Believed Joint Committee May Report Recommendations for Ad Valorem Tax for School Support Despite House Instructions Not to Vote for a Bill Contemplating Land Tax; MacLean Highly Praised by Senate Members Following Assault by the House

Raleigh, May 8.—(AP)—The Senate today instructed its conferees on the biennial revenue bill "to refrain from considering and reporting any revenue bill containing a sales tax."

In view of the fact that the new Senate conferees committee has five members regarded as anti-sales tax men, it was regarded as a possibility this afternoon that the joint conferees committee might recommend an ad valorem tax for school support despite House instructions to its conferees not to vote for a bill contemplating a land tax.

Immediately upon adoption of the resolution, Senators Hinsdale of Wake and Pritchett of Bertie offered their resignations as members of the conferees committee as both have favored the sales tax.

The resignations were adopted and Senator Johnson of Duplin, president pro-tem, who was presiding, named Senator Baggett of Harnett and Blount of Pitt to replace them. Johnson is a sales tax advocate, as are the two new conferees.

Following a discussion as to whether the resolution was binding on the new conferees or not, Senator Blount refused to serve on the committee.

By a motion of Senator Dunlap of Anson, which was passed, the presiding officer named Senator Clemm of Rowan, a vigorous opponent of the sales tax, to the conferees group.

Senator Baggett refused to serve and Senator Gravelly of Nash, who is against all forms of sales tax, was named in his place by Senator Johnson.

It is most unusual for a motion to be made naming members of a conferees committee of the North Carolina Assembly.

Senator Clark, a vigorous sales-taxer, was not present today but it was anticipated that he too would resign from the conferees group.

Conferees were: Senator Baggett, Blount, Dorchester, Gower, Hardy, Harmon, Johnson of Duplin, Lindsay (paired), Lynch, McKeel (paired), McLean, Peel (paired), Powell (paired), Rodwell, Uzzell (paired), Ward of Beaufort (paired), Ward of Craven, Zollinger, Total 18.

Defending Representative A. D. MacLean of Beaufort against attacks made on him in the Senate yesterday because of remarks the House member made concerning rumors of bribery of Senators, Representative Hamilton of Catawba rose to a point of personal privilege in the House.

The vicious and unjust attack upon him (MacLean) by members of the other House," Hamilton said, "does not in anyway lessen the esteem in which he is held by members of this House."

MacLean stood on the House floor Wednesday that he did not believe members of the Senate "have been bought and sold" but that it was a case of "too much liquor and too many women."

Hamilton praised MacLean for his courageous fight for what he believed to be right and told the House "fortunate is the state whose legislature listens to the murmur of the poor instead of the flattery of the rich."

Eminent Britisher Praises University

Chapel Hill, May 8.—(AP)—High praise of the University of North Carolina by an eminent Britisher was recorded today at the university's quadricennial institute of human relations.

Prof. Harold J. Laski, of the University of London, addressing the institute last night, turned aside from his prepared speech, to say that the North Carolina institution is rated in England among the half dozen leading universities of America.

Professor Laski delivered the first of an annual series of Well lectures on citizenship, endowed by the families of Sol and Henry Well, of Goldsboro.

"In the period since the world war," he said, "the attacks on democratic governments has assumed wider proportions than at any time since 1848." He said this was due partly to dissatisfaction with results of the war and partly to profound industrial changes to which modern institutions have not yet had time or opportunity to adapt themselves.

The concurrence in the Bennett amendment marked the first time that the House has endorsed an increase in the patrol, previous bills enlarging the organization having been killed.

The Senate passed the Ewbank bill to reduce the mileage allowance for all public employes in North Carolina, State county and municipal, from eight cents to six cents per mile.

The Senate also passed two laws supplementing the new banking commission statute to authorize the commissioner of banking to act as trustee in cases where a defunct bank had been trustee and to prescribe rules under which closed banks may be allowed to reopen.

With the end of the legislative session not yet in sight, the House moved to curtail expenses by discharging all of its committee clerks except that of the finance committee.

An attempt by Representative Hamilton of Carter, to take the Hardy bill to regulate lobbyists from committee and place it on immediate passage was abandoned when the House was informed the committee would hold a hearing on the bill this afternoon.

