NEW TROPICAL STORM REPORTED MOVING TO THE NORTH OF BELIZE

AIR SERVICE IS DISRUPTED

Hurricane Due Reach Honduran Coast Today; Fire Threatens to Complete Destruction of the Flood and Storm at Belize; The Work of Burying and Cremating Thousands and Dead is Pushed Forward; Suburb of Mesopotamia Menaced by Flames; Fire Spreads in Spite of Effort to Block Its Path.

Miami, Fla., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Sweeping westwards across the Caribbean sea, a tropical storm struck inland near Payo Obispo, Cuytana, Mexico, today, said a radio message received here.

Miami, Fla., Sept. 14.—(AP)—A second tropical disturbance, said by the weather bureau to be moving toward the Yucatan peninsula north of Belize, disrupted air service between the United States and Central and South America today.

A Pan American Airways plane, which Sunday flew a party of newspaper correspondents and news picture men to Belize, scene of last week's devastating hurricane, attempted unsuccessfully to make its return flight to Miami this morning.

The plane was turned back to Belize by bad weather and the Airways ordered travel over the Yucatan route stopped until the storm threat is over.

R. I. Duntan, Pan-American Airways operations manager here, said his meteorologist had informed him the storm was due to reach the coast of British Honduras about 9 a. m. today. No reports of any damage had been received here by Pan-American radio or from other source at 10:30 a. m.

Belize, British Honduras, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Fire threatened to complete the destruction of storm and flood today as the work of burying and cremating the dead from last week's hurricane, now estimated at more than a thousand, went forward.

The suburb of Mesopotamia was menaced by flames that spread rapidly in spite of unceasing effort on the part of soldiers and civilians to block their path.

An inflammable liquor warehouse was in the path of the conflagration and fears of an explosion spurred the fighters to frantic measures.

Scores of bodies were burned on five great pyres almost in the center of the once-flourishing city, now in ruins. At least 700 bodies were buried in crude trenches dug in the cemetery by convict labor.

Thousands gathered along the river from the interior made an accurate check of the dead impossible. Cremation was resorted to because of this fear of disease.

Squads of volunteer laborers worked to clear away the tangled wreckage of what once were homes and stores. Business was paralyzed and all manner of activity was subordinated to the work of relief.

Hundreds of those maimed and cut by the fury of the storm were being treated with medical aid rushed by airplane and ship.

A shortage of food and water was feared for a time but the arrival of relief expeditions partially remedied the situation. Authorities were of the opinion that troops

SETS NEW AIR SPEED RECORD

British Flier Travels 404.265 Miles Hour to Capture Schneider Cup at Aldershot.

Calshot, Eng., Sept. 14.—(AP)—A world's speed record in the air of more than 404 miles an hour was chalked up to the credit of Great Britain's Schneider cup team and the trophy was on her show-shelves for good.

Lieut. G. H. Stainforth in a new type seaplane flew faster than any man has ever flown before yesterday, travelling 404.265 miles an hour on the second of four laps over a three-kilometer course. His time for the other legs was 372.822, 377.011 and 390.162, giving him an average speed of 386.1 miles an hour.

Lieut. J. N. Boothman went thru the formality of winning the cup permanently by flying seven times over a 31-mile course at an average speed of 340.08 miles an hour. He also broke the world's record over a closed circuit with a 100-kilometer start by speeding 342.9 miles an hour in the course of his flight.

Thousands gathered along the silent watched breathlessly as the gleaming, wasp-like planes sped around the course in record-shattering time. Stainforth and Boothman were given thunderous ovations when they came down, the latter's wife jumping up and down shouting:

"He's done it. I am so proud and happy but I knew my husband was as keen as mustard."

Dr. Greenlaw Buried Chapel Hill, N. C.—Dr. Edwin Greenlaw, Johns Hopkins University professor who died here Thursday, was buried yesterday.

DENIES ATTACK ON WHITE GIRL

Negro Farm Hand Tells Officers he Did Not Assault Eunice Pollock.

Kinston, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Although Miss Eunice Mae Pollock, 19, failed to identify Jake Harrison, white, as the man who attacked her Saturday, he and two negroes remained in jail today.

Raymond Powell and Will Taylor, negroes, will probably be released, police said, but officers remained silent regarding evidence against Harrison except to point out that bloodhounds had followed a trail to his home.

The girl, member of a prominent family in this section, said she was seized Saturday and held captive for an hour and a half in a (Continued On Page Two)

URGES WORK FOR JOBLESS

Legion Commander Says the Unemployed Must be Saved from Pauperism.

Washington, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Ralph T. O'Neil, national commander of the American Legion, opened the Legion unemployment conference today with a declaration that work must be found for the jobless to save them from pauperism and the dole and to save the government from the racketeer and the Communist.

He compared the unemployment emergency to the world war crisis and said the Legion was ready to function again as it did in 1917.

The Legion commander, grey-haired and dignified, removed his coat as he opened the conference with an appeal to governors, federal officials, representatives of labor and industry to aid the service organization in working out a plan to prevent distress among the unemployed.

"The power of the American Legion," O'Neil said, "should be used in remedying the present conditions. The Legion is recruited from the ranks of those who functioned in times of a great governmental emergency."

"The unemployment situation presents an emergency comparable to that of 1917, and our membership will function again.

"Enforced idleness is not only a tragedy to the family involved; but it creates a situation which is a menace to our government.

