GOVERNORS PREPARE TO CALL SOLONS TO AID COTTON RELIEF

TEXAS BEGINS WORK TUESDAY

Governor Blackwood, of S. C., Says It Is Likely State General Assembly Will Meet Sept. 15; Governors Russell, Georgia, and Parnell, of Arkansas Expected to Act Immediately; Meeting of Farmers to be Held in Austin.

By Associated Press The governor of three southern states made ready today to call their Legislatures together to enact cotton relief measures in the wake of action of the extraordinary session to be convened in Texas tomorrow.

Governor Blackwood of South Carolina said it was likely that the State General Assembly would be called to meet September 15. Governor Russell of Georgia said he would issue call for a special session as soon as "Texas acts." Gov. Parnell of Arkansas indicated he would act similarly.

Meanwhile as a means of speeding action of the Texas legislature on cotton relief a mass meeting of farmers was planned for Wednesday at Austin. Governor Ross Sterling and Commissioner of Agriculture J. E. Mac Donald invited Huey P. Long of Louisiana to speak.

Governor Long whose state was the first to act in the cotton crisis by passing a law to prohibit growth of cotton in 1932 provided states producing 3-4 of the crop take like action. He did not announce whether he had accepted the invitation at Austin. However, it was said he was expected to fly there to attend the meeting.

Commissioner McDonald said 21 of the state's 32 senators and 110 members of the House in Texas had pledged support to a plan to reduce acreage of cotton. He advocated a 50 per cent curtailment.

Observers said the Louisiana "no cotton" plan had little support. The proclamation of Governor Sterling calling the Texas legislature into session was filed and sealed by the Secretary of State yesterday and copies mailed to the legislators.

Governor of several cotton states declined to commit themselves to a special session of their legislatures pending action by Texas. In Mississippi, Governor Bilbo said "let Sterling go ahead with his call and we'll wait to see what Texas will do."

Governor Miller of Alabama said he was giving the matter serious consideration but that action should be produced by legislation. Governor Horton of Tennessee said he did not plan to call a session of his legislature. Governor Gardner of North Carolina did not comment.

In Oklahoma Governor Murray has announced he was contemplating creation of a board of cotton control. Texas, as the producer of a third of the cotton in the United States holds the balance of power in cotton legislation. Governor Long last night made an appeal to the Lone Star State once more to support his "no cotton" plan.

Finds It Cheaper to "Buy" Cotton Than to Raise It Shelby, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Sam A. Ellis, farmer, bought the second bale of cotton ginned here saying it was cheaper to buy and store than it was to grow.

The bale, weighing 512 pounds, was grown in the city limits and was the first Cleveland county bale to be wrapped in cotton instead of hute. A few minutes after Ellis bought the bale for seven cents a pound, a motor company paid seven and a half cents for it for exhibition purposes.

Ellis said he intended to purchase more and store it until next year when he would plant other things in the place of cotton. Durham, N. C.—(AP)—Work has begun on a nurses' home at Duke University hospital.

FINAL UNION SERVICE HELD

Rev. W. A. Lillycrop Speaks to Large Congregation at St. Paul's Church The last of the series of union services conducted among the city churches during the summer was held at St. Paul's Episcopal Church last night.

The sermon was delivered by Rev. W. A. Lillycrop, rector of the church and one of the largest crowds of the series was in attendance. The service was marked by inspirational congregational singing and special choir numbers.

Rev. W. S. Harden, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, read the Scripture lesson and made the announcements. Mr. Lillycrop spoke on the common task of all the churches to speak a word of courage and confidence to men and women of the present period of depression.

The responsibility of this task rests upon members of the church, the minister said, and they can achieve this task in four ways, namely: by being fine and true to themselves; by enduring sacrifice and hardship as good soldiers of the Lord Jesus; by living in intimacy with the Saviour; and by being loyal to His standards and His principles in every phase of their lives.

He referred to the breakdown in the person affections for Jesus Christ, breakdown in devotional life, breakdown in personal honor and the breakdown in social and moral standards. He brought out the fact that these things needed to be corrected in our own lives before we can speak that word of confidence to distressed people.

Commenting on sacrifices and hardships, he declared saviors of the world had never been those who have sacrificed up to the point where they were quit and discouraged and then quit, but those who have given their very lives.

He said we need the Christian spirit to endure hardship, to help each other and to face life as our Master did before us. Intimacy of the Saviour, he asserted, can be obtained only by going back to the Gospel and reading it for guidance and direction in our daily living, and going out then to be strong and brave and brotherly to live as Christ did.

All that we might know about Christ, he concluded, all that we might desire to be fine and true would never be fulfilled unless we are loyal to Christ in all that we think and do.

UPHOLD S. C. POWER TAX

Decision of Federal Judges Denies Injunction Sought By Power Companies Charleston, S. C., Sept. 7.—(AP)—The constitutionality of South Carolina's electric power tax was upheld today by three federal court judges. The decree was filed in U. S. Eastern District Court.

Signed by Circuit Judges John J. Parker and Elliott Northcutt and District Judge E. F. Cochran. The decree denies an interlocutory injunction sought by three power companies to restrain the state tax commission from enforcing or attempting to enforce the statute which imposes a one-half mill tax on every kilowatt hour of electric energy. YOUTH TAKES HIS OWN LIFE

Chester Williams Fires Shotgun Load into Body in Black Jack Section Chester Williams, 20, son of Jodie Williams, Black Jack township farmer, committed suicide by firing a shotgun charge into his body last night about 12 o'clock.

No cause had been advanced for the act today but opinion was expressed that the youth had been worrying about a case which he had in court. Immediately upon returning home last night, the youth was said to have gone to his room, barred the door, lifted the shotgun from a rack on the side of the wall, and emptied the entire load into his body.

Relatives sitting in an adjoining room rushed to the door and tried to enter, but were forced to go on the outside and climb through a window. The young man was dead when they reached him. Funeral services were conducted from his late home this afternoon at 4 o'clock and burial was made in the family burial ground near the homeplace. Coroner E. S. Williams went to the home to investigate the death but suicide was so evident that an inquest was considered unnecessary.

Russell Finds Refuge At Last

Glasgow, Scotland, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Peter Russell, "a man with-out a country" who has been shuttling back and forth across the Atlantic since last June seems to have found a haven of refuge at last.

