MEMPHIS LADY BIRD DECLARED WINNER OF NATIONAL AIR RACE

Mrs. Phoebe Omlie is Given Rating of 109 Percent in 2,100 Hop from Santa Monica, Calif., to Cleveland; Mrs. Martie Bowman, of Glendale, Calif., Takes Second Place; Mrs. Omlie Unofficially Conceded the Sweepstakes Prize Also, Official Derby Checkers Declared Today.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 31.—(AP)—John Livingston, Aurora, Ill., with an average speed of 148 miles an hour over a 30 mile course, won the first closed course race at the National air races here today. The race was for planes with engines of 510 cubic inch piston displacement and carried 8000 in a wings.

Livingston yesterday won the men's dead-stick landing contest and was a consistent winner at the National air races in Chicago last year.

Mrs. Phoebe Omlie, with the same plane in which she won the women's division of the derby from Santa Monica, Calif., won a 30 mile closed course race for women with airplanes powered with engines of 510 cubic inch piston displacement. Her average speed was 129.8 miles per hour. Miss Mae Hazlip, of Ferguson, Mo., was second with a speed of 129.4 miles per hour.

(Associated Press Aviation Editor)

Cleveland, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Mrs. Phoebe Omlie, who has made a habit of leading "Lady Birds" in flying, today was judged winner of the women's division of the national sweepstakes handicap derby.

Scorers, working all night to rush computative averages of 51 men and women who took a week to fly the 2,100 miles from Santa Monica, Tenn. aviator a rating of 109.13 per cent, more than 10 points ahead of Mrs. Martie Bowman, Glendale, Calif., who rated 99.06 per cent.

The official checkers, Reg Burrows, Los Angeles, and Myron Griffin, Cleveland, added that Mrs. Omlie "is unofficially conceded the sweepstakes prize ratings of all men contestants, must be checked."

Mrs. Omlie, first of her sex to receive a transport pilot's license, was first across the finish line yesterday. She won the Dixie Derby of last year's air races.

Ranked next to Mrs. Bowman, in order of their handicap ratings, were Mrs. Mae Hazlip, St. Louis, Edith Poltz, Portland, Ore.; Mrs. Lou Thaden, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell, Long Beach, Calif.; Clema Granger, Santa Monica, Calif.; Ruth Stewart, St. Louis; and Mrs. C. E. Shankle, Fort Hill, Okla.

Two women's events that were postponed a day to give derby flyers a chance to rest marked today's program, a dead stick landing contest and a 30-mile free-for-all race for planes powered with engines of not more than 510 cubic inch displacement.

The women, competing in close course contests for the first time of the meet, had another 30-mile race, limited to planes with engines of 650 cubic inch displacement or less. Both men and women flyers in today's dead stick landing contests were given a mark to aim at by John Livingston, Aurora, Ill., who yesterday landed one foot, nine inches from a red flag marking the center of a target circle. Lloyd O. Yost, Pinehurst, N. C., placed second two feet, two inches from the banner, with Arthur Davis, East Lansing, Mich., third at four feet, three and one-half inches.

The caterpillar Club's newest recruits two Marines who electrified the Sunday crowd with a mid-air collision and escaped by taking to their parachutes, were ready to take the air again.

They were Lieut. L. H. M. Sanderson, Shelton, Wash., and Lieut. W. O. Brice, Winnsboro, S. C., both of Fighting Squadron Nine of Quantico, Va.

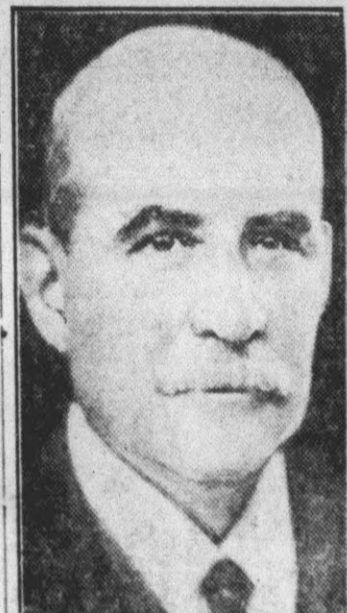

Their planes collided at 1,500 feet altitude as a nine-ship formation described a serpent dance in the skies, the left wing of Sanderson's ship cutting into the fuselage behind the cockpit of the other fighter.

Ask Nations To Let League Control Arms

Paris, Aug. 31.—(AP)—A proposal that the nations of the world place their armed forces under the control of the League of Nations and a prediction that France would lead the way at the 1932 disarmament conference was made today by Joseph Paul-Boncour, foreign affairs chairman of the Chamber of

RYAN SPEAKS AT SERVICES

Christian Minister Delivers Union Service Sermon at Memorial Baptist Church.

Rev. W. A. Ryan, pastor of Eighth Street Church of Christ, delivered the sermon at the fifth of the series of union services conducted among city churches during the summer months at Memorial Baptist church last night.

The service was one of the most inspirational of the series and was largely attended. Rev. A. W. Fleischmann, pastor of Memorial Baptist church, was in charge of the service, and special musical numbers were rendered by the choir.

The final service of the series will be conducted at St. Paul's Episcopal church next Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. The sermon will be preached by the rector, Rev. W. A. Lillycrop.

Mr. Ryan spoke on the subject, "He Stilleth the People," basing his sermon on the power of Christ in awakening humanity to the responsibilities resting upon it in the social, religious and business structure of the times.

Stopped Breathing. Man Restored To Life with Cortin

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 31.—(AP)—The story of a man who stopped breathing, apparently dead and then was restored to partial health in three days from cortin, one of the new hormone extracts, became known today at the opening of the meeting of the American Chemical Society. Cortin is a secretion of the covering of the adrenal glands, small organs near the kidneys.

BUDGET WORRY FACES HOOVER

Mellon's Announcement of Billion Dollar Financing Program Troublesome.

