SOUTH LOOKS TO LONE STAR FOR PROPOSAL

Two Definite Suggestions for Cotton Relief Depend Upon Action of Texas

By Associated Press
The South today looked to Texas as producer of a third of the nation's cotton crop, to lead the way toward solution of the cotton surplus problem and resultant economic complications.

Two definite proposals for state control of cotton production have been made and both of these depend upon concurrence to become operative.

Louisiana has adopted a law prohibiting growth of cotton in 1932 and Governor Murray of Oklahoma has said he would initiate a proposed law to provide a board for control of cotton production.

The Louisiana plan, sponsored by Governor Huey P. Long who broadcast a vigorous appeal for its support last night by radio, becomes operative on concurrence of states producing three fourths of the cotton. Governor Murray's suggestion entails approval by a majority of the cotton producing states.

Yesterday, Governor Russell of Georgia announced a session of the Georgia Legislature would be called to consider the cotton situation the minute a special session is called in Texas.

Governor Sterling said 14 of Texas' Senators and 101 members of the House replied favorably to his query as to a special session. The governor's office has received numerous telegrams urging a session on the cotton situation. Many of these, the office said, favored a 50 per cent reduction of acreage over the cotton prohibition plan Louisiana adopted at its special session recently.

Governor Gardner of North Carolina has asked Governor Sterling to join with him in calling a conference of governors, senators and others on the cotton situation. Governor Sterling agreed. Governor Gardner last night however he felt such a procedure might be "long drawn out."

In South Carolina, Governor Blackwood has expressed a wish to cooperate in cotton relief as has Governor Parnell of Arkansas.

Texas, as the largest cotton growing state, wields virtually a balance of power and many states wish it to act before they call their Legislatures into session.

Raleigh Sept. 3.—(AP)—His own proposal for a cotton conference having been rejected by Governor Ross Sterling, of North Carolina, Governor Gardner, of North Carolina, awaited today state executive on how to deal with the cotton situation.

Governor Gardner had suggested a meeting of cotton state governors and agricultural leaders at Memphis, Tenn., to consider cotton plans and "offer, if possible, a unified program to the south." He asked the Texas executive to join him in calling the meeting September 14 and 15.

Governor Sterling said that the "proposed conference would likely be drawn out for 30 days and the benefit that may be derived from immediate action lost to this year's cotton crop in Texas." He said he believed farmers in his state were opposed to Louisiana's "no cotton in 1932" plan.

Governor Gardner telegraphed Governor Sterling that he had contemplated a "conference of only two days." It would be a failure, of course, without the leadership and cooperation of Texas. Do you have a practical proposal for a workable and concerted course to be taken now?

Two Arrested in Racketeer's Death

New York, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Paul Carbo, 27, and Miss Vivian Lee, 19, a dancer, were arrested today in connection with the slaying of Mickey Duffy, Philadelphia racketeer in Atlantic City.

They denied knowledge of the killing, but were held as fugitives from justice for New Jersey authorities.

Carbo said he was in a Manhattan hospital undergoing treatment to his nose on the night Duffy was killed.

He is known to police under several aliases. He once served 14 months for the slaying of a Bronx butcher, but was paroled on his plea of self-defense.

NEGRO DRAWS ROAD TERM

Julius Johnson Given Two Years for Receiving Stolen Property Here

Convicted on a charge of receiving stolen goods Julius Johnson, colored, was sentenced to two years on the road, by Judge N. A. Sinclair, of Fayetteville, presiding over the criminal term of Superior court yesterday.

Johnson was said to have received a considerable amount of stuff stolen from Norfolk and Southern freight cars here sometime ago.

Hardy Lee Washington and C. Brown were found guilty of larceny but sentence was not pronounced.

No judgment was rendered in the case of W. H. Everett, convicted on a charge of forgery.

Grant Gorham and Anthony Wilks were found guilty of larceny but judgment was not rendered.

Leroy Perkins was adjudged not guilty of larceny of meat.

The following true bills were returned: John Atkinson larceny. Chester Williams larceny. Elbert Mazingo, assault on a female with a deadly weapon.

Manslaughter Case Draws to a Close

Lenoir, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Whether A. B. Johnson was driving his automobile when it turned over last January 8 killing Miss Dolly Greene was a question presented to the jury today in the trial of the North Wilkesboro business man on a charge of manslaughter.

Johnson, in his testimony, swore Miss Greene was driving when the wrecked machine turned over. His attorneys in their arguments to the jury have stressed this evidence.

The state on the other hand, contends that Johnson was not only driving the machine but left Miss Greene to die in the snow after he had been taken to a hospital.

Miss Greene's body was found near the car after a passing motorist had taken Johnson to a Statesville hospital. Johnson testified he received a blow on the head in the wreck that rendered him unconscious until the next day.

Evidence in the case was concluded yesterday, and attorneys arguments begun.

Extend Search for Missing Banker

Harrison, Ark., Sept. 3.—(AP)—A nation-wide search for A. T. Hudspeth and his son, W. A. Hudspeth, was organized today as the result of closure of nine banks of the Hudspeth chain.

The search for the elder Hudspeth began Tuesday when a letter from him saying he was going to Canada precipitated suspension of his banks. He was charged with accepting deposits in a bank he knew to be insolvent.

A similar charge was brought against the son yesterday. Prosecuting Attorney Jack Holt said he believed the younger Hudspeth was with his father.