The House this afternoon voted 39 to 37 to refer the Ewing bill to levy a tax of one-half mill per hollowatt hour on electric energy produced in North Carolina to the revenue committee on the revenue bill.

Meredith Alumnae Meets. The Pitt county chapter of the Meredith Alumnae Association met on Thursday afternoon, April 30, at the home of Mrs. Lelia Suttle Forbes on Evans street.

The program for the afternoon had been prepared by Miss Ella Graves Thompson, Meredith alumna and professor of Latin at East Carolina Teachers College.

The subject for the afternoon was Virgil. Miss Thompson explained the Virgilian celebration and gave an introduction to the numbers on the program.

Mrs. Margaret Shields Everett, in a most charming manner, gave "Impressions of Virgil," reviewing his life and something of his works.

"Virgil's Message to the World Today" was most beautifully discussed by Miss Margaret Broadhurst. It was interesting to hear that he was a strong advocate of stable government, universal peace, law and brotherhood and that he insisted on individual duties and responsibilities.

Tennyson's "Tribute to Virgil" was read by Mrs. Minnie Cahoon Brooks and the exceptionally well planned and well rendered program came to a close.

The necessary business was transacted and Mrs. Lelia Suttle Forbes, Miss Lelia Shore Thomas, and Mrs. Beth Carroll Taylor were appointed as the nominating committee to select officers for the next year.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess and her daughter, Miss Mary Forbes.

Those present for the meeting were: Mrs. Lelia Suttle Forbes, Mrs. Minnie Cahoon Brooks, Mrs. Margaret Shields Everett, Mrs. Gladys Brown Lee, Miss Ella Graves Thompson, Miss Connie Horne, Miss Lelia Higgs, Miss Margaret Broadhurst and Mrs. Beth Carroll Taylor. —Reported.

MOTHERS. Mothers are the queerest things! Member when John when away. All but Mother cried and cried. When they said good-bye that day. She just talked and seemed to be Not the slightest bit upset. Was the only one who smiled. Others eyes were streaming wet.

But when John came back again On a furlough safe and sound, With a medal for his deeds, And without a single wound, While the rest of us hurried Laughed and joked and danced about.

Mother kissed him, then she cried— Cried and cried like all git out!

All women became like their mothers. That is their tragedy. No man does. That is his. —Oscar Wilde.

Miss McGee's harmonica band played the following numbers very beautifully: "America," "Silent Night" and "Brahms Lullaby." This was followed by a Japanese song and dance by Mrs. Savage's grade.

A report of Dr. E. E. Groves' address in "Mental Hygiene" given at the Mental Hygiene Institute in Raleigh, was given by Miss Dora Coates.

U. N. C. GLEE CLUB PLEASES AUDIENCE AT COLLEGE. The University Glee Club came up to expectations last night and gave the college girls and faculty and some of the loyal alumni and friends of the university, a delightful evening's musical entertainment.

The musicians were pleased with the finish, the artistic interpretations and the beautiful tone work, and those in the audience who make no musical pretensions were highly entertained and greatly enjoyed the ensemble singing without the trouble of hunting for reasons.

Twenty college men, eighteen singers, the director and the pianist—working together as one, produced fine effects and the audience did not fail to show their appreciation. Some preferred the soft delicate tones while others thrilled to the stirring, ringing songs.

In spite of interference of rain and thunder, the audience caught the finest shadings and softest, sweetest tones.

The program opened with a group of sacred songs, the first of which was a Bach number, "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee." This was followed by a very beautiful arrangement of "Ave Maria" and the third was "O God of God."

The "Pilgrim's Chorus" from Wagner's Tannhauser. In the second group there were five songs of Slavie Europe. "With Heart Uplifted," by Schedow, had rich, deep, cheering parts; "The Reaper's Song," Bohemian arrangement by Davison, was a joyous, happy song.

The next two were delicate, lovely numbers, "The Finnish Lullaby," arranged by Palmgren and "Fireflies," a Russian folk song arranged by Davison. The last of the group was a soul-stirring Scandinavian folk song, arranged by Grieg, "Landsighting." Four negro spirituals were sung to the satisfaction of the southern audience, which means they were not too finished and polished by the interpretation of white people, but were sung true to the negro feeling.