Washington, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Announcement by Secretary Mellon of a billion dollar financing program for the September quarter brought President Hoover today face to face with the vexing problem of how to balance next year's budget.

It is a matter he must thresh out with Mr. Mellon and the Republican leaders of the House and Senate before the opening of Congress in December. It appears now to be very much a two-sided problem.

Mr. Mellon, despite his resort at this time to another huge bond issue, is known to favor a revision of taxes to raise the necessary funds to meet a prospective billion dollar deficit next year. The fiscal year ending June 30 incurred a $903,000,000 deficit, largely met by a long term bond issue.

In the first two months of this fiscal year, the treasury shows a deficit of $387,000,000. Income taxes have continued downward this year, yielding $11,000,000 less than in this period a year ago. A drop of $13,000,000 in miscellaneous tax receipts has added to the administration's worries.

Next year is a campaign year, however, and up on Capitol Hill the political leaders are holding up their hands against any immediate raise in taxes contending it is difficult to ask for votes after increasing the taxpayers' bias. Thus, Mr. Hoover is confronted by a none too easily solved situation.

Moreover, Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, has warned the president that if Congress once starts to raising taxes next session there is apt to be no limit on it. In other words, the Republican leader fears taxes will be sought for every manner of project and the deficit would not be materially reduced in the end.

Hopeful and confident that the next few months will show an upward trend in business and a resultant increase in income tax returns, Mr. Hoover is withholding immediate decision on what recommendation he will make for balance the federal budget.

Democratic leaders are just as wary of any tax increase move as the Republicans.

Soldiers Ordered to Shoot to Kill in Texas Oil Town

Kilgore, Tex., Aug. 31.—(AP)—Instructed to "shoot to kill," National Guardsmen today patrolled this mushroom oil town, seeking to prevent a recurrence of incendiarism which yesterday resulted in damage to two buildings.

Flaming bundles of gasoline-soaked rags were damaged from two buildings which were slightly damaged by fire. A combination morgue and rooming house and a grain warehouse were the seventh and eighth buildings here to suffer from incendiary torches.

Six fires occurred the previous Sunday, flames razing the town's two churches. Brigadier General Jacob F. Wolters, commanding state troops enforcing a martial law shutdown of oil and gas wells in the area, blamed "Reds" for the conflagrations.

MRS. DANCY LAID TO REST

Final Rites Conducted at Memorial Baptist Church; Burial in Cherry Hill.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Florence Dancy, 78, member of an old and influential family, who died early Saturday morning following invalidism of fifteen years, were conducted from Memorial Baptist church yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. A. W. Fleischmann, pastor of the church, officiated, and burial was made in Cherry Hill cemetery.

Scores of friends of the beloved woman attended the funeral and a large and impressive floral tribute expressed in a mute way the high esteem in which she was held.

Mr. Fleischmann paid splendid tribute to the noble life of Mrs. Dancy, who, despite years of suffering, part of the time confined to her bed, was always optimistic and had a word of cheer and good-will for her numberless friends, and inspired them to seek the spirit of faith that enabled her to carry on with such a stout heart.

Mrs. Dancy was the daughter of the late John and Mary W. Gaskill Flanagan, being born in Hamilton, Martin county, and later moving to Greenville, where she spent the remainder of her life.

She was the oldest member of the Memorial Baptist church, and retained active interest in development of the congregation until the last. She was of a lovely Christian character and never failed to use her influence in promoting the cause of Christ.

She is survived by a son, Charles O'Hagan Dancy, of Bristol, Tenn., two brothers and three sisters, all of whom live in Greenville, and several nieces and nephews.

Reflector Announces Subscription Saving

Getting away from the usual type of subscription campaign with its uncertainties for the contestants and with no advantage to the subscriber, the Daily Reflector today announces a subscription campaign in the form of a 30 percent reduction on all yearly subscriptions. The campaign will extend only for a limited period.

Under this special offer a full year's subscription to the paper will cost $3.50, a net saving to the subscriber of $1.50.

The Reflector has catered to the people of this community for nearly fifty years and offers service unsurpassed by no other paper in the eastern part of the state. Aside from the abundance of local news handled each day, the columns of the paper are filled with Associated Press leased wire dispatches graphically portraying different phases of activities in all parts of the world. It is the same service used by the largest papers in the country and provides Reflector readers with advantages of the millions of people who inhabit the great metropolitan centers.

In addition to the splendid news service, the Reflector carries interesting serial stories from time to time, news pictures dealing with important events, and many other features offered through development in the newspaper field.

In an advertisement appearing elsewhere in the paper today, liberal commissions are offered to subscription solicitors in various communities of the county. There is no uncertainty attached to the campaign and all workers will have a definite objective to work to.

This is an exceptional opportunity to subscribers as they will be able to obtain the paper at a rate of less than one cent a day.

CONFER WITH FARM BODY ON COTTON CRISIS

Members of Advisory Committee Go into Session at Washington City.

Washington, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Members of the cotton advisory committee today went into conference with the Farm Board on the cotton situation.

The advisory committee is composed of various representatives of the cotton industry and was set up under the marketing act to aid the board in formulating its marketing and stabilization policies.

The meeting was called by Carl Williams, cotton member of the board, and followed several conferences between Farm Board members and senators from cotton growing states on steps to raise the price of the staple.

Members of the advisory committee present for the conference, included Bradford Knapp, of Auburn, Ala.; Harry L. Bailey, of New York; U. B. Bialock, general manager of the North Carolina Cotton Growers Cooperative association; A. H. Stone, vice-president of the staple cotton cooperative association of Mississippi; and A. E. Kobs, of the Oklahoma Cotton Growers Association.

