LONG STICKS TO HIS GUNS AT CAPITAL

Governor Holds Capitol Against Siege of Two Claimants to High Office

Baton Rouge, La., Oct. 15.—(AP)—With a flourish of arms and the citation of precedents, Huey P. Long held the capitol against the siege of two other claimants to his job of governor today.

Meanwhile, Louisiana's executive regime became a complicated affair of governors, lieutenant-governors and politics.

Long placed his armed state highway police about the entrances to the state capitol, in the office of the secretary of state and at the executive mansion to prevent Lieutenant Governor Paul N. Cyr from entering to press his claim to the executive chair.

Cyr, for years a political enemy of Long, charged the governor's recent election to the United States Senate vacated the state office.

"Long is either governor, or he is senator," Cyr declared, "but he is not both senator and governor."

Tuesday, Cyr voluntarily took the governor's oath before a deputy clerk at Shreveport, informed Long by letter that he was the governor now and ordered Long to surrender and "divert yourself of the appearance of chief executive of Louisiana."

Long made public the communication and replied to Cyr "that I have the honor to decline your demands in toto."

As an anti-climax to the Long-Cyr dispute, Walter A. Aldrich, an unemployed resident of Shreveport, unheard of before in politics, took the oath of office of governor and said he too would file an outer suit against Long, go to Baton Rouge and take over the capitol, as it was "abandoned property" if Cyr's claim was true.

Long in a statement he issued last night, based his legal claim to keep his office on the point that he had promised the people he would finish out his term of governor if they elected him to the senate and the fact that he had not yet been administered the oath of the Senate.

He cited similar tardy arrivals in Congress, including David B. Hill of New York; Hiram Johnson of California; and Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, which he said backed up his claim that he could rightfully vacate the Senate chair until next May when his term of governor ends. He said each continued his terms as governor before going to Washington.

Long now holds that Cyr vacated the lieutenant-governorship in taking the governor's oath and has informed state officials Alvin King, of Lake Charles, president pro tempore of the State Senate, who took the oath as lieutenant-governor yesterday, was in fact the holder of the office.

Propose Closing Chicago Schools In Money Crisis

Chicago, Oct. 15.—(AP)—A proposal to close Chicago's schools for lack of money is being considered, by some of the city's army of 14,000 public school instructors.

The proposal was made yesterday by Clyde A. Crowley, one of the thousands of Chicago's teachers who have not received any real money for their services since last spring, due to a tax muddle. Instead they have been paid until recently in scrip, acceptable in exchange for merchandise at some Chicago stores.

Speaking at a southside mass meeting of about 4,000 teachers Crowley, a high school instructor, said that it might be well to close the schools to give the pedagogues a chance to seek other lines of endeavor to keep the wolf from the door. He added that north side teachers also had the plan under consideration.

Cheers greeted the proposal, but no action was taken. It is to be considered again at another meeting to be held soon.

Crowley's proposal was advanced after State Representatives Elmer Shackenberg and Michael Igoe told the teachers they were in favor of aiding the teachers but that they doubted whether the legislature would authorize bond issues if they would result in increased taxation.

CHAIN STORES FIGHT TAXES

Renew Fight in Supreme Court to Prevent States From Regulating Taxation

Washington, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Chain stores renewed in the supreme court today their campaign to prevent states from regulating their taxes.

Having failed at the last term of the court by a five-to-four decision to invalidate the graduated tax imposed by Indiana, they now attack the North Carolina law which imposes a straight $50 tax on each store of two or more operated under one ownership.

As counsel for the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, John W. Davis contended the North Carolina case presented issues not passed on by the court in the Indiana case. He denounced the North Carolina tax as discriminating against chain stores, because imposed solely on the basis of the ownership of two or more stores.

Attorney General Brummitt, of North Carolina, in support of the tax, maintained a state can impose such a license fee for the privilege of engaging in the business of merchandising, and require each place of business to pay the tax.

The court will shortly hear counsel for Mississippi in an appeal attempting to set aside a decision of a three-judge federal court holding invalid its tax aimed to control chain stores by requiring those operating five or more stores to pay twice as much taxes on their gross income as is imposed on the gross income of owners operating less than five stores.

Drake Case Nears End

Raleigh, Oct. 15.—(AP)—A Catholic county jury was expected to receive the case of W. B. Drake, former president of the Raleigh Banking and Trust Company charged with accepting deposits knowing the institution to be insolvent, some time today.

Arguments in the case began yesterday afternoon when the defense announced it would offer no direct evidence.

General Albert L. Cox and Senator Josiah Bailey are still to speak for the defense, with Solicitor J. C. Little closing for the state. State Senator W. P. Horton, special counsel employed by the governor, spoke for the state yesterday.

Tenn. Women Boost McAdoo For President

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 15.—(AP)—William G. McAdoo has the endorsement of the Tennessee branch of the National Democratic Women's Law Enforcement League for the presidential nomination.

Mr. McAdoo was endorsed and Jonett S. Shouse, executive chairman of the Democratic National committee, scored in resolutions adopted at a meeting here yesterday.

The resolutions charged that Shouse had used the machinery of the committee to "broadcast propaganda subversive to the 18th Amendment."

CLERGY MEET NEARS CLOSE

Episcopal Ministers Hear of Missionary Activities at Final Session

The conference of Episcopal clergymen, which convened at St. Paul's Episcopal church Wednesday afternoon, was to close late this afternoon following discussion of world missionary activities and the financial canvass to be made during the fall.

Bishop Thomas C. Darst, of Wilmington, gave a graphic portrayal of world missionary activities at the morning session today, and also outlined the financial condition of the church and the canvass for funds to be made during the fall.

Rev. W. R. Noe, of Wilmington, told of missionary campaigns of the state and the extensive program being carried out in an effort to increase the scope of the work.

Last night's session was marked by addresses by Bishop Darst and Dr. Milten.

Bishop Darst gave a vivid description of his trip out west to the Episcopal conference and how the people were leaving the drought-stricken valleys for higher ground.

He urged his hearers to quit the valley of depression through which the nation is passing at this time and to find their way to God's highlands.

