NATION SUMS UP POSITION ON WAR DEBT

Secretary Mellon Presents French Negotiators With New Memorandum.

Paris, July 6.—(AP)—An official communique issued this evening said the French cabinet had approved the text of a basis of accord between France and the United States.

The Franco-American conversations were postponed until later in the evening in order that the participants might have dinner. Mr. Mellon and Mr. Edge left the ministry of the interior together, intending to return as soon as they had dined.

Paris, July 6.—(AP)—Secretary Andrew W. Mellon today gave the French negotiators a new memorandum summing up the entire American position regarding President Hoover's moratorium proposals. The document was regarded as so important that Premier Laval requested time to consult his entire cabinet, promising to give Mr. Mellon his answer later.

(Washington, July 6.—(AP)—Seeking a direct way out of the tangle of technical discussion on the Hoover moratorium proposal, the American government proposed to France today that the two governments simply announce their agreement in principle, and leave the details to experts.

At the same time Acting Secretary Castle of the State Department gave to the world a reassurance that the points remaining in dispute were not regarded here as seriously threatening final success.

The United States has no doubt, Castle said in a statement, that the moratorium will become effective. President Hoover, who interrupted his week-end at the Rapidan camp to hurry back to Washington yesterday and resume his conference with Castle and others on the moratorium proposal, has felt that delay and uncertainty would seriously detract from the effect of the plan on the world economic situation.

It is the hope of officials here that these uncertainties may be taken out of the picture quickly by the method now proposed.

Three Arrested In Chicago Bombing

Chicago, July 6.—(AP)—An apartment house owner and two others were held by police today as they investigated the bombing of an elevated terminal.

The depot at Howard street was slightly damaged by a bomb with an 18-foot fuse yesterday. Two other bombs, with fuses still burning, were discovered by investigating authorities. The fuses were extinguished with buckets of water.

The first to be arrested was John Graff, 43, owner of a 38-flat building near the terminal. He readily admitted, police said, that he often complained about the noise made by cars being switched in the depot, but denied any knowledge of the bombing.

The others, held for questioning, were George Bauer, janitor in the building, and Alfred Nelson, janitor in a nearby building.

French Order Deportation Of Radical Leader

Paris, July 6.—(AP)—Alexander Berkman, deported from the United States for radical activities, faces expulsion from France after three months.

The government has issued an order for his deportation but has granted him a suspension in order to investigate his conduct more thoroughly. He has been living in Montparnasse for some time, while his former associate has been staying on the French Riviera.

He denied he had been dabbling in political affairs and insisted France had no reason to order him from the country.

"When any French government feels it is about to fall," he said, "they renew my order of suspension. Now that Pierre Laval's cabinet seems destined to stay I am likely to stay, too."

HEAVY RAIN AIDS CROPS

Two Days of Showers Worth Million Dollars to Pitt County Farmers.

The rainfall during the last two days was worth a million dollars to the farmers of this county, in the opinion of prominent agricultural leaders. The precipitation, observers stated, was general throughout the county, and crops which had begun to suffer considerably from the lack of moisture, were given a new lease on life.

The first rain came Saturday, but did not reach any considerable proportion until Saturday night when the precipitation continued for several hours. This was followed by intermittent showers Sunday which will give the plants sufficient moisture to speed them on their way to maturity.

While damage to mature plants is believed to be irreparable, belief was expressed by experts that remainder of the crop would recover from the long days of parching sun, and that the situation would show a distinct improvement in the next several days. A few more days of the intense heat without rain, it was stated, would have resulted in more than a million dollar loss to the tobacco growers alone.

The putting in of tobacco, which got under way on a small scale about two weeks ago, was expected to be slightly delayed by the showers of the last two days, but was expected to reach its peak between now and the 15th of the month.

By the middle of July, it was said, the tobacco curing process was expected to be under full sway in all parts of the county as hundreds of growers get their offerings in readiness for marketing by September 1.

The Pitt County tobacco crop was one of the finest looking in years prior to the advent of the abnormally hot weather about two weeks ago. Due to the lack of moisture, wide acres of plants became dry and spotted, and farmers began watching the skies in hope that rain would bring relief before the entire crop was destroyed.

