On Thursday evening, of next week in the high school auditorium the senior class will present their class day program. Friday morning at 9:30 in the high school auditorium the graduates of the seventh grade will be received into the high school.

The final event of graduation week will take place Friday evening, June 5, in the Campus building of East Carolina Teachers College. At that time Dr. William L. Poteat, president emeritus of Wake Forest, will deliver the annual commencement address. Following the address of Dr. Poteat will be the awarding of diplomas and the awarding of honors.

The senior class this year number seventy seven, and while it is not as large as the class of 87 last year it is still one of the record classes of the school.

One of the features of the commencement this year will be the awarding on Friday evening of the Beech Distinguished Service Cup. This cup was given by the last year's graduating class, and is to be awarded each year to a member of the graduating class on the following basis:

Academic grades, attendance and punctuality, merit credit standing, honors conferred such as: member of varsity athletic team, captain of varsity athletic team, president of class, member of play caste, member of band, orchestra or Glee club, manager of any school organization or publication etc.—personality, popularity with students and faculty, school spirit.

The Greenville school has received an unusual number of honors this year from different sources and this leads the school administrators to believe that the closing year is the best the Greenville school has ever known.

Sigmon Exonerated In Death of Youth

Bryce Sigmon, Greenville man, was exonerated of blame in connection with the death of Claude Smith, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Smith of Grimesland, who died early Friday morning as result of injuries sustained when he was hit by a car driven by Sigmon while playing on the highway in front of his home at Grimesland Tuesday.

Inquest into the accident was Acting Coroner A. A. Elwanger yesterday and the jury declared that the accident was unavoidable.

The youth was riding a bicycle and was going in the same direction as the car driven by Sigmon. The youngster suddenly swerved his bicycle directly across the road in the path of the approaching car, and the subsequent accident was described as unavoidable.

Funeral services for the youth were conducted from the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Baker, at Washington, this morning at 11 o'clock by Rev. Mr. Glass, pastor of the First Methodist Church. Burial was made in the Oakdale cemetery at Washington.

American Soldier Dead Honored by Ceremonies Both Here And Abroad

By Associated Press
America's soldier and sailor dead were honored today in ceremonies here and abroad.

At Valley Forge, Pa., where Washington's men suffered during the bitter winter of 1777-78, President Hoover told an assemblage that the nation is passing through another Valley Forge of depression from which it can emerge only through the "inventiveness, the resourcefulness, the initiative of every one of us."

At Gettysburg Vice-President Curtis urged rededication of the United States to its constitution and its laws.

In Washington an army air armada took part in ceremonies at Arlington cemetery.

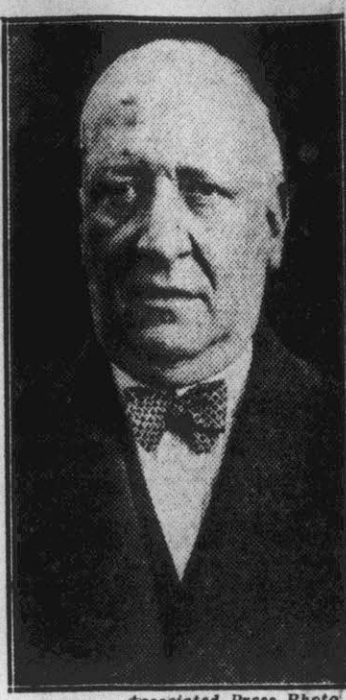

The day was widely celebrated abroad.

Ambassador Edge, speaking at Suresnes cemetery, near Paris, pleaded for a policy of conciliation in seeking a better world. He paid tribute to the friendship of France and the United States—a friendship "twice sealed in the blood of heroes."

The party of American mayors touring France attended ceremonies in Belleau Wood cemetery. The principal eulogy was delivered by Mayor R. E. Thomason, of El Paso, Texas, who broke down in the midst of his speech. Fifteen gold star mothers were present.

PRES. HOOVER IS SPEAKER AT VALLEY FORGE

Delivers Memorial Day Address In Honor of American War Dead

Valley Forge, Pa., May 30.—(AP)—President Hoover today portrayed another Valley Forge of depression which can be overcome only through the "inventiveness, the resourcefulness, the initiative of everyone of us."

