NOT TO CALL NEW SESSION OF CONGRESS

President Hoover Refuses to Yield to Request of Prominent Statesmen.

Washington, May 23.—(AP)—Because he believes a special session of Congress would hinder economic recovery, President Hoover has decided against calling one.

His statements to this effect at the regular press conference yesterday was interpreted as a direct answer to Senate Republican Independents and others who have insisted an extra session should be convened to deal with unemployment and the depression.

One of the most recent demands for an "immediate" assembly came earlier in the week from Senator LaFollette, Wisconsin Independent Republican.

The president said: "I do not propose to call an extra session of Congress. I know of nothing that would disturb the healing processes now undoubtedly going on in the economic situation.

We cannot legislate ourselves out of our world economic depression; we can and will work ourselves out. A poll of the members of Congress would show that a large majority agree with me in opposing an extra session."

The presidential statement was interpreted as leaving no room for a change of mind, and Congressional leaders are making no plans for a meeting before the regular date in December.

Republican leaders have insisted since before the last Congress adjourned that there was no need for a called session. Democrats, for the most part, have said it was a question for the president to decide since the power rests with him alone.

Some Senators held the presidential announcement to mean even that the Senate would not be convened to consider the World court.

The president said he had received a number of requests for a called session, principally from religious organizations, which he did not name.

The people's lobby issued a statement today attacking LaFollette and other Independents with the assertion that "playing progressive politics with human misery is no less distasteful than playing Hoover politics with such misery."

Facts LaFollette cited in his support of the special session, the lobby said, are no more imperative now "than during the closing days of the last Congress, when these same Progressive senators could have forced the special session if they had any nerve."

Weather Delays Mock Air Battle Over N. Y. City

New York, May 23.—(AP)—The war bird's most potent foe—the weather—conspired today to delay the greatest army airshow in the country's history.

Sen. Johnson Threatens To Sue Newspaper For Indirect Accusations

Raleigh, May 23.—(AP)—Senator Rivers D. Johnson of Duplin, rising to a point of personal privilege in the Senate today, said that the Winston-Salem Journal, in an editorial published yesterday morning, "accused" him "indirectly" of trying to get his fingers on county money.

"I have asked the paper for an explanation. If I do not get a proper one it will have to answer in the courts for what it said," the senator declared.

The editorial in question discussed the action of the assembly in passing a bill introduced by Johnson to allow counties to levy advalorem taxes for special purposes. Johnson told the Senate today the measure was introduced at the request of the local government commission.

The Senate passed the following bills today: SB 643—Grier of Iredell, relating to election of superintendent of schools in Iredell county.

SB 645—Grier of Iredell, relating to election of superintendent of public welfare in Iredell.

HB 1408—Johnson of Pender, to amend justices of peace bill.

HB 1392—Young of Durham, relating to special terms of superior court in Durham county.

ROBINSON RAPS G. O. P.

Scores Spokesmen for Attempting to "Humanize Hoover" With Childish Stories

Washington, May 23.—(AP)—Administration "spokesmen" and "newspaper organs" were under indictment today by Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, for what he termed attempts to "humanize Hoover" "childish stories" about his attitude on inconsequential subjects.

In a statement issued through the Democratic National committee, Senator Robinson last night arranged what he described as the president's campaign to rehabilitate himself in the estimation of the voters' and added:

"The reasons for the present unpopularity of the administration are not founded on any criticism of Mr. Hoover's attitude towards the Beatitudes. The complaints are based on his official acts, which uniformly have fallen short in efficiency where they have not favored the interests of a particular group, as opposed to those of the general public."

"Perhaps," he began his statement, "it is less the fault of President Hoover than of his friends that at almost every gathering, however, non-political its character, a spokesman bobs up to convey to the organization the intensity of the president's interest in whatever cause the group is enlisted. And in nearly every case it is possible to trace a rather close connection between the spokesman and the White House."

Then the former Democratic vice-presidential candidate continued with this:

"We are not supposed to elect a president because of his alleged sponsorship of an educational movement or because he approves of the Red Cross. Everybody is in favor of these things, just as everybody endorses the Ten Commandments."

LACY TALKS TO YOUNG PEOPLE

Urges Them to Keep Bodies Strong and Pure in Sermon at Presbyterian Church

Emphasizing the importance of keeping the body free from the effects of sin and riotous living, Dr. Ben R. Lacy, of Richmond, delivered a special sermon to young people of the city in the series of evangelistic services at the Presbyterian church last night.

The revival will come to a close with two services tomorrow. It is the purpose of the congregation to make the final services the crowning features of the series and every effort was being made to pack the building to capacity both morning and evening.

Dr. Lacy delivered his final lecture on the Bible this morning. The morning services have been devoted to the study of Philipians throughout the week, and it was said last night that the messages had proven an inspiration to the congregation.

Tonight Dr. Lacy will speak on the subject, "A Christian's Joy," and this was expected to be one of the finest messages of the week. It will picture the unspeakable ecstasy of those who accept Christ and then attempt to live according to His examples.

POPE SUMS UP LABOR ISSUE

Pontiff Says Business Life Hard and Cruel In Encyclical Made Public Today.

Vatican City, May 23.—(AP)—Pope Pius XI in his encyclical on labor made public today, characterizes the modern economic world as a "dictatorship" and describes the modern business life as "hard and cruel in ghastly measure," and calls for a return to the justice of God in laying down the rules of conduct for capital and labor in their mutual relations.

God and his goodness, he wrote, too often are lost sight of in the struggle for wealth, and riches often become a great evil. The encyclical condemns all forms of Socialism and Communism.

