ATHLETICS SLUG HARD AND WIN FOURTH GAME OF THE WORLD SERIES

BLANK CARDS SCORE 3 TO 0

Big George Earnshaw Pitches Superlative 2-Hit Ball to Even up the Series; Foxx Hammers Out Home Run in Sixth Inning, to Virtually Put the Game on Ice; Johnson Knocked Out of the Box and is Succeeded by Lindsey and Derringer.

Shibe Park, Philadelphia, Oct. 6.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics, big gunners, headed by Jimmy Foxx and his tremendous homerun drive in the sixth, hammered out a three to nothing victory over the St. Louis pitchers and evened the World's series at two games all, as Big George Earnshaw pitched superlative two-hit ball in the fourth game today.

Blended for two straight games by the baffling hurling of Bill Hallahan and Burleigh Grimes, the murderers row of the world's champions suddenly came to life as Al Simmons doubled in the first inning to score Max Bishop, who had singled and had been sacrificed to second, while Foxx, getting his first distance clout of the series, started Johnson's downfall with his home run in the sixth.

Foxx's clout was a towering belt that completely cleared the high, double-decked stands in left field, and apparently it unnerved Johnson, who had settled down fairly well after an erratic start. Big Miller followed with a long double to the wall in right center and scored on Jimmy Dykes' one-base smash to left. After Dib Williams singled to left, Johnson was relieved by Jim Lindsey, another right hander, and the rally ended as Earnshaw fanned.

Earnshaw's masterpiece, broken only by another pair of hits from the bat of "Pepper" Martin, sensation of the series, and following on the heels of the two-hit performance of Burleigh Grimes for the Cards yesterday, duplicated a record for series made 25 years ago.

In an ancient series between two Chicago teams, Big Ed Walsh, of the White Sox and three-fingered Brown, of the Cubs, pitched successive two-hit games.

The attendance today was 32,295, and receipts $152,735, the same figures as for yesterday's Cardinal conquest.

The players' pool for the series was closed at the end of the fourth game at a figure slightly in excess of $320,000.

First Inning Cardinals: Floyers started in place of Adams for the Cardinals, despite his injury. Flowers up. Bishop flied out to Haas. Watkins up. Ball one. Foul, strike one. It was into the right field stands. Ball two, outside. Strike two, called. Ball three. Watkins popped to Earnshaw. Frisch up. Strike one. Ball one. Foul, strike one. Foul, strike two. The ball went against the barrier in left field. Foul. Frisch flied out to Simmons.

No runs, no hits, no errors. Athletics: Bishop up. Strike one, swung. Strike two, called. Bishop singled to center field. Haas up. Foul, strike one. Haas bunted down third base line but it rolled foul. Bishop ran to second on Haas' sacrifice bunt. Flowers to Bottomley. Cochrane up. Ball one, outside. Ball two, low. Ball three. Strike one. Foul, strike two. It went into the upper tier back of the plate. Cochrane grounded out to Bottomley. Simmons up. Strike one, ball one. Strike two, swung. Ball two, Bishop scored on Simmons' double. Foxx up. Foul, strike one. It was on the roof behind plate. Ball one. Ball two, low and outside. Ball three. Foxx walked. Miller up. Strike one. Ball one. Miller fouled out to Wilson.

One run, two hits, no errors, two left.

Second Inning Cardinals: A thick haze settled over the field blotting out the sun. Bottomley up. Strike one. Foul, strike two. Bottomley hoisted to Foxx, who made the catch a few feet off the first base line. Hafey up. Ball one, inside. Strike one. Strike two. Hafey grounded out, (Continued on Page Five)

STOCKS RISE AT NEW YORK

Most Violent Rebound of Year Experienced as Issues Gain From $10 to $15.

New York, Oct. 6.—(AP)—The stock market experienced one of the most violent rebounds of the year today, numerous prominent issues rising $5 to more than $15 a share.

The advance was precipitated by news of tonight's White House conference of Congressional leaders, and gained impetus on announcement of disbursement of the regular $2.50 quarterly dividend by Santa Fe railway.

Santa Fe common stock skyrocketed to $113.50, where it was $16 higher. Union Pacific soared to $119, up $11.75. Norfolk & Western climbed more than $12 to above 124.

United States Steel common crossed $68 for a rise of over $6, while American Telephone, around $128, was also more than $6 above the previous close. Other leaders up $3 to $6 included American Can, American Tobacco B. Co., Coca-Cola, North American, Western Union, Detroit Edison, Allied Chemical and Consolidated Gas of New York, New York Central, which finished yesterday at $30, sold above $26.

Accuse Capital of Broken Faith

Vancouver, B. C. Oct. 6.—(AP)—Delegates to the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor swung today into the business of planning for the return of industrial stability with capital accused of having "broken faith" in lowering wages.

Committees, on the second day of the convention, prepared resolutions and articles designed to head the national body toward its "seven milestones of prosperity."

William Green, the president, in a speech charged that employers had violated pledges they made to President Hoover and organized labor of the nation at a Washington conference to maintain the wage standard of the United States.

Labor, he said, asked to guard against strikes and avoid the "unrest always fomented before in the times of depression" has "never violated its pledges."

Hoover Approves Conference For Vets Officials

Washington, Oct. 6.—(AP)—President Hoover today approved plans for a seven-day conference of Veterans' administration officials here, designed to secure economy and expedite "direct relief to the veterans of all wars."

The conference will begin October 26. Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs, said after a conference at the White House that Mr. Hoover approved of the move, which was designed also to devise "ways and means to simplify the procedure of the combined activities presented in the veterans' administration."

The American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the disabled American veterans of the world war, Hines said, will be invited to the conference along with managers of the Veterans' administration's field activities.

CAPONE SURE OF ACQUITTAL

Gang Chief Declares He Will Win Out If He is Given a Fair Trial.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Alphonse Capone's challenge to the Federal Government to try to convict him as an income tax evader reached the show-down stage today, with the gang chief expressing confidence of acquittal if, as he put it, he is given a "fair trial."

"And by fair trial I mean that jurors receive the evidence with open mind and reserve their judgment on my guilt or innocence until all the facts are in," the gang lord said on the eve of his trial in which the prosecution alleges he failed to pay $215,000 on a six year income of $1,038,654.

"But," he added, "if I'm unfortunate enough not to get a typical American jury, I will be in the hands of men who will convict me because my name is Alphonse Capone, regardless of the nature of the testimony."

"I have never answered any charge or defended myself before, but I don't think it's right for a man to go to jail to satisfy an antipathy that has grown up around me. If I must be judged I want to be judged as a human being, as myself, not as a spook born of a million minds."

The "spook" reference was to a contention by Capone that he is only a mythical figure in the minds of the public, who really has had no existence in fact.

"If people," he said, "would only remember that I am just 32 years old, and that it is utterly impossible for one human being to do all the things I am charged with doing, they would see how ridiculous this opinion of me is."

