TWO BANKERS ACQUITTED IN FRAUD CASE

Wallace Davis and W. D. Harris Freed By District Court Jury at Asheville.

Asheville, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Wallace B. Davis and William D. Harris, former Asheville financiers, were acquitted of charges of using the mails to defraud by a jury in the United States district court here today.

The jury, which received the case late yesterday, brought in its verdict at 9:15 a. m.

The charges were brought in connection with the sale of $3,655,000 in bonds of the Central Securities Company of Asheville, Inc., a subsidiary of the Central Bank and Trust Company of Asheville.

Davis was president of the two companies both of which failed last fall while Harris was vice-president of the securities company.

The government alleged financial statements of the securities company, mailed to prospective customers for the bonds, did not reflect the true condition of the company. Davis has been convicted in the state courts of publishing a false statement of the bank's condition and of defrauding the bank through a conspiracy with Col. Luke Lea of Nashville, Tenn., and Luke Jea Jr. Appeals to the Supreme court are pending in both cases.

No demonstration was made by the crowd in the court room when the verdict was announced by W. C. Rector, of Marshall, the jury foreman.

Davis, who had sat impassive through the four and a half weeks of the trial, smiled expansively. His brother, Russell C. Davis, reached over and shook hands with him. Mrs. Davis was not in the court room. She recently suffered a nervous breakdown and did not attend the trial.

There was little change in Harris' expression, but tears came into the eyes of his wife and his sister, Mrs. H. S. Deal Deal of Hickory, who were with him.

When Judge E. Yates Webb accepted the verdict, dismissed the defendants and adjourned court, Mrs. Harris walked over to Zeb F. Curtis, her husband's attorney, and thanked him.

Gardner Hears Cotton Group

Raleigh, Oct. 1.—(AP)—After discussing the economic conditions in North Carolina and the world before a delegation from Eastern North Carolina counties which asked a special session of the General Assembly to deal with cotton restriction legislation, Governor O. Max Gardner today took the request under consideration.

H. G. Bartlett, secretary of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce, headed the delegation of between 80 and 100 persons who called upon the governor.

Mr. Bartlett and representatives "presenting the sentiment of their counties," spoke in behalf of a special session. Counties represented were: Edgecombe, Pitt, Harnett, Nash, Halifax, Robeson, Sampson, Duplin, Wayne, Hoke and Johnston.

These counties will raise 314,000 of the 715,000 bales of cotton estimated for this state this year. Governor Gardner told the representatives that he pledged them a thorough consideration of their request but that he would take no hasty action on their proposal or on any other.

He pointed out the failure of the president to cordially receive his proposal for an international conference on cotton and likewise the refusal of southern governors to co-operate in a south-wide conference. He is studying the situation, he said, and added: "I want to see where North Carolina is going to land before I jump into any scheme suggested."

College Here Begins Work

The first half of this week belonged to the freshmen at East Carolina Teachers College. They reported for work Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning. Tuesday afternoon and evening were given over to their entertainment and instruction. Yesterday they registered and were entertained in Wilson Hall. The number of freshmen registering this year is about the same as for last year.

Registration of upper classmen has been in progress today. So far there has been a larger number of young men to register than during previous years. Many of the young men registrants live in the vicinity of Greenville and other near-by towns. Regular classes in all departments will begin tomorrow.

KENT AWAITS JURY ACTION

Alleged Wife Slayer Held Under $15,000 Bond Pending Trial of the Case.

Hampton, Va., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Elisha Kent Kane, III, remained today under $15,000 bond pending the action of an Elizabeth City county grand jury which next Monday will be asked to say whether there is probable cause to believe that he murdered his wife.

His case was first on the grand jury yesterday after Magistrate J. E. Dixon had heard evidence of ten witnesses, including both parents and a brother of Mrs. Jenne Graham Kane, and Coroner George K. Vanderville whose inquest report characterized the drowning of Mrs. Kane in Chesapeake Bay as "premeditated murder."

Mr. Dixon's decision was made in spite of the argument of defense attorneys who insisted that the evidence presented was not sufficient to warrant a formal accusation against the University of Tennessee professor. No witnesses for the defense were offered at the hearing.