The session was executive but various plans for relieving the distress of the cotton industry were up for discussion. Senator George Democrat, Georgia, who has been in conference with Farm Board members during the past week on the cotton situation, yesterday urged that the board act quickly in an effort to relieve producers and other cotton interests. George recommended that any plan the board should adopt be contingent on a 50 per cent reduction in cotton acreage next year.

REPORT BIG LIQUOR HAUL

County Officers Get Still, 47 Gallons of Rum and White Distiller.

A distiller, a double capacity still and 47 gallons of whiskey were seized by county officers in a raid in Belvoir township near the Edgecombe county line Saturday afternoon. It was revealed here this morning.

The distiller William Daughtry, was being held in county jail in default of bond and will be given hearing at the regular session of County court September 8.

Two other men—one white and the other colored—were at the still when the raiders arrived but managed to make their escape after a lengthy chase.

The still was a steam outfit, with two worms, and is one of the finest captured in this section in months. It was capable of a tremendous output of beverage at a single distillation, and was believed to have supplied trade in both Pitt and Edgecombe counties.

This was one of the largest seizures made by county officers since members of the traffic began preparation for the fall and winter season.

While firemen with outstretched life nets waited for the fall that seemed inevitable, another rescue crew attempted to fire a line to Kemp over the top of the stack with rope-guns. The fifth shot draped a rope over the chimney top and slowly, inch by inch, the light fell with a heavier rope attached.

With a self hold for him to grip, Kemp was dived up a second line with a bosun's chair attached, into which he stepped and was carefully let down.

Without assistance he walked into the emergency room of the Yarnman & Erbe plant.

WOMAN ADMITS COURT OPENS SLAYING MAN HERE TODAY

Alleged Slayer of 12 Persons Confesses to Pushing 12th Victim to Death.

Detroit, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Duncan C. McCrea, assistant prosecutor, announced today that Mrs. Rose Veras, rooming house proprietor, held on a technical charge of homicide following the deaths during the past eight years of 12 men in her home, had confessed to "a party not connected with the police department" that she pushed one of the men from an attic window, the fall causing his death.

McCrea said that in the woman's statement, she told the person, whose name was not revealed by police, that she pushed Stephen Mak, last of the 12 men to die, from an attic window after attempts to poison him had failed.

Harry S. Gray, prosecuting attorney, said that for reasons he "did not care to disclose," the person's identity would not be revealed at present. The confession, he said, was made to "a party not connected with the police department or the prosecutor's office."

Save Steeplejack After Companion Plunges to Death

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 31.—(AP)—Nerves of steel and a stout heart kept 63 year old James Kemp, steeplejack, clinging to a precarious foothold on a ten-inch ledge at the top of a 150-foot chimney today until rescued—two hours after his fellow-worker, Gondofo do Primo, 40, had plunged to death when a scaffold broke.

The two men were working at the top of the stack when the scaffolding slipped. Di Primo, seated on a plank, claved the air as he hurtled to his death.

While firemen with outstretched life nets waited for the fall that seemed inevitable, another rescue crew attempted to fire a line to Kemp over the top of the stack with rope-guns. The fifth shot draped a rope over the chimney top and slowly, inch by inch, the light fell with a heavier rope attached.

Greenville Market to Begin 1931-32 Season Tomorrow at 9 A. M.; Sales to Begin Simultaneously on Five Warehouse Floors; Factory and Many Warehouse Improvements Will Enable Market to Handle Leaf With Greater Facility than Ever; Thousands Expected to Attend the Opening.

Bright leaf tobacco—Inestimable tonics of it—was moving over a network of concrete roads to Greenville today to be sold at the opening of the local tobacco market tomorrow morning.

The first load of leaf reached the city the middle of last week and since that time many other loads have been placed on the warehouse floors to await the hammer of the auctioneer. The movement of leaf took on renewed life this morning and will increase in momentum this afternoon and tonight. All night long farmers from a radius of many miles will pour into the city to mingle with thousands of others to see how the price situation is going to pan out.

K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales of the local market, stated this morning he believed the break here would be the largest in two years. He based his prediction on the basis of the arrival of the leaf today and had no doubt but that his expectations would be fulfilled.

Despite the price situation in Georgia and South Carolina and other markets of the border belt, tobaccoists and those acquainted with conditions were optimistic concerning the price trend. The increase of cigarette prices by four of the leading tobacco purchasing interests of the country, coupled with a reduction of acreage in the New Bright Belt, is a splendid augury for improved prices it was believed.

Tobacco men who have been engaged in handling the Georgia and South Carolina crops began pouring into Greenville the latter part of last week and today the annual pilgrimage had just about been completed as they made ready to get busy on warehouse floors and factories.

With innumerable improvements to warehouse and factory facilities this year, the Greenville tobacco market will face a new era of development when the curtain rolls up on the 1931-32 season tomorrow morning. Thousands of dollars have been expended by large manufacturers companies in the improvement of their buildings here and this combined with development in warehouse facilities and personnel puts the market in condition to handle the largest offerings of any other year in history.

Another factor looking to the growth of the industry here is the five sets of buyers that will begin work simultaneously on the floors of five different warehouses. The fifth set of buyers was sent here last year after the market had been open almost a month, but this year they will start to work tomorrow morning and do their part toward speeding the movement of the millions of pounds of leaf disposed of annually on this market.

Sales will begin simultaneously on the following warehouse floors tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock: Forbes & Morton, Joyner's, Centre Brick, Webb's and McGowan and Cannon.

Tobacco town, usually quiet during the summer months, began to assume an aspect of intense activity this morning as the movement of bright leaf speeded up and by night hundreds of automobiles, trucks, carts and wagons and every other medium of transportation will clutter up the streets into the tobacco district as growers prepare for their all night sale.

By tomorrow morning the district will be crowded with a sea of perspiring, pulse-quickened humanity, awaiting the cry of the auctioneer to usher in the new season. The city government has taken every precaution to preserve best traffic conditions possible and it was expected that this phase of the opening would be handled with greater ease and facility than ever before.

