CATALONIA TO LEND SUPPORT TO NEW POWER

Catalonian Republic Ceases to Exist Temporarily to Aid Spanish Government

Madrid, April 18.—(AP)—Catalonia's battle for independence will be fought by its orators in the halls of a national constitutional convention and not by soldiers on battlefields in the sunny southern coast province.

The new provisional government here today hailed the victory of three of its ministers, who, after an airplane flight to Barcelona, last night wrung from the Catalonian president, Colonel Francisco Macia, a pledge to submit separatist demands and demands for political autonomy to the projected constitutional convention, meanwhile cooperating with Madrid.

The accord reached at Barcelona removed the most pressing of the political problems facing the junta set up by Don Niceto Alcalá Zamora, provisional president.

Alejandro Lerroux, minister of state, said the other pressing separatist movement, that of the Basque provinces, had not taken definite form and was causing no apprehension.

Colonel Macia at Barcelona announced the accord with Madrid from a government house balcony to a cheering crowd, informing them that it had been decided that the Catalonian republic would cease to exist for the time being but would bear the name "Commonwealth of Catalonia," a unit in the Spanish Republican Federation.

Jaris, April 18.—(AP)—Fearing for her sister, Beatrice, a Princess of Spain, Queen Mother Marie of Rumania has sought from the exiled Alfonso and Victoria their first hand account of the bloodless revolution which overturned the throne and set up a Spanish republic.

Queen Marie, the Princess Ileana, and his wife of the Grand Duke Cyril of Russia, motored from Britany yesterday and closeted themselves with the exiles in their apartment at the Hotel Maurice for half an hour. Later Marie and Ileana left for Germany.

The exiled king and queen are believed to have reassured Marie as to Beatrice's safety, although members of the royal entourage today professed not to know her whereabouts.

It was understood in Paris, that she had remained in Madrid at the bedside of the aged Infanta Isabella, aunt of King Alfonso, who because of her great age an infirmity is considered safe, with her entourage, from any anti-monarchist popular demonstrations.

Beatrice is the wife of the Infante Don Alfonso, favorite cousin of the deposed king. Her husband and the Duke of Miranda were the king's companions on the trip by automobile, cruiser and train into exile Wednesday and Thursday.

Beatrice, who by some is considered as beautiful as Marie, famed for her comeliness, visited the United States with Don Alfonso late in 1928.

They were guests of General Cornelius Vanderbilt of New York and Vice-President Dawes at Washington. Don Alfonso is an aviation enthusiast. She is a granddaughter of the late Queen Victoria of England.

Society Women Robbed of Jewels Baltimore, April 18.—(AP)—Jewels worth $50,000 were taken from the fingers and necks of four well-known Baltimore society women today by two masked robbers who held them up as they were returning to their homes from an opera.

A $4,000 necklace was included in the loot. Both robbers were armed. The robbery occurred in the drive way of the Green Spring Valley home of Miss Peggy Chew Stewart who had been driven home by her neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Miller, and their three daughters the Misses Nancy, Grace and Edith Miller. Mr. Miller is a chemical manufacturer.

The Men Acquitted In Mystery Death Of Aged Man In Belvoir Section

Three men who have been held in jail here the last several weeks in connection with the mysterious death of Henry Abrams, aged construction company employee, whose body was found on a roadside in Belvoir township about the middle of March, were set free by a jury in the criminal term of Pitt County Superior Court last night after 10 o'clock. Following completion of the case, court recessed until next Monday morning when the second week of a two-week term will begin.

LOANS TO VETS HELP BUSINESS

Money Received Here Applied to Taxes, Old Debts, Mortgages and Homes

Compensation certificate loans which Pitt county veterans of the World war have received from the government the last few months have done much toward improving the business conditions of the community, in the opinion of bankers and prominent business men.

The Greenville Banking and Trust Company reported today that checks totaling $74,386.16 had been cashed by that institution for 221 former service men since the government loan legislation became effective.