"Look at me. I'm Al Capone. Am I the man who moves through the public mind. I am not. They've dressed me up to suit themselves. I belong to them. They've made me into a man that never existed. And yet if Al Capone is found guilty, who is going to suffer—the masquerading ghost, or the man who stands here before you? You are right—it'll be me that goes to jail."

Capone said he pleaded guilty to the income tax charges two months ago because of the expense of a trial and because it was the "easiest way out." He later changed it to "Not guilty" when it became certain Judge James H. Wilkerson would not be bound by any agreement between the prosecution and Capone for a short sentence in consideration for his admission of guilt.

Should the jury in the present trial convict him on all counts of the indictment he will be liable to a maximum sentence of 32 years and a fine of $80,000.

Unemployment Mounts in N. C.

Raleigh, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Twenty per cent of the workers available in North Carolina's larger cities are unemployed and an estimated total of 178,016 persons available for work in the state are out of jobs, a new survey of the State Department of Labor, announced today, reveals.

In the eight cities with 25,000 or more population, a total of 35,488 persons are unemployed.

The common laborer class was in the lead among the classes of unemployed, having 24 per cent of the total.

Factory workers, domestic help, building trade workers, agricultural help, office workers, sales people, auto mechanics and machinists.

ISSUE CALL FOR BANK STATEMENTS

Washington, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The Comptroller of the Currency issued a call today for the condition of all National banks at the close of business Tuesday, September 29.

Thomas Edison Reported Near Death's Door

West Orange, N. J., Oct. 6.—(AP)—Thomas A. Edison was in a semi-conscious condition today, and his death is but a matter of days, his personal physician announced this morning. The physician, Dr. Hubert S. Howe, said that the aged inventor's mental condition was "fethargic."

Dr. Howe made this statement after issuing his daily morning bulletin in which he said that Mr. Edison had spent a fair night and that there was little change in his condition.

Mr. Edison now is carried, Dr. Howe said, from his bed to his chair. Up until yesterday he could walk the several feet between them, assisted by his attendants.

U. S. STUNNED BY DEATH OF SEN. MORROW

Funeral Services to be Held at Englewood Tomorrow Afternoon at 3 O'clock.

Englewood, N. J., Oct. 6.—(AP)—There was speculation today as to what effect his passing would have upon politics, and there was world wide appraisal of his accomplishments in finance and statecraft; but dominating all else here was the stunning realization that Dwight W. Morrow, who but a day before had appeared in excellent health, was suddenly dead.

From everywhere, leaders of nations, of industries, arts, finance and religion sent expressions of their grief at news of his death, which occurred yesterday.

In Mexico City, where his most notable diplomatic services were performed as United States Ambassador; in Englewood where his home has been for 30 years; in New York where he built his fortune with the Morgan interests; and in China and Japan where his daughter Anne and her husband Col. Charles A. Lindbergh are vacationing there were equal manifestations of grief.

A United States Senator from New Jersey, a man believed by many to have been on the threshold of even greater political distinction than already had come to him, Dwight Morrow died in his sleep at 1:52 P. M. yesterday. A cerebral hemorrhage was the cause of death. He was 58 years old.

He had retired in good spirit, although over the weekend he had complained somewhat of being tired. Three physicians and members of his immediate family were at his bedside when death came. His secretary had become alarmed two hours earlier when efforts to arouse Mr. Morrow failed. He never regained consciousness.

His rule in life from the time he attended Amherst college as a classmate of Calvin Coolidge to the time of his death, when he had achieved fame, riches, position, honor and the regard of his countrymen, was "don't take yourself too darned (Continued on Page Three)

TWO FLIERS ARE PRAISED

Pangborn and Herndon Showered With Comfort at Wenatche, Washington.

Wenatche, Wash., Oct. 6.—(AP)—Out of the errors of their historic non-stop flight across the Pacific came affluence, praise and rest today for Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, Jr.

Wenatche and the State of Washington in general went to heretofore unwarmed pains to shower two aviators with comfort. Townspeople ferreted about the depression and raised a purse of $500 to provide the fliers spending money.

Pangborn and Herndon were without a cent when they landed here yesterday morning to complete their 4,877 mile flight from Samushiro Beach, Japan. Before the first cheers had died away a representative of a Tokyo newspaper handed them an order entitling them to $25,000—prize money which long had been posted by that province for the first non-stop airplane flight between Japan and the United States.

But the $25,000 order didn't provide any immediate spending money and the collection was taken up to take care of that situation.

Wenatche staged a spontaneous celebration. From its 15,000 persons about 10,000 collected to make the fliers welcome. The flight was praised in an address by Lieutenant Governor John A. Gellatly and described by Mayor W. I. Whidby as greater than Colonel Lindbergh's flight over the Atlantic.

A movement was started to have the $25,000 prize offered four years ago for a non-stop flight between Tokyo and Seattle given to Pangborn and Herndon.

This morning the fliers were allowed to sleep late, but were called upon to go to a neighboring city for a luncheon and a community banquet.

MAIL PLANE FALLS IN BAY

Ship Believed to be Shipped to Shore-New York Disappears in Water Near Halifax.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 6.—(AP)—The crash of a plane believed to be the ship-to-shore "New York" carrying mail from the liner Bremen was reported today by William Faulkner, light keeper at Bur Coat.

Whizzing along in the darkness, the craft was heard to come down heavily on Cobeguid Bay, he said, and exploded over the bay. They could find no trace of the men or plane.

A mail plane manned by Frib Simon, pilot, and Rudolph Wauchneck, mechanic, took off from the North German Lloyd liner Bremen yesterday when she was 630 miles off Cape Race, N. F., in an attempt to get the mail to New York 29 hours faster than the liner could reach there.

Flying blind through fog and against headwinds, they reached Sydney N. S., last night, and took to the air again about midnight.

Lightkeeper Faulkner said that when he heard the shouts over the bay he tried to get a boat off, but the water was so low it was impossible for more than an hour.

Sanizing a searching party in Noel, Hants county, he then proceeded in the direction from which shouts were still coming. After they went a short distance the crisis stopped and no trace of a plane was found.

Says Industry Must Replace U. S. Indolence

Winston-Salem, Oct. 6.—(AP)—America has become a land of indolence and laxity, and the future of the people will not be assured as a strong and healthy nation until industry replaces indolence and denial is substituted for indulgence.

Perry W. Weidner grand master of Knights Templar in America told members of the order gathered here from North Carolina and Virginia.

The grand master, whose home is in Los Angeles, is spending several days here on his way to Washington. He addressed several hundred persons at a banquet in his honor last night.

PROBE KANE MURDER CASE

Several Persons Give Testimony in Circuit Court at Hampton, Virginia.

Hampton, Va., Oct. 6.—(AP)—Witnesses were examined today by the grand jury in Elizabeth City county circuit court in its investigation of a charge of murder brought against Elisha Kent Kane III University of Tennessee professor, accused of drowning his wife.

The witnesses summoned to court included those who testified at the recent preliminary hearing that heard a woman screaming on the morning the drowning occurred and saw a man walking from the water onto the beach with an object in his arms. W. C. Graham, father of the dead woman, was among the witnesses.

