CONVICT SLAIN IN RIOT

CONVICT GUARD IS LIBERATED

Nerve of Guard is Responsible for Quelling Disorder in Utah State Prison.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Sept. 9.—(AP)—One convict was killed in an attempted break at the Utah State penitentiary this morning which was frustrated by the refusal of Deputy Warden Wilford F. Giles to obey orders of a dozen prisoners who held him captive.

Louis Deatridge, serving a robbery sentence, was shot down by L. W. McTavish, a guard in a lookout tower on the wall as he was scaling a rope ladder attached to an iron hook which he had thrown over the top. Deatridge's body was dragged by a convict into a cell house where the mutinous prisoners were gathered.

The deputy warden was released after Warden R. E. Davis, braving the rioters, went into the cell house and persuaded them to free his assistant.

A dozen convicts surrounded Giles when he entered the cell house and demanded that he produce the warden. When he refused, F. C. Hertel, a convict ran into the prison yard and hurled a prison-made bomb to the roof of the lookout tower on the northeast corner of the wall. Its explosion was a signal to other convicts and the riot was on.

McTavish, in the northeast tower fired at Hertel and the convict took cover. Deatridge then was shot down when he made his break for liberty.

Escaping the bonds with which the convicts had tied him, the deputy warden ran into the prison yard in an effort to draw the rioters into the line of the guard's fire. He guards sent a stream of bullets into the cell houses, keeping the convicts inside.

Hertel, regarded as the leader of the attempted break is serving a sentence for assault with a deadly weapon. He recently tried to escape by digging the plaster from the wall of his cell with a needle, and has been kept in solitary confinement many times.

Giles' coolness in refusing the prisoners' demand that he produce the warden, and that he order the guards off the walls into the prison yard, was regarded as having thwarted the mutiny.

ONE DEAD IN RUM BOAT CHASE

The rum runner "Lassahn" shown above, surrendered off Gloucester, Mass., but until one of the crew was killed by a bullet from a coast guard picket boat. Guardsmen said the boat was laden with 400 or more cases of liquor, and that it failed to stop for warning shots.

SLOT MACHINE CASES HEARD

Several Defendants Taxed With Cost as Machines Are Ordered Confiscated.

Ten slot machine operators rounded up by Greenville police several days ago faced trial in the regular weekly session of County court yesterday. Machines in the majority of cases were ordered confiscated by Judge W. L. Whedbee and the operators allowed to go free upon payment of cost.

A considerable part of the day's session was consumed in hearing of the charges, as it was necessary to examine the machines to determine whether their operation was a violation of the law. However, numbers of other cases were disposed of and court continued work today in an effort to complete the docket of forty or more cases which faced it at beginning of the session yesterday.

R. Hyman, Ralph Radcliff and Leslie Smith, charged with operating slot machines, were required to pay cost of action, and their machines were ordered confiscated.

Jack Corey and L. B. McCormick, appearing on the same charge, appealed to Superior court when the court ordered their machines confiscated and assessed them one-half cost each.

Found not guilty of operating slot machines John Allen Page and Leslie Smith were allowed to go free.

Adjudged guilty of a similar charge, Heber Savage was requested to pay cost and ordered to turn over his machine to the authorities.

Earl Brown and L. B. McCormick were found not guilty of operating machines in violation of the law.

Fred Ronech paid $25 and cost on a charge of possessing liquor.

J. A. Smith, colored, was sentenced to six months on the roads on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

W. M. and G. C. Williams were required to pay $5 each and one-half cost on a charge of transporting liquor.

Thomas Mann had his license revoked 90 days and paid a fine of $50 on a charge of driving drunk.

A sixty-day suspended road sentence and one-half cost was imposed on Boston Stephens, colored, on a charge of transporting liquor.

Convicted of illegal possession of liquor, Martha White, colored, was given 60 days in jail.

Lenoir, Sept. 9.—(AP)—W. W. Raby, 35, was in a critical condition today after falling into a 40-foot well.

He, with two brothers, was digging the well and had been lowered into the pit after exploding a dynamite charge.

LOOK TO TEXAS FOR SOLUTION

South Watches Mass Meeting at Austin Tonight for Attitude on Cotton Crisis.

The attitude of Texas farmers on a program to relieve the distressing cotton market was expected to develop from a mass meeting called for tonight at Austin as the state legislature remained in special session on the problem.

Meanwhile the rest of the South watched for Texas, producer of a third of the nation's crop, to take the lead in the crisis which was complicated further yesterday by the Department of Agriculture's estimate this year's production would total 15,685,000 bales.

The Texas legislature, which convened yesterday noon, had before it five bills, among them were acts based on the Louisiana "No Cotton" plan and the fifty percent acreage curtailment proposal sponsored by Texas' commissioner of Agriculture, J. E. McDonald.

Governor Sterling expressed opinion the Texas legislators would be able to conclude their session within three days.

Governor Huey P. Long, sponsor of Louisiana's special session law to prohibit cotton production in 1932 if like action be taken by states growing three fourths of the crop, had hoped to attend the Texas mass meeting tonight.

Yesterday, however, he announced a decision to speak to the Texans by radio sending to the session as his representative T. K. Allen, who he declared was to be "the next governor of Louisiana."

He gave as a reason refusal of Lieutenant Governor Paul Cyr, a political opponent, to sign a promise not to attempt to act as governor in Long's absence.

Commissioner of Agriculture Eugene Talmadge of Georgia, a proponent of the Louisiana plan, planned to attend the Texas meeting.

Governor Russell of Georgia yesterday said he would withhold his call for a special session on the cotton situation until the Texas Legislature acted. An earlier call (Continued on page three)

STONE SEEKS WHEAT SALES

Washington, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The Farm Board is negotiating in several quarters for additional sales of a part of the 200,000,000 bushels of wheat it holds.

Chairman Stone of the Farm Board made the statement at a press interview today, but added that he had "nothing to say whatever" on reports that Germany was negotiating for 300,000 tons of Farm Board grain.