In the downpours Saturday night and Sunday they saw the salvation of the crop situation in this district, and barring unexpected developments, hope to be able to make a good crop out of that portion which escaped damage from the scorching temperatures.

MARK TIME IN BALLARD CASE

Investigation of New Developments in Case Continued with Unabated Zeal

Investigation was continued today in the Ballard case but up to the noon hour no additional developments had been reported.

The case was virtually at a standstill over the week-end as legal representatives joined the rest of the nation in the celebration of the Fourth of July, but with the advent of another work week today investigation of new developments of the case continued with unabated zeal.

The safety deposit box, which Mrs. Ballard rented in a Wilson bank under an assumed name, was opened last Friday morning under court order and revealed contents of $6,660.

The money was ordered changed to an entirely new box, and the keys were placed in the hands of the sheriff of Wilson county awaiting later developments in the case.

Edward Warren, assistant cashier of the First National Bank of Wilson, in which the box was rented, testified before J. Frank Harrington, clerk of Superior court here last Thursday afternoon, and related facts in connection with Mrs. Ballard's visit to the bank and her request for secrecy in the case. He said she was accompanied by a police officer, and also told of Mrs. Ballard's attempt to enter the safety deposit box after papers of attachment had been issued by the court.

Seizing of the deposit box is an aftermath to the conviction and sentencing to prison of Elmer Whitley and Rodney Cox for the alleged holdup and robbery of Mrs. Ballard shortly after the Christmas holidays last year. Both men were remanded to jail following their conviction in the April term of court and only recently were able to gain their freedom when their bonds were lowered by the court.

The new turn to the case developed about a week ago when it was discovered that Mrs. Ballard had rented a safety deposit box at Wilson. Elmer Whitley filed notice of suit for $5,000 against Mrs. Ballard and this was followed by seizure of the box through an order of attachment. The entire significance of the case, was centered around the contents of the box, and the public is watching expectantly today to see what new angle the finding of the money would bring forth.

MANY ACCEPT CELEBRATION INVITATIONS

About 1,000 Persons Expected to Attend Giant Barbecue Here July 15th.

Over three hundred invitations have been accepted by prominent men throughout the state to attend the celebration and barbecue dinner to be given in honor of the three Pitt county legislators at the Country club here July 15. It was announced today through the central committee.

About a thousand persons are expected to attend the celebration which will be one of the most unique of its kind ever held in this part of the state. The prime object of the occasion is to honor Senator M. K. Blount and Representatives E. G. Flanagan and J. W. Holmes, members of the last General Assembly from this county, for the conspicuous part which they played in the passage of far-reaching legislation.

Among the principal speakers, the program committee announced several days ago, will be Hon. Josephus Daniels, of Raleigh, Hon. Lindsay Warren, of Washington, congressman of this district and Rivers D. Johnson, of Duplin; one of the leading figures in the legislature. Several other prominent men will appear on the program, scheduled to begin in the morning and to be concluded with a dance in the evening.

C. B. Rowlett, secretary of the Merchants Association, sponsor of the occasion, stated this morning that township committees had responded admirably to the call for funds with which to defray expenses of the celebration. He said all committees had been requested to file a report on contributions and guests they have personally invited by tomorrow night.

Although the Merchants Association is sponsoring the event, it is being financed by people in all townships of the county who have been given a chance to participate in order that the celebration might be made as near county-wide as possible. Persons desiring to contribute to the cause are requested to confer with members of the various township committees as early as they can conveniently do so.

OCEAN TIDE KILLS TWENTY

Tragedy Overtakes Swimmers Along California Beaches During Fourth.

Los Angeles, July 6.—(AP)—A possible death toll of 20 persons was charged today to rip tide which swept beaches in this area over the week-end.

As the holiday crowds, numbering hundreds of thousands, spread along nearly 50 miles of winding seacoast, life guards kept a close watch for bodies which may have been swirled out by the ocean-wave currents and later released to be carried back to shore.

Seventeen persons were listed as having perished in the tides Saturday, although not all of their bodies had been recovered. This heavy toll served to warn Sunday bathers. The treacherous tides continued yesterday, but were denied more than a possible three additional victims. Three were reported missing from the beaches yesterday.