Dr. Milton discussed "Motives," showing how important it is for those devoted to the cause of Christ to give of themselves first and then of their material resources. He stressed this as one of the fundamentals in success of the church and declared this thought should dominate every congregation attempting to reach the periphery of service.

This is the second important church conference that has been held in the beautiful new church erected by the local congregation about a year ago, and the visiting clergymen expressed themselves as highly gratified at the splendid accommodations afforded by the structure and the hospitable treatment accorded them by the congregation and city.

Place Orders For Equipment State Highways

Raleigh, Oct. 15.—(AP)—The state today had placed orders for approximately $300,000 worth of new highway equipment needed to perform its task for caring for all of the state's roads, including those taken over recently from the counties.

The largest item was 100 heavy trucks, the contract being awarded to the Corbett Truck Company of Henderson at $1,798.60 each.

Smaller trucks and tractors and trailers constituted the balance of the equipment.

SOLONS BOOST SEN. ROBINSON

Arkansas Legislature Offers Senator As Candidate for President of U. S.

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 15.—(AP)—The Arkansas Senate today adopted a resolution, commending U. S. Senator Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas "to the National Democracy as a seasoned statesman to lead the militant hosts of Democracy to victory in 1932."

The lower House of the Legislature last week adopted a concurrent resolution, which has not been acted upon in the Senate, endorsing Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York for the Democratic presidential nomination next year.

Only one vote was cast against the Robinson resolution in the Senate, that of Senator John M. Quarles of Helena.

Senator Quarles took exception to a reference in the resolution to Senator Robinson's "spotless private and public life." He said the Democratic leader in the United States Senate represents as a lawyer several large corporations and that "a man cannot serve two masters."

The business session preceded a luncheon under the direction of Mrs. Charles Platt, for many years a leader in both state and national U. D. C. circles. Tonight, Senator Morrison will be the chief speaker on the annual historical program.

CLINIC DRAWS INTEREST HERE

Forty Persons Examined for Tuberculosis of County Department of Health

About forty persons have been examined for tuberculosis in the clinic, which opened at the Pitt County Department of Health, Monday. It was announced this morning by Dr. R. S. McGeechay, public health director.

The clinic is being held by Dr. Thornton, representing the Extension Department of State Sanatorium, and is an effort to reduce the ravages exacted by the disease in this State.

Dr. McGeechay said the department was making an effort to handle at least 1,000 patients daily in order that each examination might be as complete and thorough as possible.

All persons who have been exposed to tuberculosis or who have previously received treatment at State Sanatorium have been advised to apply for examination.

Dr. Thornton will speak before the Parent-Teachers Association at Falkland tonight, and his address will deal exclusively with the tuberculosis situation. Education, health officials stated, is one of the most important features of the campaign to curb the spread of the disease, and while here Dr. Thornton will appear before numbers of organizations stressing the need of precaution in dealing with the situation.

Yorktown Ready For Celebration

Yorktown, Va., Oct. 15.—(AP)—Red Coats hold the Redoubts, reinforced by green-clad Hessians. Within musket range flutters the fleur-de-lis of France, side by side with the blue and buff clad Continental. Yes, and the Virginia militia in ragged buck shirts.

From the York menacing cannon threaten the heights from the fleet at anchor. The tiny village of Yorktown is again besieged, but no shot and shell will tear through its stately homes or break its ancient trees.

This scene was presented today as troops went through the final rehearsal of the stirring incidents preceding the surrender of Lord Cornwallis, which will be re-enacted before the thousands attending the semi-centennial observance of the battle of Yorktown, October 16-19.

Far into last night workmen labored to complete the setting for the celebration for which commissions of the state and nation have planned for more than a year. At midnight, except for policing the grounds, the stage was declared complete.

Deficit Of Government Goes Beyond The Half Billion Dollar Stage

Washington, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Cold figures emphasized the difficult financial position of the government anew today, the deficit passing the half billion dollar mark.

For the first three and a half months of the fiscal year, which began July 1, the treasury books show $497,106,000 in the red. (Continued on page eight)

DEATH COMA NEAR EDISON

Inventor On Threshold of Sleep From Which He Is Not Expected to Recover

West Orange, N. J., Oct. 15.—(AP)—Thomas A. Edison today was on the threshold of the coma which his physician does not expect he will ever awake.

Dr. Hubert S. Howe, the aged inventor's personal physician, said that the "deep stupor" into which Edison has now lapsed is closer to a coma than at any time in the past few days and that Edison's pulse is showing definite signs of weakening under the strain.

The physician said he could not at this time tell how long it would be until the end comes but that he intends to keep in closer touch with the Edison home throughout today and tonight.

In his morning bulletin, Dr. Howe said: "During the past 24 hours, Mr. Edison has not rested. He shows no signs of discomfort, simply resting quietly. There is no evident emergency."

But later he explained that he was worried about the change in the inventor's pulse and had no way of being certain as to how far off the "evident emergency" might be. The only nourishment Edison has been able to take for the last 148 hours consisted of six teaspoonsful of stewed pears, the doctor said.

All members of the inventor's immediate family were at the Edison estate today when Dr. Howe made his report.

Former Consul To Turkey Dead

New York, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Harold R. Foss, former United States consul at Constantinople, Turkey, died here today of injuries received last night when he either fell or jumped in front of a subway train.

Foss, 45, was standing on the platform of the Wall Street subway station at 6:45 p. m. last night when he was suddenly seen to lean forward and fall just as a train approached.

He was rushed to the hospital but never regained consciousness. He was unmarried and had been in the United States consular service for a number of years, it was said at the hospital.

Hurt By Blast of 'Empty' Tank

Burlington, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Robert Noble, who patches things in a welding shop, was being patched up in a hospital here today as a result of an explosion of an "empty" gasoline tank.

Noble and R. H. Fitch were welding a hole in the gasoline tank. Fitch applied the electric torch. The explosion threw Noble several feet. His clothes caught fire and he suffered a scalp wound and shock in addition to burns on his chest.

CANCEL GIANT STEEL MERGER AT NEW YORK

Bethlehem Corporation Calls Off Consolidation Contract With Ohio Concern

New York, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Eugene G. Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel Corp., today announced the merger contract between Bethlehem and Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. has been cancelled.

