Texas Synosure Of All Eyes As Solons Plan Cotton Relief

TWO MEASURES BEFORE BODY

Farmers Cheer Gov. Long's Radio Address and Endorse Prohibition Plan.

Austin, Texas, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Proponents of cotton acreage reduction in the Texas Senate today agreed on an acreage control bill while the House moved forward with its public hearings on the several bills introduced.

The Senate compromise bill would restrict cotton acreage to one-third of the cultivated area in 1932 and 1933 and prohibit the planting of any land to cotton on successive years.

The action of the two houses caused hope to wane that any bill would be passed this week.

By Associated Press The interest of the south today centered upon whether Texas, producer of a third of the nation's crop, would enact a fifty per cent acreage reduction measure or the Louisiana plan to prohibit cotton production entirely in 1932.

Both the proposed cotton relief measures were before the Texas Legislature, called into special session on the cotton crisis, and the Louisiana plan, which first had little support in the Lone Star state, today had the endorsement of a huge mass meeting.

Last night more than 7,000 farmers, meeting at Austin, cheered a radio address made by Gov. Huey P. Long, of Louisiana from Shreveport and endorsed his cotton prohibition plan with a roar of "ayes." The 50 per cent acreage reduction plan also had been discussed.

The Louisiana plan becomes operative only if adopted by states producing three-fourths of the cotton crop. Louisiana's Legislature enacted it unanimously at a special session recently held.

Meanwhile President Hoover planned to continue in Washington a series of conferences with bankers and cotton men in a hope that some solution may be found.

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 10.—(AP)—South Carolina's first extraordinary session of the Legislature in 17 years will convene Monday at the call of Governor Ibra C. Blackwood.

The purpose of the extra session will be the same as that of the one summoned nearly two decades ago by Governor Cole L. Blease. To seek by legislative enactment to bring relief for farmers from low cotton prices.

Governor Blackwood in his proclamation calling the session, set forth that an enormous cotton surplus and the prospect of another record crop had made the farmers' plight desperate and said "remedial legislation" would be sought.

The governor, who favors the Long plan to outlaw cotton planting in 1932, pointed out that the majority of the farmers of the state and county mass meeting had endorsed the special session and expressed preference for the Long plan, and that a large number of the legislators had expressed themselves in accord with the sentiment of the farmers.

The plan for copaidration at Monday's extra session is somewhat similar to one adopted by the 1914 special session called by Governor Blease.

That session, after many days of deliberation, passed a law limiting cotton planting, with certain exceptions, to one-third of the total acreage cultivated. The act, however, was repealed at the regular session the succeeding spring.

Another plan put forward during the 1914 special session was a $25,000,000 bond issue to buy 5,000,000 bales of cotton in an attempt to wipe out the cotton surplus, and send the price up. It was not signed by the governor.

As the farmers continued to clamor for relief, several other proposals were advanced among them (Continued on page four)

PITT SCHOOLS OPEN SEPT. 21

The 6 Months' Term, However, Will Not Get Under Way Until October 5.

The eight-month school term will begin in Pitt county, September 21, it was announced today from the office of R. G. Fitzgerald, superintendent of schools.

The six-month school term will not get underway until October 5, two weeks later than the eight months' system.

Due to enactment of the MacLean school law, ten 1, 2 and 3 grade schools have been eliminated in Pitt county this term. Children in these districts have been transferred to other schools.

Only seven teachers were lost through the elimination of the ten schools.

Approximately two hundred teachers will comprise the faculties of the various schools this term.

The list of teachers for the entire system follows:

Ayden P. B. Pollock, Miss Alya Ray Taylor, W. M. Jenkins, Miss Frances Dixon, G. C. Bane, Miss Thelma Moody, Miss Sophie Hobgood, Miss Alice Mitchell, Miss Edith Smith, Miss Hazel Patrick, Miss Rosalind Robinson, Mrs. J. L. Tingle, Miss Henrietta MacMillan, Miss Ella Tucker Smith, Miss Irene Barker, Miss Marjorie Patrick, Miss Lena Dawson, Miss Edna Reid Sumrell, Miss Sarah E. Pearson.

SEES BETTER DAYS AHEAD

Silas Strawn Says Encouraging Signs are Appearing on Business Horizon.

Washington, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Encouraging signs, in the expressed opinion of Silas Strawn, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, are appearing on the business horizon.

He expressed this belief last night in a radio address in which he said that "more faith and fewer nostrums" was the need of the day.

"Let us quit talking about our troubles and regard the present as an opportunity to demonstrate our capacity for accomplishment," he told his radio listeners. "The whole world looks to America for leadership. Let us justify their expectations."

"I cannot predict when we shall evolve out of our present economic condition, but when we look backward and see that in the past we have always come out of depressions and gone on to greater prosperity, I am confident that we shall repeat our past experience. When that recovery will come, no one will have the hardihood, definitely, to forecast. Certain it is that it can only be brought about by cooperating individual effort and not by (Continued on page four)

PROBE UTAH PRISON RIOT

Five Convicts in Solitary Confinement as Investigation Gets Under Way.

Salt Lake City, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Five convicts were in solitary confinement today as officials investigated the riot at the state penitentiary yesterday in which one prisoner was killed and several guards and other convicts were injured.

Warden W. E. Davis quelled the outbreak by refusing to bargain with the mutineers as policemen, deputy sheriffs and firemen swarmed the walls to beat down any wholesale attempt by the convicts to escape.

The warden expressed the opinion six or seven other prisoners were implicated. The group was armed with knives and crude bombs made of sections of pipe. Only one bomb, however, exploded.

The men held as the ring leaders are Robert H. Elliott and Delbert Webster Pfoutz, serving life terms for slaying an officer in a jail break at Moab, Utah; Raymond Underwood, F. C. Hertel, described by authorities as the "brains" of the plot, serving a term for assault with a deadly weapon and robbery, and George Day.

Elliott and Pfoutz, accused of attacking a guard, face death under the wording of the law if they are convicted. This provision applies in cases of convicts serving life sentences.

Louis Deathridge, known to police as a former St. Louis gangster, who with Underwood dashed to the prison wall and started up a crude rope and cloth ladder, was shot to death by L. W. McTavish, tower guard. Underwood was injured slightly by another shot.

Their fate, officials said, broke the spirit of the rioters, who only a few minutes previously had lured C. L. Christensen and D. L. Rees, guards, and Deputy Warden Wilford Giles, into the cell block and demanded that they instruct the wall guards to throw away their guns.

