Gardner Reinstated As Fire Chief Here Following Hearing

Board of Aldermen Sitting as Investigating Body Last Night Voted to Retain Services of George Gardner and to Sustain Action of Mayor Lanier in Suspending Him Pending Investigation of Charges of Political Activity in Dismissing Firemen

George Gardner, chief of the Greenville Fire Department, who was suspended by Mayor J. C. Lanier last Tuesday because of alleged interference with affairs of city government, was reinstated by members of the Board of Aldermen sitting as a board of investigation at the city hall last night.

The decision to reinstate the fire chief came after the board had voted to sustain Mayor Lanier in suspending Gardner. The vote on both questions was four to three.

Gardner was suspended by the mayor last Tuesday following alleged charges that the fire chief had used his office in the suspension of three men because they did not vote as he requested them to in the recent municipal election.

It developed at the hearing that after the report had been circulated that the action was the result of political reasons, the fire chief visited the suspended men and told them it was "all a joke" in an effort to relieve the fire department of any suspicion of political activities.

The men alleged to have been suspended were W. M. Jones, Earl Briley, and Kenneth Beatty, the latter declaring he resigned in anticipation of the suspension.

The city hall was crowded to capacity by members of the volunteer fire department and interested citizens, and the firemen applauded vigorously when the board decided to retain the services of the fire chief.

The hearing, which began at 8 o'clock promptly, came to an abrupt conclusion about half an hour later when strident notes of the fire whistle sent the fire trucks speeding to the eastern section of the city in response to a false alarm. The building was emptied almost completely as the firemen rushed for the trucks and curious citizens followed to see what it was all about.

The trucks returned in a few minutes, and the building was again packed to overflowing as the hearing resumed. Mayor - Protom John Ivey Smith presided, and Mayor Lanier conducted the questioning of the several witnesses in behalf of the city.

Following the introduction of evidence the presiding officer read a letter from members of the fire department asking that charges against the chief be dismissed, and declaring that he did not attempt to influence the vote of the firemen in the recent city election.

The letter contained the signatures of twenty members of the department. Jasper Joyner, secretary of the volunteer department, was the first witness questioned. He told of the meeting last Monday night at which time Briley and Jones were released and Kenneth Beatty resigned. He said that if Gardner had anything to do with the dismissal of the men he did not now about it. He said Jones had been retired and put on the honorary list.

Bruce Clark said he did not know of any prearranged plans to dismiss members of the department. He said Briley was dismissed on account of friction and that Jones had merely been retired. He admitted stating at the meeting that he thought the company "did a foolish thing by releasing the men."

Kenneth Beatty told of the meeting and of the request of Secretary Joyner that the three men leave the room. He said he suspected they were to be dismissed and entered the room and tendered his resignation. Gardner, he said, told him he need not resign, that he was still a member of the company. He said no reason was given for action in dismissing the men.

Earl Briley, who later in the evening was charged by Gardner and George Clark with having "so much mouth that he was detrimental to the department," said the fire chief had always asked him how he was going to vote. He said he fooled him during the recent election and didn't tell him how he intended to vote. He said Gardner informed him he had better vote for Finagan.

He said that "kicking out" of (Continued on page 2)

SAY DRY LAW BIG PROBLEM

Baptists Deplore the Growing Divorce Evil and Advocate 9-Hour Working Day

Birmingham, May 16.—(AP)—The Social Service board of the Southern Baptist Convention today deplored the "growing divorce evil," and advocated a working day of not more than nine hours, or a working week of not more than 49-1-2 hours.

In a report to the annual assembly of the convention here, the board upheld the activity of churches in behalf of prohibition, stating that "the fact that a moral question or matter may become a civic does not lessen its moral quality nor diminish the right of free citizens freely to express themselves on such questions or matters."

"The expression of opinion by religious people," the statement continued, "upon civic matters predominantly moral in no way violates or affects our fundamental doctrine and principle of the separation of church and state."

"The big battle in the whole field of social service and civic affairs is still being fought out on the prohibition sector," the report said. "We cannot, we need not, go into details. Our appeal is for action, for defense, for attack."