Mr. Grace said that due to changed conditions, it was deemed impracticable to carry out the contract made in March 1930 for merging the two companies and that Bethlehem had exercised its option to cancel the contract.

The contract, Mr. Grace said, had been extended from time to time by agreement of the parties in the hope that conditions would justify consummation of what both believed to be a sound understanding.

The agreement had covered acquisition by Bethlehem, either directly or through subsidiaries, of all properties and assets of Youngstown Sheet and Tube. The proposed consideration was the issuance of Bethlehem stock at four shares for three of Youngstown's shares and three of Youngstown's shares for two of Bethlehem's shares.

After a delay caused by court proceedings to restrain the voting of certain shares, the plan required approval of more than the required two-thirds of Youngstown stock on April 11, 1930.

Dissenting interests, headed by Cyrus S. Eaton, after prolonged hearings obtained an injunction, alleging among other grounds that stockholders had received inadequate information. The injunction was granted by Common Pleas Judge David G. Jenkins, at Youngstown, Dec. 29, last, and appeals were entered by both companies January 27 last.

In some circles it was reported that the purpose of the appeal was to keep the case open pending a renewal of negotiations. Reports have been circulated from time to time that a new basis for the merger was being negotiated, but they all met with denials.

State Bankers Will Discuss Hoover Relief

Poleish, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Bankers of North Carolina will meet in Greensboro next Tuesday to discuss ways and means of cooperating with President Hoover's credit extension plans.

Call for the meeting was issued by Paul P. Brown, secretary of the North Carolina Bankers Association.

He outlined the meeting's purposes as follows: "1—To discuss thoroughly and ascertain the position of the North Carolina bankers on the National Credit Corporation, which is President Hoover's plan for the purpose of aiding and assisting banks throughout the United States to utilize their resources and credit so as to further the stabilization of financial and economic conditions and to enable them better to serve their respective communities."

"2—To ascertain the position North Carolina banks will take in the plan to withhold cotton from the market as outlined at the recent meeting in New Orleans of bankers, members of the Federal Farm Board and representatives of the Cotton Co-operative Association."

R. M. Hanes of Winston-Salem, North Carolina organizer for the National Credit Corporation, is president of the State Bankers Association.

Three Former Bankers Freed By Craven Jury

New Bern, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Three former officials of the National Bank of New Bern now defendants, today stood acquitted of a charge of attempting to defraud the bank through loans to an investment company of which they were officers.

Their release came on a direct verdict by Judge I. M. Meekins in C. S. District Court here. They are W. W. Griffin, former president of the bank; E. C. Rea, vice-president; and E. H. Meadows, director.

Two other banking law violations cases in which the men are involved were postponed until the next term of court.

Man Dies From Auto Injuries

Goldsboro, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Leonard I. Martin, 28-year old Mill Olive farmer, died today in a hospital here of injuries received Monday night when his automobile ran into the rear of one driven by Edgar Swinson. An inquest was scheduled for later today.

GRID TEAMS RESPOND TO CALL FOR AID

New York, Oct. 15.—(AP)—A quick response to Owen D. Young's call for football to help the unemployed has brought prospects of the greatest gridiron carnival in the first two weeks of December that the United States ever has seen.

Today, less than 24 hours after the chairman of President Hoover's committee on the mobilization of relief resources issued his request for football's aid, games have been arranged involving ten of the east's outstanding football schools, the Western Conference has laid the groundwork for more battles and various other colleges and even professional teams have fallen in line.

The Army-Navy game at New York Dec. 12, originally the one big charity clash, now takes place as the climax of a great football festival with two gridiron tournaments involving Yale, Dartmouth, Holy Cross and Brown on the one hand and Princeton, Pennsylvania, Cornell and Columbia on the other taking place during the week preceding the service clash.

The two tournaments, which bring a new idea into eastern football, were announced last night through E. K. Hall, chairman of the intercollegiate football rules committee, at the request of the colleges. The four New England institutions will meet in the Yale Bowl December 5, while the others will come together at New York December 9, each tournament, two 20-minute preliminary games, will be played, with the opposition decided by lot, and the two winners will meet in a 20-minute final.

The plan was worked out when the college officials, most of them opposed to post-season and benefit games as a matter of principle, recognized that the call of the president's representative in the time of national emergency opens up the question in an entirely different form. Their schedules, Mr. Hall explained, made it difficult for them to arrange post-season games and the prospects of deficits faced by most of the college athletic associations made the plan of setting aside the receipts of a regularly scheduled game impractical.

Although no games have yet been arranged in the western conference, the rules have been changed to permit members to engage one another in charity games and to extend their seasons to November 23.

Outside of the two tournaments and the Army-Navy game in the east, Temple University of Philadelphia has offered its services, suggesting Pennsylvania as a possible opponent, and the authorities of many other colleges have expressed their willingness to cooperate. The Franklin Yellow Jackets, a professional team, also has offered to meet any opponent on Armistice Day.

The tournament plan brings numerous interesting possibilities for the ordinary football fan. First among these is the chance that Princeton and Pennsylvania may meet in one of the games after nearly 40 years of shattered football relations.

Another prospect is that of seeing a new brand of football where the rival teams "shoot the works" in an effort to do as much scoring as possible in 20 minutes.

SPORTS SLANTS

In at least one respect, the Notre Dame "system" picked up where it left off when Edward (Slip) Madigan's strong St. Marys eleven whipped Southern California in the great Coliseum at Los Angeles.

It was looked upon as a startling surprise in many parts of the country, but not in the far west, where Madigan's outfit are well-known, or around New York, where St. Marys demonstrated its class by bowling over the undefeated Fordham team a year ago.

The impressive part of the achievement was that Madigan, so early in the season, was able to find adequate replacements for star performers such as Stennett and Ebling, outstanding players of his 1930 army.

When successors for Knute Rockne at Notre Dame were being discussed, I heard a number of close adherents of the Fighting Irish insist that Slip Madigan was the man to "carry on" at South Bend and keep the quality of football production up to the wizard's standard.

There is still a strong segment of opinion that Madigan is the man for this big job. It likely will gain momentum with another strong year for St. Marys on the coast.