Decision of the defense to reserve its side of the case left unsettled the question of whether or not Mrs. E. H. Dahl, of Mount Holly, N. J., and New York, would testify as to the letter signed "Betty" written to Professor Kane.

Hold Two In Collings Case

Daytona Beach, Fla., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Authorities today said L. D. Ritchie and his son, William, held here for investigation regarding the recent slaying of Benjamin Collings, Stamford, Conn., yachtsman, disclaimed any knowledge of the killing "except what we have read in the papers."

Daytona Beach, Fla., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Police Chief Chas. J. Luke said a father son, held here "for investigation" will be questioned today about the Benjamin Collings yacht slaying on Long Island Sound. The two men who gave their names as L. D. Ritchie, 51, and William E. Ritchie, 23, were detained last night shortly after the arrival of an officer from Connecticut.

Chief Luke said the men also would be questioned about the finding in Long Island Sound of a "body" identified as that of William Smith who formerly lived with Dr. Louis Ritchie, a veterinarian in Connecticut. The finding of Smith's body has been considered by Connecticut and New York authorities as a clue in the Collings mystery.

MARR FREED BY JURORS IN WAKE COUNTY

Absolved of any Guilt in Connection With Embezzlement of the Tucker Estate.

Raleigh, Oct. 1.—(AP)—S. Wade Marr, former Raleigh broker and partner in the defunct brokerage firm of Durley and Marr, was absolved of any guilt in connection with the embezzlement of $116,800 from the Florence P. Tucker estate in a directed verdict in Wake Superior court today.

Judge Walter L. Small, at the conclusion of the presentation of evidence by the state, directed a verdict of acquittal when defense attorneys made a motion for a non suit. The formal charge against Marr was aiding and abetting Durley in the embezzlement from the estate.

His acquittal appeared certain after Cary K. Durley, who was his partner in the brokerage firm, testified late yesterday that he could not recall Marr's name. Marr's name was being used in the affairs of the brokerage firm.

Durley has been convicted of embezzling $116,800 from the estate and sentence was withheld until Marr could be tried on the charge of aiding and abetting.

Durley has also entered pleas of nolo contendere to a number of other indictments against him charging embezzlements from the Tucker estate and embezzlements from clients of the brokerage firm. Marr is under other indictments in connection with the failure of the brokerage firm.

U. S. Will Not Tamper With Gold Standard

Washington, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The Hoover administration sees no reason for tampering with this country's gold standard or the return to bi-metalism.

In official circles, where this position was made clear today, such agitation as is going forward for a return to bi-metalism was described as coming chiefly from senators representing silver producing states.

Gold was characterized as the most satisfactory base for the country's monetary system and the temporary abandonment of the gold base by Great Britain and several other European countries was regarded as not reflecting a permanent policy.

The United States, with its coifers containing more gold than any other country in the world, was described as having no reason to abandon the gold standard.

SEES CHECK ON SHORT SELLING

Senator Watson Believes Congress Will Legislate Safeguard Against Speculators.

Washington, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Unless the stock exchanges themselves act, Senator Watson of Indiana, believes Congress will legislate safeguards against short selling by speculators who seek profits through depression of security values.

The Republican leader of the Senate warned the exchanges that members of Congress were convinced these transactions were retarding recovery from the depression and stood ready to inquire into the practice.

Because of his position an administration official on Capitol Hill, it was believed here that Senator Watson reflected also the view of high government officials toward the recent bear raids in the stock market.

Certainly it is that he speaks with some authority, and his prediction that "a thorough and searching investigation of this method of dealing with stocks will be made by a Senate committee" is being given serious attention here.

Many stock prices have fallen to new lows in recent days. The situation has led one New York exchange house to announce that it will not loan money to those who intend to use it in selling stocks short.

On the other hand, a defense of "short selling" has been made by Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange. He said a ban against it would necessarily "revitalize the financial, commercial, and industrial laws of the whole country."

Thomas Lipton Is Critically Ill

London, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Sir Thomas Lipton, British sportsman, was reported today to be suffering from the effects of a severe chill and his condition was causing grave anxiety.

He caught cold about ten days ago while motoring and has been unable to throw it off since. At present, his secretary said, the 80-year-old yachtsman is "very ill."