"The commission on law observance and enforcement appointed by the President" two years ago, popularly known as the Wickersham commission, filed its report on prohibition some weeks since. This is perhaps the outstanding development of the past year.

"Prohibition ought not to be a party issue in the next Presidential campaign. If it shall become an issue it will be because of shortsighted and reckless party leadership and the party that espouses the interests and cause of liquor will be corrupting its own doom."

Referring to the secular press of the nation the report said that "the metropolitan dailies . . . seem to have become utterly commercialized, if not subsidized."

The report pointed to the "growing divorce evil" and declared legislation passed the past year making divorces easy to obtain was "perhaps the most shameful and humiliating development concerning divorce in the history of the country."

On industrial relations the report urged recognition of the right of labor to organize and engage in collective bargaining, a fair living for laborers who work in factories and mines, and a day of not more than nine hours and a week of not more than forty-nine and a half hours.

Touching on race track gambling, the report said that "gambling forces, like all other groups who sponsor evil, act together throughout the whole country." Recent attempts to pass bills permitting betting on races in a number of southern states were condemned.

NEGRO KILLER JAILED HERE

Kelly Hines Remanded to Jail on Charge of Slaying in Beaver Dam in 1920

Kelly Hines, colored, charged with slaying another negro by the name of Willis Best in Beaverdam township in 1920, was remanded to jail without bond in a preliminary hearing before Magistrate R. A. Tyson, Jr. here this morning.

Hines was captured by a deputy sheriff at Grimesland about a week ago after being at liberty for over 11 years. He was brought to Greenville and placed in jail to await preliminary hearing. His case will probably come up for consideration at the next session of criminal court here.

Hines, about 50 years of age, was alleged to have shot Best to death in an altercation over the proceeds from a tobacco crop. Hines was a tenant on Best's farm, and when the employer stopped payment on a check for some tobacco, an argument ensued.

Hines is alleged to have drawn a gun and shot Best to death. He escaped and had not been heard of until his appearance in the Grimesland community where he was recognized by the officer, arrested and placed in jail.

TWO BISHOPS IN LIBEL SUIT

Sparta, Ga., Minister Sues Mouzon and Moore for Slanderous Statements

Atlanta, May 16.—(AP)—Bishops Edwin D. Mouzon and John M. Moore, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, were charged today with libel and slanders by Rev. R. G. Smith, Sparta, Ga., Methodist minister, in suits filed in the Federal courts of Charlotte, N. C., and Dallas, Tex.

Filing of the suits, each of which asks $50,000 damages, was made public yesterday in Charlotte and Dallas dispatches and the allegations upon which they are based were announced here by J. Ira Harrellson, attorney for Mr. Smith.

Harrellson said the suits were identical and were an outgrowth of Mr. Smith's opposition to the activities of various bishops against Alfred E. Smith in the 1928 Presidential campaign.

The copy Harrellson made public was of the suit against Bishop Mouzon and Mr. Smith set forth that after he had preferred charges at the Methodist general conference in Dallas in 1930 against Bishops James Cannon, Pr. Mouzon, Moore, and H. M. Dubose for "their unwarranted political activities" in 1928, Bishop Mouzon made utterances "slanderous and defamatory of the plaintiff" to a news agency reporter.

These utterances, which Mr. Smith said were widely published throughout the country, included, the copy of the suit said, the statement of the Rev. Smith would have given many thousands of dollars for the publicity which he has been given free of charge. Another alleged utterance was characterization of Mr. Smith as an "honest but eccentric Methodist preacher."

The copy of the suit adds that "plaintiff alleges that said utterances so made by the defendant are false and were made maliciously to injure, ridicule and damage the plaintiff."

Court officials in Dallas said Bishop Moore had been served with the suit filed there, but court officials in Charlotte said Bishop Mouzon had not been served because of the failure of the plaintiff to post the required $200 bond.

Bishop Moore said in Dallas last night that he had not authorized newspaper quotations of any remarks he might have made about Mr. Smith.