The board chairman would not say whether any exchanges with Germany on the reported deal had been made or whether it was even being considered.

"We have several wheat deals in view," Stone said, "but there is nothing to say for the present of any of them."

The board has sold in the past few weeks 15,000,000 bushels of wheat to China and has exchanged 25,000,000 bushels for 1,050,000 bags of Brazilian coffee.

Stone reiterated that the board did not contemplate any further purchase of wheat and cotton through its stabilization corporations.

It now holds approximately 1-30,000 bales of cotton and 200,000,000 bushels of wheat, bought at a time when the price of these commodities was much higher than it is now.

Congressional critics of the board's operations have said they would oppose any further large appropriations for the board in the next Congress.

Under the agricultural marketing act, the board was given a revolving fund of $500,000,000 when it began operations in July 1929. The last of this $500,000,000 was appropriated for the board in the last Congress.

When I say that Mr. Edison is slowly and definitely failing," Dr. Howe explained, "I do not necessarily mean that he cannot live, he might surprise us."

Dr. Edison, who suffered a collapse several weeks ago, has been suffering from uric poisoning, diabetes, ulcers of the stomach and Bright's disease.

"The diabetic condition has practically cleared up," Dr. Howe said, "but the uric acid is gradually becoming worse and is interfering with his organic functions."

NEW MEMBERS FOR AID BODY

Gifford Announces 10 Additional Members to Advisory Relief Committee.

Washington, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Walter S. Gifford, national relief director, today designated ten additional members of the advisory committee set up by President Hoover as representatives of their states.

President Hoover had previously announced that fourteen members of the committee would act as state representatives, making twenty-four in all that have been selected.

Those announced today were: Alabama, Oscar Wells, Birmingham; Arizona, P. G. Spillbury, Phoenix; Delaware, Pierre Du Pont, Wilmington; Georgia, John K. Otley, Atlanta; Illinois, W. Rufus Abbott, Chicago; Indiana, Warren C. Nairbanks, Indianapolis; Maryland, Daniel Willard, Baltimore; Texas, J. F. Lucey, Dallas; Virginia, Homer Ferguson, Newport News; Wisconsin, L. R. Smith, Milwaukee.

In announcing the appointments Gifford said his organization could best accomplish its objective of relieving distress by cooperating with the public authorities and national, state and local public and private agencies of every kind which have charge of these activities.

"The state representatives," Gifford said, "should confer at an early date with their governor and such others as may be necessary and ascertain what the general conditions are with reference to probable relief needs and the steps, if any are necessary, which are being taken to meet the situation by the various communities and by the state. The formation of a state committee by the governor is usually very desirable, if such a committee is not already in existence."

SAYS EDISON LOSES GROUND

Dr. Hubert Howe Declares Condition of The Inventor Gradually Getting Worse

West Orange, N. J., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Despite the opinion of his physician that he is slowly and definitely failing, Thomas A. Edison insists upon getting his oxygen in daily automobile rides and has firmly refused to take any from the tank which is kept in his room.

Dr. Hubert S. Howe, the inventor's personal physician, believes there is no reason for immediate concern.

"When I say that Mr. Edison is slowly and definitely failing," Dr. Howe explained, "I do not necessarily mean that he cannot live, he might surprise us."

Dr. Edison, who suffered a collapse several weeks ago, has been suffering from uric poisoning, diabetes, ulcers of the stomach and Bright's disease.

"The diabetic condition has practically cleared up," Dr. Howe said, "but the uric acid is gradually becoming worse and is interfering with his organic functions."

Dr. Howe said he had an oxygen tank placed in Mr. Edison's sleeping room.

"I wanted the oxygen used to give Mr. Edison relief during dizzy spells he has been having lately, but he has firmly refused to take any," the doctor said.

Every day Mr. Edison insists upon taking an automobile ride with Mrs. Edison in an open car. Some days he goes out morning and afternoon and remains out for two hours at a time.

Charles Edison, his son, while saying that his father was not quite as well as he was a week ago, denied that his physical condition has affected his mind.

"The rumor that his mind is damaged is just silly and probably arose from the fact that after he collapsed some time ago he was a little delirious," his son said.

A day and night nurse are in attendance at the Edison home in Llewellyn Park and Dr. Howe makes daily visits.

HOOVER LAUDS THE RED CROSS

President Delivers a Radio Address Celebrating Founding of First Chapter.

Washington, Sept. 9.—(AP)—President Hoover turned aside from government business today to pay tribute to the Red Cross as part of the celebration founding of its first chapter at Dansville, New York, fifty years ago by Clara Barton.

Speaking over a nation-wide radio hook-up from the cabinet room of the White House executive offices, Mr. Hoover said the organization "proves the ability of a democracy to create from the people themselves the agencies for their service."

The Dansville chapter, known as the Clara Barton chapter number one, was organized by Miss Barton herself in 1881. Of that the president said:

"The fifty years which have passed since that pioneer beginning have written a chapter in the world-wide relief of human suffering which is a fitting memorial to Miss Barton and a proud tradition to her countrymen."

"The text of the president's remarks follows:

"The law provides that the Chief Executive of the nation shall also be the president of the American National Red Cross. This fact adds to the sense of personal pleasure in the privilege which I have today of greeting by the radio those who have assembled at Dansville, New York, to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Clara Barton chapter, Number one, the first Red Cross chapter in America. This chapter has the distinction of being organized by Clara Barton herself in 1881. It is a great distinction which your chapter enjoys both for the association

STATE CONVICT NABBED HERE

Gilbert Dupree Returned to Prison After Pulling Couple Robberies.

Gilbert Dupree, colored, escaped convict, who several months ago caused a one-man crime wave in this city, and returned several days ago to repeat the performance, was captured by city and county officers a few miles west of Greenville late yesterday afternoon.

The negro surrendered without the slightest show of resistance and was immediately returned to State Prison at Raleigh.