Last night Holt announced he ask Searey and Boone county grand juries to investigate the action of a group of depositors who walked into the First State Bank at Marshall yesterday, demanded their assets and got about $5,000, and money and got about $5,000, and that of two depositors who detain officials of the Citizens Bank here in a vain effort to get their funds.

PRICES HOLD UPWARD TREND

Market Averaged 8 Cents Yesterday on 187,968 Pounds of Bright Leaf.

Prices continued to hold the upward trend on the Greenville tobacco market today and it was evident the general average would be above that of yesterday.

Observers expressed belief that the price trend continuing at this time will place the opening week's average above the corresponding period last year.

The market sold yesterday a total of 187,968 pounds for $15,028.45 at an average of 8 cents a pound, it was revealed in the official market report made public today by K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales.

Improvement in facilities of the Greenville tobacco market continued today when work was started in connection with construction of an addition to the plant of the American Tobacco Company. The improvement will add fifty per cent to the floor space of the plant.

Push Plans to Bring Bluebeard to Justice Soon

Clarksburg, W. Va., Sept. 3.—(AP)—Harrison county authorities pushed plans today to bring Harry P. Powers, 42-year-old matrimonial agent and confessed slaver of two women and three children, to justice.

Murder warrants were ready for service and while the date for arraignment of the chubby killer was not disclosed, arrangements were being made to remove the prisoner from the little stone jail to the nearby office of a magistrate. Powers' trial probably will be held during the November term of court.

Meanwhile the prisoner was closely guarded and everything handed through the bars to him was scrutinized by jail attendants. Powers is not permitted to wear a belt.

Four Midshipmen Forced to Resign

Washington, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Four first class midshipmen at the Annapolis Naval Academy have been forced to resign parts during the recent annual summer cruise.

Secretary Adams of the Navy, said the resignations were demanded because of "unfortunate behavior" of the midshipmen, who were reported to have engaged Copenhagen police in street fights.

The ousted men were R. Parks, Columbia, Mo.; George R. Pink, Haddon, N. J.; Earl E. Schweitzer, McKeesport, Pa.; Colwell E. Beers, Keynsville, Mo.

A fifth student may be asked to resign. Several other midshipmen less involved in the affair, were punished at the academy. Secretary Adams did not divulge their names.

Utopia Found In Indiana

Sidney, Ind., Sept. 3.—(AP)—Some good news came out of this town today.

The town board found that so much money was collected for taxes this fall that the amount will be more than enough to care for everything in 1932.

Therefore no tax was levied for 1932.

Sidney is a small incorporated town in the southeast part of Kosciusko county.

AMERICA MAY TRY TO HELP

Relations So Strained Chinese Minister Says They Are Near Breaking Point

Nanking, China, Sept. 3.—(AP)—C. T. Wang, foreign minister of the Nationalist government, said today relations between China and Mexico had been strained "to the breaking point" since negotiations with Mexico City regarding the anti-Chinese movement in Sonora and Sinaloa had proved abortive.

"Desirous of obtaining a satisfactory settlement," said Wang, "China requested the American government which accepted to arbitrate the present dispute in accordance with the international convention at the second conference at the Hague."

"The Chinese government has exercised much restraint over the situation and hopes a satisfactory settlement may yet result," he said.

Washington, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The State Department advised the Chinese legation today that if it should submit the details of the Chinese-Mexican expulsion controversy the American government might be able to employ its good offices in seeking a solution.

Legation officials discussed with the State Department the Mexican move to expel Chinese from Mexico. Department officials said, however, the question of mediation or arbitration was not involved. The course which would be pursued under international law if the facts warranted would be the employment of good offices.

FLOOD CLAIMS NEW DISTRICTS

Nanking, Capital of China Threatened; Other Cities Inundated

Shanghai, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Fresh tidings of disaster, enlarging the picture of death, ruin and starvation overwhelming millions of China's flooded areas, piled up here today.

Nanking, the national capital, was threatened. Torrents continued to pour through the broken dykes of the Grand Canal north of here, inundating whole cities.

Wuhu, another inundated city on the Yangtze river, reported 4,000 dead and 200,000 homeless and destitute.

Cities in the lowlands of northern Kiangsu Province 30 miles east of the Grand Canal, were feeling the full weight of the flood waters.

A magistrate reported that the City of Hinghua, in that area, had become the center of a lake with a 35-mile radius in which entire villages had disappeared.

"Countless people must have perished," the magistrate said, adding that last week trees and house tops had been visible above the flood waters but finally had disappeared.

Portions of highways were under 20 feet of water, while the district officers, in the highest part of the city, were submerged three feet. The nearby cities of Taichow and Tung-tai were similarly afflicted as the flood waters surged eastward.

Calamity rode into the Nanking district on the rising waters of the Yangtze and threatened to tighten its grip still further there. Three dykes broke inundating the suburbs outside the Nanking wall and drove crowds of refugees into the city. More than 1,000 refugees were camped on Nanking's famous walls, the longest in China. The river rose eight inches and urgent measures were taken to strengthen the dykes.

Unemployment Problem Tackled By Chamber

Representatives of American Industry to Draft Report On Many Months of Investigation

Washington, September 3.—(AP)—The unemployment problem was tackled today by representatives of American industry through a committee of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The committee, headed by Henri I. Harriman, of Boston, met at the chamber headquarters here to draft a report on the basis of many months of investigation.