Life guards described the rip tide as currents flowing out to sea like swift rivers. They were unable to agree on what caused them. But said they flow at varying angles from the shore; are a few yards to 100 yards in width and continue to exert their "pull" for 30 feet to a quarter of a mile. The tides appear infrequently.

The guards exploded a popular belief that a rip tide has a downward pull or suction. Strong rip tides, they said, carry a heavy amount of sand and are recognized by their dark color and usually by the absence of waves in them. Swimmers were advised, if caught by one, not to try to swim ashore, but to signal for help and attempt to either float or swim at a right angle to the current and so get out of it into normal water.

Because of the large area of beaches affected it will be several days before the week-end toll of the tides can be checked accurately.

JULY FOURTH QUIET HERE

No Fatalities or Casualties Reported From Any Section of County.

The two-day celebration of the Fourth of July passed without fatalities or casualties in this county, it was revealed in a check of records from various communities today. The celebration was extremely quiet and uneventful throughout the county, and inclement weather probably prevented scores of persons from making annual pilgrimage to the seashores, although hundreds went despite the inauspicious offerings of the weather man.

Virtually all public buildings in Greenville were closed in observance of the occasion, and employees went about the business of providing themselves with amusements of a local nature or seeking those in other parts of the county.

Practically all stores of the city remained open throughout Saturday. A fairly good crowd of shoppers appeared in the main business district both morning and afternoon, but trade was not as active as on other week-ends. The crowd was cut sharply by a heavy downpour of rain during the evening hours.

People who did not get the opportunity to celebrate Saturday left night for resorts where they spent Sunday, returning in time to be on hand for the resumption of business today.

Both city and county officers reported very little activity compared with recent years and arrests for violations of the law were at a minimum.

Although numbers of minor automobile mishaps were recorded in some areas of the county, none were of a serious nature and occupants of the cars escaped with only minor injuries. Persons who patronized nearby resorts and swimming pools passed through the celebration unscathed and if there were any injuries or fatalities they had not been reported in the days grist of news.

Five Hundred Killed As American People Celebrate the Fourth

CALDWELL IS FOUND GUILTY

Former Tennessee Investment Banker Sentenced To Three Years In Prison.

Nashville, Tenn., July 6.—(AP)—Rogers Caldwell, former investment banker, was convicted by a criminal court jury today of fraudulent breach of trust, and his punishment was fixed at not more than three years in the state penitentiary.

His attorneys announced they would file motion for a new trial. The charge against Caldwell grew out of the alleged violation of a trust agreement between Caldwell's collapsed investment house, Caldwell and Company, and Hardeman county, Tennessee. It was charged that securities less valuable than those specified in the agreement were pledged as collateral on the trust, thus violating it.

Caldwell denied he knew of the irregularity until long after it occurred and he testified that when he learned of it, he immediately took every possible step to correct the condition.

J. Dewitt Carter, a vice-president of the Caldwell and Company testified, however, that he called the Hardeman irregularity and other alleged violations to Caldwell's attention on many occasions.

During a recent legislative probe of state affairs in Tennessee, Caldwell's name figured frequently in the testimony, and a number of witnesses were called to testify about his half million dollar estate, "Brentwood Hall".

Several witnesses told the investigators the construction of his home was financed by the Bank of Tennessee and carried on that institution's books for a time as an asset.

When articles of impeachment were presented to the House of Representatives against Governor Henry H. Horton, several weeks ago Caldwell was named as one of those who conspired with the governor to manipulate state affairs to their personal advantage in exchange for political and financial support.

Caldwell told newspaper men today his conviction came as a "tremendous surprise" and that he is confident of "complete vindication eventually."

Prisoner, Garbed As Golfer, Makes Escape From Pen

Joliet, Ill., July 6.—(AP)—A. J. Miller was one up today on Warden Henry C. Hill of the Illinois State penitentiary.

And now the warden thinks he knows why it was that Miller has gone in lately for dieting. Up until Saturday Miller who was committed to prison for murder from Rock Island, was a trusty who acted as the ward's personal barber. Saturday, however, he decided to celebrate the Fourth of July by leaving.

Attired in a silk golf hat, a gray linen suit, a blue shirt, a sport ball, black socks and sport shoes, Miller walked into the prison yard. In his hands was a golf club. Every now and then he paused to clip a dandelion head, which he did expertly. The guard, thinking he was a visitor with a penchant for golf, let him walk to freedom.

