Nine Others Injured As Anti-Aircraft Gun Explodes On Battleship Colorado

San Pedro, Calif., Nov. 6.—(AP)—A five-inch anti-aircraft gun of the battleship Colorado exploded late yesterday, killing one officer and three seamen and injuring nine others, four possibly fatally.

Shortly afterward, aboard the battleship Maryland, a petty officer was crushed in the mechanism of another anti-aircraft gun and injured so badly that he was not expected to survive.

The two accidents aboard the Colorado was one of the worst in peace time since the disastrous explosion in a gun turret aboard the U. S. S. Mississippi off the local harbor here in 1924 when 48 lives were lost.

THINGS BOTH USEFUL AND DECORATIVE FOR THE HOME

FRESHMEN WIN FROM KINSTON

The Freshman football team of Greenville High School covered itself with glory yesterday when it defeated a similar team from Kinston by the overwhelming score of 35 to 2. Kinston's only score came as the result of a safety due to a bad pass from center.

For the local freshmen Brewster was the shining light. Time after time he hit the line or went around end for substantial gains. In fact, Brewster contributed three touchdowns to his team's score. The most thrilling play of the game came when on the first play after he had been put into the game, Jack Forbes intercepted a Kinston pass and ran 65 yards to a score. He later swept around end, behind perfect interference, to register again. L. G. Hamilton added the extra points on every touchdown by off tackle plays. On the defense Bullock and Fleming were outstanding.

Kinston was completely outclassed but fought gamely and ran up several first downs. At times it looked as though they might push a score across but the Greenville line always held at the right time. Greenville was not forced to punt a single time during the entire game.

JAPANESE TROOPS CRUSH CHINESE IN 3-DAY BATTLE

The Japanese lost 130 killed in the Nomin River bridgehead area in North Central Manchuria. The battle ended at 10:30 o'clock tonight when reinforced Japanese launched an offensive which led to the Heligian province army. The dispatch to the Rengo News Agency said only three Japanese companies bore the brunt of the severe fighting north of the Nomin River, which began Wednesday. They engaged Chinese in fold more numerous and possessing cavalry and artillery.

Canister shells appeared to have been suffered by the Chinese. The war office here asserted the Japanese force in the Nomin River area, including today's reinforcements, was about 900 men, including three batteries of artillery.

Japanese and Chinese troops were locked in their third day of battle on the north side of the Nomin River today and Chinese General Mah Chan-Shan was retreating toward Anganchi, said dispatches to the Tokyo newspaper Nichi-Nichi.

Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese delegate, in two notes to the League of Nations blamed the fighting on the Japanese whom he said had fired on them for the last few days. At least 120 Chinese soldiers were killed according to his figures.

The Japanese version of the battle as contained in a dispatch to the London Daily Mail accused General Mah of making the first attack after hoisting a white flag of truce. Some fifteen Japanese were killed, it was said, and many wounded.

The communist international representing Communist parties in all nations, issued an appeal through its executive committee in Moscow asking its members to support the "Chinese Proletariat" against Japan and warning Japan that war against China would be "a step toward war against Soviet Russia." Aristide Briand called a meeting of the League Council in Paris on November 17 to attempt to prevent what was considered imminent danger of war. Premier Laval is expected to lend his assistance.

A dispatch from Shanghai said General Mah had retreated into the walled city of Taisihar and that he would resign as acting governor of the Liu Kiang province in favor of General Chan Hai Peng.

FIVE MEN ARE BURNED TO DEATH AS PLANE CRASHES

Something went wrong—an investigation today hoped to fix the responsibility—and the plane dropped like lead, its nose burying itself in two feet of earth. Flames writhed about the wrecked liner as it struck the earth, driving back hundreds of persons who sped to the rescue of the crash victims. Swift heat made rescue work impossible and the bodies of the victims could not be reached until the Pensauken fire department had extinguished the flames.

At the controls of the ship was Floyd Cox, a veteran flier with more than 3,000 hours flying experience. In the cabin behind were Vernon Lucas, a fellow pilot going back to his Washington home after a flight to New York; Elmer Smith, advertising manager of the Washington Herald; George B. Taylor, director of the laboratory division of the Chestnut Farms dairy in Washington, and Francis R. Ehler, of Ricketts, N. J., president of the International Resistance Company. All were burned beyond recognition, although none were crushed.

SPUD GROWERS MELT IN PITTS

1920. As harvesting conditions in October were ideal for potatoes this year the 229 million bushels available will probably be increased. This year's distribution of the old crop is disadvantageous to the North Carolina grower as 123 million bushels of potatoes were grown in the area from Pennsylvania to Maine compared with 105 million bushels in 1930. This heavy supply is one reason why the Maine potato grower is receiving 40 to 45 cents a barrel for this year's crop, compared with $1.75 last year and $1.00 in 1928 when Maine only produced a crop about two thirds as large as the present crop. The present heavy supply of potatoes in the East, together with the low prices, has slowed up Maine's shipments which amount of 3112 cars to October 24th, compared with 12,000 cars through October 25, 1930.