Dupree, who was sentenced from this county several months ago on charges of housebreaking and grand larceny, escaped from a prison camp near Winston-Salem several days ago, and was not heard of until he was seen in the community Monday.

He renewed the crime wave dropped when he was sent to prison by stealing an automobile from the home of D. D. Overton Monday night, and breaking into the golf supply house at the Country club sometime afterward. When his gas gave out, he was said to have gone to the Country club filling station, refilled his tank and continued merrily on his way.

Becoming fatigued Dupree drove into the woods yesterday afternoon and fell asleep. He awoke, got out of the car and began driving an imaginary golf ball with one of the sticks which he obtained in his raid at the Country club.

While he was concentrating on an apparently difficult shot, he was commanded to "throw his hands up." He did so, and when visions of the golf ball were disappearing he saw three burly officers confronting him. Without show of resistance he surrendered, was brought back to Greenville and later returned to Raleigh.

Officers described Dupree as one of the most vulpine of criminals operating in this section, and his capture relieved the apprehension caused by his escape.

Common Tobacco Features Sales on Local Leaf Market

The Greenville tobacco market sold yesterday a total of 669,312 pounds of tobacco for $34,636.40 at an average of $8.19 per hundred pounds, according to the official report of sales released by the K. W. Cobb, supervisor of the market.

The offerings consisted mainly of common grades.

A considerable amount of leaf was on the market today, and as on yesterday, inferior grades were largely in evidence.

TAKE STEPS TO CHECK CRIME

Law Enforcement Officers to Hold Meetings in all Sections of State.

Chapel Hill, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Law violators in North Carolina today had the warning of representatives of all enforcement agencies in this state that concerted and co-operative action will be taken to check crime.

In order to further this program, the first school of law enforcement officers, in session here at the University of North Carolina, has decided to hold similar sessions during the next 12 months in each judicial and county district in the state.

At these proposed gatherings, the various Federal, state county, and city authorities will be invited to come together for a discussion of mutual problems, instead of leaving each individual agency to its particular field. It is proposed that all officers work together in apprehending law violators.

The plan was outlined by Prof. Albert Coates, professor of law at the university.

"Accusations, investigations and disclosures of the inefficiency and corruption are pointing warning fingers at the festering spots in our machinery of criminal law administration," Prof. Coates said.

"We cannot let these warnings go unheeded in reliance on law-abiding Anglo-Saxon instincts. We cannot take law and order as a thing for granted when we see our neighbors losing it before our eyes."

"It is a long way from the day when the hue and cry called on every man to track a criminal to his property line to the day when bystanders jeer at prohibition agents, raiding speakeasies. Somewhere between these two extremes we must find the supporting point where the public will stand behind its laws and officers with a power that will not be denied. To find the point is the problem of law enforcement officers in North Carolina today."

J. C. B. Ehringhaus, Elizabeth City attorney, declared the "diffusion of enforcement in our city, county state and federal law agencies has been so multiplied in recent years that today it has almost reached the point of confusion of enforcement."

Mr. Ehringhaus, candidate for governor in 1932, called on his 12 years experience as a solicitor as he cited various imperfections in the criminal law system.

"Crime and the evasion of crime" he said, "have been made easier because of overlapping jurisdiction."

He predicted the time will come when state and federal officers will work in harmony and policemen will have a professional standing such as detectives of Scotland Yard England.

Various other representatives of the several law enforcement agencies were on the program.

WERE DUE AT NOON TODAY

Hopeful Moyle and Allen Will Be Able to Stay in Air Longer Than 48 Hours.

Seattle, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Under clouded skies, Seattle watched today for Don Moyle and C. A. Allen, California fliers who left Japan almost two days ago on a non-stop flight from Samushiro Beach to this city.

The aviators had not been reported since they were sighted 10 minutes after leaving the beach but in view of the isolated territory over which they would fly and the slowness of communication from those parts, this was not considered alarming.

Scores of cars and hundreds of people crowded Boeing Field where the fliers are expected to land. They had hoped to reach Seattle by noon today. At 12:30 P. (3:30 P. M. E. S. T.) they will have been in the air 48 hours.

Because of a tail wind, aviators here were hopeful their gasoline supply would last longer than the allotted 47 hours.

Moyle and Allen carried no radio and they essayed a course north of the great circle steamship line. They had expected to fly northward of the Aleutian Islands for a considerable distance, then cross the island group and head straight for Seattle while still some distance from the American mainland.

At 3:30 A. M. today the aviators had been 36 hours out of Samushiro and, if all went as planned, were somewhere south of the Aleutians. The islands are sparsely inhabited and the fliers might have passed over the tiny spots of land without having been seen.

Weather conditions were reported favorable along the latter portion of their route. There was cloudiness and some rain south of the Aleutians and prevailing winds were westerly and southwesterly of from 12 to 28 miles an hour velocity. Such breezes would serve as tail winds, and step up the speed of the plane.

Light headwinds were forecast for the fliers upon their turning down the Alaskan coast.

Aviators here said that if Moyle and Allen got into a tail wind they would be able to conserve their gasoline supply by "nursing" the motor along at the normal cruising speed. The plane carried 1,020 gallons of gasoline, enough for 47 hours in the air. This would enable them to remain up until 11:30 A. M. Pacific Standard Time (2:30 P. M. EST).

Just where the fliers would land was a matter of speculation. Seattle was their goal and the local chapter of the National Aeronautical Association made plans for their reception here.

However, John Buffelen, capitalist and owner of the plane, was hoping they would land in Tacoma. He said he would give them $500 toward the purchase price of the plane if they would alight in Tacoma or some small city thereabout. He declined, however, to make that concession in case of a landing in Seattle, Everett or Bellingham, which have "shown no interest in the flight."

Deeds Farm To Notable Men

Bradenton Fla., Sept. 9.—(AP)—President Hoover, Mahatma Gandhi, Jack Dempsey, Will Rogers, Clara Bow and a dozen or so other notables have joint equities in a Florida farm—If they want to defend them against foreclosure proceedings.