On the ground, where George Washington and his men suffered bitter deprivations in the winter of 1777-78 before those very words stimulated their fight for freedom, the President said, in a Memorial Day address:

"The American people are going through another Valley Forge at this time. To each and every one of us it is an hour of unusual stress and trial. You have each your own special cause of anxiety. So, too, have I."

He expressed the conviction that no one who reviews the past "can doubt that this, like a score of similar experiences in our history, is but a passing trial."

He warned, however, against the "rosy path to every panacea" as a way out of depression and scouted the claim that "the source of all wisdom is in the government."

"We are still fighting this war of independence," he asserted. "We know that the source of wisdom is in the people; that the people can win anew the victory."

"Out of valley forges of individual and national careers, he said, are born new insights, new sympathies, new powers, and new skill."

"Sirens still sing the song of difficulty," the President said, "but the common sense of the common man, the inherited tradition of an independent and self-reliant race, the historical memories of Americans who glory in Valley Forge even as they glory in Yorktown—all these tell us the truth for which our nation stands."

Steamer Runs Aground During Blinding Fog On Coast Of California

Santa Barbara, Cal., May 30.—(AP)—The coastwise steamer Harvard, with about 500 excursionists aboard, went aground in a blinding fog off Rocky Point Arguello, 65 miles from here, at 3:30 a. m. today and six hours later in a calm sea passengers were being transferred safely to the naval cruiser Louisville.

Reports to officials of the Los Angeles Steamship Company, owners of the vessel, said there were no casualties and the passengers were under perfect control.

The plight of the Harvard was flashed in SOS messages. Three United States coast guard cutters, two other steamers, the San Anselmo and the Marsadick, and the new naval cruiser Louisville, running speed tests off Los Angeles Harbor, sped to the scene.

The Louisville arrived at 7:50 a. m. In a radio message, Capt. Edward J. Marquart said:

"Arrived 7:50 a. m. Standing by picking up passengers at once. Sea calm and visibility good."

At 9:10 a. m. the Louisville sent another reassuring message:

"Taking on passengers rapidly. No cause for fear. Passengers seem to be cheerful."

The Harvard was bound from San Francisco to Los Angeles and was due in the southern port at 10 a. m. today.

Although exact details had not been radioed, officials of the company said they understood the Harvard was grounded on a sandy spot. (Continued on page four)

FINALS BEGIN AT TEACHERS COLLEGE HERE

Hundred and Seventy-Three Young Women to Receive Diplomas Monday

East Carolina Teachers College began its twenty-second commencement with the annual musical recital on Friday evening in the Social Religious building. The program as carried out proved that there is much musical ability on the campus.

Today at 10:30 the Alumnae business meeting was held in the Austin building, followed at 1:00 o'clock by the annual Alumnae banquet in the new dining hall. President Wright made the dinner address to the assembled Alumnae and outgoing graduating classes.

At 5:45 o'clock this afternoon the Class Day exercises, the work of the two year normal and A. B. graduates of 1931, was held on West campus. This evening was left open for the various social meetings of the incoming Alumnae.

Dr. W. A. Harper, president of Elon College, will preach the commencement sermon at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. It will be a privilege both for the townspeople and the college women to hear Dr. Harper.

The Vesper service, the farewell of the Young Women's Christian Association for 1931 will be given on West campus at 6:00 o'clock Sunday evening. The Y. W. C. A. has been a strong factor on the college campus this year.

The final activity of commencement will be held on Monday morning at 10:30 at which time the college is signally honored in having for its commencement speaker Dr. J. Y. Joyner, one of North Carolina's greatest educators and the man for whom the college library derives its name. At 11:30 the graduates will receive their diplomas, representative of 173 more well-trained individuals who are to go forth in the educational field of North Carolina.

At the board meeting on Thursday, May 28, the graduates were passed upon. Other matters of importance were dealt with concerning the affairs of the college. The year 1931 marks a decided leap forward in the history of East Carolina Teachers College. Shrubbery has been planted over the entire campus, thus adding advantageously to the attractiveness of the institution. This year has seen the completion of several new buildings on the campus as well as the construction of a beautiful lake and park on East campus. Much good work has been manifested on the part of teachers and pupils, and Dr. Wright seems very pleased with the growth of the college that has grown to womanhood under his excellent and far-reaching presidency.