All the surplus late states shipped through October 25th last year. This is about 24 per cent decrease this season and with a larger crop it means that more potatoes are being stored for later shipment. The crop in the Northeast is of exceptionally good quality and so far is keeping in storage better than usual. The Chicago market for Wisconsin potatoes is about 30 cents per hundred pounds compared with $1.60 about a year ago. A larger old crop means heavier shipment of old potatoes between January and July 1932. In years of larger crops from 4000 to 5000 cars of old potatoes were shipped during June the following year. This compares with 11000 cars shipped in June 1931. Therefore, in June 1932 when North Carolina markets its potato crop, it will have larger supplies of old potatoes to contend with that are selling at much lower prices than last year. Business in September averaged about 10 points lower than in June 1931 when North Carolina marketed her last crop.

"In 1928 when a large crop of potatoes was produced, 5000 cars of old potatoes were shipped in June 1929. North Carolina planted 45,000 acres in 1928 and shipped 9735 cars. In 1929 North Carolina cut its acreage 46 per cent, shipped 6093 cars. "The Bethel area shipped 295 cars of Irish potatoes in 1929 which sold for an average price of $2.75 per barrel to the grower. Prices paid to the farmer then for their products were about twice as high as the farmer receives now. The 295 cars returned the Bethel area potato farmers $262,000 in 1929. In 1931, 312 cars were shipped from this section, or 6 per cent more than in 1929. The expenses to produce and market this larger crop were proportionately larger, yet the larger crop returned the grower of this section $200,000, which is $172,000 or 66 per cent less than the smaller crop returned. The smaller crop was grown at a profit to the farmer.

"With a liberal supply of old potatoes tending to hold down the price of new potatoes until the end of June 1932, the early potato states that market their crop before July have a real problem confronting them. The lessened consumer purchasing power will greatly reduce the luxury premium that new potatoes generally obtain, which will necessitate new potatoes selling at prices close to the price of old potatoes last season. To keep new potatoes in the luxury class, the new crop average must be reduced. This was necessary in the Spring of 1923, 1925 and 1929, when radical reductions were necessary and the acreages were reduced 10 per cent, 12 per cent and 30 percent respectively. A greater reduction in acreage may be necessary to improve the situation of the early potato grower in 1932 because better yields are probable in Virginia and Maryland where low yields were obtained the past two years. Such improved yields in Maryland and Virginia may effect any reduction in production that may be brought about by reduced acreage in this section.

"The farmers of this section," said R. B. Elmerice, chief of the N. C. Division of Markets, "would do well to produce their potatoes for less than $2.00 per barrel."

Sinclair, of Fayetteville, yesterday afternoon and was dismissed. It will be the last time the jury will sit here unless called into special session. A new jury will be selected at the next term of criminal court in January.

Only a few minor recommendations were made by the jury, which had only praise for the splendid manner in which Pitt County departments and institutions are being conducted.

It was recommended that the salary of Miss Susie Brown Harris, nurse at the County Home, be increased from $15 to $25 per month. The jury also called attention to the fact that an epidemic of scarlet fever was reported in some sections of the county and called on the general public to take every precaution to attempt to prevent spread of the disease.

The report follows: To His Honor, Judge N. A. Sinclair, Presiding at the October Term of Pitt County Superior Court: Greeting:

We, the grand jury for this term of court beg to submit the following report. We have passed on bills and other matters presented to us except those in which we were unable to secure witnesses.

We have visited the office of the sheriff, register of deeds, clerk of the court, auditor, treasurer, board of health, board of education, welfare office and those of the county agent and found them all in splendid condition. We visited the jail and found conditions there exceptionally good. All prisoners were satisfied as to the food and the bedding was clean and in good shape.

Conditions at the County Home and at the convalescent camps could hardly have been improved upon, and we especially wish to commend Mr. J. O. Harris for the splendid upkeep of the County Home, and the surroundings, all team and other stock at the home; we find in the condition.

We have the following recommendations which we wish to present to the Board of County Commissioners, and that is relative to Miss Susie Brown Harris, nurse salary; and that same be increased from $15 to $25 per month.

We have been informed that there is an epidemic of scarlet fever in some sections of the county, and we wish to call attention to the general public to use every precaution to prevent spreading of this disease.

We have also been informed by the welfare officer, Mr. K. T. Farrel, that they have several children under five years of age in need of a good home.

We wish to thank the presiding judge, the solicitor and other court officials for the courteous extended to us in our work as grand jurors for this term. We especially commend Judge Sinclair for the expeditious manner in which he disposes of the business of the court, and the fair and impartial manner in which he deals out justice.

Respectfully submitted, W. T. McLAUGHLIN, Foreman.