Announcing he was about to lose the property, valued at $10,000, for taxes, George O. Lea, state legislator and farmer, deeded the farm to nearly a score of distinguished personages. Now a foreclosure suit had been brought against Lea and others by V. D. Alston.

The return day was fixed as October 4.

Killed in Auto Accident

Statesville, N. C.—(AP)—Mrs. E. H. Ketter, 17, died when she, with four other persons, was injured as their auto crashed with another here. All were of Waynesville.

Bankers Stress Sound Banking

Roaring Gap, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Strict adherence to the principles of sound bank management would have prevented recent failure of many financial institutions, in the opinion of the executive committee of the North Carolina Bankers' association.

The committee, meeting here yesterday, decided to stress the fundamental rules of banking as the major activity of the association during the next year.

It pointed out that had these rules been followed, except in cases of inefficiency or legal violations by bank officers, the majority of banks which failed during the last year would have been able to weather the financial depression.

The committee recommended that frequent financial statements be required of customers in order that executive officers may know at all times the degree of liquidity of their institutions. Diversification of loans and an interchange of credit formation between banks in neighboring localities were recommended as policies of great value.

Among those attending the meeting were R. M. Hanes, president of the association; Robert N. Page and Forest Eskridge, vice presidents; H. M. Cox, secretary, and Paul B. Brown, secretary.

Abatement Charges Filed By Leas In Conspiracy Case

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Col. Luke Lea, and Luke Lea, Jr., have filed a joint plea for abatement of charges of conspiracy to defraud the closed Liberty Bank and Trust Company here.

Seven of the eight grounds given yesterday in Davidson county Criminal court were based on points of law. The other said the Leas had been acquitted at Asheville, N. C., on charges growing out of the same transaction—relating to 300,000 certificates of deposit issued by the Central Bank and Trust Company of Asheville.

The Leas were indicted August 11 with several other persons.

Falls Into Well, In Bad Condition

Lenoir, Sept. 9.—(AP)—W. W. Raby, 35, was in a critical condition today after falling into a 40-foot well.

He, with two brothers, was digging the well and had been lowered into the pit after exploding a dynamite charge.

SAM

By Freeman Lincoln

SYNOPSIS: Suspense holds Sam Sherrill while she waits to learn what the man she loves, Freddy Munson, is going to do about her sudden engagement to Peak Abbott. Sam has accepted Peak, owner of the Express where she works, because she has pressing need of money and because she hopes the news will lessen the effect of her half-brother's matrimonial marriage to their maid. Her half-brother, Nelson, took with him money with which Sam intended to pay interest on a mortgage. This further alienates Sam's stepfather, Fourth Aldersea, who firmly upholds aristocracy although he lost the money needed to maintain the family's social standing. Peak tells Sam that Freddy has left the Express and that he remarked of the engagement: "I am not sure that you are to be congratulated." Sam cannot conceal her feeling.

Chapter 13

PEAK AND FREDDY CLASH
"It's nothing," Sam shook her head. "I'm sorry, Peak. It's just that I'm terribly tired."

"Look here," said Peak decisively. "I'll tell you what's going to happen. I'm going home, and you are going to bed."

He hesitated, and then reached into his side pocket and produced a small square box. "Here's your engagement ring," he said. He took the ring from its case and picked up her left hand. "It may be a little large," he apologized, "but I think it's rather pretty."

"It's beautiful," Sam looked at the ring on her third finger, and then up at Peak.

He kissed her lightly. "Just for luck, Sam. I'm sure we'll have luck—you and I."

"Of course, Peak." She nodded slowly. "Of course we will."

In the ten days that followed no word was heard from Nelson Aldersea and his bride. No letter came to the stable, and after the first sensation the newspapers forgot the story entirely. Fourth and Sam never mentioned the subject in public, and their friends tactfully avoided it.

Sam, as anyone could see and as everyone remarked, had suffered more keenly than this blunder of Nelson's than even Fourth himself. She held her head just as high, if not a bit higher than before, but no one was deceived. Not even her obvious devotion to Peak Abbott, and his equally obvious devotion to her, seemed enough to make her forget what her step-brother had done.

Her friends did their best to aid in the forgetting process. The engagement offered sufficient excuse for a round of entertainments that left her no night in the week to her own devices. Her days were busy enough with her housekeeping and her job on the Express. People wondered sulkily why she kept on with her job.

Peak wondered the same thing. After the engagement was announced he said that, naturally, she would want to give up her job at once. Sam's protest was earnest, almost vehement.

"Is it necessary, Peak?" she pleaded.

"Of course it isn't necessary," Peak laughed in surprise. "I just thought you'd be too busy to go on with it now."

"Busy? Oh, so!" Sam shook her head. "I'm not half busy enough."

Peak worried about that remark, and as the days went by he found himself worrying more and more about Sam. She was not herself. He could tell how tired she was, and yet she rushed from one thing to another as though she was afraid of sitting still. She worked hard, played harder, and treated him with an unwavering gentleness and consideration that was almost pathetic.

In the end Peak was forced to mention the matter to her. He chose a time when they were alone in the living room of the stable and he tried to bring up the subject with some appearance of naturalness, but Sam persistently parried his tactful hints. He found it necessary, finally, to be direct.

"Sam," he said suddenly, "I'm worried about something, and I wish you'd help me."

"Worried?" Her eyes questioned him. "About what?"

"I'm worried about you. There's something the matter with you, Sam, and I wish you'd tell me what it is."

"Don't be silly, Peak." She looked away. "There's nothing the matter with me."

He shrugged. "Everybody knows you are unhappy about something, and everybody is talking about it. I know it, too, naturally enough, but I don't agree with the others as to the cause. I don't agree with the general opinion that it is Nelson who is bothering you, and I don't agree with Fourth that it is money."

"Money?" The color deepened in her cheeks. "Did Fourth say anything to you about money?"