The first witness called was Dr. Harry D. Howe, who examined the body when it was first brought to the hospital. Other witnesses in the court were Dr. George K. Vandy, the coroner who returned a verdict that Mrs. Kane came to her death by drowning at the hands of her husband; W. H. Graham, brother of the dead woman; and O. S. Ferguson, M. S. Firman, J. T. Holloway and G. T. Rollins, claimants, who said they heard a woman screaming as if in distress.

JEFFRESS INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Raleigh, Oct. 6.—(AP)—E. B. Jeffress of Greensboro, chairman of the State Highway commission, suffered what are believed to be only slight injuries and A. J. Joyner of High Point was more seriously hurt this morning when automobiles driven by the two men collided about 2 1/2 miles from this city on the western boulevard cut-off of the Raleigh-Greensboro highway.

At noon Mr. Jeffress was being examined at Rex hospital but it was not thought that his injuries were serious.

Upon his arrival in Raleigh he himself called his office and said he had suffered a slight scalp wound and a possible fractured rib, but did not think he was otherwise injured. He said his car was badly wrecked. Other details were not set for today, but was postponed.

SUPREME COURT HEARS ARGUMENT ON 'CHAIN' STORES

Raleigh, Oct. 6.—(AP)—The United States Supreme Court will hear arguments on the constitutionality of North Carolina's tax on chain stores on October 13, according to a notice sent Attorney General Brummitt.

Chain store operators are fighting the law, which provides for a license of $50 for each store above one operated in the state by a single concern.

The hearing had previously been set for today, but was postponed.

TO SPEAK HERE

Official Report of the Sales for Yesterday Shows Market Sold 1,346,184 Pounds of Bright Leaf at Average of $11.76 Per Hundred Pounds; Block Created by the Heaviest Sale of the Season to be Cleared up this Afternoon.

Maintaining the advance started last Friday, prices jumped nearly $3.00 per hundred pounds on the Greenville tobacco market yesterday and set the highest record for the season, according to the official report of sales made public this morning by K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales.

The report showed the market sold a total of 1,346,184 pounds of tobacco for a total sum of $158,230.61 at a general average of $11.76 per hundred pounds.

The increased average was second on the largest sale of the season and produced considerable elation among the several hundred farmers who offered their tobacco for sale.

The market blocked for the second time this season, but farmers were expected to be cleared this afternoon about 3 o'clock the supervisor of sales indicated.

The general price improvement, noted last Friday, was marked by spirited bidding by the various buying interests operating on the local market and this condition was especially in evidence yesterday when competition was keen of medium and good tobacco.

Farmers who had been down in the dumps because of the flopping prices prior to last Friday, took an extra tug at their belts yesterday and thought the world was a little bit rounder after all.

Rouneats expressed themselves as highly gratified at the favorable turn in the price situation, and the marketing of bright leaf is expected to continue rapidly in the face of climbing prices.

The following reports of sales on some of the other markets yesterday follow:

Wilson, Oct. 5.—From the opening of the tobacco market here today until its close for the evening the bidding was very spirited on all of the better grades of tobacco, with no change in the prices of the common grades. One patron of the market averaged $41.33 for one of his barns straight through. His prices ranged from $20 to $54.

There was more tobacco here to day from a long distance than at any time during this season.

Geo. Watwright, supervisor of sales, reports pounds for the day 1,115,395 average $9.76.

$9.46 at Wendell Wendell, Oct. 5.—Sales on the local market amounted to 189,622 pounds today for which growers were paid $18,301.14. This made an average for the total sale of $9.60 per hundred. Black tips and lugs still predominate, holding steady on all grades, and very satisfactory on good smoking tobacco. Past selling disposed of what looked like a blocked sale in ample time for all farmers to get away by dark.

Robersonville, Oct. 5.—Sales of tobacco on the Robersonville market today were 190,190 pounds which brought $21,556.73, an average of $11.73 per hundred. Good bright grades are in active demand. One pile brought 85 cents per pound and it was not bought by warehousemen. Prices generally are looking better.

Heavy Break in Henderson Henderson, Oct. 5.—A heavy break of tobacco was on sale in the five Henderson warehouses today as the third week of the season began, and while there was no definite information as to prices, it was understood the levels of last week were being well maintained and possibly even being surpassed. The offerings were believed to be in greater volume than any day of the season so far, with the possible exception of the opening day.

SAM

By Freeman Lincoln

SYNOPSIS: Both Freddy Munson, newspaper reporter, and Peak Abbott, wealthy newspaper owner, love Sam Sherrill. She finally promises to marry Peak. Her stepfather, Fourth Alderson, mysteriously becomes rich through the sale of an impractical invention. Sam discovers that Peay, anonymously, has backed the purchase. She breaks her engagement and runs away.

Chapter 36

UNOPENED TELEGRAMS

The main highway was broad and black; city-bred and arrogant. It swept smoothly to the top of a long hill and offered a momentary glimpse of blue sea.

The Taylor place was two miles beyond, far out on the point; just as far out, in fact, as a house could be and still remain on dry land. It was reached, if anyone cared to bother, by a little road that consisted merely of two deep sandy cuts which overcame casual obstructions by the simple method of circling them.

Wally Rogers, a tall, incredibly thin fourteen-year-old in the olive drab of a telegraph company messenger, found nothing impressive in the sight of the Taylor place. He pursued his lips and whistled three or four times but there was no answer. Finally he shrugged as though he had expected no better reception, and walked into the house.

He entered a long, low ceilinged room that was in considerable confusion. An astonishing pile of furniture shut off his vision almost completely. He moved cautiously into a more advantageous position. Beyond the pile of furniture the floor was entirely bare except for its exact center, where knelt a girl in a faded green smock. There was a can of paint beside her and she held a brush in one hand. A spot of bright yellow decorated the tip of her nose.

Wally pulled off his cap. "Miss Sherrill?"

"Oh, it's you," Sam Sherrill sank back on her heels sighed and shook her head. "You can't really be telling me that you've brought another?"

"Yes ma'am," Wally nodded with more than a hint of reproach and delivered a yellow envelope. "That makes nine in the last fortnight."

"Nine?" Sam stared at the telegram incriminously and shook her head again. "Have you really walked out here nine times in two weeks? It's a shame!"

"Yes ma'am," Wally shrugged. "Nine times out and nine times back. I don't know as I ever knew anybody to get so many telegrams."

"It's a shame," Sam struggled to her feet with a groan. "Something really ought to be done to stop it. Here," she said smiling, and held out a dollar bill, "maybe this will help."

"Thank you," he seized the note and grinned broadly.

"That's all right, Wally. You're perfectly welcome," Sam nodded absently and walked over to the mantel where she placed the yellow envelope carefully on the top of a neat pile of similar envelopes.

Wally regarded her with considerable astonishment. Wasn't she going to open it? "Ain't there—" he stammered—"I mean, isn't there any answer, Miss Sherrill?"

"Ain't you going to open it?" he asked, "I mean, isn't there any answer, Miss Sherrill?"

Wally stared. Then an overpowering curiosity achieved the upper hand. "But, M's Sherrill," he stammered, "Ain't you going to read it? Ain't you going to pen it at all?"