Foreign Bonds Above Market

New York, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Holders of foreign bonds that would bring only $1,700,000 in the open market can redeem them today for a total of $3,550,000.

These bonds have been drawn by lot for redemption at par under sinking fund provisions. Some fortunate holders of drawn numbers can redeem their bonds for cash amounting to two, three, four and even five times what they could get for them in the open market, even though the bonds are virtually all payable in gold dollars, and not directly affected by fluctuations of other currencies.

PLAN TO SEEK NEW TRIAL FOR WHITLEY, COX

If Efforts Fail Attorneys Will Then Ask for Pardon for Local Young Men.

Elmer Whitley and Rodney Cox, local young men, sentenced to terms in State's prison for the highway robbery of Mrs. G. H. Ballard in the southern section of the city the latter part of last December, plan to continue their fight for freedom, it was announced this morning.

Louis Gaylord, attorney for the young men, stated that he planned to ask for a new trial within the next several days, and failing in that, would file application for pardon.

The action he said will be based on developments which have taken place since conviction of the young men in the criminal term of Supreme court here last April. They were sentenced from 7 to 9 years each and appealed to Supreme court.

Gaylord's announcement followed action of the State Supreme court which yesterday afternoon announced it failed to find any error in the judgment of the lower court. Whitley and Cox, who were granted bond of $2,500 each about two months ago, were still at liberty today and it was expected they would continue to enjoy their freedom until motion for the new trial has been passed upon.

Whitley and Cox were charged with holding up and robbing Mrs. Ballard of $4,200 in the southern section of the city after the Christmas holidays last year.

Mrs. Ballard claimed it was all the money she had in the world. Whitley and Cox during the spring filed damages suits for $5,000 each against Mrs. Ballard for defamation of character growing out of the criminal action.

It was disclosed almost simultaneously that Mrs. Ballard had previously rented a safety deposit box in a Wilson bank. A court order (Continued On Page Four)

WILL OPPOSE BEER REMEDY

National Grange Does Not Believe it Would Help Agricultural Situation.

Washington, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Legalization of beer as a healthful brew for aiding agriculture is seen by the National Grange as a "tragic" prescription which it will oppose.

Instead of producing a tonic for the farmer, the Grange predicts resumption of brewing would be detrimental to agriculture through harm done the dairy, poultry, soft drinks and confectionery industries.

A statement by Louis J. Taber, National Master, gave the position of the Grange which counts upwards of 800,000 members from every state.

In the meantime, the agriculture department, dedicated to helping the farmer, dug into the economics of legalized beer.

The investigation, which Secretary Hyde said had no connection with the White House, was actively begun by Nils A. Olsen, chief of the department's economics bureau, and a corps of assistants.

What the farmer has done since prohibition, where he has turned in his endeavors, and other statistical phases of the problem will be sought by Olsen. Some assistance will be asked from the prohibition bureau.

Alienating with Senator Capper, Republican of Kansas, the Grange took the position 4 per cent beer would reduce consumption of other products, non-alcoholic beverages and so on. It described as "a finding of 'so-called national leaders pressing' for beer to combat the depression."

Facts disclosed in studies made by the Grange, the statement said, "show conclusively that the resumption of the brewing industry in the United States would be detrimental to the interests of agriculture."

MISSIONARY MEET CLOSES

Officers Elected at Final Session of Roanoke Baptist Union Here Yesterday.

The twenty-fourth annual session of the Women's Missionary Union of the Roanoke Baptist Association, which met at Memorial Baptist church yesterday morning, was concluded during the afternoon with final committee reports.

Three hundred delegates from various churches of the association were in attendance and thoroughly enjoyed a program which set forth the development of missionary work in an interesting way.

The morning session was given over almost entirely to organization, welcome, reports and addresses by Mrs. Edna Harris and Mrs. J. W. Bunn, of Raleigh.

At the noon hour the visitors were entertained at luncheon at the Woman's club by the Women's Missionary Societies of Pitt and Washington district.

The afternoon session was called to order at 2:30 p. m. The delegates united in singing "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." Mrs. C. A. G. Thomas, of Rocky Mount, led the devotional. Her thought was derived from James' letter, chapter one. She stressed that the women think carefully concerning the type of life they lived as she graphically described the "World Spots on the Christian Rob" that detracted from their attractiveness.