The last group was composed of songs by American composers—"Dance of the Gnomes," by MacDowell; Tennyson's "Bugle Song," with the music by Foote, and "A Sea Song," by Gaines. The closing number was made up of Carolina songs.

Harry Lee Knox, the pianist, appeared in the first part with two piano numbers, "Lotus Land" by Scott, and "Valeik" by Mckreys, and one in the second, the "Allegro" from Schumann's "Venice Carnival Scenes." He was received with vociferous applause, and delighted the audience by responding by encores.

It was the first time that many in the audience had heard the university boys since Harold S. Dyer took charge of them, and there was great interest in watching him as director. He seemed to have made a fine impression.

The official staff is as follows: S. A. Lynch, Jr., president; J. E. Miller, vice-president; C. C. Duffy, secretary; C. B. Overman, business manager; A. J. Starr, librarian.

FINCH—SMITH. Farmville, May 6.—A marriage that will be of interest to friends in the state, was that of Wednesday when Miss Nannie Delma Smith, daughter of Mr. Sherrod Smith, and the late Mrs. Smith, became the bride of Pharmacy Mate Edwin L. Finch of the United States Navy, formerly of Wilson.

The original plans for the wedding were dispensed with on account of the recent death of the bride's mother, and the young couple, accompanied by Miss Smith's brother, Herbert S. Smith, motored to Wilson this morning and were quietly married by Rev. T. M. Grant at the Methodist parsonage at nine o'clock.

Mrs. Finch is a young woman of much charm and intellect. She graduated with honors from the East Carolina Teachers College in '28, and has taught in the Grifton schools for the past three years.

Mr. Finch is the son of Mrs. Rebecca Finch of Wilson. He has been in a number of foreign countries since joining the navy, returning from China to the States in '29, and is located at present at Hingham, Mass., near Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Finch will remain here for a visit to Mrs. Finch's sister, Mrs. E. L. Gaynor until Saturday, when they will leave to make their home in Hingham.

Class Day Exercises. Farmville, May 6.—The Farmville High School formally closed its 1930-31 session Tuesday evening, when the class day exercises were held, diplomas presented and various awards made.

The session is considered as one of the most successful and the class of 21 members is one of the largest in the history of the school. The event also marked the closing of the first year of the superintendency of Robert E. Boyd of Charlotte.

The class day exercises took the form of an interesting playlet, "Seniors at the Bar," in which the seniors were pitted against the faculty in a court room scene. J. I. Morgan of the board of directors presented diplomas to Misses Grace Smith, Hazel Wilkerson, Evelyn McLawhorn, Fernie Kell Lang Rosalind Tyson, Edna C. R. D. A. R. CHAPTER PRESENTS ESSAY PRIZE. Farmville, May 6.—The essay contest prize, offered annually by the Major Benjamin May chapter D. A. R., since its organization six years ago, was won by Cecil Wilson, a brilliant history student of the Farmville High School for the best essay on John Paul Jones. This subject was chosen in appropos to the plan of the State D. A. R. for marking the Wiley Jones house in Halifax. Miss Mary Barbee and Miss Mildred Horton received honorable mention upon the awarding of the prize on Tuesday evening after class day exercises.

Mrs. T. C. Turnage, regent of the chapter in presenting the prize, quoted from Thomas Carlyle and his book, "Heroes and Hero Worship." She deplored the present tendency to debunk the great, and with fine irony stated that "There are places no doubt where no memorials to heroes are erected, for example, the jungles of Africa, and I have heard of any heroes being memorialized in Reno, Nevada."

She further suggested that the erection of monuments might well be started there for its sobering effect.

ABOUT TOWN

Clinics for the examination of children to enter school next session will be conducted in Greenville next week by members of the Pitt County Department of Health and the public has been asked to cooperate in every way possible looking to the success of undertaking.

It is of utmost importance that children be in the best physical condition when they enter school, health workers declare. Very few children can progress satisfactorily in their studies if handicapped by bad health. Most of the causes of bad health in children can be removed or remedied. These causes should be removed or remedied before the child enters school so he may make rapid strides.

It is not fair to the child to place him in school physically handicapped and it is hoped every person with children of pre-school age will visit the clinic and let the health workers advise them of the wisest course to pursue to safeguard health and open up greater possibilities for the future.