Bishop Mouzon was reported en route from Charlotte to Abilene, Tex., and could not be reached for a statement.

Ever since the nomination of Alfred E. Smith for the Presidency by the Democratic party, Rev. R. G. Smith has been engaged in opposing the bishops of his church and his fellow ministers who participated in the campaign against the New Yorker.

Mr. Smith's charges against the bishops were dismissed, since Mr. Smith has published a book attacking the political activities of his fellow churchmen.

ARMED MEN NAB NEGRO

Black Wanted for Assault On Woman Is Captured in Lancaster County, S. C.

Lancaster, S. C., May 1.—(AP)—Wilson Autry, 20, negro sought for three days in connection with an attack upon the wife of a Union County, North Carolina, farmer, was captured today in a barn near Springdale Station, Lancaster County.

Sheriff L. F. Dabney, of Lancaster County, captured the fugitive, who surrendered peaceably when cornered in the barn.

Autry was captured through a tip given officers by Robert Mobley, a negro farmer. He came to Lancaster this morning and told officers Autry spent the night in his barn and was hiding in it today. Dabney returned with Mobley and arrested Autry.

The capture ended a man-hunt which had continued night and day since the woman, 20-year-old and the mother of a seven-weeks-old baby, was assaulted last Wednesday evening.

While Sheriff Dabney was arresting Autry, scores of armed men, aided by bloodhounds, were scouring wooded sections along the Catawba river where the negro was believed to be hiding.

Officers left with Autry immediately after the capture for an unannounced destination.

WATCH WAGE SITUATION

Administration Looking for Reaction From Statement By Labor Leader

Washington, May 16.—(AP)—Despite official silence on labor's warning that strikes may oppose wage cuts, the administration apparently has abandoned its belief in the soundness of efforts to maintain present living standards.

President Hoover is watching closely reactions to the statement by President William Green of the American Federation of Labor that "wages" would be fully justified in resisting attempts to reduce wages event to the extent of striking."

The administration believes, however, that wage levels generally have not declined although hours of work have been shortened in some industries. Significance has been attached to reports that William Green discussed the question with government officials before using his strike threat.

Among the last official statements from the administration was a speech by Secretary Mellon on May 5 before banker delegates to the International Chamber of Commerce Congress. He said then that the "standard of living must be maintained at all costs" and that "certainly the present is no time to undertake drastic and doubtful experiments."

The President's interest in the question first became known shortly after the stock market drop in 1929. In December of that year he called a conference of industrial and labor leaders and obtained assurance that wages would be maintained. Labor, for its part, promised no strikes if pay were not cut.

Shortly after returning from his Caribbean trip, the President let it be known that he was pleased to find there had been no "general wage reductions."

BLUE MOLE SPREADING

Mildew Disease Affecting Tobacco Plant Beds in 12 Counties of N. C.

Raleigh, May 16.—(AP)—Spreading rapidly over eastern North Carolina since its discovery in Greene county two weeks ago, the tobacco Blue Mold or downy mildew disease is now affecting tobacco plant beds in twelve counties and probably more, the Department of Botany at N. C. State College announced today.

Dr. S. G. Leghman, plant disease specialist of the state experiment station has been in the field constantly during the past two weeks advising with growers as to the control of the disease and inspecting beds for presence of the trouble.

The first reported outbreak was near Snow Hill in Greene county May 1. The next day, it was reported from Robeson county. Dr. Lehman now reports the disease in Wake, Columbus, Greene, Craven, Johnston, Robeson, Wilson, Nash, Edgecombe, Wayne and Sampson counties. It may be in others, he reported from the field today.

Rapid spread of the disease is ascribed to the rainy, cool weather with dewy nights alternating with warm days. Dr. Lehman says the mold first appears in small spots in the beds and will spread rapidly to other plants killing them about the time they are ready for setting.

If any grower finds a bluish mold on the leaves of his young plants in the bed, he should immediately take steps to check the spread. This is done by applying a formaldehyde solution to the affected spots, covering this with earth and then spraying the remaining healthy plants with bordeaux mixture. This spraying should be done each day while it is raining and every two or three days in clear weather.

