THINKS TEXAS WILL ACT SOON

J. E. MacDonald Says Majority of Senate Favors Special Legislative Session.

The cotton states today looked for early south-wide legislation to relieve the distressed cotton market with the announcement of J. E. MacDonald, Texas commissioner of agriculture, that a majority of the state senate had assured him they favored a special legislative session.

Governor Ross Sterling previously had said he would convene the Texas General Assembly on the cotton situation if 17 of the 31 state senators favored the move. Commissioner MacDonald said he had the approval of 18 of the senators on a special session to curb cotton production.

The action of Texas, which produces a third of the cotton grown in the United States, was generally awaited by other cotton states before they took any conclusive step. So far one state, Louisiana, has passed cotton control legislation. There, Governor Huey P. Long's proposal to prohibit production of cotton entirely in 1932 was passed unanimously in record time and the governor has started a radio campaign to enlist support of other states. The Louisiana law becomes operative only if adopted by states producing three fourths of the cotton crop.

Governor Long, in his radio speech last night, rebuked Texas senators for failure to support his "no cotton" plan and charged they were "harkening more to the whispering voice of the cotton speculator and mill buyer than to woe of the downtrodden farmer."

In Georgia, Governor Russell has announced he would call the General Assembly into special session immediately such action was taken by Texas.

Yesterday Governor Blackwood of South Carolina said he "believed" he would go ahead with plans for a special session of cotton prohibition regardless of action by Texas. He said he felt he could "set Texas straight" on the matter.

Governor Murray of Oklahoma has announced he was considering a board of cotton control and Governor Bilbo of Mississippi said he would consider a special session of legislature on cotton acreage reduction.

Three mass meetings in Arkansas yesterday urged Governor Parnell to call a session of the legislature on the Louisiana plan.

Yesterday a delegation of Alabama farmers and farm leaders urged Governor Miller to call the legislature together to enact a cotton prohibition act. The governor told the group if he saw the need of a special session to aid the farmers he would call off but that for the present he was "sitting steady in his boots."

Austin, Tex., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Hopes of Texas cotton men that Governor Ross S. Sterling will call a special session of the legislature soon were rising today with receipt of pledges from 18 senators that they would support a cotton control bill.

Assurances from additional senators were received by J. E. MacDonald, commissioner of agriculture, after a conference last night with Governor Sterling in which the executive said he would act when 17 senators had endorsed a plan to reduce acreage.

The governor specified that the promises should be sent to his office recorded in "black and white." Fifteen such promises were in at that time.

Three senators and Lieut. Gov. Edgar Witt later joined the advocates of acreage reduction legislation. In a wire to Governor Sterling the Lieutenant Governor said he believed 90 per cent of the farmers favored legislation action.

A study of data in Governor Sterling's office revealed the majority of the legislators favored the MacDonald 50 per cent reduction plan over the "no 1932 cotton" program of Governor Huey P. Long of Louisiana.

Rural Merchant Commits Suicide

Hillsville, Va., Sept. 4.—(AP)—George Semones, 51, rural merchant and produce dealer, was found dead here today from an apparently self-inflicted shot gun wound.

A note nearby dealt with business affairs. Semones had been in ill health for some time. He divided his time between this city and Winston-Salem, N. C., where he has a produce business.

MURDER CASE BEFORE JURY

Trial of Kelly Hines, Negro, Charged with Slaying in 1920, Finished About Noon.

After receiving the murder charge against Kelly Hines, colored, shortly before the noon hour today, a jury in the criminal term of Superior court was still deliberating this afternoon.

The case was begun yesterday and Judge N. A. Sinclair charged the jury before noon.

Hines is charged with slaying Willis Best in this county in 1920. Immediately afterwards he made his escape and nothing had been heard concerning his whereabouts until he was arrested in Rocky Mount several weeks ago.

Strange Illness Believed Caused By Eating Poison

Chester, S. C., Sept. 4.—(AP)—A strange illness of six members of the family of J. W. LeGrand near here and four other persons resulted today in an inquiry to determine whether the ten had eaten food containing a poison.

The LeGrand family became ill Wednesday after eating dinner and Mrs. George T. Gregory, who went from Chester to nurse the family, and three negro women called in to aid in the household, also became ill when they ate food prepared in the home.

Dr. John C. Caldwell of Chester, expressed the opinion that the members of the family and the others were suffering from a powdered poison.

A sample of the family's flour supply was sent to Clemson College for analysis. Members of the family were at a loss to explain how any poison could have reached the food.

Mrs. LeGrand and a daughter, Eunice, were reported to be seriously ill. The condition of the others was less serious.

EMBALMERS TO MEET NEXT AT RALEIGH

Asheville, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Raleigh will be the scene of the 1932 convention of the North Carolina Funeral Directors and Embalmers Association.

The association, meeting here yesterday, decided to hold its next gathering in the capital city in May, the date to be fixed by the executive committee.

STORM MAY STRIKE CUBA

Danger that Tropical Disturbance will Hit Florida Diminishes Today.

Havana, Sept. 4.—(AP)—The danger that a storm of moderate intensity moving westward through the West Indies might strike the southern tip of Cuba was expressed today by observatory scientists.

Originating in the vicinity of the Virgin Islands, the disturbance hit the Dominican republic last night and passed over Haiti. It menaced the region of Cibao and the port of Plata without inflicting known damage and was accompanied by rain and lightning.

The national observatory gave notice that the storm had been sighted not far from Cape Haitien. It probably will touch the south coast of Oriente province in Cuba tomorrow afternoon.

San Juan, P.R., Sept. 4.—(AP)—The bodies of 200 persons believed to have drowned when rivers, filled to capacity by a down-pour of rain overflowed their banks at Ponce, were sought by police and national guards today.