In the doorway, Sam turned. "No," she said with a little smile, "I'm not going to read it. You see, Wally, I haven't ready any of the nine. Not at all. Funny, isn't it?"

He gasped. "Yes ma'am!"

She continued to smile. "It is funny, I suppose, when you stop to think of it. Do you find it funny, Wally?"

He struggled for speech. Then he said weakly: "It don't seem, somehow, as if it made much sense."

"That's right, it doesn't make much sense. It's silly," she nodded thoughtfully and came to a sudden decision. "Perhaps we'd better get a stop to it. Have you a blank form with you?"

He gave her a form and a pencil and closed while she wrote a brief message which she handed him in company with another dollar bill. "Just send this for me, will you, please? You can keep the change. You can also read it, if you're interested."

He needed no second invitation. The message was addressed to a Mr. William F. Alderson. It read: "Use 'em for anyone to send letters and telegrams. I don't open them. 'How's that?' she inquired brightly. It may save you a lot of trouble."

"Yes, ma'am. I guess so. I guess maybe it will."

Sam returned to finish her task of painting the floor. She had already covered more than half of its broad-boarded surface, using a bright, mustard yellow paint. She felt that it should be effective when finished, but effective or not it gave her something to do. It had prevented her, so far, from thinking. She dipped to brush into the paint and smiled, thinking of Wally. Poor Wally had been dumfounded. Probably he thought she was utterly insane, and perhaps he was right. Fourth would probably think she was insane, too, when he got that telegram. She felt a little bit sorry for Fourth. He had undoubtedly been having a fairly tough time in the last two weeks. The whole business had been such a bewildering surprise, and such a nasty shock to his vanity. She could still see the expression on his face when she had broken the news. He hadn't believed, at first, but she had finally convinced him.

The hardest task she had had that night had been her attempt to make Fourth understand her own attitude. He could not see why he was going away. He tried very hard to see, but he failed completely. That was only natural, and on the whole he had behaved splendidly. He had been exceptionally decent about the money end of the thing, promising to give back every cent that still remained in the bank. He said that it didn't matter; that he'd go back to selling books. That was all very well if the job was still open, but perhaps someone else had it now. Perhaps he should go back to the city at once and hunt for a job. Could she do that? Could she possibly summon the strength to face all her friends? Could she face Fourth and Nelson, and Peak Abbott?

She put down her brush, suddenly feeling dizzy. The turpentine, or whatever they put in paint, did it. Her head ached. The floor would have to wait until tomorrow when she felt better. In the meantime she would go for a sail in the Baybird. That might help. She took off her smock, put on a heavy sweater and left the house by the door toward the sea.

The sea was beautiful. It stretched all across the horizon beyond the North Beach, a deep, brilliant blue. A tramp steamer, Boston bound, left a long trail of black smoke behind that hung motionless just over the water. There was not much wind, but there would be enough.

The sun was low in the west when she returned to her mooring at the foot of the bluff. The sun and the salt and the solitude had done their work. Her head no longer ached.

She made everything shipshape on the sailboat, rowed ashore in the white skiff and slowly climbed the twisting path that led up to the bluff. Her outfit she reflected, had been utterly profitless in regard to any decision concerning the future.

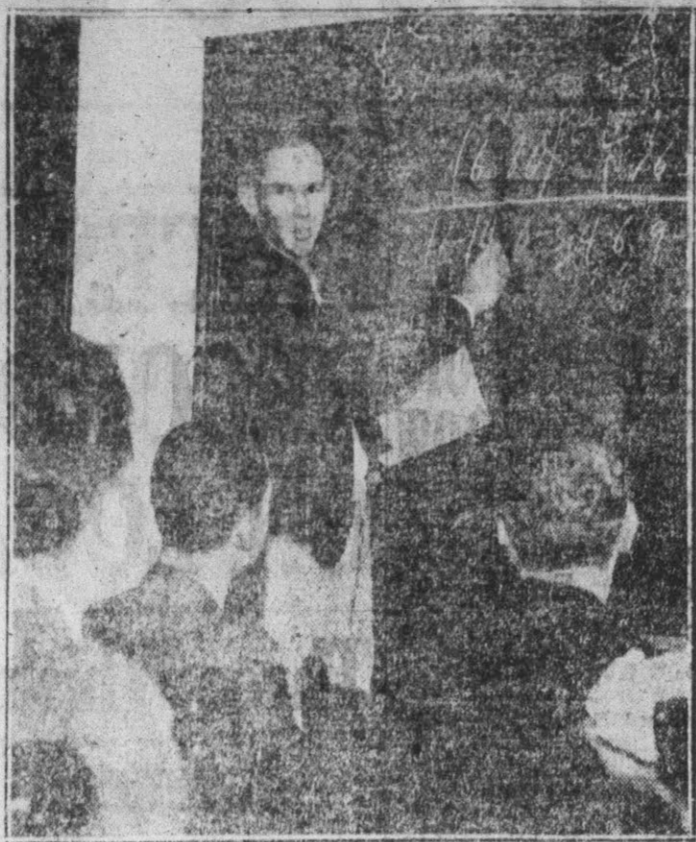

She had reached the top of the bluff and was half way across the stretch of grass to the front door when she glanced up and saw that a man was sitting on the front step with his chin in his hands. He was wearing a long black city overcoat and a derby hat. Sam stopped in surprise and took half a step forward. Then she gasped. "Why Freddy!" she said slowly. "Why Freddy Munson!"

Is Freddy making one last try to win Sam? She is disturbed, tomorrow, by the reason for his visit.

McGOWAN & CANNON MARKET REPORT

Sales yesterday largest of the season. Prices were much better than since the market opened. We believe you will get more money for your tobacco if marketed now, especially the better grades. October has always been the banner month in which to sell your tobacco. Greenville today is the largest tobacco market in the world. If you are not selling your tobacco with us, come around and watch our sales and we will convince you that we sell it higher. We sold yesterday 220,118 pounds for $27,633.73, average $12.55 per hundred pounds. We believe this is the highest average that has been made for this number of pounds since the market opened. FARM NOTES

(By E. F. ARNOLD, Co. Agr.)
Roy Bowling, J. R. Lewis, John T. Thorne, J. C. Galloway, R. L. Little were among the farmers from Pitt county attending the dairy cow sale held in Washington Saturday, October 3. John T. Thorne bought four of the most promising cows in this offering to be placed on his farm near Farmville where he contemplates operating a dairy for the purpose of selling butterfat.

In connection with the dairy, he is carrying a herd of pure bred Poland China hogs and a flock of standard bred Barred Rock Leghorns. Mr. Thorne was recently elected president of the farm club organized at Farmville for the purpose of promoting better farm practices in Pitt County. Mr. Thorne believes in practicing what you preach and, consequently, is stocking his farm with live stock for the purpose of consuming the roughage in grain grown on his place from acres formerly devoted to tobacco. When a man like Mr. Thorne, who studies a problem, decided that live-stock is necessary for farming under present conditions, there must be a reason. The following data seems to justify Mr. Thorne's decision to sell the roughage on his farm through dairy cows and other live stock. Below are figures on what one good dairy cow will do:

The data given below shows the cash return for a cow producing 6000 pounds of 4.5 percent milk containing 270 pounds of fat, also the quantity of feed required to produce this milk and the prices she will pay for it when the fat is sold at the present market price, 28 cents per pound.

