil Bilbro, Greenville youths, were fined $100 each by Judge McPherson in Recorder's court at Sanford Thursday.

Twelve gallons of whiskey were found in the car in which the young men were riding several days ago, and they were ordered held under bond pending hearing. The car was confiscated.

A number of character witnesses composed of leading citizens of Greenville went to Sanford and testified to the good standing of the youths and to the fact that they had not been connected with the illicit whiskey traffic.

The defendants admitted possession of the whiskey, but said they were taking it to Chapel Hill for a party and did not intend to sell it. The defendants were represented by Attorneys S. J. Everett of Greenville, and J. C. Pittman of Sanford.

Junior Stewards to Meet.
All members of the Junior Board of Stewards of Jarvis Memorial M. E. church are asked to meet Sunday afternoon at two o'clock for a very brief meeting.

France Now Looking Forward to Her Next Presidential Election

Paris.—(AP)—Parliamentary lobbies are buzzing with talk about the coming presidential election, the twelfth in the history of this Third Republic of France.

The successor to President Gaston Doumergue will be chosen in May by a joint session at Versailles of the senate and the chamber of deputies. Consequently it is to members of the two houses of parliament that boosters of the various candidates are addressing their pleas.

There are five men openly in the field and another, Aristide Briand, France's "apostle of peace" in the near background.

Usually the president of the Senate is considered as having strong claim to the honor and hence Paul Doumer, incumbent of that post, is much discussed.

But party politics has invaded the situation this year. Doumer is backed by the rights and the moderate centrists. The left groups are rallying behind Fernand Bouis, president of the Chamber of deputies.

There is open advocacy also of three Senators, Henri Cheron, Albert Lebrun and Albert Sarraut.

French presidents are chosen for a term of seven years, but only five of them have served out their full term. These were: Jules Grevy, 1879-1886; Emile Loubet, 1892-1906; Armand Fallieres, 1906-1913; Raymond Poincare, 1913-1920; and Gaston Doumergue, 1924 to 1931.

Death cut short two terms, Sadi Carnot was assassinated at Lyons in 1894 and Felix Faure expired suddenly in 1899. The other four—Marshal MacMahon, Casimir Perier, Paul Deschanel and Alexander Millerand—reigned for various reasons.

Mr. Pierier became peevish because the constitution made him "a figure head without power or initiative" and he slammed the door of the presidential palace behind him in 1885.

He was not the only one to rebel against the passive role enforced by the constitution and custom. Poincare, in a recent book, spoke of "my seven years as prisoner at the Elysee." The retiring president, Gaston Doumergue, when offered the nomination for a second term, said with much feeling: "Never again! No more for me! I am going back to Nimes. I own 10 acres there. I shall be boss of that much, at any rate."

Jonesboro, N. C.—Thomas Wick, widely known Lee county farmer, leaving no clue to his motive, shot himself to death.

Woman Injured By Bottle Blast, Seeks $55,000

High Point, N. C., March 14.—(AP)—Explosion in her hand of a bottle, a piece of which cut a seven inch gash in her face "disfiguring her for life," has been made the basis of a $55,000 suit against the Durham Coca-Cola company by Mrs. Selma H. Simmons.

She alleges the accident occurred in a Chapel Hill restaurant while she was there visiting her son, a student at the State University.

Announcement!

I herewith announce myself a candidate for re-election as Mayor.

Two years ago I was elected on my pledge to give our city an honest, efficient and economical administration, free from personal prejudice or bias. I now present my record for the approval of the voters of our town.

During my term in office the affairs of the town have been efficiently and economically administered, without fear or favor to any man or group of men. We have tried to give the people of our community the high type of service which they rightfully expect from their municipal government, at a low cost.

We have built two school buildings, and have loyally supported the operation of schools; we have increased your fire and police protection; we have paved and improved several miles of streets, and have tried to make Greenville a better place to live. All these improvements cost money, but by economical methods and close co-operation by all departments of the town, we have absorbed these expenditures, and at the same time have substantially reduced your taxes.