Meanwhile the chamber's first president, Harry A. Wheeler, Chicago banker, was organized a committee under President Hoover's unemployment relief organization, to find means of increasing employment.

Wheeler was appointed yesterday by Walter S. Gifford, national relief director, as chairman of the committee on employment plans and suggestions.

The relief organization also announced today through Fred C. Croxton, assistant director, a nation-wide back to school movement to be carried on by the churches. Croxton said Protestant, Catholic and Jewish churches had pledged their cooperation.

The chamber committee was expected to devote two days to drafting a report which officials of the organization hoped would make recommendations not only for dealing with the relief problem, but stabilizing employment in the future.

A mass of information has been gathered by the committee on the relief situation and on various unemployment problems, but stabilizing employment in the future.

A survey undertaken by the committee of 1,000 cities has indicated that most of them are prepared to handle their own relief problems during the coming winter.

The group has also gathered information relative to various forms of unemployment insurance and plans for guaranteeing employment.

Its most comprehensive study, said the one most likely to bear fruit in the report, was made on proposals for creation of a national economic planning board to coordinate relief work which President Hoover set up to aid him.

In selecting his second committee Gifford was believed to have had in mind the administration of relief—was being formulated. Shortly after he announces its membership Gifford is expected to call a meeting of the national advisory committee on relief.

With the appointment of Wheeler's committee, Gifford had completed two-thirds of the organization. He has already set up a committee headed by Owen D. Young, of New York, to direct the raising of relief funds through local communities.

A third committee—to advise and co-ordinate in the administration of relief—was being formulated. Shortly after he announces its membership Gifford is expected to call a meeting of the national advisory committee on relief.

With the appointment of Wheeler's committee, Gifford had completed two-thirds of the organization. He has already set up a committee headed by Owen D. Young, of New York, to direct the raising of relief funds through local communities.

Seek Source of Poison Liquor; Three Are Dead

Los Angeles, Sept. 3.—(AP)—With three men dead and one dangerously ill as the result of drinking what police said was poison alcohol, authorities sought today to learn the source of the liquor.

Examination of contents of the bottles from which the men drank led police to believe the liquor had been manufactured from rubbing alcohol.

Biler City—The Central Carolina Rural Letter Carriers Association will hold its Labor Day meeting here Monday.

RETURNS FROM VISIT ABROAD

Declares European Statesmen Are Laying Foundation for Peace and Independence; Also Encouraged by Outcome of the London Conference

New York, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson returned from abroad today with an optimistic prediction that a lasting structure of peace and economic prosperity will be built on the formation laid by President Hoover's debt moratorium and the recent seven power conference in London.

During his two month stay in Europe the Secretary of State attended the London Conference and held "informal conversations" with the prime minister of England, France, Germany and Italy.

Asked for his views about the general financial situation throughout the world Stimson replied: "I think there is good reason to believe that European statesmen, taking advantage of the respite granted by Mr. Hoover's moratorium as well as the recommendations of the London conference, are beginning gradually to lay the foundations of political good will upon which a lasting structure of peace and economic prosperity can finally be rested."

"The month which has elapsed since the close of the seven power conference in London has given us a chance to begin to appraise the result of that conference and of the various meetings which have preceded and have followed it.

"From the information which has come to me I believe that Germany has received a new spirit of courage and confidence. The result of the recent plebiscite in Prussia; the fact that on the day when the German banks reopened the deposits exceeded the withdrawals, together with many other similar indications, all point to more hopeful conditions and spirit.

"Even more encouraging have been the meetings of the French and the German ministers and the friendly and conciliatory spirit in which Prime Minister LaVal and Chancellor Bruening have begun to discuss this vital political question, which divide their countries. This same is true of the meetings which have been held between the ministers of Germany and Britain, and Germany and Italy. Such informal meetings constitute the most effective method of approaching and discussing these political problems.

BEGIN DAVIS TRIAL TODAY

Government Introduces Evidence Against Two Former Bankers

Asheville, Sept. 3.—(AP)—R. H. McDuffie, acting receiver for the Central Securities Corporation, identified its records today as the government began presenting evidence in the trial of Wallace E. Davis, and W. D. Harris, officers of the Securities Corporation, on charges of using the mails to defraud.

McDuffie was the first witness called. As vice-president and trust officer of the First Bank and Trust Company here he is acting for the bank as receiver for the Securities Corporation. Davis was president and Harris, vice-president of Central Securities, a subsidiary of the Central Bank and Trust Company of which Davis was also president. The bank and the Securities Corporation failed last fall.

Selection of a jury was completed yesterday and Judge E. Yates Webb allowed defense counsel until today to complete preparation of their cases.

Davis was convicted last May of publishing a false report of his bank's condition. On August 25, Davis and Col. Luke Lea, Tennessee publisher, and Luke Lea, Jr., were convicted of defrauding the bank. Both cases have been appealed.

Approximately 60 witnesses representing alleged victims of Central Securities, Inc., in 14 states and the District of Columbia have been subpoenaed by the government.

Davis and Harris are charged with giving false information concerning the Securities Corporation's financial condition to prospective stock and bond purchasers which resulted in the sale of approximately $3,500,000 worth of securities.

NEW APPEAL MADE FOR HERMAN CASEY

Raleigh, Sept. 3.—(AP)—A new appeal to the Supreme Court in behalf of Herman Casey, Lenoir county white man scheduled to have been electrocuted September 11, has been docketed here and Governor Gardner announced today he would grant the man a reprieve of six weeks.