Bankers stated that the major part of the money received by the veterans has gone to the payment of taxes, mortgages, old debts, and in one or two instances payments have been applied toward homes.

The funds have not only enabled the veterans to meet long standing obligations caused largely through unemployment and accompanying depression, but have also produced a circulation of money which the community would not have received had not the legislation become effective.

The government is not giving the boys anything, it has been pointed out, but is simply loaning them money on their certificates in an effort to relieve the men of the strain of depression. The loans bear an interest rate of 4-1/2 percent.

MANN SPEAKS TO KIWANIS

Tells of Need of Education in Improving the Ills of Farmers Throughout Country

Education was offered as a means for improving the ill of the farmers of North Carolina by M. G. Mann, secretary-treasurer of the State Co-operative Cotton Association, speaking before the regular meeting of the Greenville Kiwanis Club last night.

The speaker said the rural population must have a better understanding of the importance of pulling together, and urged the members of the Kiwanis Club to use their influence in helping them to realize this happy faculty.

President J. J. Summerell presided over the session and the program was in charge of J. C. Gallows, of Grimesland, chairman of the agricultural committee, who had several prominent growers from different parts of the county as guests of the club.

Two queens of the exposition, adopted recently by the club, were also numbered among the guests and were given a tremendous ovation upon their introduction.

The senior queen, Miss Grace Gaston, was presented by D. C. Moore, Jr., and the junior queen, little Miss Jane Rowlett, was presented by her father, C. B. Rowlett, secretary of the Greenville Merchants Association.

Needless to say that every member of the club promised to do everything in his power to enable the Kiwanis queens to lead the pulchritude contest.

In fact, some of the boys became exceedingly eloquent under the sunny smiles of the two beauties and were moved to heights of oratorical effort that proved both astounding to themselves and club members.

PRES. HOOVER GOES TO CAMP

Chief Executive and Party Spending the Week-end at Camp Rapidan in Virginia

Orange, Va., April 18.—(AP)—President and Mrs. Hoover arrived from the Rapidan camp near here before lunch time today after a motor trip from Washington.

With the President and Mrs. Hoover were their son, Alan, Secretary and Mrs. Hyde, Justice and Mrs. Stone, Solicitor General and Mrs. Thacher, Assistant Secretary Health of the Treasury, Assistant Secretary Jahnnke of the Navy, and Mark Sullivan.

It was the first time since last fall that Mr. Hoover had seen his camp, although Mrs. Hoover spent a short time at the cabinet camp down the river in March.

Conferees Fail To Take Any Action On Sales Tax At Brief Session Today

Raleigh, April 18.—(AP)—The conference committee on the revenue bill took no action on the controversial sales tax question in a short meeting this morning.

The committee instructed Revenue Commissioner A. J. Maxwell to draw up new estimates of the amounts to be raised by the Senate and House bills, for the guidance of the committee in reaching its decision as to the taxes to be adopted.

After discussing procedure, the committee adopted two minor sections, dealing with the basis of franchise and income taxes designed to equalize taxation between companies with their capitalization in stocks and in bonds but later receded and left the section open for consideration later.

Three courses of procedure were discussed in the meeting. First, adopting the House revenue bill, and supporting the schools under the MacLean law without any ad valorem tax; second, adopting the Senate revenue bill, and requiring the counties to levy a 30 cent ad valorem tax for the six months school; third, junking both Senate and House revenue bills, and trying to work out a new plan on which all parties could agree.

No action will be taken until Monday or later when Mr. Maxwell's estimates are received.

Sportsman Faces Second Breach of Promise Charge

West Palm Beach, Fla., April 18.—(AP)—Conkey Whitehead, Atlanta and Havana millionaire and sportsman today faced his second breach of promise suit within three years. An action for $100,000 was filed in Circuit court here yesterday by Miss Selina Miller, a young brunette who gave her address as New York.