The flood, attributed in part to the storm sweeping across the West Indies, destroyed much property and carried many houses and huts along the Portuguese and Inabon rivers into the Caribbean Sea. 328 inches of rain fell in 24 hours.

Thirty bodies had been found this morning. Governor Theodore Roosevelt ordered all government departments to assist in the work and opened Red Cross subscriptions with a personal gift of $200.

Miami, Fla., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Danger that a tropical disturbance in the West Indies might pass the southern tip of Florida diminished today as it was charted by weather bureau reports as passing westward to the south of Cuba.

The storm center was to be the north of the West Indian group yesterday but passed inland over Haiti last night and was charted between Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, and Navassa Island, this morning.

Intensity of the storm was diminishing today as its progress was observed by the weather bureau which expected it to continue its westerly course through the Caribbean Sea and the Gulf of Mexico.

Indications previous to last night were the storm would pass through the Florida straits some time Saturday unless it changed from the westerly course. Today, however, Richard W. Gray, of the Miami bureau said it would pass into the Yucatan channel if it maintains its present course, and would not pass across land enroute.

He had no reports of any damage in Haiti as a result of the passage of the disturbance over the island.

R. I. Dunten, in charge of operations for Pan-American Airways, said all the company's West Indies airports reported good weather today. A plane that was held yesterday at Port-Au-Prince, Haiti, resumed its flight to Santo Domingo City and San Juan, Porto Rico, this morning.

MUNICIPAL ASSOCIATION TO MEET NEXT IN CHARLOTTE

Greensboro, Sept. 4.—(AP)—The North Carolina municipal association will hold its mid-winter meeting in Charlotte, probably around January 1, 1932.

The association's executive committee meeting here yesterday decided to fix the exact date later. Hendersonville was selected for the next annual convention, which will probably be held in August.

The committee pledged the association to work for a revision of state highway laws so as to arrange for the state to take over city streets, exclusive of sidewalks, when those streets constitute part of state highways.

Such an announcement and the form it would take would not only satisfy expectant Republican leaders but would make way for others aspiring to the vice-presidency.

PLAN BREAK ALL RECORDS

Eight Fastest Planes in World Due to Arrive in Cleveland by Mid-Afternoon.

Kansas City, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Jimmy Doolittle, former army speed ace, streaked eastward today in the Burbank-Cleveland air race at a rate never before recorded for a west-east transcontinental flight and appeared to have an excellent chance to better the cross-country mark of Captain Frank Hawks.

Doolittle's small plane hurtled into Kansas City 6 hours and 10 minutes after leaving the Pacific Coast and after an eight minute stop for gasoline zoomed on for Cleveland and possibly New York. He had refueled also at Albuquerque, N. M.

The average speed for the 1,439 miles to Kansas City was slightly over 230 miles an hour.

Doolittle indicated before the start in California that he would continue to New York from Cleveland in an effort to capture the west-east transcontinental mark from Hawks. Doolittle's time to Kansas City today was two minutes less than Hawks required to reach Wichita, Kas., 175 miles westward.

Cleveland, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Eight of the fastest airplanes in the world were tearing through the air today from Los Angeles to Cleveland, apparently all of them at speeds well over 200 miles an hour.

They were due to arrive at the National Air Race headquarters, Cleveland airport, by mid-afternoon. Pilots of the planes were expected to break all previous time records for the distance, and several of them, if successful in that, intended to fly on to New York, hoping to break the transcontinental record of Capt. Frank Hawks.

CURTIS QUIET ABOUT PLANS

Will Not Know Within Three Months If He Will Seek G.O.P. Nomination.

Washington, Sept. 4.—(AP)—The group of aspiring Republican candidates for vice-president is going to have to wait some time to learn the decision of Charles Curtis as to whether he will run for re-nomination or for his old seat from Kansas in the Senate next year.

As non-committal as ever, Mr. Curtis said today he would not make his announcement of plans for "two or three months."

He just smiled at the newspaper stories predicting he would run for the Senate and commented that "I have said nothing whatever about my plans and I will make my announcement in my own way and in due time."

Meanwhile, the Republican politicians are busy speculating. A large number of the party chieftains have urged Mr. Curtis to stand again for the vice-presidency as a matter of party welfare.

While there are rumors that Mr. Hoover desires some other candidate as a running mate, it is generally agreed that he has given no indication of it. Many names of those close to the President are mentioned in this gossip.

But the Republican leadership is known also to be concerned at the reaction which would follow a decision by Mr. Curtis to cut loose from the Hoover ticket next year and cast his fortunes on a state race for the Senate instead.

A Democrat, C. C. McGill, has taken the seat vacated by Curtis when he went to the vice-presidency. Henry J. Allen, a Republican, was appointed to fill it but in the ensuing election he lost to McGill.

Kansas Republicans have been involved in factional troubles and Mr. Curtis is known to be studying the situation with a view to running again for his Senate seat which is at stake next year.

Some close friends of Mr. Curtis are confident he intends to announce for the Senate. If he does follow this course it is believed Mr. Curtis will definitely eliminate himself from consideration as a vice-presidential nominee.

Such an announcement and the form it would take would not only satisfy expectant Republican leaders but would make way for others aspiring to the vice-presidency.

ACCOUNTANT TAKES STAND

W. Bowen Testifies in Case Against Wallace Davis and W.D. Harris.

Asheville, Sept. 4.—(AP)—W. Bowen (correct) Henderson, public accountant, today testified in the trial of Wallace B. Davis and W. D. Harris on charges of using the mails to defraud that the Central Securities Company of Asheville had an operating loss of $90,000 when it failed last fall.

Davis and Harris, president and vice-president respectively of the securities company, are on trial in U. S. District court for allegedly sending false financial statements through the mail in connection with the sale of $3,600,000 worth of Central securities bonds.

