CONFERENCE EXTENSION BEGINS HERE FOR CLINIC

Glowing Reports Feature First Session of Pentecostal Holiness Churches

By J. W. BUTLER
Reports glowing with inspiration and optimism were made by the pastors, evangelists and officers of the North Carolina Conference of the Pentecostal Holiness church which convened in annual session at the Greenville church this morning at 9 o'clock.

The conference sessions will continue throughout the bounds of the conference during the past 12 months, in spite of the general depression which has gripped the eastern section of the state.

Delegates and preachers from all sections of the conference have assembled here for the session which began last night with devotional services.

The conference sessions will continue through today, with devotional services tonight, Sunday school at 9:30 Sunday morning, preaching service following at 11 o'clock, a special service in the afternoon and preaching service again Sunday night.

On Monday morning the business will be taken up and committee reports will be heard. At the close of the session the place of the 1932 meeting will be selected, officers elected, and the preachers' assignments made.

Rev. J. H. King, of Franklin Springs, Ga., general superintendent of the church, was in the chair and presided over the sessions today. He read a Scripture lesson from the first chapter of Second Thessalonians and followed the lesson with appropriate comments during the brief devotional service which preceded the actual taking up of the business of the hour.

The general superintendent exhorted the ministerial and lay delegates to hold steady to the fundamental (Continued on Page Two)

UNDERTAKER SHOT BY THUGS

Hartsville, S. C., Oct. 24.—(AP)—C. M. Pennington, Hartsville undertaker, was found critically wounded on the highway 5 miles from here early today two hours after he had left his home to go to Raleigh, N. C. Physicians said he could live only a few hours.

His clothes had been stripped of all valuables. Pennington was found shot through the head. A pistol lay near his side.

His automobile was parked near him and near this lay a hat and a cap. Police investigating pronounced it a murder with robbery as the motive.

Pennington had left his home here at 5 o'clock this morning to go to the North Carolina city on business. Two hours later a traveling man driving a New Jersey automobile reported the slaying to police here.

The slaying occurred on the main highway leading north out of this city. Police reported everything of value had been taken from the body of the man and that there were no indications as to how many were implicated in the killing.

Police went immediately to the scene in an attempt to gather tangible clues if any that might point toward apprehension of the murderers.

LAWYER FINED
Washington, N. C., Oct. 24.—(By AP)—Dewey Topping of Pantego, well known lawyer of this section, was deprived of his driver's license for ten years, and $500 and given a jail sentence of one year on charges of driving an automobile while under the influence of whiskey.

Judge J. Paul Frizzelle, presiding over the October term of civil and criminal court in Hyde county, imposed the sentence.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson today ordered that Al Capone be held at the county jail until Monday to permit his attorneys to seek bond in the U. S. District Court of Appeals.

Judge Wilkerson had previously ordered the gangster taken to Leavenworth penitentiary immediately to start serving his 11-year sentence for violating the income tax laws.

Federal officials estimated that as the result of the income tax conviction, Capone's immediate debt to the government was $287,328.16 in fines, taxes payable now and costs of prosecution.

Federal Building, Chicago, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson today sentenced Al Capone to 11 years imprisonment for evasion of the income tax laws.

Capone was also fined $50,000 and ordered to pay the costs of his prosecution.

Judge Wilkerson ruled that Capone might be given credit on his six months' contempt of court sentence, passed last February and now under appeal when he had served that amount of time in the Leavenworth penitentiary.

The sentence was more than double the largest ever passed in an income tax evasion case. Jack Guzik, Capone's business manager, was sentenced to five years on similar charges.

Before sentencing Capone, Judge Wilkerson denied the defense motion in arrest of judgment.

Capone was denied bond and remanded to the custody of the U. S. marshal.

His attorneys filed notice of an appeal.

The penalty assessed by Judge Wilkerson was five years and $100,000 on each of three felony counts and one year and $10,000 each of two misdemeanor counts. Sentence of the two felony counts is to run concurrently, however, as are the two misdemeanor sentences.