Davidson.—(AP)—Harris Wilson, 23, an employe of the Southern Asbestos Company, was struck and killed near here by a Southern Railway freight train.

Faces Thirty-Year Sentence in Prison

Rutherfordton, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Fred Smart today faced 30 years in prison for the slaying of Austin Price, Forest City police chief.

Smart was found guilty of second degree murder late Saturday. Judge Cameron McRae returned a plea of defense counsel that the sentence be made 20 to 30 years, remarking that Smart should feel relief at the sentence given him.

Smart testified he had no recollection of what took place the night of June 8, date of the slaying, and his counsel introduced a number of witnesses who swore he was drunk at the time. Smart shot and stabbed the officer to death after he had been arrested on a charge of drunkenness and was being escorted to jail.

SAM

By Freeman Lincoln

SYNOPSIS: Two men love Sam Sherrill — Peak Abbott, owner of the Express and Freddy Munson, reporter on the same newspaper. She wants to marry Abbott because she needs money, but she loves Freddy. Peak asks her to marry him on a business basis. Sam manages the financial affairs of her half-brother Nelson and her stepfather, Fourth Aldersea. Fourth is fanatical about social prestige, which adds to Sam's alarm when she finds her half-brother dancing in a restaurant with Martha Givens, the maid of all work at the stable where the three live since Freddy lost the family fortune. Freddy calls Sam from a dance to ask her to marry him that night. She tells him that he would lose his freedom, and she would continue to be poor, and refuses him. "I'd hate to tell you where I'm going," he says, turning away from her.

Chapter 5
SUDDEN LIGHT
"Aren't you even going to say good night properly?" Sam asked.
"No," Freddy did not turn as he strode from her down the platform. "I most certainly am not!"
Fifteen minutes later Sam rejoined Peak Abbott at their table in the Cricket Club. Peak said with surprise: "Why, Sam, where are your flowers?"
"My flowers? Oh, I took them off," Sam glanced at her shoulder where the spray of orchids had been, and then up at Peak. Her eyes wide and dark. "They got crushed—somehow."

On New Year's afternoon Fourth Aldersea gloomily took himself off to pay his respects to Eugenie Frye. Fourth was not happy in his pilgrimage for he felt that his self-respect suffered with every visit to his most profitable customer.
It was not that the rich widow was herself to blame. Eugenie Frye bought books in greater quantity than all the rest of Fourth's customers put together.
He realized, however, that salesmanship played no part in the matter. It was obvious that Eugenie's interest lay not at all in books, but rather in the man who sold them.
On New Year's afternoon Fourth was particularly perturbed. He told Eugenie frankly of his fall from wealth to poverty, and he dealt convincingly with the many humiliations that poverty entailed.
Eugenie, a stout, middle-aged lady in an expensive unbecoming dress, chuckled in sympathy. "It's a shame. An outright shame!"
Fourth drew a long breath. "It is all of that. Consider for instance, my present position. The mortgage interest in my house falls due on the fifteenth of this month. If I can't meet it, and I see no way to meet it, my daughter, my son and myself will be without a place to live."
The widow got to her feet. "I'm going to lend you the money, and you can pay it back when you like. Now please don't say no, Mr. Aldersea."
Fourth seemed to shrink. His eyes fell. "What can I say?" he asked in a low tone. "I may as well admit that if you hadn't been kind enough to offer, I should have asked."

She was pleased. "Of course you'd have asked! It will make me happy to feel—at I may have been some good to you and your family. Now I would like to meet your family."
Fourth's gaze remained on the carpet. "You must come out some afternoon to tea."
"May I. You don't know how I want to see you home. Do you actually mean it?"
"Of course I mean it. You must come out some afternoon this week, I'll arrange it."
They were silent for a time. Then Eugenie said, almost shyly: "Life is a funny thing, isn't it?"
Fourth shrugged. "I suppose it is."
"It's really awfully funny when you stop to think of it. Take us for instance. You have a nice family and lots of nice friends, but you're unhappy because you haven't enough money. With me it's the other way round."
"What do you mean?"
"I mean that I have plenty of money, and I'm terribly unhappy."
"Unhappy?" Fourth stared at her incredulously.
"Yes," she nodded. "I'm that way because I haven't any family, and I haven't any friends—not the kind of friends you have, Mr. Aldersea. That's what I mean by its being so funny about you and me. Each of us has something the other wants and hasn't got." She shook her head. "It seems sort of wicked."
Fourth's eyes widened as he looked at her. "Yes," he admitted heavily. "I suppose it does."
Fourth sat in his roadster a long time before Eugenie's door, fighting a rising tide of self-loathing.
Eugenie had said that each of them had something the other needed—that it seemed wicked if was so. What had she meant? He shivered and stepped heavily on the starter.
To Sam New Year's Day seemed unreal. She realized vaguely that she should be terribly unhappy because of what had happened on the platform of the railroad station the night before. Somehow she was not. Her reasoning tried to tell her that she and Freddy, in admitting their love, had reached the end and not the beginning of things. It reminded her that she and Freddy had parted definitely; that he was going away and never coming back.

Sam admitted to herself the truth of all those things, but in spite of them she was utterly happy.
The mere fact of love, she felt, was enough to make anyone happy. It came like sudden light in the midst of darkness. Sam basked in it, and was grateful.
She was conscious of a new tolerance toward those about her. As a consequence, her remarks to Sonny concerning Martha Givens were very different than they might have been twenty-four hours before.
Fourth had gone away after dinner to pay his call upon Eugenie Frye, leaving Sam and Sonny in the living room. Suddenly she spoke.
"I saw you the other night, Nelson," she said gently. "You didn't see me, but I saw you."
"Uh?" He looked up at her unwillingly. "What?"
"I say I saw you the other night—at that Chinese restaurant on Market street. You didn't see me. You were dancing."
Nelson slowly laid down his book. As Sam watched, the color in his face became a dull brick red, and then a dead white. He got up from the davenport.
Sam nodded. "Yes, you were dancing with Martha. She dances very well, doesn't she?"
Nelson stared at her for a long moment almost unbelievably. Then he shrugged, in an effort at indifference. "Well," he demanded slowly, "what about it. What are you going to do?"
(Copyright, Freeman Lincoln)

Sam makes her attitude clear to Nelson, tomorrow, and is herself amazed by Fourth.