Wins Streaks Snap

There aren't many winning streaks of consequence left around the football map now that the University of Utah's string, begun away back in 1927, has been snapped by the Utes' setback at the hands of Washington.

Even Ohio's university streak, extending over two seasons, has been broken. Tennessee had its unbeaten march broken up last year.

Notre Dame carried one of the most impressive winning streaks into action this year. It was a fitting climax for Rockne to pilot two unbeaten eleven through two of the hardest schedules any team

V. M. I. MEETS CAVALIERS IN NEW STADIUM

By CECIL M. JONES
Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 15.—(AP)—Southern football applauded the dedication of a new $300,000 stadium at the University of Virginia today as the Cavaliers faced the V. M. I. Cadets in their 27th meeting and then settled back to await the big Southern Conference fireworks in Tennessee on Saturday.

Neither Virginia nor V. M. I. has a say-so in the conference race but their rivalry dating from 1893, dedication of the new Virginia plant and 700 V. M. I. Cadets on parade focused the attention of football followers on the game.

While Virginians made merry, the Carolina sunshine of song and story went into the eclipse as Tar Heel followers wondered what would happen when North Carolina faces Georgia without the services of Johnny Branch, dropped, Coach Collins said, for breaking training. Roy McDade, star tackle, was out for the same reason.

There was a ray of hope for the generally rated under dog in Saturday's game, however, when the Tar Heels, apparently determined to make up for the loss of Branch and McDade, ran wild against the freshmen yesterday.

North Carolina State and Wake Forest met in an important game today. Friday Clemson will take on Citadel Bull Dogs in the annual Pee Dee fair classic at Florence, S. C. Friday night Oglethorpe plays Loyola of the South in New Orleans and the Mercer Bears engage John Carroll at Cleveland.

Down on the plains of Alabama's Auburn hunted for substitutes to use in its annual game with Georgia Tech Saturday. It seemed likely, however, that the "immortal 14" who played Wisconsin to a 7-7 tie last week would have to carry most of the burden on the flats.

Tennessee folk were preparing to march on Knoxville and Nashville to be in at the killing when two of the "Big Five" of 1931 southern football got their Saturday.

Followers of the Orange and White, spoiled with three years of Bobby Dodd, took on life anew as Gene McEver hurried bullet passes all over the field and Beattie Featherstone, a young sophomore, sent his kicks high and wide. They reckoned Tennessee might make it through the season and confidently awaited the arrival of the Crimson Tide.

Alabama, after looking over Tennessee plays yesterday, was ready to entrain for Knoxville for a workout in the Vols' domain tomorrow.

In New Orleans Tulane labored far into the night preparing for Vanderbilt. The boys were in good shape as they drilled under the floodlights.

The Commodores, and you can just about count their losses in their own playground in recent years on the hand, awaiting the coming of the Wave with cheers as officials said it was likely Captain Amos Leonard, out for two weeks with a bad wrist, would be in the game.

SETS NEW RECORD

Seattle, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Helene Madison, champion woman swimmer, set a new world's record for the mile swim and broke seven American records in a swimming exhibition here last night.

The records were set up at different distances over the mile course. The world mile record was held by herself and the American marks by Ethel McGary, New York.

Miss Madison's time for the mile was 23 minutes, 37.1-2 seconds, breaking her own mark of 24 minutes, 34.3-5 seconds. Miss McGary's time for the distance was 25 minutes, 36 seconds.

There are no soft spots for the Irish this year, either, and it will be close to a miracle if "Hunk" Anderson and Jack Chevigny can keep the boys at a winning peak through engagements with Northwestern, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Carnegie, Navy, Southern California and Army.

The prospective formation of a "Big Ten" in the south is a logical move, on the basis of events during the past two years, coupled with the unwillingness of the present Southern Conference group of 22 major colleges and universities.

Herefore the idea has been to arrange a split-off bringing more closely together the so-called "northern" and "southern" divisions of this big conference, but the steps just taken include institutions in both sectors of Dixie.

It remains to be seen how the rest of the conference views the proceedings and what the final line-up will be.

A year ago the boys were feeling sorry for Joe McCarthy, ousted from his management of the Cubs in favor of Rogers Hornsby.

Drop the curtain for a season's passage of time and you find Marjoe Joe riding high with the Yankees, grabbing second place from Washington and making himself solid with metropolitan fans, while Hornsby struggled in with a disrupted outfit of fading stars.

McCarthy, on the basis of his 1931 showing with the Yankees, can have a long-term job, but Hornsby has yet to meet the demands of Owner William Wrigley.

BRANCH HOLDS ATTENTION OF STATE FANS

Charlotte, Oct. 15.—(AP)—One lone football player vied with two complete teams for the attention of North Carolina fans today as they tried to keep an eye on Johnny Branch of Chapel Hill.

Branch, one of the most spectacular players to hit a college campus in this section in many years, and Roy McDade, a brilliant player in 1930, have been suspended from the University of North Carolina squad at a time when the Tar Heels need all the good gridiron material they can find.

Coach Chuck Collins announced the players were first for branch training at Gainesville, Fla., where the Tar Heels played Florida, a scoreless tie Saturday. He did not amplify his statement.

The incident calls to mind the suspension last season of Jim Mackner, star North Carolina back, on the eve of the important Tennessee game. Mackner, however, was said to have been injured before game time and played against Tennessee. Whether a similar course will be followed in the case of Branch and McDade remains to be seen.

A group of students at the University were reported to be preparing a petition asking the Athletic Council to review the case and rescind the suspension. The impression prevailed, however, that Collins would stick to his decision.

Stuart Chandler has been shifted to Branch's quarterback post but it is probable that he will go back to his fullback when Johnny Peacock, second string quarterback, has recovered from injuries received in a practice scrimmage.

Peacock, in the opening game with Wake Forest, demonstrated he knows a thing or two about handling a team and a football and it is probable that if Branch's suspension remains permanent, he will blossom forth as a field general of the first order.

Branch's tackle, will be missed by the Tar Heels but not as much as Branch. He was an all-State selection last season but had been substituting this season because he reported in poor condition. With Branch gone, the Tar Heels have no capable punter which may mean that Bill Croom or Tom White, fair kickers, will replace Phipps in the regular backfield and Hanes Lassiter may get the fullback post if Chandler remains at quarter.