The 20,000-word document entitled "Quadragesimo Anno" is in celebration of fortieth anniversary of the encyclical rerum novarum issued by Pope Leo XIII.

Since Pope Leo wrote, the Pontiff said, the entire economic scene, immense power and despotic economic domination are concentrated in the hands of a few who frequently are not owners but merely trustees and directors of invested funds.

The encyclical upholds the rights of private property, but asserts that these rights depend upon the obligations of ownership which it is a function of the state to define. The Pontiff, in suggesting a solution for unemployment said, "Investment of superfluous income in employment, assuming that providing favorable opportunities for employment, assuming that labor employed produces results which are really useful, is to be considered an act of real liberality particularly appropriate to the needs of our time."

COURT STOPS UNTIL MONDAY

Case Against Bank of Ayden to be Resumed When Court Re-convenes Next Week

The civil term of Pitt County Superior court, which has been in session here since last Monday morning, was adjourned at the noon hour today until next Monday at 10 o'clock.

When court quit work today it was in the midst of the hearing of the case of J. L. Harrington against directors of the defunct bank of Ayden. Harrington is suing the bank officials for approximately $1100 which he alleged he deposited in the institution when the officers knew it to be in an insolvent condition.

The case was begun Thursday morning, and it was expected it would be the middle of next week when it reaches the jury. Considerable evidence remained to be heard when adjournment was ordered by Judge Devin today.

Nine other cases are to be heard against the directors following completion of the present action, each centering about deposits made prior to the closing of the institution. Several hundreds of dollars are involved in the claims.

The defendants contend that they had no knowledge of the weakened condition of the bank at the time the deposits were made and consequently are not responsible.

The first of the series of cases was aired at the last term of court but was non-suited following failure of the plaintiff to produce sufficient evidence.

Neval Planes Aid In Search For Missing Man

Pensacola, Fla., May 23.—(AP)—Naval airplanes, coast guard boats and private craft started a search today for seven Pensacola business men, missing since they set out for the fishing banks 40 miles off shore yesterday in a 28-foot boat.

Pilots at the naval air station, returning from flights over the banks, reported no trace of the fishermen.

Members of the party, which left here at 3 a. m. Friday, were George Wright, C. M. Wright, Ernest Johnson and Allen Riggs employees of a filling station; Erwin Gidley, a grocer; Willie Simmons, son of Police Captain J. R. Simmons, and John Holman, a merchant.

Unable to locate a school of snapper at the banks close in, the party went further out into the Gulf of Mexico. B. A. Davis, who also was on a fishing expedition, reported on his return here that he sighted the men 40 miles off shore at 4 p. m. yesterday.

MITCHELL AT BANK TRIAL

State Examiner To Present Confidential Report on Central Bank and Trust Co.

Asheville, May 23.—(AP)—John Mitchell, chief state bank examiner of North Carolina, appeared in the Buncombe Superior court today under subpoena by the defense in the trial of seven men who allegedly conspired to put millions of dollars of county funds into an insolvent bank.

Mitchell was under instructions to bring confidential reports of the condition of the Central Bank and Trust Company here, made to him during 1928, 1929 and 1930 by D. M. Darden, bank examiner.

He was subpoenaed after publication of a news story here saying the confidential reports disclosed the bank was insolvent during those years.

Before Mitchell was subpoenaed, Solicitor Zeb V. Nettles announced in open court that he intended to seek the indictment of any state official who negligently permitted the bank to operate after it was insolvent.

The chief state bank examiner as a defense witness was not expected to be put on the witness stand until later in the trial.

W. S. Coursey, who qualified as an expert accountant, was called by the state as the trial continued.

Wallace B. Davis, who was president of the Central Bank and Trust Company, and his brother, Russell Davis, who was a vice-president, are on trial with five former county commissioners. The other defendants are L. L. Jenkins, former county treasurer; C. N. Malone, former county bond attorney; Newton M. Anderson, James W. Girmes and J. O. McElroy, former county commissioners.

Coursey testified the county had $806,431.18 on deposit in the Central bank on July 29, 1929, when $500,000 in tax anticipation notes were issued by the county commissioners.

Records of the commissioners' meeting authorizing the issuance of the notes, previously introduced, said the notes were necessary to pay maturing notes for which the money was not available.

One of the state's contentions is that large sums were permitted to lie in the bank while several note issues, totaling $4,813,000, were sold.

Believe Deadlock Over Revenue Bill Definitely Broken

ENDURANCE JURY BRINGS IN DECISION

Mrs. Brewer Awarded $1,500 in Suit Against National Veneer Company.

The endurance jury in the civil term of Pitt County Superior court which set something of a record for length of deliberations, came in with a decision shortly after 7 o'clock last night in the case of Mrs. E. L. Brewer who was suing Roy Moye and the National Veneer Company of Ayden for $2,500 as result of injuries which she received when the automobile in which she was riding collided with a truck load of logs on a highway near Ayden sometime ago.

Mrs. Brewer was awarded $1,500, and N. Cullins, owner of the car in which she was riding, received a verdict for $300 as damages for his automobile.

The jury received the case Wednesday afternoon about 5 o'clock, and deliberations extended through two nights and slightly over two days. One man was reported to have held up the decision, the remainder having agreed on their position a few hours after the case was received.

The car of which Mrs. Brewer was an occupant ran into the log truck at night and a log, said to have protruded a considerable distance from the remainder of the load, crashed through the windshield. Occupants of the machine had a narrow escape from death or serious injury. Mrs. Brewer sustained painful injuries and barely escaped death when the log grazed her body.