Greenville and Pitt county people turned out to honor the hoary veterans of the Civil War here today.

Once each year the few remaining veterans of the great conflict between the states assemble for Memorial day exercises and in their feeble way attempt to honor the men who have preceded them to the grave.

In a few years now members of the Confederacy will live in memory alone, but how imperishable that memory. It will live as long as the nation stands and children of all generations will marvel at the spirit of heroism which the soldiers of the south displayed upon all battlefields.

Several years ago J. Bryan Grimes camp of the Confederacy composed of veterans in this county, was a thriving organization with many members. Today the ranks have been thinned until only about a dozen men respond when the roll is called.

The people of this section are proud of these old men and are always glad to pay them the tribute which they are so justly deserving. It is to be hoped they will live to attend many more reunions here and help keep fresh the memory of those who have answered their final bugle call.

The Kinston baseball club came over to Greenville this afternoon to tackle Billy Brown and his crew of young busters. The outcome of the game is problematical at this time, but if determination counts for anything, Kinston is going back home with the little end of the score.

The Greenville high school boys have lost the majority of games played this season, but they are not discouraged and hope to end the season with a few victories to their credit.

Brown, who has done everything in his power to build up a formidable aggregation, says the poor showing has been the result of lack of seasoned material. He started out with a bunch of youngsters who knew little about the art of the game, and consequently were slow developing the craft so necessary in this, the most popular of American sports.

The public has been urged repeatedly to go out to see the boys in action. Brown believes this would furnish sufficient encouragement to spur the lads on to victory.

The annual relay race between Greenville and Washington high schools will be run again this season, the Washington lads having provided another cup for the young sprinters to shoot at.

By winning three consecutive years Greenville last year gained permanent possession of the cup, and it was up to Washington to provide another to insure continued competition.

The race had been set for the first much interest between the high school students of the two towns the last several years, and it is expected the race will be witnessed by hundreds of spectators along the route. It is a grueling test, displaying the speed and durability of the cinder-path artists and has created a friendly spirit of rivalry between the two towns.

The ace had been set for the first of this month, but was delayed on account of the fact that Greenville had been so busy with other branches of sport the young runners were unable to get in trim. The event, however, will take place the latter part of the month.

Advertising proves of inestimable value to the big business firms of the country, and should also prove of proportionate value to the small enterprises.

The large firms have found that the time to advertise is when business is dull. In this way they encourage a demand for their products, and keep the dull season from being as serious as it might be had they not used the advertising medium.

Merchants desiring to realize their share of the season's business should get busy immediately and tell their shoppers what they have to offer. Service of this kind is appreciated by the busy consumer who usually does not have time to run around to all the stores to obtain what he needs.

If you are not getting your share of business, Mr. Merchant, try the columns of your daily newspaper and note the results.

Chaplin to Stick to Silver Screen

London, May 8.—(AP)—Charlie Chaplin will stick to the silver screen like the shoemaker to his last and not even the invitation or "command" of Britain's king and queen will lure him to the stage.

The Evening Standard, recording an interview with Chaplin at Juan Les Pins, France, today said that he has refused a royal command invitation to appear at a benefit vaudeville performance soon which their majesties will attend.

"I don't appear in public that way," the newspaper quoted Chaplin. "The last thing in the world I want to do is to make a stage appearance. It would be bad taste."

The Evening Standard said that Chaplin was sending a check to the benefit, which has been arranged by a royal committee for aged and disabled vaudeville artists.

Most actors regard the invitations to appear at command performances, which receive their name from the wording of the invitations, as feathers in their caps and there have been very few refusals. It is not certain that either King George or Queen Mary expressed a wish to see Mr. Chaplin perform at the performance although this may have been the case.

Chaplin is a British citizen. He has been represented as regarding the life of the British country gentleman as his ideal. He was given a tumultuous reception recently when arriving here from the United States.

REDS STILL SHOW SIGNS OF WEAKNESS

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr. Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cincinnati Reds appear to have a few important parts of a good ball club despite Manager Dan Howley's efforts to build up something like a winner.

Howley made a few more changes yesterday, buying Harvey Hendrick, Brooklyn utility man, to plug the hole at first base, and releasing Chuck Dressen but it appears that he has plenty of work ahead of him.