Reports from the county leaders were heard, and each one offered much for which gratitude may be given, and stirred to more faithful efforts. Rev. A. W. Fleischmann, chairman of the promotion committee for the every-member canvass in this association, spoke to the women concerning this effort under the topic, "Five Smooth Stones."

The main address of the afternoon was given by Rev. L. Bunn Olive of China, who won the sympathy and interest of his hearers (Continued On Page Four)

ABOUT TOWN

The beginning of the world's series today will provide plenty of food for thought for lovers of the national sport in various sections of the country for the next several days.

Both the Athletics and Cardinals are said to be in fine fettle for the fray and the world champion Athletics apparently are as cocksure of walking away with the honors this season as they were last year.

The two teams represent the cream of the world of sports, and that new records will be set during the coming fray is a foregone conclusion.

Although football has taken much of the glory from the diamond, there are thousands of fans throughout the nation who still steadfastly to the belief that baseball is the king of sports and will watch the championship clash with bated breath hoping to see their favorites emerge with the crown of victory.

While betting is 7 to 5 in favor of the Athletics, winners of the race last season, there is a great school of thought who look forward contentedly to the final triumph of the Cardinals and will bet even money on the strength of their conviction.

The Reflector is delighted to have the privilege of furnishing complete leased wire reports on the "clash" as it has done in past years, realizing as it does that the quick service is convincing proof that Greenville people enjoy the same comprehensive news facilities as the largest cities of the nation.

Delegations went from this part of the state to Raleigh today to request Governor Gardner to call a special session of the legislature to consider the serious situation confronting cotton and tobacco planters of the country.

The extraordinary session of the legislature will be opposed on many sides because of the expense attached to such a gathering and its inability to do anything definite until it has been seen what other states more vitally affected are going to do.

The situation is paramourly more important to this state than to Mississippi, Texas, Louisiana and similar states for the simple reason that we have the plight of the tobacco planter to consider. Suppose the state should legislate reduction of cotton for two years. That would mean the planting of more tobacco by growers, forced to reduce cotton acreage. The tobacco market, already shot to pieces by over-production, would face a situation pronouncedly more serious than that today, and it is impossible to determine the outcome.

If action must be taken to restore cotton, something should be done to protect the tobacco crop. Unless it is, we would be "jumping from the frying pan into the fire." The truth of that aphorism is not to be questioned and those who fail to realize its importance will be more forcibly impressed with its significance when they find cotton and tobacco more decidedly on the rocks than at the present time.

Johns Shouse, chairman of the Democratic National Executive Committee, doesn't deal in innuendo when speaking of the chances of his party for capturing control of the next Congress.

In a statement yesterday, he declared the result of the election in the seventh Missouri district where Robert M. Johnson was elected to Congress was but another evidence of the discontent of the people with the rule of the Republican party and of the nation-wide determination to rebuke that party which has continuously boasted of prosperity under its rule.

He said the tariff and the Farm Board had been brought to the fore and would be among the issues in the forthcoming campaign. He thought the result of Republican administration speaks for itself and gives an adequate reflex of the agricultural west toward the Republican party as at present constituted and directed.

Lots of people will designate that as nothing more than campaign talk, while others will agree that the Democratic chairman knows what he is talking about. But one thing nobody will dispute and that is the lack of concrete evidence of the prosperity which the administration promised the voters if placed in control of government.

The old propaganda, "Vote for Hoover and Prosperity," did not prove to be the boomerang expected by those who helped the Republican pile up such an overwhelming majority in the last election, and the reaction at first blush does not appear to presage such easy sledding for the prosperity ballyhoo in the coming election, disregarding anything Shouse or members of the campaign committee may say about the situation.

SAM By Freeman Lincoln

SYNOPSIS: SAM GERRILL tells Peak about, whom she promised to marry because of her family's financial difficulties, that although she has been in love with Freddy Munson she no longer loves him.

Chapter 32 DISCOVERED AFTER MIDNIGHT "Don't you really believe me?" It's true," Sam said.

Peak turned to her swiftly. "Do you mean to tell me," she demanded savagely, "that all you and Freddy Munson talked about was dresses and parties and such silly things? Do you mean to say you didn't explain why you didn't go to New York with him that night?"

