PUSH WORK ON JAPAN-CHINA CONTROVERSY

Representatives Two Nations Fail Reach Agreement for Direct Negotiations.

(By the Associated Press) Peacemakers exerted themselves today for the preservation of peace between China and Japan. The Council of the League of Nations, which sees in the Sino-Japanese situation a challenge to its own powers, was engaged in private conversations, following the presentation of the proposed case yesterday by the Chinese and Japanese representatives.

Preliminary conversations designed to open the way for direct negotiations between Japan and China resulted in failure today.

For the time being, at least, there will be no further private conversations between Baron Shidehara, the Japanese foreign minister, and Chiang Tso-pin, Chinese minister to Japan. The Nanking government was represented as having taken the view that any further such talk might be construed as indicating China's willingness to enter into direct negotiations with Japan.

President S. C. Gilbert, United States consul-general at Geneva, gave no sign as to what steps his government would take in connection with the League Council's decision. Members of the council have displayed keen interest in the question: How far is the United States ready to go in any concerted action by the League?

Nelson T. Johnson, American minister to China, has reached Nanking for a series of conferences on the situation with government officials. Sir Miles Wedderburn Lamson, the British minister, is expected later.

There have been no further diplomatic actions either at Nanking, or Tokyo.

A Mukden dispatch to the Reno News Agency (Japan) said Japanese planes reconnoitering along the line of the Mukden-Peiping railway, were fired upon by Chinese troops aboard a military train, and that the Japanese retaliated with bombs.

At Moscow there was a conference between Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet foreign minister, and Koki Hirota, the Japanese ambassador. Previously Hirota had provided the foreign minister with a written explanation of Japan's action in occupying non-treaty zones in Manchuria.

Fountain Urges Revision of Taxes

Raleigh, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Pointing to real estate, North Carolina's chief state revenue foundation, Lt. Gov. R. T. Fountain is urging revision of the state tax laws to provide sufficient flexibility so that the supply of revenue would respond to the gradual economic changes.

Speaking over radio station WPTF here, the candidate for governor declared that land, once the state's chief wealth, is now considered, in many instances, a liability.

"Notwithstanding this change in our economic life, or the shift of wealth from real estate to personal property, there has been no shift in the tax burden. The great burden of taxation still rests on real estate as it did in times past when real estate was our chief source of wealth."

The fairest tax, the speaker said, was the income tax, and he expressed his opposition to any kind of a sales tax, although expressing a preference for a luxury tax should a revenue source be found necessary.

He also devoted a good portion of his time to ridicule of the Brookings report, upon which Governor Gardner based much of his legislative program in the 1931 General Assembly.

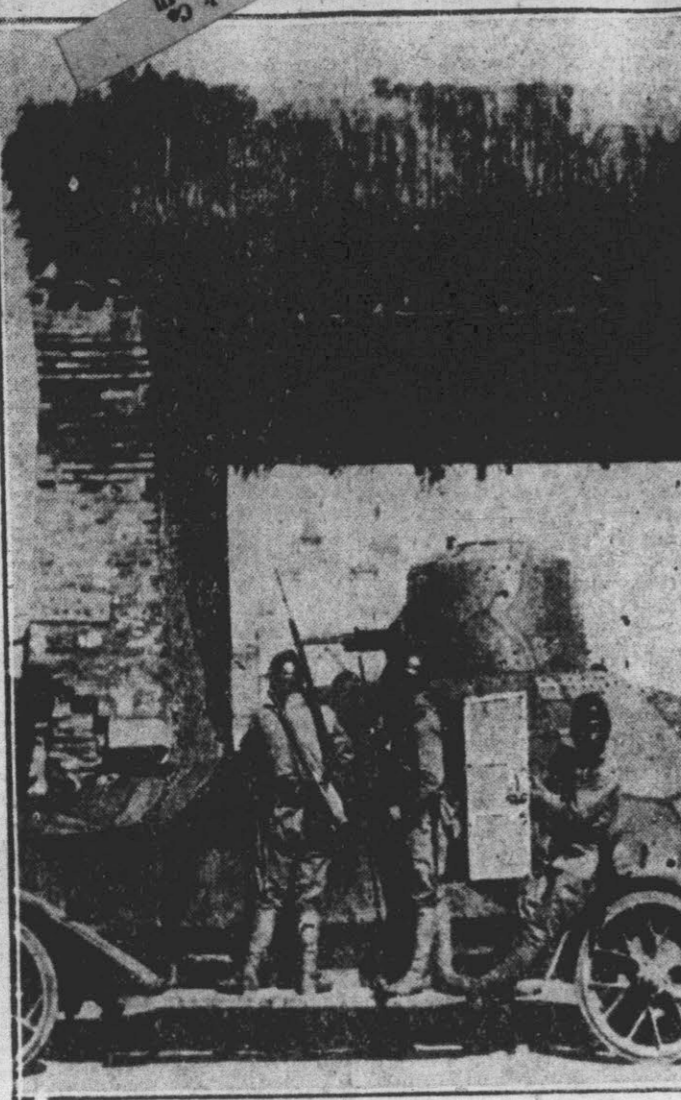

Magistrate Held for Embezzlement

Winston-Salem, Oct. 14.—(AP)—T. Hillary Ring, Forsyth county magistrate, today was under indictment for embezzling $246.75 in county funds.

The sum is alleged to consist of fines and forfeitures due the county school board which Ring misappropriated.

The indictment, returned yesterday, followed an auditor's report of discrepancies in Ring's accounts. Ring paid the shortage once, but the check was not good. This week when the grand jury began its investigation, Ring paid the amount with a cashier's check.