The veneer company disclaimed responsibility for the wreck on the grounds that Moye was an in-

FINAL REPORT ON CO-OP BODY

Weakness of Old Tobacco Association Analyzed by the Receivers.

Raleigh, N. C., May 23.—(AP)—The weakness of the old Tri-State Tobacco Growers Cooperative marketing Association of Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina are analyzed in the final report of the receivers on file today in U. S. District court here.

Upon the filing of the report, Judge I. M. Meekins, entered final orders, ending the five-year receivership in which total cash receipts of $12,430,262.21 were reported handled.

In their report, the receivers, James J. Pout of Raleigh; Hallett S. Ward, of Washington, and Merton L. Corey, of Richmond, listed the following reasons for the failure of the association in June 1926:

1. Mismanagement; 2. Disloyalty of members; 3. Opposition of speculative tobacco interests; 4. Bad credit conditions forcing farmers to sell for cash; 5. Lack of understanding of principals of cooperative marketing; 6. Too many suits for breach of marketing contracts; 7. Over production of tobacco; 8. Failure of business and banking interests to fully support the association.

The report set forth that the cooperative's affairs were in a bad way when it was forced into receivership and that "it was, therefore, fortunate for members and creditors that the receivership was decreed."

A large bulk of their receipts, the receivers reported, came from the sale of $9,077,431.15 worth of tobacco in America, Europe and China. The principal items of disbursement of the receivership were reported as follows: "Notes payable, $6,703,300; re-payment Baltimore Bank cash advanced $689,192; Interest, $450,880.50; Office payroll, $334,342.57; Sampling and reworking $118,742.46; Storage charges, $507,807; re-drying charges $51,016.65; Payments to receivers, special master and attorneys $278,000.

SMITH HEADS E. C. CHAMBER

Greenville Man Re-elected President For Second Term at Meeting of Directors

G. V. Smith, popular Greenville tobaccoist, will head the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce for another year.

This decision was reached at the monthly meeting of directors of the organization held in the office of the secretary of Greenville Merchants Association in this city last night.

This will be the Greenville man's second term as director of the destiny of the trade body serving over forty-two counties in this section of the state, and it was said last night that it was hoped to make this year even more of a success than the one just closed.

Other officers elected were: J. R. Harvey, Grifton, first vice-president; Judge Guy Elliott, Kinston, second vice-president; Charles A. Flynn, Washington, third vice-president; D. F. Wooten, Kinston, treasurer.

N. G. Bartlett, of Kinston was re-elected for the tenth time as secretary-manager of the body.

The directors voted to celebrate the 200th anniversary of the birthday of George Washington next Spring. The celebration, it was decided, will take the place of the regular exposition. It was planned to make the celebration one of the most spectacular of the kind ever before attempted in this part of the country. The place and date were not decided upon, but an announcement will be made at a later date.

Mystery Surrounds Death of Grandson Of Former President

Cleveland, May 23.—(AP)—John N. Garfield, 39, grandson of the late President James A. Garfield, died under mysterious circumstances at his home in Mentor, Ohio, near here last night. The death was not revealed until today.

Sheriff James Maloney of Lake county said he found a bullet wound in Mr. Garfield's head, apparently self-inflicted, but he was uncertain whether the shooting was accidental or of suicidal intent.

Members of his family found Mr. Garfield in a dying condition late last night, in one of the rooms of his home. A gun was discovered near the body, Sheriff Maloney said.

Mr. Garfield is survived by his widow, Mrs. Janet Dodge Garfield, and by his children, Janet, James, Francis John and Douglas.

Mr. Garfield had been associated with the Boland and Cornelius Company, steamship operators. He was a commander of the Crusaders, national anti-prohibition organization, and was a graduate of Williams College. During the World war he was a captain of the 134th Field Artillery.

Generally Conceded That Measure Based On 15 Cent Ad Valorem Tax Will Be Passed By Senate Next Week; House Passed Bill on Third Reading At Early Morning Session; Legislators Hope To Adjourn Longest Continuous Session Of Body Next Week

Raleigh, May 23.—(AP)—The longest continuous session of a North Carolina General Assembly in the history of the state appeared to be on the home stretch today with adjournment likely next week.

The deadlock over revenue for school support today appeared to have been broken and it was generally conceded that the revenue report based on a 15 cent ad valorem tax levy to partially support the six months schools would be passed by the Senate next week.

In an early morning session today the House passed the revenue report on third reading and sent it to the upper House.

During the week each House of the assembly rejected the conference report but later reconsidered the vote and adopted it. The lower division proceeded to pass it with an increasing favorable majority on each reading.

The Ewing power bill to fast all electrical energy producers for sale in North Carolina at the rate of one-half mill per kilowatt hour was killed during the week.

A few chain store tax is proposed under a measure passed on second reading in the House. The act closely followed the Indiana law, declaring constitutional by the United States Supreme court this week, and levies a tax of from 25 to 100 per store according to the number in the chain.

The Polk county racing bill, to allow pari-mutuel betting at a proposed track for horse racing near Tryon, was passed in the Senate but the vote was then reconsidered and the measure was killed by being tabled.

As the week closed a substitute senatorial redistricting bill was causing a hot fight in the House, where it was passed on two readings before the opposition became aroused and succeeded in getting it carried over until next week for final action.

A substitute machinery bill passed in the House is expected to be rejected by the Senate, which will necessitate a conference committee.

The biennial appropriation bill, now in conference, must be reported and passed before the Assembly can adjourn and a school machinery bill must also be passed.

A new school machinery bill which increases the teacher load one pupil in all grades of the public schools, effects drastic economies in costs of transportation and maintenance and provides that teachers' salaries may not be cut more than 10 per cent was reported to the Senate today by the education committee.