British and American immigration authorities declined to permit him to enter either country while they debated his nationality. When he arrived here today in the steamer Artigas, he learned that he had been proved to be a Scotchman and was at liberty to go anywhere in Great Britain. He headed for Fifeshire his home.

Russell's troubles began when he missed his ship at Cork last April. He stowed away on another bound for Boston and was refused entry there because of conflicting information about his place of birth. He was deported, but the British ruled that he was not a subject of King George and he was sent back. During all the time that he steamed back and forth across the ocean, a technical prisoner, it cost about $8 a day to guard and feed him.

MISS BROWN TAKES STAND

Former Bank Secretary Testifies in the Trial of Two Bankers at Asheville Asheville, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Miss Ruth Brown, former secretary of William D. Harris, vice-president of the Central Securities Company, Inc., testified in federal court here today that Harris knew the company was making false financial statements but that Harris told her he signed them "under orders from higher up."

Miss Brown took the stand in the trial of Harris and Wallace B. Davis, president of the company, who are charged with using the mails to defraud. The government charges Harris and Davis made bond sales totaling $3,600,000 to persons in various parts of the country by means of false financial statements mailed prospective customers.

Miss Brown's testimony went in to the records over the vigorous protests of attorneys representing Davis, who also was president of the Central Bank and Trust Company, which failed last fall and which was the parent concern of Central Securities.

Thomas J. Harkins, former federal district attorney, who is assisting the prosecution, spent considerable time pointing out alleged discrepancies between the Central's books and the financial statements. "I told Mr. Harris I'd hate to sign that statement," Miss Brown testified, "but he replied that he was doing all that under orders from higher up."

She added that on several occasions when the financial statements were being prepared the Central Bank "bought" stocks from the securities corporation in order that the statements might show a large amount of cash on hand. This stock was repurchased by the securities company as soon as the statements were mailed, she said.

Mutinous Fleet In Chile Gives Up Unconditionally After Terrific Air Attack

FOUR KILLED IN ACCIDENTS

Three Die On Highways and One Killed By Train Near Cerro Gordo Charlotte, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Train and automobile accidents caused four Sunday deaths in North Carolina.

As a result, three men were held today pending investigation of the accidents. With a party headed for a Labor Day camping trip, Miss Helen Fanning, 19, of Asheville, a co-ed at Duke University, was killed when an automobile struck a telephone pole. Buck Gudge, the driver, and Webster Ward, who was at the wheel of an automobile Gudge said forced his from the road, were put under $2,000 bond each. An inquest was called for today.

Near Jacksonville, a light roadster left the road, killing Leslie Kellum, 22, and seriously injuring Hammond Morton, 25. A similar accident near Lenoir resulted in death for Richard Deal, 21, of Granite Falls, and injury to Grover Keller. Howard Keller, a sailor stationed at Paris Island, S. C., driver of the automobile was placed under $1,000 bond for a hearing Tuesday on a charge of manslaughter.

Irby Pippy, 30, farmer, was found dead by the Atlantic Coast Line Railway near Cerro Gordo. A coroner's jury decided he was struck and killed by a train.

Minister Charged With Killing Son

Augusta, Ga., Sept. 7.—(AP)—The Rev. J. H. Williams, Rochelle, Ga., minister, was held here today on a warrant charging him with the murder of his son, Raelford Grady Williams, 19.

The minister was arrested at his home yesterday shortly before he was to have left for Pitts. Ga., to preach. Sheriff R. Gary Whittle of Richmond county said the murder charge followed a report to him that the elder Williams obtained a leave for his son from a U. S. Navy ship on grounds a sister was gravely ill. The officer said he learned the sister was not seriously ill at that time.

Investigating officers said bullets found in the body of young Williams corresponded in calibre to a gun in possession of the father and that automobile tracks near the body were similar to those left by the minister's car.

The officers said the father collected $2,500 life insurance following his son's death. The son's body was found on a highway near here Aug. 5, two days before Williams' funeral ended. Officers said young Williams had a widow and baby living somewhere in Maine.

Will Raise Millions To Aid U. S. Jobless

Washington, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Labor Day finds the nation mobilizing the greatest relief funds in history to prevent unemployment this year during the coming winter. States counties and cities through out the country are organizing relief committees and preparing to raise millions of dollars through taxation and contributions.

Only scattered reports of local plans had reached national relief headquarters but they indicate the relief funds will mount into the hundreds of millions. New York and California are leading the way among the states. San Francisco, New York, Detroit, Seattle and Salt Lake City, among the municipalities. ORDER TRIAL FOR MINISTER

Dr. William Shelton To Be Heard on Charges Brought by Former Secretary Washington, Sept. 7.—(AP)—A church trial has been ordered for Dr. William A. Shelton of Washington pastor of Mount Vernon Place Methodist Episcopal Church, South, on charges brought by a former secretary.

The nature of the charges, by Miss Carrie A. Williams, has not been divulged. She had been secretary also to two former pastors. Bishop E. D. Mounson of Charlotte, N. C., ordered the trial after a committee of five ministers last week made a preliminary investigation and recommended a church trial "in fairness to all parties." The date of the trial has not been set.

The Washington Post says the charges previously had been investigated by a church committee and the pastor found innocent. Dr. Shelton came to Mount Vernon Church, one of the largest in Washington, last October. Previously he had been a professor at Emory University, Atlanta, and pastor in Oklahoma.

Decision to hold the trial was announced in the following statement by the Rev. J. H. Balthis, presiding elder of the Washington district of the Baltimore Conference: "Because of persistent rumors (Continued on page three)

FAILS TO SET NEW AIR MARK

Lowell Bayles Loses Out in Attempt to Make Land Speed Record at Races. Cleveland, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Lowell Bayles of Springfield, Mass., today failed in his attempt to set a new American land plane speed record at the national air races.

He piloted his Gee Bee low wing monoplane four times over an official three kilometer course, attaining in his fastest speed with the wind 271.142 miles an hour. His fourth dash was not times and his average for the first two was 257.48 approximately ten miles an hour slower than the plane attained last Tuesday on four unofficial dashes over a mile course.

He indicated he might try again tomorrow. His motor was about 200 revolutions a minute slower than last Tuesday, he said. Major James H. Doolittle, now holder of the transcontinental record, had planned an assault on the world's land plane mark but he gave it up this morning.