Uses Cotton for Fish Bait Orrcooke—Another use for cotton has been found. Mrs. Murray Tolson, with a fishing party, caught 23 bluefish in two hours with a piece of cotton after other bait had been exhausted.

ADMITS FAKE LAW DIPLOMA

Jack Yarmov Testifies Before the Supreme Court in Effort to Get Law License.

Raleigh, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Jack Yarmov, who gave his home address as Raleigh when he applied to take the State Bar examination, but who is a native of Atlantic City, N. J., today testified at a hearing before the Supreme Court that he had "faked" a law diploma from the Dickinson Law School in the state of New Jersey.

Yarmov, whose right to be licensed to practice law in North Carolina was questioned by the Wake County Bar association on the grounds that he was a non-resident, admitted faking the diploma after a letter from the dean of the school was read at the hearing.

The court also had before it the case of J. Melville Field, whose right to receive a law license was questioned by the Greensboro Bar association on the grounds that he had served a prison term.

Yarmov told the court that he had faked the diploma so as to be able to show it to his "dying mother" whose "dying wish" was to see her son graduated from the law school. He said he was notified, along with 30 others, one week before he was to graduate that his work was satisfactory but that he would not be given a diploma.

He admitted failure on three occasions to get a law license in New Jersey. He contended he was a resident of the state as required by the law regarding law licenses and that he planned to settle in Charlotte permanently to practice law if he was licensed. He presented 30 or 40 affidavits as to his good character and to show he was a resident as required by the law.

Explaining a folder which his company prepared to aid the bond sales, Williams said he would not have prepared the folder or bought any Central Securities bonds if he had known 80 per cent of the collateral behind them consisted of certificates of deposit from the Central Bank and Trust company.

The Atlanta said both Davis and Harris told him the principal collateral were mortgages. Later he said, when some question arose Harris assured him by mail that Central Securities Company was sound and stressed the fact that the company was paying dividends regularly.

Previous government witnesses testified the dividends were paid although the company was operating at a loss.

Lower Tax Rate Laurinburg.—Scotland County Commissioners lowered last year's tax rate 47 cents when they fixed this year's general rate at 50 cents.

Schools in Burlington Burlington.—The board of aldermen reduced Burlington school terms to a probable eight months when they cut the school budget to reduce the tax burden.

ATLANTA MAN ON THE STAND

H. C. Williams Testifies in Trial of Wallace Davis at Asheville.

Asheville, Sept. 10.—(AP)—H. C. Williams, of Atlanta, today testified in Wallace B. Davis' trial on a charge of using the mails to defraud that the former Asheville flier once asked him to investigate the possibility of the Central Securities Company, of Asheville, purchasing the Fulton National Bank, of Atlanta.

Williams at the time was president of the Mortgage Guaranty Co. of America, Atlanta, one of the companies the government alleges Davis persuaded to buy Central securities bonds through misrepresentation.

Davis was president of Central Securities Company which failed last fall along with the bank he headed, the Central Bank and Trust Company, of Asheville. He is on trial with William D. Harris, who was vice-president of the securities company.

The defense objected to Williams' testimony with respect to the Atlanta bank, but C. A. Jones, U. S. district attorney, argued it was competent in showing the defendants made wild proposals in an effort to make it appear their financial resources were greater than they actually were.

Williams said his company distributed Central Securities bonds under the belief they were secured mainly by bonds of Asheville mortgage companies which in turn were based on first mortgages guaranteed by the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company, some government obligations and cash.

Ernest Stator, colored, was found guilty of assault with a deadly weapon.

Approximately eight cases were disposed of in yesterday's session and jail and road sentences featured most of them.

Jesse Stocks and Charlie Stocks, colored, appeared on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. Charlie was sentenced to sixty days on the roads, and Jesse was adjudged not guilty.

Charged with cruelty to animals, Jesse Stocks was sentenced to 60 days on the roads.

C. E. Pollard, assault with deadly weapon, was fined $10 and one-half the cost.

Convicted of assault with a deadly weapon, Willie Moore, colored, drew sixty days on the roads.

Beatie Lee, colored, was sent to jail for four months for assault with a deadly weapon.

JURY FAILS TO INDICT CAPONE

Grand Jury Discharged After Reporting "No Indictments" to Federal Judge.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—(AP)—A Federal grand jury report on its investigation of the prohibition charges against "Scarface" Al Capone was refused by U. S. District Judge James H. Wilkerson today.

"I'm not interested in reports only in indictments," Judge Wilkerson informed the jury.

A moment later the grand jury appeared before Federal Judge John P. Barnes advised him it had no indictments to report and was discharged.

Judge James H. Wilkerson last July had withheld ruling on Capone's motion to withdraw his plea of guilty to the original conspiracy indictment which had accused the gang chief of 5,000 offenses against the liquor laws.

The court directed the grand jury to reconsider the evidence and decide whether the same offenses could not be charged in specific indictments carrying higher penalties.

COURT CLOSES LONG SESSION

Slot Machine Case is Reopened today and Defendants Adjudged Not Guilty.

After disposing of forty or more cases, the two and a half day session of County court came to a close shortly before the noon hour today.

One of the final cases heard this morning was that against R. Hyman, Ralph Radcliffe, Jack Corey and Heber Savage, charged with operating slot machines in the city limits. All four were found guilty during yesterday's session, but at the request of the defendants the case was re-opened this morning and they were found not guilty following presentation of new evidence.

Ernest Stator, colored, was found guilty of assault with a deadly weapon.

TRY TO BOOST PRICE COTTON

Pres. Hoover, Eugene Meyer and W. L. Clayton Attempt to Improve Situation.

Washington, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Three of the men who sought means to arrest the decline in cotton prices following the huge crop of 1928, again are trying to raise the depressed price of the staple.

One is President Hoover, secretary of commerce five years ago; another is Eugene Meyer, governor of the Federal Reserve Board. The third is William L. Clayton, head of one of the largest private cotton firms in the world.

Their efforts have been directed toward arranging some form of credit for the export of cotton, now at one of the lowest prices in its history.

No decision has been decided upon or methods of relief. However, the President plans to continue his conferences with bankers and cotton men in the hope that some solution may be found soon.

The 1928 crop, of approximately 18 million bales, was the largest on record. A near panic prevailed as it started to market.

Cotton mills, anticipating lower prices, bought cheaply and cotton trade channels seemed clogged.