- Martha Whitehurst, Mary Adams, Lamine Baker, Grace Bazemore, Beatrice Boyd, Anna Clark, Lucile Cole, Bertha Cooper, Pratt Covington, Emma Jean Cox, Mary Ella Cutler, Virginia Davis, Grace Gardner, Lela Gordon, Josephine Grant, Rena Grant, Ester Mae Griffin, Helen Griffin, Elizabeth Griffin, Veria Griffin, Bessie Grissom, Sadie Harrell, Josie Harrison, Maggie Hill, Annie Laurie Hunt, Kathleen Johnson, Zulme Johnson, Olive Jones, Ferry Lane Knox, Marion Langley, Beulah Lassiter, Della Lawrence, Roland Lewis, Beulah Mayo, Alma McGinnis, Mabel Moore, Irene Mizelle, Helen Mosley, Ella Nesbit, Letha Newton, Laura Overton, Addis Pinnell, Ruth Pittman, Willie Powell, Abigail Roberts, Lela Brown Stancill, Ruby Stewart, Miranda Strickland, Mildred Stroud Gladys Swindell, Florence Taff, Hannah Turnage, Nancy Usher, Margaret Vick, Viola Walker, Emma Watson, Mildred Whitehurst, Elva Lois Whitley, Doris Woodard, Lucile Yelverton, Myrtle Kuykendall, Margaret Allen, Lida Allbrook, Ethel Anderson, Miriam Ausubel, Edith Ausley, Annie Ruth Baker, Lila Mae Barbour, Irene Barnes, Elizabeth Bell, Mary Baxter Bell, Louise Biggs, Inez Bissette, Helen Blackmore, Mildred Boney, Viola Boyce Dola Britt, Kathleen Brown, Doris Burnette Edna Burney, Lela Cahoon, Olive Casey, Annie Lynn Cash, Annie Mae Cherry, Margaret Cole, Treva Collins, Elizabeth Conley, Virginia Cooper, Katie Corbett, Mary Wye Davenport, Annie Mae Davis, Estelle Dees, Sara Edmondson, Kathleen Ellis, Lois Ennis, Anne Estes, Ruby Felton, Ruth Fidler, Sarah Friesheitz, Janie Belle Fitzgerald, Lilla Mae Floyd, Lucille Floyd, Elizabeth Forester, Willard Moore Punderford, Eloise Gallup, Mary Emma Gaskins, Leona Goss, Jessie Griggs, Martha Griggs, Kathleen Guard, Alice Hackett, Mabel Hassell, Lucile Hazlip, Katherine Hall, Bessie Hancock, Helen Hand, Ruby Harper, Mary Harrell, Priscilla Harris, Adelaide Hicks, Myrtle Hill, Elizabeth Hobbs, Mae Hobbs, Mary Hooker, Frances Hopkins, Gertrude House, Bettie White House, Ruby Hughes, Wilma Jarvis, H. ## PLAN MISSION FOR TEACHING

Episcopalians Begin Laying Plans for a South - Wide Movement Next Fall

Rev. W. A. Lillycrop, rector of St. Paul's church, has returned to Greenville from Charlotte where he spent the week attending a regional conference of the Episcopal church. Through this conference there met a group of the leaders of the Episcopal church in the south to lay plans for a great teaching mission which is to be held in the entire south next fall.

The movement has been designated "The Teaching Mission on the Great Commission." It is an attempt to bring to the members of the Episcopal church a more intimate knowledge of what the church is doing to carry out our Lord's orders: "Go ye therefore and teach all nations..." It is an attempt to arouse the Episcopal church to deeper prayer life for the spread of Christ's kingdom; it is a movement to urge members of the Episcopal church to stewardship that will mean a vision of adequate and permanent giving for the spread of Christ's ministry of the Gospel over the world; and finally it is a challenge to individuals of the Episcopal church to offer their lives to the living Christ in service in the mission and home fields.

Greenville is to have an important part in the launching of this mission in East Carolina. The Episcopal clergy of the whole of East Carolina will gather in St. Paul's church here in October under the leadership of Bishop Thomas C. Darst and other national leaders of the Episcopal church for several days of instruction in the launching of the mission.

Rev. W. A. Lillycrop has been appointed one of the "forerunners" of the movement and will go to different parts of the south to prepare churches for the mission.

HONOR WORLD WAR DEAD HERE

Legion Places Flowers On Graves of Buddies In Different Parts County

Greenville and Pitt county people joined the remainder of the nation today in paying tribute to the World War dead.

While there were no formal exercises in connection with Memorial day, the graves of the dead soldiers were decorated by committees from the Pitt County Post of the American Legion and its auxiliary.