Casey has been refused a new trial by the Supreme court one Justice Clarkson having written the opinion. Afterwards Judge Devin, in Lenoir Superior court, also refused a new trial when Casey's attorneys claimed newly discovered evidence would clear their client. It is from this ruling that the new appeal is taken.

Casey was convicted of the murder of J. C. Casewe, wealthy farmer, in K.V.A. and Goldsboro lumberman. Casey's body was found charred in his burned automobile on a deserted Lenoir county road.

BULLS DROP DOUBLE BILL TO PATRIOTS

Charlotte, Sept. 3.—(AP)—If any Piedmont league teams are still wondering why Charlotte, Raleigh and Greensboro are the winning clubs in the loop this season they might ask Durham.

The Bulls, having associated with the leaders as much as any other outfit, are certainly in a position to answer. They dropped a double-header to Greensboro last night, 7 to 2 and 6 to 4. A pair of games went to Charlotte earlier in the week. Raleigh upon completion of the Greensboro series, is the next opponent.

What's more, this Hornet-Cap-Pat team is all that's on the program for the Bulls for the remainder of the season. In spite of the prospects of all this baseball, Manager George Whitted, of the Durham club, hasn't got enough action in sight so he's going out and create more.

Whitted plans to organize a team of star Piedmont performers at the close of the season. Who will play on his club he hasn't said. He plans to make a barnstorming trip that will culminate with a series with the Charlotte Hornets, after the Bulls' play-off for the Piedmont pennant.

Raleigh used a pair of south-paws, Frank Coleman and Vernon Briggs, to snatch a couple of wins from Henderson, 8-3 and 3-0. The second game was a five inning affair.

Asheville allowed Kola Sharpe, former Hornet, the pleasure of turning back his one-time teammates from Charlotte 4 to 1. He kept the Hornets helpless, allowing only six hits, three of them to Calbreth.

The Hornets went to the Tourist City without Chester Martin, one of their hurlers. Martin had a fight with Pickrel, of Durham, in a game here earlier in the week, but club officials said this affair was not the reason he was left at home.

Winston-Salem and High Point sizzled a double-header that got as far as the second inning of the first game before rain forced a postponement.

Hard Openers Face the Oxford Gridiron Boys

By DILLON GRAHAM (Associated Press Sports Writer) Atlanta, G., Sept. 3.—(AP)—There may be tougher football schedules in the South than that presented by the University of Mississippi but none has a series of openers more difficult than the Oxford boys.

Coach Ed Walker's university squad starts off with Tulane—a big mid-season mouthful for any Dixie team—and on successive Saturdays encounters Alabama and Tennessee.

Walker has a young and inexperienced group, but he is determined his players will receive their full allotment of skillful under fire. Given a fair share of the breaks, Walker hopes to bring the Mississippians back to their former high rank in Dixie football.

Georgia, rated much stronger than Mississippi, finds Virginia Polytechnic, Yale and North Carolina as the opening trio. Then follow Vanderbilt, Florida, New York University, Tulane, Auburn, Georgia Tech and California.

Even a powerful team such as Georgia is expected to produce, in afforded little opportunity to skid through such a season unscathed.

South Carolina has a tough start in Duke, while Clemson after a warm-up with Presbyterian, plays Tennessee in its second engagement.

Chuck Collins' Carolina Tar Heels also have undertaken a large assignment in Vanderbilt, Florida, Georgia and Tennessee after their debut with Wake Forest.

There are no hesitation spots along Vanderbilt's first route with North Carolina, Ohio State, Tulane, Georgia and Georgia Tech awaiting the commodore.

Louisiana State will have its hands full with exas Christian University as an opener in Fort Worth. Virginia build up its game against Roanoke, Randolph-Macon, Maryland and Sewanee in preparation for its stadium-division encounter with V. M. I. October 15. The Cadets battle Hampden-Sydney, Richmond, Duke and the Citadel before meeting the Commodores.

SPORTS SLANTS

Red Cagle will roam the gridiron again this fall and winter for dear old New York Giants.

Things haven't been quite so good lately down around Wall Street, where the redhead galloped in to make a financial career for himself and he showed no hesitation in signing an attractive contract to take the ball again for the professional football outfit.

Cagle fitted nicely into Benny Friedman's pro machine last year, aided by interference such as he had had the benefit of at West Point.

One of the Red's running mates this year will be a newcomer to the professional ranks, Johnny Kitzmiller, the "flying Dutchman" who was developed as a first class ball-carrier by Capt. John J. McEwan at the University of Oregon.

But the ballyhoo in the pro game is such that I had to find out from Portland's eagle-eyed observer, L. H. Gregory, that Kitzmiller made it a condition of signing that he be assigned jersey No. 13.

Lucky 13
So far as the gridiron Giants are concerned No. 13 is their lucky number and Kitzmiller is welcome to it. Dr. Harry March, the club president, wrote to Gregory:

"Since we have been playing it has been worn by the great Jim Thorpe, an dwarf hardly call him an unlucky football player; by Glenn Killinger, the dashing quarterback of Bezek's 1921 Penn State team; by Wally Koppish and Jack Hagerty, so nothing but honor attaches to our No. 13.

"Incidentally, we lose Hagerty this fall, which is how No. 13 comes to be vacant for Kitzmiller. He leaves us to become backfield coach for Capt. John J. McEwan at Holy Cross.