JAPANESE GUARD AT MUKDEN

Japanese military operations in Manchuria have resulted in protesting notes by China to the league of nations, with Japan replying that the movement was caused by anti-Japanese sentiment in China. Here a Japanese armored car is shown on guard outside the walled city of Mukden, a major center of hostilities.

CONVICTED IN LIQUOR CASE

Charlotte Hotel Man Sentenced to Prison for Violation of the Prohibition Law.

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 14.—(AP)—A. W. Hartley, manager of Mecklenburg Hotel, one of Charlotte's largest, was convicted on two counts of violating the prohibition laws in Federal court here today and sentenced by Judge E. Yates Webb to serve 10 months in prison. He appealed and his bond was fixed at $5,000.

Hartley was convicted of maintaining a nuisance and possessing materials for the manufacture of intoxicating liquors. He was acquitted on a third count, charging conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.

Charges were preferred against Hartley and other hotel employees after a raid on the hotel by J. Ed Kanipe, head of the prohibition enforcement unit in the western part of the state, and a number of federal officers. The raid resulted from undercover activities by G. B. Crook and R. W. Mitchell, prohibition agents from Asheville.

Namesakes Too Plentiful For Young Aviator

Washington, N. C., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Sunday afternoon Warren Pennington, Wilmington aviator, was flying passengers from the airport here when 14-year-old Dorothy Baughman approached with a dog saying she had named the animal after Pennington.

Monday morning three boys with dogs named "Pennington" were waiting at the airport. Time went on and a score of boys with pets named "Pennington" crowded the field. One had a cat; another a canary.

Pennington was forced to decline their overtures.

One indignant had dragged his pet from the field and shouted in parting, "Just for that I'm going to give my dog his old name. It's Horace."

LONG FIGHTS FOR OFFICE

Charlotte Hotel Man Defies Effort of Lieut. Gov. Cyr to Take His Seat as Louisiana's Governor.

Baton Rouge, La., Oct. 14.—(AP)—Governor Huey P. Long today ordered state policemen to arrest Lt. Gov. Paul N. Cyr if he should appear at the capitol and press his claim that he is the rightful governor of Louisiana.

Baton Rouge, La., Oct. 14.—(AP)—Surrounded by State highway policemen, Huey P. Long held the governor's office in Louisiana today against the challenge of Lieut. Governor Paul N. Cyr, who has moved to oust Long on grounds that he is a United States Senator and therefore can't be the state chief executive at the same time.

All during the night a score of policemen stood guard around the capitol and the governor's mansion to thwart any attempt by Cyr to take charge of the state government.

Cyr was at his home in Jeanerette today. He went there last night after taking the oath as governor at Shreveport yesterday.

"I am going to make Long governor or senator, but not both," he said this morning. Aside from that brief statement, he would not comment, saying he had decided not to make any statements to the public, pending the outcome of the conference.

Lisbon, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Fritz Engler, a second officer for the Hamburg-American Line, sailed for New York today in a rubber boat, expecting to make the trip in seventy days via the Canary Islands and the Bahamas.

Engler, who is 30 years old and a native of Pomerania, said the boat was unsinkable. It is three feet by 19 feet and weighs 450 pounds. It is fitted with two sails and a pair of oars. The deck can be hermetically sealed in rough weather and there are two tubes to supply fresh air.

SET UP LOCAL UNITS IN BIG CREDIT CORP.

Central Committee Continues its Labors with Details Hoover Relief Movement.

New York, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Local organizations were being set up in various parts of the country today, as units in the new National Credit corporation, while the central organizing committee continued its labors with last minute details in New York.

It was explained today that all indications point to the beginning of actual operations in extending loans to banks by the first of next month. The corporation is expected to start with initial funds of more than $1,000,000,000, and this may be raised to $1,000,000,000, as and if that amount is needed.

This was the corporation's first day of legal existence, as incorporation papers were filed in Delaware through the Corporation Trust Company late yesterday. This huge concern carries out the suggestion.

Several cases were disposed of in the regular weekly session of county court in this city yesterday. Joe Langley, colored, appealed from a 60-day road sentence on a charge of selling liquor.

Republican Government Of Spain Collapses Following Resignation Of President

CABINET ALSO STEPS DOWN

Trouble Believed To Have Resulted from Split Over Catholic Church.

Madrid, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Spain's Republican government appeared to have collapsed this afternoon with the resignation of President Niceto Alcalá Zamora, which was followed quickly by reports that his whole cabinet also had stepped out.

Reports of the cabinet resignation came from persons in a position to know what was going on. The cabinet assembled at the home of Indalecio Prieto, finance minister, shortly after Senor Alcalá Zamora's resignation was announced. The ministers confirmed the president's retirement and then, it was reliably reported, decided to indicate their support by following his example.

The issue which brought about these sudden developments revolves about a difference of opinion concerning the treatment to be accorded Catholic orders under the Republican constitution whose provisions and the centuries old official Catholicism of Spain.

Senor Alcalá Zamora and those who support him contend that regulatory measures governing the activities of the priesthood should not be too stringent.

The attitude of the national assembly in the face of the resignations was a matter of guesswork only, but there was a persistent rumor that Manuel Aznar, minister of war in the Alcalá Zamora cabinet, might be asked to head a new government.

CLERGY OPENS MEETING HERE

Conference of Episcopal Ministers Gets Under Way at St. Paul's Church.

