HOOVER CONSIDERING NEW MOVE TO HELP AMERICAN BUSINESS

SEEKS TO EASE FLOW OF MONEY

Message to Congress to Dwell Specifically Upon a Fresh Attempt Toward Making Dollars Flow More Freely; Aid for Railroads, Small Business and Assistance for Farmers Are Also Considered by Chief Executive

Washington, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The formula for a giant credit corporation designed along the lines of the war finance corporation has been worked out by President Hoover and will be submitted to Congress.

The new organization will be planned to supplement the work now being done through the banking pool organized after President Hoover's meeting with Congressional leaders October 6.

The president hopes to have all details worked out in time to include them in his message to Congress on Tuesday.

Washington, Dec. 4.—(AP)—New moves to benefit business in general are under consideration by President Hoover.

Expectation is evident in capitol quarters that his message to Congress next week will dwell specifically upon a fresh attempt toward making dollars flow more freely.

High among other proposals before him are aid for railroads, both major and short line, fresh aid for the farmer. But the focus today was upon a possible billion dollar organization supplementing his National Credit Corporation.

White House officials would neither affirm nor deny that Mr. Hoover has decided in favor of such a move. He himself has said the decision would rest upon "necessity."

Julius Barnes, chairman of the board of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, was the first presidential visitor this morning.

Numerous senators and representatives have been at work on plans to help industry and the railroads, and scores of such have echoed the White House from all over the country. Each plan is gone over.

Meanwhile, a Senate committee continued hearings on whether a national economic council would be feasible. Today it received testimony by Virgil Jordan, New York economist, that next year is bound to bring an upswing.

A. W. Shaw, chairman of the president's committee on recent economic changes, has been a not infrequent visitor, and last night was a guest at the President's dinner to his cabinet.

Escapes From Prison Before Getting Parole

Fayetteville, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Had Clay Fogleman, Spray resident convicted of bootlegging and automobile stealing, waited a while to escape from a Federal prison camp near here he could have gone away with the sanction of the law.

Judge J. J. Hayes, before whom Fogleman was convicted in 1929, and E. L. Gavin, district attorney who prosecuted him, had recommended a parole and the date of release for Fogleman was set at December 1, 1932.

But Fogleman escaped several days ago and is now a fugitive from justice. He was sentenced to six and a half years.

PUSH FIGHT ON DISEASE

Rosenwald Fund and U. S. Health Service Make Appropriations to County

Dr. R. S. McGeachy, director of the Pitt County Health Department, announced today that the Julius Rosenwald Fund and U. S. Public Health Service had made appropriations for continuing the fight on venereal diseases in Pitt county.

The campaign was started about two years ago under direction of Dr. Tyson, representing the Julius Rosenwald Foundation, and will be continued under direction of the local department of health.

Dr. McGeachy was informed by the Rosenwald fund that Georgia King Battle of Kinston, would be sent to Pitt county to aid in the campaign. Dr. McGeachy said the woman was one of the best in the state in this field of activity, and declared she should be able to play an important part in furthering the stamping out of venereal disease among the colored population.

Hundreds received examination and treatment in the clinics conducted by Dr. Tyson and splendid results were said to have been obtained. This was the only county in this section of the country in which venereal clinics were held, and the results were highly gratifying to the two organizations sponsoring the movement.

Shuffler is expected to be up for trial when the next term of Criminal court convenes here January 11. He has been silent on his whereabouts during his year's absence since he surrendered November 27.

SAYS BLADEN MAN SUICIDE

London Coroner's Jury Finds That James Gilliam, Of N. C., Killed Himself

London, Dec. 4.—(AP)—A coroner's court which inquired into the death last Wednesday of James Daniel Gilliam, Bladen county, N. C., and deputy chairman of the British-American Tobacco Company, today returned a verdict of suicide while of sound mind.

Gilliam was found dead in his home with throat wounds. He had been ill for several weeks and was reported to be suffering from a malady which caused him to worry over trifles.

He was formerly in Egypt for several years with the British-American company and had resided here 10 or 12 years.

Samuel Gilchrist, for 30 years a friend of Gilliam, testified that the latter, who was 55 years old, had been ill for two months and depressed with gastritis and a nervous condition and that he had been living under the care of a trained nurse. He often complained of lack of improvement in his health and was also worried about financial and business affairs, Gilchrist said.

The nurse described how she found Gilliam locked in a cloakroom with wounds in his throat and a table knife at his side. He died soon afterwards.