Two Red outfielders, Wally Roettger and Cliff Heathcote, are pounding the ball at a .400 clip but no other player on the team is even near the 300 mark.

The Reds' pitching also has been ineffective. St. Johnsden did seven good innings against the Cubs yesterday only to weaken and Chicago hammered out five successive hits in the eighth to tie the score.

The league leading St. Louis Cardinals won their seventh game in a row yesterday, combining good pitching and powerful hitting to beat Pittsburgh 11 to 5.

The St. Louis Browns, by far less successful than their twinning so far, did about as well yesterday. They got started in the fifth inning and pounded four Cleveland pitchers for a total of 17 hits and a 10 to 4 victory.

The eastern clubs of the American league had an open date as they began their first western trip of the year and New York and Boston in the National also were not scheduled.

Philadelphia was rained out.

State Tackles the Blue Devils Today

Charlotte, May 8.—(AP)—The N. C. State baseball team, which a few days ago yanked North Carolina from the undefeated ranks in the Big Five, 1, took the circuit leading Duke Blue Devils today.

While the Wolfpack and the Dukemen have their Big Five dispute at Raleigh, the Tar Heels clash with the Virginia Cavaliers in a tri-state league tilt at Chapel Hill.

The Cavaliers were booked to meet State yesterday, but the game was rained out.

Rain also halted a scheduled match between the Wake Forest and Drexel baseball teams at Philadelphia and the Duke-Georgetown tennis contest at Washington, but nothing interfered with the Tar Heel netmen's adding another triumph to their long string.

The North Carolina crew nosed out Yale, 5 to 4, at New Haven, to give the Ells their first home defeat of the season.

The Tar Heels play Brown at Providence, R. I. today and Harvard at Cambridge tomorrow.

SPORTS SLANTS

One of our sleuths reports that Ray Steele, the California muscle man, is the "police" man of the troupe of wrestlers performing under the banner of Promoter Jack Curley.

"Steel," according to this operative's report, "is supposedly the best wrestler of the group but lacks color. Whenever anyone new joins the troupe, they toss him in with Steele and the latter finds out how good the newcomer is. Steele played Myaki, the Japanese, in a few minutes, threw Ghafoor Kahn, the Turk, in five and the other night, when they wanted to find out how good this Sergei Kaimakoff was, Steele went in and flattened him."

When the Phillies pulled their big winter deal with the Brooklyn Robins in search for much-needed pitching talent, they accepted outfielder Hal Mercer as a part of the bargain.

The situation now is he may prove the most valuable part of it. He has stepped into Lefty O'Doul's vacated spot in left field and played fine ball while the two pitchers acquired from Brooklyn, Dudley and Jim Elliott, so far have hardly returned enough dividends to pay for their carriage from Pennsylvania Station to Broad Street, Philadelphia.

It's often that way with baseball trades. John McGraw tossed in Eddie Roush in a big deal with Cincinnati and later parted with plenty of cash to get the centerfielder back. Muddy Ruel was tossed in a couple of times in big deals before he became the star backstop of Washington's champions of 1924-25.

On the short chip shots that usually cause the golfing dufer so much grief, Prof. Johnny Farrell passes along this helpful hint: "Remember this shot should be made with the hands and wrists only, not with a full swing and body pivot. The trouble with many players is that even when they take a short swing, they are apt to get their too much body into the shot or move the hands in ahead of the club."

The British regard the invasion of George Voigt for another try at the amateur golf title with a species of alarm second only to that manifest when Bobby Jones made his last triumphant visit.

Voigt, the Briton, recollect, proved the most dangerous man in the amateur field at St. Andrews last spring outside of Jones. The slim New Yorker went to the semi-finals before yielding to the great Jones himself. Voigt lost Bobby 2 down 5 up, and looked like a winner before he skidded. The match went to the home hole for decision.

The American challenge to British golf abroad will be somewhat limited this year, Jones has shipped back the open and amateur trophies he brought home with him. Voigt is the only prominent American threat in the amateur field. Mac Smith, Joe Turnesa and Tony Manero top the small invading party of pros who will seek the open crown.

America Has Slight Chance to Regain Davis Cup Again

New York, May 8.—(AP)—E. J. Bill Tilden doesn't think much of America's chances of regaining the Davis Cup this year.