"The racketeer and the gangster stalk the streets of our cities. They have set up a government of their own, with their code of laws and their executioners—government which operates without the pale of law and order.

"The gangster and the racketeer are looking for recruits, and their seductive, whispering will be poured into the ears of hungry men. Unrest and fear are abroad in the land, and the ranks of the unemployed are fertile fields for the fascists of Communism.

"Lawlessness and Communism are a more direct threat to the integrity of the government which we are pledged to maintain than was the threat of autocracy in 1917.

CITY SCHOOLS SWING OPEN

Enrollment of 2,330 Reported at Both White and Colored Institutions.

Hundreds of children in all walks of life turned their thoughts from the field of play today as Greenville public schools swung open for the 1931-32 session. All the schools were reported to have gotten away to a splendid start and no significant confusion prevailed during the short morning session.

Superintendent of Schools J. H. Rose reported total enrollment as 2,330—1,596 pupils being enrolled in the white schools and 822 in the colored schools. Attendance was 83 greater than the opening date last year, it was said.

An additional enrollment of 150 white children and 500 colored during the latter part of the year is expected to carry total enrollment over the 3,000 mark, Mr. Rose said.

The new organization brought about through elimination of the old Model school worked out splendidly, and not the slightest confusion prevailed among the children involved.

The session this morning was given over entirely to organization and school was dismissed before the noon hour. Another short session will be held tomorrow and pupils will be turned out at 12:30. After tomorrow every school will begin normal schedule to be retained throughout the year.

Formal assemblies of the various institutions will be held within a week at which time parents will be invited to attend. No assemblies were held this morning owing to the fact that the entire morning was given over purely to organization.

The teachers began their work enthusiastically, accepting the challenge of Supt. Rose, delivered at the general teachers' meeting last Saturday, that they go about their duties optimistically, determined to maintain the record made extant in previous years.

Greenville schools last year won the highest scholastic rating of any school of the state, and Mr. Rose declared it the determination of the faculty to do everything possible to cling tenaciously to the coveted honors.

Educator Charged With Killing Wife

Hampton, Va., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Elisha Kent Kane, a professor at the University of Tennessee, was held in jail here on a charge of murder today while authorities investigated the death Friday of his wife, drowned while bathing with him at an isolated point on Chesapeake Bay. Kane denied killing his wife.

Dr. George K. Vanderslice, coroner of Elizabeth City county, planned an inquest today and said the circumstances would be fully investigated. Other officers said Kane was arrested on information furnished by persons who said they heard a woman's scream and saw a man and woman struggling in the water.

RYAN CHOOSES NEWS LEADER

Says Landing of Gandhi in France Most Encouraging of Last Week's News.

In his first Sunday night interpretation of the most encouraging news item appearing in the Daily Reflector during the week, Rev. W. A. Ryan, minister of the Eighth Street Christian Church, selected the account of the landing of Mahatma Gandhi in France.

The speaker interpreted this event as being significantly encouraging because it indicated the power that a dominant spiritual force still exercises in the world. He stated that for all his poverty and apparent insignificance, Mahatma Gandhi has been proven to be the one force without which even the powerful British empire cannot solve its problems in India.

Whether or not one agrees with the political, economic and industrial aims of Gandhi, he is blind who does not comprehend at least something of the almost unbelievable power held by this man by the sheer strength of his spiritual ideals. The encouraging note sounded by this event is greater than even the question of Indian independence: it is found in the fact that even in the midst of a great materialistic age, dominated by wealth, force, and physical power, the simple spiritual values of peace, love, non-resistance, and brotherhood can still hold within themselves this power to compel even the world's greatest extant empire to reckon with them.

While not a Christian in the orthodox conception of the term, Mahatma Gandhi preaches and lives by the very spiritual ideals proclaimed by the Founder of Christianity.

Mr. Ryan will continue these five minute interpretations each Sunday night. Anyone is privileged to send him clippings from the Daily Reflector. From those submitted he will select what he considers the most encouraging and interpret it the following Sunday night. He calls those who submit articles members of the Sunday Night Optimists' Club.

GOVERNOR OF STATE SPEAKS

Blackwood Urges Solons to Pass a Law Prohibiting Planting of Cotton in 1932; Georgia Plans For Mass Meeting Farmers on Wednesday; Long Continues His Plea for "No Cotton in 1932"; Agricultural Experts To Study Grain Situation as Cotton Plans are Deliberated in South.

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 14.—(AP)—An extraordinary session of the South Carolina General Assembly convened here today to consider measures to relieve the cotton situation.

In his message to both houses, Governor Blackwood urged the special session, the second in the history of the state, to pass a law forbidding the planting of cotton in 1932.

"Our prompt action," he said, "will probably encourage other states that are trembling in the balance of indecision and, insofar as we may know, South Carolina may be the determining factor in this great struggle in the interest of southern agriculture. The farmers, in accentuated tones, have said that it is their wish that this law be enacted."

Containing that the Long plan, approved by Louisiana's Legislature, forbidding any planting next year "is the best plan that has been offered," the chief executive said.

"It appears to me that the complete prohibition plan is thoroughly constitutional and that its enactment would quickly produce the desired effect."

"If this law is engaged and is not productive of great good," he continued, "no harm has been accomplished. If it is not enacted and the farmers' condition grows more calamitous, you will have no alternative but to regret that you did not act when you had an opportunity."