Raleigh, Dec. 4.—(AP)—James Daniel Gilliam, official of the British-American Tobacco Company who committed suicide in England Wednesday, was born in Bladen county, North Carolina.

In 1893 he came to Raleigh and served in the office of the collector of Internal Revenue under Furnifold M. Simmons, former United States Senator. A few years later he entered the tobacco industry.

Gilliam married Miss Lillie Burt Phillips, daughter of the late Judge Fred Phillips of Tarboro. He is survived by his widow and three sons, James Daniel, Fred Phillips, and Neal Gilliam.

Chappell was carrying his shoes when he left Coleman's home and after the shooting, Mrs. Coleman from the house sobbing, and threw herself upon Chappell's body.

DENIES END OF BAILEY FIGHT

Pritchard Says He Will Continue to Press Charges of Irregularity

Asheville, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Reports from Washington that Senator Josiah W. Bailey would be allowed to take his seat without protest by friends of George M. Pritchard were erroneously interpreted in some quarters as indicating the dropping of his contest for the seat, it was indicated here today after Mr. Pritchard had issued a formal statement saying his case would be pressed at the proper time.

It was explained that the seating of Mr. Bailey would have an effect on the investigation into alleged campaign irregularities asked by the defeated Republican candidate. A resolution asking this investigation is to be introduced before the proper Senate committee as soon as Congress convenes.

Replying to the inference drawn by some newspaper headlines that he had withdrawn his action contesting the election of the Raleigh attorney, Mr. Pritchard said:

"I have absolutely no intention of abandoning the Senate contest filed by me. In fact, I have retained three able attorneys to represent me. They are R. H. McNeill of Washington; Alfred S. Bernard of Asheville; and Russell Robinson of Greensboro.

"We will certainly go forward with the contest. "After the convening of the Congress the facts will be presented to the appropriate committee of the U. S. Senate in accordance with the procedure of that body."

Marion, N. C.—(AP)—George B. Crater, well known in North Carolina newspaper advertising circles, has accepted a position as advertising manager of the McDowell News.

PREPARE FOR DRY LAW VOTE

House Republicans Agree to Support Rule That Will Permit Forced Vote

Washington, Dec. 4.—(AP)—In fast swirling success, events kept shaping themselves for an early vote in Congress on prohibition.

Finally, yesterday, the House Republicans agreed to support a rule that would permit a third of the members to force a vote on any proposal. The Democrats, who will oppose to approve on a similar provision or even a more liberal one.

In the Senate the leaders are willing to allow a prohibition vote. Paradoxically, the wets who are so anxious to get the first outright roll call on prohibition since passage of the Volstead act, know perfectly well they cannot win. But they do want every member's name on record for the benefit of voters next year. They hope some drys will be supplanted after the constituents inspect the roll call.

The confirmed drays, sure of their numerical superiority, seeing little but argument and confusion on the issue as long as it is held up are willing to have such a vote principally to get it out of the way.

If anyone is having a bad time over the prospect, it is those members who have avoided committing

LEAGUE TOLD OF DECISION

Japanese Foreign Minister Says Council Seems to Have Taken up the Question of a Neutral Zone Without the Knowledge of Consequences Involved; Says All of Marshall Chang Liang's Influence Must Be Removed; New Forces Are Moved

Tokyo, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Baron Shidehara today declared he had instructed Kenkichi Yoshizawa, Japan's representative on the League of Nations council at Paris, that Japan does not propose to "accept any third party intervention" in the Chinchow neutral zone in Manchuria. "That's positive," Baron Shidehara said.

The foreign minister said Ambassador Yoshizawa was instructed not to consider the suggestion of Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese spokesman, that neutral observers participate in any Sino-Japanese negotiations over zone limits and policing there. "The council appears to have taken up the question of a neutral zone without our knowledge," he said.

"All of Marshall Chang Hsueh-Liang's influence in the evidence in our hands the local Chinese at Chinchow are sympathetic to Marshall Chang and we now insist that the administration at Chinchow and in the neutral area come under the jurisdiction of the new local government at Mukden headed by Yuan Chin-Kai.

"This is mainly a question between the Japanese and Marshall Chang, who, during his regime, to all intents and purposes was absolutely independent of Nanking."

The news from Paris that the League council had taken a hand in the proposed Chinese evacuation of Chinchow caused the greatest surprise here. It is Japan's contention that China and Japan should be left free to settle the details of the neutral zone by direct negotiations.