Early in 1929 Frances Porter, an Atlanta dancer, formerly of Thomasville, N. C., charged breach of promise to Whitehead and filed suit for $250,000 and which was eventually settled out of court of an unannounced basis.

In June of the same year the millionaire was divorced by his first wife, Julia Murphy Whitehead, and on November 14, 1929, he was married to Marion Dean Hughes, of New York, daughter of Walker A. Hughes, a broker and sportsman.

Miss Miller could not be located for a statement.

REFUGEES DESCRIBE STRIFE IN NICARAGUA

Legislature Adjournment Causes Increased Concern

Raleigh, April 18.—(AP)—With the revenue bill in conference and the appropriations measure apparently headed in the same direction, the 1931 Legislature, already past its 102nd day, has apparently taken a new lease on life.

In session more than a month longer than any previous assembly, adjournment of the present meeting was a matter of increasing concern today as the House went into virtual recess until the revenue conferees report.

In a 12-minute session, with 12 members present, the House today disposed of four local bills by passing three and killing one.

BOY WRECKS FAST TRAIN

Four Injured as Engine and Three Cars of Southern Train Overturn

Drexel, N. C., April 18.—(AP)—Four men today were suffering from injuries received when Southern passenger train number 21 crashed into three large rocks on the tracks here and was wrecked.

A six-year-old boy placed the rocks on the track, Railway Detective H. E. Jenkins said. Jenkins quoted the boy, who lives near the edge of the village, as saying: "Yes, I wanted to wreck the train, and I didn't care if some people were killed."

The engine, tender and three cars hurtled from the track when the train struck the obstructions on a curve a short distance from the Drexel station. The locomotive, tender and two cars turned over and completely blocked a deep cut where the wreck occurred.

The four injured men were: C. R. McLean, of Salisbury, express messenger—badly bruised head and cut lips; J. B. Honeycutt, of Asheville, news butcher—severe bruises; P. I. McAllister, engineer, and B. W. Chaney, fireman, both of Asheville—cuts and bruises.

McAllister and Chaney stuck to their posts as the engine turned over but escaped without serious injury.

The train was bound from Goldsboro to Asheville. The passengers were transferred to another train, and other freight and passenger traffic was routed over other divisions.

Railway officials said they expected to have the tracks cleared of wreckage and open for traffic some time today.

Thirty Americans Reach Home Waters With Harrowing Tales of Being Trapped in Jungles By Bandits Without Marine Protection; Bodies of Two Marines Brought Back Home; Declare Lives of All People in Interior in Jeopardy

Associated Press Staff Writer Aboard Steamship Cefalu, April 18.—(AP)—(By Radio to the Associated Press)—Terror stricken with memories of fierce jungle fighting in Nicaragua that cost the lives of their loved ones, thirty refugees reached American waters early today and steamed up the Mississippi river for New Orleans.

All flags of the Cefalu were flown at half-mast and all aboard ship was sad and still out of respect to Captain Harlan Forley, of Philadelphia, marine corps officer, and William Sebald, of Jackson, Miss., who fell in battle with bandits at Logtown.

Their bodies were being brought to America for burial accompanied by the descendants' families.

The refugees related harrowing stories of being trapped in Puerto Cabezas without protection of marines and of being cut off by bandits in the jungle.

Many expressed bitterness toward the American State Department for delaying the landing of additional marines for last week's skirmishes with bandits.

They said nine Americans were killed and that the Sandino forces won several victories over the native troops.

The lives of all non-Nicaraguans in the interior are in jeopardy now, said Dr. George Eugene, of the Canal Zone, a passenger.

He said the Cefalu passed Cabo Gracias a Dios and saw the settlement burning and American planes dropping bombs on the bandits' boats, loaded with loot.

As the ship passed out of sight, he declared, they saw the airplanes displaying the American flag, indicating victory.

Puerto Cabezas, Nicaragua, April 18.—(AP)—Americans in the Puerto Cabezas district, harassed by insurgent and outlaw attacks during the last week were reported today by R. J. Salassi, local manager of the Standard Fruit company, to be evacuating their homes and businesses.