In reviewing the cotton situation, the executive asserted "we cannot reasonably hope for any improvement in the price of cotton in the near future, except by drastic legislation that assures 'practically no cotton production for 1932....' The federal government will not be in position to offer any substantial remedy."

Should the Long plan be put in force in the necessary 75 per cent of the cotton belt, Mr. Blackwood said, "a casual observation reveals the strong probability that the farmer would receive more for his 1931 crop than he could hope to receive for the crops of 1931 and 1932."

"This is the first time, during the last half century, that we have had an opportunity to cooperate with other cotton growing states in prohibiting cotton production. We have for a long time listened to the doctrine that the people of the south must be emancipated from cotton growing slavery. Now comes a crisis that means disaster, if we do not accept the alternative that presents itself."

"If the state is capable of exerting her power in the interest of her people," Governor Blackwood concluded, "in the hour of great need, she should not withhold her hand at this time."

South Carolina's General Assembly was called to convene today to enact laws for relief of the cotton industry as the Texas Legislature debated between one bill to curtail acreage and another to prohibit the production of cotton entirely.

RENEW SEARCH FOR YACHTMAN

Hundred Boat Men Scour Long Island Sound for Body of Benjamin Collins.

Mineola, N. Y., Sept. 14.—(AP)—District Attorney Blue of Suffolk county, announced today he would take Mrs. Benjamin P. Collins aboard the yacht from which she said her husband was thrown overboard by two men and vigorously cross-examine her because he does not believe she is telling the truth.

Blue added that he believed his county has jurisdiction in the matter. He was to be accompanied aboard the yacht Penguin this afternoon, however, by District Attorney Elvin N. Edwards of Nassau county, who has announced that he believes Mrs. Collins' story.

The officials of the two counties were to meet Mrs. Collins at Bayville and take her to the yacht. Announcement of the impending change in tactics for her questioning was withheld from the local press so that it would not be made known to her beforehand.

Meanwhile, Edwards announced that stains found on the Penguin, believed made by blood, had been sent to Dr. Schultz, medical examiner of Nassau county, who expected to have his report ready sometime tomorrow.

It was understood Edwards planned to take the Schultz report and other evidence before a grand jury tomorrow and obtain Joe Doe warrants so that the power of the investigators might be strengthened.

Nassau county officers, making another search of the yacht today, found a pair of oars in the tender. One had been broken in three (Continued On Page Four)

FEAR RIOTING IN STORM AREA

Fear that Population of Wrecked City will Get Out of Control Expressed.

Boston, Sept. 14.—(AP)—The prediction that the population of hurricane-stricken Belize, British Honduras, might get out of control within the next few days was contained today in a radio message from George S. Bennett, Bennett is general manager of the United Fruit Company division of Puerto Barrios, Guatemala, and he arrived in Belize yesterday morning.

Bennett's message to the United Fruit offices here today said: "Belize is totally destroyed and there is great danger that the population will get out of control within

INFATUATION SUIT

Suit for $100,000 was filed in Boston federal court against Mrs. Henrietta G. Hartford (above), wealthy Newport woman, by Milford King who said she was employed to break the fascination of youthful Huntington Hartford for a New York girl. She charged Mrs. Hartford agreed to pay her to break up the romance.

There were indications that the machine had caught fire, for the correspondent said a wide area of the meadow in which the plane crashed had been burned over. Bits of the ship littered the ground.

The dispatch did not say whether the bodies of Lebrich and Mesmin were burned nor whether Marcel Doret, the third man in the ship had been hurt.

It was thought here that Doret probably had been blown out of the plane by the force of the explosion while his companions were either trapped in the cabin or killed by the blast before the plane struck. Previous dispatches said Doret had landed in his parachute.

The Tass correspondent said the main fuel tanks of the engine were found a hundred yards apart and that a special guard had been posted over the wreckage awaiting the arrival of Soviet aviation officials to investigate the accident.

The bodies were placed in temporary graves near the spot where the ship crashed, and were disinterred for the trip to Moscow today.

Mesmin was piloting at the time of the accident, Doret told the Tass correspondent.

"He tried to bail out in his parachute," the survivor said, "but the chute did not open and Mesmin got tangled up in the falling wreckage of the plane. Poor Lebrich was belted in too tight and could not work himself loose in time to jump."

Doret was not hurt at all and seemed to be in as good spirits as could be expected. He would not talk about the possible causes of the accident, asserting that this was a matter for the experts to determine. He did say, however, that the crash occurred in a bad fog while a heavy rain was falling.

"I shall fly back here again some day," he said, "and visit this spot in memory of my comrades. I will stay here as long as their bodies are here and I shall not go home without them."

Approximately a million and a quarter pounds of tobacco was on the floors of the Greenville warehouses this morning as the market began the third week of the current season.

The offerings were the largest of the season but the market was expected to clear during the late afternoon.

The hostesses, Mrs. John Weikel and Miss Clara Moye, served iced tea, sandwiches and cake. The 35 members present were very enthusiastic and everyone seemed ready to start work with new zest. —Reported.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

To Mary Florence Dancy came the call of the Heavenly Father. "Come up hither," Saturday, August 29th. In response to that call she departed from her dwelling in this earthly home to be "at home" with her Lord and Saviour.

Her life has been one of quiet, humble service to her Lord in view of her semi-invalidism of many years. She was fully devoted to her church and loved its varied interests with the same intensity that would have been hers had she been able to actively participate. Many are the lives that have been blessed in the fellowship enjoyed with her during the visits made to her room. One always came away inspired to nobler living and more courageous faith.