Back in New York for his match with Vincent Richards in Madison square Garden tomorrow night, Big Bill had this to say about the

N. Y. COTTON

N. Y. STOCK LIST

New York, May 8.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today, unchanged to 2 points higher on buying which appeared to be influenced by reports of cold rains in the eastern belt and reiterated reports of delayed crop progress in the south-west.

Trading was quiet, but offerings increased somewhat right after the call, probably on the action of the stock market, and prices worked about 3 to 5 points net lower on the more active positions with July selling off from 9.99 to 9.92. The early buying continued, however, and the market was about steady at the end of the first half hour when active months were holding within a point or two either way of yesterday's closing quotations.

There was some buying reported for both foreign and domestic trade interests during the early trading and relatively easy early cables from Liverpool were followed by steadyness in that market. Private cables said there had been further continental liquidation and hedge selling in Liverpool. Egyptian futures in Alexandria were 6 to 13 higher and the Indian spot quotation was 4 points higher.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, May 8.—(AP)—Grains advanced late today owing largely to a forecast of dry weather in Canada and to evening-up for the United States Government crop report. Official advices showed that only 5 points out of 33 in Canada had received a third of an inch of rain. Cold wet weather that hindered corn planting and growth led to independent upturns in corn prices.

STOCK MARKET

New York, May 8.—(AP)—Bullish efforts in the merchandising shares gave a sluggish stock market an upward slant today.

The financial markets made no pronounced response to the reduction of the New York rediscount rate from 2 to 1 1/2 per cent, although the bonds continued to improve.

In stocks, fluctuations have been steadily narrowing since the selling climax of last week, and traders took advantage of relatively satisfactory chain store sales reports for April to try to start a rally.

Woolworth, yesterday's bull favorite, continued its advance, and was joined by Grand-Silver, both issues gaining more than 2 points as did Macy.

The list had a temporary sinking spell in the morning, with the rails notably heavy, but outside of the carrier group, losses were largely cancelled later. Miscellaneous issues selling up a point or two included U. S. Steel, General Motors, Radio, American Can, Gillette, Standard of California, Union Carbide, Bethlehem, American Tobacco, B. Reynolds, B. Consolidated Gas, DuPont and Coca Cola. Hershey rose 3 and Auburn 5. In the rails, Union Pacific sold off more than 4 points.

Wall street was not surprised that stocks failed to receive important stimulus from the lower rediscount rate, for it was recalled that several of the preceding reductions have been greeted with continued declines in prices. There was a tendency in many quarters, however, to regard the move as constructive. As banks are almost clear of debt at the Federal Reserve, however, the immediate effects may be slight. Viewed in its international aspects, some bankers feel that similar action by the Bank of France may be necessary to bring about the better distribution of credit in Europe.

Today was the climax of the trial and the seventh of actual presentation of evidence. Counsel on both sides declined to hazard an estimate of how much more time will be required.

A parade of character witnesses was sent across the stand as the defense's next step.

R. Vance Brown, assistant auditor of the Central Bank, testified William McCants, auditor, discussed in March 1930, the listing of certificates of deposits issued to public officials in reports of the bank's condition and decided they belonged among general certificates of deposit instead of in the list of deposits of public officials.

McCants testified Wednesday that he listed the certificates of deposits under general deposits upon instructions from Davis and J. Charles Bradford, cashier.

One count in the charges against the three defendants is that they reported an incorrect total of the public funds deposits.

Brown said McCants told him his decision to change the method of listing the certificates was made because of the wording of the statement to be filed with the Corporation Commission.

NEW ATTACK ON TARIFF

Chamber Delegates See Danger of Europe Shutting Out American Products

Washington, May 8.—(AP)—Despite an admonition by its retiring president, George Theunis, of Belgium, that delegates avoid political arguments, the International Chamber of Commerce today heard another attack on American tariff and war debt policies.

Dr. W. H. Coates, British delegate, said Europe would "shut out" products of United States efficiency "if you will not take the products of our efficiency, whatever be their form, or whatever their nationality."

International debts, he added, could be paid only by the transfer of physical goods or services. Since high tariffs exclude goods "they prevent payment of international debts of all kinds," he held.