Duke finished up its work in preparation for Davidson's homecoming game today and Wallace Wade expects to leave Durham tomorrow afternoon with 30 players. The Blue Devils have been concentrating on offense, feeling that their defense, as demonstrated in the Villanova game, is sufficient to stop the Wildcats.

A Short, Short Story.

Priscilla (making the final adjustment to her new hat).—

"Is my hat on straight, John, dear?"

"No, it looks like the Leaning Tower."

"Well, that's the way it's supposed to be."

"If it's supposed to be crooked how can it be straight?"

"Can't a hat be crooked and still be straight, stupid?"

"Don't call me stupid, you big baboon. If you want to look like a Monday morning hang-over go ahead. It sits way on the side of your head and if that means it isn't crooked I'm crazy."

"Yeah. You are crazy. And listen here, John Alden. I won't let anyone tell me I'm a big baboon."

News item in the Morning Post: "Mystery shrouds the death of John Alden, whose body was found in a badly mutilated state in his apartment, 55 Main street. It is believed by the police that he was the victim of gangsters, although neighbors say they heard a vociferous argument between him and his wife over something being crooked and straight."

JAPAN TAKES STEPS TO KEEP AMERICA OUT OF DISCUSSION MAN-TOURIAN CONTROVERSY

war.

The secretary of state explained the American representative at Geneva would not participate in any procedure under the League covenant's instruments to avert war.

The ambassador is communicating this information to his government.

Tokyo, Oct. 15.—(AP)—The Japanese foreign office today instructed its delegation in Geneva to use every effort to see that the proposal for including an American representative in the League of Nations council during discussion of the Sino-Japanese trouble be dropped.

The proposal caused more or less commotion at the foreign ministry, which lost no time in sending instructions to its Geneva representatives.

The foreign office took the view that, under the circumstances, it should make Japan's attitude clear at the earliest possible moment, officials feeling that the Japan so public would not tolerate "America and the League working together in the Manchurian tangle, which is purely an affair between China and Japan."

The spokesman for the foreign office said:

"There is all the difference in the world in America as an outsider keeping itself informed as to the league's activities, compared with its actual participation in the council's sittings."

In connection with the foreign office's contention that public opinion would not approve of America taking an active role at Geneva, the spokesman emphasized that it was "most assuredly not due to any unfriendliness on the part of Japan, but more as a matter of principle."

The spokesman asserted that two Washington memorandums (presumably notes urging peace and proposing confinement of troop activities in Manchuria to the requirements of international law) had been withheld from the Japanese public on the ground that they might stir up anti-American feeling.

The spokesman referred to similar instances in which he said Japanese opinion was easily inflamed when it was felt that outsiders were interfering in this country's affairs.

Only a part of the messages filed by Kermichi Yoshizawa, Japan's representative at Geneva, reporting the league proceedings, had been received here, some of them apparently having been delayed en route.

Because of this the Tokyo government withheld its reply pending receipt of Yoshizawa's messages in full and sent instructions to the Geneva delegation to do its utmost to persuade League officials to abandon their proposals for actual participation by America.

The Tokyo government adopted the view that an unfavorable impression already had been made upon the Japanese generally by American Secretary of State Stimson's note to the League on October 9 advising it to "in no way fail to assert all the pressure of authority within its competence" toward a settlement of the Sino-Japanese trouble.

The foreign office spokesman characterized this as "politically unfortunate indeed."

Japanese officials apparently considered the Stimson note "unreasonably harsh and rather strong to say the least," and rather strong to say the least, in view of the Japanese contentions from the beginning that the Manchurian affair was merely a controversy between two neighbors and that no outside interference was desired, more particularly on the part of the United States at this time.

Washington, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Japan's strong stand against American participation in efforts of the League of Nations to bring peace in Manchuria was regarded at the State Department as indicative of a misunderstanding of the American position.

While no formal statement was forthcoming, possible pending official word of the situation, department spokesmen indicated the only desire of the United States is to see that Japan and China do not resort to war.

Meanwhile, White House officials declined to comment upon the Japanese move opposing American participation in the League's discussions.

President Hoover is keeping in direct touch with all developments. At the State Department it was said again this government has no desire to under take to adjudicate the controversy, its only interest being to see that it is settled peacefully.

Whether the United States, in view of Japan's attitude, would withdraw its previously expressed willingness to be represented at the League's council table was not made known, pending a study of the latest developments by Secretary Stimson.

RASKOB GIVES T. O. CAMPAIGN

represent my full and final contribution to this fund."

"It is given gladly," he added, "because of my belief in the cause to which I have already contributed very heavily in time and money."

Raskob in his letter stated that during the two and a half years he had "personally assumed responsibility for seeing to it that the national committee should be able to function effectively."

"I have done this," he wrote, "because I am convinced that the Democratic party should maintain continuous activity between elections, thus perfecting a virile, militant organization and keeping Democratic principles and policies constantly before the people of the country in order to gain their confidence and their votes."

"I am sure that the results accomplished under the able leadership of J. M. Soule and his associates at national headquarters in Washington are fully appreciated by Democrats everywhere, and that the returns from the victory fund campaign will applaud their accomplishments and place the party in that strong financial position necessary to successful operation."

Mr. Raskob was Democratic candidate for president in 1924, headed the organization which has been named "The Victory Fund Campaign," and which is sponsored by a general committee of more than 500 Democratic supporters throughout the country.

LOST UGLY FAT

Her Husband Says She Looks Five Years Younger

There is a certain weight at which every woman looks her loveliest—not skinny underweight nor pendulous overweight, but normal weight. "My husband says I look five years younger," writes this lady of 29 who—thanks to her daily dose of Kruschen Salts—has unburdened her body of 18 pounds of ugly fat. Read her letter:—

"Having heard from a friend of mine that she had lost considerable weight since taking Kruschen Salts, I started using them in July last, when I weighed 177 lbs. I have lost weight steadily since then, and am now 159 lbs.—my normal weight. Moreover, I feel brighter and more energetic in every way. I have acquired my dressmaker my measurements, which in August last were:—Bust 40, Hips 43 1/2, Waist 33 1/2 inches. Last week they were:—Bust 38, Hips 40, Waist 31 inches, which is normal for my height, which is 5 ft. 3 in. My age is 29. My husband is a very severe critic. He says I look five years younger. There is no other reason for my loss of weight except Kruschen, as I do not take any particular diet."