The plants should also have plenty of sunlight and air. No diseased plants should be set in the field.

DOUBLE SLAYING

Declared Murder and a Suicide

Elizabeth City, May 16.—(AP)—The strange deaths of Hazel and Gathier Tadlock, brothers, on a highway near here two weeks ago was attributed today to an attempt of the former to slay his wife then himself.

Testimony yesterday at an inquest indicated that Hazel Tadlock, having previously proposed a suicide pact with his wife, had attempted to shoot her as she sat with an infant in her arms in an automobile parked on the highway.

When a bullet struck Gathier Tadlock, sitting beside Mrs. Tadlock, and fatally wounded him, Hazel Tadlock, his wife, said, walked to the rear of the machine and sent a bullet through his heart.

A coroner's jury at the inquest found that Hazel Tadlock had accidentally killed his brother and then shot himself.

Mrs. Tadlock, who with the child was slightly wounded, at first said that two bullets accidentally discharged from a pistol in the car had killed her husband, fatally wounded her brother-in-law and struck her and the infant.

At the inquest, she testified her husband earlier in the day of the shooting, had driven her and the child to a secluded spot in Camden county and, apparently prompted by jealousy, said:

"Honey, we've come here to die together."

"What will become of the children?" she said she replied, and he then drove away. The fatal shooting followed a few hours later.

Body Concludes 20th Week With Action On Minor Issues; Hope to Adjourn by May 23; Both Divisions to Meet Monday to Consider New Revenue Conference Report; Senate Receives Measure to Repeal Law Creating the State Judicial Commission

Raleigh, May 16.—(AP)—With a new report of the revenue conference scheduled to be voted on in the House Monday, North Carolina's marathon General Assembly brought its 20th week to a close today with the possibility looming that sine die adjournment may be May 23.

The House passed five local bills in a 20 minute session and the Senate passed three in a 15 minute meeting as both houses were in virtual recess, awaiting the new revenue conference report to be made at 3 p. m. Monday.

Both divisions of the assembly will meet at three Monday.

The Senate received a measure by Senator Nixon of Lincoln to repeal the law creating the State Judicial Commission.

Senator McLean of Polk, author of a bill to create a racing commission in Polk county to supervise horse racing and pari-mutuel betting near Tryon had his measure placed on the Senate calendar "by request." Under Senate rules one senator can have a measure put on the calendar, even though it bears an unfavorable committee report, such as the racing bill got this week.

During the 20th week of the assembly little work was accomplished on the floors of the two houses as the struggle of the revenue conference and the hearings of the Senate committee probing charges of attempted bribery of senators held the center of the stage.

The Senate investigating committee found little evidence of any direct attempts at bribery during its hearings.

The testimony of Senator John Hinsdale of Wake county to the effect that he was told by David H. Pope of Raleigh he could buy anything he wanted if he would let up in his fight for a luxury tax was denied by Pope. Hinsdale said Pope told him W. N. Reynolds of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company was behind the offer. Reynolds denied making any offer of remuneration.

Other testimony developed that J. J. Hatch, an attorney, had told Fasion Thomson, another attorney, both of Goldsboro he believed Thomson could get a fee if he would use his influence to defeat the luxury tax. The name of no senator was mentioned by Hatch, both he and Thomson testified, but Thomson said he had assumed a reference Hatch made to influencing the vote of a senator referred to Hugh Dortch of Wayne county.

The Ewing power bill, levying a tax of one-half mill per kilowatt hour on electrical energy produced or sold in North Carolina was the subject of much wrangling in the House during the week but finally was passed on first reading May 16. It will come up again Monday night.

During the week Wilmington was authorized to have daylight saving time if the city commissioners approve the plan.

A joker resolution introduced in the House to adjourn the meeting place of the General Assembly to Wrightsville Beach almost passed the lower division, being approved on second reading and then tabled.

The session's second pari-mutuel betting and horse racing bill met its death. Senator McLean of a track introduced the act to allow an unenforceable committee report.