"We get most of our boys from small colleges, because there they have to play one hour of hard football. Most of the big schools give 'em 15 minutes, and they thing they are overworked heroes.

"The situation was pretty well summed up by a certain coach when he said: 'The difference between post-graduate (professional) football and the college game is that pro football is motion, and college football emotion.'

"That's a good line, and hasn't been printed."

Babe Ruth's production of home runs has been at the rate of about 100 every two years since he got down to the serious business of busting 'em out of the parks of the American League.

He passed the 600 mark this season and if he can add another 100 to the collection, as he feels confident of doing, the record books will have a permanent entry for your lifetime and mine, especially since the less-lively ball now is cutting down the chances of any other slugger overhauling the Babe.

For no reason whatever we have obtained from a professional statistician and landmarks in the Babe's long-range campaign.

Dempsey Knocks Out Two Men In One Round Each

Aberdeen, Wash., Sept. 3.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey knocked out two opponents in one round each and went through two fast rounds with another in a four-round exhibition here last night.

Tom Moore, Los Angeles heavyweight first to face the former heavyweight champion was counted out after being knocked down three times.

The second man to face Dempsey, Al Zavaney, of Portland, was knocked down by the first punch and took the count.

Danny Lenhart of Portland, then went two rounds against Dempsey, taking a severe body punishment and an occasional blow to the head. He got in a few blows himself, but they apparently failed to trouble Dempsey.

BRAVES HIT THE SKIDS

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Despite the best efforts of Judge Emil Fuchs pocketbook and the recognized managerial ability of Bill McKeechie the Boston Braves at last appear to have hit the skids for fair.

Seldom has a club made a more promising start than they did this spring, and seldom has one fallen apart more completely once they hit the down grade.

Losing another doubleheader to the New York Giants yesterday, 9 to 2 and 3 to 1, the Braves for the first time this year fell into sixth place in the National league standing.

The Pirates, idle, passed them by a half-game. It's easy to remember when they were up in the first division, giving them all a run for their money.

Contrary to Manager McKeechie's pre-season belief, his club has not proved "just as strong as its pitching staff." The chunkers have done well, but the team's hitting has fallen down woefully.

Wally Berger at present is the only member of the team hitting over 300. With such hitting the Braves have made only 21 runs in losing ten of their last eleven games. They are an easy last in club batting.

Given steady pitching by St. Johnson and Larry Benton, the lively Cincinnati Reds came near knocking the Chicago Cubs out of third place with a double victory, 7 to 4 and 8 to 4. It was the third twin killing credited to the Reds in as many weeks.

The Washington Senators supplied the day's highlight in the American with their third straight win over the Athletics, 5 to 2. As a result, the A's had a bare 13 1/2 game lead today.

Noble relief pitching by Ivy Paul Andrews, recently brought in from Jersey City, enabled the Yankees to overcome a five-run lead and nose out the Red Sox, 7 to 6. Babe Ruth spanked his 38th homerun.

The Detroit Tigers made it two out of three for their series with the St. Louis Browns by dividing their doubleheader, winning the first, 5 to 4, and dropping the second, 7 to 3.

Urban Faber's pitching and batting enabled the Chicago White Sox to finish the day one up on Cleveland's Indians. The veteran batted Mel Harder 3 to 2, in the first, starting his team's scoring with his fourth hit of the season. Darkness halted the second fray with the score tied, 4 to 4, at the end of the sixth inning.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute.

NEW HOTEL FOR ATLANTIC BEACH

Atlantic Beach, Sept. 1.—Construction of a new resort hotel on the beach here has been definitely authorized by officers of the Manufacturers Trust Company of New York, owners of the site, following a conference in the metropolis with Manager R. W. Cordon. It was announced here by Mr. Cordon upon his return to the section.

Thomas Herman, architect of the firm of Gladding and Herman of Wilson, has been named as the architect for the building, which will probably be of the Cape Cod, or old New England type of architecture. Mr. Herman is now working on the plans and will be ready to submit them Saturday for Mr. Cordon's approval.

After the final completion of the drawings, the company will advertise for sealed bids following which contracts will be awarded as soon as possible, says Mr. Cordon. He expects actual construction work to be started this month.

The hotel will be comparatively small at first, until demands warrant enlargement or a larger building. There will be fifty bedrooms, a large dining room, sun room and lobby. Wide porches will face the ocean front. It was the idea of J. Lawrence Gilson, vice-president of the Manufacturers Trust Company, that it would be advisable to start with a small hotel and if it is successful to erect later a much larger and better hotel on the beach.

Plans are underway to locate the structure on the site of the present picnic building, about 70 yards to the right of the casino. The picnic rooms will be removed elsewhere. The hotel will be ready for use in plenty of time for the next summer season, Mr. Cordon says. He reports a good summer this year, better than last year's first season under his management, and says that the resort is steadily increasing in popularity. George Walter and his orchestra are drawing large crowds for the afternoon concerts and nightly dances, and are proving highly popular with the people of the region.

COLONEL LEA IS INDICTED

Basil Ramsay Also Cited By Grand Jury In Failure of Tennessee Bank

Nashville, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Col. Luke Lea, Nashville publisher, and J. Basil Ramsay, Knoxville banker, were revealed today as those indicted yesterday by a federal grand jury in the collapse of the Holston Union National Bank here last November.

Ramsay, president of the bank, was indicted on charges of misapplication of approximately $374,000 of the bank's funds and making a false entry.