The clothes Miller wore belonged to the warden's son, Phillip. "Miller used to weigh about 160 pounds, but he had been dieting for about two months. I know why he did that. He had to get his weight down so that Phillip's clothes would fit him.

The warden is doing his best to put Miller one down again.

ISSUES CALL FOR BANK CONDITION Washington, July 6.—(AP)—The comptroller of the currency issued a call today for the condition of national banks at the close of business Tuesday, June 30.

Heaviest Death Toll of Years Recorded In Various Parts of United States During Two-day Observance Of Nation's Birth; Highway Accidents Responsible for 160 Deaths, Drownings 181, Heat 24 and Airplanes 14; Few Fatalities From Fireworks Although Numbers of Casualties Were Reported.

By the Associated Press The largest number of fourth of July deaths in recent years occurred in the United States as the nation celebrated the 155th anniversary of its birth.

Close to 500 persons lost their lives from various causes in the two day celebration. Fatalities from fireworks were six or only one-half of what they were in 1930.

Automobile accidents and drownings were by far more numerous this year. One hundred and sixty persons, lured to the highways, perished in motor car mishaps, compared to eighty-one last year, while drowning fatalities totaled 181. Almost three times as many persons lost their lives in the water as compared with 1930 when the total was 57. Twenty-four died from heat while fourteen were killed in airplanes.

The total of deaths from all causes as shown in reports from the entire country gathered by the Associated Press at 4:30. This was 304 more than died in the 1930 celebration.

The mid-Atlantic section of the country had the greatest loss of life with a total of 143. The Midwest was second with 106, with a total of 106, and the Pacific coast states third with ninety-one. The south was fourth, with 57. The New England states fifth with 44, and the southwest sixth with 34. The Rocky Mountain states were last with but nine.

Although few died from fireworks, many were injured. The mid-Atlantic states alone reported approximately 1900 injured. Of these New York City, where the sale of fireworks is forbidden had at least 1600.

Vermont, native state of former President Calvin Coolidge, who celebrated his birthday anniversary July 4, had no deaths at all.

Something About Wiley Post, The Globe Galloper

By LEON H. DURST. Copyright, 1931, by Associate Press. He always wanted to do big things.

Perhaps this short sentence sums up as well as any thing other the man, the driving power, which urged Wiley Post, farm boy-mechanic, toward realizing his boyhood dreams.

Once Wiley had acquired his own plane, he set out to learn all he could about flying. He never missed an opportunity to get into the air. He tried everything he heard of for a plane to do, and apparently when he was sailing through the clouds he thought out the half-formed ideas which had taken root back in the days when he first read of the Wright Brothers' experiments at Kitty Hawk.

Wiley never kept a log book until about six months ago. He can only estimate the hours of flying he has in his credit, but on long summer days when he was barnstorming he recalls that many a time he flew from shortly after sun-up to sundown, carrying passengers off improvised landing fields in southeastern upstates.

When Wiley had been flying a few years he heard that F. C. Hall, an old man and an associate of Powell Briscoe, whom he had known in Chickasha, was interested in flying.

He went to hall and asked for a job as pilot.

"I gave him a job," Hall says. "I even helped him with his license before he went to work for me. He flew a real good ship. But the Winnie Maes--All my planes have been Winnie Maes--were just in his liking."

Wiley had an added incentive to go after the job with Mr. Hall. On June 27, 1927, he had eloped in his ship with May Laine, pretty 17-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Laine of Sweetwater, Tex. They had grown up together near Grand Saline, Tex. For a while his wife barnstormed around the southwest with him.

Wiley served as personal pilot for Mr. Hall for some time. Once, down in Texas in 1929, near Lubbock, their plane nosed over and was badly damaged. "I was kind of scared," Hall says "but nobody was badly hurt."

The oil man sold his plane, however, and Wiley was without a job. There was another place waiting for him on the Pacific coast.

Wiley had taken a plane to Burbank, where the Lockheed Aircraft factory is located. He flew the ship around California until he sold it for the company. The Aircraft company officials liked the quit, competent pilot and told him if he ever needed a job one would be waiting for him at Burbank.

For a little more than a year Wiley was chief test pilot at the Lockheed factory, all the time carrying on the training that has made him not only one of the best pilots but a skilled mechanic, thoroughly versed in the type of plane on the round the world flight.