"I'll admit I tried to explain, but he wouldn't listen." "Why not?" "He said there wasn't any use. He said he wouldn't hear a word of it unless I could say yes to question he wanted to ask."

"What was the question?" "He hesitated briefly. He asked me, Peak, if I was in love with him."

"Well?" "This time her pause was longer. At last she said quietly: "I could not answer the question—not the way he wanted. I couldn't say a word; so he went away."

Peak stared at her. Then he said hoarsely: "Do you know what you're saying, Sam? Do you know what you're asking me to believe? I can't believe it, because it can't be true."

"I know how you feel. It seems incredible to me, too. A few months ago I'd have married him in a minute. I thought it was the only thing in the world I wanted to do. I was terribly unhappy I'd never be happy again. I thought I loved him. She shrugged. "Even this morning I wasn't sure; not until he asked me that question. Then I knew."

She rubbed one hand wearily over her eyes. "It makes me wonder just what kind of a person I am. I wonder whether I ever loved him at all. Is it possible that I was just attracted to him because he was so different; because his life seemed so glamorous; because my own seemed so impossible? I hope so but I don't know. I only know that I'm ashamed."

"Don't be ashamed," Peak spoke roughly. "What have you got to be ashamed of? It isn't your fault if you've changed your mind. It isn't important whether you ever loved him or not. The only important thing is that you don't love him now. That's what we've got to realize and understand. What does it mean? It's so sudden and so contrary to everything I've been thinking for so long that I can't quite grasp it. What does it mean, Sam? Where do you and I stand now?"

"I've been thinking about that all afternoon and all evening, and I'm not sure. I'm only sure that from now on, Peak, you can trust me. From now on there are going to be no more reservations and no more deceptions. Whatever I say to you you can't believe. You can believe, for instance, that I am ready to marry you, if you still want me—knowing what you do."

"You mean," asked Peak slowly, "that you're still willing to go through with it?" "It means more. It means that I want to go through with it."

"That's a hard question to answer, Peak, but I'm going to try to do it." Sam spoke carefully, choosing every word. "I've liked you ever since I've known you, but never quite so much or in quite the same way as I've liked you since Freddy made his money. I suppose it's because we're equals now. When I look at you now, I don't see money."

talk, while others will agree that the Democratic chairman knows what he is talking about. But one thing nobody will dispute and that is the lack of concrete evidence of the prosperity which the administration promised the voters if placed in control of government.

While Calvin Coolidge has remained as silent as the proverbial tomb since he left the White House, he has said enough in a recent literary endeavor to convince party chiefs that he will not offer himself for the presidency again.

SICK HEADACHE From Constipation. HERE is a purely vegetable medicine which has benefited thousands of men, women and children, and which you should try when troubled with constipation, or biliousness. Mr. H. H. Rogillo, of Lake Charles, La., writes: "When I let myself get constipated, I feel dull and sluggish and all out of sorts, not equal to my work. When one has this feeling it is time to take something before he feels worse. I certainly have found Black-Draught quick to relieve. I used to have severe headaches and suffer a great deal. I found this came from constipation, and that Black-Draught would correct it. That is why I began using Theodor's."

Says Cotton of Excellent Grade In This Section
Farmville, Oct. 1.—Pitt county cotton, except where it was ginned too early, is of good grade and long staple this season, according to J. B. Shannon, cotton classifier in charge of the interior classing office of the North Carolina Cotton Growers Cooperative Association, opened in the Farmville Bonded Warehouse this season for the first time.

Mr. Shannon recently relieved H. A. Fluhrdy who was recalled by the association to its Raleigh office. Mr. Shannon is a federal licensed cotton classifier and has had fifteen years classing experience. Before a man can become a licensed cotton classifier he must have a number of years experience in classing and must also pass a very rigid examination.

As in the past two weeks the association classer will continue to be in Farmville on Fridays, in Scotland Neck on Tuesdays and Thursdays, and in Tarboro on Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays.

The local offices are rendering an excellent service, farmers say. Pitt growers add that they are well satisfied with the grades they are getting, and to date the offices have not had a single kick.

Under the cooperative plan, farmers draw an advance which is almost as much as they could receive by outright sale, and still retain their equity in the cotton. Should the market go up, as many predict it will, they will share in the increased value under the cooperative plan.