The Southport terminal bill authorizing a bond issue of $1,500,000 apparently ended its legislative course when it was tabled by the House, revived and placed on the calendar and then recalled to the Senate, where it is expected to die.

ABOUT TOWN

Greenville people and those in other parts of the world for that matter will welcome the announcement by Dr. John Humber that the cancer extract, which he and Dr. Coffee discovered will be released to the public in the near future.

It has been demonstrated beyond doubt that the extract is capable of bringing relief to the sufferers from this dread form of scourge, and is a boon to the medical profession.

Drs. Humber and Coffee have been slow in arranging for the release of the discovery because of their desire to fully protect the public from scoundrels or "racketeers" who are eternally on the alert to fleece an unsuspecting public.

Not so long ago medicine peddlers began operation in California advertising a product which they called the Humber - Coffee Cancer cure. They charged the stupendous sum of $500 a treatment for their medicine, and sold a considerable amount before they were stopped.

It is the hope of the two specialists to put the extract before the public at cost without any reach of every sufferer from cancer, and in this way fulfill their mission to humankind. Hundreds of patients have been treated in past years free of charge just to show the medical profession the efficacy of the extract.

Greenville is proud of the recognition which her native son, Dr. Humber, is receiving through the discovery of the extract, and everybody feels confident; he will be justly rewarded for his splendid effort in behalf of suffering humankind.

Members of the Pitt County Medical Society are hearty in their commendation of activities of Pitt county legislators in the General Assembly. So impressed were they that they unanimously voted to write the legislators of the society's appreciation of what they are doing in behalf of the county and state.

The entire county unquestionably will join the society in its praise of the representatives as they have taken a firm stand for tax reduction as expressed in the MacLean school bill and also have used their efforts for the best interest of the state in other connections.

Two of the legislators are from Greenville and the other from Farmville. Senator Blount and Rep. E. G. Flanagan were returned to the high office in the last election and Mr. Holmes, of Farmville, was elected for his first term.

Men of this type are worthy of the highest esteem and consideration of their constituency, and will receive the approval of those in sympathy with their work.

Dr. Ben Lacy of Richmond was due to arrive in this city today to begin a series of evangelistic services at the Presbyterian church tomorrow. Dr. Lacy is one of the best-known members of the ministry in this section of the country and that large crowds will attend the services cannot be doubted.

He made a profound impression upon his hearers when he addressed members of the Pitt County Post of the American Legion here in their Armistice Day celebration last year. He is a man of deep conviction and brilliant intellect, and this has been largely responsible for the conspicuous place which he occupies in public life at this time.

Ben Lacy forged to the front during the World War when he served as chaplain of the 113th Field Artillery. He was termed the "fighting parson" by reason of his ability to command captured German guns and use them to advantage of the allies.

The public is given a cordial invitation to attend the services and hear this exponent of the Bible describe the inestimable blessings which the world is deriving from the spreading of the Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Numbers of Greenville men have received state-wide honors during the last few years, but probably the most outstanding recognition accorded any of them came to W. Hill Burns this week when he was unanimously elected grand commander of the Grand Commandery of Knights Templar at the Asheville convention.

His election came after he had filled the unexpired term of Commander Gary of Halifax, who died sometime last year.

Mr. Burns has long been recognized as one of the leading members of the Masonic order in this part of the state, and his election to the highest office it is in the power of the organization to confer upon him did not come as a surprise to the people here who were acquainted with his long service to the cause.

He is one of the pioneers who is eternally blazing the trail toward greater achievement and it can not be doubted that he will be instrumental in more far-reaching development of the state body.

members always occurred about election time when they failed to do as the chief desired. If they did not vote like the chief wanted them to, they were "bumped off" he asserted.

He said he was "bumped off" Monday night and voted back in at the meeting Tuesday night. They told him he had not been acting right, he said. Asked if such action was customary about election time, he vigorously asserted that it was.

W. M. Jones, one of the dismissed members, who said he had been a member of the volunteer department for 25 years, told of the meeting, of being invited out into the hallway to await deliberations of the main body. He said when he reentered the room they told him he had been placed on the honor roll because of age. He described himself as one of the most active members of the department.