Doolittle tried out a larger motor in his Laird biplane which he used in his record transcontinental flight hoping to increase his speed for the planned speed record flight but he was not satisfied with its performance. Mechanics started to re-install the old and smaller engine, so it would be ready for Doolittle to fly the plane this afternoon in the $15,000 Thompson trophy race.

Bayles Doolittle and 19 other fliers were entered in the Thompson event, the speed classic of the day. The Thompson trophy race, 100 miles, will conclude the 1931 national air races.

LAST VESSEL SURRENDERED

Destroyer Flotilla Submitted Yesterday After Twenty Minute Bombardment by Airplanes; Battleship LaTorre With Cruiser O'Higgins, Which Had Lain Off Coquimbo Since Beginning of Rebellion, Will Surrender at Valparaiso Santiago, Chile, Sept. 7.—(AP)—It was officially announced today that the mutinous Chilean fleet had unconditionally surrendered.

The destroyer Flotilla submitted yesterday after a 20 minute bombardment by airplane and the battleship La Torre, with the cruiser O'Higgins, which had lain off Coquimbo since the beginning of the rebellion last week, got under way this afternoon, the government announced, to surrender at Valparaiso.

Honor Man

Midshipman Louis J. Bryan of Jefferson, Ky., was appointed commander of the U. S. Naval academy's regiment for the coming year, a coveted honor at Annapolis.

They are to be overhauled as speedily as possible and put into service for an attack on the heavier units of the fleet which have not surrendered. The battleship La Torre and the cruiser O'Higgins were still holding out this morning, but there was a general belief that they would submit before the day ended.

Yesterday's engagement was brief—the destroyer Flotilla surrendering after a 20-minute bombardment from the air. When machine guns opened up from the planes, men aboard the surface vessels began leaping into the water and the submarine squadrons gave in quickly. None of the fleet returned the fire from the planes.

Admiral Abel Campos, commanding officer of the fleet, who was taken prisoner by the rebels, was put ashore with several other officers as soon as the destroyers surrendered. He will assist in the direction of operations against the O'Higgins and the La Torre.

A government account of the engagement said there were seven destroyers off Coquimbo, five submarines, one transport, four monitors, the O'Higgins and the La Torre, carrying altogether 2370 men.

In the morning a squadron of planes flew over the fleet as a warning and in the afternoon six planes flying in formation began the bombardment. It lasted twenty minutes but although several of the vessels were struck by bombs none was damaged seriously.

Three bombs struck close to the La Torre and another started a fire on the O'Higgins. A number of the rebels were reported to have been wounded.

There were reports that the crew on one destroyer rebelled against their leaders who ordered them to return the fire from the planes. While this attack was going on a detachment of rebels attempted to disembark at Port Tongoy for an attack on the aviation base at Ovalle, but were repulsed by the civil guards stationed there for just such an emergency.

Served With Capias After Indictment Three Years Ago

South Port, N. C., Sept. 7.—(AP)—More than three years after he was indicted on a charge of embezzling $50,000 of the county's funds, E. H. Smith, former Brunswick county treasurer, was served with a capias.

Smith was indicted in April 1927. Because of civil suits against him, service of the capias was temporarily delayed and apparently forgotten until Solicitor Woods, Keshum last week ordered it served. Upon service of the capias Saturday, Smith made bond of $2,500 for his appearance at the October term of court.

STORM NEARS FLA. COAST

Tropical Disturbance of Slight Intensity Is Reported Off Key West Miami Fla., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Richard W. Gray of the Miami weather bureau, said today a tropical disturbance of slight intensity is central off Key West and apparently is approaching the lower west coast of Florida with heavy rains but is not attended by dangerous winds.

"The tropical disturbance crossed the western part of Cuba last night and apparently is approaching the lower west coast of Florida this morning," Gray said. "If it passes inland over the lower west coast, it will cause heavy rains over the southern portion of Florida, but not dangerous winds over the lower east coast."

He declared he could not determine whether the lower west coast of the state would be afflicted by high winds if the storm continues its present northeast course. "The storm is not attended by high winds," he added.

"The wind velocity at Havana and Key West was 16 miles an hour at 8 o'clock today. The disturbance is accompanied by heavy rains, which will continue over southern Florida if the storm holds its course."

The Key West weather bureau reported a 22-mile an hour south wind at 10:20 A. M. E. S. T. whereas a velocity of 24 miles was recorded 30 minutes before. It was not raining at the time the report was made, but Key West had 1.78 inches of rain in the 24 hours ending at 8 A. M. today.

Barometric pressure there was 29.83 at 8 A. M., approximately 15 below normal. The Key West bureau said indications were the center of the storm was northwest of north of Key West and expressed belief it was of slight intensity.

Gray said he had received no advices regarding another disturbance reported by the Havana National Observatory last night as being near Barbados. He said he might next (Continued On Page Three)

SAM

By Freeman Lincoln

SYNOPSIS: Peak Abbott is amazed when after many refusals, Sam Sherrill suddenly tells him that she will marry him and asks that the engagement be announced the next day. Her motive is that the papers will carry next day the news of her half-brother's elopement with their maid, and she hopes to offset the story. She also wishes to marry Abbott because she is in financial straits. Her half-brother, Nelson, has taken with him money for payment of interest on a mortgage. Money has been scarce in the family since her aristocratic stepfather, Fourth Aldersea, lost the family fortune has set out for Elkton hoping to catch the runaways and prevent the marriage. Sam is bitterly unhappy because she actually loves Freddy Munson, reporter on the Express. Abbott, owner of the Express, where Sam works, agrees to publish the engagement notice. Sam tells him to hurry.

MASTER STROKE

He looked at her doubtfully, studying her face. "I hate to leave you, Sam. You look sort of ragged to me. This business of Nelson's has hit you pretty hard."

"It's been sort of a shock but I'm all right. You go along and I'll make for bed."

Sam watched Peak put on his coat and realized how little she thought of him throughout this whole miserable business. She put her hand on his arm.

"I know this is a queer way for us to be getting engaged, Peak," she said. "I'm sorry."

"Don't be sorry," he patted her hand. "I'm more than satisfied."