The purpose of American Legion Week is to enroll 1931 members for 1932. It will be observed throughout the county from November 4 to 11, inclusive. The dates for the observance were selected this year so the week would end on November 11 in view of the fact that as Armistice Day marks an event of particular importance to veterans of the World War, it affords an appropriate occasion for ex-service men to assemble in a rally or reunion.

Every effort will be made by the Legion during American Legion Week to attain its 1932 membership quota. The Legion begins its membership work on October 20, at which time dues for the succeeding year are payable. The plan of holding a rally on Armistice Day as the final membership effort of American Legion Week is to be nationwide in accordance with suggestions from National Headquarters.

School Dormitory Destroyed by Fire

Fire yesterday destroyed the main building of the old Eureka College at Ayden. The building, erected several years ago, was valued at $125,000 and was said to have been covered by insurance.

The building was the property of the Free Will Baptist Church but had not been used for educational purposes the last two years, though it had been used for church purposes.

Firebugs were believed to have been responsible for the blaze. An automobile was seen speeding away from the building about the time the fire was discovered. A dormitory was threatened by flames but was saved by effective work of firemen.

Discuss Effect of Depression On Education

Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 6.—(AP)—The effect of the present business depression of education was the paramount problem before the Southern Education conference as it continued its session here today. The subject will be discussed by state education superintendents from several southern states.

Edwin R. Embree, of Chicago, told the educators yesterday that southern universities do not take their rightful place among the nation's institutions, and advocated establishment of at least a dozen $10,000 a year professorships. Mr. Embree is president of the Rosenwald fund.

He was thanked by Dr. Edgar W. Knight for the fund's having made possible, by financing, the present conference.

Dr. Frank Graham, president of the University of North Carolina, welcoming the visitors, said "perhaps the depression will teach us the need for a better quality of education."

Capone to Leave for Leavenworth During Today

Chicago, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Ralph Capone will leave at six P. M. today, for Leavenworth penitentiary to start serving his three year sentence for violating income tax laws. It was announced today at the United States marshal's office.

Capone and several other Federal prisoners will be taken on a Chicago, Burlington and Quincy train arriving at the prison tomorrow morning.

Ralph, a lieutenant in the gang headed by his brother, "Scarface Al" Capone, surrendered to Federal authorities yesterday, having been defeated in his attempts to have the higher courts reverse his conviction in the United States District court.

Ralph Capone spent the night in Cook county jail, where his brother Al has been lodged for almost two weeks. The two notorious brothers were not placed in the same cell, but Ward-n David Moneypenney said he would allow them a short visit together if Ralph left for Leavenworth ahead of Al.

Assault Cases Nearing Jury

Sanford, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The case of Hugh McDuffield, 20-year-old negro, charged with criminally assaulting Mrs. Sallie Wilburn, 77-year-old white woman, was expected to go to the jury in Lee county Superior court today.

Only the solicitor's address to the jury and the judge's charge remain. Defense witnesses swore that D. H. Wilburn, 37, the victim's husband, was drunk when he returned home and, as he said, recognized the fleeing negro.

Capture Three Escaped Men

Raleigh, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Three of six men who made a break for freedom at Caledonia prison farm on Tuesday were back in jail today, one was dead, another was suffering serious wounds and officers were on the trail of the sixth.

Two of the prisoners were recaptured at Enfield last night, but not before one of them, C. C. Cranfield, serving 21-2 years for murder, was shot through the hip as he attempted to run from Officer Jack Whitehead.

W. D. Weaver, of Durham county, was with the pair encountered last night, but made a break and escaped during the shooting.

elimination program and a $3,000,000 drainage system are to be completed soon. A $3,500,000 expansion program has been started at Maxwell Field at Montgomery and a new post office at Montgomery will cost about $1,000,000.

A total of $9,758,500 is being expended on projects in Virginia. Georgia has announced plans to let more than $1,000,000 in highway contracts which will give work to an additional 1,000 men probably until March. Several hundred will be employed on a $2,000,000 post office building at Atlanta and a $200,000 library is being built at Atlanta University as a part of a $1,000,000 program.

Arkansas projects include a $1,475,000 post office at Little Rock, an $800,000 post office at Texarkana and a $185,000 clinic building to be started shortly at Fort Roots Veterans Hospital at Little Rock.

A $2,000,000 post office at Louisville, a $100,000 pioneer memorial monument for which a contract to be awarded at Harrodsburg next month, and a post office planned at Lexington next year are among the outstanding public works projects in Kentucky.

East Tennessee reports public works and other projects involving expenditures of approximately $2,745,000. A $21,000,000 expansion program was reported from the Memphis district. It will give work to 10,000. A $16,000,000 flood control and harbor improvement program of the government is included. Nashville announced nearly $5,000,000 expenditures contemplated in Tennessee of which the highway department has "contract liabilities" of $3,229,000.

In Florida, an $800,000 building program is being hurried to completion for the winter season at Palm Beach.

The foundation of a $1,700,000 post office and Federal building are being dug in Miami and construction of the first unit of a $900,000 Soldiers Home at St. Petersburg is due to start in February.