Be it therefore resolved: That we express our appreciation of her excellent Christian character and her unswerving devotion to Memorial Baptist Church of which she was a member.

Further, that we willingly submit to the Father's will in her "home-going," and rejoice in the hope that fills our hearts in expectation of the glorious day of reunion. Heaven is richer, while we store away a blessed memory in the inner shrine of our lives.

We, moreover, desired these resolutions to be presented to the family; to be published in the Daily Reflector of Greenville, and the Biblical Recorder of Raleigh, N. C. Respectfully submitted.

NEW TROPICAL STORM REPORTED MOVING TO THE NORTH OF BELIZE (Continued From Page One) had things well in hand and there would be no food riots or looting. A survey to the city by air showed that not a building was left unmarred. More than a dozen ships were piled upon shore along the waterfront.

About one person in every 14 among the city's population of 16,000 lost his life. Hardly a family was not affected by death or injury. Many of them lost all their possessions and are just beginning to realize the extent of the disaster.

FEAR RIOTING IN STORM AREA

(Continued From Page One) The next two or three days. Authorities are doing what they can but there is hardly anyone left at Belize in mental or physical condition to function normally. "Over 700 dead already have been counted and the official estimates are that the total will run over 1,000. Authorities are no longer able to provide burial and bodies are now being cremated. "Fire has started in the labor quarters and it is doubtful if the authorities will be able to control the flames."

DENIES ATTACK ON WHITE GIRL

(Continued From Page One) Harrison, a neighbor of Mrs. Callie Pollock, widowed mother of the girl, was arrested as he mingled with a crowd of men, many armed, who searched nearby sections for the attacker soon after the news became known. He, with two negroes, was arrested yesterday by Kinston police and Jones and Lenoir deputies.

The white man was questioned yesterday and then taken from the jail at Goldsboro before the girl. He continued to deny the attack. No date for a hearing, if any was planned, has been announced.

Trenton, N. C., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Under long questioning as officers sought to wring a confession from him, Jake Harrison, 35-year-old farm hand, held as a suspect, continued today to deny attacking Miss Eunice Mae Pollock, 19.

The girl, member of a family prominent in this section, was seized near her home late Saturday by a man who wore a white mask over his face, dragged to a thicket and held captive for an hour and a half. She said she was twice assaulted.

Two negroes were arrested as suspects in addition to Harrison, but officers said there was nothing to connect the negroes, Will Taylor and Raymond Powl, with the attack and they probably would be released.

Harrison, a neighbor of the Pollocks, was arrested while he ostensibly was seeking the girl's assailant along with other residents of the section who armed themselves and began to search wooded sections when news of the attack spread. Officers whisked him away before most of the enraged citizens knew he knew he had been arrested.

Bloodhounds brought to the scene followed a trail to Harrison's home. He was described by officers as of low mentality. The girl, daughter of Mrs. Callie Pollock, a widow, was not seriously hurt by her assailant, but was confined to her bed today because of shock and bruises. She was unable to say whether the man who attacked her was a negro or white man.

Harrison and the negroes were lodged in a jail outside Jones county. Kinston officers, who have been aiding Jones county officers in the case, said Harrison was questioned at length yesterday and denied connection with the attack.

The Army's football season opens on Sept. 26 with a game with Ohio Northern. Officers would not predict whether opening of the season might be delayed.

Woman Evangelist Weds Temple Singer

Los Angeles, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Almee Sempie McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist, whose mother and two children have been married in the last few months, was honeymooning today with David L. Hutton, 30-year-old Angelus Temple baritone.

They were married on the steps of an airplane in a drizzling rain at the Yuma, Ariz., airport about sunrise yesterday by Miss Harriet Jordan, dean of the Angelus Temple Bible school.

The wedding, according to the evangelist, came as a climax to a romance of several years' duration. "Mr. Hutton is a splendid man and I know we are going to be happily and gloriously happy," she said.

The evangelist became acquainted with Hutton several years ago when he associated himself with Angelus Temple musical activities. He is a music teacher by profession. Recently he appeared as the pharaoh who sat upon a golden throne and sang in the evangelist's sacred opera, "The Iron Furnace."

The newlyweds flew back to Los Angeles immediately after the ceremony was performed. The evangelist announced the wedding to her congregation at the morning service.

Rolf McPherson, the evangelist's son, and his bride, Lorna Dee, nee Smith, formerly of Alta, Okla., were the witnesses.

Informed of her daughter's marriage, Mrs. Minnie (Ma) Kennedy, now conducting an evangelist campaign at Las Vegas, Nevada, was quoted as saying she was "overjoyed." Mrs. Kennedy and her daughter are estranged. Mrs. Kennedy recently had her marriage to Guy Edward Hudson annulled after a brief honeymoon when it was charged he already was married to another woman.

Case of Infantile Paralysis is Found Military Academy West Point, N. Y., Sept. 14.—(AP)—The U. S. Military Academy was under quarantine today as a precautionary measure taken when one of the cadets, a first year man, was found to have a slight case of infantile paralysis.

Only scanty information was available from the information offered at the academy when it was first learned that quarantine had been established, but a full statement was promised shortly.

It was said the one case of sickness found was very slight and the quarantine was purely a precautionary measure. The name of the ill cadet was not at once available.

Los Angeles, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Almee Sempie McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist, whose mother and two children have been married in the last few months, was honeymooning today with David L. Hutton, 30-year-old Angelus Temple baritone.