"It wasn't his fault. I dragged it out of him. I questioned him until I forced him to admit that he thought you were troubled about money. He told me about what Nelson had done and about that foolish mortgage."

She shrugged, almost indifferently. "So it was you who paid the mortgage interest. Fourth said he had earned it, but I might have known."

"What does it matter? Let's get back to the original subject. I can't believe that it is money that is making you unhappy because you must realize that your money troubles will be over as soon as you marry me. I can't believe it is Nelson, either."

"No?" She almost smiled. "Then what do you think it is?"

"I don't know." He frowned. "I'm only afraid you are unhappy because you've said you'll marry me. If that is true, Sam, I hope you'll admit it and we'll consider the whole business off."

She looked at him. "Are you trying to get rid of me?"

"You know I'm not."

She nodded calmly. "Very well, then, the subject is closed, for I have no intention of breaking my engagement to you—ever. If there's any breaking to be done, Peak, you'll have to do it. Do you want to?"

"I don't want anything except to see you happy."

"She sighed. "I suppose there is no use in telling you that I'm perfectly happy."

"Not the slightest." He shook his head doggedly. "I know that there's something wrong with you, even though you won't admit it, and I'll tell you what I'm going to do." He shook a finger at her sternly. "Somehow or other I'm going to find out what the matter is, and when I do, I'm going to get it fixed!"

Two weeks later Freddy Munson walked into Peak Abbott's office in the Express building.

"Hello, Munson," said Peak with a smile, holding out his hand. "I'm glad to see you. Are you coming back to work for us? We can use a good man."

"Hello, Abbott," Freddy shook hands briefly. "No, I'm not coming back here to work. I'm on my way to Kansas City, and I just stopped off for an hour to say something to you."

"Oh," Peak made a mental note that Freddy looked tired and shabby. Probably he had been on an intensive spree in New York. Probably he wanted to borrow money. Peak indicated a chair. "Won't you sit down?"

"No, thanks. I'll stand if you don't mind." Freddy shook his head and then added in explanation: "Can't seem to sit down for any length of time these days. Nervous. Smoking too many cigarettes probably."

He took a paper package from his pocket as he spoke, extracted a cigarette, and lit it. Peak smiled. "I know, I get that way myself some times. Well, what's on your mind, Munson?"

Freddy scowled. Then he said abruptly: "How is Sam?"

"Sam Sherrill?" Surprised, Peak hesitated. "Why, she's fine—thanks."

Freddy's scowl disappeared and he smiled grimly. "Didn't know I knew her well enough to call her Sam, did you? Well, I do."

He thrust his hands in his pockets and began to pace up and down the rug, rapidly puffing at his cigarette. Peak watched him for a time and then said quietly: "Well?"

Freddy laughed sharply and stopped in his tracks. "I'm a fool!" he said savagely. "I've always known I was a fool, Abbott, and this proves it. Coming here won't do any good. 'I'm going to get out.' 'I'm darned if I will!' Freddy turned about. 'I'm here now, and I'm going to speak my piece!'"

"Good. Let's hear it."

Freddy said: "Are you going to marry Sam Sherrill?"

Peak stared. "I am. Why?"

"Because," replied Freddy walking over to the desk and leaning across it, "if you do, Abbott, you'll be committing a crime—the worst sort of crime!"

(Copyright, Freeman Lincoln)

Peak and Freddy tomorrow for the first time meet in the open as rivals. The contest is close in their word duel.

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up."

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Request a substitute, 25¢ at all stores. © 1931, C. M. Co.

Dr. Shockley Speaks On Subject of Faith At Red Oak Revival

Dr. J. W. Shockley, of Asheville, spoke on the subject of "Faith" at the Red Oak revival services Monday night.

The sermon was heard by another large crowd and proved very impressive and inspirational.

Dr. Shockley showed the supreme importance of faith in the life of the individual, declaring one should not let anything come between him and the great truths enunciated by Christ.

The sermon in part follows:

Faith is the substance (assurance) of things hoped for and evidence (conviction) of things unseen. Faith is the taking of the Lord at His word.

If the Lord tells you to confess Him isn't that your business? Therefore one should not let another interfere, or come between Him and Christ.

Take the corn as an illustration: Why does a farmer select his corn seed, test, and try to select the best before planting, and prepares the bed in the best way? There is the assurance in his heart that he will have corn in the crib at harvest time.

Reasons for above:

- 1.—Observation.
- 2.—Experience.
- 3.—Education.
- 4.—Learning.

There is the conviction that if he does his part, the Lord will do His part—send the rain and sun and cause the seed to go through the process of growth and maturity.

Christ wants in the heart of each individual and the germ of faith to grow.

Faith in God is brought about by education, learning, training and observation.

Jesus is known to be merciful, and loving, and wants every soul saved. They are taught by fathers, mothers, Sunday School teachers and by God. You are not ready to live until you come unto Christ.

Believe with all your heart that Jesus is the Son of God.

PRES. HOOVER TALKS COTTON

Confers with Bankers and Cotton Brokers Regarding Credits for Exports.

Washington, Sept. 9.—(AP)—President Hoover is holding a series of discussions with bankers and cotton brokers over the possibility of creating banking credits for exports of cotton.

At the same time, the White House and the State and Agriculture departments are considering the possibility and advisability of calling an international conference on the subject of cotton production.

The President believes it was so far as this country is now concerned, the necessity of establishing credits for exports is paramount rather than talk of control or restriction of acreage.

The President was described as of the opinion that the federal government had no agency through which it could restrict acreage and believing that such action was a matter for the producers themselves to handle.

The President conferred at length yesterday with W. L. Clayton, of Houston, Texas, the head of one of the largest cotton firms in the country and with Eugene Meyer, governor of the Federal Reserve board, and George R. James, member of the board.

It was said at the White House today that the conferences yesterday did not develop any specific plan and that the discussions would be continued either through meetings or correspondence.