ABOUT TOWN

The shooting growing out of the election in Kentucky is to be regretted, and it is hoped there will be no repetition of the incident in other states during the next year.

It is all right for political candidates to talk as much as they want to but when it comes to use of physical violence it should be discouraged as much as possible.

Public sentiment is very much against election disturbances of this kind and voters and candidates should be sure to preserve their equanimity and not become wrought up over issues when they can be settled definitely at the polls without having to resort to force.

Next Wednesday Greenville people will turn their attention to observance of Armistice Day, that occasion thirteen years ago when the nations of the world laid down their arms and returned to paths of peace.

This is one of the most significant observances in history of the nation and world, and people in all walks of life should do their part toward making it what it should be.

In Greenville the Pitt County Post of the American Legion is arranging plans for the annual celebration. It will consist of an address by Gipsy Smith, who will begin a series of revival services at Immanuel Baptist church the first of the week, and a parade, barbecue dinner, picture show and exercises at the college.

The Legion has always attempted to make the celebration representative of the important occasion stands for and this year will be no exception. If the public will cooperate as it should the day will be one long to be remembered by the people—reminiscent of that first Armistice Day when millions of people in all lands got down on their knees and thanked God that the bloody conflict was over.

The same spirit should pervade the nation next Wednesday, and everybody should give public expression of gratitude to the men who sacrificed their all that civilization might be saved from the heels of a ruthless conqueror.

Frank W. Simmonds, deputy manager of the American Bankers' Association, charges widespread bank failures to "irresponsible gossip" and "national hysteria." That he is right will not be disputed by anybody acquainted with conditions as they existed at the time the banks failures swept over the nation, leaving thousands of people paralyzed by fear and loss.

Had it been possible to silence the gossip at the time, the hysteria which seized the nation and wrought about the closing of more banks would have been reduced to such extent that the epidemic of failures would have been avoided.

Persons who talk idly about the financial condition of institutions are guilty of the most morbidous crime it is possible to imagine, and the various state governments should make it their business to apprehend such persons and see that they are duly prosecuted.

NEWS BRIEFS From Over The City and County

LAST GIPSY SMITH COTTAGE PRAYER SERVICES TONIGHT

For the past four weeks, "Gipsy Smith" cottage prayer meetings have been held in various homes of this city. On each Tuesday and Friday nights, between 100 and 150 people have gathered at different homes, praying for a bountiful revival, which is to be held by the noted evangelist, Gipsy Smith, Jr., beginning Sunday night.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Clark, on Chestnut street, Dr. Lucille Turner, of the Teachers college, will lead.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Redd, on Ninth street, Rev. W. S. Harden, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will bring the message.

Mrs. Preston Smith will have charge of the service at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Goor, on West Third street.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith, 300 Jarvis street, next to the Nurses' Home, Mrs. Katherine Thomas, will lead the meeting.

It is hoped that large attendances will be in evidence at each of these homes tonight. Each services begins at 7:30.

Rev. W. S. Harden, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will be the speaker at the beginning of the revival on Sunday night; and Rev. E. L. Hillman, pastor of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, will speak on Monday night.

CITY FIRE LOSS GIVEN AT $200 DURING OCTOBER

Continued reduction of fire loss in the city was revealed in the monthly report of Fire Chief George Gardner submitted to the Board of Aldermen here last night.

The report indicated that a total of three fires cost the city approximately $200.

Chief Gardner also reported the repainting of the Stutz truck and the addition of a 100 gallon emergency fronting the states of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Virginia.

Cotton and tobacco will be the principal crops to receive attention, and if the executives are able to do anything to bring about an improvement in the situation they will receive the sincere appreciation of the people so vitally affected by the low prices being paid for these products.

It is gratifying to the people of this great bright leaf growing community that tobacco is to be given consideration because it was realized that it would have been foolhardy to try to improve cotton and leave the tobacco crop unprotected.

The office of the Greenville police department in the city hall has been completely remodelled and presents an appearance that is a credit to the town.

A counter has been placed around the sergeant's desk in the front of the structure with partitions being provided for other departments.

The fingerprint department is located in the rear of the building and is the pride of every member of the force.

Although the fingerprint detection method was adopted by the department several years ago, it had been dropped in recent years. Chief of Police George Clark revived it with general improvements recently made in the office, and is prepared to render better service than ever.