The war office today ordered a detachment of the railway division to proceed to Manchuria, explaining that the additional force would assist in repair work made necessary by increasing bandit raids.

Japanese press dispatches today represented the situation in South Manchuria as becoming increasingly threatening. The Japanese withdrawal, they declared, is looked upon as a sign of weakness and they said the Chinese are spreading reports that the Japanese troops were defeated.

Chinese troop movements were reported along the Tuhushan-Tun-Liao Railway where the Third Cavalry Brigade was said to be advancing from Chinchow in the direction of Hsinminfu.

Japanese official circles indignant, however, that chairman Brand has urged Dr. Sze to obtain withdrawal of all Chinese troops now east of Chinchow and hope was avoided.

In the meantime, it was learned expressed that a conflict will be at headquarters that the Japanese Second Division has been reestablished at its normal peace time station at Liaoyang. This was being interpreted in two ways, either as a welcome sign because it would be a withdrawal within the treaty zone or as an ominous move because Liaoyang is nearer Chinchow.

The new military directorate announced that the reorganization of the government would be conducted entirely in accord with the dictates of Salvadorean law. They also declared that the people have accepted the new regime "with jubilation."

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, Dec. 4.—(AP)—President Araujo of the republic of Salvador was barricaded in his palace at San Salvador during the fierce fighting that preceded his flight and the occupation of the government by a military junta, reports received here said.

He was surrounded by loyal troops and the national guard. The rebels were understood to have been aided in their attack by the first regiment of Salvadorean infantry.

Move to Reopen Murder Charge Against Youth

Albemarle, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Albion, for 13-year-old Nelson Burleson who is charged with killing his uncle after a quarrel over a watermelon October 24 today moved to reopen the case.

They cited the defendant's age and argued the case should be remanded to juvenile court. The boy was bound to Superior court Monday when probable cause was found in Stanly county recorder's court.

Albert Eudy, a witness at the arraignment, said Nelson came to his house a short while before the shooting and said his uncle, Luther Burleson, had whipped him after a quarrel over a watermelon. Eudy reported Nelson said he was going to shoot the man.

Luther Burleson was shot to death as he and his nephew, with Jonah Burleson, Nelson's father, were riding on a load of hay near here.

Sunset Pass

By ZANE GREY

SYNOPSIS: Trueman Rock has fallen in love with Thiry Preston, whom he has only met for a few moments. He comes back in Wagontongue after six years' absence, knowing that the sheriff may be looking for him. But the sheriff has been killed by—it is said—Ash Preston, Thiry's brother. Rock "keeps store" for his friend Sol Winter while Winter goes on an errand, and Thiry comes in. She attracts Rock immediately. He waits on her, and goes with her to the corral where Ash and another brother appear. Ash tries to quarrel with Rock, who avoids an open fight in Thiry's interest. Returning to the store he is told by Winter that "Ash Preston is the meanest, coldest, nerviest, deadliest proposition you're likely to stack up against in your whole life." Gage Preston, Thiry's father is suspected of cattle rustling. Regardless of danger Rock plans to lay siege to Thiry.

Chapter 7
ENCOUNTER AND CHALLENGE.
Only one thing had stood in the way of a happy return to Wagontongue, and that had been possibility of a clash with Cass Seaward the sheriff.

This now no longer perturbed Rock. It had been reckless, perhaps foolish, for him to come back when he had known that the probabilities were that Cass would try to make him show yellow and clap him in jail, because of a shooting affray which Rock had not started. But it had been Rock's way to come not knowing. That hazard was past. Rock paid tribute to the fact that he had a clean slate before him.

That gray-eyed girl Thiry Preston! Here he did surrender. She was the girl. All his life he had been dreaming of her. To realize she actually lived! Nor did he ask himself any questions about love. Whatever it was, it had been sudden, inevitable, and fearsome only in its premonition of tremendous might.

This was no decision, but a realization and acceptance. Decision had to do with remaining near Wagontongue, and it was made the instant the question presented. He would ask Gage Preston for a job riding, and if one was not available he would ask some other cattleman. He could go into the cattle business himself. He had enough money for a good start, and the idea had always appealed to him.

The thought of Ash Preston was disturbing. When Rock, having burned his bridges behind him, tried to give up to the trance-like memory of Thiry, this wild brother outraded his evil frame and person to spoil it. Rock had a premonition that he would have trouble with Preston, but he deliberately refused to harbor it. He absolutely must not fight with Thiry's brother.