Judge Wilkerson, in ordering the defendant to prison immediately said if the higher courts should reverse the verdict on the felony (Continued on Page Four)

Tobacco Market Continues Lead of Bright Belt
The Greenville tobacco market continued to lead all other markets in the New Bright belt. It was revealed in the official report of K. W. Cobb, supervisor of sales, made public today.

For the season the market has sold 32,566,998 pounds, as against 32,994,234 compared with the corresponding period last season.

In the closing sale of the week yesterday 1,091,702 pounds of leaf was sold for $129,704.16, at an average of $118.86 per hundred pounds.

The price situation continued to hold its upward trend.

Jury Continues Probe of Courts

Asheville, N. C., Oct. 24.—(AP)—Subpoenas for 37 additional witnesses, including some of the city's leading business and professional men, were issued today by the Buncombe county grand jury, investigating charges of official misconduct in the county courts and jury rooms.

Asheville, N. C., Oct. 24.—(AP)—With a dozen witnesses still to be heard and 29 more expected to be summoned at the request of Wicks Wamboldt, city councilman who testified yesterday, the Buncombe county grand jury continued its "courts corruption" investigation here today.

Wamboldt, whose charge, in a public meeting that "judges and juries are bought and sold like sacks of corn" precipitated the probe, was one of the 16 witnesses who testified yesterday.

Wamboldt said he presented a mass of allegations to the grand jury presented to him by other people which he had not had time to verify.

Arrest Son for Father's Death

Laurens, S. C., Oct. 24.—(AP)—A month of investigation by state and county officers into the brutal slaying of W. C. Rasor, 71 year old retired Cross Hill banker, today had resulted in the arrest of his son, Henry Rasor, 45, and four other men on charges of murder.

The son, a farmer, and two other white men were arrested yesterday. Two negroes had been arrested last week and lodged in the state penitentiary at Columbia.

Warrants have been issued jointly charging the five with murder.

Eugene Crisp, 25, and Henry Rasor were arrested at their home in Cross Hill by Sheriff Columbus Owens. Crisp's brother, Lathan Crisp, 37, of Cross Hill, was arrested in Atlanta by State Constable J. W. Richardson, who was assigned to the case by Governor Blackwood. Richardson was to bring him to the state penitentiary at Columbia, where Isaiah Richards and Lee Payne, the negro suspects, are held.

The Disciples of Christ of North Carolina will meet in their annual convention at New Bern on November 3rd to 5th. The list of speakers includes both those coming from within the state and representatives of the various general departments of this denomination. The Eighth Street Church of Greenville is expecting to send the largest delegation it has ever sent to a state convention. Special emphasis is being placed on the need for adequate representation from the youth groups of the church. The session for this group will be held Thursday night, November 5th.

DON COSSACK'S GREATEST CHORUS TODAY

The Don Cossack Male Chorus, called the "Singing Horsemen of the Steppes," who will give a concert at East Carolina Teachers College Nov. 17 is the most sensational success in the musical features appearing before American audiences today. Their first season in this country was last year, when they sang 36 times in 42 days, but then only in the largest cities in America and Canada, not going far west or south.

In New York, Boston, Chicago, Montreal, Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, and all other cities in which they sang, they were received with such enthusiasm that paper usually conservative used such expressions as "Salvos of cheers greeted them"; "they thrilled the audience to a pitch of excitement which, increasing, reached practically a delirious state at the end"; "the audience broke into cheers." One of the New York critics considered their singing "the most sensationally striking ensemble singing New York had ever heard."

Greenville is most fortunate in being one of the one hundred places in the "list of engagements this great chorus has in its first coast to coast American tour.

This is not to be confused with any other musical organization using the word "Cossack," such as the Cossack Choir or the Cossack Quartette, or the radio attractions with that name. The only way to hear these singers is to attend a concert, as they positively refuse to broadcast.

Correction.