"I liked Chesterfield right from the start"

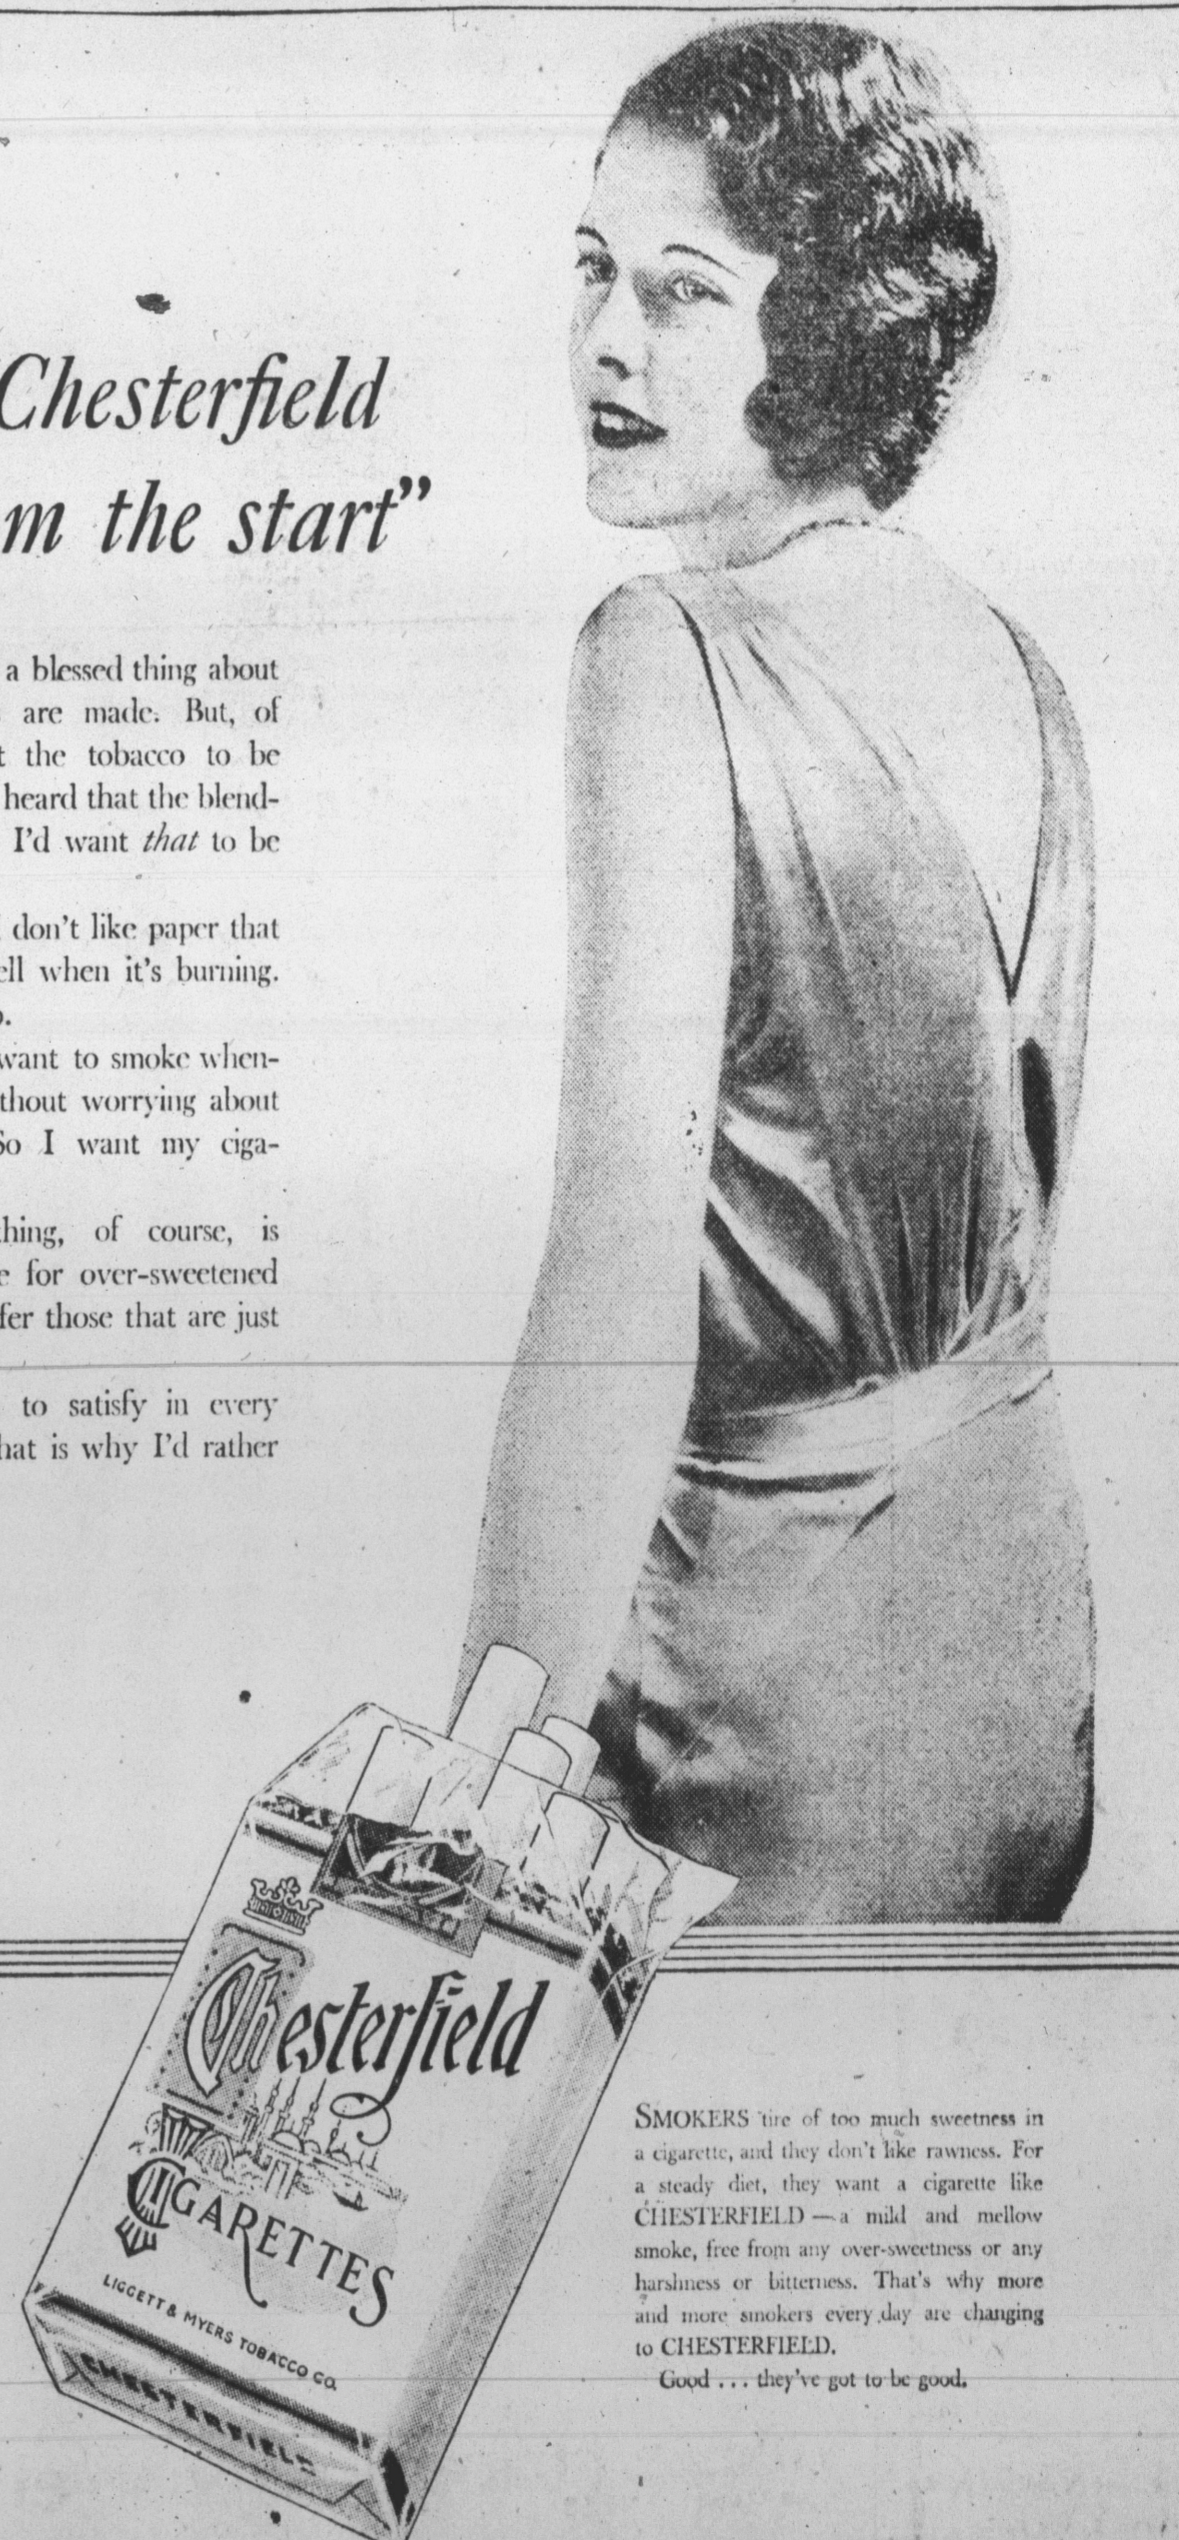

"NO, I don't know a blessed thing about how cigarettes are made. But, of course, I would want the tobacco to be PURE. And then I've heard that the blending is very important. I'd want that to be done just right."

"Then the paper. I don't like paper that you can taste—or smell when it's burning. I'd want that pure too."

"Another thing. I want to smoke whenever I feel like it—without worrying about smoking too many. So I want my cigarettes MILD."

"But the main thing, of course, is TASTE. I don't care for over-sweetened cigarettes. I much prefer those that are just sweet enough."