A friend in Washington, D. C., says that Wiley knows more about that type of plane than any other individual now.

A test pilot's job calls for competence in many phases of flying. It is admittedly one of the most difficult jobs in aviation, but Wiley took it in his stride as he took the silver steps in his career. It was his job and he did it.

Russell Pecht, superintendent of the Aircraft factory at Burbank, credits the preparations and ability to foresee circumstances of the world, flies with the success of the project.

Lindbergh To 'Bridges' Over the Shifting Streams

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE (Associated Press Science Editor). New York--(AP)--Meteorologically speaking, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has the opportunity to build some bridges when he takes the oceanic flight with his wife. These meteorological bridges will be crossings over certain great air streams which go pouring ahead high over the oceans, along routes as definite as those of the gulf stream, the Labrador current and the great Pacific currents. These air streams are exact pilots to the general storm trend of the temperate zone of the northern hemisphere, which is eastward. They are long, windy fingers that stretch northward toward the pole. They reach so far north of regular shipping routes that not so much is known about them. Aviation has stimulated interest and Col. Lindbergh's flight is likely to accomplish much more.

Although definitely fixed upon the maps as the ocean currents, they are not as steady. Rather are they like the "storm water" rivers of continents, which flow intermittently, now dry and now torn.

Whether the Lindberghs fly west via Alaska or east via Labrador and Greenland and Iceland, they must cross one or more of these storm tracks.

There is one northward through the Behring strait, the path of an occasional storm from the column of "lows" to the south and in the Pacific, which usually march eastward.

There are two across the other courses, one between Labrador and Greenland, and the other east of Iceland, between that island and the British Isles and Scandinavian peninsula.

The worst of the three is the current between Labrador and Greenland, which travels northward over Davis strait. It reverses the direction of the path of the North Atlantic lobbers.

This storm path may be the worst only because so many more meteorological reports are available about it than about the other two.

Many of the storms which swing eastward across Canada and the northern United States have been traced finally into the Davis strait area. They curve to the north after passing out to sea in the Atlantic.

During some months the majority of all those American storms have taken this northern turn. Sometimes not so many of them do this, but they are uncertain.

It was into this air course that the trans-Atlantic plane Bremen was sucked at night, to wander about above Labrador, her pilots almost completely bewildered.

There is no reason now to believe that the Alaskan and Labradorian flying routes have more storms than the shipping lanes.

After leaving Iceland, eastbound, the plane crosses a storm course which originates in mid-ocean, southeast of Greenland and about south of Iceland.

Their monoplane shown above is equipped with dual controls and has a cruising range of 5,500 miles. They see the possibility of making the 15,000 mile journey in four hops. The first scheduled halt is Moscow. Their proposed route is shown in map.

Home Canning

Do you know when you have canned enough vegetables and fruits for your family? Many homemakers in Pitt county have already canned hundreds of jars and expect to continue as long as there is anything to can. ## FIRST TERM TO CLOSE JULY 15

Second Summer School Session At Teachers College To Open July 16th

The first summer term at East Carolina Teachers college will close Wednesday, July 15. This six weeks summer term has been an unusually good one in spite of the present economic condition and the somewhat unsettled condition of the educational machinery in the state. The enrollment has been between eighty-five and ninety per cent of the usual summer enrollment during the past two years. The number to be graduated in August is unusually large. All classes are meeting six days per week in order to complete a three quarter hour course during the term. Many teachers already employed throughout the state are availing themselves of this opportunity to raise the grade of their certificate or work toward graduation.

Two outstanding musical attractions have been offered this term; the first of these was Alexandre Barjansky, cellist, and the second the Ukrainian Trio. On July 12 the Boston Male Choir is coming to the college.

President Wright, who was operated on for appendicitis a short time ago is now back in his office.

The second term will open Thursday, July 16, and close on August 21. Registration for the second term will begin Wednesday, July 15.

The advance applications are already in excess of the number anticipated and every indication is that this will be an equally good term.

Surprised Boys

New York—Two Uganda boys brought from Central Africa by Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson have been taken on a tour of Harlem, New York negro section, at the request of a negro editor for study of their reactions. Their greatest amazement was at negroes running automobiles. They inquired how black men could get so much money. Only white men ride in autos, in Uganda and $4 a month is high pay for natives.