The price quoted in the advertisement of the college entertainments yesterday applied only to the Don Cossack Russian Male Chorus the first number in the series of entertainments offered by East Carolina Teachers College. The prices for Galli Curci and for the Irish Players will be announced later. There will not be a season ticket for the public as the price for each entertainment will be put as low as possible, but in most cases a standard price is set by the management of the attraction.

Surrenders in "Trunk Murders"

Mrs. Winnie Ruth Judd, wife in trunks, surrendered to her attorney of a physician, sought for slaying news in Los Angeles last night of two women and shipping bodies.

Atlantic, Ga., Oct. 24.—(AP)—Authorities today held five men for questioning in connection with an attempt to rob two South Carolina women at Due West Oct. 16.

The women, Mrs. Newt McAdams, 70, and Mrs. Mary Bowie, 70, were bound while robbers tried to force them to disclose the combination to a safe. Mrs. Bowie died some time later and a coroner's jury attributed her death to fright and shock resulting from the holdup.

The men held here gave their names as J. R. McAdams, O. W. Kelley, Ralph W. Jameson, C. B. Matthews and Felton Lancaster. All gave Atlanta addresses. Detectives John J. Chester and M. P. Warren said Kelley and Jameson confessed and implicated the other men.

Penn Is Buried This Afternoon

Reidsville, Oct. 24.—(AP)—The funeral services for Charles A. Penn, vice-president of the American Tobacco Company, who died in New York Thursday, were held here this afternoon.

Until late yesterday the tobacco industry leader's body lay in state in the private office which he occupied in the local plant of the company, and thousands passed by his casket in final tribute. Still more thousands stood with bared heads as his body was removed in the morning from a special car.

A private service will be held at the Penn home at 3 p. m. today, followed by a public funeral at the family mausoleum.

Among the notable figures in attendance were George U. Hill, president of the tobacco company, and a party of other high officials of the company.

Forest Fires Still Spread in Cumberland

Wilmington, Oct. 24.—(AP)—School children fought side by side with their elders in Cumberland county today in an effort to conquer forest fires which in the last week had burned over thousands of acres and were still spreading.

The Artesia and Hallsboro sections of the county were reported hardest hit, although a new fire raging in the dense swamp between Freeman and Boltau had defied efforts of fighters.

Traffic has been virtually halted in many sections, and motorists who have been forced to travel highway 20 between Byrdville and Bolton at night reported that smoke was so heavy at times as to force members of parties to walk beside cars and feel for the highway's edges with their feet.

Goldboro, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Goldboro city schools, with exception of two primary schools, have operated so far this fall without any heat. Coal is being conserved for cold weather.

greater improvement. The money paid out to mill employees for labor immediately finds its way into channels of trade. The workmen are dependent upon other sources of industry for the things that go to make life complete, and the results of their labor are bound to be felt, especially by the districts served by the mills.

It was fitting and proper that Greenville tobaccoists should suspend sales for five minutes yesterday in honor of the memory of Charles A. Penn and L. L. Strauss, who died during the week.

As vice-president of the American Tobacco Company one of the leading organizations of the country. Mr. Penn exerted a powerful influence in the development of the industry.

As head of the concern bearing his name, Mr. Strauss achieved much in a business that has forged to the front as one of the leading industries of the nation.

Both were familiar with conditions prevailing on the world market and did what they could for development of trade in this country.

Friends here were grieved to learn of their demise and gave full expression to their loss in the five minutes of silence on the local market.

principles upon which the denomination is built and has maintained its position in the world up to this hour.

The first item of business this morning was setting the hours of business, followed by the appointment of committees which will give consideration to the important phases of the denomination's interests in this conference.

The reports were begun with Rev. Jerome Hodges, Goldsboro, conference superintendent. Mr. Hodges was able to report progress in the conference this year and stated that in the bounds of the North Carolina conference, which embraces all the territory in the state east of the Seaboard Air Line railway from Richmond to Hamlet, there was substantial growth with a splendid evangelistic spirit most all the year.