Their action follows killing of nine American citizens in this general area since Friday of last week, and receipt of a telegram from Alvin T. Rowe, American consul at Bluefields, warning that the United States government cannot undertake their general protection.

Refugees from outside Puerto Cabezas say that the insurgents appear to be most interested in killing Americans and Jamaicans and in destroying American property.

Although all is quiet here it is feared that as soon as naval protection is withdrawn the insurgents will attempt to overwhelm the local Nicaraguan national guard force, kill Americans and destroy all American property.

Austin Murphy, a plantation superintendent, who was twice captured, said that while he was a prisoner he heard that Abraham Rivera, insurgent leader, and a large group were en route to Puerto Cabezas, overland via Webster. A body of 300 or more Sandinistas were camped at Saklin on the banks of the river, he said. The national guard is investigating his reports.

MUSIC MEET HELD HERE

Five Hundred High School Children Attend Annual District Contest

Five hundred high school students from the eastern section of the state were gathered here today in the annual district music contest.

The meeting opened at the high school this morning and will be concluded during the latter part of the afternoon.

It was said that virtually 22 counties were represented in the contest, comprising some of the most important schools of the district.

Although it was impossible to determine the winners until late this afternoon, it was stated that Greenville was making another strong bid for honors, and indications pointed to a clean sweep in many of the most important contests.

Federal Agents Raid Fraternity House in N. York

New York, April 18.—(AP)—Federal prohibition agents walked into the Delta Kappa Epsilon club in East Fifty-first street yesterday, pulled sixty bottles out of lockers and arrested three men, two of them members. They were charged with illegal possession of liquor.

The club was somewhat hushed today and the raid was taboo as a subject of conversation between members and non-members. Andrew McCampbell, prohibition administrator, explained it.

Nearly six months ago, he said, two employees of the club were arrested on liquor charges, and yesterday a deputy United States marshal went around to serve an injunction restraining them from violating the eighteenth amendment. The marshal was put out by Mr. McCampbell said, "he saw liquor openly sold and served while he was in the club." He returned to his office, swore out the warrant, and the raid followed.

ABOUT TOWN

Yesterday was inspection day at the State live-at-home farm between Greenville and Bethel and hundreds of farmers were given an opportunity to observe what is being done toward interesting the people in the plan to live at home despite the prices for other crops.

Men high in the agricultural life of the state explained the kinds of crops under cultivation, while others told the growers of the importance of confining more attention to the cultivation of the things used at home all the year around.

The farm was established at the suggestion of Governor Gardner last year. At this time there are approximately three hundred acres of land under cultivation, and sufficient crops have been raised to show the farmers what may be accomplished when they go farming in an earnest way.

The much attention has been given to the cultivation of cash crops in past years, agricultural leaders assert, and this has been largely responsible for the condition of the world market at this time. Another bumper crop would bring about the most serious situation the nation has faced in history, and it is the hope of farm leaders that cash crops will be reduced and the surplus acreage planted in the kind of things the people use for their home consumption.

But county growers should not fail to avail themselves of the opportunity which the state has offered them for becoming acquainted with scientific farming methods, and those who visit the farm and attempt to apply the program to their own farms should reap unimpeachable benefits in the years to come.

We are told that additional automobiles are needed for the booster tour to be made next Thursday in the interest of the exposition to be held in this city the last part of the month.

That being the case it is up to thrifty citizens to get busy and supply the needed automobiles. The trip will not only advertise the exposition but will let the people in this part of the state know more about Greenville and what its people are doing for their entertainment during one of the most prosperous periods of depression which the nation has experienced in years.