270 lbs. fat @ 28c $75.60
5100 lbs. skim milk @ 30c
Cwt $15.90
Total $90.90

Returns for feed consumed:
14.3 bu. corn at $1.25 bu. . . $17.90
12.5 bu. oats @ $1.00 bu. . . 12.50
21.4 tons hay @ $18.00 ton 40.50
600 lbs. cotton seed meal @ $20.00 ton 6.00
200 lbs. wheat bran @ $20.00 ton 2.00
6 months pasture @ $2.00 12.00
Total $90.90

In addition to paying $1.25 per bushel for corn, $1.00 for oats, and $18.00 per ton for legume hay this cow will leave on the farm in the form of manure approximately $28.00 worth of plant food which was contained in the one ton of grain and 21.4 tons of hay which she consumes.

RAT CAMPAIGN

Last year a rat campaign was put on in Pitt County. A large number of farmers bought and put out rat poison which was mixed and sold to them at cost by the Biological Survey Department from Washington, D. C. Farmers generally reported satisfactory results from this campaign. However, since all the farmers did not join in this campaign and since rats travel from farm to farm, even these farms may be reinfested with rats. It is estimated that on an average the loss to each of the 6,766 farms in Pitt County is $20.00 per farm or an annual total loss to Pitt County of $135,320. Fifty cents worth of bait is sufficient to poison rats on the average farm. If every farmer in Pitt County could be induced to join in the campaign, which will be held on October 23, it would mean the saving of the above amount of money to the growers of this county. Full details of the campaign will be published from time to time in the paper and every farmer will be given an opportunity and urged to participate in this campaign. Cards will be mailed out to the growers which will advise them as to cost and as to what steps they should take in order to participate in the rat campaign. A number of places will be designated and published later where farmers can go on the date of the campaign and secure bait ready for distribution on the premises. In this effort to rid Pitt County of rats, Red Squill will be mixed with hamburger, fish and cereal for bait. All rats like one or the other of these three. It is the safest and best poison known to science for killing rats and will not kill humans, dogs, cats, poultry or hogs when used as directed.

Ehringhaus For Relief of Taxes

Raleigh, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Tax relief for small, owner-operated farms and owner-occupied homes of limited value today stood among the things upon which C. B. Ehringhaus will base his campaign for governor.

In a radio address here last night the candidate said:

"I have proposed and shall urge a constitutional amendment which will give the Legislature the right to classify for such favorable consideration as it may determine, owner-operated farms of small value and owner-occupied homes of limited value, with a proviso to prevent duplications in the same occupying household."

"I cherish an ideal of ultimate exemption of land from taxes, but I do recognize the necessity for some definite contribution to stop this tendency before it overwhelms our commonwealth and furnishes here the seed for revolutionary propaganda or action in the future as it has in other countries in the past."

He was referring to what he called "the tendency toward the increase of tenancy in North Carolina and the consequent enslavement of men to the soil rather than his dominion over it" and "too great concentration of land holding and a dangerous increase in dependence of tenant upon landlord."

SALE OF REAL ESTATE

Under and by virtue of the power and authority contained in a decree entered by the Superior Court of Pitt County on the 14th day of September, 1931, in that certain Civil Action entitled "Atlantic Joint Stock Land Bank of Raleigh vs. Walter D. Bland and wife, Celia Bland et als," the undersigned Commissioner appointed therein, will offer for sale for CASH, before the Court House door in the town of Greenville, On Monday, October 19, 1931 at 12 o'clock Noon the following described real estate, to-wit:

All that certain piece, parcel or tract of land, situate, lying and being in Swift Creek Township, Pitt County, North Carolina, on both sides of the County Road, leading from Greenville to Gardner's Cross Roads, and adjoining the lands of Sarah F. Bland and Carrie L. Bland on the North and Carrie L. Bland and Henry Venters on the East, the Gardner lands on the South, and the lands known as the F. G. Gardner tract, the Wiley Jones tract and the William Kirkman lands on the West and Southwest, containing 266.4 acres and more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at a stake the Southeast corner of the F. G. Gardner tract of land on the public county road leading from Greenville to Gardner's Cross Roads and to New Bern, and running thence with the old Gardner line 87 degrees 3 minutes East 5923 feet to William Gardner's third corner, centered by blazed gums; thence North 14 degrees 3 minutes East with Henry Venters line 1073 feet to the run of Clay Root Swamp; thence with the run of Clay Root Swamp South 79 degrees 30 minutes West 668 feet; thence North 26 degrees 15 minutes West with Carrie L. Bland's line 1072.5 feet; thence with Carrie L. Bland's and Sarah F. Bland's line South 83 degrees 45 minutes West 6831 feet to Sarah F. Bland's corner in William Kirkman's line; thence with William Kirkman's line South 19 degrees 57 minutes to the corner of Jones ten acre tract; thence North 87 degrees 3 minutes East with Wiley Jones line 438 feet; thence again with Wiley Jones line South 19 degrees 57 minutes East 708 feet to F. G. Gardner's Northwest corner; thence with the said Gardner line North 87 degrees East 833 feet; thence with the said Gardner line South 15 degrees East 330 feet to the beginning, and comprising the lands conveyed to Walter D. Bland by deed from W. B. Bland and wife, Carrie L. Bland, and recorded in Book K-13, page 294, and deed from J. G. Edwards and wife, Sallie Edwards, recorded in Book B-14, page 113, Pitt County Registry.

This the 16th day of Sept., 1931.

U. S. STUNNED BY DEATH OF SEN. D. W. MORROW

President Hoover, attending the World Series game in Philadelphia, was not told of Senator Morrow's death until he was about to return to Washington. Later the President said:

"The country has suffered a great loss. His loyal and generous character as a neighbor and a friend; his public spirit as a citizen; his services during the war; his accomplishments as Ambassador to Mexico; his unique contribution to the success of the London Naval conference, are the record of that sort of an American who makes our country great."

Thousands of messages of condolence came to the Morrow home on the outskirts of the city. Many hundreds of friends journeyed to the home to express personally their grief.

A police guard was posted about the Morrow estate last night as the crush of visitors continued to grow. Only members of congress-New Jersey state officials banking associates of Mr. Morrow and his own circle of friends and relatives were permitted to enter to pay their respects.

Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh who was the second daughter of the Morrows received word of the tragedy from Mrs. Morrow. It was relayed to the Lindberghs aboard a British battleship off the China coast by the British naval station radio at Shanghai. The message urged them not to hurry home or to change their vacation plans.

Funeral services will take place tomorrow at 3 P. M. at the first Presbyterian church of Englewood of which the Rev. Dr. Carl H. Elmore, a personal friend of the Morrows, is pastor.