Fayetteville. —(AP)—W. R. Russell failed to send his five-year-old daughter a present last Christmas and so Judge G. E. Midgette denied him a divorce from Mrs. Russell when he asked it under the five-year separation law.

IN MEMORY OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN
Little Abe was born in Eighteen Hundred and Nine. No one thought the little fellow very fine. But in that life flamed a light of a Nation. Which was in time revealed by a whole creation.

As a lad he was strong, brave and true. So out of his humble surroundings he grew. Once he was scorned by an Orator of the land. When he held out to him his hand rough hand.

That scorn added fuel to that flaming light. Which burned its way to the White House so bright. And there in all its rich pomp and power. Shone like the sun in the darkest tower.

There the agonies of war harrowed his homely face. But not even on time did he shrink his place. Seeing the horrors of slavery a great task he began. And through a great war his victory was won.

His achievement came over the land like a flood. But quenched by a shot when he shed his own blood. Sorrowing friends stood by the gloomy death bed. And close by his side watched a little boy Ted.

My Papa has gone to Heaven and the little pale face. He couldn't stay here, it was such a bad place. In time of death, the suffering of the dead. Were traced by the furrows in the rugged forehead.

We can't add brightness or glory to the sun. Nor time to eternity it has only just begun. Alike the name Lincoln, no enjoy could ever dawn. So in its necked, deathless, splendor, we leave it shining on.

—LELA M. PRESCOTT.

MIAMI LAW SCHOOL Students Jailed
Miami, Fla., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Twenty-one young men, whom officers identified as students at the University of Miami law school and a professor of the institution, last night wound up a speakeasy celebration of fraternity pledge night at the jail.

Deputy sheriffs took them in a raid of the establishment. They were accused without charges and released shortly after midnight after questioning.

Jerome B. Cohn, New York, told Chief Deputy Jack Gruss he was a member of the law school faculty. Gruss stated that the students they had assembled at the speakeasy early in the evening to pledge several members to the Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity.

This is rush week at the University and last night was designated pledge night for all fraternities.

STATE TEAMS PREPARE FOR PIGSKIN TILTS

By WHITNEY THARIN
 Charlotte, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Having seen two of the big five teams practically eliminated from the state race in opening games, North Carolina football fans today directed their attention to the chances their Southern Conference teams have in the bigger race.

Duke's defeat by South Carolina last Saturday has as good as eliminated that club, even though the Blue Devils should win every other conference game. It takes a record free of defeats to lead the south's premier gridiron organization.

North Carolina and N. C. State will test their matches this Saturday against two strong opponents and on paper each team has about the same chance to win.

In other words, Vanderbilt appears to be as much stronger than the Tar Heels as Florida appears to be better than the Wolfpack but it doesn't always pay to go by appearances.

Cruck Collins' team demonstrated in the Wake Forest game that it knows how to cross the touch-down line. The impression that Wake Forest was not so bad but that the Tar Heels were just that good appears to be gaining some strength. The Demon Deacons have all the assets of a good strong team and will probably make enough noise before the season is over to draw out the Tar Heel defeat.

Vanderbilt, however, under the guidance of the veteran Tom McGugin and his young assistant, Josh Cody, is supposed to be going places in the conference this season. A lot on how they perform against whether they will arrive depends on North Carolina Saturday. It will also make a lot of difference at Chapel Hill, so far as the conference is concerned, if the Tar Heels fall to the south.

State's encounter against Florida will probably be one of the most interesting games of the week so far as North Carolina is concerned. Wolfpack followers are anxious to see their team started on the victory road, after several lean years.

Duke's backfield is reported to have shown considerable improvement in practices this week and the Devils should be a good bet to win in the game with Virginia Military Institute.

Coach Pat Miller, at Wake Forest, has tried juggling his backfield in an effort to get a more workable combination for the Furman game but found he had his best running men behind the line at the start. Miller moved Shuford Tucker, 175-pounder from Mount Holly, to the varsity to replace Paul Hutchins at quarterback, but the change lasted only one day.

Davidson is worried about its defense. The State backs sifted thru the Wildcat line with such ease that Coach Monk Younger is devoting extra time to that section in preparation for the Washington & Lee game.