Sam looked up at him. "I'll make it up to you, Peak," she said earnestly. "and I'll do the best I can to make you happy. Please believe that."

"I believe it," said Peak simply. "Sam was not finished. 'I want you to know that from now on I am going to try to care for you the way you deserve.'"

He tried to interrupt but she would not heed. "There's something else. I want you to understand that this arrangement of ours isn't shaky or uncertain in any way. So far as I'm concerned, it's final."

"I know it," said Peak. "And no left's talk about my side of the bar gain. Is there anything I can do for you?"

"Do for me?"

Yes. He paused, carefully considering his words. "How about that money that Nelson borrowed when he went away? Was it—I don't need any money?"

He frowned. "You're sure? I'm engaged to you now, you know, and I have the right to ask."

"I'm sure," she nodded abruptly. "The money Nelson took was some that I had for household purposes. It didn't amount to anything."

Peak was not satisfied, but there seemed to be nothing more that he could say. He turned toward the door. "All right then, Sam. I'll be going. Good night."

"Good night, Peak," Sam was grave. "Don't you want to kiss me before you go? It's part of the bargain, you know."

"Is it?" He turned and smiled at her from the open door. "Then just credit it to my account, will you? I may collect it some day—with interest."

He left her then, and Sam immediately went up to her room. In bed with the lights out she concentrated on mental arithmetic. She might think of Nelson or Freddy.

"Thirteen times seventy-six," said Sam, firmly, aloud, and closed her eyes.

When Sam woke it was broad daylight. A sound caused her to sit upright in bed and she saw that Fourth Aldersea was standing fully dressed with his back to the window. Fourth's face was drawn in the morning light and there was a noticeable droop to his shoulders. He nodded and spoke as though he were continuing a conversation only momentarily interrupted.

"Well, Joan, I arrived several hours too late. I found that Nelson was married yesterday afternoon in Elkton, about five o'clock."

"Oh," Sam shrugged. "Well, that's about what I expected. She looked at her step-father. "Did you see them?"

"No," Fourth laughed shortly. "Luckily for everybody concerned, I didn't see them. They left Elkton apparently very shortly after the happy event."

"Have you any idea where they went?"

"I haven't said Fourth quietly, and to be perfectly frank with you, I'm not interested."

Sam shook her head. "You don't mean that, Fourth. Nelson is your son, after all. You'll want to see him again some time."

"Hah! I?" Fourth smiled. "And I suppose I'll want to see my new daughter-in-law also—a very beautiful talent'd highly bred new daughter-in-law?"

"She may not be so bad as you think Fourth."

He took half a step toward the bed. "Do you know what it is to hate someone, Joan?" he asked slowly. "If you do, you know how I feel about that woman. I hate her so that I'd take great pleasure in standing by some time just to watch her suffer."

"Well, why shouldn't I talk that way? She has degraded him and me, and you." Fourth swallowed with an effort. "Can't you just hear people talking behind our backs?" He demanded bitterly. "Can't you just see the papers when this gets out?"

"Fourth there'll be something else about us in the papers today—something that may take some of the attention away from Nelson."

He stared. "What else will there be about us in today's papers? Isn't the one thing enough?"

"This is different. At least I hope you'll think it's different."

"Go on," said Fourth heavily. "Tell me what it is."

Sam looked at him sympathetically. "I'm afraid you're in for another shock."

"Don't worry about me. I'm shockproof."

"All right," she drew a long breath. "If you look in the morning papers, Fourth, you'll find an announcement of my engagement to Peak Abbott."

Fourth may have been shocked but he was stunned by Sam's news. "I'm sorry I had to do it without warning you," Sam apologized. "I had to hurry. The point was to get it in this morning's papers. You understand, don't you, Fourth? You aren't angry?"

"No," he shook his white head slowly. "Of course I'm not angry. I'm just slightly dazed. Things happen so quickly."

"They do, don't they?" Sam smiled. "I don't blame you for being dizzy. I'm dizzy myself. And now if you'll just trot along while I get myself into some clothes, we'll have a look at what the press of the nation has to say about your talented and beautiful daughter."

When Sam came down to the living room twenty minutes later, Fourth was much more cheerful. He waved the morning Express triumphantly in her direction and exclaimed: "You're on the front page, Joan, picture and all!"

Peak's newspaper had done all that had been expected of it, and more. It had treated the engagement as though it were news of the utmost social importance.

Fourth was tremendously pleased. "It's a master stroke," he said, "and I don't see how you ever thought of it. I suppose you and Peak were going to do it in a little while anyhow."

Sam nodded. "We were thinking about it and the news about Nelson settled the question."

Fourth sighed. "It's wonderful how little a person can know even about those closest to him. I've always liked Peak and I've always hoped that some day you might do this, but at the same time I had an idea in the back of my head that you weren't so keen. It just shows how little a man can tell."

"Yes," said Sam. "It just shows." "You are both jockey people," Fourth went on. "Peak is lucky, but so are you. I hope you know Sam, how lucky you are."

"Of course, Fourth," Sam nodded. "Of course I know."

Fourth's good spirits lasted through breakfast. After that he went away in the roadster.

Sam was nervous of a growing feeling of nervousness and excitement. At any moment Freddy might come to the house, or telephone. She wondered whether he had seen the papers and what he would say. He would be furiously angry, of course, and would argue with her for as long as she would permit. She knew that in the end she must send him away for good but that idea, strangely, did not seem to matter. The important thing was to see him just once more, to hear the sound of his voice. She could begin being unhappy after that. There was plenty of time in the future for being unhappy.

She telephoned the employment agency, and told them to send her a maid. That done, she sat down to wait.

The telephone rang and Sam's heart almost stopped beating.

ORDER TRIAL FOR MINISTER

(Continued From Page One) concerning the character of Dr. William A. Shelton, Bishop E. D. Mouson appointed an investigating committee of five preachers. This committee on September 4, 1931, decided that in fairness to all parties concerned it would be wise to have a church trial. No details were given.

Mr. Balthis said today Dr. Shelton would not be permitted to preach pending the trial which is expected to be held this month.

Dr. Shelton was a member of the church court which tried Bishop James Cannon Jr. in Dallas two years ago and it was in his church here the bishop was tried again last spring.