He left his wife, Elizabeth Reeve Cutter, three daughters Elizabeth, Anne Lindgergh and Constance, and a son Dwight, W. Jr.

German Foreign Minister Quits

Berlin, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Julius Curtius, whose policies have been the center of repeated political storms, today submitted his resignation to Chancellor Bruening. Official circles understood it would be accepted.

In his letter to the chancellor, he said:

"In a conversation we had the day after my return from Geneva I made clear to you that without regard for the parliamentary situation I wanted to resign from the government. I now deem it in every way to my retirement to be cleared up. I therefore beg you to recommend to the Reich President my discharge."

His withdrawal was considered as a removal of one of the difficult obstacles facing Chancellor Bruening in obtaining the parliamentary support his government will need when the Reichstag convenes October 13.

times have been hard and taxes hard to pay and for this reason many persons are willing to listen when some self-appointed Moses presents himself to deliver our people out of the wilderness of their distress but before our thinking people heed the call of such a one we urge them to consider carefully the sincerity of those who would be the leading and not be led into greater disaster. We say this and say it earnestly for we do not feel that those who would be willing to stoop to mob violence would be a fit Moses to lead us out of our trouble and it was just a few days ago that Judge Wooten appearing before a gathering in the court house here endeavored to get passage on a resolution that would revive the spirit of the Ku Klux Klan of the 60's to take over the plight of our people. This is no time for Ku Kluxism. Communism or any other kind of ism among our people other than the use of good sound common sense and judgment and knowing that our people are blessed with the average amount of intelligence we urge them to use it at this time by turning thumbs down on any proposition that might be handed out to them by forces that apparently seek to destroy rather than build up.

ABOUT TOWN

A farm club was organized in Farmville recently and good results already are being obtained. John T. Thorne, president of the club, precipitated the improvement movement by turning his attention to dairying and growing of live stock. He has bought some of the most promising cows of the section and will operate a dairy for the sale of butterfat. In addition to this, he will carry a herd of pure-bred Poland China hogs and a flock of standard Banded Rock Leghorns. Acreage formerly devoted to tobacco will be planted in roughage for consumption by live stock. Mr. Thorne for years has been one of the leaders of thought in the agricultural realm and what he has to say regarding development of farming is always received with interest. He believes that growing of livestock is necessary under existing economic conditions, and that other farmers will adopt the method as they reach out to increase their income is not to be doubted.

BAD BREATH may be due to BILIOUSNESS

"My breath would get bad, and often I would get up in the morning with an awful taste in my mouth," says Mr. Silas Hamblin, of Cambria, Va. "My skin was yellow, and I felt pretty poorly, generally. An old friend recommended that I try Black-Draught for this. I found it an excellent medicine and have used it ever since, when I needed anything for constipation. I find a small dose, taken occasionally, keeps me in good shape." This old, well-known, reliable laxative medicine costs only one cent a dose. Sold by all druggists.

if more farmers do not aid in the campaign. Scores of farmers have practically freed their plantations of rodents, but they are threatened by a return because other farmers did not join the extermination campaign. Rat poison is furnished at cost by the Biological Survey of Washington in the hope of aiding farmers in their effort to free their premises of such a destructive element and hope has been expressed by agricultural leaders that more people will take advantage of the offer and do their part toward driving rats from the county. The annual loss is estimated at $20 per farm. Think what a saving this would represent over a period of years. It is worth the consideration of every man and woman interested in conservation of their farm products, and those who try the poison plan should realize good results in the years to come.

The death of Dwight W. Morrow, father-in-law of Charles Lindbergh, and former ambassador to Mexico, shocked the nation as no other event has shocked it in years. He was snatched from life while near the perdition of the brilliant career, and Americans in all parts of the nation will mourn his loss. He was one of the few really great men of the nation being considered for the presidency, and while it is impossible to say whether he ever would have reached the high office, he was in position to render the nation distinguished service. Only few men live to gain such affluence and public consideration as was accorded Morrow during his span of life, and his service in cementing the bonds that link the United States and Mexico will forever stand out among his greatest achievements.

Battling with all the skill of one of the world's greatest baseball organizations, St. Louis Cardinals yesterday won the third game of the championship series from Philadelphia Athletics to make it two out of three for the honor of capturing the highest honor in the realm of baseball. Burleigh Grimes, veteran of many a game, came very near hanging up a new major league record when he held the Athletics hitless for the first several innings but lost it in the ninth, frame when the opposition sent two runners home. It was one of the most exciting games of the series and was rated as the sixth two-hit game in world series history. Hoyt having galloped a similar honor for the Yankees against the Giants in 1921. The next games will be looked forward to with eager anticipation by thousands of followers of both clubs throughout the nation because they will be decisive and will settle the question as to the 1931 champions.

NEWS BRIEFS From Over The City and County

HELD UNDER BOND FOR SPLITTING MAN'S HEAD OPEN WITH WEED HOE

Charged with splitting Herbert Lewis' head with a hoe, Pate Allen, who lives a few miles west of the city, was out under bond today pending the recovery of the injured man. Pate was arrested by county officers and placed in jail shortly after the assault, but was later released under bond of $500. The two men engaged in a dispute near Allen's home when Allen was alleged to have attacked Pate with the hoe. Although his condition was considered critical, physicians held out hope for the recovery of Lewis barring complications.

BROTHER OF LOCAL MAN DEAD AT HOOKERTON

Claude Dall, of Hookerton, brother of W. S. Dall, of Greenville, died at Parrott Memorial hospital at Kinston last night about eight o'clock from a complication of diseases, according to information reaching relatives here today. He will be buried at Dall homeplace in Greene county tomorrow. The deceased is also a brother of J. C. Dall, mayor of Kinston. He was 39 years of age.

CHILD STRANGLED TO DEATH IN KIDDIE COOP

The year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Sutton of Beaver Dam township lost his life last week when he got hung in his kiddie coop and strangled to death. The child had been left in the house while his mother went out into the yard to look after some work. While away, he got caught between the lift and the chair and was dead when his parent returned.

COUNTY COURT FACED BY HEAVY DOCKET TODAY

The regular weekly session of the county court was in progress today and it was indicated that work would not be completed before tomorrow. The docket was a congested one by reason of the fact that no court was held last week due to the sitting of the civil term of Superior court.

THREE WHISKEY DEALERS SENTENCED TO THE PEN

(Continued from Page One) of the probation officer with a year and a day suspended sentence to the penitentiary hanging over his head. R. D. Harrington, extensive property owner in and around Greenville, was sentenced to three years at Atlanta. The defendant was given time to settle up his business and will not begin service until January 1. His bond was fixed at $5000.

Harrington was arrested by federal officers during a series of raids in this community about three weeks ago. He was said to have had approximately twenty gallons of whiskey in his automobile at the time of capture and the automobile was also confiscated. Officers were said to have previously obtained evidence against him on the same charge. He was charged with possession and transportation and sale.

J. A. Corey farmer of the Carolina community was also sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. Officers were reported to have obtained about 24 gallons of whiskey in a raid on his home.