Under the measure all supplies for the public schools must be purchased through the newly created state central purchasing agency.

Osteopaths Meet At Capital City

Raleigh, May 23.—(AP)—Osteopaths from every section of North Carolina were here today to hear Dr. J. C. Gaddis of Chicago discuss Osteopathy and demonstrate new methods and technique of treating diseases by manipulating bones, nerves, blood vessels and other tissues.

Dr. Gaddis, secretary of the American Osteopathic Society, was the principal speaker at the morning session of the 28th annual convention of the North Carolina Osteopathic Society.

ABOUT TOWN

It is annual "Poppy Day" in Greenville and numbers of young women of the American Legion Auxiliary are offering the tiny flowers to the public that the memory of the men who fought on foreign battlefields may live forever to inspire civilization to greater heights.

It is impossible to estimate the extent of sales, but it is safe to say that Greenville people will buy generously and show their keen appreciation of the splendid services which the boys rendered in behalf of humanity.

No special prices will be charged for the flowers, all persons being allowed to give what they are able. It is the hope of the auxiliary, however, that the sum will be of sufficient size to enable them to turn over to the disabled veterans a sum greater than last year.

The poppy is emblematic of Flanders Field where countless numbers of young men representing the finest blood of this great nation, are buried, sacrifices to the awful god of war.

Think of the burdens which the disabled men have borne since the ending of that terrible conflict and give as much as you can for your poppy in order that they may be made as comfortable as possible. It is the least you can do now that they have been maimed for life through rendering the highest type of service in behalf of their great nation.

Greenville merchants are doing everything in their power to provide the people of this section of the country with the best of values at this season of the year and it is their hope that the public will visit the city and view their offerings.

People who are contemplating going away to some other sections to inspect the stocks. Greenville merchants have the honor of representing the greatest shopping center in East Carolina, and persons who come here may rest assured of getting the best values it is possible to find in this part of the country.

Money spent at home will enable the merchants to pull through the dull summer months in much better shape than otherwise and you will find conditions much better in the field of business on your return.

It would be folly to buy from another section when you can find the same values in your own home town at prices away below these charged in the other communities.

The fundamentals of Christianity were set forth in a vivid manner by Dr. Ben Lacy of Richmond, at the revival at the Presbyterian church Thursday evening.

Speaking on the subject of "A. B. and C" of Christianity, the minister told his hearers that they must first acknowledge the presence of sin, be born again and then live a Christ-like life.

It was a plain Gospel sermon in an entirely new setting and found a responsive place in the hearts of innumerable people who attended the service.

Dr. Lacy is considered one of the outstanding ministers of this part of the country as well as an educator of considerable note. He is playing an important part in the lives of hundreds of young men and women who come under his supervision from time to time, and is doing much to make their future of greater service to humankind.

The Legislature is beginning to see its way out of the dark, if indications of the last few days count for anything.

With the conference on the revenue bill passing third reading in the House today, the measure will then go to the Senate for final action. If that body acts favorably the legislators are hopeful of reaching an end the latter part of the week.

But there is many a slip between cup and lip, as the old saying goes, and the Senate may do something to halt all of the progress that has been made up to this time.

It is hoped, however, something definite will be accomplished during the week and the ambition of those clamoring for adjournment be realized.

The series of revival services which have been continuing at the Presbyterian church for the last week will come to a conclusion with two sermons by Dr. Lacy Sunday.

It is the hope of the congregation that this will be one of the crowning days of the evangelistic campaign, and that the minister will leave with pleasant memories of the success of his second visit to Pitt county.

It is impossible to estimate the good which the sermons Dr. Lacy has delivered have done the community, but it is safe to say the influence will have a lasting effect.

Ben Lacy had an opportunity to study the needs of civilization during the trying days of the World War, and his sermons are based on the rich experience of that eventful period when thousands of men laid down their lives for the great cause of justice.

The lifting of the ban on fishing in streams of Pitt county so as to permit fishermen to follow their sport three days to the week will be received with considerable elation by hundreds of men and women throughout the county.

The modified legislation will permit the angling for any kind of fish in Pitt, Green and Lenoir counties, and will continue until June 10 when open season again will be in force.

The prohibition of fishing at this season of the year is the result of a desire of the State Conservation Department to protect as much game as possible, and keep the streams well supplied with fish for open seasons.

Fishermen should appreciate this action and use their influence to see that the legislation is obeyed to the fullest extent.

transitions which occurred in the life of Jesus following His declaration that He must be about His Father's business, Dr. Lacy told his hearers that similar changes took place in the life of other people.

He said the most pronounced changes occurred between the period of accountability and the age of 30, and that the purpose of many lives were fixed even before the age of 12.

He pictured Jesus as one of the most perfect men of his day from the standpoint of physical and spiritual manhood, and said this came about through His high standard of living.

He said the most important factors in the life of the Christian was "to be about his Father's business, and the carrying out of His program."

It is necessary to first increase the stature, mentality and to then grow socially and spiritually.

He pointed to the fact that all records in the athletic field were established by men before they reached the age of thirty. Prior to this age they are at the perihelion of health and strength and capable of accomplishing the most trying tasks of life.

The human body, he said, is the temple of God, and must be kept pure and strong to be able to conduct His program for the best interest of humankind.

He gave gripping illustrations of the awful toll which dissipation takes of the human body. It weakens the physical being and lowers resistance so the body is incapable of performing the great tasks of life placed upon every man attempting to render a high type of service to his fellowman.

He impressed his hearers that they must also grow in wisdom and understanding and use all of the facilities for the upbuilding of God's kingdom.