Colonel Lea was indicted on charges of aiding and abetting in the misapplication of about $154,000 of the bank's money.

District Attorney William Carter announced that bonds of $25,000 would be required of each defendant.

A nine-count indictment charged Ramsay with misapplication of $67,736.04 of the bank's funds and converting it to the use and benefit of the Knoxville Journal Company, publishers of the Knoxville Journal, and Colonel Lea. The money was furnished without security it was alleged, and the Journal Company had no credit with said bank, owed the bank large sums of money which it was unable to pay and was then in a failing financial condition.

It was charged that Lea, "with intent to injure and defraud said bank," did "unlawfully aid and abet" Ramsay in misapplying funds. Similar charges were made in alleged misapplications and conversions of $20,000 to the National Investment Trust, Inc., and Luke Lea, Sr., 43,890 to the Tennessee Publishing Company and Luke Lea, Sr., and $23,000 to Luke Lea, Sr. Colonel Lea was indicted for aiding and abetting in each of the nine counts.

It was charged that Ramsay misapplied $43,890 to the use of the Tennessee Publishing Company without security when he knew the Tennessee Publishing Company "had no credit with the bank and owed large sums in excess of $200,000." The misapplication, it was charged, extended over a period of about two years, beginning shortly after Ramsay became president in 1928.

A 11-count indictment charged Ramsay with misapplication and conversion to his own use, to the use of the Holston Trust Company, of which he was president, and to Lucien L. Bailey, branch manager here of Caldwell and Company, of $219,875.60 of the bank funds. No security was furnished, it was charged.

One count charged that "with intent to deceive the officers and directors of the bank and the controller of the currency," Ramsay "did make and cause to be made a certain false entry" pur-

Science Probing Secret Of Shock From Sandstorm

Lubbock, Tex. (AP)—What puts electricity in sandstorms of the midwest is the object of an experiment being conducted at Texas Technological college.

Citizens of west Texas since the days of early settlers have experienced the electrical manifestations from contact with wire fences, automobiles, radio antennae and even insulated conductors.

Ranchers have been knocked down cutting off a windmill with a chain windless.

The department has measured more than 40,000 volts by using a radio antennae and a spark gap.

"On accidentally coming in contact with the wire, one is almost 'knocked down,'" Dr. E. F. George, head of the department, said.

"When the sandstorm is in full blast, this spark gap sounds almost like a 22 rifle."

Dr. George is certain the charge "is not due to friction between the wind and the wire." He said, however, that it might be due to friction between molecules of the air, grains of sand and dust particles and the wire.

Sometimes the humidity here is so low that there is practically no water vapor in the air to absorb the sunlight.

Gandhi Receives Great Welcome

Adena, Arabia, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Mahatma Gandhi and his party arrived at the entrance to the Red Sea today and made a brief visit ashore before resuming the voyage to London for the round table conference.

A large crowd of excited Indians wearing Gandhi caps, who had waited since midnight, cheered as the S. S. Rajputana steamed alongside the wharf in the dawn. Taking advantage of the cool morning air, he and the other delegates made a series of short trips to points of interest in the town. He was given an enthusiastic reception wherever he went.

Local Indian merchants wished him success at the conference and presented him a purse containing about $1,625.

Newest Element On Waiting List

Washington (AP)—Hafnium, the latest job-hunter among the chemical elements, is on the waiting list of the radio industry and probably will land a position, says the U. S. Bureau of Mines.

The recently-discovered substance has two qualifications that are expected to make it useful. It does not melt easily, and gives off electrons freely.

A KINDLY PROTEST

In yesterday's report of the opening of the tobacco market I find this: "In the patois of the farmers themselves." Now, Webster defines patois thus: "A dialect peculiar to the lower classes."

I am sure the reporter of the Daily Reflector did not intend this sweeping affront to the farmers of Pitt and surrounding counties, thru and by whom all the wealth of our towns is produced.

I have never been able to discriminate socially between people of refinement whether living in town or in the country.

Mrs. Charles McArthur.

TOBACCO CROP CAN BE CUT.

With tobacco and cotton at bottom prices, most everyone agrees that the only hope for the future of the growers of these two crops lies in a material reduction in acreage and judging from the past, there will be no appreciable voluntary reduction on the part of the growers, regardless of the consequences. In view of this situation there seems but one way to get the acreage cut and that is by concerted action on the part of the tobacco and cotton growing states' governments.

We doubt the constitutionality of a law that would limit the number of acres to be planted in tobacco on each farm in proportion to the acres of cleared land but we do believe that the tobacco states can cut the acreage to any desired number by the enactment of legislation that would place a privilege tax upon excess acreage planted upon any farm. In order to carry out such a measure there must be an agreement between the states as to what constitutes a one-horse farm and then agreement as to how many acres of tobacco could be planted to each one-horse crop free from any privilege tax. Then place a per acre tax on all excess acreage high enough to make the planting of the excess prohibitive. This plan could be worked if the states will get together on it, because no time merchant, bank or fertilizer company would extend credit to a farmer who was exceeding his proper acreage because the privilege tax on the excess would be a first lien upon the crop and the time merchant or banker would not extend credit where there was a likelihood of having to wait for the state to collect its money first.

All of us agree that less tobacco must be planted if the grower is to get a living price for it, and experience has proven that there is nothing to be any considerable amount in the crop unless the government takes a hand in the matter. In view of these facts we believe that the above outlined plan offers the best solution to bringing the production down to the point where the tobacco companies will want and need every pound of it and be glad to get it at a price that will pay the grower a profit.