In questioning the witness, attorneys for the government called attention to yesterday's testimony that frequent dividends were paid on the company's $2,000,000 capital stock.

J. W. Burrus, attorney in the income tax division of the U. S. Department of Revenue, was called as a witness and produced the income tax report of the Central Securities Company for 1930, but did not testify to its contents.

H. J. Clott, attorney for the Maryland Guaranty Company, Baltimore, testified his company never guaranteed bonds of Central Securities in any way.

One of the allegations in the bill of indictment is that statements mailed to prospective purchasers of the bonds said they were guaranteed by the Baltimore company.

STEALS WATCH, SENT TO ROADS

Clifton Miller Pays in Criminal Court for Taking Watch from Another Negro.

Clifton Miller, colored, charged with larceny, was sentenced to one year on the road by Judge N. A. Sinclair, of Fayetteville in the criminal term of Superior court here yesterday.

Miller was arrested by officers sometime ago charged with the theft of a watch from another negro.

The six-month grand jury which began action with the opening of court Monday continued deliberations today and was expected to complete work during the afternoon hours.

Numbers of presentments were returned by the jury which then began inspection of county officers.

CLERK FOUND SHORT, QUILTS

John Gilmore Resigns in Cumberland Following Discovery of $21,000 Shortage.

Fayetteville, Sept. 4.—(AP)—John C. Gilmore, clerk of Cumberland County Superior court, tendered his resignation today following discovery of a shortage of about $21,000 in trust funds in his accounts.

Judge N. A. Sinclair, resident judge of the district, said when communicated with by telephone that he would accept the resignation.

No specifications have yet been made listing the discrepancies resulting from the shortage. (Continued on page three)

GOOD TOBACCO SELLS BETTER

Local Market to Issue Weekly Report on Thursdays Instead of Fridays.

Weekly reports of sales on the Greenville tobacco market will be issued Thursday instead of Fridays as in the past years. It was stated this morning by K. W. Cobb, in submitting a report of the opening week's activities.

Sales for the week were given as 1,480,832 for $108,798.43 at a general average of $7.34 per hundred pounds. The reports cover a period of three days.

Last year the market for the corresponding period disposed of 1,707,186 pounds of leaf at an average of $7.52 per hundred pounds. The report covered four days.

Sales yesterday were given as 417,908 pounds for $33,408.29 at an average of $8.00 per hundred pounds.

The report indicated the market was still holding the strength displayed the middle of the week with better grades of tobacco showing a higher trend.

Raleigh, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Prices for the better grades of tobacco held steady to higher today under increased offerings on the new bright belt markets. Common tobacco was unchanged.

Although rains in much of the belt yesterday and last night held down the offerings, they showed an increase over yesterday as farmers put their weed on the market for the final day's trading of the opening week.

Kinston's receipts were estimated at between 400,000 and 500,000 pounds. Early trades indicated the average might be slightly higher than yesterday's $8.51 per hundred.

Goldsboro had 130,000 pounds on the floors, twice that of yesterday. Prices were in line with those of earlier in the week and an average of about $8 per hundred was looked for.

Prices ranged from $1 to 30 per hundred at Rocky Mount with the first 300 sales averaging approximately $10.50 per hundred. Receipts were estimated at 225,000 pounds.

Offerings of around 75,000 pounds were selling at about $10 per hundred at Tarboro. Enfield had a similar average for about 20,000 pounds.

Says Labor Ought To Be Interested In The Employer

Greensboro, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Lieut. Gov. R. T. Fountain, of Rocky Mount, holds that labor should be interested in the prosperity of the employer because labor cannot prosper unless the employer prospers.

He also declared in favor of an economic system that would balance production against human needs, instead of consumption.

"The channels of commerce would be opened so that a proper distribution may result," he said. "There should be no talk of surplus so long as people in some sections of the world are naked and hungry."

The booster's meeting will continue through today.

LARGE CROWDS HEAR SERMONS

Dr. J. Watson Shockley Conducting Revival Services at Red Oak Church.

Good crowds are attending the series of revival services at Red Oak Christian Church. Dr. J. Watson Shockley, of Asheville, is doing the preaching and Dr. L. B. Scarborough, pastor of the church, is in charge of the song services.

Wednesday night Dr. Shockley preached on the subject "How to Become a Christian." Last night he used as his subject "Christ the way to Salvation." Both sermons were delivered a forceful and convincing manner and contained many fine truths.

Short sketches from the sermons follow:

"How to Become a Christian"

We are to help the community in which we live; be the greatest asset possible; we are to be a help personally and to others. There are six factors in a saving relationship with God:

Divine side—1 God; 2 Christ; 3 Holy Spirit.

Human side—1 Individual to be saved; 2 The Word; 3 The Church. God and Christ did most of their planning before the action of human beings. We are to live and be directed by the Holy Spirit. The responsibility rests on the church and actions of the people of the church. There are three leading points that must be carried on and the church consists of these:

1 Truth; 2 Live the truth; 3 Practice the truth.

If individuals of the church makes a mistake, the outsiders see it and do not forget. There isn't any reason or excuse for not obeying Christ; so it is very silly or absurd to think that the mistake of one will cause another to fall.

There is a great difference between Christian and disciple. A Christian is one who has the right to wear the name of Christ. A disciple is a learner of Christ and a follower. Read Matt. 28: 19: 20 and find what the disciples were first asked to do. Therefore a baptized disciple becomes a Christian or has the right to bear the name of Christ. The four steps in becoming a Christian. First, faith must hear or read the word and become acquainted until he comes to the point of believing. Faith will undergird ones whole experience.

Two, Repent; 3, Confession—willing to accept Christ in the presence of men; 4, Baptism in the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit.

FOUR KILLED IN FIGHTING

City Meatless, Breadless, Without Communication as Strikers' Committee Calls on Mayor to Inform Him that Strike Has Been Called Off; Fighting Spreads to Smaller Towns.