The boosters will cover a radius of 75 miles or more and distribute information pertaining to the exposition and Greenville so that everybody may know what to expect when he reaches the city during the week of the big show. This is the second time Greenville has been host to the exposition since its inception several years ago, and promoters are hopeful the show will prove as much a success this time as it did during its first year.

to direct the affairs of the city is something that presents a serious obligation to all the people, and it is to be hoped that everybody will look over the list of candidates and decide upon the men they deem best fitted to serve the city in an efficient and satisfactory manner. The present board has stressed economy the last several months and the majority of the candidates are using this as a plank in their platform. It is a very commendable thing to consider, and it is to be hoped the new board will live to the mark and not permit themselves to digress from main purpose in the slightest sense of the word.

THREE MEN ACQUITTED IN MYSTERY DEATH OF AGED MAN IN BELVOIR SECTION

(Continued from page one) witnesses were put on the stand by both the state and defense, but neither of the defendants testified in his own behalf. The witnesses consisted of three doctors who performed an autopsy on the body of the dead man, officers who assisted in the investigation of the case, and members of Stancill's family, and three negroes who had been detained as material witnesses. Abrams, employee of a construction company, engaged in the erection of the new Belvoir school house, was paid off the Saturday afternoon on which his death occurred, and told friends he was going to the home of a friend. Several hours later his body was found on a roadway. His money was missing and a wound on the side of his head lead officers to believe he had been killed by highwaymen. Discovery of the man's body was reported by the three defendants.

Officers began an investigation several days later arrested the three men, and charged Stancill with the crime. In jail here, Stancill was said to have told officers that Abrams came to his home that afternoon, sat down and dropped dead. He said he and the other two defendants hauled the body some distance from his home and placed it on the side of the road, not wishing to become involved in the case. An autopsy was requested by defense following a habeas corpus hearing and the body of Abrams was exhumed and the viscera sent to Raleigh for examination to determine if the man did not come to his death from poison or some other closely related cause. The examiners said they did not know what caused the man's death, and did not think the blow on the side of the head would have proved fatal, although there was a possibility of such.

The examination of the viscera failed to disclose the presence of poison. The state contended that death was caused by the blow on the head, administered by Stancill, while the defense declared that the man died either from natural causes while in a drunken state, or from the effects of falling out of the chair in which he was sitting at the time of death. All the evidence was of a circumstantial nature. The courtroom was packed to its capacity all day yesterday and the building was well-filled last night when the verdict was rendered. The three men had been held in jail here since their arrest, having been denied bond at the preliminary hearing several days after their arrest. They were released following their acquittal and returned to their respective homes in Belvoir township.

Referring to the cotton situation, he said the most important thing confronted by the farmers was the production of the kind of cotton needed by the manufacturers. Other countries are able to take care of their own demands, he said, and it is up to this state to turn its attention to providing the kind of cotton most in demand by the manufacturers.

He urged that the children of the farms be given a chance to educate themselves and thereby gain a broader prospective of the life and a keener appreciation of the benefits to be derived from united effort. Air Lines Join To Give Europe Bargain Tours

London. —(AP)—European civil aviation, nurtured on a bottle, is eating meat; now and preparing to compete with other forms of transportation.

With the coming of warmer weather the European air service will begin joint summer rates and schedules, world-wide recently by representatives of 22 lines, meeting here.

The services will enable passengers to step from one line's plane and be in the air again within 15 minutes.

Under the new schedule Khar-toum in East Africa and Dakar in the western edge of that continent are connected by regular flights with London. The same is true with Irkutsk in Siberia, Karachi in India and Malmo in Sweden. There is also a new Berlin-Shanghai route.

With these far flung frontiers, air lines criss-cross France, Holland, Germany, Belgium, Austria and Italy, with a spur running to southern Scandinavia.

Fares generally have become stabilized and air tickets now cost virtually the same as first class railroad fare.

Much of the hustle in arranging the summer schedule was done with an eye to attracting the American tourist patronage the operators having outlined a series of optional air trips on the "all expense" system.

ON THE RADIO

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD. Associated Press Radio Editor. Guglielmo Marconi, the wizard of radio, continues to wave a magic wand over the ether.