Although scattered in widely separated areas throughout the county, the grave of each of the veterans was visited and a wreath of flowers placed upon it in memory of the sacrifices which he made in behalf of civilization.

Flags danced merrily in the breeze along the streets in the principal business district, and the postoffice was closed in observance of the day.

Owing to the fact that the occasion came on Saturday, the busiest day of the week, all public buildings and business houses, except the postoffice, were open.

The Legionnaires have made it a custom to visit the graves of the war dead on Memorial day, and every effort was made not to miss a single grave.

The list of names of the dead is compiled by the Legion each year, and it has grown considerably since the first decoration program was carried out. Approximately thirty graves were visited by the Legion today, nine of which were in Greenville.

CIVIL COURT CLOSES HERE

Two-Week Term Adjourned Yesterday After Handling Over Forty Cases

The civil term of Pitt County Superior court, which has been in progress in this city the last two weeks, was brought to a close yesterday afternoon after disposing of approximately forty cases.

There will be no further sessions of Superior court until the latter part of August.

Judge W. A. Devin, of Oxford, presided over the term and was highly commended for his effort in attempting to speed up action. The judge has held court in Pitt county a number of times during the last several years, and is considered one of the most impartial men on the bench.

The case that prevented the court from disposing of more actions was that of J. L. Harrington against directors of the defunct Bank of Ayden, which closed its doors several years ago. Harrington was suing for a deposit which he claimed to have placed in the bank at a time when officials knew it to be in an insolvent condition.

The directors contended they had no knowledge of the insolvency of the institution and introduced considerable testimony to bear out this fact.

The plaintiff lost his case, the jury returning a decision that the bank was not insolvent at the time the deposit was made.

It was the second case of the kind to be heard against the directors, the first having been tried several months ago, resulting in nonsuit following failure of the plaintiff to produce sufficient evidence.

The directors are faced by nine other charges of a similar nature, involving sums that will reach into several hundreds of dollars in the aggregate.

CROWLEY TO GO TO CHAIR

Killer Pummeled by Police During Excitement After Trial At Mineola

Mineola, N. Y., May 30.—(AP)—Francis Crowley, 19, convicted of murdering a Long Island policeman today was in jail awaiting mandatory sentence Monday to the electric chair.

District Attorney Edwards posted a strong guard at the jail because of excitement in the courtroom when police, fearing the 100-pound killer was trying to escape, pummeled him after the jury returned its verdict yesterday.

A policeman pulled him away from his foster-mother, whom he attempted to kiss when the jury was dismissed. He was handcuffed to a deputy sheriff at the time. Crowley, angered by the treatment, lunged at the policeman.

Mrs. Crowley and her daughter screamed. The guard, thinking Crowley's hand was against his pistol, yelled, "He's got my gun." A dozen policemen who had been guarding the doors and windows rushed to the spot. Crowley was thrown to the floor and beaten. Finally the deputy sheriff insisted the policemen leave Crowley in his care. Judge Smith had gone to his chambers when the excitement started.

Crowley, still chewing gum, was led away to the Nassau county jail through a subterranean passage. An extra guard was ordered immediately, to remain until Crowley is removed to Sing Sing after execution is pronounced Monday. Execution will await review of the case by the Court of Appeals.

Taylor Succeeds Judge Townsend as Executive Counsel

Raleigh, May 30.—(AP)—Tye C. Taylor, of Raleigh and Charlotte today was named executive counsel to succeed Judge N. A. Townsend and Edwin M. Gill of Laurinburg, and was appointed private secretary to Governor Gardner to succeed Mr. Taylor.

The announcement of the appointments was given out from the governor's office in his absence. He is spending several days at his home in Shelby for a much needed rest, it was said at the office.

Mr. Taylor has been private secretary to the governor since the beginning of his administration in 1929. Prior to that time he practiced law in Charlotte. He was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1921 and received his master's degree from the same institution in 1922. He was principal of the high school at Windsor for two years and then studied law at Harvard.

Mr. Gill represented Scotland county in the 1929 General Assembly as well as in the legislature which adjourned this week. He was twice a sponsor of short ballot bills seeking a reorganization of the state government and was one of the authors of the bill before the 1931 Assembly to provide for closer supervision and regulation of public utility companies.