The minister and Miss Williams have declined to discuss the case.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Dr. William A. Shelton, pastor of the Mount Vernon Place Methodist Episcopal Church, South in Washington against whom charges have been brought by a former secretary of the church at Emory University here for 16 years.

He assumed his duties at Emory in 1914 when the Candler School of Theology was founded. He came here from Oklahoma where he had held pastorates, and remained until 1930 when he received a call from the Washington church.

Dr. Shelton is a noted archaeologist and several years ago spent a year in Egypt where he excavated a number of specimens which he gave to the Emory University Museum.

A result of this trip was his book 'Dust and Ashes of Empire.' Dr. Shelton is recognized as one of the outstanding scholars of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

proposed to the New York legislature by Governor Roosevelt to be raised by a 50 per cent increase in income tax.

California is considering a $30,000,000 fund to be raised by bond issues and an increased gasoline tax.

Bankers of New York City are raising an $8,000,000 fund, while the city is expected to provide from $16,000,000 to $20,000,000.

San Francisco has plans for a fund of $4,500,000 for relief purposes. Seattle has placed $1,000,000 in the city budget. Detroit is raising $10,000,000 of which $1,000,000 has been given by Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan.

More will come from tax funds. Salt Lake City proposes a $1,000,000 construction program financed by bonds; Dallas a similar fund of $500,000; Memphis $700,000 of which $200,000 of which $200,000 will come from city and county taxes.

Minneapolis is preparing to raise a fund of several millions. The state of Oregon is considering an appropriation of $1,000,000 for road construction; Virginia a similar amount.

President Hoover's relief organization will be unable to provide a complete picture of the situation until it receives reports of surveys now being conducted by national welfare groups.

Governors of five states have assured the president their citizens can handle their own relief needs. The Associated and Community Chests and councils has reported 227 communities, out of 387 can handle their relief problems.

Many communities have indicated to the welfare groups and the national relief organization they will need help. Some appeal for aid has been received by Walter S. Clifford, national relief director.

Some state and cities have not decided what their problems will be or how they can meet them. Some plan to make necessary surveys.

The national appeal for funds through local organizations conducted from October 19 to November 25.

UPHOLDS S. C. POWER TAX

The decree also dissolves a temporary restraining order but provides it shall be continued in effect for 30 days to provide the status quo until the Broad River Power Company, Lexington Water Power Company, and South Carolina Power Company, the complainants, decide whether they will appeal to the Supreme Court.

The court failed to sustain any single constitutional point raised by the companies in their attack on the statute.

"We have been impressed by the counsel who point to the heavy taxes already required on them and complain that the statute here will add a grievous burden to their load" the opinion said.

Contentions of the three complainants summed up by the court were that the statute amounts to a denial of due process and equal protection because:

It does not tax general electricity by use of oil or internal combustion engines and does not tax persons furnishing gas to the public for light, heat or power;

It exempts from its operation industrial plants generating power for their own use or the use of their employees and municipalities generating electricity for the use of their customers;

It exempts from the sales tax electric current on which the generation tax has already been paid.

CHICOD FARMER ALWAYS HAS MONEY IN HIS POCKETS

R. L. Little of Chicod township, one of the best known farmers of the county has not been "broke" since 1903—not because of the tobacco and cotton prices, but for the reason that he has acquired a few pennies or "swamp dollars," which he carried around with him all the time.

One of the pennies of 1794 vintage was obtained while Mr. Little was in school at Wake Forest in 1903, and the other, coined in 1808, was found in a field in Chicod.

Mr. Little said he was sure of the value of the pennies, but did not want to part with them because he would always have money in his pockets as long as he keeps them.

D. A. WINDHAM PREACHES AT TWO PLACES AT SAME TIME

Through a novel method, Rev. D. A. Windham, Free Will Baptist minister, delivered two sermons simultaneously yesterday.

During the latter part of last week it was discovered that through an oversight on the part of the pulpit committees of congregations at Ahsokie and Snow Hill there was an appointment for the minister at both churches at the same hour.

Being unable to supply at both places at the same time, Mr. Windham dictated a sermon to a stenographer and had the young woman read it to the congregation at Ahsokie while he hastened to Snow Hill to fill his appointment.

RED OAK FARMERS CLUB PROTESTS LOW LEAF PRICES

The Red Oak Auxiliary of the Nash County Farmers club is tired of the low prices being paid for tobacco and on September 5 passed resolutions expressing belief that the time had come "to demand that warehouses be closed, and that farmers go on a strike and refuse to sell any 1931 tobacco or plant any in 1932."

The resolution follows: That we endorse the resolutions adopted by the Nash County Farmers Club on September 4.

That we believe the time has come when it has become necessary to go farther than merely passing resolutions and protesting against the starvation prices that are being paid for our tobacco.

That we believe the time has come to demand that the warehouses be closed, and that the farmers go on strike, and refuse to sell any 1931 tobacco or plant any in 1932, until we are assured of receiving a living price for the 1931 crop.

4. That we pledge ourselves to take any steps necessary with the co-operation of North Carolina tobacco farmers to bring about better conditions.

5. We urge all tobacco farmers of North Carolina who have the best interest of their homes, families, and of their state at heart to hold community meetings and join us in this movement.

SUMMER READING CLUBS TO MEET WEDNESDAY

Summer reading club work for the children will close with a club meeting at ten o'clock Wednesday morning, Sept. 9, in the auditorium at Shepard Memorial Library. At that time the names of those who have finished the suggested number of books will be announced, club officers will be elected and other matters of business discussed.

Every boy and girl who began the club reading should be present, and particularly those who have finished the work.

Summer reading for children has received special attention from the library staff for three years. An effort is made to get the best in books for juniors, something that will lead to mental growth in an easy way during vacation days.

This summer the younger readers were offered a group of text book type books containing stories approved by the schools and told in words with which a child is familiar. These books have been popular. All of them have been out in the hands of the children, leaving the shelf empty several times.

To the girls of the grammar grades were offered the best in fairy tales. The boys of this age read Indian stories. This group has the largest enrollment and has completed the work. So fairy tales and stories about Indians must have been what they wanted.

Boys and girls in grades 6 to 8 are ready for some reading with real value in it. They were offered two groups of books, light pleasant fiction and some excellent books of biography written especially for this age. The biography has been more popular than the fiction, even than the mystery stories of Augusta Huell Seaman! Five recreational books and five biographies were suggested for the course.