SAM

By Freeman Lincoln

SYNOPSIS: The runaway marriage of Sam Sherrill and Freddy Munson is abruptly halted when Sam, leaving her home, finds a note from her half-brother Nelson saying he is marrying their maid, Martha Givens. Sam worries more keenly about the resultant loss of social standing, because her stepfather, Fourth Aldersea, believes in strict class distinctions. Nelson has taken with him money that Fourth has borrowed to pay a mortgage interest. Sam feels responsible for the finances of her family, which is one reason why she has previously considered marrying Peak Abbott, the wealthy owner of the Express, for which Sam and Freddy work. Sam is stunned by Nelson's note and in a daze she takes off her traveling clothes and starts to get Aldersea's dinner.

Chapter 8

MISTAKE OR DISGRACE?
Some time later the telephone began to ring. It rang briefly and authoritatively, but Sam did not even look up from her work. She was vaguely aware that it must be Freddy who was calling and that she probably owed him some sort of explanation, but she felt curiously incapable of speech. She felt incapable of everything except peeling potatoes, which asked no questions and were smooth and cool in her hands.

Possibly potatoes were numb all over, and very tired, and did not care to be bothered with questions. She could understand that.

The telephone continued to ring. Its commands were no longer short and confident, but had changed to dogged appeals for attention. It seemed possible that they might go on forever as so when Sam dropped the last potato into the pot of water boiling on the stove, she reflexively dried her hands and walked slowly into the living room.

The small suburban directory on top of the big blue city one provided just what she needed. Together they were thick enough to remove the weight of the receiver from its hook and to quiet the clamor of the bell. The instrument continued to buzz and mutter angrily for a few moments but then was still. Sam nodded and returned to the kitchen.

Fourth banged the front door heavily behind him when he came in. He always banged the front door—just as he always shouted Sam's name immediately afterward. It was a habit like Nelson's buttoning his vest on the front stairs. This time Sam did not answer his call. She intended to answer it but somehow the necessary energy seemed to be lacking, so she merely slid the grill bearing the chops into the oven.

After an interval during which Fourth indulged in a few cheerful preliminary blabs upon the mouth organ, he once more shouted Sam's name. Receiving no answer, he strode out to the kitchen. "Martha!" he began from the butler's pantry door, "where is—?" He stopped in surprise. "Sam! What on earth are you doing?"

"Hello, Fourth," Sam, with her back toward him, nodded. "I'm getting dinner."

"So I see, but I didn't realize this was Martha's day out."

"It isn't," Sam shrugged, realizing that the inevitable questions had begun. "Tomorrow is Martha's day out."

"Then—"
"Yes. That's it. Martha's left."
"No!" Fourth digested that surprising bit of information in silence for a moment. Then he said indignantly: "Didn't she give any notice at all?"

"Hardly any at all," replied Sam. Fourth's indignation grew. He paced up and down the kitchen floor and inquired heatedly whether Sam could have expected anything else from a little chit who had no breeding, brains, or sense of gratitude. He announced that her leaving in this manner was no more than he had expected and that it was undoubtedly a blessing in very little disguise.

He said that some competent person must be found immediately to take her place. He finally set forth upon a discussion of the gravity of the servant problem in the United States.

Sam did not listen. She realized that she should tell Fourth everything that had happened without delay. She knew that any postponement would only make things that much worse, but at the same time she knew that she could do nothing just then. She was terribly, horribly tired.

Fourth did not bother her during dinner or while they were washing and drying the dishes afterward. He was in a conversational mood, and in such a mood he required little prompting. The smooth flow of his words was almost restful, like the sound of rain on a tin roof. It was entirely meaningless to Sam, who merely relaxed, while her subconscious mind enabled her to nod or to shake her head at appropriate moments.

Fourth noticed nothing out of the ordinary. When the dishes were dried and had been put away, he remarked cheerfully that that was that, and retired with his newspaper in his slippers. Sam watched him shoulders and walked over to his side.

"Fourth," said Sam gently, "I have news for you."

"News?" He looked up in surprise but without alarm. "Well, let's have it. I hope it's good."

"I doubt if you'll think that it's good. I'm afraid it will be rather a shock."

"Oh," Fourth put down his newspaper and his pipe and looked at her. Then he said briefly: "All right, let's have it. I'm ready."

Sam said: "Nelson is married."
Fourth merely continued to look the pupils of his eyes widening. "Married?" He repeated heavily at last. "Married?"

Fourth was slow to understand. Sam watching him as he sat there with his big hands on his knees, appreciated exactly how he felt. The blow had been too sudden to be comprehended at once. It might be an hour, or two hours, or perhaps a full day before the knowledge was completely absorbed.

"Nelson married? On what?" he said.
Sam was patient with this irrelevance. "I don't know, but it doesn't matter, does it? The point is that the thing is done."

"Who is the girl?" Fourth demanded.
"That's the worst part," she avoided his eyes. "That will be the hardest thing for you to bear."

"Tell me her name."
"Nelson married Martha," said Sam gently. "He married Martha Givens."

"Martha Givens?"
"Yes," said Sam. "Martha—the maid."

Sam had expected that an outburst would follow her bald declaration, but none was forthcoming. There was merely a complete and absolute silence in the living room.