In early October the average price in Southern spot market was 13 1/2 cents a pound, which was below production cost but double the 1931 price.

Mr. Hoover and Meyer, who had had previous experience in setting some share of the Alutians. Ash arrived here yesterday from the Orient as a member of the crew of the liner President Madison.

"I believe the motor blew up before they reached Dutch Harbor, Alaska," said Ash. "They had equipped the plane with a super-charger which stopped up the motor from 425 to 525 horsepower and I believe the strain was too much."

FEW BELIEVE AIRMEN SAFE

Stick to Conviction Plane on B. C. Coast May Be That of Moyle and Allen.

Seattle, Sept. 10.—(AP)—What sounded like the drone of an airplane engine, perhaps that of the missing Tokyo-Seattle fliers, Don Moyle and C. A. Allen, was heard between 9 and 10:30 a. m. yesterday by four passengers aboard the steamship Arthur J. Baldwin near Dutch Harbor, Alaska, in the Aleutian Islands, 2,000 miles from here.

The report, received here today, said the sound was coming from the southwest, dying away gradually to the northeast. Thick weather prevailed over the mountains at the time.

If it was the plane of the trans-Pacific fliers, their fuel supply would have exhausted some hours before in continuous flight.

Seattle, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Ships of the coast guard cruised south of the Aleutian Islands today hunting the missing trans-Pacific fliers, Don Moyle and Cecil A. Allen, but officers of the guard termed the search a hopeless one before they started.

One incident remained to bolster up the convictions of the few who clung to the belief that the aviators were safe—an anonymous message saying a large monoplane had been seen to land on a small island off the British Columbia coast.

The fliers left Samushiro Beach, Japan, early Tuesday with a 47-hour supply of gasoline. Their fuel could not have lasted longer than until about noon yesterday, Pacific standard time, and they had expected to land in Seattle some time during the morning. They were last seen 110 miles from Samushiro, 70 minutes after the takeoff.

Three coast guard cutters, the Northland, Chelan and Taska, started searching along the rocky and storm-scoured islands late yesterday on orders of Capt. H. D. Hinkley, division commander.

The cutters were ordered to cruise to the western extremity of the island chain and make a thorough search for the fliers or possible wreckage of the plane.

"It is almost a hopeless task," said Capt. Hinkley. "We'll do the best we can—but I'm afraid that will not be enough."

A check of radio and telegraph stations along the British Columbia coast last night failed to reveal a trace of Moyle or Allen or the source of the report that a plane similar to the one flown by the airmen had been seen along the coast.

As hours passed with no reports of the airmen, even the most optimistic began to lose hope they would be found alive, although some believed there might be a duplication of the experience of Major Frederick L. Martin, one of the army round-the-world fliers of 1924.

Major Martin was lost 11 days after his plane crashed into a mountain peak on the Alaska peninsula, despite organized efforts to find him. He finally reached a cannery equipped with a radio station and sent out word of his safety.

Thomas Ash, Jr., world war aviator, who gave up an attempt to fly the Moyle-Allen monoplane over the route this summer, expressed the opinion the airmen were lost somewhere off the Aleutians. Ash arrived here yesterday from the Orient as a member of the crew of the liner President Madison.

"I believe the motor blew up before they reached Dutch Harbor, Alaska," said Ash. "They had equipped the plane with a super-charger which stopped up the motor from 425 to 525 horsepower and I believe the strain was too much."

Ash, who plans another attempt to span the Pacific in a new plane named May, said the left wing of the Moyle-Allen ship was warped and "you had to fight it all the time." He said the ship used about 25 gallons of fuel an hour, instead of 23 as estimated by Moyle.

Ash said changes the two fliers made in the ship before they started (Continued on page four)

CROWDS HEAR DR. SHOCKLEY

Asheville Minister Delivers Gripping Sermons Tuesday and Wednesday Nights.

Large crowds continued to attend the series of revival services at Red Oak Christian church Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

Dr. J. W. Shockley, of Asheville spoke on the subject of "Obedience" last night and "Repentance" Tuesday night. Each sermon contained many facts of interest to the congregations, and the singing under direction of Dr. Scarborough was deemed to be of an inspiring nature. The sermons in part follow:

Wednesday Night

Content: The final step on the road to heaven is to spend eternity with God.

The first four steps, faith, repentance, confession and baptism have been explained in the previous sermons. The first three steps lead to Christ and baptism puts one in contact with the step of obedience. Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness (obedience). A man cannot be saved from good works only, but he must obey.

Learn to thank God for His gifts. Life, talents, and material things are greatest privilege or opportunity is to honor Christ. We are called on to give service unto God.

District Schools to Receive Picture of Geo. Washington

Announcement was made today by Congressman Lindsay C. Warren that every schoolroom of every school in his district will, within a few weeks after the opening of the new school term, receive a beautiful portrait-paster of George Washington executed in colors.

The portrait to be used in these centers is a reproduction of the famous Stuart Althaus painting of the first President of the United States. This poster was selected as a focal point of study, and is the first example of poster making available.

The pictures featuring the Washingtons are being distributed by Congressman Warren in cooperation with the United States Bicentennial Commission of Washington, D. C. in order to stimulate interest among the thousands of school children of the district in the coming nine months' celebration of the 200th anniversary of the birth of the Father of our Country.

Congressman Warren is in constant touch with the activities of the United States Bicentennial Commission, which was created by Congress to formulate and execute plans for the great celebration in 1932.

The United States Commission is placing a great deal of emphasis on the education of the school children of America in this historic event. This poster-picture is just one feature of its work.

Congressman Warren announced that he will see to it that schools, clubs, churches and fraternal and patriotic organizations in his district will be adequately supplied with literature to be issued by the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission.

The celebration will begin on February 22, 1932, and last until the following Thanksgiving Day.

Two Pitt Youths Get Appointments to West Point

Washington, N. C., Sept. 9.—Congressman Lindsay Warren today announced his appointments for the two vacancies at West Point from the First Congressional district. The examination will be held in March, and the successful candidates will enter the academy on July 1.

For one vacancy, Benjamin Otto Turnage, Jr., of Farmville is named as principal; William E. Tucker, of Greenville, first alternate; and Thomas J. Talley, Jr., of Washington, as second alternate.

For the other vacancy, Vernon A. Ward, Jr., of Robersonville, is named as principal; High Sawyer, of Elizabeth City, first alternate; and Whitwell B. Small, of Washington, as second alternate.