YOUR TAX RATE HAS BEEN REDUCED FROM $1.50 TO $1.30, AND WILL BE FURTHER REDUCED NEXT YEAR.

No "Private Interests" have been favored by me. It is easy to recall that those who believed in government for the benefit of "Private Interests" were driven from office by the aroused wrath of the fair-minded citizens of Greenville in the recent city elections. They of course are leading the fight against me this time. It is for you, the voter, to judge, who is in favor of government, "for the benefit of private interests."

To that great body of citizens and voters who want an honest, constructive and economical administration of the town's affairs, I point to my record in office and ask that you endorse my handling of your public affairs by your support and your vote.

Respectfully,

J. C. Lanier

ENGINEER GAVE UP, WENT HOME

Says He Could Not Stand Indigestion Any Longer.—Relieved By Black-Draught.

Pulaski, Va.—How a railroad engineer was relieved of indigestion was described by Mr. C. K. Nelson, a Fourth Street resident of this city. Mr. Nelson said:

"I was suffering from stomach trouble in 1917, and had been suffering for some time. I had a tightness in my chest, a shortness of breath. There seemed to be a heavy weight in the pit of my stomach, and quite a bit of nausea, yet I couldn't vomit. I tried different remedies, yet suffered on just the same. When in West Virginia, on a work train, I was in such a condition that I just gave up and came home. I couldn't stand to work, in my condition."

"Some one told me about Black-Draught. I started taking it in small doses after meals. It helped me and I went back to work."

"One morning while on my engine I felt like I would smother. I stopped in a little town, bought a package of Black-Draught, took a dose and later in the day took another dose. It relieved me and I have not had a bad spell like that in more than two and a half years."

Theodore's BLACK-DRAUGHT for Constipation, Indigestion, Biliousness

The New York Methodist Episcopal church, representing a hundred churches, has added its voice to the demand for a thorough investigation of city government. It adopted a resolution upholding the action of the greater New York Federation of Churches in calling for a non-partisan, city-wide inquiry.

Prominent individuals who have joined the movement include Chancellor Ellsworth Brown of New York University, Professor John Dewey of Columbia University and Henry Morgenthau, former ambassador to Turkey and a close friend of the governor.

The magistrates courts inquiry produced evidence yesterday that the vice squad patrolman, Andrew G. McLaughlin, who first arrested Vivian Gordon, slain Broadway blackmailer, banker $35,800 in two years on an annual salary of $3,000.

Winston-Salem, N. C. — R. A. Johnson, who escaped from the State Hospital for the Insane at Raleigh, was apprehended here after he attacked J. H. Ireland.

Dangerous Business
Our stomach and digestive systems are lined with membrane which is delicate, sensitive and easily injured. It is dangerous business, then, to use medicines containing harsh drugs, salts or minerals, when we are constipated. In addition to the possibility of injuring the linings of our digestive system, these medicines give only temporary relief and may prove habit forming. To relieve constipation, take Herbine, the cathartic that is made from herbs, and acts in the way nature intended. You can get Herbine at B. S. Warren, Druggist

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET

New York, March 14.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today 1 to 3 points lower as a result of slightly lower Liverpool cables than had been anticipated and under moderate liquidation and foreign selling.

Trade buying and week-end covering absorbed the early offerings and while trading was quiet, the market developed a steadier tone and after selling down to 10.79 for May and 10.36 for October, prices rallied to 10.83 for May and 10.38 for October. The Census Bureau reported February consumption of American cotton at 433,510 bales compared with 494,396 in February a year ago while stocks in consuming establishments were 1,547,759 at the end of February against 1,806,040 last year.

Cables from Liverpool said that the decline there was due to hedging, local and Manchester selling liquidation but added that cloth demand was expanding with further business pending with India while Shanghai auctions were disappointing. The amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance was estimated at 116,000 bales against 135,000 last year.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, March 14.—(AP)—New low price records for the season came about in wheat late today as a result of liberal selling of wheat against purchases of corn. Crop and weather reports were bullish as to wheat, and North American export business was again rather slow.