Sam did not look at Fourth. She wandered over to the other side of the room and mechanically began to rearrange magazines on the top of a table. She wondered idly what would happen next.

Fourth laughed at last, almost naturally. "It isn't true, of course."
Sam turned about and shook her head. "It's true."

"No," said Fourth flatly and without emotion. "There's some mistake. No son of mine would disgrace himself and me by marrying a—servant girl."

"I know how you feel," said Sam softly, "but the thing is done."
Fourth looked at her impersonally, as though she were a stranger. "How do you know?" he demanded coldly. "What proof have you?"

"I have a letter from Nelson that I found when I came home this afternoon. He said—"
"Get the letter," Fourth ordered calmly. "I want to read it."

She hesitated. Then she went up to her room and got the letter. She handed it to Fourth without a word and returned once more to the magazines.

Her sense of hearing seemed abnormally acute. She heard the rustle of paper as Fourth carefully took the letter from its envelope. She heard the faint ticking of the clock on the mantel, and the slow drip of water from the tap in the kitchen. She was instantly aware also, of a car that turned off the main road and started up the drive to the stable.

"Someone is coming," she said calmly. "Probably to see me. I'll talk to him outside."
With both hands Fourth was holding Nelson's letter under the reading lamp. He did not answer.

It was Freddy, as Sam had expected. He swung out of the taxi almost before it had come to a stop. Sam noticed as he came striding toward where she was standing on the front step, that he was wearing a new suit. He had a new overcoat, too, and a new hat.

Sam said: "We'll have to talk out here. Freddy. Let's go around the corner of the house where we can be alone."

They went around the corner of the house and came to a stop under one of the lighted living room windows. Sam could see Freddy's face clearly and could tell that he was angry. He was making an effort to control himself.

(Copyright Freeman Lincoln)
What is Freddy's accusation, tomorrow? Sam makes up her mind about marriage.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 1 to 2 points. Overnight selling orders seemed to come partly from the south and were probably combined with local selling on the lower stock market and reports of heavy selling on the Berlin Bourse at the reopening today. December sold off to 6.98 and March to 7.27 under the initial pressure but offer ings were readily absorbed and the market steadied several points on covering. There were partial reactions from an early advance in Liverpool but that market was a shade better than due on yesterday's New York close. There was some trade buying here as well as covering. Liverpool cables reported covering with foreign and local buying. Egyptian cotton futures in Alexandria were 9 to 17 points higher and the Indian spot quotation in Liverpool advanced 5 points.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Sept. 3.—(AP)—All deliveries of wheat sold at the season's lowest prices today in an inactive session.

The market persistently ignored bullish market news. Corn was unsettled for a time, easing slightly at the start, but advancing sharply when a Chicago professional began buying. Oats were also unsettled. Provisions were dull and easier with hogs.

Wheat closed firmer, 1-8 to 3-8 higher than yesterday's final quotations; corn finished strong 3-8 to 1 up; oats mixed, 1-8 lower to 1-4 higher, and provisions uneven, 10 down to 2 advance.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The first selling wave of consequence in several weeks hit the stock market today.

Prominent issues generally slumped 1 to more than 3 points, with a few of the more mercurial issues registering considerably larger losses.

The sweeping declines in Berlin, on resumption of trading on the Bourse, while not altogether unexpected, contributed to bearishness here. A precipitous break in J. I. Case, on announcement of a revision of the $1.50 quarterly dividend, was also unsettling. Selling pressure lightened after midday, but the market failed to recover notably.

Case has been a pool favorite for some time, owing to its small floating supply. In 1928 it reached a record high price of 515. Today it broke more than 9 points, going below 50. In the rails, issues declining around 2 to 4 points to new minimum prices for the bear market included New York Central Santa Fe, Union Pacific, New Haven and Lacawana.

U. S. Steel sold off more than 2 points to within a point of its minimum. Miscellaneous issues off about 2 to 3 included American Telephone American Can, Salsbury, DuPont, Eastman and Westinghouse. Motor and accessory issues were sold in considerable volume. Mullins dropped more than 6 points. General motors, however, lost only about a point in contrast to the slump in the New York market. The London market closed with a confident tone, largely reflecting rumors that the new government was developing means of new taxation which would not be severely unsettling. Sterling exchange continues stabilized at or a little above $4.86 on cable transfers. It is understood in banking circles that a little of the American portion of the recent $400,000,000 credit has been used, but this was expected.

The market continues to reflect disappointment over the lack of more convincing signs of an autumn pickup in general business activity. The late date of Labor Day this year may have something to do with it, but conservative quarters have not been hoping for anything brilliant in the way of recovering much before next spring.

When the right one comes along . . .

You wonder why you wasted time on the others! This been-waiting-all-my-life feeling has hit millions of smokers, men and women both . . . when they broke open their first Chesterfield package and caught its more pleasing aroma . . . when they lighted their first Chesterfield and knew, that minute, that it was milder— not sharp or biting.

And after a few puffs, they knew that the taste was better. Here were the cigarettes they had always hoped for, and looked for.

Here were the cigarettes that satisfy! Satisfy—that's the word that "fits."

The right tobaccos—the CHESTERFIELD kind of tobaccos, Domestic and Turkish—cured and aged, blended and cross-blended in the right way. Everything that goes into Chesterfield is the best that money can buy and that science knows about. The paper is just right. Everything about them is just right. Notice the difference.

They Satisfy . . . and—they're milder. Smoke as many as you like!