The Clergy Conference being held this week in St. Paul's Episcopal church, opened this morning with a celebration of the Holy Communion at 7:30, at which Bishop Darst was the celebrant, assisted by Rev. Malcolm S. Taylor, of Greenville, South Carolina.

At ten o'clock the conference assembled in St. Paul's church for its morning session. At this period, Rev. Malcolm S. Taylor led the Clergy in an intensely devotional self-examination, helping them to bring their lives closer to God. At 12:30 lunch was served at St. Paul's Parish House by the Women's Guild of St. Paul's church.

In the afternoon session Mr. Taylor led the Clergy in the second conference, helping them to use prayer and the sacrament for the services in a useful way for this period of depression.

Tonight at 8 o'clock there will be a public service at St. Paul's church at which time Bishop Darst and Dr. W. H. Milton of Wilmington will be the speakers. The public is cordially invited to this meeting.

Negro Slayer Spirited Away to Another Jail

Snow Hill, Md., Oct. 14.—(AP)—While Orphan Jones, 60-year-old negro, who police say confessed to the murder of a Taylorsville farmer, his wife and two children, was held at Baltimore for safe keeping today, State's attorney Godfrey Child marshalled his case against the farm hand for presentation to the grand jury Monday.

There had been no demonstration against the negro, but authorities deemed it best to remove him. He was slipped out of the jail here last night and rushed to Baltimore under heavy guard.

Jones' capture was wrung from him late yesterday after 16 hours of grilling. Police said he admitted robbery was his motive when he slew Green Davis, 55; his 28-year old wife, Eva; and their two daughters, Elizabeth, 15 and Mary Lee, 13, with a shotgun and a pistol before dawn Sunday.

Edison Nearing Coma of Death

West Orange, N. J., Oct. 14.—(AP)—Although Thomas A. Edison has had nothing to eat or drink with the exception of six spoonfuls of pears, since last Friday, his doctor said today that nothing had developed to cause immediate concern.

Dr. Hubert S. Howe's morning statement follows: "Mr. Edison rested quietly all night. There are indications of increasing weakness but nothing new has developed to cause immediate concern."

Better Grades Of Leaf Bring Good Prices Here

Better grades of tobacco continued to command attention of buyers on the local tobacco market today, and prices for such grades were reported to be holding up well.

The market yesterday sold 1,214,340 pounds of leaf for $126,568.93 at an average price of $10.42 per hundred pounds.

Better grades of leaf were reported to have sold as high as $55 to $61 per hundred pounds.

There was about 600,000 pounds on the floors of the various warehouses today and sales were continued during the early afternoon.

Prohibition Bobs Up Again Labor Federation Meet

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 14.—(AP)—After being kicked around more than a week in committee rooms and corridors the prohibition question crowded its way into the American Federation of Labor convention hall here today.

A resolutions committee, asserting it was promoting the cause of true temperance, asked the convention to adhere to labor's stand of several years for beer of 2.75 per cent alcoholic content.

At the same time two resolutions, one backed by the remains of the pre-prohibition Bartenders' Union, and the other by the Teacma Central Labor Union, asked repeal of the 18th amendment and the Volstead Act.

Relief of the unemployment situation overshadowed all other resolutions pending, but there was no controversy in the convention as to the merits of resolutions affecting unemployment. Many suggestions were advanced by the executive council and approved in the resolutions committee report prepared for submission today.

BLAMES CRIME ON DIVORCES

Criminologist Makes Address to Chiefs of Police at St. Petersburg, Fla.

St. Petersburg, Fla., Oct. 14.—(By AP)—Dr. Carleton Simon, criminologist and former deputy police commissioner of New York, today told the International Association of Chiefs of Police here of the fundamental causes of crime is traceable to divorce and its accompanying evil—alimony.

Reviewing the problem of juvenile delinquency in its connection with increased prevalence of crime, with increased prevalence of crime, Dr. Simon said "nothing assumes greater proportion nor is of greater significance than deprivation of suitable parental guidance to a growing child."

"Separation of parents, either by death, voluntary or by legal means," he said, "is the reason why most of the family circles are destroyed."

"The lack of uniformity of divorce laws in different states is pernicious, making of the solemn bonds of matrimony a travesty. The ease with which divorces may be obtained in some states deprives the child too readily of its birthright, not only in parental love and affection, but in moral guidance as well."

"In some instances," he added, "alimony is comparable to legalized prostitution; the woman frequently seeking alimony with the one idea that her marital relations will be of short duration and that law will provide for her an income for life."

Breach of promise suits also were condemned by Dr. Simon, who declared "this type of action should not be permitted by our judiciary."

Amlie Elected in Wisconsin

Racine, Wis., Oct. 14.—(AP)—An anti-Hoover Progressive Republican, Thomas R. Amlie, Elkhorn attorney, yesterday was elected by First District Wisconsin voters to fill the unexpired term of the late Representative Henry Allen Cooper, dean of the House.

Amlie, supported by the Progressive Republicans, Gov. Philip E. LaFollette, his brother, Senator Robt. M. LaFollette, and Senator John J. Blaine, in his campaign, made attacks against the 18th amendment, the Republican tariff, and the administration's handling of the unemployment problem.

CAPONE OPENS COURT BATTLE FOR ACQUITTAL

Jury Told That Gang Leader Poor Judge of Race Horses in Chicago Trial.

By VICTOR HACKLER
Federal Building, Chicago, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Alphonse Capone today opened his fight for acquittal on charges of evading income taxes with an account of his gambling losses.

"The husky gang leader is a poor judge of race horses, the jury in United States Circuit court was told today. "He won some bets, but not very many," Milton Hold, a bookmaker, testified.