Plenty Autos

Washington—The latest count of registered motor vehicles in the world is 35,805,632, of which 26,697,398 were in the United States and one in Spitzbergen.

Miss Liberty to Have Bath

New York—Miss Liberty is to have a beauty bath of light. Improved illumination of the famous statue in New York harbor will remove the impression that she has a double chin and sundry facial blemishes.

MR. AND MRS. MATHER INJURED IN AUTO WRECK

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Mather were injured when the automobile in which they were riding was sideswiped by another car on the Kinston-Wilmington highway, a short distance from Wilmington, Friday night. Mrs. Mather suffered a fractured hip and cuts about the face and was taken to the James Walker hospital for treatment. She was reported to be getting along as well as could be expected today. Mr. Mather suffered a severe scalp injury but was able to be in his office today.

The accident occurred as Mr. and Mrs. Mather were on their way to Wilmington to spend the Fourth of July. Their car was struck and forced from the road by a car traveling in another direction, but Mr. Mather was able to bring the machine under control in time to prevent turning over.

Facts Taken From Ballard Case Hearing

The Reflector has been requested to print the following information brought out on cross examination in the Ballard case hearing here last Thursday:

That Mr. Ballard rented a safety deposit box from said bank on the 16th day of October 1928, and in the name of Mrs. Annie Bullock, Post Office, Greenville, N. C. and that said box was surrendered on December 15, 1930.

That he identified a statement of E. T. Barnes, Cashier of The Wilson Bank and Savings Bank of Wilson, N. C. showing that Mrs. Annie Bullock withdrew from said bank the sum of $539.57 on the 15th day to December 1930.

Former Draftsman Heads Largest Air Transport System

Chicago.—(AP)—He is not a pilot himself, but Philip G. Johnson, at 26, soon will head an air transport system whose 120 planes are flown more than 32,000 miles a day.

He is to be the new president of United Air Lines, which has become the nation's largest air transport organization following the consolidation of four other lines as divisions of it.

Johnson, a mechanical engineer turned executive, is known to the aviation industry as an organizer who is equally as familiar with the manufacture and construction of airplanes as with the operating end of the business. Only 14 years ago he was sitting on a draftsman's stool in the Boeing factory in Seattle. That was his first job after his graduation from the University of Washington, where he studied mechanical engineering.

The Boeing company then was a small concern pioneering in a new field. Johnson climbed rapidly. After a year as draftsman he was made production manager. The next year he became secretary and superintendent, then general manager two years later.

In 1926—at 31—he was named president. In those few years the Boeing company had become the nation's largest manufacturer of military planes.

Johnson has supervised construction of a wide variety of aircraft—from military ships to flying boats and mail-passenger planes. Sometimes he takes the controls of a plane for a will, but he never has flown solo.

His presidency of the new United Air Lines system—which now includes the National Air Transport, Pacific, Boeing and Varney lines—will mean direction of a 28-hour coast to coast service, in addition to routes linking the Great Lakes area to the southwest, the Pacific northwest to the Rocky Mountain territory, and the only through service on the Pacific coast.

Johnson, who is married and has two children, has made his home Seattle, but general headquarters of the expanded United lines will be in Chicago.

Warren and John A. Coke, trustees, to Eva Fleming, dated September 4, 1923 and recorded in Book V-14, page 422 in the office of the Register of Deeds in Pitt County.

This sale is made by reason of the failure of Eva Fleming (widow) to pay off and discharge the indebtedness secured by said deed of trust.

A deposit of 10 per cent will be required of the purchaser at said sale.

This the 17th day of June, 1931. M. L. Turnage, Trustee.

THE TOWN OF YAWN

My friend, have you heard of the Town of Yawn where the Put-It-Offs abide? It is made of drivers who yawn lazily in the face of constant warnings; drivers who trust to luck and good driving . . . only. The State has frowned darkly on this town; upon the drivers who delay taking out insurance against the costs of accidents. Says the State to these drivers in its Automobile Financial Responsibility Law: "Pay the losses you incur by negligent and careless driving or lose your license to drive in this state." There are too many people hurt without hope of being compensated; too much property damaged. There are too many accidents involving drivers who say "Try and collect. I'm broke." And so the State wisely passed the Financial Responsibility Law, effective July 1. Take out Public Liability and Property Damage Insurance today with us, and protect yourself against this law. Tomorrow the natives of the town of Yawn will go begging—on foot.