The man who has done so much to make practical all forms of modern communication without wires is beginning to disclose some of the things he had in mind at the time of the first newspaper interview ever conducted on the radio circuit between the NBC laboratory, New York, and the Vatican City station, HVJ.

At that time he was asked, "What, in your opinion, is the next important development in radio?"

His reply was: "I wish I could answer that important question. If I could I am not sure that I would broadcast it. I may be able to say something more if I visit America next fall."

Meanwhile New York Times dispatches from Europe quoting Marconi show he is working on the possibilities of using ultra short waves, as well as a world system of radio telephony at lower prices.

Marconi pointed to the successful use of beam transmission on wavelengths of 15 meters and above, adding that "if we can use still shorter waves the beam will be narrower and therefore more exclusive and secret."

He said that under six meters signals travel only a limited distance, being restricted to "places practically in sight of one another."

"How to overcome this disadvantage is the problem I am studying."

At the time of the interview via radio, Marconi said he thought "that as far as long distance communication is concerned, a wavelength of 200 meters possesses more possibilities than longer waves."

Apparently Wizard Marconi is bending every effort to ferret out the obstacles to practical operation of all of the short wave bands.

Packers Await Court Decision

Washington —(AP)— Modification of the celebrated "packers' consent decree" has become a troublesome bee in the bonnet of the "big four"—Armour and Company, Swift and Company, Wilson and Company and The Cuddaly Packing Company.

The District of Columbia Supreme court scarcely had permitted the packers to handle groceries along with meat and meat products when the department of justice announced intention to appeal the district court's ruling to the Supreme court of the United States.

Meantime, the packers are wondering whether to engage in the new field opened to them, or limit themselves to meat alone, as required under original terms of the

Longworth Death Disaster for Hoover "Four Horsemen"

By FRANK I. WELLER. The death of Speaker Nicholas Longworth has removed the leadership of the celebrated "Four Horsemen" Longworth, Tilson, Snell and Hawley—who rode down every farm issue that President Hoover disapproved and helped pass the agricultural marketing act.

Few more powerful groups ever dominated the House of Representatives. It combined the influence of Longworth as speaker, Tilson as floor leader, Snell as chairman of the rules committee and Hawley as chairman of the all-important ways and means committee.

The fight of the Four Horsemen for the agricultural marketing act made history on capitol hill. The atmosphere still tingled with the second Coloiage veto of the equalization fee when they trotted out the nebulous form of farm relief popularity ascribed to William M. Jardine, former secretary of agriculture, rose above a whisper.

So thorough was Longworth's organization that he was able to tel the Senate just what the House would do, and invariably the Senate stilled back in its tracks or was forced to a standstill.

That situation never was more apparent than in the special session of Congress when the Senate, ruled by Democrats and Insurgents, lost its fight to hold tariff revision strictly within farm schedules.

With the starting gun Hawley opened his tariff bill to revision of duties on industrial products, and nothing stopped the procession until his bill, joined with Senator Smoot's had run the length and breadth of the tariff fabric.

It was in the closing days of the seventy-first congress that the Four Horsemen really showed their power to strike swiftly and surely. Mid-western defections to the Democratic ranks in the November elections had brought cognizance of unrest in that great agricultural region. It was the heart of the dairy industry, and there lay before the house a bill to subject all oleo margine color'd to the semblance of butter to a tax of 10 cents a pound.

Manufacturers of oleomargarine put every conceivable obstacle before the House; but under Longworth's leadership the bill was care fully kept off the rocks and it passed with scarcely 24 hours remaining.

Longworth is credited with the successful guidance of the bill allowing joint stock land bank which absorbs another to operate in a total of five states, a thing farm organizations desired as a means of wider agricultural credits.

At the close of Congress farm groups saw in Longworth the development of a staunch friend. In an informal discussion with L. J. Taber, master of the National Grange, he expressed a desire on the last day of the session to go further into the study of the export debenture.