"Chesterfield seems to satisfy in every one of these ways. That is why I'd rather have a Chesterfield."

SMOKERS tire of too much sweetness in a cigarette, and they don't like rawness. For a steady diet, they want a cigarette like CHESTERFIELD—a mild and mellow smoke, free from any over-sweetness or any harshness or bitterness. That's why more and more smokers every day are changing to CHESTERFIELD. Good... they've got to be good.

LADY with a PAST

By Harriet Henry

SYNOPSIS: Excitement begins for Venice Marie Murr when she finds that the Marquis de Thenardier seems interested in her. She cares especially for her success with him because she has come to Paris to bury a past of social unpopularity in New York. Venice has determined to make for herself a new "past" of glamour and success abroad, with which to win interest when she returns home. She has met Guy Bryson, an American of good background, who takes her about Paris, while she pays the expenses. Lola Ward arrives from New York, and Venice takes her to dinner with herself and Rene de Thenardier. On the way home, Rene and Venice disagree about the fine lines of flirtation.

Chapter 23

"COULD YOU MARRY FOR A TITLE?"

The taxi drew up before the Louis Le Grand. Rene helped her to the pavement.

"Goodnight," she said.

"Good night, Venice." He made his small fluid bow.

"Thank you for a charming evening. And I will see you tomorrow at my party."

"Perhaps you don't want me to come now." She felt that he was definitely annoyed.

"But certainly I do. I will find out about those not fine lines."

Venice went happily inside. It had been a triumphant evening. Lola could write home now and tell of Venice's new blossoming forth.

Sitting in her room the next day, Venice gave herself up to thoughts. It suddenly crossed her mind that Rene had returned her no money from last night's dinner. It was not a pleasant recollection.

Guy called to take her to dinner and from there to Rene's party. She dressed quickly.

At a small table at the Maitonette Ruse she told him about the evening before.

"And Rene really seemed enthused about me," she concluded.

"Look here, could you fall in love with him, Venice?"

"No."

"Could you marry purely for a title?"

"No. I would take the greatest amount of loving for me to marry at all."

"I want to warn you about Rene. He has debts all over town. I know he'll marry the first rich girl who isn't ugly that he can have him."

Venice remembered the unreturned money from the evening before.

"It's rather delicate, really."

"I don't know. Marriage is a gamble anyway. I'm sorry for Rene. He's really a decent sort but unaccustomed poverty is wearing thin the edges of his decency. And he's loved a married woman for four years. That wounds too."

Venice realized that evening that people were beginning to gossip about her and Guy. At first she felt her cheeks grow hot, then realized it was exactly what she needed. Perhaps the talk would creep to New York. Mrs. Coates was at the party and she was the first to give her a hint of current rumor.

"You are so charming, my dear," she said. "Guy told me about your mother dying over here. I'm sorry."

"It's difficult for a young girl unchaperoned. You must be very careful."

"Yes."

"Guy must be in love with you." Mrs. Coates suggested, as though there was grave danger in such a possibility.

"Oh, no," Venice assured her.

"Then all things considered you are being very foolish, my dear."

Venice suddenly wondered at that "all things considered." Was there something important she didn't know about in connection with Guy? She sensed an undercurrent of which she was ignorant. No, that was silly. It was her aloneness to which Mrs. Coates referred. Surely that must be it.

"We're very old friends," she said.

Venice was enjoying herself. The conversation seemed unreal because Mrs. Coates was warning against a dubious reputation which she coveted.

Mrs. Coates looked sincerely distressed.

"I don't understand," she murmured.

"What?" asked Venice. "It's all very simple, our friendship."

Rene approached at this moment.

Mrs. Coates rose. "I'm going to see my niece, Rosemary."

She nodded towards where he stood with Lita Chase, the young English woman of butterfly hair and numerous divorces. "Lita can be like a burr at times."

With the interruption of Mrs. Coates, Lita Chase came over to join Venice and Rene.

"You're brave, Rene," she said.

"Why?" she asked.

"You're always trying to monopolize Guy's girl."

"I'm no Guy's girl," Venice protested.

"She's my girl," Rene suggested softly. It was bravado or the benefit of Lita Chase, but it was also put softly enough to be an intimate question for Venice.

"I'm no one's girl," she said. "I belong solely to myself."

It was curious but with this spontaneous little speech she felt a new pride at her own freedom.

"Oh, there's Gresham," Lita Chase hurried away.

Here Guy approached.

"Mrs. Coates wants us all for a month at her villa," he said.

"Excuse me a minute," Rene got to his feet. "The butler is not doing the glasses."

"Tell me about Mrs. Coates' invitation," said Venice.

"She has a lovely villa between Biarritz and St. Jean. She's inviting you and Rene and me and a nice lot of hers who is due from America tomorrow."

"But why should she ask me?"

"Because she can't get Rene away any other way. She has her eye on him for the niece."

"That's a horrid reason to be given an invitation. A sort of bait for her niece's fish. I don't want to go."