They were married on the steps of an airplane in a drizzling rain at the Yuma, Ariz., airport about sunrise yesterday by Miss Harriet Jordan, dean of the Angelus Temple Bible school.

The wedding, according to the evangelist, came as a climax to a romance of several years' duration. "Mr. Hutton is a splendid man and I know we are going to be happily and gloriously happy," she said.

The evangelist became acquainted with Hutton several years ago when he associated himself with Angelus Temple musical activities. He is a music teacher by profession. Recently he appeared as the pharaoh who sat upon a golden throne and sang in the evangelist's sacred opera, "The Iron Furnace."

The newlyweds flew back to Los Angeles immediately after the ceremony was performed. The evangelist announced the wedding to her congregation at the morning service.

Rolf McPherson, the evangelist's son, and his bride, Lorna Dee, nee Smith, formerly of Alta, Okla., were the witnesses.

Informed of her daughter's marriage, Mrs. Minnie (Ma) Kennedy, now conducting an evangelist campaign at Las Vegas, Nevada, was quoted as saying she was "overjoyed." Mrs. Kennedy and her daughter are estranged. Mrs. Kennedy recently had her marriage to Guy Edward Hudson annulled after a brief honeymoon when it was charged he already was married to another woman.

ABOUT TOWN

Political leaders of the nation are seeking a revision of taxes. Some are in favor of an increase and others are against such a proposition.

That the latter group will receive the appreciation of the people is obvious.

If there is anything the people do not want it is an increase of taxation. If there is a deficiency in government revenue, let them begin looking around for places to cut expenses like everybody else and every organization is doing.

It is no time to begin talking about increasing taxation. The country as a whole is too hard-pressed and the addition of any kind of tax would be like adding another straw to the proverbial camel's back. The economic fabric will not stand the additional strain.

Farmers who market one-half and one cent tobacco would benefit by leaving it at home and using it for fertilizer, in the opinion of tobaccoists well acquainted with market conditions.

The Greenville market was completely swamped with offerings of an inferior quality last week and the market bought them in spite of the fact that many other markets have been passing them by.

The purchase of such grades adds to the congestion of the world market and holds down the market average to such an extent that it looks like the farmers aren't receiving anything for their crops, when in truth, good grades are bringing much higher prices.

This is a condition the farmers should consider and while it is possible the major part of the common crop has been sold, they should be able to use the experience to good advantage during the coming years.

City schools got under way today with a challenge from Superintendent Rose ringing in the ears of faculty members "to put forward their best efforts to maintain the high standard of efficiency established by the system in the past years."

The challenge was hurled at his co-workers at the general meeting here Saturday and its reception bespeaks great things for the work of the schools this year.

In spite of a salary cut ranging all the way from 17 to 20 per cent, the teachers return to their classrooms this session with spirits unbroken, hopeful of being able to render the best of service in the cause of education of the youth of the community.

It is a noble service these men and women are rendering the community, and nobody regrets the reduction of their salaries more than those who really appreciate what they have done to give Greenville the highest scholastic rating of any school in the state and what they plan to do to perpetuate the achievement.

LEGISLATURE OF S. C. MEETS TO CONSIDER WORLD COTTON CRISIS

Meanwhile, in Georgia, Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture, went ahead with plans for a mass meeting of farmers he has called here for Wednesday to bring pressure to bear for a special session of the Georgia Legislature on the cotton problem.

In issuing the call for the meeting, Talmadge, a supporter of Louisiana's "no cotton in 1932" plan, said he took the step partly because the Texas Legislature needs encouragement to pass the long plan and partly because of need for early action.

Governor Huey P. Long of Louisiana continued his radio plea for general adoption of the "no cotton" plan over the week-end.

Both houses of the Texas Legislature were ready to consider the merits of the "no cotton" plan and that to curtail acreage together with other measures. Both of the principal proposals were embodied in bills that have come from committee rooms. Governor Sterling of Texas has expressed favor for the acreage curtailment plan.

Mississippi's governor, Theo. G. Bilbo, said he was considering a plan to use national guardsmen to close down cotton gins and oil mills in an effort to bring about better prices for cotton seed.

Several states continued to await the action of the Texas Legislature before calling their general assemblies into session on the cotton situation.

While the cotton growing holiday plan was under consideration throughout the south, agricultural experts were studying what should be done with lands if the program were adopted.

A. D. Jones, head of the Georgia Bureau of Markets, has announced he planned organizing a south-wide conference to devise substitute markets and crops in event growth of cotton were prohibited next year.

The objective of this conference would be to effect agreements among representatives of cotton-growing states to specialize in increasing other crops already confined largely to the individual states so as not to glut the market with one type of product.

In Georgia, for instance, he said this could be done by increasing acreage of such crops as cow peas, sweet and Irish potatoes, and certain types of tobacco.

Another suggestion discussed throughout the south in event of a cotton holiday was that the ground be allowed to lie fallow during the year both as a means of replenishing the soil and to assure the elimination of the boll weevil and other crop pests.

 There were no stains on the oars.

Mineola, N. Y., Sept. 14.—(AP)—A hundred boatmen and a number of small yachts put out from Oyster Bay and Northport today to comb the waters of Long Island Sound for the body of Benjamin P. Collings, Stamford, Conn., yachtsman.

Discovery of the body would establish at once whether Collings had been slain as was supposed from the story told by his wife to the effect that two men boarded her husband's yacht last Wednesday night, threw him overboard and abducted her.