Held, although he had no records to prove it, and could remember no individual transactions, estimated that Capone lost between $8,000 and $10,000 during the summer meeting at the Hawthorne race track in 1924, and about $12,000 in the fall of 1925 at the same track.

Although they contend the Federal prosecutors failed to prove that Capone evaded income taxes, the gang chief's lawyers launched a counter-attack, the strategy of which was well concealed in advance.

There has been no indication that the "big fellow" would turn talkative and take the witness stand himself, but it was no pathetic defendant who started this fight to escape a federal prison. This trial, into which the government has thrown all its resources and energies, has brought out an alert Capone, a serious, attentive man, ready with many suggestions for his lawyers.

The government closed its case yesterday afternoon. Defense attorneys Michael Ahern and Albert Fink expressed surprise, made the customary motion for directed verdict of acquittal and asked two days in which to prepare their case. Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson denied the motion.

Cross-examination of government witnesses had included at times these questions: "Did Capone tell you he understood he had to pay no income tax because his business enterprises were unlawful?"

In the examination of venemore at the start of the trial, Capone's attorneys had the court bring out the fact that a defendant's failure to take the stand himself must not be considered against him.

A large share of the government's testimony, dealing with his purchases of everything from $12 silk underwear to a $40,000 Florida estate, was accepted by Capone and his legal staff in a manner that was almost jovial. His lawyers said they did not deny the fact that he had money and spent money, but objected on the grounds that this type of evidence was immaterial to the point of proving income.

Testimony that Capone handed $80,000 in telegraphic money orders while living in Florida was objected to on similar grounds, but not denied.

Asks Schools To Play One Charity Game

New York, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Owen D. Young, a member of the President's committee on unemployment relief, today asked every college and school to play at least one football game for charity.

In a special call from the committee on mobilization of resources, which he is chairman, Mr. Young urged that colleges unable to set a fall game aside for relief funds, should try to play a post season game.

Army and Navy, he said, have already planned a charity game. They meet at the Yankee Stadium on Dec. 12. Tickets will sell for $5 and $10.

Mr. Young asked that gross receipts, less actual expenses, be turned over to locally appointed relief committees, co-operating with the national and state organizations.

The plan, Mr. Young said, was taken up with college presidents throughout the country, and while many did not think it feasible, the overwhelming approval made him decide to issue this football appeal as a practicable means of raising funds.

ABOUT TOWN

The public should not fail to take advantage of the tuberculosis clinic which will be conducted at the Pitt County Department of Health during the next two weeks. A specialist from State Sanatorium is in charge of the clinic and those who have been exposed to tuberculosis or were formerly patients at the Sanatorium may obtain examination free of charge.

Persons desiring examination should get in touch with their physicians at once and have them make an appointment for them.

The Episcopal clergy of East Carolina is holding a three-day session here this week with a view of discussing conditions affecting the church as result of the period of depression which has been sweeping over the nation in past months, affecting the church as well as individuals and other organizations.

The movement to make "Charity Bundle Day" next Saturday the most pronounced success in years is steadily gaining momentum here. The bundles will be collected by Boy Scouts who have given their services in an effort to make the winter just a little more comfortable for the men and women throughout the county who have been hard hit by the lack of employment.

Citizens appreciative of this movement to better the condition of the indigent population have been asked to bundle up all available clothing and place it in a convenient place for the Scouts when they make their rounds Saturday morning.

K. T. Putrell, director of the Pitt County Welfare department, says there are scores of children unable to attend school at this time because of inadequate clothing, and if such a condition prevails now, what may be expected when cold weather actually comes?

It is a situation even more severe than last year and it is to be hoped everybody will contribute liberally of clothing which they can conveniently part with.

Federal prohibition agents have whiskey dealers in the jump in this state at the present time and the number already serving sentence for violating the law will be augmented by still a greater number in the future.

The latest capture was reported in the Charlotte vicinity where nearly one hundred and fifty traffic members were rounded up and bound over for hearing in Federal court. Similar raids have been reported from other communities and it is evident the future is going to prove difficult for members of the illicit traffic.

Several bootleggers and manufacturer were sentenced to the pen from this section not long ago, and others are expected to follow the same path at the next session of court.

While liquor seems to be very plentiful in this locality at the present time, those who ply the trade are forced to work more quietly than ever before while at the same time showing a keep discrimination between purchasers. Nothing but well-known "meats" are able to do business effectively with the manufacturing element and credentials have to be well established before gaining recognition. It is one of the results of the visit of Federal officers and the caution will hardly be abandoned as long as there is fear of repeated visits.

In an effort to bolster a treasury deficit that has been causing considerable mental anguish the last year or so, members of the High School Athletic Association will sponsor the sale of tickets for the screen production "Spirit of Notre Dame," which will be exhibited at the State Theatre Friday.

Officers of the association are urging the public to buy liberally of the tickets and enable them to eliminate some of the red which has been accumulating on their ledger in spite of every effort to avoid it.

The picture is described as one of the best of its kind shown here in some time and is expected to afford many a thrill for moviegoers.

RAT CAMPAIGN TO BE HELD IN PITT COUNTY

Each year some peanuts must be carried in storage on farms. Sacks of peanuts mean the possibility of rats being ripped by rats causing damage as well as cost of re-sowing. Many of the farmers of the county of Northampton, under the leadership of County Agent Guldage, have made it a practice to poison their premises in the early fall as a protection against damage by rats.