DISSENSION GRIPS SPAIN

New President Begins Work in Atmosphere of Religious Strife and Danger

Madrid, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Spain's new president, Manuel Azana, picked up the reins of government today in an atmosphere of religious dissension fraught with danger for the future of the republic.

Under the provisions of the new constitution, he was designated by the national assembly last night as leader of the radical opposition to the government of the late king, who succeeded Niceto Alcalá Zamora, who resigned with his cabinet in protest against anti-church legislation. He re-appointed the former cabinet with two changes.

President Azana told the Associated Press that "the republic is immovable. We are as strong as if we had held power a long time. Our fundamental mission consists of fabricating a great, strong, prosperous republic with peace and justice for all. The government is Republican but the republic is for all Spaniards."

The change in authority was accompanied by vigorous demonstrations against the Catholic church and threats of revolt against the government. Bands of Communists and anti-clericals ranged through the streets, shouting violence to Catholicism and the Jesuits. Police engaged in running fights with them. A dozen or more were badly beaten and a score were arrested.

The government received hundreds of expressions of protest over the constitutional articles separating the church and state and subjecting some religious orders to dissolution.

Casares Quiroga, former minister of marine, was advanced to the ministry of the interior to take the place of Miguel Maura, resigned, and Jose Giral was named to the vacated post.

Negro Killed By Bears

Los Angeles—Dorothy Burgess, a movie actress, gave a party. After it was over she notified police that $8,000 worth of jewels were missing. She gave another party and announced the jewels had been found.

Must Be More Careful

Washington—Postoffice employees have been instructed to use extraordinary care in sorting mail for several Pennsylvania cities. Folks write Ashley, Askey, Asheville, Ashland and Askey so carelessly that the letters land frequently in the wrong town.

COSTIVENESS

Confining indoor work—

skillful work with the hands that does not include plenty of exercise for the body, often results in the bad feeling and unpleasant signs of faulty bowel movement. W. S. Conant, a saddler and harness maker living in Somerset, Ky., says: "I had to take something for costiveness, as I would just get so tired, or have a dull feeling. After I heard of Black-Draught and began taking it I avoided this trouble. I take it in small doses and it is most satisfactory."

ABOUT TOWN

This time to exterminate rodents which have destroyed the profits of the sorely harassed farmer in past years, and by the placing of bait furnished farmers under supervision of government inspectors, it is hoped to carry pandemonium into the ranks of the rat.

The campaign was started last year, and while many farmers participated with excellent results, they were prevented from realizing complete curtailment of infestation because their neighbors did not take part in the campaign. This year, however, the farm department is attempting to impress upon the growers the importance of united co-operation and hopes to be able to effectively combat the menace.

Poison bait will be distributed from five different points in the county and is available to any farmer desiring to aid in the movement to cut down the toll of destruction wrought by the rats each year in the county.

It is to be hoped growers will give the plan the consideration which it is so deserving because it is directed in behalf of preservation of our resources, and that in itself should be sufficient to command the instant attention of the thrifty homeowners.

Let's make this a 100 per cent campaign and then we will have lasting results.

Farmers are urged to return the cards enclosed in letters recently mailed to them by the Pitt County Farm Department, indicating which one of the following places they wish the poison bait to be left:

T. L. & W. J. Turnage, Farmville.
Hugh T. Stokes, Gardner's Cross Roads.

J. B. Pierce, Ayden.
County Agent's Office, this city.
H. V. Staton, Bethel.

The bait will be available October

29 between 2 p. m. and 5 p. m. Bait must be used when fresh for best results so by all means call for it during these hours on the afternoon of October 29.

Don't forget that the bait must be ordered in advance, so fill out and mail the cards at once.

In this county-wide campaign of the Pitt County Board of Agriculture, we have the assistance of Mr.
A. E. Oman, rodent specialist for the government, who will supervise mixing the bait.

Explain New Plane Device

Charlotte, Oct. 15.—(AP)—A
"mechanical pilot" which will do everything about flying an airplane except take it off and land it, was described here by Eastern Air Transport officials after formal announcement was made in New York that the Sperry Gyroscope Company was conducting successful tests of the machine.

The first test flight ever made with the robot was conducted by Vice President Elliott, of the Transport company, which is affiliated with the Sperry concern, and the results were explained here.

Dispatches from New York said
the robot, when finally completed, would be placed in service on Eastern Air Transport planes between New York, Raleigh and Jacksonville and New York, Charlotte and Atlanta.

Attached to a giant Condor with 19 persons aboard, the robot recently flew this ship 25 miles from Newark, N. J., along a previously charted course, and returned to the field without human aid. The machine compensated for drift, headwinds, tailwinds and even for thrust when all passengers, as a final test, suddenly threw their weight to one side of the plane.

The machine was also said to speed, regardless of prevailing wind.

Engineers said the robot handled the plane with greater skill than the most experienced human pilots.

B. W. MOSELEY ELECTED PRESBYTERY MODERATOR

Rev. W. S. Harden and B. W.

Mr. Moseley was elected moderator of the presbytery. The next session will be held in this city in January.

FISH TICKET SALES TO SCREEN PRODUCTION

Members of the High School Athletic Association were scouting the town today for purchasers of tickets to the "Spirit of Notre Dame" brilliant screen production to be shown at State Theatre Friday.

The association is sponsoring the ticket sale for the show and hopes to receive a big boost of its treasury as result of the activity.

Members of the organization are hard pressed for funds this year, and hope to be able to raise a considerable sum of money through extra effort such as represented by the ticket sale plan.

For the first time Greenville theatre-goers will be able to see the great idols of the gridiron—the Four Horsemen, Frank Carideo and the other famous Notre Dame stars thunder across the screen in the unforgettable spectacle of romance and drama. Lew Ayres works with these men in a beautiful fashion and has produced his finest work since "All Quiet." The picture has its appeal for both young and old.