Officials estimated that under normal conditions, if Collings were actually drowned Wednesday night the body would rise to the surface sometime last night or today.

A new clue found today was a raincoat at Eaton's Neck, Suffolk county. It was to be shown to Mrs. Collings this afternoon in an effort to learn if it was worn by one of her alleged abductors.

THREE FLIERS ON WAY FROM LISBON TO U. S.

Their plane is a Junkers all-metal, once owned by Charles A. Levine and christened the "Esa" just before the start in honor of Rody's young bride. It was heavily laden with 635 gallons of gasoline and 165 gallons of oil, enough for 48 hours in the air at an average speed of 93 miles an hour. It carried no radio.

Unworried by reports of bad weather over the Atlantic, the fliers made an auspicious take-off. A crowd, including Laura Viega, sister of the Portuguese, travelled over broken roads and streams to an improvised airport on the banks of the Tigris river to see them off.

Weather bureau officials attempted to dissuade them to forego the flight on account of unfavorable conditions but their words went unheeded. The minister of marine ordered all Portuguese ships, along their path to send bulletins on their progress and to render them aid if they were forced down.

Their sustenance included two gallons of mineral water, a dozen bananas, two dozen apples, some sandwiches and three loaves of bread—"plenty," said Rody, "to last us until we get there."

Rody is a 20-year-old aviation fan who recently came into a small inheritance and promptly spent it on the plane they are using. Johannsen is a naturalized German who was born in Denmark and is a veteran pilot. Viega is a sportsman and a flying enthusiast. Rody and Johannsen recently flew here from Germany to prepare for the venture.

SOX DIVIDE TWO DOUBLE GAME MENUS

HUGH S. FULLERTON,
Associated Press Sports Writer
The American league has teams that are better than the Chicago White Sox and a few that are even less successful, but there is none to dispute the Sox claim of working harder than any other team for victories.

Chicago playing four games on Saturday and Sunday, struggling through 46 innings, and the best they could get out of it was two victories.

The second game of each doubleheader ended in a tie. After beating the New York Yankees in 13 innings Saturday, they played a ten innings, 13-13 tie before darkness stopped them. Yesterday Chicago downed Boston 6 to 5 in the opener then went 14 frames to a 2-2 draw. The Massachusetts Sunday law finally halted the struggle.

The New York Yankees come closer than any other team to threatening Chicago's long distance record.

After the two overtime battles with the White Sox, the Yankees played a third extra inning game in the first half of yesterday's doubleheader, going twelve frames to defeat the Detroit Tigers 2 to 1. Lou Gehrig's 43rd homer of the season made it possible for the Yanks to win the second game in nine innings, 4 to 3.

Alvin Crowder gave Washington an easy triumph over the Cleveland Indians in the remaining American league game. Crowder allowed Cleveland only six hits and made three himself to win 7 to 1. Philadelphia and St. Louis were idle.

Chicago's Cubs provided the big thrill of the National league program although the St. Louis Cardinals took another long step toward clinching the pennant.

The Cubs won the first game from the Boston Braves, 11 to 7, when Manager Rogers Hornsby went in as a pinch hitter in the eleventh inning and clouted a home run. Guy Bush completed the string of five straight victories that established the Cubs firmly in third place when he pitched his second "one-hit game" of the year to win the second clash 8 to 1.

The Cards gained a full game on the second place New York Giants, making their margin nine games as they defeated the Phillies 6 to 2 and 7 to 2.

The Giants ran into a severe setback at Cincinnati when Larry Benton and Bill Walker in a mound duel that marked the first game of a doubleheader. The Reds scored the only run of the game in the ninth inning as they made seven hits to five for New York.

The Giants hammered out an early lead against Benny Frey in the second game and won 9 to 4 as Fred Pitsinnons pitched a five-hit game and won 9 to 4 as Fred Pitsinnons pitched a five-hit game.

Eed Helmach of Brooklyn threatened the National league record for pitchers as he handled ten chances in a game with Pittsburgh. The league record is eleven. He came out with a 6 to 5 victory.

Davidson to Open Grid Season With Elon This Week

Charlotte, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Football already crowding baseball's glory, will take over the sports spotlight in North Carolina, the coming week-end when Davidson opens the collegiate season with Elon.

Between now and then there will be plenty of hard work for the more than 300 candidates in the training camps and perhaps a few additional names added to the already growing casualty list.

Hardy by a week of preliminary training, the squads have reached the point where the mentors begin to test them under the fire of scrimmages.

Heavy work will be added to the drills on fundamentals. Coaches will begin to shape the offensive play.

The latest news from Davidson indicates that unless coach "Pea-head" Walker's Elon eleven shows unexpected strength the Christians are in for a worse drubbing than usual in the annual game.

The Wildcats first eleven demonstrated in a practice scrimmage that it already has mastered some of its lessons on offensive by running through the second string at will.

Davidson's crew is about the only big five squad without a casualty list of considerable length. Fullback McCaskill and halfback Daniel went out with sprained ankles during Saturday's scrimmage by Chuck Collins' Tar Heels.

Duke has several stars, including halfback Lemon, on the hospital road Guard Ridenour, of N. C. State is probably out for the season with a dislocated shoulder.

Sam Horwitz, one of the outstanding linemen in the Big Ten last year, captains this year's Chicago football team.