At length Rock left the cedar neck and started to retrace his steps. He had come quite high up the slope, and he could see the town below, and beyond it, to the south. For to the south, across a belt of gray desert, rose the range country. Folding down over the range at its southern line lay the purple broken highlands of rock and gorge and forest, and above these rose the black mountains, not peaked, but wave on wave of great flat domes limned against the blue. The scene caused Trueman to draw a deep breath. He could not discern Sunset Pass from that point, but he saw the bulge of mountains into which it opened to the west.

Rock returned to town. A young woman coming out of Dabb's large establishment, almost ran into Rock. He tried to avoid her, but she did not make a like effort.

"Excuse me," he said, touching his hat.
"True Rock—aren't you going to speak to me?" she burst out. He knew the voice, the face, too, the dark, sparkling, astonished eyes. But who was this holding out both gloved hands?
"True—don't you know me?" she asked, with mingled reproach and

TO OPEN 72ND CONGRESS

William Tyler Page, veteran clerk of the house of representatives, will open the first session of the seventy-second congress on December 7.

Could he ever have been in love with that catty woman? Sober thought acquitted him of any blame for her evident disappointment with life. She would be his enemy, unless he allowed himself once more to be attached to her train. The idea was preposterous. In a few short hours he had grown past flirting with any woman.
Rock returned to Winter and proceeded to unburden himself. He told the last thing first.
"So you run into Amy," meditated Sol, with a thoughtful twinkle.
"Wal, son, take my advice and keep shy of her. She's got old Dabb so jealous he can't attend to his business. She always has some buckaroo runnin' after her. That won't do for you. Dabb had reason to hate you long ago."
"Hug. I reckon I haven't forgotten. But I wouldn't run after Amy even if Dabb wanted me to."
"It'd be like her to hate you, same as he did. An' that'd not be so good. The Dabbs about own Wagontongue, not to say a lot of the range outfits. I told you he bought beef from Gage Preston. Then I always see Thiry with Amy, when she comes to town. If you aim to snub your old girl for this new one—wal, son, you'll have a rough row to hoe."

MRS. BLOUNT ENTERTAINS SANS SOUICI CLUB

On Tuesday afternoon the Sans Souci Club met at the home of Mrs. Judson Blount in one of the most delightful meetings of the year.

After the roll call and minutes were read, the club completed their plans for making dresses and other suitable clothing asked for by Mr. Futrell of the Welfare Department.

Following the usual yearly custom, tuberculosis seals were distributed to each member present.

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. C. S. Forbes, who had charge of the program. Mrs. Forbes in her lovely way read a paper on "George Washington, the Man of Sentiment."

In beginning her paper, she quoted the oft familiar phrase of Washington's when he said "All that I am I owe to my mother," and developed his devotion as a son. Then she portrayed him as the perfect husband and finally as the devoted friend in his business relationships.

Her paper was intensely interesting and brought to light many fine traits of character of the "Father of our Country," dispelling from our minds many of the unwholesome modern portrayals of the character of the man.

Mrs. George Woodward led in a lively discussion of current events which were participated in by all present.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. H. L. Rivers and Mrs. J. B. Spilman, served a delicious salad course with coffee.

The guests of the club for the afternoon were Mrs. Annie Kitchen McDowell of Scotland Neck; Mrs. H. L. Rivers and Mrs. J. B. Spilman. —Reported.

Opening a four day regional conference of the organization, the first of 25 such meetings, planned in preparation for the next elections she made her appeal on the eve of a session of Congress in which there have been indications of a vote on prohibition.

"We earnestly hope the real friends of prohibition will vote against resubmission, for resubmission opens the way for repeal," she said.

"Ratification would probably be long delayed and though prohibition would remain in the constitution, its future would be an unsettled question, its enforcement hampered by uncertainty."

She said those who looked upon resubmission as a path to immediate repeal would be disappointed since it would be necessary for each state legislature to call a convention. It would be necessary for 36 states to ratify the repeal amendment, she added, and failure to call a convention would be a refusal to ratify.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, the party leader, said it was assumed Moses would hold office unless a successor is chosen.

"The meeting was perfectly harmonious," stated Watson, who was re-elected the party floor leader without opposition.

McNary, of Oregon, was re-elected assistant leader. Watson named Fess, of Ohio, as whip.

The meeting, in executive session, discussed the party stand toward the Bankhead-Heflin contest in Alabama but no decision was reached on whether Bankhead, the senator-elect, would be asked to stand aside.