MISS MARY ELIZABETH FERGUSON ENTERTAINS AT LUNCHEON

One of the most attractive social affairs given in honor of Miss Harriet Carr of Norfolk and Miss Bettina Rollins of Boston, Mass., house guests of Miss Elizabeth Skinner, was the luncheon given by Miss Mary Elizabeth Ferguson on Wednesday at noon. The Ferguson home on Fourth street presented a pleasing setting with its decorations of early fall dahlias and zinnias. The dozen guests were seated at the three tables, being prettily centered with bowls of pink verbenas. At the conclusion of the tempting luncheon the guests were taken to the Capitol Theatre where they enjoyed the picture.

FREE MOVIE SHOWS FORD AUTO PLANT

A sound motion picture graphically portraying the story of the Ford Motor Company and its widespread activities will be exhibited free of charge in a special Ford exhibit to be held at John Flanagan Buggy Co. beginning Friday and continuing through Saturday. The show will be open to the public from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m.

The picture, entitled "A Tour Through the Ford Factory" will show the gathering of raw materials, their arrival at the Rouge Plant in Dearborn, Mich., and the numerous interesting stages through which they pass in the process of making Ford cars and trucks. It is in short, an education in the extent and meaning of modern volume production.

Whiles an unseen voice explains each scene, the audience is taken on a tour of the plant, through the great blast furnace building where ore is converted into iron; into the open hearth building where the iron becomes steel and is poured, a white hot liquid, into molds; into the blooming mill where the steel ingots are made into bars; and into the rolling mill in which the long bars of white hot steel are reduced to definite sizes. Forty kinds of steel, each of a composition to serve a definite purpose are used in the Ford car and truck.

The picture shows also the manufacture of glass in an endless broken strip, a process developed by Ford engineers; the machine shops in which parts for the car are manufactured; the pressed steel building with its gigantic presses; and the coke ovens and other units in which by-products are recovered to the extent of millions of dollars annually.

Throughout the picture one sees literally miles and miles of conveyors which take much of the manual labor off the backs of men. There are conveyors carrying newly arrived materials into the plant; others taking parts from one building to another; and, of course, the final assembly line, that famous conveyor on which the parts are put together to form the completed car.

Long evening wraps of velvet, have cape collars touching the waistline of ermine or chinchilla.
One lace evening dress has kink hemming the skirt. Another of white satin has a deep brown fur hem and still another has great black fox cuffs on a matching satin jacket.

Necklaces Used In Afternoon Dresses
New York, Sept. 10—(AP)—Necklaces are used a great deal on afternoon dresses this season. They are sewed to the neckline in the back and are left free in front. One dress features two necklaces fastened in this fashion, one of white beads, the other of Chinese red coral beads. Heavy antique silver or gold chains are also used in this manner as the sole decoration on a costume. Sometimes a matching buckle is featured on the belt.

Suits and gowns this year are either classically plain or orientally rich in trimming.
The former are enhanced by self drappings intricate sleeve effects, cowli or scarf necklines, gathered or pleated fullness in the skirt. The latter feature incrustations on the bodice, deep fur collars, cuffs, hip and hem edgings or sleeves, half fur or half gold or silver embroidered crepe. Clips, buckles, buttons, ruchings of lace edgings of fringe and bows and ashes add in enriching these garments.

Synod Considers Budget for Year

Charlotte, Sept. 10—(AP)—Consideration of its budget for the 118th annual meeting of the Presbyterian Synod of North Carolina today.

Recommendation that the Synod contribute $737,000 to benevolent causes under its jurisdiction has been made. An effort to wipe out the deficit incurred by six of the Synod's eight schools was also on the program.

Davidson and Queens-Chicago colleges were the only educational institutions to operate within their budgets during the last scholastic year.

The six reporting deficits of varying amounts were Flora MacDonal, Rtd Springs, Bear River, Mitchell College, Presbyterian Junior College for Men, and Valley High school, and Elise High school.

The Synod adopted a recommendation submitted by a committee headed by Dr. J. H. Hendelie, Gastonia, that in churches, where the young people's organizations are not known as the "Christian Endeavor" societies that they be called "The Young People's" of each particular church.

The same resolution recommended that in cases where new societies are formed that they be called "The Young People's" of each individual church.

ABOUT TOWN

Walter S. Gifford seems to be in earnest about this unemployment relief business, and if he continues to appoint prominent business men to his committee he should be able to raise enough money to do the job without asking the people of the various committees to contribute.

The small money interests in the rural communities have been drained to the bottom and it is going to be extremely difficult for them to provide for the demands made upon them by the poor.

Intensive organization such as that being perfected by Gifford should bring the best results it is possible to obtain, however, and persons able to contribute no doubt will do so.

It is impossible to estimate the number of poor who will seek aid from the organization during the cold winter months when it is difficult to work in bad weather even if employment is obtainable, and it should be the purpose of the committee to raise as much money as possible before the season actually rolls around.

If the fall months are permitted to pass with nothing more than talk and organization effort it will not be possible to meet the situation when the winter comes.

The task is one of the most monumental yet undertaken and if it succeeds the honor will go to the several hundred men who will be called upon to do their bit.

Members of the police department have started a re-entire campaign against operators of slot machines in this city, and several defendants were haled into court and had their machines confiscated this week.

If the operation of such machines is against the law, they should not be permitted to run and it should be the purpose of officers in all sections to see that they are restricted as much as possible.

In rural communities of other counties the machines are un-molested by the law enforcement officers, but in this county the sheriff and his deputies have been extremely vigilant and only a few of the machines are in operation.

Some of the slot devices are within the law, but others are run simply as gambling devices and can be classed as nothing else, and it is upon these that the officers are concentrating their attack.

In practically all cases defendants are permitted to go free upon payment of cost and surrender of their machines, but if they should be caught again the law will not deal so mildly with them. It is a grave offense in every sense of the word and must be treated as such if sufficiently discouraged.

Violators of the law don't stand much show in Pitt county, judging by past activities of local officers.

Several days ago a convict escaped from a prison camp in the Winston-Salem district. He came back to this section as straight as a bird and stole an automobile, and was captured in less than three hours after his first offense.

That shows how effective is the law when those charged with its enforcement really get down to business.

Had not this negro considered one of the most daring criminals in this section, he probably would have committed other crimes before being rounded up.