WORLD SERIES DRAMA OPENS AT ST. LOUIS

By EDWARD J. NEIL
 (Associated Press Sports Writer)
 St. Louis, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The curtain parted today, conjecture ended and argument ceased, and on the great stage of baseball was thrown once more the annual drama of the world series.

All the statistics diamond scientists could muster were tossed into wastebaskets. All the predictions, all the brave declarations of hope and confidence slipped into the background. And on the battlefield of flag-decked Sportsman Park the world champion Philadelphia Athletics faced the St. Louis Cardinals in actual conflict, the first game of the 1931 world series.

Scarcely since the first of the diamonds great heroes, now shrouded by dimming memories, swung into action in the earliest of these fall battles, has there been a setting so tense in its dramatic possibilities, so wide in its appeal to baseball men and the faithful alike.

For two straight years the Philadelphia Athletics, champions of the national circuit. At their head, mahout of the white elephants, rides Connie Mack, 68 years old, tall, stately, time-ridden, striving to attain before the curtain falls on his own colorful career. A career no other pilot ever has attained—three straight world championships.

In his ranks are three of the outstanding sluggers of the period—eager, brawny Al Simmons, the battling champion; the chub-faced powerhouse, Jimmy Fox; and Mickey Cochrane, greatest of the present day catchers. On the firing line he had Lefty Grove, the lanky, taciturn one, probably the outstanding southpaw of all times. "Big Jarge" Earnshaw, the burly right hander, Rube Walberg, another left, and veterans Waite Hoyt and Eddie Rommel, and the youngsters, Hank McDonald and Leroy Mahaffey.

Against this outstanding crew, Charlotte, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The North Carolina Department of United Spanish War Veterans plan establishment of five additional camps in the Eastern part of the state this year.

Sportlights On World's Series

St. Louis, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Scalpers were asking from $8.50 to $15 for a $5.50 reserved seat for today's game between the Athletics and Cardinals. Seats priced at $8.50 were located beyond the first and third base lines. Internal revenue agents were circulating through hotel lobbies, cigar stores and other places where tickets might be sold to see that only registered scalpers were dealing in them.

The world champion Athletics were quoted at 1- to 2 favorites to defeat the Cardinals by Tom Kearney, St. Louis betting commissioner. The Athletics also were held by Kearney as 3 to 5 to win any one game and 6 to 1 on four straight.

William Klem of the National League is umpire-in-chief of the world series. Klem is entering his fifteenth series, a record unequalled by any other umpire.

Since the two major leagues use baseballs that are slightly different, the National league ball will be in play in the games at St. Louis and the American league ball at Philadelphia. Unlike 1930 both baseballs have "raised seams." The National baseball also has a slightly thicker cover than in 1930, whereas the American league cover is similar to a year ago.

Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, was a busy individual trying to satisfy the demands of minor league club owners for world series tickets. He ran out of tickets last night and was glad of it.

Four special trains will carry the baseball players, sports writers and fans to Philadelphia for the world series games to be played there. The Athletics will return to Philadelphia on a special train immediately after the second game tomorrow. The Cardinals, however, will not depart for Philly until Saturday noon.

If Al Simmons chooses to hit a home run he will be obliged to drive the ball 450 feet into the centerfield bleachers. The distance from home plate to left field is 360 feet and to right field is 320 feet. There is a screen, however, in right field, and he will have to clear it. Babe Ruth cleared the screen twice three years ago, once driving a home run through a plate glass window across the street.

Plans World Flight

Gen. Italo Balbo, head of the Italian aviation corps, has announced that he plans to lead a group of army planes on a flight around the world next year. This year he led a group flight to South America.