Wheat closed irregular, 5-8 lower to 1-8 to 1-4 advance; corn 1-8 off to 3-8 up; oats unchanged to 1-4 down and provisions unchanged to a rise of 7 cents.

STOCK MARKET

New York, March 14.—(AP)—The bears took moderate profits afforded by a four-day downward drift of prices in today's week-end session of the stock market, and their repurchases jacked up the list one to three points.

Speculators for the rise again put forward some of their favorites in the utility division, and gave Radio Corp., a whirl in the last few minutes, getting it up 3 points, one of the widest gains of the year. Trading in the two-hour session showed little change from the pace of preceding days, the transfers aggregating 1,000,000 shares. The closing tone was firm.

Several of the principal shares including U. S. Steel, American Telephone and General Electric, were only fractionally higher at the close. Gains of 2 or more were mostly in the higher priced issues, such as Eastman, Consolidated Gas, Public Service of N. J., Allied Chemical, DuPont and Columbian Carbon.

Issues rising about 1 point included such stocks as General Motors, Nash, Chrysler, United Corp., United Gas Improvement, National Power and Light, Electric Power and Light, Warner Bros., Fox, Loews, American Can, Standard of N. J., New York Central, Woolworth and Sears Roebuck.

The late whirle in Radio Corp. looked like a drive against shorts. Both motor and merchandising issues showed group strength. Chain store sales reports for February have been fairly satisfactory, in view of the lower prices.

Money rates are expected to feel the influence of the release of funds by a government overdraft next week. Uncle Sam pays out funds faster than they come in for a few days after quarter tax settlement drafts, making a temporary overdraft at the reserve banks.

SPORTS SLANTS

Among the first of the veteran baseball observers to report in Florida, Ed Wray, sports editor of the St. Louis Post Dispatch, thinks that the eminent Mr. Hornsby and his Cubs will be the outfit to watch in the forthcoming national league pennant race.

"Hornsby has a great club and he will get the most out of it," remarked Mr. Wray. "He has already made a smart move by deciding to switch Kiki Cuyler to centerfield, where he will do the most good. It is certain to be a great five-club race, involving the champion Cardinals as well as the Cubs, Giants, Brooklyn and Pirates."

Jack Sharkey, who adorned himself with no wreaths of roses in playing his part in the last two battles under the Florida Palms, has gone as far away from there as he can this winter and still stay in the United States.

On his way to the Pacific coast, the Boston heavyweight stopped off in St. Paul to second Ernie Saef to a one-minute knockout victory. In reporting the latest from the Minnesota front, Jay Vessels writes me:

"The old Gob sort of stunned the boys with his reticence. They thought of Sharkey as he was painted years back when fighting was supposed to be merely second duty to talking with him. Jack did up'n up and say that he would like to fight Carnera in New York in September and that he would slay with Mickey Walker for $100,000."

"Introduced as the uncrowned heavyweight champion, Sharkey referred the semi-windup on the program featuring Saef and Dick Daniels of Minneapolis. He did a swell job but ran into a mess late in the fight which flustered him a bit and doubtless reminded him of the hazing he gets paid for taking in New York."

"The underdog in the bout who, of course, had the fans with him got smacked out of the ring. He barely got back in time and was met at the ropes by his opponent. Said opponent apparently none too popular locally, seemed to be a bit too eager to please the fans and got a grand razing. Jack's ears reddened and he appeared just a bit bewildered. But it was a mere buzz compared to what the big fellow is used to hearing in his favorite battleground in Gotham. His relief was perceptible, though, when he was assured that one of the combatants and not himself, was the intended target."

Ed Dickerson, the sage of Grand Rapids, thinks Jim Jeffries, in his prime, would have been the best possible opponent for the Wanderer Alp Primo Carnera.