Barcelona, Spain, Sept. 4.—(AP)—It was officially announced this afternoon that leaders of the general strike which began here yesterday and resulted in at least four deaths, had reached an agreement with the authorities to send their men back to work.

A committee representing the strikers called upon the mayor and informed him that the strike had been called off and the men had been ordered back to their jobs.

Meanwhile the disorders which occurred here yesterday and today had spread to several smaller towns in the vicinity, but no serious fighting was reported.

Barcelona, second largest city in Spain, was virtually meatless, breadless and without communications as authorities fought to suppress disorders growing out of the general strike.

Readiness to cope with a repetition of yesterday's outbreaks in which at least one person was killed and several gravely wounded.

The situation was compared to the "bloody week" of 1905 when strikers burned and sacked Catholic property.

Supporters of the syndicalist unions protesting the imprisonment of political leaders, set fire to a church, cut electric cables and telephone wires and battled police with machine guns.

Faced by a shortage of food, the authorities requisitioned trucks in an effort to maintain the supply and established bread lines for the needy.

The Dairymen's Association reported that nearly 100,000 gallons of milk had soured because strikers refused to allow it to be distributed. It was said they were attempting to starve the city in order to enforce their demands.

During the night the first heavy rain of the month washed the uncleaned streets and thus allayed fears of a spread of infection. The mayor also appealed to the public to cooperate in the matter of cleanliness.

Police lit the street lamps last night and extinguished them this morning but houses were without gas. Frequent collisions occurred and many people were hurt.

Machine guns rattled in the streets today and pistols were used in a dozen encounters.

Since yesterday at least four men have been killed and a score or more wounded. A considerable number of prisoners have been interned aboard ships commandeered for the purpose and anchored in the harbor.

Peaceful householders remained indoors with their shutters down, and suspects who appeared in the streets were fired upon at sight. All normal business was at a standstill.

As the day wore on the disorders got out of hand and guns roared all over the city. The situation looked extremely grave.

The women appeared to be united against continuing the strike and in many places they appeared pleading with their men to come home, out of danger.

Barcelona, Spain, Sept. 4.—(AP)—The women of Barcelona, rallying under the slogan "Children Before Politics" today decided to go on strike against their striking husbands.

Wives gave notice in hundreds of working class over the breakfast table that there would be no further meals for men who refused to return to work.

REDS' TAKE 4 STRAIGHT FROM 'CUBS'

By GAYLE TALBOT
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
The boys smiled tolerantly not long ago when Col. Dan Howley, in one of his exclusive interviews, expressed the opinion that his Cincinnati Reds were the "best last place club the National League ever saw."

What the colonel inferred was that he had a corking good team, but that it was up against the strongest opposition in the history of the circuit. From the manner in which his Red Legs have been knocking off the Chicago Cubs the last several days, it appears he knew what he was talking about. They made it four straight yesterday when Owen Carroll outlasted Pat Malone in a 19-inning mound duel, 3 to 2.

Their latest loss left the Cubs with a half game lead over the fourth place Brooklyn Robins.

The Reds' present winning streak is the second longest of the year. They captured five straight back in June, but their victims were the Phillies and Braves, not a first division club like the Cubs.

In the only other National League game spared by the rain, the Pittsburgh Pirates fell on Burlingame Grimes, himself, for a 6 to 4 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals. Oscar Melillo cracked a double and three singles and drove in five runs as the St. Louis Browns took their opener from Cleveland 11 to 3.

Scoring six times in the third frame when they knocked Bob Welland loose, the Detroit Tigers ran up a 9 to 3 score in their opening against the Chicago White Sox. The league's four eastern teams had an off day.

CHARLOTTE SEALS LEAD

Charlotte, Sept. 4.—(AP)—The Piedmont League's big parade today has just about reached the single file stage with the probability that each club will finish the season in exactly the same position it now holds.

Charlotte's first place mortgage is as good as foreclosed. Greensboro has only the slightest chance of overtaking Raleigh in second and Asheville is fairly safe from being vacated from fourth position.

Among the second division outfits, there is more chance for swapping in the several positions but High Point appears to be firmly entrenched in the cellar. Durham has an excellent opportunity to head the second division, leaving Henderson and Winston-Salem to scrap over sixth place, with the Gamecocks in the lead.

Not that it matters, with the standings as they are, but Greensboro no longer has even a mathematical chance of overtaking the Hornets. This possibility is open only to the Caps.

Durham took the Pats in hand last night and administered a 12 to 8 defeat after spotting the visitors six runs in the first inning. Four errors at critical times helped the Bulls along.

Winston-Salem added to the Pointers' woes by taking a pair of games 4-3 and 1-0. The last, a five inning affair, saw Reggie Mapp Twin hurler, pitching perfect ball. No Pointer got a hit and none got to first during the five innings.

Farmville, Sept. 3.—A wedding that came as a complete surprise to their many friends here, occurred Sunday evening at 8:00 o'clock when Miss Alice Magnolia Taylor of Farmville became the bride of Mr. Wilmer E. Malone of Gaffney, S. C. The ceremony was performed in the home of the bride by Rev. J. L. Malone, Episcopal rector of Murfreesboro, a brother of the groom, and was witnessed by only a few friends and members of both families.

Mrs. Malone, who is a daughter of Chief of Police and Mrs. J. L. Taylor, was lovely in a going away costume of green with harmonizing accessories. Of sweet disposition and charming manner, Mrs. Malone is very popular among a host of young friends here.

Mr. Malone is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Malone of Williamston. He was in charge of Rose's store here for several years, becoming well known and popular before being transferred to one of this firm's establishments in Gaffney, S. C. some weeks ago. He took an active part in the church life of the community, being a member of the Emmanuel Episcopal vestry and choir.