The Department of Agriculture yesterday estimated this year's cotton crop at 15,685,000 bales, the highest September estimate in 16

ABOUT TOWN

Greenville tobacco warehousemen have organized with a view to bringing about a closer spirit of co-operation and converting Greenville into the leading tobacco market of the state.
 The organization will meet each Monday and discuss plans looking to the objective, and at the end of the season they hope to see good results.
 If other organizations would take similar view of the situation it should not be many more seasons before Greenville is recognized as the largest market in the country. It is always the best market in the State, and needs to boost its sales just a bit more than in past years to forge to the front as the world's greatest market.
 By selling more tobacco than any other market in the State on opening day this season, Greenville got away to a good start and barring eventualities should be able to hold the lead for an indefinite period, if not for the whole season.
 Situated in the largest tobacco-producing county in the world Greenville obviously is destined to fulfill its rightful heritage as the greatest sales center as well as the largest producing center.
 The Texas Legislature has assembled to consider the cotton crisis and before many days pass the nation should know definitely what the Lone Star state is going to do about relieving conditions.
 Governor Long of Louisiana is in favor of declaring a year's holiday on cotton production, but Texas seems to be more in favor of trying a 50 percent reduction of crop-hopping through proper legislation to be able to bring the farmer to the point where he will reduce without the fear of what the other fellow is going to do.
 While drastic action is going to be necessary to meet the situation, it is inadvisable to prohibit the growing of the staple entirely for a year. A fifty percent slash should bring about such a pronounced cut in production that the congestion existing on the world market would be noticeably relieved, if not the first year, certainly during the second and third.
 Cotton is the principal crop of the Southland, and the farmers would fare badly were they denied the income derived from its sale, even though it is below cost of production at this time.
 Texas has set the ball to rolling by calling the Legislature into session and that other states will follow the pathway is not to be doubted.
 Pitt County Commissioners adopted the 94 cent tax rate at the first meeting of the month here this week.
 The rate represents a reduction of 41 cents compared with the $1.35 rate last season.
 The reduction was made in the face of a six million dollar decrease in valuations showing to what extent the commissioners were forced to trim expenses in other departments to take care of the situation, even though the schools for the six month term are supported by the State.
 Pitt county enjoys one of the lowest tax rates in the State at this time. Some of the other counties have rates over double the local rate, which shows what has been accomplished here.
 Tobacco prices advanced considerably on the Greenville tobacco market the first of the week and in spite of the fact that the largest sales of the season were recorded the average was above any single day last week.
 When tobacco is selling high Greenville tobaccoists may be counted upon to get the top of the market for the thousands of pounds sold on the floors of the eight ware houses each day.
 It is the purpose of local warehousemen to render the highest type of service possible, and farmers who come here may rest assured of getting the best to be had from the standpoint of services and monetary considerations.

 With the advent of cool weather and improved qualities of tobacco the price situation ought to show even more life during the next several weeks.
 The buyers are willing to pay good prices for better grades of leaf but they are disinclined to add to the glutted condition of the market by continued purchase of the poor grades. Farmers should consider this fact and turn their attention to the growing of the best kind of tobacco it is possible for them to produce in the finest tobacco producing soil in the country.

PUBLIC FORUM

OUR READERS ARE INVITED TO USE THIS COLUMN FOR DISCUSSING PROBLEMS OF INTEREST TO THIS COMMUNITY. IN ALL CASES NAMES MUST ACCOMPANY ANY COMMUNICATION.
 Please Make Your Discussion As Short As Possible.

LOOK FOR THE BEST
 We are in urgent need of finding a new viewpoint, a new outlook, and a new perspective. We have thought and talked depression, pessimism, and hard times until everything we see takes on the color of this doleful business to which we have given ourselves. Expecting the worst to happen, we look for evidences of it in all that we meet and everything that we read.

Now there are just many things happening every day that should give us hope and encouragement and provide us with an optimistic outlook. Books, magazines and papers daily furnish the world with good things to think about and encouraging accounts of events that are taking place all over the world. All folks don't read the current books and magazines, but we all read the daily papers. There are few in Greenville who do not daily scan the columns of our local paper for local and world happenings. Now this is what we are asking you to do:
 Read the Daily Reflector carefully each day. Clip from each day's issue what you consider the most encouraging news item and send it to Mr. Ryan, minister of the Eighth Street Christian church. It makes no difference whether it has to do with religion, morals, industry, economics, science or politics. In a word, wherever in the Reflector's reporting of the news of the world you will find an encouraging note sounded, clip out the article and send it to Mr. Ryan. Each Sunday at the night service Mr. Ryan will read what he considers the best article submitted and give a five-minute interpretation of what he considers its significant aspects.
 The Daily Reflector carries each day a most excellent report of world happenings through its press dispatches. Read it from first page to last; hunt for the good things; the encouraging things; the optimistic things—and let us have your contribution of optimism for The Greenville Optimists' Club. How about it?

UNUSUAL MID WEEK SERVICE AT ST PAUL'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH
 At St. Paul's Episcopal church there will begin tonight, a new type of mid-week service. The church will be lighted only by the Altar candles. The congregation will remain in quietness throughout the service. While before the Altar there will be held a deeply devotional service of prayer and meditation.
 The service is short, and is especially planned to bring help and strength to those who need God in these trying times. The congregation of St. Paul's invited all who will to share with them the help of these services.

DR. J. J. TYSON GOES TO WISCONSIN TO WORK WITH VETERANS BUREAU

Dr. J. J. Tyson, of Farmville, who has been in charge of the Rosenwald venereal demonstration clinic in this county for the last 18 months has gone to Wisconsin where he will be connected with the Veterans Bureau.
 The Rosenwald clinic, which was conducted among colored people of the county with a view of improving their condition, was started here about two years ago through the Rosenwald fund, the State Board of Health and the Pitt County Department of Health. Thousands of colored people received examinations and treatment.
 Although the clinic activities have been completed, the County Health Department today was making an effort to obtain the services of a nurse to continue the educational program among the colored people. If this should succeed belief was expressed that work accomplished through the clinics would have a

NEW HURLERS DISPLAY FORM IN NATIONAL

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr. (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Three recruit pitchers have made brilliant debuts in the National league in the last few weeks.