FIRE DAMAGES HOME OF CHARLIE SAIED

The home of Charlie Saied, corner of Evans and 11th streets, was damaged to the extent of approximately $100 by fire yesterday afternoon. A towel caught fire behind an oil stove and the flames spread to the walls before being checked by the arrival of the fire department.

KIWANIS TO HEAR ABOUT SCOUT ACTIVITIES

The activities of Boy Scouts of Greenville will be considered at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis club at the Woman's club tomorrow evening at 6:30 o'clock.

The program will be in charge of Joe Taft, one of the leaders of the Scout movement in this community, and much interesting information concerning the work of the organization is expected to be divulged.

RAT BAIT AVAILABLE TO COUNTY PEOPLE

By E. F. Arnold, County Agent
In this united effort to rid the county of rats, red squill mixed with hamburger, fish and cereal will be used for bait. Rats are bound to like one of these three. It is the safest and best poison known to science for killing rats, and will not kill humans, dogs, cats, poultry or hogs when used as directed.

Red squill is a slow acting poison, thereby giving rats time to reach their underground burrows. When used in dwelling houses, however, it should be placed in the basement.

Each package will contain enough material for 100 baits, sufficient to cover the average set of farm buildings. Those having many rats, or a large number of buildings, should order a double amount. All you need to do is to place the baits —full instructions will accompany each package.

Rats travel far, so we must have the help of every one. Interest your neighbor, for his rats may be your rats if he does nothing about them.

LADY with a PAST

By Harriet Henry

SYNOPSIS: Popularity is the stakes for which Venice Muir has been trained and groomed, but she sees no chance of winning. Her mother, prominent in New York society, cares only for Venice's social success. Venice realizes that she hasn't the light ease that her friend possesses. She is unusually lovely, but her face is both immature and wistful. "I look too pure," she decides. "Purity is out of style." The Goadby's party is for Venice merely another instance of her lack of appeal. Her friend Lola Goadby provides her with partners, but she cannot interest them. Attempting to imitate the methods of the other girls, she fails miserably. The next morning, Venice considers trying to write a novel. Continual introspection has given her ability to analyze the emotions of others. Mrs. Muir comes in and looks anxiously at Venice. "How was the Goadby's party?" she asks.

Chapter 4 SELF-REVELATION

"It was really beautifully done," Venice told her mother. "Excellent music. Lush foot, lots of people."

"Did you have a good time?" "No."

"Why not?" "Oh, Mother, I got stuck as usual."

It was these repeated post-party criticisms that heightened the urgency within Venice for popularity. They lent her failure added significance. There was a silence. Mrs. Muir looked distressedly perplexed. "I can't understand you, Venice," she complained.

"I'm so easy to understand, Mother. That's probably one of the troubles. No one's intrigued by the other. That's probably one of the troubles. We've gone over it too often. I just don't happen to have any social graces. I like to talk books and things like that. No one wants to talk books at a party. I try for airy persiflage. It simply won't come to the tip of my tongue. And the knowledge that I'm stupid that way makes me self-conscious and dull."

Her words fairly tumbled over each other in the bitterness of self-revelation. "You can't turn a violet into an orchid no matter how you cultivate it. Mayn't I take some courses up at Columbia? I'd love to write. I have plenty of plots in my head. Mayn't I Mother?"

"One of those intellectual girls! Nonsense, Venice. Writing isn't going to keep you warm and fill your stomach as you grow older. It's entertaining and being entertained that fills the books and crannies. A husband, children, your own home. Plenty of friends, plenty of invitations. That's the essence of life. Don't be absurd my dear."

"I wonder," snapped Mrs. Muir. "Be satisfied with what has satisfied generations before you. Wondering is the undoing of the modern generation."

"Or the making," suggested Venice.

"There!" said Mrs. Muir disgustedly. "That's the kind of remark I suppose you make at a party. Deep. Never try to be clever with men, Venice. They want you to think them clever but they shy clear of brains in the weaker sex."

"Dear mother! You're so south-of-the-Mason and Dixon line, if you know what I mean."

"I'm glad to say I don't." She glanced at a jeweled watch on her wrist. "Goodness, almost eleven. I must be off to the Red Cross. Good-bye, dear."

Venice put aside the breakfast tray. Writing? Writing would be something within herself, all her own. The neglect of others could not frustrate it. A novel. Would she have the perseverance? A book about herself. She jumped out of bed, pulled a negligee about her, settled at the spinet desk. Pencil. Paper. She became absorbed.

Twenty minutes later Venice leaned back in the chair. She felt warm and excited and strangely anticipatory. She read what she had written. She liked it. She had shown herself at the Goadby's party. It seemed like a real party if only she had succeeded in bringing out the poignant misery of her own unpopularity. Her eyes shone. I'm going to do a little every day.

The telephone at her bedside table rang.

"Hello."

"Morning, Venice."

"Oh, Lola. Your party was lovely. Come to lunch, won't you? We'll mull it all over."

"Fine. Are you going to the Yale-Princeton game by an chance?"

"No, I don't expect to go."

"Well, I'll be along in a minute. Bye Venice."

Venice let the receiver sink slowly into place. The Yale-Princeton game. Crisp, tangy air; pretty girls in pretty clothes; cheery men in racoon coats and high spirits. And going home in a car. Laughing and singing and snuggling close to a racoon shoulder. She knew. She'd done it once, her debutante year when her mother had arranged a party. She had liked it better than anything that had ever happened in the gay, social whirl. Oh, God, she wanted to go. Almost everybody went. And what was worse almost everybody talked of it for a week before and a week afterwards. Two weeks of acknowledged exclusion for Venice.

"-tine. Puff! It wasn't enough. When Lola came Venice answered her for the hundredth time. Nothing ever worried or irritated her. She seemed to impress her one way or another. She did gaily, heedlessly. Her brown eyes shone and her mouth slightly prominent, like the eyes of a Pekinese, sparkled and laughed, her mouth turned up at the corners her snub nose aided and abetted her general look of effervescence. Even the crisp bits of crinkly yellow hair that sprung from the sides of her close-fitting black hat had an air of vitality and suppressed gaiety.