The young couple left immediately after the ceremony for a visit to relatives in Eastern Carolina, after which they will make their home in Gaffney.

FARMVILLE ROTARIANS ENJOY GOOD PROGRAM

Farmville, Sept. 3.—Outlining an original plan for a joint meeting of all the civic clubs in Pitt county, to be held within the next few weeks at the Teachers College in Greenville, Dr. R. S. McGeachey, the county's health officer, made a splendid appeal to Rotarians at their regular meet on Tuesday evening, for some concerted course of action in improving the living conditions of the people in this section. Dr. McGeachey followed up this plan with a suggestion concerning the professional guidance of the seniors of the high schools of the county. His plan in this connection being separate conferences to be held by the business and professional leaders with students of the same chosen field of activity. He stated that many of these men and women had already pledged themselves to support this movement and urged that Farmville Rotarians lend their efforts in its behalf.

John T. Thorne, a local planter, business man and president of the State Cooperative Cotton Marketing Association, was a guest and was requested by "Turkey" Willis, in charge of the program, to speak on the "Present Business Outlook."

Mr. Thorne gave the opinions and prophecies of men at the top of the business circles of the nation, including that of Alexander Legge. He then stated as his personal belief that times would be better when those interested in farming practiced living at home, raised less tobacco and cotton, and made their spending money before they spent it.

The program proved to be one of the most interesting and constructive of the year.

POLICE AUTHORIZED TO INSTALL PHONE SYSTEM

Mr. Lewis, bond expert, appeared before the board and advised how to proceed in sale of the bonds and was employed to represent the city in the matter. Two bond ordinances were passed by the board so that Mr. Lewis could proceed immediately with plans for offering the bonds for sale.

The aldermen decided to take advantage of the funding plan made possible through action of the last legislature and the money will be used to take care of the city's indebtedness.

J. S. Ficklen, chairman of the Library Commission, explained operation of Sheppard Memorial Library during the past year. He expressed appreciation of the board's decision to continue the usual $2,500 appropriation to the library. While the amount is not sufficient to cover expenses of the institution, he said they would make it go as far as possible.

People are taking advantage of the library, Mr. Ficklen told the aldermen. Over two hundred volumes are circulated daily, not including the enormous amount of reference works referred to from time to time. He also told of the use of the activity rooms by the Boy Scouts and other organizations and thought they were contributing greatly to the recreation life of the juvenile element.

He said $6,700 in gifts had been contributed to the library during its first year of operation in the new building and that this had been contributed to the library during its first year of operation in the new building and that this had been expended in various improvements. While the city's appropriation is not adequate to take care of the demands of the library, Mr. Ficklen declared, the commission will not ask for an increase until a pronounced improvement in conditions has taken place.

The board accepted a proposition from the two banks of the city offering 3 percent on time deposits, each institution declaring its inability to pay more under existing conditions.

At suggestion of Aldermen Boyd, the clerk was instructed to furnish the board with a detailed report on tax collections at each meeting in order that the members could fully inform themselves on the amount of revenue which is received by the city.

Mayor Flanagan was instructed to wire E. B. Thomas, city tax lister, now in Georgia, regarding arrangements for turning over his books to the city so that this important work may be carried on. The aldermen were unable to reach any definite decision regarding valuation as result of the books not being available.

The clerk was instructed to make deposits of all collections when the sum reaches as high as $100.

The aldermen also decided to make the State Bank and Trust Company one of the city depositories.

Several other matters of minor interest were discussed, which combined with reading of reports and paying of bills, threw the aldermen into another lengthy session.

"Christ the Way of Salvation" What is Salvation? Salvation is being saved from one's self from the world, from sin, unto God to carry out the purpose of God.

Christ redeemed humanity when he died on the cross. If Christ had not appeared when he did humanity would have been lost. God caused a part of Himself to be borned in flesh.

First, Baptism of Christ; Two, Introduction of Christ; Three, Anointing of Christ by the Holy Spirit at Baptism.

It is the truth that sets man free; out of this truth grows traditions. One should take Christ as his creed instead of man's creed. God's creed never changes; but man's creed changes; as a man learns he appreciates God's creed and accepts the truth. Man's creed is taking a part of the truth or a few of the principles. If we are bound by creeds of man we are stunted; the Holy Spirit can only save man. Acts 4—Christ is the way

ABOUT TOWN

By far the most important question before the public at this time is how to provide for the cotton surplus.
 The governors of practically all southern states believe something should be done but nobody seems to know what.
 Some want to pass legislation to restrict the growing of cotton and others to entirely prohibit production. Just what plan will be decided is problematical at this time, but it is safe to say the farmer will find something else to grow in the place of the staple next year.
 Some may have to raise more fishingworms than usual to take care of the unemployment situation and to prevent the streams from becoming over-flooded with fish, but something is going to be done and the governors might as well satisfy themselves on that score.
 The growers have about been convinced that planting cotton is nothing more than starvation, and when you convince a man he is going to starve after working hard all day long it may be said to his credit that he will do something to improve the situation.
 It is hard enough to have to toil day after day in the fields of this great section of the country and it is humiliating, exasperating and mortifying to have to sell the results of all that effort at below living prices.
 There may be some fools left among the farmers of the nation, but they are going to be harder to find next planting season than ever before, and the manufacturer may rest assured of that.
 With all the publicity the cotton crisis has been given the last few years it is not to be supposed that it will take any drastic legislation to prevent the farmers from planting too much of the staple. The situation has proved both enlightening to the business man and grower alike and somebody is going to do something and do it decisively and definitely before many months roll over the present planting season.
 The advance of tobacco prices the last two or three days has been a matter of considerable gratification to the people of this great bright leaf belt and if the condition continues the better everybody will like it.
 Observers believe continued advance in prices this week will mean that the opening week will compare favorably with the corresponding period last season.
 The fact that cigarette tobacco of the good qualities is always in demand by the large manufacturers has caused observers to be optimistic all along because the major part of the crop in this section is composed of this type of leaf.
 The growers are finding living very difficult at this time, and if