RED OAK NEWS

Our club met Wednesday afternoon at the church. We only had a few present but we had a good meeting. Five articles of clothing were cut and made. They will be distributed to the needy ones in our community, as we have calls for them.

Miss Almata Jolly, our faithful and very efficient president, told us the story of our Saviour's birth, after which two Christmas songs were rendered by Misses Ethel Nice, Martha and Almata Jolly, with Mrs. Leon Tyson at the piano. Mrs. H. R. Allen also added pleasure to the meeting by being there with willing heart and hands.

We decided to celebrate our Christmas in the community this year with a White Christmas. We will have a small tree at the church with appropriate exercises. We will announce our plans in detail later.

The latest news from the bedside of our neighbor, James Allen, who has entered the hospital at Portsmouth for treatment, is that he is getting along as well as can be expected. We don't know how long he will be there but we are sure that just a card from his friends back home will be greatly appreciated. You know when you are so far away from your home-folks time passes slowly. A card will reach him addressed to James Allen, U. S. Naval Hospital, Ward 9, Portsmouth, Va.

Mrs. Herman Allen and children are spending the week with her brother, Mr. Pereane Tyson.

Several people have taken advantage of the cold spell to kill hogs. God has blessed us with a most bountiful supply of foodstuff this year and there should be no reason why anyone in Red Oak community should suffer from hunger this winter. I speak only of our community—but I suppose that is concerned, over Pitt county.

Mr. K. T. Futrell who is directing the organization of the various groups throughout the county, will have been the custom in previous years, and any help made to them by the distribution of individuals will first have his approval as his knowledge of general conditions among the needy is best because of his being in constant communication with this element of our citizenship.

Five new families were welcome to the city during the month of November, it was shown in the report of Mrs. J. D. Simpson, who at a previous meeting was selected as hostess for the city.

The board tabled an offer from the Carolina Motor club to take charge of the sale of city automobile license plates during the coming year. Belief was expressed that the city should be able to handle the sales more effectively through the office of the clerk.

BRIDGE FIGHT BEGINS DEC. 7

Sidney Lenz and Eli Culbertson to Settle Challenge at New York

New York, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The bridge world contended minutes today with a last for coming battle as Sidney S. Lenz and Eli Culbertson prepared to duel to the death of one of their respective "systems" across a four-legged field of honor.

They will begin a 150-rubber match, which must end before January 15, Monday night in Culbertson's hotel apartments.

It will be the culmination of six months of challenges, counter-challenges, postponements, spoken and written agreements, lengthy negotiations and frequent conferences.

The battle between the two experts dates back to the day last spring when Culbertson then just started on his meteoric career as the founder of a new system of playing contract, refused to sign a "peace" move of the other experts.

Bridge Headquarters, Inc., had been formed. More than a dozen masters of the game had pooled their pet systems and worked out one which they labeled "official," one which they labeled "official," the ranks of bridge players who had been fog-bound when they discovered this one played "work," another "Lenz," a third "Whitehead" and a fourth "Culbertson."

Henceforth there would be one system. All teachers would use it. All experts would advocate it. All bridge books would explain it.

But Culbertson refused to "join up." He called the "official system" 80 per cent Culbertson, 8 per cent Lenz and 12 per cent rubbish and challenged Lenz to defend the method. He deposited $10,000 in a bank and said he would wager that much on his system.

After several weeks Lenz announced his acceptance of the chalenge. Then came a period of long negotiations. Complicated contracts were drawn and torn up. Finally one was signed. It called for a $5,000 contribution to charity from Culbertson if he lost, or $1,000 from Lenz if he was defeated.

A jury composed of merchants and farmers, was selected in a short while.

Coleman called as a witness said he got an anonymous letter from Florence, S. C., on June 25 where his wife was visiting which said she was "running around with a McPhil, visiting hotels together."

It suggested, he said, that he kill them. Coleman said the letter was signed "a friend."

He said he told his wife of the letter and she denied there was any basis for the anonymous writers story.

ABOUT TOWN

Republicans, we are, told in late dispatches, have abandoned idea of contesting the seating of Josiah William Bailey, Senator from North Carolina.

Very few people gave credence to report of irregularities in the initial election in this state, and...

While other states have the privilege of staging crooked elections if they want to, North Carolina does not.

Have you purchased your share tuberculosis Christmas seals? Members of the health department of the Woman's club are doing everything in their power to...

Major part of the funds derived from seal sales will go to support of the charity movement in this community, and this should be of vital consideration to the people realizing the serious situation confronting every area of country.