Louis Clark, high school boy, nabbed by federal officers for the sale of whiskey was turned over to probation officers upon payment of a fine of $5. A suspended sentence of a year and a day was imposed in his case. The 18-year-old youth probably would have gone the same way as the remainder of the offenders had it not been for his age.

COUNTY WILL ADVERTISE TAXES SOON; SUITS COSTLY

notice of the injunction obtained by S. T. Hooker and others to prevent the collection of 1931 taxes and prepared to contest the action. The complaint filed in connection with the restraining order alleged fictitious and excessive valuations for the 1931 levy. The county commissioners were required to appear before Judge Prizzelle here on the 17 of the month to answer to the cause.

The commissioners expressed belief that the suit would cost the county from $1,000 to $1,500. It will also prevent the collection of between $100,000 and $150,000 during the month as well as proving expensive to taxpayers because of increased penalty.

The action will not only work a great hardship upon the people generally, it was said, but would prevent the county from receiving funds, probably necessitating the borrowing of money to care for expenses of government which would not have been necessary had the county been allowed to proceed with its collection program.

It was stated that approximately $31,600 paid in advance on 1931 levy had enabled the county to operate this far without borrowing. Several restraining orders of a similar nature were brought against the county last year, but were dismissed as "frivolous" by the Supreme court. The suits, it was stated, cost the county from $2,000 to $2,500 in unnecessary expense to say nothing of the inconvenience incurred in the collection of taxes.

Restraining orders, it was pointed out, not only delay collection of taxes and impair efficiency of government, but increase the expenses of the taxpayers. In view of the handicaps faced by the county in the new tax suit, it was stated that the commissioners would endeavor to protect the interests of the taxpayers by putting forth every effort to get thru the year without adding extra cost for borrowed money.

The commissioners said they welcomed suggestions from those interested in constructive government, and would do everything in their power to live up to any proposition for improving conditions.

The commissioners sometime ago announced that tax collections would be transferred from sheriff's office to R. L. Barnhill, appointed as official tax collector. This action was taken to reduce expenses and increase efficiency of collections, it was said.

Last year the county paid to the sheriff's office a total sum of $19,287.50. This year the same office will receive $10,820, a decrease of $8,467.50. The appropriation for the tax collector for this year was $8,010.00, a saving of $437.50 as compared with the old system.

GRIMES TELLS ABOUT THAT 2-HIT GAME

By GALE TALBOT
Philadelphia, Oct. 6.—(AP)—He's just an old syndicate writer, this Burt Grimes, but if you stick around long enough and talk baseball he'll unburden himself, sure as the world.

Last night this latest world series hero, clean shaven and immensely pleased with the world in general, moved from chair to chair in the lobby of the Cardinals' hotel and accepted congratulations from hundreds of milling fans and baseball men. They thought right well of that two-hit game the veteran pitched against the Athletics, and so, for that matter, did Grimes.

Telegrams were pouring in from every part of the country. They stated coming in a few minutes after the last out had been made and they still were coming at intervals at a late hour. Grimes read each one with meticulous care and chuckled.

"I'll tell you, boys," he said, when cornered by a bevy of correspondents. "I can't talk for publication. I'm giving my reactions to a syndicate, and it wouldn't be right. I've gotta play fair with my syndicate."

One may appreciate Mr. Grimes' dilemma. It was a very delicate situation, a situation calling for tact.

"But, Mr. Grimes, it surely would be all right for you to tell us how you felt about losing a no-hit game when it was right in your grasp. After all, a no-hit game would have been mighty fine, especially in a world series. What was it, Burt? Miller hit there in the eighth inning?"

The veteran, still clean shaven, pondered a moment.

"Well, it was a fast ball, right smack down the middle. All he had to do was to stick out his bat and hit it. I could have hit it myself."

"Why did you give him a fast one like that, when it looked like you were going to come up with a no-hitter?"

"It was like this," Grimes explained. "I didn't care so much about that part of it as I did about winning the ball game. We needed it. There already was a man on base and nobody out. I didn't want to take a chance on walking him. So, instead of feeding him a curve and trying to cut an outside corner I put it straight down the middle, figuring maybe he would hit to one of my fielders, but he pumped it clearly into center field."

Grimes, had he been a little more selfish of his own interests might have gone down in the record as the first man in history to pitch a no-hit, no-run game in the world series. But he didn't take a chance. He made Miller hit, Al Simmons' homer in the ninth with McNair on base was an anticlimax. Grimes still was slightly puzzled about it.

"I figured we could get McNair trying to steal second, so I fed him a 'waste' ball, high and outside. What did that guy do but reach out and slam it over the fence. You can't figure out a fellow like that. Any time a pitcher gets Al Simmons out he can say he's done something."

SPORTS SLANTS

There was a premature rush "super-horse" upon the sleek flanks of Mrs. Payne Whitney's renowned Twenty Grand. The colt's second defeat by A. C. Bestwick's Mate at Arlington checked the enthusiasm of the critics ranking Twenty Grand with Man o' War, the one and only of this generation of horse-flesh.

Since then, however, Twenty Grand has signposted on an easy triumph over the rearg Sun Beau, world's champion money-winner, and performed so impressively otherwise that it seems fair enough at least to compare the pride of the Whitney barns with the Big Red Horse of the century.

The manner in which Twenty Grand has been covering the route lately is highly reminiscent of the best days of Man o' War.

Although having much in common, the two champions rose to fame with totally different methods of annihilating their rivals.

Man o' War, a quiet well-mannered horse in his stall, was a personification of his name from the time he stepped on the track.

Always fractious at the post, he battled against all efforts at restraint, and then would bound away at breath-taking speed.

GOPHERS TANGLE WITH STANFORD

MINNESOTA'S HUSKY GOPHERS TACKLE STANFORD AT PALO ALTO OCTOBER 10 IN ONE OF THE OUTSTANDING INTERSECTIONAL GAMES OF THE SEASON.

Minnesota's husky Gophers tackle Stanford at Palo Alto October 10 in one of the outstanding intersectional games of the season. Both teams have a brilliant array of backs who will attempt to avoid a repetition of the 1929 battle of last year. Phil Moffatt, coast observers say, Stanford has probably the most versatile backfield man in the west. My Ubl, triple threat man, and Jack Manders, plunging fullback, are the big guns of the Gophers.

PUSH PLANS TO IMPROVE GRID LINEUPS

Atlanta, Oct. 6.—(AP)—The big push is on in southern football. Confronted with knowledge gleaned from the few games played this far this fall, coaches have begun shifting their lineups in an effort to strengthen lines and backfields before another week-end game.

Major Bob Neeland, as Tennessee was notified two of his best sophomores tackles, Alfred Austell and Bob Stafford were lost to the team because of failure to meet faculty requirements. V. P. J. faculty by Georgia, searched for new end and guard talent.

Coach Harry Mehre at Georgia received word yesterday of the serious illness of his father in Indiana and made plans to leave the Bulldog squad in charge of Backfield Coach Rex Enright when he left to go to his father.