Morganton, N. C.—(AP)—Miss Katherine Mallory, of Birmingham, Ala., corresponding secretary of the Southern Missionary Union, will speak here June 16 before the Morganton Woman's Baptist Missionary Union.

MUSIC NIGHT ENJOYED HERE

Kiwians Entertained By One of the Most Delightful Programs of Year

It was music night with members of the Greenville Kiwanis club last night and one of the most delightful programs of the year was rendered under direction of C. B. Rowler and Mrs. Ray Tyson, Jr.

President J. J. Summerfield presided over the session and the usual supper was enjoyed. The program of the next meeting will be in charge of J. F. Harrington.

Ed Hearne, Greenville young man, who has been in the vaudeville business in New York the last several years, entertained the Kiwanians with three comedy skits. His impersonation of the village gossip, the modern five and ten cent store girl that caused her audience to twinkle as if by magic and a radio version of an illicit love affair, scored a direct hit. Effectively costuming himself to conform with each act, Hearne proved to be an actor of exceptional merit and showed conclusively how a young man from a country town is able to go to the greatest metropolis of the nation and find himself a permanent place in the stage circles.

Ben Herring, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Herring, who won second place in the state-wide music contest held at Greensboro several months ago, sang a solo number with such ease and grace that he was given tumultuous applause. He also rendered an encore number that elicited as much applause as the first.

A quartette composed of Rev. E. L. Hillman, B. B. Sugg, George Woodward and G. V. Smith was called on for a number and when they had finished the director of the program pronounced the effort as "rotten." The number chosen by the singers was "Wait Till the Sun Shines Nellie" but the sun did not rise and Nellie probably is still waiting for the song to be completed.

Mrs. Charles White concluded the program with two delightful solo numbers. She was heartily applauded at the expiration of the program. Each number dealt with something about love, and while most of the Kiwanians have passed the amorous stage, they still remember the days when they went a-courting and the effect which songs of love had in their young lives, and the two numbers sang in Mrs. White's matchless style found a receptive place in their hearts.

TO TALK SALE OF GAS PLANT

Aldermen Call Special Session for Tuesday to Consider Purchase of Local Plant

A special session of the Board of Aldermen has been called for next Tuesday night at 8 o'clock to consider the purchase of the gas plant here, formerly operated by the Carolina Gas & Electric Company, which recently completed negotiations for sale of the plant to the Tidewater Power Company.

The city sold the franchise to the Carolina Gas & Electric Company several years ago with the understanding that in case they should ever desire to sell, the city of Greenville should be given the refusal of the plant.

Some time ago the aldermen were notified that the company was contemplating sale of the plant, and were asked if they wished to take any action in the matter. The aldermen asked the company to furnish them figures regarding the enterprise and the price. Some delay was occasioned in the preparation of the figures, but they were received several days ago.

The company wants $100,000 for the plant, it was stated, and has already completed arrangements for transfer to the Tidewater Power Company, in case the city does not care to buy. Announcement of the sale of several gas concerns in this section to the Tidewater Power Company was made several days ago, and while Greenville was included among the number it was stated that sale of this plant was completed pending action of the city of Greenville.

The purpose of the meeting Tuesday evening is to sound out public sentiment concerning the purchase of the plant. It was expected that the city hall would be packed to capacity by both proponents and opponents of the proposed sale, but it is hoped by the aldermen to be able to reach some definite decision in the matter so they will know what course of action to pursue.

On a recent evening, Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Britt delightfully entertained complimentary to Miss Anna McNeil, of the Kinston city school faculty, whose marriage to Mr. Vann Humphrey, of Fayetteville, takes place at the home of Miss McNeil at Niagara Falls, N. Y., during the month of August.

The guests, upon arrival, were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Britt and invited into the yard, which had been most effectively arranged for a dinner party, dinner being served buffet style. After the dinner the guests assembled in the home which was beautifully decorated with sweet peas and snapdragons, the color scheme of pink and green everywhere predominating. Bridge was played at four tables, and at the conclusion of the game an ice cream course was served.

Miss McNeil was presented with a Bride's Book, a gift of Mrs. Ashley Whitehead, mother of Mrs. Britt, while the hosts remembered her with beautiful lingerie. Top score for ladies was won by Mrs. G. C. Andrews, while the top honor for men went to Mr. O. L. Whitehead, the consolation prizes being presented to Miss Kathleen Thomason and Mr. C. M. Brickhouse.