As it is he is in state prison again to continue serving the ten-year sentence imposed upon him here several years ago on charges of house breaking and grand larceny.

canned and stored away, should stand the producers in good stead when the cold weather comes and food supplies begin to get short.

It is to be hoped there will not be a renaissance of the hard times experienced last winter, but indications at this time are not comforting and the best the growers can do to protect themselves and the people of the community will not be any too good if the situation is taken care of.

The proverbial wolf will howl before the doorsteps of many homes, both in town and country, before the siege of winter is over, and unless the people prepare for his coming they must suffer the consequences despite the attempts that will be made to provide for them through emergency efforts.

It is a deplorable condition—one the American people were unacquainted with until two years ago—and it must inevitably gain in scope unless the people take steps to conserve their surplus food crops and interest their tenants and employees in the same plan.

JURY FAILS INDICT CAPONE
 to the income tax indictments and the general prohibition conspiracy charge it was generally thought he would be on his way to Leavenworth prison in a few days. Instead a sudden turn of events sent him back to freedom on his old bond.

It was Judge Wilkerson's announcement that Capone must submit to all proper questions, if he solicited leniency that caused the right-about-face of the gangster and his attorneys.

Professing surprise, his counsel informed the court of a purported agreement between the government and defense attorneys that the prosecutors would make certain recommendations, subsequently disclosed to be a proposal that sentences on prohibition and tax-evasion charges run concurrently.

Judge Wilkerson insisted the plea of guilt must be unconditional, and the following day he granted Capone to change the plea in the income tax case. This will come to trial October 6.

WINTERVILLE YOUTH BITTEN BY SPIDER
 Lloyd Vincent, 19, son of C. Vincent of Winterville, was bitten by a large black spider last Tuesday night but was reported to be getting along as well as could be expected today.

The young man was said to have been in great pain as the poison passed through his body and a physician had to be called to administer a powerful opiate before the sufferer was relieved.

The father of the youth was in town today, and while he did not know the species of the spider, which was killed after biting Lloyd, he described it as large and black and decidedly venomous.

 government action. "Meanwhile, let us be courageous and optimistic. Let us have an abiding confidence in the fundamental soundness of American institutions, in the enduring principles of our government. Let us have faith in our financial institutions and in the securities of our industries and utilities, and let us be patient and frugal."

On the matter of wages, the former president of the American Bar Association, expressed belief that the situation would receive cooperation from capital and labor.

"By reason of the lack of continuous employment," he said, "the difficulties of our wage-earners would be increased if obliged to take a reduction in wages. On the other hand the wage earners must come to a realization that some manufacturers cannot resume production at a cost too high for the consumer to pay."

"Certainly no sensible American citizen would contemplate for a moment precipitating this country into the dole and unemployment insurance systems now obtaining in Great Britain and Germany and which have necessitated the appeal by these countries for outside aid to carry the monstrous burdens upon their treasuries. The workers of this country don't want doles—they want jobs."

 introduced his emergency budget. He spoke for an hour, leaning on his two canes, outlining the devices by which he proposes to overcome a deficit of approximately $850,000,000 in next year's budget and an estimated deficit of more than $370,000,000 this year.

When he sat down the Conservatives, the Liberals and a handful of the Labor members raised a great cheer, but on the other side of the house the bulk of the Labor members booed the man who is one of these chiefly responsible for the creation and growth of their party.

Announcing measures to meet the deficit, the chancellor said: "I propose to increase the income tax standard rate by six pence. This brings the standard rate of income tax up to five shillings on a pound (about $1.25 on $5) or 25 per cent.

NEWS BRIEFS
 From Over The City and County

WINTERVILLE YOUTH BITTEN BY SPIDER
 Lloyd Vincent, 19, son of C. Vincent of Winterville, was bitten by a large black spider last Tuesday night but was reported to be getting along as well as could be expected today.

The young man was said to have been in great pain as the poison passed through his body and a physician had to be called to administer a powerful opiate before the sufferer was relieved.

The father of the youth was in town today, and while he did not know the species of the spider, which was killed after biting Lloyd, he described it as large and black and decidedly venomous.

Father of Radio Broadcasting Dies at Pittsburgh, Pa.
 Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Dr. Harry Phillips Davis, known as "the father of radio broadcasting," died at his home today after an illness of several months.

He was chairman of the board of the National Broadcasting Company, a vice-president of Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company and a director in numerous other corporations. He was 63 years old.

In the experimental shack which he housed KDKA, Pittsburgh, the world's first broadcasting station, he envisioned the growth of radio and had a large part in rapid development of broadcast equipment.

The world's first public broadcast was when Kdkka transmitted Presidential election returns of 1920. In 1926 the National Broadcasting Company was organized with Davis as its chairman and M. H. Aylesworth as its president.

FAT MEN
 I don't care how fat you are or how much you hate to get out and walk a couple of miles. If you will take one half teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning for 4 weeks and cut out pastries, sugar and fatty meats—You will feel so good—so energetic and the urge for activity will be so great that you will immensely enjoy a daily walk of several miles—and lose fat.

While you are losing fat you will be gaining in energy—in endurance—in ambition. Your skin will grow clearer and your eyes will sparkle with the good health that Kruschen brings.

Just try one 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts; it will last you 4 weeks. After you have taken one bottle the old arm chair won't hold you any more—you'll want to be up and doing—you'll enjoy work—you'll sleep like a top and probably live years longer. Get Kruschen at any live druggist in America with the understanding that you must be joyfully satisfied or money back.

W. R. Daniels of Richmond Hill, N. Y. writes: "After 2 bottles of Kruschen, I've removed 3 inches from my belt, feel 25% more active, mind is clearer, eruptions have disappeared. Am 46 yrs. old and feel 20 yrs. younger. I get up feeling 100%. Kruschen sure is great!"

Spectacular Fire Does Big Damage at Union, S. C.

Union, S. C., Sept. 10.—A spectacular oil fire that resulted in permission from Governor Blackwood to call out the local National Guard company today left an unestimated property damage in its wake.

The blaze, starting from an undetermined origin as a tank car of gasoline was being unloaded, destroyed the plant of the Union Petroleum company, the shops of the Union, Buffalo & Carolina Railway, two locomotives and a small dwelling nearby.

As the flames raced with devastating fury, threatening to spread to large gasoline storage tanks nearby and other property, Mayor Lewis H. Gault, obtained from Gov. Blackwood authority to call out the guardsmen. The local fire department, however, succeeded in controlling the conflagration after a two-hour battle, and it was not necessary to call out the guardsmen.