The use of power for self alone, he asserted, will defeat the high purpose as enunciated by Christ in His stay on earth.

He also brought to the attention of the congregation the social transitions which take place in every life and portrayed in a vivid way the necessity of winning personally. He said no devil is so dangerous as the charming devil and no saint so charming as the charming saint, declaring that an attractive personality was one of the prime requisites in fulfilling God's mission on earth. He urged his young hearers to love people, and rest assured they would be loved in return.

Showing conclusively that every man must choose his own destiny, he asked his congregation to accept Christ as He would help them grow in favor and stature with God.

(Continued From Page One) people's organizations of the church were seated directly in front of the speaker last night and listened expectantly as he told them of the way to happiness and eternal life.

Preceding the sermon the regular musical program was conducted by J. B. Overmyer, director of the choir of the First Presbyterian church of Gastonia. The congregational singing was of an exceptionally splendid nature, and people who probably never lifted their voices in praise before, sang with as much abandon as those accustomed to taking part in song services.

There were eighteen professions of faith, last night involving various denominations, a hundred re-consecrations and seven who desired to move their memberships to Greenville. The worshippers expressed their desires on cards which were taken up during the closing of the service.

Dr. Lacy's text was taken from the 49th and 52nd chapters of St. Luke. "How is it that ye sought me? What ye not that I must be about my Father's business? And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favour with God and man."

Hickory, May 23.—(AP)—The hail and wind storm which swept Catawba and Caldwell counties yesterday was estimated today at thousands of dollars.

Field and garden crops in many sections were ruined, light buildings were blown down, window panes broken and roofs damaged. The hail battered holes in the roof of the Hibred Furniture factory's sample room at Lenoir and rain accompanying the storm flooded the room. Officials estimated the damage at from $3,000 to $6,000.

More than 1,000 window panes in the Whitlock Textile Mill, one mile south of Lenoir, were broken. The wind apparently was most intense near Newton. The home near there of Charles Simmons was unroofed. Numerous light farm buildings of the section were blown down and trees were uprooted.

THIS QUESTION is uppermost in your mind just now. No doubt you'd like to discuss it with the men who know by experience and study, so we have asked this question for you, of hundreds of authorities. College officials, agricultural leaders, editors, successful farmers, unite in the opinion that the answer is YES.

Here is a summary of their views: In view of light fertilizer applications under the crop, and because of the extreme importance of making high acre yields this year, cotton and corn should be liberally side-dressed with quick-acting nitrogen. Assuming a reasonably favorable season, this practice will pay any farmer who plants cotton and corn, even at present crop prices.

liberally with this quick-acting nitrogen fertilizer. It makes doubly sure of your profit this year.

Because It's NATURAL

Chilean Nitrate of Soda is the natural nitrate, the original SODA that American farmers have used for more than 100 years. Because of its natural origin Chilean contains a number of so-called "impurities"—Iodine, Boron, Magnesium, Calcium, Potassium. Each of these is a plant food in itself. They combine to make Chilean the Super-Nitrate... the fertilizer that is Nitrogen PLUS.

At right are the figures of Chilean Nitrate on cotton for the past 8 years. They tell the profit story. Read them! Act!

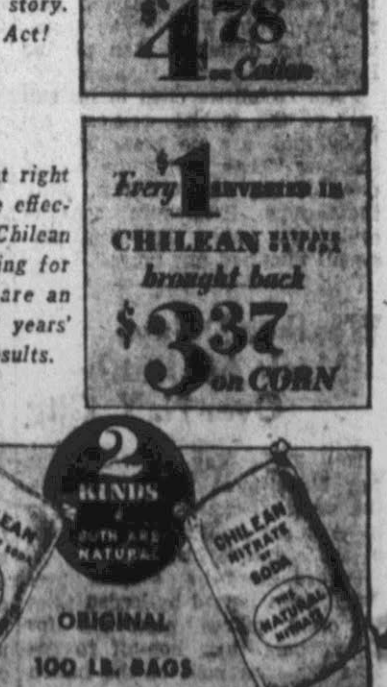

Every 1 ton of CHILEAN NITRATE brought back $478 on Cotton

Every 1 ton of CHILEAN NITRATE brought back $337 on CORN

All combined at last into one machine... Mrs. E. L. Hillman presided over the business meeting which followed. Reports of several committees were given, the most interesting of which was the one of the program committee. They announced that next year's program would be "A Study of the Universities of the World." The program for the afternoon consisted of reports from the state meeting which has just been held in Durham. Misses Warlick, Turner and Jenkins gave these reports which were most interesting and instructive, and which made each member realize how much had been missed by not being able to go. The branch then adjourned to meet again next October.

DAY OF PRAYER IN PRESBYTERIAN CHURCHES

Monday, the 25th, has been set apart by the Presbyterian Churches of Eastern North Carolina as a day of prayer for all of the work of the church, and for the coming of a great revival in our country. At the local Presbyterian Church there will be two hours set apart: from 10 to 11 a. m. and from 4 to 5 p. m. All people who believe in prayer and feel any need which God can supply, are asked to come either in the morning or afternoon, or both hours, stay as long as possible, make known their desires, pray silently or audibly, and join in with other Christians in asking God for a revival all over our country.

MRS. D. L. HARDEE ENTERTAINS

Shower Complimentary to Miss Helen Dudley

On Friday evening, at her home on Columbia avenue, Mrs. D. L. Hardee delightfully entertained at bridge complimentary to Miss Helen Dudley, whose marriage to Mr. Horace E. Springer, of Raleigh, will take place June 8th. A color scheme of pink and green was carried out in the decorations of roses, snapdragons, sweet peas and gladioli. During the progressions of the games iced drinks and sandwiches were served.