Greenville has always made an effort to go over the top in the Christmas seal campaign and it is just certain the entire consignment will be disposed of by the ring of the holiday season.

Two thousand two hundred and fifty-six violations of traffic laws were handled by the division Highway patrol, during the previous month, it was revealed today in the monthly report of Lieutenant Les-Jones.

This shows to some extent what was accomplished by the policemen in their effort to bring out a reduction in highway accidents in this part of the state.

There were some who doubted advisability of the state park when the matter was first acted upon by the Legislature, but...

It is possible the situation has improved since the personnel was augmented during the summer months, and that conditions will be further improved during the next several months.

The plan of President Hoover and his committee to improve the situation in this country is a commendable one and hope has been expressed that the campaign will be continued until the new-owning element has been eliminated.

Give a man a home to live in and at once becomes a permanent member in community life, and of a very valuable one. He feels that he has something to look forward to, some objective demanding his best in him, and will do everything in his power to throw a safe and not only his own dominion but those of his neighbors.

The President has hit upon a plan to improve American credit, and if he should be able to secure credit so that homes will be placed within the reach of thousands of people who never before had home-owning possible, he will have accomplished something which everybody will be truly appreciative.

The opening of Congress holds greater interest to the general public this year than ever before because of the anticipated fight control of the House.

It is said that over five thousand petitions have been made for 795 seats in that branch, and thousands will have to be turned away because of inadequate accommodations.

But the matter of control is of consequence to the other body now pending. For instance, the report of the wet element to revive consideration of the prohibition bill. With numbers of leaders favoring a vote on the legislation and others insisting they shall not pass, the situation has begun to assume particular significance to every section of the country and millions of people will watch the skirmish with unabated interest. Then, too, there is the important matter of relieving the growing federal deficit, involving as it does probable increase of taxation. Some have proposed a tax on luxuries and others an increase of the income tax, but just which will be decided upon is problematical. However, if the sorely-pressed public has its way about it there will be no tax at all. Everybody feels as if he has all the burden he is able to bear, and an increase of any kind would come very near breaking the proverbial camel's back.

DOROTHY DARNIT NOW BE GOOD, CHILDREN, I WON'T BE GONE LONG. DUMP IT IN HERE OSCAR. By Charles McManus

School News

OUR FOOTBALL TEAM

Two-thirds of this semester has gone, and in the realm of athletics football gives way to basketball. But before our thoughts are entirely diverted from the fall sport, let us pause to consider those boys who represent the Greenville high school so admirably on the gridiron. If there is any individual or group of individuals that deserves the sincere gratitude and appreciation of the school student body, it is our (emphasis on our) football team. This small group of fighters, diligent, persistent, and undaunted, has covered itself with glory.

The number of victories this season has little to do with the pride we feel for the team. Coach C. W. Porter has a standing reputation for putting out a fighting team, and this year's aggregation is no exception. Every contest has found the Greenville team fighting to the last.

In Greenville, it seems that boys just won't grow up; and when pitched against larger fellows, they seem dwarfed. Or it may be, as Mr. Rose has said, that boys in Greenville are so smart that they graduate before they grow up. Either theory accepted, it is an obvious fact that the Greenville high school team has put up a gallant fight against overwhelming odds practically the whole season.

So, here's to our team, every member of the squad! We appreciate your loyalty, your courage, and your fighting spirit. Having acquired the qualities that make for a good football player, each one of you should be better prepared to do yourself and your school further honor in the future. So here's a hand!

IMPORTANCE OF GIRLS' ATHLETICS

The main job of the girls' physical education department is to interest and definitely help every girl in school. And the department may be thought of as successful to the extent that every girl is benefited.

The chief aim of physical education is not to develop mental and physical ability of five or ten girls, come single team only, but to help all girls in the school become stronger, more graceful, and healthy in body and mind. We do not play for championships as much as we play for the health of our girls. Basketball is the only national athletic game played in the Greenville high school by the girls. Playing this game not only quickens the mind, the eye, the ear, and all other organs of the body; but it also strengthens and helps to coordinate the muscles. Since this is the game of primary importance to the girls in high school, every girl in the school should go out and take an interest in the game for an individual and selfish reason if not for another.

Bodies are fed on exercise as well as on food. One who is temperamental, high-strung, and survives on nervous energy should take exercises. Some people have an inferiority complex. It is very possible that good exercise may put one in the state of mind to appreciate life, thus helping him to rid himself of the complex. Recognizing the inestimable value of proper exercise, many exercises are taught in the girls' gym classes.