HORNETS IN FRONT RANKS OF PIEDMONT

Charlotte, July 6.—The half-way mark in the Piedmont season, reached this week, finds the Charlotte Hornets holding a five-game margin over their nearest rivals, the Raleigh Caps, for the league leadership.

And the latter part of the week brings one of those well-known "crucial series" when the leader and runner-up come together for a slate of three battles in Charlotte that will either lessen the gap between them, or give the Bears a more imposing lead.

Manager Lacy's outfit starts the week with an engagement against the Greensboro Patriots on the latter's home field. The Pats now occupy the third rung of the Piedmont ladder by a comfortable margin over the Winston-Salem Twins.

These same Twins have been making hay during the recent hot spell. A month ago they had a strangle hold on the cellar position, with the result that his charges have pegged from bottom place to the first division within 30 days. By taking four out of six last week, what? Asheville's Tourists dropped five out of seven the Twins displaced the Mountainers from fourth in the percentage column.

The on-coming Winston-Salem aggregation is booked for a couple of games with Raleigh to start this week, then it hooks up with the last place High Point club, and finishes the week with a trio of contests against the Durham Bulls, no holding down the next-to-the cellar post.

After facing the Pats, Charlotte entertains Asheville for a couple of days before the important three contests with Raleigh. The Caps play Winston-Salem and Henderson the first four days.

Greensboro's card calls for meeting with Charlotte, Durham, and High Point. The Poliers open the week with Henderson and then entertain the Twins.

Durham plays Asheville, Greensboro and Winston-Salem. Asheville faces Charlotte and Henderson, while the latter takes on High Point, Raleigh and Asheville in order.

Stribling, resting near Cleveland until his battered face heals a bit before going home to Macon, Ga., has no idea of quitting the ring although his chance to win the heavyweight title probably disappeared forever in the stadium ring. Young in years but old in ring battle, Stribling appeared to have been overtrained for the biggest opportunity of a career that has taken in 298 matches. He lacked the stamina to meet the pace of the plunging champion and his punches did not carry power enough to keep Schmeling at bay. The technical knockout awarded Schmeling a 15th round was the first; the southerner never had suffered.

SCHMELING TO BE AWAY TWO MONTHS

By J. EDWARD NEIL (Associated Press Sports Writer) New York, July 6.—(AP)—Max Schmeling, the heavy weight champion, is leaving us for a couple of months but he will be back in August to defend his title against the best man in the division.

The Teuton youngster who played Bill Stribling in Cleveland the night before the Fourth will sail at midnight on the Bremen to visit his mother in Berlin, and return here in time to fight either Primo Caenera, Jack Sharkey or Mickey Walker somewhere for Madison Square Garden Corporation.

Schmeling returned to New York from Cleveland with only a bruised left eye to show for the night of battle with Stribling. A night that may mark the turning point in the heavyweight depression that set in with the downfall of Jack Dempsey and the abdication of Gene Tunney a couple of years ago.

The pleasant young German did more than just conquer a challenger for his throne when he carefully and mercilessly cut Stribling down.

Rather the German, who looks like Dempsey, won himself vindication as a fighter, recognition as a true champion, and his dogged aggressiveness, his sportsmanship, clean, deadly punching and durability stamped him a warrior the faithful will follow to battle.

On the basis of his conquest, Stribling, ranked with Sharkey the best of the American heavyweights, it seems, too, that Schmeling is due to reign in his kingdom to years to come.

FINE MOUND WORK MARKS MAJOR PLAY

(By The Associated Press) The Boston Braves are finding a lot of woe in their task of locating a satisfactory third baseman, but even if their recent $35,000 purchase Billy Urbanski, doesn't turn out to be all that his debut led Boston fans to expect, then they can have some consolation in the mound work of Fred Frankhouse.

Frankhouse, who did not perform with especial brilliance after he was obtained from St. Louis last year, has suddenly blossomed out as a consistent winner. He has won all of his last five games, beating the Chicago Cubs twice and St. Louis, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia once each. The best performance of them all came yesterday when Frankhouse limited the Phillies to four hits in a duel with Ray Benge who gave six and won 4 to 2.