Fall campaigns also have the advantage of providing protection for cribbed corn and other grain and feed held on farms. Half a dollar spent for rat bait in October is cheap rat insurance. This fall thru cooperation with A. E. Oman, of the U. S. Biological Survey, county-wide anti-rat campaigns will be conducted by County Agents in Pitt, Halifax, Northampton, Currituck, Chowan, Pamlico, Carteret, and possibly other counties of the State.

Red Squill powder, relatively harmless to man and all domestic animals, but deadly to rats, will be mixed with fresh hamburger, fish, and cereal for distribution by farmers who request the bait. Using a variety of bait materials is vital in securing best results, according to Mr. Oman. By using red squill there need be no worry about losing pets or livestock.

trove, except through his attorney.

Baton Rouge, La., Oct. 14—(AP)—The governor and lieutenant-governor of Louisiana have definitely crossed legal swords over the governorship.

Yesterday, when Lieut.-Gov. Paul N. Cyr voluntarily took the governor's oath and demanded surrender of the office to him, Governor Huey P. Long replied by stationing state police about the capitol and declaring he would "remain governor until next May."

Cyr, with the backing of United States Senator Erwin S. Broussard, took the position Governor Long vacated his gubernatorial chair when he filed his credentials with the senate to which he was elected as successor of Senator Joseph E. Ransdell.

The lieutenant-governor, fresh from taking the governor's oath of office before P. H. Anderson, deputy clerk of the Supreme Court in Shreveport, addressed a letter to Long formally demanding that he turn over his office and dispatched a telegram to Adjutant General Raymond A. Fleming at New Orleans, instructing that a militia troop mobilization at Baton Rouge be disbanded.

Cyr signed the telegram as "Paul N. Cyr, governor and commander-in-chief of Louisiana National Guard" and referred to Long as the "ex-governor" who he said he understood "had called out the militia."

Long, hurried by automobile to the capitol from New Orleans after he had heard the oath had been administered to Cyr and said last night he had ordered the militia troop here demobilized after he found the executive mansion under guard of the state highway police. He said he had not personally called out the militia.

Long occupied the executive mansion while Cyr awaited formal reply to his letter.

A state of general expectancy gripped Baton Rouge and spread throughout the state over the latest attempt of Long's political enemy to shut him out of office.

Long said yesterday that Cyr now had deprived himself of the lieutenant-governorship. It was currently reported that Alvin O. Kyles of Lake Charles, president pro tempore of the senate, would come to Baton Rouge to take the lieutenant-governor's oath.

PUSH PLEA FOR COTTON RELIEF

Farmers to Meet with Governor again Next Week Seeking Special Legislature.

Raleigh, Oct. 14—(AP)—Pressing the plea for a special legislative session to deal with cotton, tobacco and peanut legislation, a second delegation of farmers and business men from Eastern North Carolina will meet with Governor Gardner next week.

The governor and N. G. Bartlett, secretary of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce, will confer on Wednesday, October 21, and some 50 to 100 eastern farmers are expected to accompany Mr. Bartlett, who has led the movement for the special session.

Mr. Bartlett today said "the sentiment is growing very fast for an extra session," and added that the entire Robeson county delegation to the General Assembly, Senator W. E. Lynch and Representatives A. E. White and Ernest Graham, are in favor of a special session.

On the other hand, it was understood here that Willis Smith, Speaker of the House, and Representatives Connor of Wilson; Larvis of Person; Sutton of Lenoir; Parker of Wayne and others here openly expressed opposition to a special session.

Representative MacLean, of Beaufort, author of the school law bearing his name, and recognized as one of the legislature's leaders, led a vigorous fight at the Beaufort county meeting last week to keep that body from joining the forces asking a special session.

Mr. Bartlett said Senators Elount of Pitt, and Clark of Edgecombe are busily engaged in getting members of the legislature to agree to consider only legislation affecting cotton, tobacco and peanuts if a special session is called, but he did not know what response they were meeting.

the six hour day "and staggered employment where practicable" by employers.

The seven suggestions of the national Legion commander follow:

1. That the 11,000 posts of the American Legion immediately contact existing agencies in their own communities, and if no proper agency exists join with other elements of the community to establish an agency for the proper registration and placement of the unemployed.
2. Prevent migration, adversity is alleviated and overcome in one's home town rather in strange or foreign surroundings.
3. Make work: Wherever possible create work instead of direct relief to hold up the morale and courage and pride of our people.
4. Create public sentiment that will release to the building stage public improvements of federal, state and local character, to the end that more work will be available for the unemployed, and as far as possible hire workers in their own communities.
5. It was the consensus of the Washington conference that we recommend to the posts that they urge their own communities to assume as far as possible the problem that is local and county and state likewise.
6. We recommend to employers and employed the consideration of the five day week, the six hour day and staggered employment where practicable.
7. Recommendation of the consideration of further restriction of immigration during the present emergency to offer more employment to American citizens.

DRAW EMERGENCY BANK ORGANIZATION CHARTER

Here are some of the men organizing the new emergency banking organization to handle frozen assets of interior banks along the lines proposed by President Hoover in his $500,000,000 bank pool plan. committee has been receiving numerous inquiries from savings banks, and they will be permitted to participate where state laws permit.

While the final plan as proposed by the organization committee spoke of a maximum issue of the debenture of $1,000,000,000, if the commercial banks alone participate to the extent of 2 per cent of their deposits, as requested, the initial amount raised will exceed $200,000,000, as against $500,000,000 suggested in President Hoover's proposal.

Furthermore, it is said in banking quarters that several of the leading private banking houses, investment trusts, and other organizations, will undoubtedly respond if requested, and that there need be no limitation of the maximum funds to $1,000,000,000.