PAYS HIGHER LEAF PRICES

R. J. Reynolds Gives More for Good Tobacco Than It Did Last Season.

Local buyers of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company, one of the largest domestic buyers on the Greenville market, have been instructed by their company to pay good prices for the grades of tobacco used by the Reynolds company, and according to available figures this policy is being carried out on the Greenville market.
 Figures on the opening day's sales for 1930 showed that Reynolds' purchases averaged $10.28 per hundred pounds compared with the market average of $7.54, while the opening prices should advance sufficiently to enable them to recover somewhat they would not regret the long days and nights spent in preparation of the crop. It is heart-breaking to stand on warehouse floors and see the tobacco go at prices below cost of production but many a planter has seen it in practically every belt this season.

 However, with prices looking up here everybody is hopeful the market average will be boosted tremendously by the end of the season, especially when the best of the crop is offered.

The United States Chamber of Commerce is taking active interest in the unemployment situation and a committee hopes to make the results of several years' investigation public at an early date.
 It is to be hoped the report is more informative than the Wickesham crime report. If it is not may the influence that watches over all unfortunates throw a protecting arm about the jobless people of the nation.

With the government, the chamber of commerce and practically every other organization of any consequence trying to find a solution to the situation, it is difficult to believe something will not be accomplished. With so much agitation of a subject it is bound to bring action and the sooner it comes the better the workman will like it, especially the man that has been jobless for months.

While this district is suffering from the lack of employment, the condition is nothing compared with the great industrial areas of the world where thousands of men walk the streets in a vain attempt to find work. Although it is not to be expected that work will be found for everybody something should be done to take care of the jobless thousands until an improvement occurs. It is the best that can be done and that is about all anybody can expect.

day's sales for this season showed the Reynolds' purchases averaged $14.59 against a market average of $6.90.

On yesterday's sales the Reynolds company paid an average of $14.96 per hundred for its purchases, or $4.68 more than it paid on the corresponding day last season for purchases on the Greenville market.
 Commenting on the market an official of the company declared the Reynolds company paid more on the South Carolina and Georgia markets this year than it did last year for the tobacco it purchased and the standard grades it uses in the manufacture of cigarette and smoking tobacco. He said the company could not deviate from these grades because they are standard grades which are purchased each year and the product would not come up to the standard if they used any and all kinds of tobacco in their manufacture.

Officials of the company have instructed buyers they cannot use poor grades of tobacco, but that they appreciate the condition of the farmers and desire to help them all they can. For that reason their buyers have been told to pay good prices for the grades they require.
 It is understood that other domestic companies operating on the Greenville market have adopted a similar policy, and that better grades of tobacco are at a demand at a pronounced advance over last season.

Residents of Greenville and friends of the Reynolds market feel that the Reynolds company is closely connected with our market. In view of the fact that Mr. H. Noel Hardee, one of the high officials of the company, and in charge of the company's business in this section, is a former Greenville boy and well known here.

Prior to the opening of this year's market the company erected its own plant here and this year is better situated to take care of its purchases on the Greenville market than heretofore.

In addition to its office and buying force a large number of laborers are employed in the local plant.

 Friday 2nd Sale

Prices on our sale, especially the better grades, showed more strength today than at any time since the market opened. The market has been running four days and averaging between 7 1-2c and 8c, about the same as last year. About 80 per cent of the offerings have been bottom primings and 10 per cent common tips. While prices have been disappointing to a great many, we firmly believe prices for the better grades will more than offset prices for primings and common tips. Let us urge care in grading and market your tobacco in good condition.

SAM

By Freeman Lincoln

SYNOPSIS: Problems crowd thickly upon Sam Sherrill, climaxing in the marriage of her half brother, Nelson, and their maid—her burden of family finances falls upon Sam; but the disgrace of Nelson's escapade is felt more severely by her step-father, Fourth Aldersa, who retained his sense of social distinction when he lost the family fortune. Aldersa has just read Nelson's note, announcing a runaway marriage and the fact that he has taken with him money needed for a mortgage interest. Sam's need of money has made her consider the suggestion of Peak Abbott, wealthy owner of the Express where she works, that she marry him on a business basis. She loves Freddy Munson, also on the Express, and had planned to marry him that evening, but was prevented by Nelson's message. Hearing a car, Sam goes out to meet Freddy, who is angry because she did not meet him at the train.

CHAPTER 9
EMERGENCY CALL
She put her hand on his arm. "I'm sorry, Freddy," she said softly, "but I couldn't help it. Something happened."
He laughed sharply. "No doubt! I can imagine what happened. You changed your mind."
"No," she shook her head. "It wasn't that. It was something else. Something else happened."
"What?"
She looked up at him. "Please don't ask me questions, Freddy. She looked up at him. "Please don't ask me questions, Freddy. Just trust me, and believe that I couldn't help what happened."

"I believe you." Something in the quality of her voice made the anger fade from his face. Anxiety replaced it. "I believe you, Sam," he said gently, taking her hands. "Is there any way I can help?"
"No, Freddy. Nobody can help."
He looked at her, sensing something of what she felt. "And you can't tell me what it is?"
She shook her head wearily. "I will tomorrow, if you still want to know. I can't tonight."
"All right," he nodded thoughtfully. "I'll wait until tomorrow and I'll leave you alone now. But before I pull out, Sam, I must know that you don't feel any differently toward me."
"I don't," she said.