"Now, don't be stupid Venice. You will see yourself in the social notes. Mrs. Coates is prominent over here and it's no mean thing to be included in a house party with Le Marquis Rene de Thenardier."

"Here you are, dear," Mrs. Coates came briskly to their side. Guy gave her his seat. "Will you come down to Biarritz next Tuesday for a month, Venice? I should love to have you."

Venice had a sudden picture of hot sunny streets and her boresome room at the Louis-LeGrand. "I'd love to," she said. "You're very kind, Mrs. Coates."

"That's splendid. And you've got to come, too, Guy."

"I can't resist," said Guy. "Thank you very much."

"Now," sighed Mrs. Coates, "there's Rene. We must tackle him."

"What about, madame?" Rene approached head the words.

"My house party at the villa. For August. I want you a week from today. What do you say, Rene? There will be Venice and Guy and my niece, Rosemary Grant."

"It is a lovely name," he said.

"Rosemary Grant. I will be there with pleasure, Mrs. Coates."

"Good Lord," thought Venice. "I believe I'm losing my sense of proportion."

The week before Venice left for Biarritz was a very quiet one.

Going down on the train to Biarritz she slept soundly with a heavy sort of resignation to what was about to occur.

Mrs. Coates and a large nineteen-year-old Rolis Royce met them in the station. They rolled over the hills to a villa between Biarritz and St. Jean-de-Luz. The villa perched on a hill close to the sea.

Rene started eagerly down the steps.

"Ah, Venice, and you have lavender rings under your eyes from the beastly train. 'Ell, Guy."

"And this is Rosemary," announced Mrs. Coates, puffing forward her niece who hovered on the edge of the group like an excited and eager child. She was short and very plump, with thick stocky legs and a round face. She was an ugly girl in a jolly, good-natured way and you liked her immediately.

There were three perfect weeks of breakfast in bed, long mornings sprawled in the warm sun of a private beach, afternoons at the Golf Club at Biarritz, evenings of the Casino or moorlit spots about the sand.

Their relations to one another became a game of strategy. Rene pursued Venice and Venice pursued Guy in an effort to give Rosemary a chance with Rene. As for Rosemary she consorted with whomever was left her. She was happy and unceasing. Mrs. Coates was like the helpless sergeant of an unruly corps. She could not make them behave as she had intended and so she merely stood by and watched in an anxious, futile sort of way.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Cotton closed steady today, unchanged to points higher on covering and side buying. Trading was quiet and early fluctuations were narrow. Offerings increased somewhat, slowing the easier opening of the market, but fluctuations were comparatively narrow and the market at the end of the first half hour was quiet at net declines of about 1 to 4 points. Another private report was published, placing the indicated crop at 16,342,000 bales and placing the earnings to November 1 at 12,150,000 bales. Liverpool cables reported Indian buying in that market supplied by edging and liquidation of the crop. Demand in sterling. A better demand from the continent and Africa was reported in the Manchester market.

N. Y. STOCK LIST

1 to 2 points over yesterday's final prices included Anaconda, Kennecott, Alaska Juneau, American metals, American Smelting, St. Joseph Lead, International Nickel, General Electric, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, Saitway, Drug, Inc., Ocm Products, American Sugar, Beatrice Creamery and Purdy Baking. Gains of 3 to 5 appeared in International Silver.

Fresh stimulus was given the metal issues by a further rise in bar silver, which added 11-4 cents to yesterday's 11-2 cent rise, bringing the price to 34 cents an ounce, and the highest in about a year.

The money market showed an easier tone, and bankers acceptance and commercial paper rates were shaded.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Persisting buying on the part of undiscouraged believers in higher prices for wheat led to late advances today to well above yesterday's finish. The rise represented an upturn of about four cents from an early low point. Reports of dust storms in two tiers of Kansas counties, a continuation ominous of crop damage, were a late bullish factor.

Hayes today to five years in Fort Leavenworth prison. Snipes was also fined $2,000 and Judge Hayes said the sentence would be increased if the fine was not paid.

Difficulties of Education Aired At Chapel Hill

Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Difficulties added to the South's problem of maintaining a high level of public school facilities by the economic depression were discussed today at the fourth annual southern education conference at the University of North Carolina here.

Dr. A. T. Allen, state superintendent of public instruction, told how North Carolina has met the problem by providing state support for the entire six months constitutional term.

He said the 1929 General Assembly, forecasting the depression, met conditions by increasing the teacher load and extending state support through an enlarged equalization fund.

"In order to eliminate the variable and uncertain factor of taxable values as one of the basis for the distribution of state money, he said, the General Assembly of 1931 adopted the principle of complete state support.

"It no longer matters," he said, "whether a child lives on a sand dune or on top of a gold mine so far as his educational opportunities are concerned. His rights are the same in every case."

Davidson, N. C.—(AP)—A dedication service will be held Sunday at the Unity Presbyterian church.