The incorporation papers, as filed in Delaware, make no restriction as to how much money the corporation may raise.

NEW MANAGERS ORDER OF DAY IN THE MAJORS

By HERBERT W. BARKER, (Associated Press Sports Writer) New York, Oct. 14.—(AP)—The open season on major league managers has netted two victims and the baseball world will be mildly astonished if one or two more do not fall before the accurate fire of sharp-shooting magnates.

Donnie Bush, a fiery veteran, has been cut loose from the Chicago White Sox and succeeded by Lew Fonseca, an active player still in his early thirties. The Pittsburgh Pirates, after casting Jewel Ems adrift, are looking about for a new pilot.

Dopesters, after a careful survey of the situation, look for the next managerial shifts to come from Detroit and possibly Brooklyn, and there seem to be sound grounds for the suspicion that a change may be made in one camp or the other, if not in both.

Stanley (Bucky) Harris, who piloted the Washington Senators to American League pennants in 1924 and 1925, has just finished his most disappointing season with the Detroit Tigers. Starting out the season with bright prospects, the Tigers, crippled for months by injuries to Charlie Gehringer and Dale Alexander, finished the season in seventh place, trailed only by the White Sox.

Club owners, in the main, ask for results and if they don't get them with one manager, they try another. No definite word has come from Detroit in regard to Harris' present status but it is understood here that Frank Navin, the owner, has notified coaches Jean Dubuc and Roger Bresnahan they will not be retained in 1932. Some experts professed to see in this a direct hint that Harris also will go.

The Brooklyn situation is a bit more involved. Baseball writers have been hiring a new manager for the Robins for years but Wilbert Robinson always turns up at the helm when the season starts. He has held his job for some time despite the internal discussion that puts him and Steve McKeever on opposite sides of the fence and he may do it again.

With an opening at Pittsburgh and possible jobs at Detroit or Brooklyn, considerable interest was aroused by announcement of the resignation, apparently without cause, of Nick Williams, who has just piloted the San Francisco Seals into a Pacific Coast League pennant. Williams, in his ten years with the Seals as coach and manager, has made a reputation as developer of young players.

The job at Pittsburgh is understood to be waiting, however, for George Gibson, a former pilot of the Pirates.

Madison Square Plans Series Of Big Ring Scraps

New York, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Jimmy Johnston, who will become vice-president and general manager of Madison Square Garden tomorrow, already has laid plans for a series of top-flight heavyweight bouts this winter but he may have to get by without the services of Jack Sharkey.

There were strong indications that Sharkey and his handlers were preparing to go into partial retirement until next summer on the theory that the Boston sailor's exciting victory over huge Primo Carnera entitles Sharkey to a shot at Max Schmeling's title next summer.

Johnston's plans for the next few months included a return match indoors, between Sharkey and Carnera, and another return bout between Sharkey and Tommy Loughran.

But now it develops that Sharkey's famous left thumb, cause of a 12-day postponement of the Carnera match, was hurt again on Monday night and that Sharkey will be unable to fight for an indefinite period.

If Jack persists in his winter hibernation plans, Johnston will have to look elsewhere for talent. It was understood that Ernie Schaaf, clouting Bostonian who is owned jointly by Sharkey and Sharkey's manager, Johnny Buckley, was prepared to step in and substitute for the sailor, Schaaf, who has compiled a phenomenal string of victories in recent months, announces he is ready for any of the heavyweights, barring Sharkey, of course.

Even if Johnston's plan for another Carnera-Sharkey fight fails, the chances are that Primo will not be idle. He already is slated to meet Paulino Uzcudun, veteran Basque, in the Garden Nov. 13. If he gets by the rugged Spaniard, Primo may get more work, possibly against Schaaf or Loughran.

Fights Last Night

(By the Associated Press) Yonkers—Ray Miller, Chicago, knocked out George Day, New Haven, Conn., (3). Columbus—Johnny Couley, Toledo, outpointed Lou Bloom, Chicago, (12). Minneapolis—Carl Mastro, Chicago, outpointed Billie Shaw, Chicago, (10).

SHIPS AND MASTERS IN ATLANTIC TITLE RACE

ARMY & NAVY TO CLASH AT YANKEE PARK

New York, Oct. 14.—(AP)—As the details for the 1931 charity game between Army and Navy are being settled, the new order of the service football classic promises to become almost as permanent as the old one.

Although the two institutions still disagree on eligibility details of the old Army-Navy games and are, perhaps, in a more receptive frame of mind concerning the suggestion that they play next year in Chicago in connection with the Centennial Exposition.

A meeting of officials at Philadelphia yesterday settled upon the Yankee Stadium, New York, the scene of last year's renewal of hostilities, as the place where this year's game will be played on December 12; set the admission prices at $10 for box seats and $5.00 for stand seats; and, what is perhaps more important, agreed that "all the glamour and color of the earlier Army-Navy games will be present."

A considerable part of the interest of outside spectators in previous service games was found in the marching of the cadets and midshipmen and in the "stunts" between the halves.

The distribution of tickets, as well as all other details in connection with the game, will be in the hands of the athletic associations of the two academies. The tickets will be divided equally between the two schools and will be sold only by them.

PLENTY ACTION PROMISED FOR N. C. GRIDIRONS

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 14.—(AP)—The Southern Conference teams that have won inter-sectional glory are looking now to matters that concern them at home.

As a consequence, concentrated activity has developed in the camps of those who are striving to reach mid-season form with a view to seeing what can be done about the Southern Conference title this week end will see plenty of action along that line.