He smiled and squeezed her hands. "Then that's all I care about. We can be married tomorrow night, just as well as tonight."
She pulled away from him. "No, Freddy," she said calmly. "We can't."
He stared. "What do you mean?"
"I mean that I must have been crazy. You and I aren't going away together—ever. We can't."
"But—"
"If you argue with me," said Sam slowly, "I shall cry, and I don't want to cry."
"All right, Sam," Freddy was gentle once more. "I won't argue with you tonight. I'll come back in the morning and then things will be different."
"No," said Sam definitely. "they won't. You and I are through for good. I mean it."
He smiled. "I said we wouldn't argue any more tonight. I'll come back in the morning."
"All right," she looked up at him. "Will you kiss me good-bye?"
"No!" He took her in his arms. "I won't kiss you good-bye; I'll kiss you good night!"
Sam stood in the shadows by the corner of the house and watched Freddy go away. Then she went back into the house.

Fourth was still sitting on the davenport. His hands hung loosely between his knees and Sonny's letter lay on the floor. He looked up when she came into the room.
"It seems to be true," said Fourth dully. "It actually seems to be true."
"I'm afraid so," Sam forced herself to walk over to Fourth and to pat him on the shoulder.
"It was the girl, of course," Fourth continued as though talking to himself. "It was that woman."
"You mean Martha?"
"Yes," he nodded. "She's responsible for all this. Nelson isn't really bad. She made him disgrace himself." Fourth looked up at Sam. "She made a thief out of my son."
"Oh, no. Fourth, Nelson isn't a thief."
"He took money that didn't belong to him. That's stealing."
"He didn't mean to steal. He only borrowed the money, and he intends to pay it all back."
Fourth said: "It was that woman." He nodded slowly. "I hate her so that I'd like to strangle her with my own hands."
Sam shook her head. "You mustn't feel that way. Fourth. It won't do any good, and besides, I don't believe that Martha is altogether responsible. I imagine that Nelson is as much to blame as she."
Fourth did not answer for a moment. The she said: "What am I going to do?"
"What can you do?"
"I don't know, but I must do something." He ran a hand through his thick white hair. "Where do you suppose they are?"
She shrugged. "It's hard to say. Elkton, probably. Isn't that where people go when they want to be married in a hurry?"
"Yes, of course it is." He got to his feet. "I'll go to Elkton. Joan, I'll drive down there now."
"Why? It's only a chance, and you couldn't do anything, anyway."

"I'll go to Elkton," Fourth said. "I'll leave immediately."
She moved across the room. "I'll get your coat."
ed him his hat. Then, surprisingly, he kissed her. "Don't wait up for me, Joan, because I'll probably be late. If I have any news I'll wake you."
"All right," she nodded. "Drive carefully. Fourth. There's apt to be ice on the roads."
He went out. Sam waited until the roar of his motor had died away in the distance, and then she went to the telephone and called Peak.
There was a buzzing sound and then Peak's voice. "Hello?"
"This is Sam. Peak. I'm sorry to bother you, but I wonder if you can come over for a little while. It's important."
Peak said quietly: "I'll be there in a minute or two."
Sam hung up the receiver. It was like Peak not to be bothersome or to ask questions. There were a lot of nice things that were like Peak when you stopped to think of it.

He came into the living room without knocking a few minutes later, and he found Sam still seated by the telephone. He took one brief glance at her face and said sharply: "What's happened?"
Sam said: "Nelson is married. He ran away this afternoon and got married."
"No!" Peak whistled sharply. "Married? The young idiot! Who is the girl?"
"That's the thing. That's the really important thing, Peak. He married Martha Givens. She used to work here. She was our maid."

"Your maid?" Peak again whistled and took a half step toward her, struggling with the idea. "I can't believe it!"
"It's true," said Sam, almost indifferently. "He ran off somewhere and married her. He left a letter that I found when I came home this afternoon. You can read it if you want to. It's on the floor over there."
Peak picked up the letter. He read Nelson's scrawl carefully twice. "This is bad," he said slowly. "I suppose it's too late to do anything about it?"
She shrugged. "We don't even know where they went."
"Does Fourth know about this business?"
"He's on his way to Elkton to see if he can find them, but it won't do any good. I suppose it will be in all the papers tomorrow morning."
"I'll tell you one paper it won't be in," said Peak grimly. "Let me have the phone. I can do that much, anyhow. I only wish I could do more."
Sam was thoughtful. "I think you can do something more, Peak," she said slowly. "If you really want to."
He stared. "If I really want to! You can bet I want to! Just tell me what it is and it will be done."
She almost smiled. "Do you still want to marry me, Peak?"
He shook his head sadly. "That's the second foolish remark you have made in the last ten seconds. Are you sure you feel well?"
"Yes, I'm quite normal." She looked at him steadily. "And I take it that I can assume that you still want to marry me?"
"You can."
"Good." She was grave. "Then, in that case, you and I are engaged."
Peak said nothing. He merely looked at her for a long moment and then sat down on the couch. He took a handkerchief from his breast pocket and unfolded it. Then he folded it again and put

The market sold through Thursday 1,480,382 pounds of Tobacco for $108,798.45, an average price of $7.34 per hundred, as compared with $7.52 average for the first week's sales last season. A large proportion of the offerings so far have been bottom primings and common tips which are in little or no demand, thereby keeping the average down. The better grades are stronger and we look for much higher averages when these better grades begin to come on the market in larger quantities.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today, unchanged to 2 points lower with the active months showing net losses of 3 to 10 points under some overnight selling from the south combined with Liverpool New Orleans and some local selling which may have been promoted by the lower opening of the stock market.

There was considerable covering of the decline as well as some trade and commission house buying, however, and the market steadily advancing from 6.94 to 6.99, and with active months generally showing net gains of 2 or 3 points at the end of the first half hour.