MRS. MOSELEY HOSTESS TO BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. A. M. Moseley was a charming hostess to her contract bridge club and a few other guests Saturday afternoon, honoring Mrs. Sidney Caswell of Detroit, Michigan.

The home on Fourth street was very attractive with colorful fall flowers. Mrs. A. J. Moore making high score, was awarded Madera napkins. The honor guest, Mrs. Caswell, was presented sport handkerchiefs.

The hostess served a tempting frozen salad course.

GREENVILLE BOYS MAKE RECORD AT CAMP

Among the Greenville boys who have returned from summer camps are Louis Picklen, Jack Kilgo, Charles Flanagan and Edward and Louis Skinner, who have just completed an eight weeks' season at Camp Sequoyah, a popular boys' camp near Asheville.

Camp Sequoyah was attended by ninety-seven boys from seventeen states and thirty-seven cities and is considered one of the most successful boys' camps in the south.

The Greenville boys made a fine record at Camp Sequoyah. In rifle-ry, Louis Picklen was awarded the pro-marksman medal. The Camp Sequoyah "S" which is awarded for excellence in the various activities, was awarded to Louis Skinner for his work in Astronomy, track and first aid, and to Edward Skinner for his skill in track. The Sequoyah Honor Emblem, which is the highest honor awarded Sequoyah boys, was won by Louis Picklen and Edward and Louis Skinner.

Among the large number of guests present at the closing banquet at camp were Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Flanagan, Dr. and Mrs. L. C. Skinner and two daughters, and Mrs. E. H. Picklen.

RED OAK NEWS

We are looking forward with a great deal of pleasure to our revival which starts at Red Oak Tuesday night, Sept. 15. Rev. Shockley, of Asheville will do the preaching, with Rev. Scarborough, pastor of Red Oak assisting him.

Good reports have come to us concerning the splendid revivals which Mr. Shockley has recently been conducting and we hope to have large crowds out to hear him.

We give a special invitation to neighboring churches to join with us in the meeting and make this a real neighborhood revival. Mr. Shockley is no stranger to us as he has visited at our church before and Mr. Scarborough has endeared himself to the community by the splendid work he has done with us the past two years.

Come and enjoy the singing and the preaching with us.

We are very sorry that Mr. Roy Allen was taken so ill early Sunday morning that it was necessary to rush him to the hospital. Late reports from his bedside say that he is resting easy. We hope he will soon be well.

There are several other people on the sick list in our neighborhood. Mrs. Julia Crawford is very ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Heber Allen. Miss Sallie Sutton, who is making her home with Mrs. Allen also, is still very feeble.

Mr. Joe Eason, son of Mrs. Ellen Eason, has typhoid fever. Mrs. Judy Ann Lacy is very feeble. Miss Eva Allen is under the care of a specialist at Kingston. Little Miss Marjorie Hudson Allen daughter of Mrs. T. S. Allen, recently had her tonsils removed. C. B. Allen Jr. has also had his tonsils removed. James Sydney Allen has also been sick this week.

We extend our sympathy to all these folks and hope they will soon be well.

Mrs. Jack Whitehurst and daughters, Thorburn Lavonne and Lorraine, are visiting relatives at Arapahoe.

Miss Inez Forbes left Saturday for Currituck county where she will teach school this winter.

Mrs. Lulu Lancaster spent the week-end with Mrs. J. J. Jenkins.

Mr. Ed Powell of Wilson, spent Wednesday night with Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Tyson.

Mr. N. W. Tyson and Mr. H. H. May both had the misfortune to lose a mule this week.

Miss Louise Tadlock, Helen Phelps and Doris Crawford spent the week-end with Miss Bebe Jenkins.

Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Tyson and son and Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Jones left Sunday morning for an extended trip to northern points. While away they will visit Mrs. Tyson's sisters who live at Hornell, New York.

The younger generation of the neighborhood has been having quite a good time this week. Mrs. Leon Tyson entertained them at a Progressive Game party at her home Wednesday night in honor of her house guests, Miss Irma Pollard and Miss Mary Selma Pittman of Macesfield, and also her sister, Miss Pattie Jenkins, who leaves Tuesday for Raleigh. Several progressions were made and high score was made by Miss Irma Pollard and Carl Crawford and low score went to Miss Pittman and Miss Rubelle Vandford. Music and refreshments were enjoyed later in the evening.

On Thursday night, Miss Inez Allen and Miss Carrie Allen entertained about fifty of their friends an account of which has already been in the paper, and then last but not least, was a most delightful weiner roast extended by the Junior class of Pine Grove Church to about one hundred friends. Weiners and lemonade were served on the beautiful lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Crawford at Ballard's after which several delightful games, contests and songs were enjoyed by both old and young.

Miss Mary Selma Pittman of Macesfield, spent the past week with Miss Irma Pollard.

Freed By Kidnapers

Lured into hands of kidnapers by a girl and held two weeks, Charles M. Rosenthal, 24, wealthy New York broker, was released after ransom, said by police to have been $50,000, was paid.

Misses Madeline and Nime Belle Allen have returned from a visit at Bath.

Messrs. Onan Allen, R. S. Allen, B. E. Jolly, Henry Crawford, J. I. Allen were all summoned to Carteret county last week.