Coates' attack followed a plea by M. Theunis at the congress banquet last night that the International Chamber of Commerce avoid wrangling over political subjects and co-operate with governments in working out economic problems.

Noting previous denunciations of America's war debt and tariff policies by Dr. Carl Bergmann, former German secretary of state and finance, and Henry Bell, an English banker, M. Theunis counseled patience and added:

"We are business men and do not, at the International Chamber, occupy ourselves with political questions. That is not our job."

W. Stucki, Swiss member of the League of Nations economic committee; J. Duchenois, French delegate; M. A. F. Lath, of the Netherlands, and Floyd Chalmers, Canadian delegate, also discussed tariff.

Abraham Frowein, head of the German delegation said the task of the International Chamber should be to work for elimination of "exaggerated customs formalities and indirect protectionism."

R. Nelson, of the Robersonville community.

D. F. Robinson, bent and grey, rode all the way from Martin county this morning to attend the reunion of his organization, and a tear stood in his old eyes when he was informed that he was the only veteran present. "I knew that two of them had passed on," he said in a voice trembling from emotion, "but I had hoped to see the rest of the boys."

The exercises actually got underway at the court house where several automobiles dropped in behind a bevy of high school girls headed by the glee club and band and paraded to Cherry Hill cemetery where flowers were placed on the graves of the departed veterans.

The exercises were simple being marked by prayer by E. L. Hillman, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, and the sounding of taps.

From the cemetery the paraders moved on to the East Carolina Teachers' college where Dr. R. H. Wright delivered the principal address of the day. The speaker paid splendid tribute to the heroism of the men who left happy homes and broad acres of land to fight for a cause they believed to be right.

The memory of the Confederacy and the great leaders which it produced is as imperishable as the lives of other great leaders, he declared, and said they would prove an inspiration for the people of all generations.

After Dr. Wright had finished speaking, the lone veteran of the Confederacy, gave a graphic description of some of the battles in which he fought. Despite the weakness of his voice, his message was plainly audible throughout the building, and the audience thrilled with him as he graphically recounted the stirring days preceding the emancipation of the southern slaves.

Rev. A. W. Fleischmann, pastor of Memorial Baptist church, offered prayer, and two patriotic selections were rendered by the college girls.

After the exercises luncheon was served.

Dr. R. L. Carr, adjutant of the J. Bryan Grimes Camp, was in charge of arrangements for the observance today. J. H. Rose presided at the exercises at the college, and was assisted by members of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Upon request of the Water and Light Commission, the board passed a resolution requesting Pitt county representatives in the General Assembly to have section four of a light bill pertaining to this city stricken out. Members of the commission appeared before the aldermen and told them they felt the section might interfere with the co-operative movement between eastern Carolina towns aiding one another in case of emergency.

The resolution was ordered dispatched by wire this morning.

Contract for auditing city books was awarded to A. M. Pullen & Company, of Raleigh and Richmond.

A representative of the company was present and thanked the board for its decision, promising to render continued good service.

Mayor Lanier read returns of the recent municipal election in which the mayor and three members of the board were defeated. The report was ordered spread upon the minutes without comment.

The town denied a claim of $400 for wrecking of an automobile by a fire truck. The car was the property of Fire Chief George Gardner, and responsibility for the claim will rest upon the insurance company with which the city was insured.

It was pointed out that the city should not be responsible for the lots only in the city-owned cemetery, and the matter was left open for consideration pending further investigation.

Mayor Lanier explained that the Carolina Gas and Electric Company which recently asked the city to waive rights to the sale of the local plant, had not been able to furnish desired information as requested by the city, but promised to do so at an early date.

G. V. Smith, president of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the Eastern Carolina Exposition recently held in this city, asked the aldermen to donate $86.15, the amount incurred by the exposition in lights and water. The matter was not acted upon.

J. D. Simpson, representing the local Express company, asked the board to reduce license tax for the next year if such was possible. The request was deferred until the next meeting.

R. H. Byrd, former member of the Greenville police department, who was suspended by the city after alleged unbecoming conduct, asked the board to grant him pay for one month.

The board told Mr. Byrd that he first must face the charges against him, and if he was found not guilty they would consider granting his request for pay, otherwise, they would not. The hearing was left open until Mr. Byrd returns from a hospital.