Rev. I. H. Presley, pastor at Greenville and Bethel, is conference secretary. He gave encouraging reports as to his work in an official capacity and as pastor, as well as along evangelistic lines.

Rev. C. B. Strickland, Falcon, reported as conference treasurer, during the year at his churches at Abbottsburg, Lamm's Grove, and Holland's Chapel.

Rev. A. H. Butler, also of Falcon, member of the official board, reported his work as general evangelist. A number of successful revivals were held during the year, with many conversions accounted, as well as numbers of individuals blessed on different lines.

Reports from pastors and evangelists were taken up by districts as follows: Fayetteville district, Goldsboro district, Washington district and Tarboro district.

TRUSTEE'S SALE OF LAND

By virtue of power vested in me by that Deed of Trust, which was executed to me on the 15th day of January, 1930 by Harriet Hopkins McGlohon and her husband J. P. McGlohon, and duly recorded in the Register's Office in Pitt County in Book E-18, at page 372, default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness therein secured, I shall offer for sale to the highest bidder for cash at the Courthouse door in the Town of Greenville, N. C., at public auction, at 12 o'clock Noon, on Thursday, the 5th day of Nov., 1931 the following described parcels of real estate, lying, being and situate in Ayden Township in the County of Pitt and State of North Carolina, to-wit:

First Tract: Being the same land that was conveyed to J. F. J. McLawhorn by Martha McLawhorn by deed duly recorded in the Register's Office in Pitt County in Book T-14 at page 585, to which reference is made for a more particular description, and containing 80 acres, more or less.

Second Tract: Known as the Tripp land, and being the same tract of land conveyed by C. A. White to J. F. J. McLawhorn recorded in Book Q-7, at page 304 of said Registry, to which reference is made for a more particular description, and containing 55 acres, more or less.

Third Tract: Being that tract of land that was conveyed to J. F. J. McLawhorn by O. C. Manning by deed recorded in Book E-14 at page 112, to which reference is made for a more particular description, and containing 31-2 acres, more or less.

Excepting and reserving from the above described parcels of land all that portion of an 84.7 acre tract of land which may lap over on or be a part of the three tracts above described, as shown by map of the land excepted and made by W. C. Dresbach, C. E. dated November 27th, 1929. The land to be sold being the identical land conveyed to Harriet Hopkins McGlohon by R. H. McLawhorn and wife by deed dated January 15th, 1930.

On Saturday, November 14, 1931 the following described lands: Lying and being in Wigginsville Township, Pitt County, bounded by the lands of Walter Avery, Oscar Speight, Joe Anderson, and others, being Lot No. 6 in the division of the lands of the late Thomas Nobles, containing 473-4 acres, more or less.

This October 8, 1931. K. W. Cobb, Admr. D. B. N. Arthur B. Corey, Atty., Oct. 10-11w-4wk.

CITY OF GRIFTON TAX SALE

By virtue of the tax list execution placed in my hands by the Board of Aldermen of the Town of Grifton, and the levy made thereunder and the law authorizing such sale, I will on Monday, Nov. 2, 1931 in front of the Bank of Grifton, in the Town of Grifton, 12 o'clock noon sell at public auction for taxes unless said tax is paid by that time.

LADY with a PAST

By Harriet Henry

SYNOPSIS: Society seems to Venice Muir like a brilliant mesh of machinery, which whirls before her with intricate turns that baffle her. She tries again and again to be popular, to learn the methods of other girls. Her mother urges her on. But each time she fails, through her inability to be light and frivolous. The only man who has seemed attracted to her, Drake Farrelly, has gone out of town promising to call her on his return. Venice meets Ann Durvee, who is a "social success" because it is whispered that she murdered her husband. Nolly Spalding, one of Venice's best friends, believes in Venice's success, and Venice does not disillusion her. Nolly's lame leg, which she calls "Pongo," and her lack of money prevent her from going into society with Venice and learning the truth about her friend. Mrs. Muir unexpectedly tells Venice she is going to take her abroad next month.