ASK NATIONS TO LET LEAGUE CONTROL ARMS

(Continued from page one) his statement was considered to be of such far reaching importance that it will give an entirely new angle to the struggle for the reduction and limitation of armaments.

The impression prevailed that he would not have made his statement unless he was convinced that it harmonizes with responsible opinion in France.

"When the disarmament conferences agree upon the actual figures of the defense strength of each country," he said, "our idea is that these forces should cease to be forces left entirely to the disposition of these countries and that there should be an international mortgage upon them."

"I mean that the council of the League of Nations when face to face with a case of proved war of aggression should be empowered under article 16 of the League covenant, to make use of them to settle a war crisis."

"Are other nations, like us, ready? Are they willing to put their permanent air, naval and land forces under control of and at the disposition of the league of Nations? By this gesture the problem of parity might be solved."

The statement said that in his opinion the disarmament conference would be the gravest event since the signing of the war treaties and a decisive step in the evolution of peace.

CONFERENCE WITH BODY ON COTTON PRICES

received several hundred plans for raising the price, most of them suggesting some sort of acreage reduction.

Meantime, Senators Smith of South Carolina and Black of Alabama, called on Chairman Bestor of the Federal Farm Loan Board to enlist his aid in carrying out Smith's plan for reducing cotton acreage.

The plan primarily proposed that the Farm Board allocate the 1,300,000 bales of stabilization cotton held by it, at present prices, to farmers on condition that they raise no cotton next year.

In addition, the senators said, they sought to make arrangements with the Department of Agriculture whereby farmers who received drought and feed loans would repay only 50 per cent of their loans this year on condition they would agree to plant only 50 per cent of their normal acreage next year.

The senators said they were seeking Bestor's aid in use of the farm loan and intermediate credit banks to help the southern farmer reduce the cotton crop next year.

Asheville, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Trial of Wallace B. Davis, former banker twice convicted in state courts of violating the banking laws, on charges of using the mails to defraud was deferred in United States District Court today until next Wednesday.

Davis' attorneys represented themselves to Judge E. Yates Webb as being wholly unprepared for trials in state court and he granted the brief continuance.

Says Night Work in Textile Plants Delaying Industry
Charlotte, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Refusal of "15 per cent" of the nation's work for women and children is delaying benefits for the industry which "should logically follow adoption of such policies" in the opinion of B. B. Gossett, Charlotte manufacturer.

Mr. Gossett, president of the Chadwick-Hoskins Company and vice president of the Gossett Mills, termed the group of mills not supporting the night work elimination plan "influential." He said their "continued night activity... is far from beneficial to the entire industry."

WELCOME TO OUR CITY
 To the thousands of visitors who will attend the opening of the tobacco market here tomorrow we extend a cordial welcome. If you are a tobacco grower we urge you to note carefully the handling of tobacco on our market, for if you do you will adopt it as your market, too. Whether or not you are a tobacco grower, though, our welcome is just as cordial, and we hope you'll like our city and pay us another visit soon.

SNAP OUT OF IT.
 With the opening of the tobacco market tomorrow let us hope that prices will be satisfactory and that our people who for sometime past have been carrying long faces will snap out of it and settle down to a real effort to make things hum and bring us back to normal. Of course things have been somewhat bad but using your vitality worrying about conditions instead of putting your shoulder to the wheel is a poor way to overcome a difficulty, so let's all make up our minds right now to snap out of it and bury old man depression now.

ABOUT TOWN

Greenville extends a cordial welcome to the several thousand people who will attend the opening of the tobacco market here tomorrow. This is always one of the greatest seasons of the year, and Greenville and surrounding community look forward to it with eager anticipation. The thing everybody wants to know is how will prices turn out and the citizenship will be in a state of expectancy until this has been determined. This section of the state produces some of the finest cigarette tobacco in the world and on the basis of this tobacco and growers are hopeful prices will show a distinct improvement over markets of other belts. The crop is as good as it has been in years, and if prices are anyway near favorable the majority of the farmers should be able to recover somewhat from the hard struggle of the last two years. Tobacco men have made improvements in their buildings and equipments and are in position to render a higher type of service than any other period in history of the market. Five sets of buyers will enable the handling of the crops much faster than the first few days last season before the extra set of buyers began action, and Greenville ought to be able to eclipse all previous records, from the standpoint of sales. The fact that the Greenville market established a higher average price than the state last year shows that prices are better here than any other part of the State and should prove an inspiration to farmers hating the high dollar and the majority of them especially at this time when the world is gripped by depression. The city aldermen at last have been able to complete their tentative budget and adopted it at the special session here last week. The budget calls for drastic reductions in every branch of government and means that the aldermen will have to do some close figuring if they get through the year without over-shooting the mark. The schools were provided something over $26,500 to defray the cost of operation of the extended term and the State has attempted to provide for the six-month term with an allocation of $45,700, about $12,000 short of the same amount appropriated last year. The schools, like the government, are going to have to do some close calculating to go through the entire nine months' term with a $17,000 shortage in appropriations, and it is hoped the public will co-operate with them and show their appreciation of the handicap under which they are laboring. The public will certainly appreciate the nineteen cent tax reduction made possible by the aldermen through cutting of expenses, and the aldermen are to be commended for it, especially in face of the over half million dollar decrease in valuations. This shows what can be done when we start to economize and no one appreciates it more than the taxpayer who has carried his load until his back literally aches from the strain.

With millions of dollars to be put into circulation in this section between the opening and closing of the tobacco market, the merchants should begin letting the people know what they have to offer them in the way of fall and winter values. There is no better way in the world to reach the public than through the columns of the daily newspaper, and the merchants who tell their customers of what they have to offer from time to time may rest assured of receiving their part of the season's business. Information is something the people demand of the progressive merchants during these busy days, and the man that fails to live up to the call of the times can not expect to enjoy as much trade as the man that continues to keep his fingers on the public pulse.