Good sportsmanship is part of the game. It is a moral quality, like truthfulness, obedience, loyalty, honesty, and cooperation. One who plays individually is not a good sport. And no game reveals this more than basketball, where team work, or cooperation plus, is needed all the time. No physical program would be nearly complete which failed to stress good sportsmanship.

Training our bodies and minds to work quickly and properly, developing sound and healthy bodies, encouraging wholesome attitudes—this is the big job of the physical program in the Greenville high school. It's no small task, but it's being done just the same.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

"We are now more than half way through the depression and I am still rich. My two hundred thousand dollar eyes are just as good as they ever were. Every landscape and sunset is mine if I want it. A hundred thousand dollar sense of hearing is still unimpaired, and by it I become heir to a world of beauty and inspiration. Then there's my million dollar stomach and a half million dollar appetite. No doctor has sentenced me to spinach for the rest of my life. The depression has not lowered the value of a single friendship. Neighbors still greet us in the same cordial way. Our school friends believe in us; our teachers believe in us; and a mother's welcome at the close of day has not depreciated. For all these things we are thankful."

(This thought was adapted from an article by Roy L. Smith, and was given as a reading by Ben Herring at the Thanksgiving assembly program.)

GREENVILLE HIGH ENDS GRID SEASON WITH VICTORY

The Greenville high eleven ended its football season Thanksgiving by defeating Farmville 19-0. This made the third victory of the year, five defeats and one tie also being on the slate.

The game Thanksgiving proved to be the best game the locals have played this year. The whole team worked together and with plenty of punch. While the entire Greenville aggregation starred, McAdam, Windham, and Gibbs looked best for Farmville. Two of the counts resulted from pass-mas, Coach Porter is planning to have a gym exhibit in which many of these exercises and stunts will be demonstrated to the school patrons.

During the winter months a basketball tournament, which will include every boy in school, will be held. Plans for the organization of this tournament are already under way. About twenty teams, evenly matched, will be picked; and these will play until only two are left. These two teams will play the championship game. All games will be played during the home room period. This tournament will ensure the active participation of practically every boy in school in some sport.

The spring athletic program will include an inter-class track meet. Douglas Butler-11.

HIGH SCHOOL LIBRARY MAY BECOME MEMBER OF JUNIOR LITERARY GUILD

The Greenville high school is contemplating joining the Junior Literary Guild. This is a guild something on the order of the "Book of the Month Club," save its purpose is to select books for children from six to sixteen.

The library picked out twelve of the best books selected by this guild in the last two years to put on its shelves. If the students in high school read and enjoy these books, the high school library will become a member of this society, and will receive their guild book each month.

The books put out by the Junior Guild are selected from books printed by sixty-six leading publishing houses during the last two years. A competent board chooses and suggests the books for each month. The personnel of this board is:

Helen Ferris; Angelo Patri; Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt; Carl Van Doren; Mrs. Sydney M. Gruenberg; Harold Powell, Jr., and Katherine Ulrich. Many of these are leading educators or authors, and each has proved his ability to prescribe books for good reading.

The subscribers are given a list of books to choose from. These are arranged in classes—books for first through third grade children, for fourth through sixth or seventh grades and books for older boys and girls. From the latter class the following books were chosen, and can now be found on the shelves of the high school library:

Play the Game, Charnley; Heroes of Civilization, Cottler and Jaffe; The White Leopard, Fletcher; Luck of Lowry, Bacon; The Omnibus of Romance, Grove; Jane's Island, Allee; Adventures in African Jungles, Adeley; The Omnibus, Jules Verne; Calico Bush, Field; Circus, Eipper; Durandal, Lamb; and Red Horse Hill, Meader.

The high school library has recently bought through the North Carolina Education Association the following books:

Short History of the U. S., History of U. S. A., Olive Twist, Story of a Pioneer, So Big, The Virginian, Kidnapped, Bob, Son of Battle.

TRIAL PERIOD FOR NEW GRADING SYSTEM ENDS

Today ends the trial period of the new grading system which was instituted in the high school six weeks ago. This system has placed on each student the responsibility of getting in his work according to assignments. For six weeks teachers have not forced students to remain after school to make up back work or work carelessly left undone, but have only suggested that this be done.

When grades have been compiled for this grading period, two types of students will be more clearly marked than heretofore. Those students who are interested in school, are trying to learn will be clearly divided in one group, while those whose interests are elsewhere will easily drop into the failing groups.