Nearly all who belong to this group have read more than five of the biographies. George Henry Pittman, Falkland, has read with this club and will receive a certificate.

On Wednesday morning these books will be moved from club shelves and placed with the books for juniors so that all the children in town and county may read them. They were bought in substantial library bindings and will be cleaned and kept in good condition. The non-fiction will be much used as reference material in connection with school work.

Look over this list of books and see what the children have been reading this summer:

At the Foot of the Rainbow; Cry Baby Chicken; Good Times; Playtime; Pancake Brownies; Cornelia's Colony; Babs; Black Wolf Mystery; Our Play House; Magic Clothes Pins; Nancy Goes Camping; Jingles; Little Lucia and Her Puppy; Merry Little Cotton Tails; Tiny Town Primer; Singing Farmer; Fairy Primer; Busy Little Brownies; Brownies and Goblins; Four and Forty Fairies; Ready, Truly Fairy Tales; Fairy Tales from Anderson; Sotry of Columbus; Carved Sea Chest; Indian Days of Long Ago; Bob Hanson, Tenderfoot; Bob Hanson, Eagle Scout; Italian Fairy Tales; Children of the Wood; Magic Canoe; Trail of Ragged Fox; Prairie Smoke; Spotted Pony; Fairy Tales of Modern Greece; Paul Jones; Mystery in Navaho Canyon; Little Big Bye and Bye; Good Fairy Tales; Bernie Mew; Lost Indian Magic; Two Little Indians; Indians and the O Pi; Little White Chief; Fairy Babies; The Pixie in the House; The Pixie Out of Doors; Among the No. Am. Passengers and Crew of Pleasure Yacht Safe Ashore After Thrilling Experience

Miami, Fla., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Twenty-two persons were safely ashore today, following their rescue when their holiday bound yacht, the 52-foot Al Wilda, sank in the Atlantic ocean 18 miles west of Bimini Island Saturday night.

The entire personnel of the Al Wilda, six women and twelve men passengers and four crew members were taken from the sinking craft by the motor vessel Tamaru and brought to Miami 30 hours after the Al Wilda departed on a Labor Day week-end cruise of Bahaman waters.

A plank ripped from the hull of the Al Wilda caused the boat to ship water. Captain James Moore said on his return here. The crew and men passengers manned the pumps and bailed water in buckets from the hull, but failed to keep pace with the rapid inflow of water from a rolling sea.

Distress signals were raised when the Al Wilda's steering gear broke. Captain L. T. Irwin of the Tamaru sighted the signal from a short distance away, put his vessel about and arrived beside the Al Wilda seven minutes later.

Durham, N. C.—(AP)—Just out of state's prison after a two-year term, J. A. Moore of Charlotte, was arrested here for stealing an automobile and given a two to three year sentence.

Sanford, N. C.—(AP)—Rural letter carriers from Lee, Chatham, Harnett and Montgomery counties held a meeting of their association here today.

State prison farms will not plant any cotton next year. It has been announced through Governor O. Max Gardner. The State will not make an effort to get the farmers to completely abandon the planting of the staple, but plans to curtail its own production in order to help relieve the over-production crisis.

CROWDS HEAR DR. SHOCKLEY

Asheville Minister Delivered Fine Sermons at Red Oak During Week-End

Large crowds attended the revival services at Red Oak Christian church Saturday night and Sunday and heard Dr. J. Watson Shockley, of Asheville deliver three of the most forceful sermons of the series. Saturday night he preached on "Making Excuse" and Sunday night he used as his subject, "Transfiguration."

The sermons in part follow: "Making Excuses" Luke 14: When one is in the church hearing the Gospel they are feeding of the bread of life (The Truth). The provisions were made ready for the banquet. Those who were invited made excuses.

The above is an example: God has made provisions; all things are made ready, all people are redeemed. Christ died to save us; the Holy Spirit has been promised to those who will accept and obey and come into his Kingdom. When one come into the kingdom he may take of the bread, he is promised the glory. Christ is the host and He is inviting the guest.

Gifts of God: 1.—Life. 2.—Talent or ability. 3.—Material things. He has invited us to the banquet, but note the classes of excuses made. 1.—Business. 2.—Social. 3.—Pleasure.

BETTERS PLANE SPEED RECORD

Lowell Bayles of Springfield, Mass., with his low wing monoplane in which he attained new high speed for land planes in unofficial test at Cleveland air races. He was timed at 286.86 miles an hour. The land speed record is 278.8.

When Christ used the term Kingdom of God, or Kingdom of Heaven he meant church. It was very difficult for the people to understand or get an idea that there was a spirit. They did understand the term Kingdom. The church is not a political institution, but a spiritual institution. On the day of Pentecost the apostles began to speak and teach or preach Jesus after they were baptized with the Holy Spirit.

IN OUR OFFICE

Greenville sold more tobacco during the first week of the present season than it did last season and at an average very little below that of the past year. Had not the offerings this season been so inferior the average probably would have gone above that of the previous season, in the opinion of those in close touch with the market. The buyers of better grades of tobacco have been instructed to pay good prices for it and the averages made public last week show that the instructions are being carried out. As soon as the inferior grades have been sold and the improved quality begins moving it is believed a higher market average will be recorded. This kind of leaf is in demand and the buyers are willing to pay for it at prices that should cause the season to end with an average comparing favorably with the past year.

MANY UPSETS TAKE PLACE IN MAJORS

By HUGH S. FULLERTON Jr. (Associated Press Sports Writer)

The belated rushes of "contenders" who were making their last desperate efforts to get somewhere in the major league pennant campaigns have added a bit of interest to baseball in the past few days, but it seems that their efforts are not marked for success.

Last week while Pittsburgh was taking a series from the St. Louis Cardinals, the New York Giants won eight straight games to place themselves only 51-2 games behind the National League leaders.

About the same time, the New York Yankees took a double header from Washington and were only a half game behind the second place club of the American League. Yet most of the good works of these spurts was undone yesterday in one afternoon.

The Giants encountered the Boston Braves when they were fed up on losing nine straight and came out on the short end of a 5 to 0 score. The Cards sent a pair of their best hurlers against Cincinnati, which had clouted the Cubs six times in a row and came out with a pair of shutout victories. And the margin between first and second place again was seven games.