To Increase Weight of Balloon Golf Ball

New York, Sept. 14.—(AP)—The United States Golf Association has decided to change the so-called "Ballon" golf ball, by increasing its weight. Herbert H. Ramsay, president of the association, announced today. It will become effective for play on or after April 15, 1932.

Mr. Ramsay issued the following statement:

"The association has been carefully studying the golf ball situation since the first of the year in all sections of the country and among all classes of players. The size of the 1.68 (inches in diameter) ball is universally popular. Tests are now being conducted along the line of an increase in weight. A new ball of increased weight will be adopted to become effective for play on or after April 15, 1932. The final weight specifications will be announced next November."

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas mounts up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up."

They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. Buy at all stores. © 1931, C. M. Co.

CAPS SURE OF WINNING FLAG IN PIEDMONT

Charlotte, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Confident of claiming the pennant, the Raleigh Caps came to Charlotte today to meet the crippled Hornets in the first game of the Piedmont league post-season series tonight.

With two regular outfielders on the shelf, the Hornets who otherwise would have been the favorites were given no better than an even chance to turn back the Strain men in the series.

Frank Packard was assigned the centerfield post of Ray Wise while Lamar Bell, rookie catcher, was trotted for the rightfield position. Wise and George Rinehardt, regular Hornet rightfielder, each suffered a broken leg during the last week of the regular season.

Bud Shanley, ace of the pitching staff, will go to the mound for Charlotte while either Lefty Briggs or Truitt Sewell is expected to take it for Raleigh.

Ticket sales indicate a record crowd. After two games here, the clubs will go to Raleigh for a pair and then will alternate between the cities until one has won four games.

The Piedmont moguls continue to peddle the players. The latest sales announced send Frank Packard, infielder-outfielder, from Charlotte to Baltimore of the International league, and Lefty Prim, Durham pitcher, to the same club.

The Durham club had also sold Clarence Pickrel, pitcher, to Fort Worth, Jack Lindley, outfielder, to Nashville, and Blankenship, pitcher to the St. Louis Cardinals. Sales prices were not announced.

Unofficial figures for the regular season show why Charlotte finished in first place in a walk. The Hornets, with a mark of 205 led the team hitting and were in first place in getting with a .968 average. Greensboro was second in hitting with a .286 figure and Henderson in fielding with a mark of .964.

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 4 to 6 points under selling promoted by a favorable view of the weather reports, indifferent Liverpool cables and weakness in the stock market.

December sold off to 6.73 and March to 7.03 during the early trading, or about 7 to 9 points net lower.

Pressure seemed to include a little more southern selling as well as some selling for western and continental account. Offerings were taken by trade buying or covering at the decline and the market held fairly steady at the end of the first half hour. Liverpool cables reported hedging and continental liquidation, absorbed by trade calling and aid the turnover in cotton cloth and yarns were small since buyers were cautious.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Sept. 14.—(AP)—A late upturn in corn prices led to rallies in other grains during the last hour of trading today. Aggressive buying of September corn developed about noon, and appeared to come from a leading speculator.

As a result September corn jumped about 2 cents a bushel from the earlier low levels. Reports of premature ripening of corn in some important sections were current.

Corn closed unsettled 1-4 to 7-8 higher; wheat 1-4 to 5-8 up; oats at 1-8 decline to 1-2 advance, and provisions varying from 2 cents setback to an equal gain.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Wall Street came back to work prepared for a blue Monday, and its expectations were not disappointed.

The share market opened with a heavy flurry of selling orders accumulated over the week-end, and while pressure lightened after its first hour, the market continued to work lower with few interruptions.

Heaviness of the Berlin market, together with new lows for the Daves and Young plan bonds in this market, contributed to the circumspect indigo, but the London market gave a fairly good account of itself.

The share market sank to the neighborhood of, if not actually below, the bottom recorded on June 2. Utilities, rails and miscellaneous industrials contributed to the outstanding weak spots. Coppers were rather heavily sold, but losses there were small, as they were on the oils. American Telephone lost about 5 points, finally penetrating its June low. U. S. Steel sold off more than 2 points to another 10-year bottom. Miscellaneous issues of 2 to more than 4 included DuPont, American Tob. B. American Can, Westinghouse, North American, International Harvester, Allied Chemical, National Biscuit, Case, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and others.

Dividend uncertainties continued to hang over the market, with the postponement of Baltimore & Ohio's meeting until the end of the month, and that statement by President Storey of the Santa Fe that he could not discuss dividend possibilities "in a year like this."

SAM

By Freeman Lincoln

SYNOPSIS: The dramatic return of Nelson Aldersea, after his runaway marriage to the maid of all work, infuriates his stepfather, Fourth Aldersea. Fourth insults Nelson and his wife, Martha, with sarcastic references to Martha's social inferiority and to Nelson's taking away with him household money. Sam Sherrill, Fourth's stepdaughter, welcomes the couple and attacks Fourth's attitude. Sam is ready to sympathize with Nelson's wish to live his own life, because of her unhappy situation. She is in love with Freddy Munson, but has become engaged to Peak Abbott, wealthy owner of the Express, to help the family's financial and social troubles. The burden of the household responsibilities is Sam's. After Fourth loses the family money in bad investments her mother trusted Sam, and when she died left Sam the remaining money and the stable where the family now lives. Fourth comes to Sam with his rebellion against Nelson's marriage.

Chapter 17
SUICIDE?
Fourth choked. "I can't stand the thought of it, or the disgrace of it. My God, Joan, what am I going to do?"