Gardner came to see him next day, he told the aldermen, and asked him how he liked the joke, they pulled on him the night before. "I don't like it a d— bit," he said he told Gardner.

He declared that it was customary to release members of the department without any reason being advanced.

Roger Smith, who was released by the department sometime ago because he was alleged to have let all of the gas out of one of the trucks, denied that he did so, and stated that he was dismissed without any reason whatever.

George Clark, manager of streets, who for years has been associated with the fire department, made a vigorous defense of "his boys" as he termed them, and declared they had been misrepresented by some of the testimony. He said Briley's testimony was misleading, and declared he used his mouth too much.

He asserted that no one man ran the department and denied that the men voted as Gardner requested. He told of the reserve list to which Jones had been retired, and declared that it had been instituted by the department to keep young men in action and to prevent old men incapable of action from drawing pay for services they were unable to render.

Questioned by Alderman Boyd, Clark stated that the men were loyal to Gardner who in his opinion was fully capable and competent of handling affairs of the firemen.

Mayor Lanier in a brief speech declared no charges had been preferred against the members of the company, and that action was taken against Gardner to prevent him from using his office as detriment to the company. He said Gardner was responsible for the release of the men. He asserted he did not care how the men voted but it was his purpose to protect them from being thrown from the company without just cause.

Gardner took the stand in his own defense, and told of the mayor's threat to kick him. He did not deny that he had been dismissed from the department and said he tried to rectify the situation when the report was spread that he was a political movement. He said he told the men it was a joke, hoping to relieve the situation.

He declared Briley's statements untrue, that he had not tried to influence members of the department in their vote, and had had no previous knowledge of the dismissal of the men at the meeting Monday night.

The fire chief and Mayor Lanier disagreed in description of the mayor's threat to kick Gardner, and Aldermen Hassel and Boyd intervened declaring the case was getting too personal.

The board voted by secret ballot on sustaining the mayor and reinstating the fire chief.

LOCALS LICK CRAVEN LADS

Greenville trounced New Bern yesterday by the score of 8 to 3. The local team was fighting hard as it was the next to the last game of the season, and it desired to win these two to brighten up the records for this year.

The New Bern team remembered Roger Taylor from the game which they beat Greenville over here, and knew they did not beat Taylor, but that errors did it. They were scared before the game started yesterday, and after it got underway they were rightly so, for they couldn't have reached Taylor with telephone poles. He had everything—speed, curves, control—worked just as good with three on, as with the bases clear. Bullock caught a nice game, and New Bern would hardly get off the bases. Bullock also collected a couple of hits. Madrin, at second, led the local attack of fourteen hits with three out of five. King, James and Broadbent followed closely behind with two each. Dennis Turnage, Brooks and Register also played heads-up ball. Brooks made a beautiful throw home from left field late in the game. The whole Greenville team looked good—on the defense, and Taylor's pitching prohibited any defense much, but what there was, it was good.

Tuesday, Greenville is determined to go down and lick Washington. Each team has won a game, and this one decides it. Greenville has a better team than Washington, and with Taylor back on the mound Tuesday, Washington is truly going to "live hard," colloquially speaking.

All local lovers of the national pastime, who can make the short trip to Washington will be as welcome to the team, as wood is to a martinet.

Market Report
Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, May 16.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today 2 to 9 points lower under overnight selling orders attracted by the weakness of yesterday and further selling on the favorable weather in the south and relatively easy Liverpool cables.

July sold off to 9.48 and December to 10.08 under the initial pressure, making new low records for the season, but these prices seemed to attract considerable trade buying and week-end covering. Business was active at the start, but the volume of offerings tapered off somewhat toward the end of the first half hour and the market became a shade steadier with prices showing rallies of 2 or 3 points from the lowest. Early reports were in line with yesterday's predictions of generally fair and warmer weather in the cotton belt and conditions were referred to as nearly perfect for the development of the crop.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, May 16.—(AP)—Wheat dropped today to the lowest prices since April 30 and corn to a new low record for the season. Liquidating sales on the part of holders found buyers scarce. July wheat, representing the new 1931 crop, sold down more than 4 cents a bushel under Wednesday's figures. Late indications of rain in Canada with glowing reports about the domestic winter wheat prospects were largely responsible.