LOCALS DROP BALL GAME TO KINSTON

Kinston beat Greenville 4-3 in a close pitchers' battle. However unreal it may seem, the Greenville pitcher, Roger Taylor, had the best of the pitching argument. He struck out eleven men, and allowed only four hits. Douglas, for Kinston, struck out sixteen, but it seemed that the men that did not strike out, hit him. Greenville clearly out hit Kinston but, errors, boners, and inability to hit in the pinches beat the locals. With men on third, Greenville players very ingloriously took last strikes. Greenville earned all three of her runs while Kinston earned only one. However, that is the way baseball goes, for the smart team always wins. The mistakes that the Greenville boys made were really embarrassing. Missing signals and not running with two men down on a hit ball are typical examples. It was certainly a hard and bitter defeat for Mr. Taylor, for he pitched a beautiful game.

There were no stars except the pitchers, save for Mary Turnage, of Greenville, who got two base hits, and one of them was with a man on second and third, and they both scored. The game was close, and Greenville was ever-threatening. The only consolation the locals has to look forward to is that there will be a return game played in Greenville, so the boys will have a chance to show their courage and comeback by winning that one.

Greenville has lost three conference games and won none, but the boys are all fighters and fight the whole game through, so they are going to Rocky Mount Tuesday and win one, then take New Bern into camp when they come here next Friday. All friends of the high school are urged to be out at the Third Street diamond at 3:30 on Friday, the 24th.

Hornsby Making Good With Cubs

By PAUL MICKELSON. Associated Press Sports Writer. Chicago, April 18.—(AP)— There are exactly 150 games left for howling occasions by disturbed fans but to date Rogers Hornsby is making good in a big way as player-manager of William Wrigley's Cubs.

Probably no change of managers ever precipitated as much jeering as when the Rajah succeeded Joe McCarthy as pilot of the Cubs toward the end of the 1930 campaign; probably no baseball manager ever won the admiration of the fickle fans as quickly.

In the first four games of the season under the Rajah's leadership, the Cubs not only won three games for a flying start in the pennant race but they answered the speculation that they wouldn't draw the crowds any more because of McCarthy's dismissal by attracting 105,000 customers or an average of about 26,000 a game. Never in the history of Wrigley field did the turnstiles click as merrily for an opening series.

The Rajah himself, appears to have definitely settled one of the big questions in pennant chances of his Cubs. And that question is his ability to come back as a player.

Although he cannot be expected to be fast because of his age, near 36 years, he is in good physical condition. He is as dangerous as ever as a hitter and he fields much better than he did in 1929 and 1930. In the Pirates series, he batted better than 300 although he is a notoriously weak spring hitter.

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, April 18.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today unchanged to an advance of 4 points. There may have been a little selling on the relatively easy showing of Liverpool, but it was readily absorbed by trade buying and week-end covering.

Offerings continued light and prices worked up during the early trading, with May advancing to 10.25 and October to 10.85, or about 10 to 11 points net higher by the end of the first half hour.

The relative steadiness of cotton as compared with the securities market recently is said to have made some impression on sentiment and the buying of yesterday and this morning was attributed partly to covering, coupled with a little more trade demand.

Liverpool cables said that local and continental liquidation in the market had been absorbed by trade buying to fix prices on call sales. Egyptian futures in Alexandria were unchanged to 8 points higher. The amount of cotton on shipboard at U. S. ports awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 58,000 bales against 107,000 last year.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, April 18.—(AP)—Big export buying hoisted wheat today to a new high price record for the season, 69 cents a bushel December delivery. It was estimated that European countries bought 2,000,000 bushels or more from North America. Upturns were in the face of selling of Chicago July delivery by houses with connections southwest. The official weather forecast gave little hope of important moisture next week in the United States grain belt.

Wheat closed strong 1-8 off to 17.8; corn 1-8 lower to 5-8 up; oats unchanged to 1-8 advance and provisions unchanged to 3 down.