A Georgia Tech scrub team "Carnegie Tech plays to be tried tomorrow or Thursday against the varsity. At Auburn, Coach Chet Wynne sent the Tigers through the hardest workout of the year.

Five stars were on the injured list at the University of Florida. Hall and Parnell, ends, Phil, veteran tackle, and Davis and Buck, ball carriers, were injured in the North Carolina State game. The 'Gators went through a light workout, preparing for the game this week-end with North Carolina.

Coach Billy Laval had some rather pointed remarks to the effect there would be a shake-up in the South Carolina lineup before that team plays Louisiana State Saturday. Most of the other schools reported "the usual light Monday workout" yesterday.

Southport, N. C.—(AP)—Damage estimated at $20,000 resulted from the fire that destroyed the Southport Coal and Ice Company. Several hundred tons of ice survived the flames.

has caused many to refer to the Greentree colt as the greatest cup horse of recent turf history. His inability to break fast resulted in Mate beating him in the Preakness and the Arlington Classic but once these long legs get to working over a distance of more than one and one-quarter miles, he apparently is unbeatable.

Like Man o' War he fairly "ata up" the ground in the stretch in an effort to make the victory as convincing as possible.

MAY CHANGE STATE TEAMS FOR WEEK END

Charlotte, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Injuries and the never-ending search for a winning combination will probably bring about a few changes in the varsity lineups of North Carolina football squads before another week-end battle.

Practically every coach is prepared to "shop the works" in an effort to bolster his club's showing. The season is only two games old and there is not a Big Five team in the state that has not tasted defeat. If anything is going to be done about it, now seems to be as good a time as ever and the boys who can produce are the ones who will get a chance.

Duke and North Carolina will probably retain their original varsity lineups. Although Johnny Branch, star Tar Heel quarterback, was injured in the Vanderbilt game, he will be able to practice this week for the Florida contest at Gainesville Saturday.

Davidson's win over Washington and Lee has probably "set the Wildcat's services" of Steven Brown, star end, for the V. P. I. game and possibly longer. Brown suffered a severe leg injury in his contest with the Greentrees and was forced to leave the field in the third period. It was one of the few major games in which he was unable to go the route.

His place will be filled by Johnson, a reserve end whose ability is yet to be proven. Other Davidson players suffered minor injuries but all are expected to be in shape for the Gobber game.

Coach Clippner Smith is changing things around at N. C. State in an effort to find a clinching combination. He has taken Bob McQuest out of the quarter position and turned the job over to Charlie Jeffrey. Bob Cook relieved Don Wilson at left half and Francis Schell took Sam Gurneau's end position. Whether the changes are permanent remains to be seen but it is more than likely that Gurneau, an excellent flankman when he's going good, will win back his place.

Coach Pat Miller has decided to devote more time to a Deamon defense and it seems there is plenty of work to be done on that score. When he Wake Forest coach looked over his husky lineups before the season opened he decided his defense was pretty good as it was and turned his attention chiefly to building an offense.

Something went wrong with that formula because the Deamon, with all their off-novice training, have been able to score only one touchdown while their opponents have run up 70 points. Coach Miller is hardly to be blamed for taking it for granted that his team could defend its goal line in championship style. There's not a better looking outfit in the South, before the game starts, than that Deamon squad.

Wake Forest's chief trouble appears to be the lack of a competent field general. "Flash" Hutchins is only able quarterback on the squad but as the signal-caller on Miller's

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of one point to a decline of two points. There was little evidence of southern selling and after initial offerings prices rose a few points on trade buying and covering. December advanced to 5.69, or eight points higher.

The market stiffened right after the call on covering and trade buying and worked 23 to 25 points higher. The buying and covering was interpreted partially as a reflection of an improved technical position, with the market more responsive to buying orders because of the smaller volume of hedging. A better tone in the stock market and the possibility of constructive developments at Washington also were influences.

At the close of the first hour the market had eased slightly and quotations were 6 to 7 points from the top.

Futures closed steady 31 to 35 points higher. Spot steady, middling 5.85.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Influenced by buoyancy of stocks and by President Hoover's call for a White House conference of members of Congress tonight, grains advanced strongly today. An upswing of the British exchange rates tended also to lift wheat values. Hopes of a larger export business in North American wheat were a further source of encouragement.

Wheat closed firm, 2 to 2 1/2 cents higher, corn 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 up, oats 7-8 to 1 1/8 advanced, and provisions varying from 10 cents decline to 15 cents gain.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Oct. 6.—(AP)—The stock market came out of the dumps with a rush today, as feverish buying and short covering was inspired by news of further aggressive efforts to deal with the powers of depression. Both the London and Paris markets improved substantially in sympathy with New York, although reports from Washington explained that conferences of bankers and political leaders in Washington were primarily for the purpose of dealing with the domestic situation. The bond market also brightened.

Prominent stocks rushed up about 2 to 16 points. They slipped back a little from the best momentarily, as trading quieted down somewhat after midday, but the advance was quickly resumed. Price averages at 1 p. m. indicated an average rise of more than 5 points. Santa Fe Railroad shot up 16 points, on news of the regular quarterly dividend of $2.50. Union Pacific rushed more than 10. Miscellaneous issues rising about 5 to 8 included U. S. Steel, American Telephone, American Can, North American Tobacco, Southern Pacific, New York Central, Eastman and others. General Electric gained 2, and General Motors nearly as much.

After its long ordeal of bad news and nervous selling, the market displayed tremendous relief at the news that aggressive and constructive measures were under consideration although rumors as to the nature of measures considered were of the vaguest nature. While some conservative brokers felt that the advance might be too fast, and were reluctant to advise clients to reach for stocks, many traders were at last quick to heed the advice of numerous commission houses that stocks had been marked down to bargain levels in the hysteria of selling.

LEADERS TO VISIT HOOVER

(Continued From Page One) tained firm Democratic steers a pledge to aid revitalizing legislation in Congress. Again last June before he proposed a moratorium on governmental debts, the president sought the views and support of senators and representatives.

Tonight's conference climaxes a series of personal discussions which the president has been holding with his official advisers and financial leaders of the country.

While these discussions have not yet reached the point where the White House considers public disclosure would be in the national interest, it is believed generally that some statement will follow the round-table talk with the congressional pilots.

Daniels Scores Money Interests

Rocky Mount, Oct. 6.—(AP)—A few capitalistic monopolies today rule American business and American government with a feudal hand but do not feel the responsibilities of caring for their servants as do the feudal lords, says a Daniels told the Current Topics club here. "A score of directors, some of them interlocking, today rule American business and American government as completely as their predecessors, the feudal lords, ruled Britain when feudalism was in flower," the Raleigh editor and former navy secretary charged.

In those days, however, the editor recited, the lords felt called upon to feed and house their retainers in periods of distress "while feudal lords of today feel free to discharge their employes in dull times with no sense of obligation to them or their families, who are today cast adrift without food and shelter to the number of 5,000,000." The former member of Wilson's cabinet said the nation's capitalistic system, founded on the theory that capital was to be amassed in order that it might provide labor with the production of further wealth, had departed from that tenet.