"Carnera resembles Jeffries in many respects," said Ed in an unguarded moment. "Jeffries was very fast and agile for a man of his weight. The night he beat Gus Ruhlin so badly in Mechanic's pavilion in San Francisco that Billy Madden, Ruhlin's manager, threw in the sponge to save Ruhlin's life. Jeffries was in my opinion the greatest heavyweight fighter ever known. Next to Jeffries, the big man from Italy is the fastest big man I ever saw."

BRAVES PLAN SWIFT ACTION WITH THE BAT

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 14.—(AP)—It has been seventeen years since baseball miracles were being performed by the Boston Braves but the current "four year plan" of development, under the management of Bill McKechnie, already is showing remarkable results, in its second season.

Quietly but none the less shrewdly and effectively, McKechnie, who piloted pennant winners at Pittsburgh, and St. Louis, has rebuilt the Braves and sent them out along the war path again.

They were a troublesome sixth last year. With additional batting punch and better backstopping assured this year, the Tribe will be far from a set-up. Conceivably, with a few "breaks" they may prove contenders in a race which already boasts of five potential pennant winners.

McKechnie has added two fence busting recruits to the outfield in Red Worthington, who hit .376 for the Rochester International last year, and Wes Schulmerich, the $40,000 Los Angeles rookie, who blasted the ball for 377 in the Pacific Coast league. They will flank Wally Berger, a sensation as a slugger in his first big league campaign in 1930, and give the Braves a wallop comparable to that of the Cubs and Robins.

The new comers have proved good enough to take the regular jobs away from such seasoned performers as Lance, Richbourg and Earl Clark.

McKechnie also has revamped his infield with a view to getting further punch. Earl Sheely, who led the Pacific Coast league at bat with 403 last year, has returned to the big show to replace Johnny Neun at first. He was drafted from San Francisco.

At third, Bill Dwyer, drafted from Springfield (Mass.) where he hit for .334, has the call so far. The keystone combination remains intact with Hardy Perennial and pepper pot, Rabbit Maranville, at short, and the brilliant fielder, Freddy McGuire at second. Chat-ham will understand Maranville, the only active survivor of the 1914 championship Braves, but the Rabbit is smoking strong cigars and breathing defiance at all rivals for his regular position.

Harry (Socks) Seibold, who won 16 games last season, heads a veteran pitching staff. It includes such other experienced right handers as Bruce Cunningham, Ben Cantwell and Fred Frankhouse, along with two of the craggiest southpaws in the game, Tom Zachary and Willie Sherdel. McKechnie figures on a come-back by Harold Haid, the Californian, obtained from the Cardinals, and Labels Regis Leheny, Pittsburgh product, as a great rookie prospect.

Al Boal, purchased from Pittsburgh adds another potent bat to the attack. He led the Pirates in runs batted in last year. He will share the backstopping job with "Al Spohrer."

FRENCH MOURN

AS AMERICANS TURN THIRTY

Paris.—Failure of Americans to live up to their national reputation for spendthrift habits is blamed as one chief reason for a drop of $200,000,000 in France's tourist receipts.

The chief of the National Office for Tourism put the 1930 "take" from foreign visitors at $400,000,000, whereas the banner year of 1928 showed receipts of $600,000,000.

He said 400,000 travelers set sail for Europe from the United States as against 313,000 in 1929, but still there was no money benefit. The voyagers were of a different class, and Germany, because of the Oberammergau passion play, got the bulk of the increased traffic.

Great Britain sends France the largest number of visitors of any foreign country, but the British do not tarry. They merely pass through en route to Egypt or to the other Swiss and continental resorts.

But the national tourist office has its optimistic banner flying for 1931. It believes that the International Colonial Exposition opening at Vincennes on May 2 will attract spenders.

The officials are trying to persuade country deputies in parliament to agree to a national advertising campaign. They argue that other countries have spent a lot of profitable money in this way on the other side of the Atlantic.