Jim Mooney, formerly of Charlotte, came from nowhere to become one of the New York Giants' stars. Monday Van Mungo stepped up from Hartford to pitch a great game for Brooklyn and now Bill Harris, who just came to Pittsburgh from Fort Worth, has joined them in the high places.

While Mooney was winning his sixth straight game for the Giants yesterday, Harris pitched his first game for the Pirates and won it by a shutout. He allowed the Cincinnati Reds only five hits in a brilliant duel with Jack Ogden and Benny Frey and earned a 3 to 0 victory. The Pirates made only four hits but two of them were combined with two walks off Ogden and an error in the first inning to produce all three runs.

Mooney, who has yet to taste defeat in the big league, hurled the Giants to an even break in their double-header with Philadelphia. Phil Collins downed the Giants for the second time in a row in the opener, besting Bill Walker 3 to 1 as the Phils scored three times in the fifth.

Mooney, although hit ten times, was effective in all but one inning of a struggle against Sheriff Blake and scored a run himself in the eighth inning to produce a 4 to 3 victory.

Another good pitching performance came from Austin Moore of Brooklyn in the remaining National league game. Moore relieved Babe Phelps with the bases full and none out in the first and pitched nine full frames to win 10-6 as his supporting cast hit three Boston pitchers hard and dropped Braves into a tie with Philadelphia for 6th place.

The outstanding American league mound performance again was left in the capable left hand of Robert Moses Grove of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Grove set Washington down with seven hits and fanned seven to record his 28th victory of the season against three defeats. The Senators kept things close until the seventh inning when an eight-run assault, capped by Jimmy Fox's 28th homer of the season, drove Sam Jones from the mound and made the final score 10 to 1.

The defeat left Washington only one game ahead of the New York Yankees who, with Boston, had an off day.

Cleveland continued its spurt by taking two games from the Chicago White Sox to make it six victories in three days. The Indians were out in both games, but came through with a late rally against Bob Welland to take the opener 8 to 7, then drove Pat Carr away from the hill with a 5 run rally in the first inning and won the second game 6 to 3.

The St. Louis Browns regained the top place in the second division by a half game margin on the strength of two home runs that beat the Detroit Tigers 3 to 2.

Outfit 8-6 in a duel between Walt Stewart and Earl Whitehill, the Browns got all their runs on four baggers by Rick Ferrell and Red Kress.

Yesterday's Stars

(By the Associated Press)

Pete Jablonowski, Indians—scattered Whitesox's nine hits to win 6-3.

Bob Grove, Athletics—turned in 28th victory of year, stopping Senators with seven hits and fanning seven.

Rick Ferrell and Ralph Kress, of the Browns—their home runs beat Detroit, 3-2.

Babe Herman, Robins—contributed home run and two singles as Robins beat Braves.

Bill Harris, Pirates—made first major league start and blanked the Reds, 3-0, with five hits.

Phil Collins, Phillies—held Giants to seven hits to win, 3-1.

Fred Leach, Giants—his single in eighth drove in run that beat the Phils in second game, 4-3.

GRID OUTLOOK BRIGHTER FOR STATE TEAMS

Charlotte, Sept. 9.—(AP)—North Carolina "Big Five" coaches today had an opportunity to take a brighter view of the football situation as they reviewed the good things that have happened despite disappointments each school heard on opening day.

Glenn Lemon who sprained an ankle running signals at Duke, is not seriously hurt, physicians report, and will be back in shape in a short while.

On top of that, Wallace Wade-Duke mentor, found four likely looking chaps who would like to play quarterback on his team. A quarterback is exactly what he's been looking for to take the place of Buzz Rosky, signal calling end who graduated.

Lowell Mason, shot during the summer in a police chase; Moon Mullen, who played quarter but called no signals last year, and a pair of Sophomores are seeking the job. The Sophs are Horace Hendrickson and James Raper.

Coach Clipper Smith, at N. C. State, was well pleased with George Beaghan of Mount Vernon, N. Y., who has a good chance of playing an end for the Wolfpack this season. Beaghan with Hank McLawhorn, fullback, showed up at the Raleigh school yesterday.

Wake Forest's head man, Pat Miller decided that Tom Cornwell, veteran tackle, would look pretty good at the center of the line. As the Demon Deacons are in need of a hfty chap right there, Miller announced he would groom Cornwell for the job.

Ed Williams, another tackle, is expected into camp there today. Davidson also decided to do a little shifting. Coaches Younger and Tilson swapped Bud Baker from the tackle post; he has held for two years to an end. Steve Brown, veteran wingman, is practically assured of the other outside post.

North Carolina's 58 candidates appeared to be in good condition as they took their first organized workout but aft muscles that need toughing were found on every hand. The toughing process, however, is well underway with calisthenics, passing, punting and signal drills.

DUKE FAILS TO SAVE POINTERS

By WHITNEY THARIN (Associated Press Staff Writer)

Charlotte, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The Duke of Spero probably isn't what he used to be but 800 baseball fans in High Point will tell you he's better than he seems to be.

The Duke, Rube Eldridge on his birth certificate which he probably doesn't have as they were not issued when this ancient baseball man was born, was called to rescue High Point.

For 17 games the Piedmont league's cellar club had gone without a win. Today, that losing streak had increased to 18, but the Duke was not charged to the Duke.

For six innings Eldridge limited the Winston-Salem Twins to three runs, while his mates piled up 11. Then came the seventh, and the Twins found their batting eye.

They hit the Duke hard and scored four runs before he got two men down. The old man still held a three run lead, however, so he took tighter grip on the ball and faced the next batsmen.