She shrugged. "You might try making the best of it."

"Did you talk to them?"

"I've talked to them," Sam shrugged again. "Nelson couldn't find a job."

"They spent all my money," Fourth said grimly, "and now I suppose they expect me to support them until I find Nelson another job. That's a good joke!"

"Is it?" asked Sam.

"You know it is," he retorted savagely. "They'll never get another cent out of me or spend another night under my roof. Have they gone now—to our fish-dealing relative? I wish him joy."

"Martha's father hasn't room for them."

"Really? Then where are they? Walking the streets?"

"No," said Sam calmly, glancing at him. "They haven't gone anywhere. They're upstairs just now. I put them in Nelson's old room."

"Upstairs!" Fourth took a step toward her. "What are they doing there?"

"I suppose they're unpacking." Fourth laughed with sharp savagery. "Are they suffering from the wild illusion that they are going to live in this house?"

"Where else can they live?"

"I don't know," Fourth had suddenly become calm. "I'm positive however, that they aren't going to spend a night under this roof. I'm about to go up and tell them that interesting bit of news."

"No!" Sam got to her feet and came to her stepfather's side. "No, Fourth, you can't."

"I can," Fourth's contradiction was almost stolid.

He turned and was almost at the foot of the stairs before Sam spoke. Then she said quietly: "Haven't you forgotten something?"

He paused to stare. "What?"

"I hate to say it, Fourth, but haven't you forgotten that this house isn't yours?"

His face went white. He came back to her. "Just what do you mean by that, Joan?"

"I mean that this house belongs to me, and that I say that Nelson and Martha shall stay here. I mean that I won't have them turned out—by anybody."

"Oh," Fourth ran his fingers through his white hair. "You know what the real issue is, don't you?" he inquired heavily at last. "It's just a question of whether you'll have Nelson or me."

"I don't see that. I don't see why we shouldn't be able to live here."

He shook his head. "No, Joan, you'll have to choose."

Sam said: "I can't turn them out in the street, Fourth."

"So?" Fourth leaned back and smiled. "So that's my answer! It is interesting to know just what my stepdaughter thinks of me."

Fourth walked over to the big cupboard. He pulled out a large kit bag. Then he began to toss his belongings into it, helter-skelter.

Sam said: "I wish you wouldn't be foolish."

Fourth did not answer. He put on his hat and coat, at last, and stood regarding the kit bag with a stony glare. Then he shook his head. "What did I pack that thing for?" he inquired audibly. "From all reports, I won't need my clothes. Not where I'm going."

"Nonsense!"

"Nonsense is it?" Fourth drew himself up with dignity. Then he picked up his mouth organ, and walked across the room. In the open door he turned for a last look. "Good by, Joan," he said in a low voice. "I hope you'll be able to get along."

"Thanks, Fourth. I'll try."

"Think of me sometimes, will you?" He swallowed heavily and closed the door behind him.

Dinner that night was a strange and not very pleasant meal. Both Nelson and Sam were acutely conscious that Martha was seated between them at the table rather than waiting upon it.

Whatever conversation there was was strained and disconnected, and Martha did not contribute toward it at all. "Where's Fourth?" Nelson asked Sam.

"Fourth?" Sam was indifferent. "Oh, he had to go out of town for some reason or other."

Sonny scowled. "I'll bet I know why he went. He went on account of Martha and me. He hates the sight of us."

Sam shook her head. "Fourth doesn't hate you—or Martha either. He may be a little bit upset just now but he'll get over it. Give him time."

Nelson said grimly: "I know what I know."

Martha had begun to cry silently into her handkerchief.

Nelson frowned at her and said impatiently: "Quit sniffing, Martha. You're always at it these days, and it doesn't help."

Martha told him in muffled tones that she couldn't help it, and continued to cry.

"You mustn't mind Fourth, Nelson," Sam went on. "You know how he is, and you know how quickly he gets over things."

"You tell him that we won't stay in this house longer than we can help," Nelson said. "We'll get out as soon as I can find a job—if I ever can."

"What are you going to do? Have you any ideas?"

He shook his head. "Not an idea. It's a cinch they won't give me my old one back, and I don't know where else to go."

Sam was thoughtful. "Maybe Peak can find something for you."

"Peak? Oh, you mean Peak Abbott," Nelson nodded and said: "You're engaged to him, aren't you, Sam? I'd heard about it, but I've been so worried about my own affairs that I forgot to say anything about it. I think it's great. He's a swell guy."

"Thanks, Nelson."

Fourth did not come home and at eleven o'clock Sam decided to wait for him no longer.

She told herself that it would be foolish to worry. Fourth, certainly, was not the kind of man to do what he had intended was his intention. To the contrary, he was the sort who would come home just as soon as he could think of some explanation that would leave his dignity unimpaired.

Sam was thoroughly convinced that she was not worried, but at the same time she was not able to sleep very well. Fourth had not returned the next morning when Sam came down fifteen minutes earlier than was her custom.

When Nelson and Martha came downstairs, Sam did not mention Fourth. She tried to be cheerful and chatty; a difficult feat in the face of the obvious gloom that enshrouded her half-brother and his bride. It was a relief to learn that the pair was going to the city at once, Nelson in search of work and Martha to see her mother.

As soon as they had left, Sam went to the telephone. She called several places where Fourth might possibly have spent the night, but at none of them could she get any news. She gave it up at last, and was staring unhappily out into the