Ben Cantwell turned in a real mound performance against the Giants, limiting them to four hits while the Braves found Clarence Mitchell for four runs in the second inning. Flint Rhem shut out the Reds with three hits in the first game and St. Louis won over Elias Johnson 3 to 0. Sylvester Johnson's pit pitching was just as good in the second clash as the Cards slammed Larry Benton for five counters in the eighth and won 7-0.

The Yankees wound up just where they had started in their series with the Senators, 11-2 games back of second place, as Washington took the final encounter 4-1. Six-hit pitching by Al Crowder stopped the Yankees completely.

The slump of the Chicago Cubs went right on when they hooked up with Pittsburgh and their seventh straight loss left them tottering on the edge of fourth place and mathematical elimination from the race for the top. A two-run rally behind Glenn Spencer in the eighth gave the Pirates a 5-4 triumph and put the Cubs 161-2 games behind St. Louis with 17 to play.

The Phillies, with the former Brooklynite, Jim Elliott, cost Brooklyn's Robins a chance to take third. Elliott stopped the Robins for the sixth time this year and with the aid of a six run rally in the seventh, won the first game of a double header 8-4. Brooklyn came back against another southpaw, Stuart Bolen, and took the second game and finished only a half game behind the Cubs.

SPORTS SLANTS

"Now that the football training table is being prepared for this fall, it might be a good idea for coaches to lay plans and see that their star athletes don't imitate Clarence Herschberger, that great Chicago back and punter of the late nineties, who ate Chicago out of a football championship back in '97," writes a contributor to the On-to-Chicago-to-honor-Old-Man-Stagg campaign.

News during a recent reunion with some of his Yale friends gathered to discuss the details of the coming Yale-Chicago football game in Chicago, October 17, that A. A. Stagg and his cronies delved into the past and retold Herschberger's feat.

"Herschberger, one of the outstanding kickers of all time, was the first great backfield player developed at Chicago. He was a triple threat star, and after his athletic feat he was just as big a threat to his team-mates as to opposing elements.

Dining Room Gladiators

"Football history records it that he entered in '94 and that in '97 he was a member of the squad which entered the year previous. The '96 group won for a meas the squad which brought Chicago its first football championship in '99.

"That gang, incidentally, Stagg declared, was the wildest lot he ever skippered. Mealtime to them was just another period of practicing the forward pass, and in lieu of the oval steaming baked potatoes, buns, butter or anything solid was used.

"Previous to one of these mealtime scrimmages Herschberger and his good friend, Capt. Walter Kennedy, became involved in an argument as to who could put on the most weight at one sitting.

"The argument threatened to end in a tie, who believed it noblesse play a bit more than the others suggested that they actually get down to the business and eat.

"This was a right good suggestion Herschberger and Kennedy agreed, and the contest was on. From Chicago's standpoint it wasn't such a 'hot' idea, because the Wisconsin game was just a few wdays away and Chicago's record was clean.

"The match was strictly above board. Kennedy and Herschberger, stripped and weighed in. It doesn't

PIEDMONT NEARS END OF SEASON

Charlotte, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The Piedmont League turned today into the home stretch—the final week's play before the season ends next Saturday.

In celebration of Labor Day, there were two games on tap for each club today. Winston-Salem was at High Point, Asheville at Charlotte, Raleigh at Henderson and Durham at Greensboro.

With Charlotte and Raleigh assured of first and second place and of meeting in the post-season series most of the contests this week will be just ball games. Winston-Salem and Henderson however, have a "crucial series" in sight.

The Twins, just a whisker behind the Gamecocks, will make a bid for sixth place in the final standing when they meet the Henderson crew Wednesday and Thursday. A sweep of the two-game series by either club might be the determining factor.

Greensboro goes to Asheville, High Point to Raleigh and Charlotte to Durham for the other mid-week games.

The week-end curtain ringers are scheduled at Charlotte, Greensboro, Asheville and Durham. The Bees wind up with High Point, the Pats with Henderson and the Tourists with Winston-Salem and the Caps with Durham.

Sufferers from financial adversity which has caused the management to release several stars, the Pointers appear in a fair way to set some sort of league record. They ran a losing streak to 15 games Saturday. Their record for the week was eight straight defeats.

The Bees, Caps and Pats carried off the week's honors. Charlotte and Raleigh each won seven games and lost one while Greensboro, winning the same number and dropping two, pounded out a total of 107 hits to lead in that department.

High Point, N. C.—(AP)—A 60-gallon steam distillery was captured a mile northeast of the Sandy Ridge convict camp by Deputy Sheriff C. L. Gray, and H. Turpin. Much beer was destroyed.

matter what they ate, but when the final whistle blew, they went to the scales and weighed in again.

Kennedy, The Winner!

"Herschberger's chin dropped a bit when the scales revealed Kennedy the winner. Kennedy gained seven and one-quarter pounds; and Herschberger seven pounds.

"Whether he determined to drown his humiliation in further eating, or to prove that he was still hungry is not definitely known, but Herschberger next ate thirteen eggs.

"Something was bound to happen and it did. Just before the Wisconsin game Herschberger was seized with gastritis, lost to the team. Wisconsin won the game 23 to 8 with Herschberger, the defensive and offensive key of Chicago's attack, being absent with the doctor's urgent recommendation.

"Those who know Stagg know that the 'Old Man' doesn't belittle his opponents in victory. Giving credit where credit is due is one of his outstanding characteristics. But in speaking of this game, Stagg said he was thoroughly convinced that it was thirteen eggs instead of the eleven Wisconsin players that sent Chicago down to defeat."

TELEVISION TO SELL UNDER FIRST RADIO

Due to Go Into the Home Soon With Price More Inexpensive Than Radio

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD
Associated Press Radio Editor

New York, Sept. 7.—(AP)—When real television comes its introduction into the home is not going to be nearly as expensive as was sound broadcasting.

Research engineers seeking to perfect radio pictures think the cost of the television receiver at its formal introduction some time in the future will be no more than that of a high grade broadcast set of not so long ago, and cheaper in comparison with some of the early types of broadcast sets.

Forecasts of plans for this new art, which is to be supplementary to sound broadcasting as sound is to the moving picture, indicate that laboratory improvements in television reception already have resulted in a wide variety of designs.