With leaders of public thought of each state doing their part to increase sentiment for a reduction of cotton acreage next year, it really appears that something is going to be accomplished. Eternal hammering is going to be the price of success in this movement, as in all others, and if proper legislation is passed the farmers will find themselves in a position where they will have to cut whether they desire to or not. While many plans have been mentioned, it is evident legislative control of the situation is the only definite way anything can be accomplished. Some sections may suffer from the lack of revenue, but it is better to suffer for a year or so than to accept prices below the cost of production as they are doing at this time.

Lindberghs to Go On Sight - Seeing Tour of Japan
 By JAMES P. HOWE
 Tokyo, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The most brilliant midsummer affair of its kind here in many years—a dinner given by Premier Wakatsuki—to-night ended the ambitious round of official ceremonies in honor of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

At its conclusion the Lindberghs assumed the role of sightseers, which will keep them busy for several days and take them to points outside Tokyo. About fifty distinguished persons attended the dinner. Tomorrow the Lindberghs will go to Karuzawa, where they will be guests for several days at the summer home of Ambassador Forbes. There they will have a view of Mount Asama, one of Japan's largest volcanoes, which began erupting in August 8. Since then it has been belching lava now and then and emitting smoke constantly. This morning, Col. Lindbergh addressed 600 army and navy aviation officials and a group of civilian aviators, talking on his favorite subject, the progress of aeronautics in America. He spoke particularly on the development of night flying and the utilization of radio in aviation. The listeners paid close attention and asked many questions after Col. Lindbergh had finished. His lecture interpreted as he went along.

Man Attends Own Funeral
 Benton, Ill., Aug. 31.—(AP)—Stephen R. Patton, 80, went to his own "funeral" yesterday and enjoyed every minute of it. Patton, who recently conceived the idea that it would be better to have his funeral sermon preached while he was still able to hear it, rather than wait until it was too late, listened to the Rev. John B. Mauding deal impartially with his life and works. "I am told that our good brother, Patton, in his early days was a very wicked man and lived a very wicked life," the pastor said, "but the beginning of an impelling conviction of his responsibility to God resulted in his later conversion and his subsequent faith, which has been his support and anchor down unto this day." He added that if the "late departed" had not strayed from the narrow path, he could now face eternity with serenity, once "the grace of regeneration removes the terror of death," to which Patton said "Amen." The occasion of the funeral was Patton's birthday anniversary and the services, attended by relatives and friends, were conducted at his home near Wailer. Three other ministers assisted Mr. Mauding. Many flowers were sent, and Patton said that when he dies he does not want any more. Neither does he want another funeral sermon.

Sanford, N. C.—(AP)—President Hoover has appointed Ralph H. Kennedy acting postmaster here.

Dunn, N. C.—(AP)—Scolded because he allowed a tobacco barn fire to go out, Gordon Barnes, 18, shot and seriously wounded his father, Aster Barnes.

Burlington, N. C.—(AP)—After several forged checks were drawn on his account, J. E. Thomas, insurance man of Graham, set a trap for the forger and caught his sister, Miss Myrtle Thomas.

ENTER HOME STRETCH IN THE PIEDMONT

By WHITNEY THARIN (Associated Press Staff Writer) Charlotte, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Piedmont League baseball teams today entered the home stretch of the 1931 race with Durham a second division club with eleventh hour pep scheduled to bear the brunt of the final attack.

The Bulls from now until Sept. 1, the end of the season, will be playing against Charlotte, Raleigh or Greensboro, the three leaders. The Hornets have a great desire to clinch the pennant. Raleigh has the same designs on second place, and the Pats are anxious to break up the Caps' plans.

At least two of this trio should hold no fear for the Bull players if they continue to perform in the same style they displayed last week. By turning in five runs against one defeat, Durham tied with Charlotte for the week's best performance. Two of those wins were scored over Greensboro and a third was registered against Charlotte.

Asheville, fourth in the standings and High Point and Henderson, will down the percentage ladder, will be the only other opponents the leaders will meet.

Charlotte's five victories and lone defeat during the week left the Bees with a 12-game lead over Raleigh while the Caps cling to an eight game advantage over Greensboro.

The Raleigh club turned in six wins and two losses in its fight to pass Greensboro out of the second place picture and its efforts were aided considerably by the Pats who lost five while winning two.

As a threat to the leadership Asheville was eliminated sometime ago but any mathematical chances chance the Tourists may have had of winning the pennant passed from the picture despite the fact that they have lost only three games in three weeks. By winning a double header Saturday, the Tourists cut their games to be played to 24, while they are more than 25 games behind Charlotte.

Durham starts its "murder's row" menu by opening up at Charlotte today. Raleigh plays at High Point. Winston-Salem plays at Henderson and Asheville at Greensboro.

ROOKIE SHUTS OUT PIRATES

By GAYLE TALBOT (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Traveling at his present clip, big Paul Derringer of the St. Louis Cardinals will have little difficulty qualifying as the outstanding major league rookie of 1931. He might even, with a little luck, finish his first season as the leading pitcher of the National League.

When he shut out the Pittsburgh Pirates 5 to 0 in the first game of a double header yesterday, the former Rochester ace fixed his record for the year at fifteen victories and six defeats. His winning average is topped only by one regular, Jess Haines, also of the Cards. Taking part in 29 games, he has struck out 107 batters, including the 10 Pirates who took three futile swings yesterday.

Although he set a brilliant record with Rochester last year, the 215-pound Kentuckian scarcely was expected to prove one of the principal cogs of the Cardinals fine staff his first season in fast company. As matters stand, he is likely to draw a starting assignment against the Athletics in one of the opening games of the world series.