"Whither away?" she cried. "That's just what I feel like doing—withering away," said Venice dryly.

"And what's the matter now?" Lola tossed her hat and coat on the nearest chair.

Sitting opposite each other at the oval mahogany table, sunshine painting it to the roteness of ripe cherries flashing on old Colonial silver, dappled gold the pompon chrysanthemums in the centre crystal bowl, Venice, unburdened herself.

"I'm all wrong," she blurted. "What's the use of pretending? I never make a hit anywhere. No one hardly ever takes me home. Don't you think I might back out of it all, study something?"

"Heavens no! Why? What you want to back out of is the only thing, Venice. You'll get into your stride suddenly one of these days. You're shy, that's all. Stick it out. It'll be worth it. It's fun."

"Yes, if you're popular. I'm not. It's agony then. Hanging about and watching other people enjoy themselves. What makes one popular, do you think?"

Lola nibbled a roll, reflected. "Well, there're various types of popularity."

"For instance?"

"Copyright, Harriet Henry"

What is the recipe for popularity? Lola's classification provides a choice for Venice, tomorrow.

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady today, at an advance of 3 points on October but generally unchanged to 7 points lower under southern selling and selling by commission houses here. Relatively steady Liverpool cables may have accounted for the advance on the general market.

Traders seemed to be more influenced by reports of improving weather in the south following the rains or showers of the previous day, while the buying was in comparatively small volume. December sold off to 6.13 by the end of the first half hour and March declined to 6.43, with active months showing net losses of about 7 to 8 points.

Liverpool cables attributed the steadiness in that market to covering and trade calling and reported a sustained demand for cotton cloths and yarns in Manchester.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Renewal of attention to difficulties between China and Japan did a good deal to impart late firmness to grain prices today. Estimates that the orient had been a good buyer of wheat on the Pacific Coast were emphasized owing to reports that China purchased three cargoes today in Canada. A majority of wheat traders appeared to favor the buying side of the market on breaks.

Wheat closed irregular, 1-8 cent off to 3-8 up, corn unchanged to 1-4 higher, oats at 1-8-3-8 decline and provisions unchanged to 5 cents advance.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Wall Street took a fresh hold on its courage today, as the stock market turned upward before the reaction from last week's high levels got beyond normal technical limit.

The rail shares led a slow but substantial advance. Brokerage circles received intimations of an early announcement of the Washington administration's plan to stabilize railway bonds. The upturn came after the declines of Tuesday and Wednesday had cancelled roughly half of last week's extreme gain.

After recording numerous advances of 2 to 7 points, the market slipped back a little from the top during the third hour, but the advance was soon resumed. Santa Fe Railroad rose more than 7 points, and issues getting up 3 to 4 included New York Central, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, New Haven and Norfolk and Western. In other sections of the list, Eastman rose more than 7 points, and issues getting up 3 to 4 included New York Central, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, New Haven and Norfolk and Western. In other sections of the list, Eastman rose more than 7 points, and issues getting up 3 to 4 included New York Central, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, New Haven and Norfolk and Western.

Brokers' quarters had anticipated a fair setback from the high levels reached in last week's violent rebound. A swift rebound in the market is usually followed by a secondary reaction. If this reaction is checked after cancelling about half of the extreme rise, chart readers regard it as of merely technical position. If more than half the advance is lost, chart readers begin to fear that the rebound may have reflected merely the striking of a false bottom. The upturn today, therefore, was regarded as of considerable significance.

Wall Street was encouraged by a better tone in foreign bonds, and somewhat better feeling in international banking circles over conditions abroad.

DEFICIT OF GOVERNMENT GOES BEYOND HALF BILLION

Even as this was revealed, fiscal experts of the department were pondering over how to adjust the situation—whether taxes should be increased. President Hoover has said the study will continue sometime, with no decision likely before Congress returns to work in December.

The deficit is $485,000,000 more than it was for the same period of the previous fiscal year. At the close of business October 13, the government had collected from all sources $629,768,231 and had spent $1,131,874,831.

The receipts were $250,000,000 less than collected in the same period of last year, and the expenditures $200,000,000 more than spent in the first two and one half months of the 1931 year.

The seriousness of the government's financial position became apparent early this year when income taxes dwindled away at an alarming rate and the government finished the fiscal year on June 30 with a deficit of $903,000,000.

The chief cause of that deficit was a decrease of $550,000,000 in income tax collections. In the two and one half months of the present year income tax receipts were $241,000,000 less than collected in the same period of last year, when amounted to $561,000,000. Total internal revenue collections for the present year amounted to $481,717,805 as compared to $738,021,055 last year.

Since the government receipts have been dropped away its expenditures have been made by borrowing money through issuance of Treasury bills, certificates of indebtedness and bonds.

Since March 15 the government has sold securities amounting to $400,000,000, about half of which has been used for refunding maturing security issues.

Any plan that might be approved by Congress could have but little effect on the present fiscal year, as it will be half completed before Congress could act.

The deficit seems certain to amount to $1,000,000,000 or more for this year.

REBELLION IN ECUADOR

of an armed rebellion.

The government put down an armed military movement, the dispatch said and Colonel Carlos Guerrero, former minister of war, and Manuel Navarro, president of the Chamber of Deputies, were arrested.

News was scarce and fragmentary, indicating that a censorship was operating, but the situation in the capital was believed to be grave.

Col. Luis Larrea Alba succeeded to the presidency of Ecuador last August at the resignation of Dr. Isidro Ayora, who had served as provisional president since 1926.

His predecessor's administration had been marked by efforts, not altogether successful, to arbitrate boundary disputes between Ecuador, Peru and Colombia, and to place the nation's finances on sound footing.

When the budgetary troubles reached a crisis last September Dr. Ayora submitted his resignation but was persuaded to reconsider. Last August he quit after what was described as a "peaceful revolt" among army officers at the Chimborazo Garrison.

Col. Larrea Alba, a minister of government, succeeded to the office despite the opposition of certain branches of the army whom he later said he had succeeded in pacifying. He is not yet 40 years old.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)