CLUB MEMBERS VISIT HISTORIC SPOTS IN VIRGINIA

The End of the Century Club was delightfully entertained this week, in Suffolk, Va., by Mrs. J. L. Woodley. The club was invited by Mrs. Woodley to be her guest in Suffolk and to make a pilgrimage to some of Virginia's historic spots, and to see the Scotch broom while in bloom.

Eight members of the club left Wednesday afternoon and motored to Suffolk, reaching there at 6:30. Later Mrs. Woodley served a most delightful supper, and bridge was played in the evening. The next morning the members of the club and Suffolk friends motored to Williamsburg, and there Miss Lillian Woodley arranged that passes be given the party to permit them to go into some of the buildings that are being restored by the Rockefeller Foundation. Bruton Parish Church and the Wythehouse, two of the most interesting places there, were also visited.

A pilgrimage was then made to Jamestown, and sometime spent there.

The party returned to Williamsburg and had lunch at an old inn, where the entire atmosphere was Early American.

Yorktown was the next place to be visited, and some time was spent at the Nelson House, national cemetery and at the statue commemorating the surrender of Cornwallis. The party returned to Suffolk and leaving their hosts and friends, came on to Greenville.

It was a delightful trip; the Scotch broom massed on the hillside, and along the road will long be remembered, the feeling of reverence and awe for some of the early American history will never be forgotten; the charming courtesy of Mrs. Woodley in inviting the club to her home, and in making the entire trip possible through her interest and perfect planning, and in the kind assistance of her daughter, Lillian, will always be outstanding in the annals of the club history.

GLOOMY DEAN SEES UTOPIA FOR ENGLAND

Hopes That in Thousand Years Country Will Be Free of the Vexing Problems

London, May 30.—(AP)—The Very Rev. William Ralph Inge, "gloomy dean" of St. Paul's Cathedral, hopes that in a thousand years England will be a land in which there are neither rumors of war nor politics nor disease nor crime nor many clothes.

In fact, he told the Royal Institution last night, "If we want it there will in 3,000 A. D. be a population of only 20,000,000, living mostly in towns and villages, physical perfection will be the hallmark of social prestige, national taxation will be almost nil, hours of labor will be at a minimum, radio will be the principal method of education—but the common cold still will be a menace.

This vision of a Utopia was introduced into a scientific lecture, he said, "chiefly in self protection, because there is a legend, quite without foundation, that I am fond of finding fault with society as it is without having anything better to suggest in place of it."

No persons are allowed to have children without certificates of bodily and mental fitness," he said continuing his forecasts. "But since inheritance and mental defects have been almost eradicated and since there is no recklessly breeding submerged class, very little interbreeding with personal liberty is necessary.

"Physical perfection is cultivated and a rational costume for both sexes—cheap, becoming and scanty, at least for the young—enables beauty to be recognized in the body as well as in the face. The ordinary male dress is a tunic, over which a cloak may be thrown in cold weather. In summer sunbathing is encouraged and no idea of indecency is attached to it.

"War has been entirely abolished and all tariff walls. The nations of the world remain distinct and independent but their emulation is friendly, like that of the countries of cricket or the public schools. Since there are no wars, no army or navy, no national debt, no foreign policies and no dyes or class-bribery by taxation, the functions of the central government are almost nominal."

Other predictions were: There are no lawyers. Crime is very rare and is never punished by imprisonment. Wireless (radio) has partially superseded lectures and concerts. Distant lands may be visited during a week-end by airplane.

ranking prelates, each accompanied by two canons, trod their solemn way through the streets of Rouen in full ecclesiastical regalia, before crowds of men who bared their heads, and women who made the sign of the cross.

Six Cardinals, in "cappa magna" or ceremonial capes, led the line of march.

After speeches by the Mayor of Rouen, and other dignitaries the procession wended its way to the Boislieu bridge by the side of the Seine. Great bouquets of the May flowers of Normandy were reverently thrown into the river—the grave of the martyred maid—to atone for the scattering of her ashes by the executioners in 1431.

Speed Departure of Submarine for Journey North

New London, Conn., May 29.—(AP)—Efforts were made today toward a speedy departure for the submarine Nautilus, in which Sir Hubert Wilkins hopes to reach the North Pole by plunging under the Arctic ice.

A shoal water dive for test of new apparatus is planned for tomorrow morning. Then the submarine will be fueled for departure.