Paul Derringer of St. Louis and Pat Malone of Chicago dulled for three innings, each allowing seven hits, but Malone proved the stronger finisher, winning 2 to 1. He pitched near perfect ball after the first inning and scored the winning run himself after clouting a double.

Some of the edge was taken off the opening of the "Crucial" series between Philadelphia and Washington by the fact that the Senators could get no closer than 2-1-2 three games. But things looked up a bit after Washington slipped away with a next 4 to 2 victory. Sammy Gray pitched a fine game for the St. Louis Browns in the opener, giving Chicago only four hits and not a walk to win by a 3-1 count. But Wallace Herbet and two successors proved less effective in the second clash and the White Sox hammered out a 6 to 5 victory. The other slugger match of the day came in Cincinnati where the Pittsburgh Pirates came from behind with a 15 hit assault on the home pitchers and beat the Reds 6 to 4.

Danny McPadden of the Boston Red Sox gave the New York Yankees only seven hits in eleven innings but was hard pressed to win as both teams lost chances through errors. A bad throw in the eleventh proved the deciding factor, paving the way for a three run rally and Boston's 6 to 3 triumph.

Couldn't Sing Sent To Prison

Chicago, July 6.—(AP)—Three men went to jail last night because they couldn't sing. They were arrested by Policeman Patrick Gaynor on a street corner while fighting to decide which one should be the leader of their singing. He led the trio before Desk Sergeant Murrin, who used to be a member of the police quartet, when there was such an organization.

"Sing," said the sergeant. They sang, but about the fifth bar the sergeant stopped them. "Your fighting may not have been bad," the sergeant said, "but your singing is terrible. Lock them up."

STOCK MARKET

New York, July 6.—(AP)—Wall Street today began the post-holiday week wearily, although sentiment improved a little after midday. The stimulant of an announcement over the week-end of a Franco-American war debt agreement had been expected, and the financial markets reflected considerable disappointment at its failure to materialize. Share prices fell back weekly at the opening, but later partially recovered in extremely sluggish trading. Bonds drifted uncertainly. Losses in shares ranged from 1 to 8 points during the morning, but selling soon dried up, and after midday, professional traders made half-hearted efforts to bolster the market by bidding for the motors. International banking circles discussed further extensions of credit to Germany, as the delay in reaching an accord on the Hoover debt holiday plan has tended to impair its influence in restoring confidence, and the seepage of funds away from Berlin has continued. Apparently the stock market was depressed at the start by selling of shares bought late last week in expectation of announcement of a debt accord over the week-end. The feeling that the market is approaching a testing period, however, has spread in brokerage circles. Credit remained extremely plentiful, with outside call loans offered at 1 per cent. Business and trade news was meagre. Early estimates of freight car loadings for the week ended June 27, to be announced Wednesday, indicate a fair gain over the previous week.

Twenty-Nine Killed In Korean Outbreak

Seoul, Korea, July 6.—(AP)—Twenty-nine persons were killed and about 300 injured during the night in an outbreak of violence against the Chinese colony by a mob of Koreans. More than a hundred Chinese residences were destroyed and their helpless inmates dragged into the streets where they were slaughtered. Only those who succeeded in reaching the police station were saved. Police were called when the rioting began and made upwards of 100 arrests. The city was in pandemonium for several hours and a mob of 5,000 infuriated Koreans practically were in control. The violence was similar to that enacted here in the Chempu in which 200 Chinese were believed to have been wounded in the past two days. It was attributed to a series of minor disputes which have caused ill-feeling among Chinese, Japanese and Koreans for months.

Bus Driver Held For Manslaughter

Lexington, July 6.—(AP)—Harold Atkins, Charlotte bus driver, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Willie Grimes, 45, Lexington ice cream manufacturer, who was fatally injured when struck Saturday by a Greensboro-Charlotte bus, will be given a preliminary hearing here Friday, officials announced today. Atkins, arrested in Charlotte Sunday, is at liberty under $2,000 bond. State highway patrolmen, passengers on the bus at the time of the accident, said Atkins stopped and called an ambulance, after which they said they advised him to drive on.