Charlotte, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The North Carolina Department of United Spanish War Veterans plan establishment of five additional camps in the Eastern part of the state this year.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today, off 2 to 4 points under a renewal of selling which carried December contracts to 5.96 in the early trading. March sold at 6.26, making new low records and net declines of about 5 to 6 points. The South was a seller here and there was probably some local selling in anticipation of increased hedging toward the week end or on the continued good weather for the picking and movement of cotton in the South. However, the new low prices brought in trade buying and the market was steady at rallies of 2 to 3 points from the lowest at the end of the first half hour. Liverpool was lower but the decline there was attributed partially to the fluctuation in sterling exchange. Liverpool cable advices reported hedging and continental selling absorbed by trade calling at the decline and said the home trade in cotton goods was quieter.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Bullish sentiment proved sufficient to uphold grain markets today in the face of weakness of securities. It was contended that grain price deflation had been completed as was shown by smallness of declines in the last month. Trading in July wheat has started, with sales to day ranging from 49 to 50 3-4 cents a bushel, but official quotations will not begin until Oct. 5.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The stock market was propped at times today by constructive developments in the long mooted consolidation of the eastern trunkline railroads, but active selling continued to sweep through the market, and prices fluctuated erratically.

The suspension of a well known Boston and New York stock exchange firm may have contributed to the unsettlement, but the market steadied just before the announcement, and rallied for a time afterward. The bond market was irregular, but was firmer in spots, and the London and Paris markets closed with a steady tone.

American Telephone was a weak feature after midday, dropping 4 points. Although there had been numerous gains of 1 to 3 points in the falls in the morning trading, these were finally chipped away, and some recorded small losses. Utilities were generally weak. Allied Chemical lost a few points. Among leading industrials, General Motors and U. S. Steel registered new lows with loss of a point or more.

Wall street recognized that final agreement among the heads of the four eastern trunkline systems—the New York Central, Pennsylvania, B. and O., and C. and O.—Nickel Plate group—was only a step toward actually bringing the proposed absorptions of smaller lines to completion, but perhaps the most important step. The plan must now receive the stamp of approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and minority interests in the various roads involved must be satisfied.

The short term money market was again over-supplied with funds here, call money being offered outside at 11-4 per cent, against the official rate of 11-2.

Officers Seek Two Negroes Wanted in Slaying of Youth

Charlotte, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Two Charlotte officers were in Wilmington today in search of two negroes alleged to have been implicated in the killing of Fred Pressly by a Hazenbeck-Wallace circus crew here last Friday night.

Sam Dewese, chief of rural police, and W. W. McGraw, private detective, said the men sought were described by Fred Harvey, confessed participant in the brawl in which Pressly was hurled from the moving train, along with his companion, Hoyt Tins, who is recovering from his injuries in a hospital here.

Willie Caldwell, also accused by Harvey of having taken part in an attack on the white youths before they were thrown from the flat car, is also being held here.

The circus management and the Southern Railway are being sued for $50,000 damages by the administrator of Pressly's estate.

Tax Collections Slow Up in N. C.

Raleigh, Oct. 1.—(AP)—North Carolina's tax collections for September were approximately $340,000 less than for the same month a year ago, Commissioner of Revenue A. J. Maxwell's month-end report revealed.

The heavy decrease was accounted for by the General Assembly's prolonged fight over the biennial revenue bill, which resulted in late adoption of corporation franchise tax schedules. Franchise taxes collected during the month were only $5,072.51 compared with $205,569.39 last year, while collections from foreign corporations totaled $253.69 as against $50,481.24 for September, 1930, although total collections for the year are expected to exceed considerably those for 1930-31.

Total collections were $290,782.50 as compared with $630,278.98 last year. Despite the September drop, collections are approximately $600,000 ahead for the first three months of the fiscal year as compared with 1930, the report showed. Collections to date total $3,678,427.61 as compared with $3,083,821.95 last year.

Highway fund collections for September total $1,494,390.91 as compared with $1,213,428.65 in 1930, this sum including $1,417,324.39 from the increased gas tax, the largest amount ever realized in a single month from this source.

Gaston.—(AP)—Parent-Teacher representatives of 14 counties met here today for the annual conference of the South Piedmont district of the North Carolina Parent Teachers Congress.

Kinston.—(AP)—Walter L. Sutton, business manager of Caswell Training School, has measured a stalk of corn that beats the one in Sharon, Pa. The stalk grown on one of the school farms measured 16 feet, five inches.

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Clete Jolly, 29, of Salisbury, N. C., was under $2,000 bond here today after his arrest in Dover last night on a liquor law violation warrant sworn out by U. S. Marshal J. J. Jenkins of the middle district of North Carolina.

Jolly's bail was set at a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Albert F. Polk.