An exact estimate of the damage was not available today, although it was expected to run into the tens of thousands of dollars, only partly covered by insurance. The only person known to have been injured during the fire was Randolph Jeter, manager of the petroleum company, who was slightly blistered on the face and chest before he could escape the range of flame.

The two locomotives destroyed were the only ones owned by the railway, a 19-mile line between Buffalo and Pride. Officials of the company said new engines would be obtained as quickly as possible to operate the road's trains.

Smith Not Sure If He Will Run for Presidency

New York, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Alfred E. Smith remained non-committal today as to whether he would run for president again.

Commenting on an article in the New York Evening Post to the effect that he would not allow his name to go before the Democratic National convention, Mr. Smith declared: "Nobody has any authority to speak for me. I did not give out any statement and I have nothing to say at this time about events which are still a year away."

The Post story added that Gov. Roosevelt would probably be opposed by Newton D. Baker and that Smith would in all probability not oppose Roosevelt as the latter favored repeal of prohibition.

Baker would make no comment.

NOTICE OF SALE OF LAND
 Under and by virtue of authority contained in that deed of trust from W. B. and Mattie Alexander to Paul R. SEE and HEAR THE TALKING PICTURE
 "A Tour Through the Ford Factory"

Thousands of people from all over the world visit the Ford plant every year. Now this vast industrial organization is brought direct to you by an intensely interesting Talking Motion Picture.

Come and see where and how America's most popular motor car is built. Only when you see and hear how efficiency, economy and craftsmanship have been put into volume production can you realize how so much extra value can be given in the Ford car without increase in price.

Special Showing of Latest Ford Cars and Many Trucks

Don't miss the new Ford De Luxe Body Types. Distinctive in line and color. Smart in their new appointments. Rich and luxurious in their interior trim and upholstery. You will be interested, too, in the reasons why so many manufacturers and stores have chosen the rugged Ford truck and the swift Ford delivery cars.

There are many other features on display that in themselves make this Special Ford Exhibit well worth a visit. You will learn about the safety of the shatter-proof glass windshield, the strength of the sturdy Ford steel-spoke wheels, the comfort of the Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, and the brilliance of the Rustless Steel.

PIEDMONT IS NEARING END OF ITS PLAY

Charlotte, Sept. 10.—(AP)—The Piedmont league today neared the end of the road with the clubs scrapping to win ball games as if it were mid-season.

There's little left to fight over, however, except a few individual honors in batting, hitting home runs and scoring runs.

Truitt Sewell, one of Raleigh's pitching mainstays, hung up his 17th victory by tossing the Caps to a 14 to 6 win over High Point. It was the fourth straight loss.

Winston-Salem, fighting Henderson for sixth place in loop standings, set the Gamecocks back a notch by licking them 14 to 10 in a free-slugging affair. Eight errors added nothing to the game.

Asheville took another one on the nose when Greensboro turned back the Tourists 7 to 2. The tourists haven't won a game this week.

Durham and Charlotte split a pair of tight games, the Hornets getting the first 3 to 2 and dropping the second 2 to 1.

English, the Bulls' very excellent first baseman, who hopes to be a New York Giant regular, received orders from Manager John J. McGraw to meet the major league team in Cincinnati Sunday. George Whitted, Bull manager, will play third the remainder of the season.

GRID TEAMS PREPARE FOR FIRST GAMES

By WHITNEY THARIN (Associated Press Staff Writer)

Charlotte, Sept. 10.—(AP)—The value of spring practice today stood in bold relief in two of North Carolina's "big five" football training camps.

Although gridiron candidates have hardly had time to get the kinks out of their muscles, Duke and Wake Forest have selected tentative first string elevens for signal drills and the chances are that only a few changes will be made between now and the opening game.

There are other teams on the fields at these two schools of course, and here and there sharp-eyed coaches will spot a likely looking chap who will get a break before the season is over. But each of these tentative lineups carries the names of eight veterans—and it's hard to beat old boys out.

Barring injuries and possible disciplinary measures, some of the positions on these two teams are as good as filled for the remainder of the season.

Don Hyatt, Duke's all-State end, is assured of his old job again this year. On the other wing, Coach Wallace Wade is punning sophomore Norman "Pinkie" James, of Hickory, former star at Kiski Prep school. If he stays there he'll have to beat out Charlie Short, a veteran, but James can punt and Duke sorely needs a kicker.

Bryan and Horton, two veterans, have been assigned the tackle jobs on this tentative team and Don Carpenter, another letterman, is holding down a guard. Daugherty, a reserve, is on the other guard but he'll have plenty of competition from sophomores.

Adkins, veteran center, is back on the job. Captain Kid Brewer, all-state back, Jim Mullen, and John Brownlee are the backfield generals. There are other veterans including Lowell Mason, Kenneth Abbott, Glenn Lemons and Artie Ershler trying for jobs but two sophomores, Rossier and Laney, are alternating in the fourth position.

The chances are both of them will be forced to give way before the older men. Lemons has a sprained ankle but he'll be OK shortly, while Mason made an impressive spring practice record.

Wake Forest's problem is not near so complicated as Duke's. The Deacons have Hutchesin, Hips, Edwards and Bradley, last year's backfield men, back at their posts.

Cornwell, veteran linesman, has been shifted to center. Captain Brogren at end, Elsie Webb at tackle, and Johnnie Dupree guard, are other veterans given a place on the first-string outfit. Holding and Webb, a pair of sophomores.

Helps Women Avoid Pains

MORE than half a century of successful use has shown that Cardui helps women to avoid much that they formerly suffered—misery from minor functional disturbances, monthly suffering due to a weakened condition. Cardui acts as a tonic for the system, and tends to improve the general health. It is of especial value to weak, nervous, run-down women, needing just such a strengthening medicine. Those who suffer every month should build up their strength to assist in the natural correction of the painful condition. When you need Cardui, buy a bottle and take it regularly and persistently. Perhaps several bottles will be needed. Finally, may you share the enthusiasm of the thousands of women who have said: "Cardui helped me!"

SPORTS SLANTS

By ALAN GOULD

"It may be only a question of time," remarked Dr. Oscar P. Willing, Portland's golfing dentist, "but you will eventually see all the matches in the national amateur championship played over the 36-hole route."

"It is an old argument but to me there is no question of the advantage of having all the matches at this distance, when a title is at stake."