Wheat closed irregular 13-4 lower to 1-8 advance; corn 3-4 to 1-8 down; oats 3-8 to 1-2 off and provisions unchanged to a setback of 15 cents.

STOCK MARKET

New York, May 16.—(AP)—Light but mercifully persistent selling pressure kept the stock market on the down grade for the seventh successive session today.

Stock prices indices indicated the general level had broken to around the level of the spring of 1927. Ralls, in the aggregate, are back to the levels of 1924.

Wall street had been inclined to look for a week-end rally generated by closing out of shot positions, but the wave of covering late yesterday appeared to have completed the week-end bear profit taking.

Final prices were close to the lowest of the two-hour session. Declines of 1 to 3 points were numerous, although several prominent issues held about steady. The total turnover for the shot session was about 800,000 shares.

Bears have been rotating from group to group of late, and apparently selected the food shares today. National Biscuit and Loose-Wiles dropped 3 points. Borden, Corn Products, General Mills and Pillsbury Flour lost about a point.

U. S. Steel duplicated yesterday's bottom price of 101.3-8, off 2 points from yesterday's close. American Can came closer to the 100 mark, getting down more than 2 points to a new low for the movement at 100.1-4.

Garden Club Meets

One of the most interesting meetings which the Garden Club has had this year was held on Thursday afternoon, May 14.

The members met at the club house at four o'clock and held a short business session at which it was decided to plant canna's and otherwise improve the triangular bed at the end of Fifth street.

The club then adjourned to waiting cars which carried them to some of the lovely gardens of Greenville. The first one visited was that of Mrs. J. N. Hart.

The next garden visited was that of Mrs. Travis Hooker. Her iris and roses were beautiful, and her garden is most homelike looking.

Mrs. Key Brown's garden was next visited. It is a bower of blossoms and flowering plants. She has many roses, several varieties of iris and many lovely pansies.

The garden of Mrs. Sam White was next visited. It is always lovely and particularly so at this time were the peonies and roses. She served delicious punch to the members and gave to each of them a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

The last two gardens visited were those of Mrs. Will Hooker and Mrs. J. B. James. These are two very carefully planned and handsome gardens.

Each and every member enjoyed this outstanding meeting and it is hoped that this program can be repeated next year and that more gardens can be visited.

DULL HEADACHE, BILIOUS FEELING

Dizzy and Nauseated in the Morning—Relieved After Taking Black-Draught.

"Two years ago, I began to suffer with a dull, sick headache," writes Mrs. John Dodd, of 719 Bream Street, Charleston, W. Va. "I was bilious and would get up in the morning feeling dizzy and nauseated."

"My color was pale and my complexion was bad. I felt that all my trouble was caused from constipation. "I told a friend how bad I felt, and she told me to try Theford's Black-Draught. I began taking it on her recommendation. I soon found it was helping me very much. I began to feel like I had more energy. It relieved constipation, and after that I had no more trouble. When I need a medicine for constipation, I take Black-Draught."

"I found that Black-Draught was good for biliousness and constipation," writes Mrs. E. F. Caughy, of 708 S. Elm Street, Sherman, Texas. "It is as good a home remedy as one can find. I prefer it because it is a vegetable medicine which helps to rid the system of poison and keep the body in good order."

Many Thousands of Miles of Faithful Service in

THE FORD TUDOR SEDAN

THE NEW FORD

In the past two years many new Fords have been driven 50,000, 75,000 and even 100,000 miles. Everywhere the car has made an unusual record for reliability and economy.

Ford owners have found, as you will find, that the low cost of operation and up-keep is even more important than the low first cost of the car. This saving frequently amounts to hundreds of dollars in twenty or thirty thousand miles.

Talk with Ford owners. Better still, let us show you what it can do in traffic, on steep hills and on the open road. Then you will know, from your own experience, that it brings you everything you want or need in a motor car at an unusually low price.