Looking toward this end is the work being done in the research laboratories of RCA-Victor at Camden, N. J. where Dr. Valdimar Zworykin and R. D. Kell have overcome many of the obstacles of radio sight.

Persons familiar with the results obtained say that one type of receiver developed uses the super-heterodyne circuit for signal copying and amplification, feeding its output into the Zworykin cathode ray tube, a device for reproduction without mechanics.

This receiver, which also contains the special amplifier needed to operate the cathode ray tube or "kinescope," has the regulation tuning controls. Besides there is a volume control for signal level and a background control to change the intensity of the picture.

Ultra short waves are being used in air tests, engineers feeling that the territory under ten meters will be the most practical place for picture transmission.

This is due in part to the wide frequency bands needed for good television, something on the order of 2,000 kilocycles, compared with ten kilocycles required for sound.

Other factors include the absence of fading and double images and a reduction in static, although different types of interference, including that produced by automobiles and airplane motors, have been experienced.

Also, it has been found that ultra short waves provide a transmission area that can be definitely ascertained.

This often extends no farther than 25 miles.

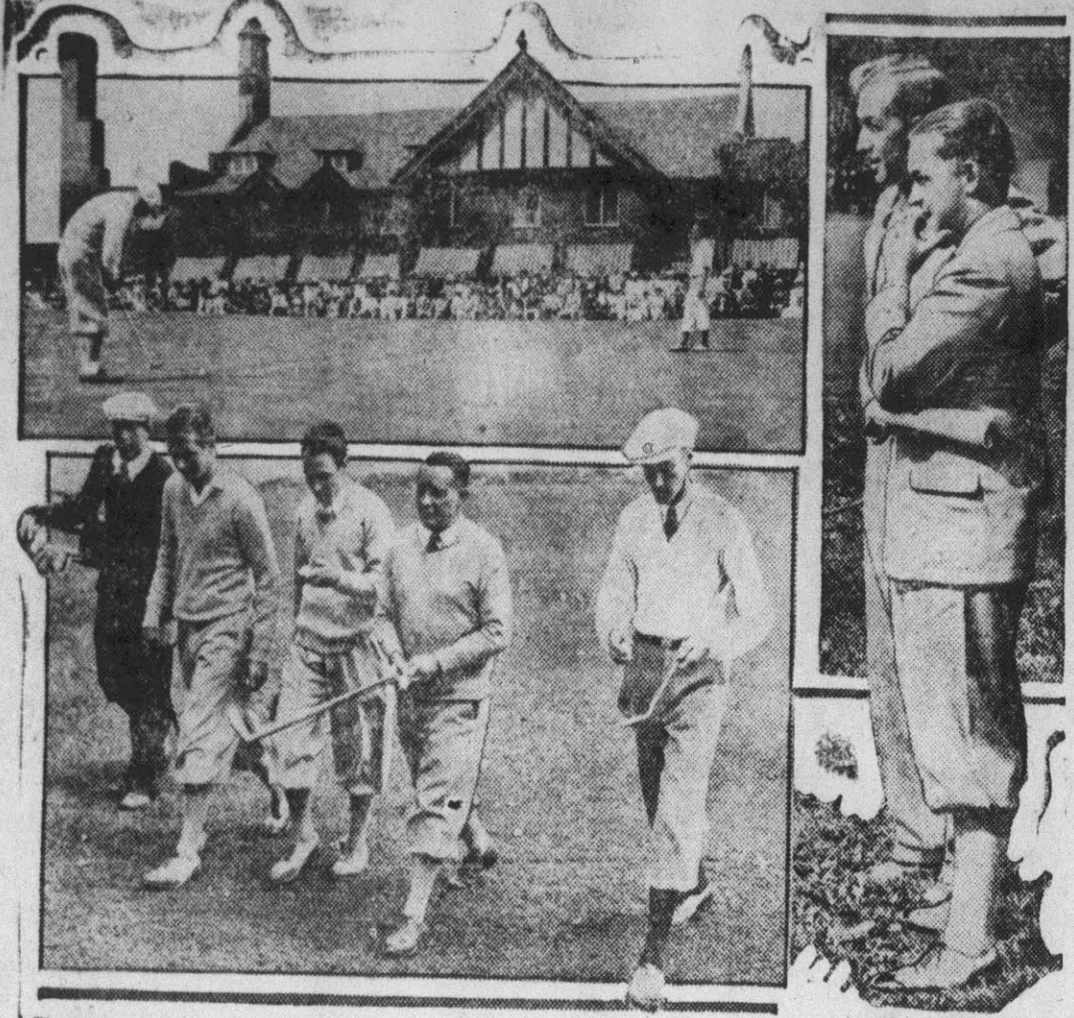

To learn from a practical standpoint what is possible in the ultra waves, the Camden engineers have been using the 2,000 watt experimental station W3XAD on 6.2 meters for pictures.

Much of the success in this transmission, observers say, is due to a substantial increase in the number of lines in the picture over the 60 lines used by other experiments on television stations operating around 100 and 150 meters.

This permits an enormous increase in picture detail although at the same time the frequency band required is considerably widened.

In transmitting films an ordinary movie projector, but revamped for the purpose, is used, while with direct pickup, a flying spot of light, broken up by a scanning disk, is reflected from living images to photo-electric cells, some of which embrace new designs in the gathering of the rays of light.

JONES WATCHES FIGHT FOR CROWN HE THREW AWAY

GABBY STREET FINDS LOST BALL

Gabby Street, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, was more than surprised when he received a baseball that zoomed into his mitt from the top of Washington monument in 1908, setting a record for other big league catchers to shoot at. The ball left his possession after the feat and was returned by a friend with whom he had left it for safekeeping. He is shown here showing his son, Charles, Jr., the baseball.

Veiling For Chief.

Bryson City, N. C.—For the first time in tribal history Cherokee braves are sharing their suffrage with the squaws in a vote for chief. Jarrett Blythe of Wolftown, who cannot speak the language, leads six other candidates. Returns come in slowly from remote sections of the reservation on Great Smoky and Pilot Balsam mountains.

Going Some.

New York—One couple has increased the population of the municipal aquarium by 2,000. A pair of black catfish are very busy taking care of their newly hatched family. They have a whole tank all to themselves.