Bill Hallahan made it unanimous for the day by beating the Buccaers 4 to 1 in the nightcap. Although he allowed seven hits, as many as his mates could get off

Spencer and Wood Hallahan balanced things by striking out 13. While the two Cards twirlers set a hot pace, the distinction of giving the day's outstanding performance went to Phil Collins of the Phillies, who allowed only one hit in beating the New York Giants 3 to 0 in the second game of a double-header. The Giants captured the first 8 to 2 behind Carl Hubbell's tight pitching.

Lefty Ed Brandt chalked up his 17th victory as the Boston Braves humbled the Brooklyn Robins 3 to 2 in the first half of a twin bill. The Robins came from behind to beat Tom Zachary in the nightcap 4 to 3.

The Cincinnati Reds fell when Pat Malone for four runs in the eighth inning to square their series with the Chicago Cubs 4 to 3.

Twenty-two thousand Boston fans watched the Red Sox take a 14 to 4 plastering from the New York Yankees. Led by Lou Gehrig, who belted his 37th home run, a double and two singles, the Yanks collected 21 hits off four Sox careers. Ben Chapman contributed a brace of home runs to the assault.

Using a second string battery, the Athletics caught one of their infrequent beatings from the Washington Senators 5 to 1.

Goose Goslin smashed six hits, including a homer and two doubles, as the St. Louis Browns turned on the Cleveland Indians and swept a double header, 2 to 3 and 6 to 3.

The Chicago White Sox committed eight errors and their four pitchers allowed twelve bases on balls, but they defeated Detroit, 10

Two Practice Sessions Daily for Duke Devils

Durham, Aug. 31.—With a lot of work to do in a short time, the 42 candidates for Duke university's annual football team began their two practice sessions daily for the first week at 8:30 A. M. and 1:30 P. M. The "called" 42, and a few others who will probably be on hand, will report at 8:30 A. M. a week from today and start work immediately, pointing to their first game, south Carolina at Columbia, Sept. 19 days away.

The afternoon sessions will be at 3:30 P. M. and each of these periods will last an hour and 15 minutes. With these hours of practice and mid-day heat will be avoided, Coach Wallace Wade said.

In the list reporting there are nine end candidates, five tackles, six guards, four centers and 19 backs. Twenty-seven of them are lettermen from the 1930 season. Captain Pierce Sawyer, Winston-Salem; John Brown, Philadelphia; Paul James, Madison; Robert Lee, Keneshaw, North Carolina; and Art O'Neil, Winston-Salem.

Lettermen called: Backs—Captain Pierce Sawyer, Winston-Salem; John Brown, Philadelphia; Paul James, Madison; Robert Lee, Keneshaw, North Carolina; and Art O'Neil, Winston-Salem.

Football Teams Begin Practice in Another Week

By DILLON GRAHAM (Associated Press Sports Writer) Atlanta, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Another week and football will start its yearly rite of crowding baseball out of the sports news.

Some college teams began practice this week but most of the major leagues, including all Southern Conference squads, answered the bell only on September 7.

It's really a late start for Dixie teams but conference rules restrict practice before Labor Day. This tardy beginning leaves some of the teams only a couple of weeks or so before their opening contests.

Virginia has less than a fortnight to prepare for its curtain-raiser with Roanoke, while Sewanee and Virginia Military have just as little time to get in shape for their engagements with Alabama teachers and Hampden-Sydney, respectively.

Auburn has an extra week to line up fortifications for its night debut against Birmingham-Southern. Several of the big teams, including Tulane, Tennessee, Louisiana State, North Carolina State, Washington and Lee, Maryland, Mississippi A and M, South Carolina, start the ball rolling on September 26, a bare three weeks after practice begins.

New coaches will meet their teams for the first time in fall workouts at seven schools. They are Fred Dawson of Virginia, John Smith at North Carolina State, Wallace Wade at Duke, Jimmy DeHart at Washington and Lee, Frank Thomas at Alabama, Harry Clark at Sewanee and Jess Neely at Clemson.

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today, 9 to 10 points lower in response to favorable weather report, and relatively easy Liverpool cables.

The selling was not active or general and was said to include very little hedging by the South, but demand was limited and prices worked off to 7.21 for December and 7.52 for March contracts, or about 18 to 20 points net lower.

The market was quiet and barely steady within a point or two of these figures at the end of the first half hour. The early weather map showed very little rain in the South which was considered favorable for the greater part of the belt.

Liverpool cables were several points lower than expected on the New York close of Saturday, the decline there being attributed to hedging and liquidation. Houses with Liverpool and Continental connections were credited with selling some cotton here during the early trading.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Persistent selling carried prices down today. Aggressive buying was lacking and the decline was checked by buying against bids. Owners of September wheat were unsettled by other provisions eased with grains.

Wheat closed at slightly above the day's bottom figures, 5-8 to 11-4 below Saturday's close; corn finished mixed, 1-4 lower to 1-4 higher; oats 1-8 to 1-2 off and provisions unchanged to 35 decline.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The announcement of $1,100,000,000 in financing for the United States Treasury focused Wall Street's attention upon a mounting treasury deficit today, and helped to impart a heavy tone to the stock market.

The extremely favorable terms of the new treasury financing, however, had a bolstering effect upon the bond market, where U. S. Government issues and rail liens improved. Some selling came into the foreign issues however. Brazilians breaking sharply on announcement of suspension of sinking fund payments.

Unsettling to the share market was a drop of 3 points in American Can, and a slump of 2 in Alaska Juneau. The latter, a low priced gold mining stock, has been a pool favorite in recent months. The dumping of a few large blocks on the market today was attributed in some quarters to profit taking by Chicago interests. American Telephone lost more than 2, and miscellaneous issues sagging a point or more included U. S. Steel, General Electric, Westinghouse, Union Carbide, Safeway, Montgomery Ward, Bethlehem, Consolidated Gas, North American, New York Central, Southern Pacific and others. The market tried to rally at times during the morning, but sagged off after midday. It was very dull.