Chapter 12
NEW FIELDS

Nolly looked thoroughly charming. The velvet frock fell to her ankles and hid the ill-formed leg. It was square-cut at the neck and her small dark face rose above the soft coffee-colored in flushed excitement.

"And here's a surprise," said Venice, searching her bag.

"It was a long string of corals."

Nolly reached out for it, then she drew back her hand.

"Oh, no, Venice, I couldn't possibly take it."

"You must. It's a coming out present."

"Well—oh, they do look lovely."

Nolly braced herself against a table and stood on tiptoe to see in the mirror over the mantle. "Thank you a million times."

She sat herself carefully in a chair, spreading the skirt artistically about her, one hand feeling anxiously of the corals.

"And here I sit," she said, "until it's time to go. How do I look?"

"Like a cover for 'Judge.' 'Lady in Waiting,'" laughed Venice with real admiration.

But rushing homeward in a taxi she saw that little figure sitting there with pathos in its patient attendance for a dinner that was more than two hours away. Nolly's biggest evening, and it was only a dinner at a young man's apartment with her mother and father accompanying her.

"Mother, how marvelous. What made you think of that all at once?"

Venice suddenly saw Paris of the lovely, seductive spring, certain shops in the Louvre, certain Honore. A quick excitement and anticipation abruptly lifted her from out the rut into which she was slowly sinking. She had hated this last winter with a growing bitterness and an aching regret.

"Well, there's no doubt about it, dear, here you're a dismal failure socially," Venice winced. "You, self-consciousness grows with your defeat. Paris would give you an entirely new start. I have several friends living there and your cousin Alicia Poe has a villa at Antibes. I thought we might go somewhere near there for the summer."

Venice was a little disappointed. It was not going to be new scenes to enjoy in her own way but new fields to conquer in her mother's way.

"You needn't feel self-conscious there. It'll be a fresh beginning and I expect you to do your utmost and benefit by it in every possible manner."

"Yes," said Venice. It was true. She could make a new start.

"I'll try," she promised and her tone was cheerful and bright with optimistic pictures of herself in Paris surrounded by dapper young French, English and American men. The mere fact that she was from far away would lend her something perhaps of that veil of mystery that was Ann Durvee's. New hope assailed her.

The next few weeks were accompanied by all the hurry, bustle and latent excitement attendant on a European departure.

Nolly was bitterly disappointed at Venice's going but her pleased excitement in Venice's prospects exceeded her grief.

"Just think," she cried, "you'll have counts and all sorts of things." "Of course I won't. And besides my French is very bad. How's your doctor, Nolly?"

"Most awful nice. He's getting to be really a friend of mine. I think it was your velvet dress that did it. He's coming to see me tomorrow night. That's the second time since mother and father and I dined with him."

"He's a bona fide beau, Nolly?"

"Yes." There was something in Nolly's eyes that gave Venice a quick stab of envy. It was a soft, deep look like the look Lola's eyes had held when she stared at Jerry.

"Do you love him?" Venice asked, with sudden crudity from out of her hurt.

"I think so. But, Venice, you mustn't say anything ever to any one about it. I don't know how he feels about me. But—oh, I'm mad about him. I lie awake at night remembering his strong, thin hand and the way his hair grows around his forehead and—all sorts of silly things. But, no one would ever want to marry me with Pongo."

Her face suddenly worked. It was terrible because she tried so valiantly to control it. She caught her lower lip between her teeth. Her expression went all twisted and broke up with the welling of tears. She covered her eyes with

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, Oct. 24.—Cotton opened barely steady today as a decline of 3 to 7 points under Southern selling and week end realising. November sold off to 6.84 and March to 7.11.