Departure of the converted government submarine has been speeded up because Sir Hubert is anxious to reach Spitzbergen by July 15 to complete his Pole journey during the Arctic summer.

It is hoped to have the boat fueled by midnight Saturday or Sunday noon. A deep sea dive is planned off Provincetown, Mass., before the boat starts across the Atlantic.

Commencement Begins at Salem

Winston-Salem, N. C., May 30.—(AP)—Salem College, one of the oldest educational institutions for women in the south, today began celebration of its 160th commencement.

An Alumnae luncheon, followed by the senior class play this afternoon and presentation of "The Creation," a concert, tonight opened the graduation exercises.

Immediately after the concert, the Rev. Howard E. Rondthaler, president, will entertain at a reception for seniors and members of 11 classes which are holding reunions.

Scramble in the Piedmont League

Charlotte, May 30.—(AP)—Day by day, the scramble for the Piedmont League adjourn is getting more interesting.

Fast baseball, coupled with spectacular and sometimes unexpected happenings are packing the old loop with one thrill after the other.

Perhaps the first thing that ought to be mentioned is the conquest of the up and coming Greensboro "Pats" over the Tourists last night at Asheville. The Kamemen bumped Kennedy and his bunch off the third place position with a 9 to 7 victory and took possession of the nook themselves.

Smut Smith and Frank Mellans knocked homers for the Tourists, but that didn't do any good, for the Pats were out to win. The visitors, however, no doubt will be hard put to hold their advantage in the double header today.

Just as classy as Greensboro's achievement was the victory of the cellarite Durham Bulls over the once league leader Charlotte Hornets (now in second place) at Durham. George Whitted finally got his old machine clicking and bounced the Bees for a 4 to 2 triumph.

While all these things were happening, the Raleigh Caps, holding high the league banner, were moving on like a steam roller. Strain sent Al Yeargin out to do mound duty, and the Caps downed the High Point Pointers, 4 to 3, before a Raleigh crowd. It was Yeargin's sixth victory of the season, and the eighth straight win for the Caps.

Bridge Party.
A delightful bridge party was given by Mrs. Jack Brown at her home on Summit street Friday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Marvin Honeycutt, a recent bride. Spring flowers in varying shades of pink and rose decorated throughout the house. Six tables of bridge were attractively arranged. After several progressions of bridge, the table prizes were awarded to Mrs. L. B. Tucker, Mrs. Nash Joyner, Mrs. Dunn, Mrs. Beatty, Mrs. Hugh Blount and Mrs. Henry W. Martin. High score prize was awarded to Mrs. John Murphy and low score prize to Mrs. Walter E. Smith. The bride was given a novelty ash tray.

A delicious salad course was served by Mrs. Brown to the following guests: Mrs. Marvin Honeycutt, Mrs. L. B. Tucker, Mrs. Ben Robertson, Mrs. G. C. Honeycutt, Mrs. Roy Lassiter, Mrs. A. F. James, Mrs. Milo Smith, Mrs. Nash Joyner, Mrs. John Murphy, Mrs. E. F. Tucker, Mrs. W. E. Smith, Mrs. Hugh Blount, Mrs. Ben Wilson, Mrs. Henry Martin, Mrs. M. E. # In League With The Babies

When little girls wore copper-toed boots and tight-waisted dresses and little boys wore kilts—what of the babies? Swathed in yards of clothes. Scrubbed with unknown soaps. Few of them expected to live during the dreaded second summer. Many of them suffering countless ailments because nobody knew what to do.

A glance back only a generation or so is enough to reveal how fortunate babies are today. Now there are soft, cool soaps . . . every aid in food that care and knowledge can prepare . . . sensible, light little clothes . . . and such knowledge of sanitation and control of disease that every little baby should live and grow.

Mothers are indebted to advertisements for their news of these nursery aids . . . just as they are indebted for news of fascinating menus, fadeless curtains, sprightly dinnerware. Constantly, ways are being devised to make life happier, more comfortable for baby, the whole family. Laboratories clean and bright are scenes of goods being tested—being made safe and pure. When the testing is over, the perfecting done—advertisements hasten the goods to you.

No longer marvel (the next time you buy something widely known) at how fresh, immaculate, fine it is. These are qualities you can be sure of in buying advertised merchandise . . . qualities you must be sure of in buying for the health of babies, children, any one.

It is surprising how timely and vital the news in advertisements can be! Read them regularly.