The high score prize, lingerie, was awarded to Mrs. J. C. Lanier and the low score prize, a novelty bread set fell to Mrs. Annie Long.

After the games, little Miss Betsy Hobgood, wearing pink, rolled in a tea cart attractively decorated with sweet peas and tulle and piled with miscellaneous gifts from the guests to Miss Dudley, bride-elect.

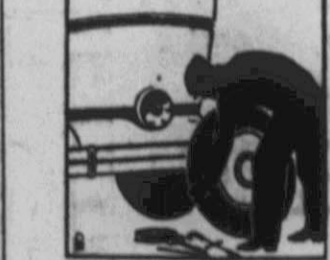

When the excitement had subsided, the hostess, assisted by her sisters, Mrs. F. R. Elmore and Mrs. L. H. Bowling, Miss Ruth Munford and little Miss Betsy Hobgood, served an ice course carrying out the pink and green color motif.

Those enjoying Mrs. Hardee's hospitality were Miss Dudley, the guest of honor, Mesdames J. P. Rowlett, J. C. Lanier, L. H. Bowling, Blanche Cherry, Annie Long, C. F. Blanchard, Herman Gaylor, L. D. Bryan, S. M. Woolfolk, A. L. Tucker and F. R. Elmore, and Misses Mamie Ruth Tunstall, Ward Moore, Margaret Broadhurst, Helen Dail, Willard Wilchard and Ruth Munford.

Mr. and Mrs. Henderson Entertain

Thursday evening, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Henderson charmingly entertained with bridge at the Woman's Club in honor of their house guests Mrs. J. C. Hanna, of Burlington, and Mrs. John Hanna, of Madison, N. C.

Mrs. B. McK. Johnson received the guests at the door and introduced them to the receiving line, which consisted of the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Henderson; the honor guests, Mrs. J. C. Hanna and Mrs. John Hanna. Mrs. Ginn then directed the guests to the cloak room. The guests were allowed to linger in the rear hall, where Mrs. H. C. Haynes, who always delights her hearers with her artistic playing, rendered a number of piano selections. She very graciously furnished music throughout the evening.

Fourteen tables for bridge had been placed in the front rooms and the spacious hall which were exquisite. The club house was never more beautiful. Huge baskets of evergreens and numerous bowls of sweet peas and pink roses were attractively placed in the rooms which most effectively carried out a pink and green color notes.

After a number of interesting progressions, Mr. Ed Batchelor was awarded a hammered brass letter opener for the gentlemen's high score. A unique paper weight went to Mr. Berry Bostic for low score. Miss Cassidy held high score for the ladies and was presented a novelty vase, while the low score prize, a bulb bowl, went to Mrs. L. R. Meadows. The table prizes, small pink and green baskets filled with pink sweet peas, were cut by Miss Wahl, Mr. McGinnis, Mrs. Meadows, Mr. Ed Batchelor, Mrs. Claude Brown, Mrs. C. A. Bowen, Mrs. Luther Herring, Mrs. Bowling, Mrs. E. L. Baker, Mrs. C. L. Adams, Miss Browning, Mrs. E. F. Arnold, Mrs. McKean.

Mrs. J. C. Hanna was remembered with Madeira napkins and Mrs. John Hanna with a linen cover. The hostess, assisted by Mrs. H. C. Haynes, Mrs. Ginn, Mrs. L. L. Rivers, Mrs. B. McK. Johnson, Mrs. J. L. Kilgo and Mrs. H. L. Rivers, served a very tempting ice course which also carried out a pink and green color scheme.

Club Meets in Winterville.

Winterville, May 22.—The Home Demonstration Club of Winterville met Tuesday afternoon, May 19, with Mrs. L. A. Barnes. Fourteen members were present.

The president, Mrs. V. T. Corey, presided over the interesting session of business, after which Mrs. C. B. Williams conducted the fifteen minutes' social period. A piano solo by Mrs. R. T. Cox and a fruit-telegram contest were the features of this program and were heartily enjoyed by all. Mrs. V. T. Corey and Mrs. R. T. Cox were the winners. Partners in the contest and were presented three nice ripe bananas.

Miss Niece then gave her demonstration on cooking and serving fruits which were delightful, and giving recipes for this very essential part of our daily lives.

We adjourned to meet with Mrs. B. T. Cox at our regular meeting time in July, calling off the June meeting on account of the Short Course in Greenville.

Storm Causes Damage Around Mountain City

Asheville, May 23.—(AP)—Hail, accompanied by wind and rain, fell in many Western North Carolina counties yesterday afternoon with resulting serious damages to crops, buildings and public utilities systems in a number of sections.

In Asheville, and nearby sections the shower of hailstones was light and lasted only a few minutes. No damage to highways, telephone and electric lines, or crops had been reported today.

A light rainfall accompanied the hail in this section.

Asheville awoke shivering this morning with the temperature hovering lower than is usually calculated for May mornings. At 6 A. M. according to meters at the United States Weather Bureau, the mercury stood down to 45 degrees, but had climbed back to 47 at 7 o'clock.

Helen McGrath was elected May queen at Akron university, Akron, Ohio, after one candidate had been removed and a "campus politician" suspended from school. Ballot box stuffing was alleged in the first contest.

Farmville Literary Club Meets.

Farmville, May 22.—The Farmville Literary Club was graciously entertained by Mrs. W. M. Willis on Wednesday afternoon at her home on Wilson street. Sweet peas and other flowers in glass shades were used in the spacious living room.