The ball popped up back of second and it looked as if the Duke had pulled out of a hole, but luck played against him. The ball dropped between two fielders standing still, not four feet apart.

Manager Tom Young, who took over the Pointer reins only recently, sent the Duke to the showers and 500 fans swarmed on the field in protest. The game continued after police had cleared the diamond, and Winston-Salem won 14 to 13 in the 10th inning. Appleton, who relieved Clowers who was sent to succeed Eldridge, got credit for the loss.

Whether the old man will get another trial is problematical, but it was apparent the fans were with him. It has always been like that in the Duke's baseball career.

Back in 1914, when he was a star hurler for the old Charleston club in the disbanded South Atlantic league the Duke of Spero was...

No More Gas In Stomach and Bowels

If you wish to be permanently relieved of gas in stomach and bowels, take Bealman's Gas Tablets, which are prepared especially for stomach gas and all the bad effects resulting from gas pressure.

That empty, gnawing feeling at the pit of the stomach will disappear; that anxious, nervous feeling with heart palpitation will vanish, and you will again be able to take a deep breath without discomfort.

That drowsy, sleepy feeling after dinner will be replaced by a desire for entertainment. Bloating will cease. Your limbs, arms and fingers will no longer feel cold and "go to sleep" because Bealman's Gas Tablets prevent gas from interfering with the circulation. of the most popular men in the league.

His title was handed him because of certain peculiarities among them a habit of chewing—and spitting tobacco and a penchant for sartorial elegance that would make the famed Jimmy Walker look like a tramp.

Players who knew him in his prime often claimed he had nothing but a plug of tobacco and a prayer but he won ball games day after day. In fact, winning two a day was nothing unusual and when he moved from the Sally to the Piedmont, he won face as an "iron man" pitcher.

While High Point was extending its losing streak, Asheville was dropping its third straight to Charlotte, 11 to 6. Henderson beat Raleigh 7 to 6 to take the old game of the series and Greensboro beat Durham, 11 to 1.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York Sept. 9.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today, 2 to 4 points higher in the face of relatively easy Liverpool cables.

There was a little southern selling here and some further scattering liquidation, but the offerings were light and readily absorbed by covering combined with foreign and domestic trade buying. The latter was supposed to include buying by the continent and houses with Japanese connection while Liverpool was credited with selling here on the differences.

The demand was sufficient to send prices up to 6.99 for December and 7.28 for March or about 8 to 11 points net higher, and the market was within 3 or 4 points of the best at the end of the first half hour. Liverpool cables said that spot sales of 25,000 bales reported in that market today included 15,000 bales of Russian cotton, which according to one of the private advices was rumored to be for export to India.

Liverpool futures were lower than due to the New York close of yesterday with Bombay buying and calling supplied by hedging and liquidation.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Upturn in wheat prices late today accompanied trade reports indicating probable general downward revision of Russian wheat production estimates.

The reports were taken to imply relief from haunting fear that Russia would swamp the world with wheat.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1-4-3-4 cents higher, corn at 1-1-4 decline to 1-4 advance, oats unchanged to 1-8 off, and provisions varying from 5 cents setback to a rise of 2 cents.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The stock market poked its head up today only to attract a fresh volley of selling.

A little flurry of short covering sent several shares up a point or so for a time in the morning, but heavy pressure against General Motors, and further sagging in the rails and utilities, developed by midday. There were numerous losses of a point or two by afternoon. The bond market was again dragged down by the rail issues.

General Motors sagged more than a point to within a fraction of the year's low. International Harvester and National Biscuit were soft spots, losing more than 2 points to record new minimum levels. DuPont sagged in sympathy with General Motors, losing more than 3.

Miscellaneous issues losing a point or two included Consolidated Gas, Columbia Gas, American Telephone, National Power and Light, Eastman, Gillette, Woolworth, Union Pacific, Nickel Plate, Reading and others. Some of the gold mining issues were bid up, however, notably Alaska Juneau and homestake, the latter recording a new high for the year. Air Reduction rallied on announcement of the regular and regular extra dividends.

The mid week business statistics provided little impetus to the market in either direction.

Considerable uncertainty over maintenance of the $3 annual rate by General Motors is being felt in brokerage circles, and selling of the stock was coincident with brokerage house gossip that the rate may be reduced to $2.50.

There have been further rumors of selling from abroad in the stock market this week particularly from London. The German situation however, continues reassuring, what with the rally in the Berlin Bourse and the stronger position shown by the Reichsbank in its weekly statement.

The Universal Circulator

... gives the equivalent of a basement heating plant at a fraction of the cost ...

The Universal Circulator is in effect a parlor furnace that gives you all the comforts of a basement heating plant at less than half the cost.

Its beautifully designed cabinet harmonizes perfectly with the furnishings of the home and brings added charm and beauty to any room.

Circulating purified, moist, warm air to every nook and corner of the home, it does the work of two or three ordinary stoves, and makes the entire house comfortably warm at all times—and in addition saves at least 1/3 to 1/2 on fuel costs.

Be sure and inspect the Universal Circulator—it will prove a revelation in home heating to you.

 "Pitt County's Leading Furniture Dealers"

"They speak my language!"

... and it's no "namby-pamby" talk, —either!

Words can mean lots of things—but you can always trust your taste. If a cigarette tastes right, if it satisfies you right down to the ground, then it is right.

There are all kinds of tobaccos—some good, some not so good. And there's the Chesterfield kind—the best Turkish and the best Domestic that grows. Full-ripe, sun-cured, aged in Nature's thoroughgoing way—and as mild and smooth and sweet as sun-ripened fruit. Chesterfields taste right —because they are right. And something you can't taste—that's important too! The finest cigarette paper—so pure it burns without taste or odor!

And behind this unchanging good taste, all the resources of a great organization—men, money, science, experience. It takes them all to make a great cigarette, and they're all behind Chesterfield.

Your taste is dead right. Chesterfields do satisfy.

GOOD . . . they've got to be good!