"It took some time to develop the sectional qualifying idea. You know this didn't work out so well with us this year, with Don Moe, the western champion, failing to qualify despite his very fine scoring, but we will remedy that situation, another year, by having more entries in the Pacific Northwest places."

"The championship tournament, as I see it, can be given an extra day, to permit all the match play to be at 36 holes, or else the field can be reduced sufficiently to limit the qualifying to one day of 36-hole competition."

At 41, Willing enjoys his golf as much as any competitor in the national spotlight. The Oregon veteran not only keeps his game up to top-notch, but takes pride in the development of the youngsters from the far west, counselling and advising them as the occasion may require.

To him, the U. S. G. A. owes a vote of thanks for an active and intelligent interest that has done much to bring new talent to the front.

Big 'Gates' Missing.

Golf, all things considered, has had a big year despite the departure of Bobby Jones from the competitive ranks, but the Georgian's absence has played no small part in the sharp drop of gate receipts at national tournaments.

Relatively speaking, golf never has attracted the customers to an extent where big money is involved. A $50,000 "gate" in golf is close to a record-breaker, whereas a championship fight or a world's series ball game or a big football contest could be a distinct flop at this figure.

Nevertheless, the golf clubs have felt the effects of the absence of Bobby Jones from the big tournaments more than they have the results of the depression.

Jones attracted spectators who did not play the game themselves and had no interest in it beyond the curiosity of "ascertaining how he did not."

This often had the effect of harassing the other contestants, who were obliged to battle the Jones galleries as well as the natural hazards of the course.

Spectators, in their scramble to see what the great Georgian was doing, often appeared a trifle surprised to discover that there were indeed other performers about the premises.

PIRATE CREW SHOWS SPURT

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr. (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Completely out of the pennant race but hopeful of gaining a first division berth in the National league the Pittsburgh Pirates have begun a brilliant spurt just in time to do some serious damage to the chances of the teams they meet.

Triumphing over Brooklyn yesterday, the Pirates extended their latest winning streak to eight games, their longest of the season, and left the Robins in the uncomfortable position of being within a half game of mathematical elimination from the struggle for the flag.

The defeat put Brooklyn 17 games behind the league leading St. Louis Cardinals with only a possible 17 game gain if they win all their remaining games and the Cards lose them all.

Before downing Brooklyn 5 to 1 yesterday, Pittsburgh had given St. Louis a setback by winning three straight and had taken four from Cincinnati.

Washington carried off the honors of the American league's only game, downing the Philadelphia Athletics 2 to 1 in a ten inning duel between "General" Al Crowder and Rube Walberg without doing any serious damage to the A's pennant prospects.

The victory still left the Senators 13 games behind with only 18 to go.

The two exhibition games played on an off-day for nearly all the major league clubs, netted $104,131.00 for the unemployed of New York and Chicago, brought a victory apiece for the two leagues and apparently proved that it was easier to score with the National League ball than the livelier American League sphere.

As 60,548 fans saw the New York Yankees beat the Giants 7 to 3, only three of the ten counters were scored with the American League ball in the first five innings, while the rest, including a homer by Babe Ruth, came in the last four frames.

The results of the comparison were much the same in Chicago, where a crowd of 34,865 saw the Cubs down the White Sox 3 to 0.

Hornsby Will Stay With the Chicago Cubs

By PAUL MICKELSON (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Chicago, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Baseball has produced many queer contrasts but the brief and stormy managerial career of Rogers Hornsby, boss of the faltering Cubs, today looked like the classic of them all.

Five years ago, the "Rajah" led the St. Louis Cardinals to their first National league championship. He topped that performance off by piloting the Cards to the world's championship. As St. Louis toasted him as the "wonder man" of baseball, he lost his job and was traded to the New York Giants.

Today, he is leading the Cubs in one of their poorest campaigns in years. Trouble appears to be dogging his footsteps everywhere. Fans boo him. Yet, he appears more strongly entrenched as manager of the Cubs than ever.

Owner William Wrigley, Jr., who dismissed former Manager Joe McCarthy toward the end of the 1930 campaign because he failed to win the pennant and the world's series in 1929, insists that the "Rajah" is here to stay as manager.

"Hornsby is here to stay as manager of the Cubs," Owner Wrigley said. "He will be given a full reign of the team and all my support is with him. He has many difficulties this year but I'm convinced he will have the fans cheering him and his team before long."

The case of Hack Wilson, baseball's man of tragedy for 1931, has been the most distressing to Hornsby.

The big little man, who batted out 56 home runs last year and broke the National league record for runs batted in, has failed to deliver all season.

Whether the reason for his reversal of form was failure to keep in condition, refusal to do his best under Hornsby or a seasonal slump may never be known. He will wear a new uniform next year and so may Pat Malone, the Cub fireball ace, who was fined heavily last week for assaulting two Chicago sports writers after what Manager Hornsby reported was a "night out."

Hornsby himself is banking his hopes for a winning team next year on a host of new players, many of them stars discovered by the increased Cub scouting system in the minor leagues.

"We're looking to 1932 now," Hornsby said. "We've got a lot of great prospects lined up. Poor batting this year along with the failure of some of the regulars to measure up."

Hornsby said he doesn't plan to play any baseball himself next year except as an occasional pinch hitter. His legs finally have gone back on him, he said.

Your Neighbor Saves Money at Ward's—Why Don't You?

SAM

By Freeman Lincoln

SYNOPSIS: Constant intensity of work and pleasure is not enough to make Sam Sherrill forget that she loves Freddy Munson, although she has become engaged to Peak Abbott. Her loyalty to her family brought about the engagement.

Sam has managed the family affairs since her stepfather, Fourth Alderson, lost their money. Even her work on the Express, which Abbott owns, does not give her financial security. Besides Abbott's wealth an advantage in the engagement is that its announcement submerged the sensation of Sam's half-brother's marriage to their maid, Nelson, the half-brother, took away with him some household money, and this adds to Fourth's anger at the social disgrace. Freddy Munson had expected to marry Sam, before Nelson's action. Freddy comes to the Express, where he formerly worked, and charges Peak Abbott with committing a crime—the worst sort of crime.

Chapter 14
FIREWORKS OR LOGIC

Peak leaned back in his chair. "Have you been drinking?" he asked in slow wonder. "I have," Freddy nodded solemnly. "I have been drinking steadily for two weeks—but not today. Today I'm in my right mind and I'm telling you that you mustn't marry Sam. You mustn't do it!" Automatically Peak said: "Why not?" "For the simple reason that she doesn't give a darn about you. She's marrying you for your rotten money and nothing else."