The standout games of the week end will be played between Tulane and Vanderbilt, and Tennessee and Alabama, all championship favorites. Georgia, fifth of the favorites, plays North Carolina, but the Bull-Doogs are not becoming over-confident.

V. M. I. and Virginia go to the mat Thursday in a game dedicating Virginia's new stadium. V. M. I. freshmen ran Virginia plays yesterday against the Varsity while Virginia's Varsity went through their paces.

Clemson, which plays Citadel on Saturday, had a clash between the first string men and freshmen yesterday in which the Varsity showed up unusually well.

Down at Florida, Coach Bachman said he would take 27 men to Syracuse but that Cherry, end; Phell, tackle; and McClellan and Buck would not make the trip because of injuries. Georgia Tech shifted line-men in preparation for Auburn.

Duke is practicing offensive and defensive plays, Washington & Lee is at work now on signals and on special formations, Maryland's regulars had a light workout yesterday while the Tar Heels at North Carolina worked on their offense.

FARMVILLE TO PLAY LOCALS HERE FRIDAY

The local high school gridgers are hard at work preparing for their second home tilt of the season Friday afternoon when they meet the boys from Farmville. The game will start at 3.30 and as usual when the two teams meet, a great fight can be expected.

The dope on the two teams is that they are about equal as to strength. Farmville held the strong Kingston team to a tie score last week and the week before played LaGrange to a scoreless tie. Greenville managed to eke out a 12 to 6 victory over LaGrange last week.

Local fans are enthused over the showing of the new end for the locals, Charlie Fleming. Last week's game was the first of the season for him and it was due to his clever punting that Greenville was able to keep LaGrange in the hole most of the second half.

The whole team is working mightily and it is hoped that a large crowd will come out to see the game Friday.

SPORTS SLANTS

Eric Pedley's absence from the international polo fields this summer gave the best minds of the galloping game a chance to look over the available material for a No. 1 position in case the Californian is not on hand when the British business permitting challenge again for the cup in 1933.

Stephen (Laddy) Sanford, who was on the Big Four in 1927 right up to the day before the first match has had some spectacular afternoons this season as the No. 1 of the Hurricanes.

He ran wild against Lew Lacey's Hurlingham in the semi-finals of the open championship, scoring 11 goals and giving the best all-around exhibition since Pedley tallied nine times against England in the final match of the 1930 Internationals.

Sanford, when he is so "hot," hasn't any superior in this country at No. 1. He has the benefit of superb mounts, but he is a hard hitter and game rider.

The trouble with "Laddy" is he lacks consistency. Three days after he galloped off with the semi-final honors at Meadow Brook he was held scoreless, in the open final, against Santa Paula.

Mighty Mallet Atom

Young George Herbert (Petey) Bostwick, the "mighty atom" of the polo set on Long Island, has been riding mostly at No. 2, in front of Tommy Hitchcock, his cousin, but has all the qualifications of an excellent No. 1.

"Petey" was a contender for this position on the "Big Four" for a time last season. This year he has played a much improved game, due to the right kind of coaching and experience.

Bostwick has nerve and hits a long ball for his size. His horsemanship is superb. The youngster has a reputation as a steeplechase jockey and has piloted home many a winner over the jumps. He is barely a feather on a polo pony and consequently gets the most out of his mounts.

Bostwick has been playing at six goals this season, but likely will be boosted to seven. In another year or two, at the pace he is developing, he may become an international star.

Westerners Missed... The eastern polo season not only has missed Eric Pedley and Elmer Boeseke, the two outstanding California players, but also the hard-riding Herbert W. (Rube) Williams, a sensation during the international tests last summer.

Williams met with an injury early this season and has played very little.

Before the depression stepped in to take a wallop at the idea, the

STATE TO SEE BIG CLASHES DURING WEEK

By WHITNEY THARIN Charlotte, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Two homecoming games and the annual Fair Week tilt at Raleigh between N. C. State and Wake Forest will make the coeders in "Big Five" athletic association headquarters clink merrily this week.

The North Carolina-Georgia game at Chapel Hill Saturday will attract more than 20,000 customers if fair weather holds out and it will take a lot of rain and cold to keep many fans away.

The Wolfpack-Deacon contest at the State Fair tomorrow, in addition to the many followers of the annual battle, will be witnessed by numerous state officials, while the Duke-Davidson game at Davidson Saturday is attracting more than ordinary interest.

New faces will probably be seen in the State lineup, due to injuries and changes being tried out by Coach Clippier Smith. Dink Dellinger, Pack halfback, is nursing an injured hip sustained in the Clemson game. Bo Bohannon has been given his job while Phil Kinken has replaced Mope Cumisky at fullback.

Cumisky, however, will probably be back at his old job when the game starts. Milo Stroupe, State tackle, who has been out with injuries for two weeks, is back in uniform.

Wake Forest, with the exception of Dunk Wilson, is in excellent shape after a 10-day rest. Wilson, sophomore back, will probably break into the game, but Firpo Higgs, veteran back, is slated to play most of the game.

North Carolina, having failed to win the Florida game because of its lack of scoring punch within a yard of the goal, is spending time working for a drive that will carry when a touchdown is just across the next white mark.

In spite of this offensive work, however, the Tar Heels are continuing to concentrate on defense. It was the excellent play of the hard-charging line that held Vanderbilt to 13 points and kept Florida scoreless.

To stop the Georgia Bull Dogs, the men of Chuck Collins are going to need all the defensive tactics they can muster. While Georgia is easily the favorite, no one is underestimating North Carolina's ability, particularly on a home-coming day when the Tar Heels have all to win and nothing to lose.