GRAIN MARKET

By Giles L. Findley
Chicago, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Traders were not in the mood to get far from shore today with a triple holiday ahead and prices on all grains held within narrow limits. Wheat had a range around a cent for the day, with corn price variations around 3-4 cent. Some short covering was in evidence by operators who were evening up. Rumors that the Farm Board had sold or would sell 15,000,000 bushels of wheat to China had no effect.

Wheat closed firm, unchanged to 3-4 cent higher than yesterday's finish; corn stronger, unchanged to 7-8 higher; oats uneven, 1-4 down to 1-8 advanced, and provisions uneven, ranging from two cents decline to 3 cents higher.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Sept. 4.—(AP)—The stock market made rather feeble efforts to get on its feet again today, after the wallp received from yesterday's selling wave.

Selling in advance of the three-day Labor Day shutdown appeared to have largely completed, and closing out of short commitments lent support in spots.

There was enough hangover selling to make the market rather uneven, however, and declines were fairly general for a time in the morning. The market as a whole was dull.

U. S. Steel dropped a point to another new low at 82 3-8, then recovered to show a small gain. Such issues as General Motors, DuPont, Radio and Westinghouse refused to show small advances by early afternoon.

Allied Chemical, Lumber, Krueger, American Can and Union Pacific sold up about a point. Utilities and communications issues were heavy, and showed little recuperative power, however. American Telephone and Western Union lost about 3 points and American Water Works 2. Some of the baking and specialty issues were heavy. National Biscuit lost more than a point. Continental Baking preferred and Canada Dry about 4. A private business and financial survey prepared by a large financial concern for its directors said business leaders generally are looking for no more than a seasonal upturn this autumn, and some skepticism exists that the full seasonal increase will be attained. On the other hand, they do not expect business to recede materially from present levels, nor do they believe the final weeks of 1931 will be materially below the end of 1930.

Powers Shunned by Prisoners in W. Virginia Jail

Clarksburg, W. Va., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Shunned by fellow prisoners Harry F. Powers 45-year-old matrimonial agent who has confessed he killed two of his women clients and the three children of one of them occupied a cell alone in the county jail today.

After receiving protests from Clarksburg citizens and hearing objections from other prisoners Sheriff William Grimm determined to place the fat bespectacled killer by himself.

Heretofore Powers was confined to a section occupied by other prisoners. He had spent some of his evenings playing poker with them, with matches as the stakes, and apparently was glad to avail himself of their company.

Of late, however, jail attaches said, some of the prisoners objected to being locked up in the same "cage" with Powers.

The prisoner who admitted several days ago that he killed Mrs. Asta Buick Elcher and her three children and Mrs. Dorothy Pressler Lemke and buried them in a ditch near his garage in Quiet Dell, near here, seemed greatly depressed after his cell was changed.

His attorney, J. Ed Law, said today that he had not yet determined the plea he will make for the prisoner, but he emphasized that when he gets into court he intends to attack abuses he says the prisoner was subjected to before he admitted the slayings.

Barrett O'Hara, Chicago lawyer who defended Virgil Kirkland, sentenced to 10 years in the slaying of Arlene Graves in Gary, Ind., recently conferred with Law yesterday, later O'Hara said he did not know if he would be asked to assist in Powers' defense.

Two Men Killed In Mountain Feud

Monticello, Ky., Sept. 4.—(AP)—A long standing feud between members of two mountain families flared again here last night and Lon Guffey, 35, and Otho Lovelace were fatally wounded in a pistol battle at the Wayne county fair grounds.

Guffey, who slew Lovelace's brother, Lyle Lovelace July 12, encountered Otho Lovelace in the midst of a crowd of several thousand persons attending the fair.

Few words were spoken before pistols were drawn. Guffey struck three times by Lovelace's fire, fell to the ground but lifted himself on his elbows and fired five shots into Lovelace. The shooting threw the fair crowd into a panic.

Guffey died a few minutes after reaching a hospital here and Lovelace died early today at a Somerset hospital.

Officers said the bitter feeling between the two families dated back many years. It was renewed July 12 when Guffey and Lyle Lovelace disagreed over the affections of a girl. They quarreled and Guffey shot and killed Lovelace.

Deny Marriage Has Hit Rocks

Hollywood, Calif., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Winifred Sackville Stoker Harrison, erstwhile "infant prodigy" of letters and Earl Winston Harrison, 31, her recently acquired husband, disagree with a New York report, attributed to Mrs. Harrison's mother, that their marriage is a failure.

Located in their Hollywood apartment they asserted in enthusiastic union that they were enjoying a perfectly good honeymoon, and denied they were on the point of seeking an annulment.

Mrs. Harrison was quoted in New York yesterday as saying in a telegram to her mother there that the brief marriage since August 18, had proved a failure and a separation was imminent.

"I haven't the remotest idea of asking for a divorce or an annulment, or anything like that. We're as happy as we can possibly be and looking forward to our trip to New York where mother will meet Mr. Harrison. I know she'll like him."

The California fliers, headed by Lou Reichers of Arlington, N. Y., in a Lockheed Altair-Cyclone plane, started taking off at 4:20 a. m. E. S. T. Reichers was followed at brief intervals by Walter S. Hunter, Sparta, Ill.; Capt. Ira Eaker, Washington; Harold S. Johnson, Chicago; Beeler Blevins, Atlanta; James Doolittle, St. Louis; James Goodwin Hall, New York, and Art Goebel, Los Angeles.

Their race to Cleveland was for the Bendix trophy and $17,500 in prizes, including $10,000 to the winner should he beat Capt. Hawkins' record to New York of 12 hours and 25 minutes.

A third group of planes was enroute to Cleveland from Canada after a stop last night at Buffalo. There were nine planes in this fleet, four civilian and five of the famous Siskin fighting ships of the Royal Canadian air force.

A heavy rain which started falling shortly before noon caused the postponement of the opening program until late in the afternoon. Race officials said the airport weather bureau reported the rain