Peak half rose to his feet. "Look here, you—"

"No heroics, please," Freddy tapped on the top of the desk with his knuckles. "If you don't mind we won't have any fireworks. I didn't come here to insult you. I came here to talk sense, and if you're wise you'll listen."

"All right, I'll listen," Peak nodded calmly. "You've already said that—"

"What I've already said is no news to you. You knew all about it when you went into this thing, and I can't say I blame you for your attitude. People have married for money before, and one or two of them have gotten away with it. This case, however, is different."

"Why is it different?" "That's the point," Freddy nodded. "We're getting down to facts now, and we're getting down to things that you didn't know before. You know that Sam isn't in love with you, but you don't know that she is in love with somebody else. Am I right?"

Peak sat quite still. In the end he nodded in a detached manner. "You're right. With whom is Sam in love?"

"No scene," Peak brushed the suggestion aside impatiently. "You say that Sam is in love with you, and I suppose I can assume that you are in love with her."

"You can," Freddy nodded. "I'm a fool, I suppose, but I can't help it. I love her and I want her."

"I see," Peak smiled. "Well, I love her and want her, too. Munson, so that's one point on which we both think alike."

They were silent for a time, looking at each other. Then Peak said: "Well, let's hear the story."

"What story?" "Yours and Sam's. I don't know any of the details, remember, and if we're to get anywhere in this discussion, I'll have to know them."

Freddy told the story. He told it briefly but with such simple convincingness that Peak could not help but believe. In the end Freddy shook his head. "And so you see, Abbott, if that confounded step-brother of hers hadn't butted in, she'd be married to me now, and there wouldn't be any need of all this."

Peak nodded thoughtfully. "But the confounded step-brother did butt in, Munson."

Freddy made a gesture of despair. "That's just what I've been trying to tell you!"

Peak shrugged and was silent for so long that at last Freddy's impatience got the better of him. "Well," he demanded sharply, "what are you going to do?"

"Do?" Peak looked up inquiringly. "What do you suggest that I do?"

"Tell Sam that you know all about everything. Give her a chance to get herself out of this mess."

Peak frowned. "You must remember, Munson, that Sam got herself into what you call this mess, entirely of her own free will."

"Free will?" Freddy repeated. "She was forced into it because she needs money so badly."

Peak tapped the top of his desk. "Suppose I let her go as you suggest," he said softly. "Would her financial problems be any less serious than they were before?"

"Perhaps not, but at least she wouldn't be tied to someone she doesn't love."

Peak glanced at Freddy. "Could you help her financially, Munson?"

"You know I couldn't," Freddy snorted. "What's the sense to that remark?"

"I'm just wondering," replied Peak slowly. "what is best for Sam. Would she be happier married to you, and as poor if not poorer than ever, or would it be better if she had me, whom she might not love, but who could give her every material comfort?"

He nodded. "I think there is a problem that requires consideration."

Freddy choked. "Why you—"

"No scene, please!" begged Peak earnestly. "I'm talking sense, and if you're wise, you'll listen."

"All right," Freddy controlled himself with an effort. "I'll listen."

"Good. Then you can believe it or not, Munson, but the fact remains that I'm thinking only of Sam. To be frank with you, I'm not at all convinced that in the long run she'd be happier with you than with me."

"All right, then," said Freddy fiercely. "leave me out of it altogether! I'm willing to get out of here and never come back, if you, in your turn, are willing to let Sam go."

"If we both left her she wouldn't have one thing or the other—comfort or romance."

"Then what shall we do?" Freddy inquired sarcastically. "Shall we flip a coin to see who gets her?"

"It seems to me," said Peak gently, "that we've forgotten one important thing. We've forgotten that you and I really have no voice in the matter. The decision rests entirely with Sam whether she'll have you or me. Unless I'm mistaken, she has already made that decision."

Freddy was pale. "Admirable logic! I'm asking you now whether you are going to let her stick to a decision that will wreck her life."

What is Peak's answer? Tomorrow Peak faces the situation. He at last has the key to Sam's unhappiness.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

N. Y. STOCK LIST

New York, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Cotton opened at an advance of 8 to 10 points on a continuation of the buying which developed here yesterday and which found additional encouragement in the relatively firm showing of Liverpool. There was a little southern selling, but contracts were comparatively scarce with the advance soon extending to 7 1/2 for December, and 7 1/4 for March or 11 to 12 points above yesterday's close.

The buying was accompanied by further talk of a holding movement in the South and Washington press reports concerning the proposed establishment of credits for cotton exports, appeared to make a favorable impression.

Liverpool cables said the market there had been influenced by covering with continental and Bombay buying on the Washington news and some continental buying was reported the local market, although Liverpool was a seller here at the start presumably on the differences.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Wheat scored a brisk late advance here today owing largely to a jump of more than 4 cents a bushel in the September delivery at Minneapolis. Dispatches from Minneapolis said the price was attributed there for previous speculative sellers. Purchases for Minneapolis mills were also noted, with Minneapolis top quotations on wheat up more than 8 cents within a week.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Efforts to drive bears to cover were again thwarted by adverse dividend news in today's stock market.

The market pushed up a point or two in the first hour but quickly ran into fresh selling, which was suggested by the omission of Rock Island's common dividend. Bonds were also inclined to sag, although selling pressure was moderate.

Rock Island dropped 10 points to 20, then recovered a few points. Rails generally were depressed with such issues as Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio, Northern Pacific and Lackawanna sagging a point or two to new lows. U. S. Steel was not appreciably influenced by its unfilled tonnage report, and fluctuated narrowly.

Several market theorists have been somewhat encouraged during the past few days by the resistance shown by the price average for industrial shares as it approached its June 2 low, which is to date the low of the bear market.

No Large Pores with New Powder If you have large pores use a face powder that will not clog them. A new French process called MELLO-GLO makes the skin look young, stays on longer, furnishes a youthful bloom, does not irritate the skin or make it look pasty or flaky. Spreads smoothly. Try this new wonderful Face Powder MELLO-GLO.

Such Women are DANGEROUS! Her eyes promise heaven—but what's in her heart? Is she playing a hard game with men? Or is she a love-hungry woman seeking her true mate? See this great woman character created by