Wallace Wade probably will proceed with caution in directing his Blue Devils against Davidson on home-coming day for the Wildcats. The former Alabama mentor has never seen Coach Monk Younger's men in action but he has probably heard a lot about this scrappy little outfit that takes delight in bumping off teams supposedly out of its class.

United States Polo association had entertained the plan of starting an east-west polo series this year.

The 1930 international tests furnishes the impetus with Pedley, Boeseke, Williams and Cecil Smith, all from the wide open spaces, a good combination to pit against an all-star eastern four.

The real honors of the 1931 polo battle belongs to the galloping gauchos of Santa Paula, who have taken the U. S. Open championship trophy to the Argentine.

Not even the American "Big Four" at its best ever developed a more effective phasing game than that exhibited by Manuel Andruada and the Reynal brothers.

Williams met with an injury early this season and has played very little.

LADY with a PAST

By Harriet Henry

SYNOPSIS: Venice Muir, slender in honey colored satin, with gleaming russet hair, knows that her appearance cannot win her success at the Goadby's party. She shows too plainly her lack of sophisticated allure, and is too manifestly self-conscious. Her friend, Lola Goadby, introduces Donny Reese. But Venice can find no reprieve, and thinks only of a way to help him free himself. Lola intervenes with another partner. Venice tells herself that wall flowers cannot be choosers. She is at ease with Mr. Partridge, a friend of her mother, because he is older and does not require light conversation. Mrs. Muir herself is socially poised, and urges Venice continually to strive for popularity. Venice gains sufficient confidence to chatter with Jerry Ward. But when Jerry asks her to dance she again becomes nervous. Watching the technique of other girls, she tries to look at Jerry with an intriguing expression she has observed.

Chapter 3
PURPLE BRUISE
"Oh, I'm sorry." She had trod on his foot. Forgotten was her own dancing in her analysis and attempted imitation of the puppets about her.

Was Jerry to be encumbered with her indefinitely? God, give me another partner, please, please. She wanted to smile at that black line with gleaming shirt-fronts. She couldn't. She was afraid. It showed so obviously what she wanted.

And then some one she didn't even know touched her shoulder. Jerry had done something to attract this new partner. Shame swept her. She was off in the arms of this tall, ugly man. A bad dancer, as silent and diffident as she was. Wordlessly they ploughed through the maze of gaily, gyrating forms, knocking into one couple, treading on the feet of another.

So the evening went. By hook or crook Venice changed partners every few dances, but it was only by hook or crook. Any animation she might have summoned died with the effort of not encumbering any one young man too long. She became leaden, tired and dull.

Venice stole quietly home in a cab alone. Why did she cling to a continual feast of which she was never a genuine part. Because it was all she was brought up for, all she was able to qualify for. A smart school, smart summer resorts, smart debut. She yearned for popularity. The lack of it made each party a new grief, another purple bruise on the thin skin of her sensitivity.

Dreadfully she slithered down between cool linen sheets to lie staring through the dark at pictures of the evening's gaiety that had completely excluded and eluded her.

She sighed, murmured a prayer to which she childishly, if pitifully, added a postscript begging God to give her at least one attentive young man and then sleepily became engrossed in a yellow grotesquerie painted on the ceiling by a street lamp outside.

A great shaft of sunlight stealing through the wide canyon of Park avenue awoke Venice in the morning. She lay basking in the warm saffron and slowly absorbing the outlines of room and furniture as though she had never noticed them before. Green lacquered footboard with little Oriental figures hurrying, scurrying across rivers, over arched bridges. The same little people on bedside table, dressing-be a shining light.

"Good morning, dear," Mrs. Muir came to sit in a nearby chair. She eyed Venice with a certain anxiety. "How was the Goadby's party?"
(Copyright, Harriet Henry)

Venice launches an attack to free herself from social competition, to-morrow.

And if it hadn't been for their honeymoon in Italy I would have never had such a ridiculous name, Venice thought resentfully. I'm glad they didn't stay at Rimini.

There was a soft knock. Nora entered with a tray. She was a large, big-boned Irish-American girl who had been with the Muirs for eleven years. She seemed to regard the household in which she lived with easy tolerance, but held no real affection for it. Venice considered as a curious product of the gentile. Her manner was aloof, her service perfect.

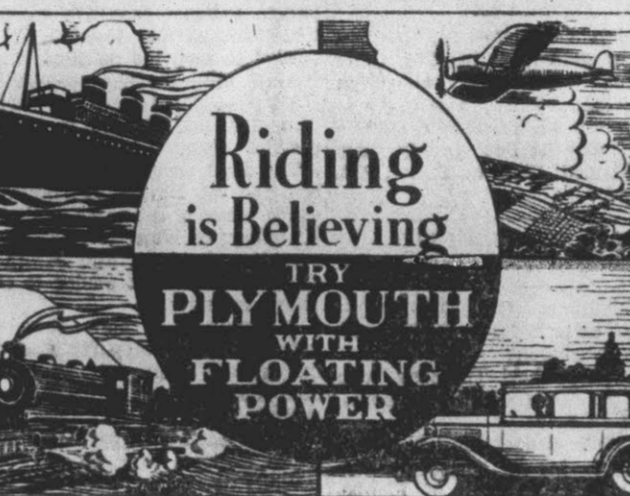

"Good morning, Miss Venice."
"Good morning, Nora."
The wicker breakfast tray across her lap, Venice cracked an egg and mentally lectured herself. I mustn't get in the dumps. Every one can