Mrs. J. W. Joyner, first vice-president, presided over a short business session, after which an interesting program on "Witchcraft" was presented. "Tricks of the Trade" was the subject of a paper by Mrs. J. W. Parker, which expounded the selfish ends, symbolism, and its relation to Christianity. Based on Cross's "Witchcraft in North Carolina" was a talk by Mrs. J. I. Morgan, who discussed love and poison lotions, charms and spells, and modern pseudo-scientific adaptations of witchcraft.

A round table discussion of the subject brought-out some interesting tales in connection with this immediate section. This meeting brought to a close the year's study of "Folklore" as outlined by Ralph Steele Boggs.

A salad course was served after adjournment. Additional guests included Mrs. Harry Lang, formerly Miss Liza Murdock of Salis, bury, a recent bride, Mrs. Arthur P. Joyner, Mrs. J. M. Wheelless and Mrs. W. J. Raspberry.

Mother and Daughter Banquet.

Farmville, May 22.—The Christian Endeavour Society of the Disciples' Church charmingly entertained at a Mother and Daughter banquet on Tuesday evening. Red and white roses and festoons effectively carried the colors of the society, the tables bearing lovely appointments, with covers laid for eighty-five.

Miss Lila Wallace was toastmistress, announcing an enjoyable program of addresses by Mrs. J. M. Hobgood, and the pastor, Rev. C. B. Mashburn, toasts to the guests and various officers of the society, vocal numbers by Dan Hooker of Bethel, instrumental selections by Miss Lottie Jane Joyner, and an amusing playlet "A Bachelor's Dream."

EDMUNDSON BOUND OVER ON CHARGE OF LARCENY

Frank Edmundson was given a hearing in magistrate's court this morning on a charge of larceny and bound over to the next session of Superior court under bond of $100.

Edmundson is charged with the larceny of $25.00 from the Farmer's cafe several days ago, but vigorously denies it.

URGE GREATER USE FOR NITRATE OF SODA

A great many farmers are asking themselves the question as to whether or not side-dressing cotton will pay with present prices. All students of crop production are agreed that as per acre yields go up the cost per unit of crop goes down. Hundreds of farmers in North Carolina during 1930 produced cotton for less than nine cents per pound, including ginning and marketing charges, when they produced a bale or more per acre. Under boll weevil conditions it is difficult to produce a bale per acre without liberal applications of quickly available nitrogen. A cotton plant to reach full growth by early August, must have quickly and a heavier setting of early available nitrogen early in its life. This also insures early blooming fruits.

In discussing side-dressing cotton, Dr. Clarence Poe, editor of the Progressive Farmer, said: "I believe every farmer should arrange to do this this year as usual, but so reduce his acreage that his total cotton production will be less than last year. Our cotton farmers cannot find relief in low production per acre. We must find it in higher yields per acre but with fewer acres sown over to cotton, and more acres in food, feed and fertility crops."

Mr. J. A. Turlington of Clinton, a successful farmer and a director in the North Carolina Cotton Growers Co-operative Association, says: "Tests conducted on my farm and other farms through Eastern North Carolina by county agents and vocational teachers have proved beyond a doubt that it pays to use liberal applications of Chilean Nitrate of Soda as a side-dressing for cotton and corn. Many times an application of 200 pounds Chilean Nitrate has doubled my yield of cotton and trebled my corn yield. I get larger returns for a dollar spent for Chilean Nitrate of Soda than a dollar spent for any other fertilizer material."

"I am sure that it will pay to side-dress nine and ten cent cotton. It takes almost as much labor to grow one-half bale per acre as it does to grow a bale per acre. In my opinion, farmers will make a serious mistake if they attempt to grow cotton this year without a liberal application of nitrate as a side-dressing."

It would seem from the experience of these men and many others with similar experience, that side-dressing with 100 to 200 pounds of Chilean Nitrate of Soda at chopping time will pay well with cotton at present prices.

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, May 23.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady to 6 to 8 points lower under week-end realizing or liquidation combined with some local selling on the hope of improving weather conditions in the south over the week-end.

There was considerable trade buying, believed to be partially for Japanese account which with covering absorbed the initial offerings, but the selling continued with the active months' showing net losses of about 12 to 14 points by the end of the first half hour. July sold off to 9.10 and December to 9.85 or within a few points of the low records established earlier in the week.

Owing to the Whitsuntide holidays there were no cables from Liverpool to influence sentiment either way and Liverpool will not reopen for business until Tuesday morning. The amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 70,000 bales against 72,000 last year.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, May 23.—(AP)—Grains and provisions alike today dropped to below the season's previous bottom level. Anxiety about frost damage to winter wheat southwest faded away to a large extent. The outlook was for improved moisture supplies in the spring wheat belt northwest. Export demand for North American wheat was almost at a halt. July wheat and July and September corn outdid their 1931 low price records, with lard also at a new low for the season.

Wheat closed irregular 13.4 to 17.8 lower to 1-8 higher; corn 11-8 to 13-4 down; oats 1-8 to 3-8 off and provisions at 12 to 20 setback.

New York, May 23.—(AP)—Stocks crept lower in one of the quietest sessions of the exchange this year today.

Speculative apathy settled upon the market in the short week-end session, but the trickle of liquidation that has been almost constantly present of late was sufficient to depress several prominent issues one to three points.

The turnover was only about half a million shares. A firmer tendency developed for a time in the first hour, under leadership of the rails, but soon vanished. The bond market was also dull, but a steady tone was maintained.