Trade interests and commission houses were buyers at the decline, making the market a fairly steady one and causing rallies of a few points during the early trading, but the bulges seemed to meet with less Southern selling or profit-taking and after working up from 6.84 to 6.91 for December and from 7.09 to 7.15 for March, prices leveled at the end of the first half hour with active months showing a loss of 5 to 7 points.

Liverpool cables reported foreign buying and trade calling in that market and said British home trade in cotton goods is improving. The amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at U. S. ports at the close of the week was estimated at 176,000 bales against 143,000 last year.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Oct. 24.—(AP)—All futures deliveries of wheat rose rapidly today on a wave of buying and amid the season's high-price record. Trade was of such heavy volume that individual operations were largely lost sight of, but indications pointed to activity on the part of a formerly conspicuous eastern speculator, who was reported to be in the market as a bull after being absent for several years. On the wheat advances, wheat went to 13 1/4 cents above prices current less than three weeks ago. Fresh export business in wheat from North America was estimated at 1,000,000 bushels.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Security markets ended the week quietly but with a tinge of bullishness today. The stock market was dull until the last half hour. Speculative interest was kept alive by the bidding up of a few of the merchandising and specialty issues. Most of the net gains were fractional, but a few shares were pushed up to 4 points. The turnover was about 800,000 shares for the two-hour session.

HIGH GRIDDERS STATE LOOKS LOSE, 40 TO 0 TOWARD HILL CLASH TODAY

Charlottesville, Oct. 24.—(AP)—With two of the week's Big Five games on the way, North Carolina football fans today concentrated their attention on the annual Tennessee-North Carolina tilt at Chapel Hill and gave a side-glance to the Erskine-Davidson contest at Davidson.

Duke demonstrated its superiority over Wake Forest in Durham yesterday by licking the Deacons 28 to 0. It was the largest score the Devils have hung up since Wallace Wade took them in charge.

At the beginning of the third quarter Womble went back to kick on his own 15 yard line. Summerville went through and blocked the kick, recovering the ball on the 11 yard stripe. On the first play Langston circled his left end and behind good interference to score Greenville's only points.

(Continued from page one) counts which charge evasion of income taxes for the years 1925, 1926 and 1927, Capone could be given credit for whatever time he had served the credit to apply on the misdemeanor counts as well as the contempt of court sentence.

Judge Wilkerson formally denied a writ of supersedeas which would have given Capone freedom while his attorneys were appealing the conviction and he denied a motion for bail. He also said he would not give the defendant time to wind up his business affairs.

BILIOUSNESS CLEARED UP

BILIOUSNESS may show itself by a coated tongue, bad breath, headache, spots before the eyes, dizziness, poor appetite, "dopiness," but prompt relief may be expected from taking Thedford's Black-Draught.

"When I got bilious, I had a bad taste in my mouth, and then severe headaches that put me to bed," writes Mrs. Anna Copeland, Anderson, S. C. "I found Black-Draught relieved this. I felt better after taking it. Black-Draught is a good medicine."

It would not have been used so long, or by so many, if it wasn't really good. Get a 25-cent package at the drug store, and try it.

HOOVER AND LAVAL SEEK FRANCO-AMERICAN UNITY

(Continued from page one) No definite commitments as to disarmament or the methods of war debt revision were asked or received, but the discussions were looked upon by informed officials as pointing toward future accomplishment in that direction.

Secretary Stimson, who was present at the conference, said this morning that the conversations had justified all of his expectations. A statement is to be issued, probably this afternoon, setting forth the joint conclusions of the heads of the two governments.

M. Laval, after spending the night at the White House, left for breakfast for a trip to his temporary residence here, but arranged to return shortly before noon.

The talks with President Hoover are to be ended during the day, but certain details are to be left for discussion when the premier is an overnight guest of Secretary Stimson tonight.

While M. Laval was absent from the White House, the President had another talk with Undersecretary Mills of the Treasury, a key man in the government's considerations of international finance.

Stimson said the Hoover-Laval conversations had covered the whole world, and had been thoroughly amiable and interesting.