Chemical shares were again a soft spot. Allied Chemical and Air Reduction lost about 2 points each. In the rails, early gains of about a point in New York Central, Pennsylvania and Southern Pacific were cancelled, and Central finished 2 points lower. Union Pacific dropped 3 in a small turnover.

Steels were under some further pressure, perhaps as a further reflection of the frank description of conditions in the industry presented by President Farrell of U. S. Steel yesterday.

In the utilities, American Telephone lost about 2 points, and United Corp. sagged 1. In the industrial specialties, Eastman was again heavy, losing 2 points. It is said in brokerage circles that this company is feeling the lessened prosperity of the motion picture industry, to which it supplies film.

The week-end reports from the steel trade were hopeful that the bottom of the sag from the late March peak was being approached. Operations in the Youngstown area are expected to be maintained at the current rate next week.

Foreign exchanges showed unimportant changes in the main, sterling held close to parity at $4.86 9/16 for cables, possibly reflecting withdrawals of foreign deposits in New York banks, on the reduction of interest rates on foreign demand deposits.

THE AUTOMOBILE IS THE greatest menace to life and limb in this country today. Figures compiled by the National Safety Council prove it. In spite of all traffic regulations, "Stop and Go" lights, safety devices, drivers' licenses and other precautionary measures, the number of deaths from automobiles climbs steadily upward each year and injuries multiply without end. Furthermore—the damage done is financial as well as physical. Hospital, surgical and nursing fees come high these days. Why continue to take chances? Why keep on daily risking your own time and earning power and the welfare of your family to the turn of an automobile wheel when a Provident Automobile Accident Policy will take the financial jar out of these bumps! ROBINS PROVE GREAT PUZZLE TO NATIONAL

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr. (Associated Press Sports Writer) If the Brooklyn Robins do nothing else all season, they at least will have the distinction of providing one of the National League's leading puzzles.

Picked as one of the leaders before the season started, the Robins have failed to come through so far, and in answer to every question as to why the answer has been "left-handed pitching."

Brooklyn fans were about ready to ask what else is wrong when the Robins came through yesterday with a convincing demonstration that answered "nothing at all."

The Phillies had no left handers ready to send against Brooklyn yesterday but so far as collecting hits was concerned the Robins fared little better than they had against the southpaws. The difference was that they settled down to the business of winning ball games, played the way they really can, and came out with two victories and a hold on fifth place in the standing.

Brooklyn collected only 17 hits in the two games off Ray Benge, Frank Watt and Fidgety Phil Collins, but they made them good for eight runs, winning 3 to 2 and 5 to 2.

In the first clash they bunched three of their blows for two runs in the sixth inning. In the second, Babe Herman clouted a homer with two aboard in the third inning and Johnny Frederick clouted another with empty bases to put the game on ice.

Fine pitching by Dazzy Vance and Joe Shauts, who beat the Phils for the fourth time this year, did the rest. The dazzler was forced out in the ninth inning of the first game when Pinky Whitney's drive hit him in the face.

The double victory enabled Brooklyn to exchange places with the Phils, jumping from seventh place to fifth while the idle Pittsburgh Pirates remained in sixth.

This twin bill was the only action in the National League as the clubs moved back to their home sectors after the end of the season's first inter-sectional series. Two games were scheduled in the American League, Detroit playing at St. Louis and Chicago at Cleveland, but rain halted both.

Battalino Wins Another Decision

New York, May 23.—(AP)—Christopher (Bat) Battalino of Hartford, Conn., still wore the royal mantle that belongs to a world's featherweight champion today but it fitted him no better than it did the first day he donned it.

An under-dog in the betting, Battalino walked off with the decision over Fidel LaBarba of Los Angeles in Madison Square Garden last night after 15 rounds of as dull and uninteresting fighting as the garden has seen.

Even in victory, Battalino at no time flashed the sort of form that has come to be associated with champions. He chased LaBarba all around the ring but wasn't exactly sure what to do with him once he overtook him.

In justice to the champion, however, it must be said that he tried to make a fight of it. He forced what fighting there was but his own awkwardness contrived to hinder the effectiveness of his attack.

OLD DISPUTE UNSETTLED IN THE PIEDMONT

By PAUL SIMMONS
Charlotte, May 23.—(AP)—The ancient dispute of whether the old Sally League was a faster loop than the Piedmont circuit is just as jumbled now as it ever was.

In fact, the question probably never will be definitely settled, but it at least ought to fire some of the old Piedmont members that are now down the column in the standings to brace up and show the fans a thing or two.

On the basis of the standings to date in the all-North Carolina cigarette circle, the odds are slightly in favor of the late-lamented Sally. The Charlotte Bees, who finished down the line last year in the Sally are now leading the Piedmont parade by a half game.

The Asheville nine, which crossed the mark in the first half of the last Fall crusade just ahead of the Bees, is monopolizing third place in the Piedmont.

There is something funny about the whole situation. The Raleigh Caps, who wound up in the Piedmont last year next to the cellar, are now in second place, hot on the heels of the Hornets in the race for the lead.

The Durham Bulls, winners of the 1930 pennant in a play-off with Henderson, are in the pit. The Gamecocks, up in fourth position, are doing a little better.

But, the moguls of the lagging teams cry, the season is still in its swaddling clothes. "We'll show 'em something yet." And that's what the fans want—some zippy-zip baseball.

Yesterday, insofar as Jupe Pluvius didn't interfere, it was the same old story. The Hornets, picked up from the Sally, trounced the Greensboro Pats 8 to 4 at Charlotte.

Asheville's Tourists, the other nine that came in out of the Sally wreck hopped on Durham at Asheville for a 6 to 5 win.

Henderson at High Point and Raleigh at Winston were rained out.