If the new system seems to show that the majority of Greenville high school students are in school for a serious purpose, interested in their work, and making an effort to learn; then this system will probably be continued. On the other hand, if the system seems to allow too many to slip through the months unprepared, the former method of demanding work as assigned will have to be resumed.

Many of the teachers of the high school seem well pleased with the new system, but a more definite statement as to results obtained will be made after grades have been made and a faculty meeting held.

NEW GYM PROGRAM IN EFFECT AT HIGH SCHOOL

This year the high school boys like their gym periods better than ever before. A new and more varied method of teaching physical education has been put into effect by Coach C. W. Porter, director of the boys' physical education department.

Every portion of the boys' gym work has taken on a military manner, and each day brings something new and valuable for the gym classes.

On some days sitting up exercises are featured; on other days marching which develops skill, discipline, and posture, is taught. Many exercises on the various apparatus in the gym are taught in an effort to develop the muscles in all parts of the body and in an effort to overcome nervousness. Some of the most important exercises are: head standing, vaults, shoulder standing flips, and the backward somersault. Occasionally health talks are given, and every period seems vitalized by the spirit of self improvement. Sometime in the near future, probably after Christ-

LOCAL FRENCH STUDENTS TO CORRESPOND WITH STUDENTS IN FRANCE

According to an announcement made recently by Miss Connie Horne, French instructor in the local high school, each student taking French may secure a French correspondent upon payment of a small fee.

Through the National Bureau of Educational Correspondence, located at George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tenn., the local pupils studying French may obtain correspondents in France who are studying English.

The purpose of the correspondence is to promote educational letter exchange and friendship between the thousands of pupils in each country studying a foreign language. The correspondents of both countries are classified by the bureau according to age, preparation, and main interest, in order that carefully selected correspondents may be found for any given pupil.

The scheme is a voluntary one.

Domestic Troubles

but already has proved to be of keen interest to many students in the French classes of the high school. The local students who participate in this letter exchange venture will write in English, while the students of English in France will write in French.

This type of work will not only prove to be enjoyable, but will also benefit American and French students studying the language of the other country.

Miss Horne is gratified with the early response to this opportunity, and expects much interest and help to result from this exchange of letters.

BEN HERRING SUFFERS BROKEN ARM

The many friends of Ben Herring will regret to learn that he suffered a broken arm on Thanksgiving day when he fell from a pony he was riding at his grandfather's farm a few miles from town.

Ben is now back in school, and is getting along nicely. It will be four weeks, however, before he may leave the cast.

Young Herring is the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Herring, of Fourth street.

REHEARSALS FOR OPERETTA CONTINUE EVERY EVENING

Every evening at seven o'clock, as well as during the room period, practices for this year's operetta, "Once in a Blue Moon," are being held. The leads have been rehearsing their parts alone until this week, when leads and choruses began work together.

The acting for the operetta is being directed by Mrs. Bessie Picklesimer. At present she is teaching a group of dances to be featured in the program.

According to Miss Ono Shindler, director of the music, the operetta is progressing splendidly.

No definite date has been set for the performance, but most likely it will be given during the second week of January.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

N. Y. COTTON

New York, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Cotton opened barely steady today, unchanged to 3 points lower in response to relatively easier Liverpool cables and some southern selling. January sold off to 6.06.

Some Wall Street buying was reported presumably on the firmer showing of the stock market, but brokers with Liverpool connections were sellers with prices easing off to about 2 to 5 points net lower. The market was within a point or two of the lowest at the end of the first half hour. According to a canvass made in the trade here, members of the New York Cotton Exchange on the average are expecting a crop of 17,214,000 bales. Two more private reports were issued one of the replacing the crop at 17,270,000 and the ginnings prior to December 1 at 15,419,000 bales, and the other made the crop 16,285,000 bales and ginnings 15,150,000 bales.

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Improvement in North American export demand helped to lift wheat values today, but with United States hard winter wheat said to be above a world parity. Prices of wheat futures averaged higher for the day, though profit taking on advances led to late setbacks that more than wiped out gains. There were details of yesterday's reports that Russia had made purchases of Australian wheat.

Wheat closed unsettled 1-2 to 1 lower; corn 1-4 to 1 down; oats unchanged to 7-8 to 1 off and provisions at 5 decline.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The stock market made ineffectual efforts today to extend yesterday's rally.

Improved sentiment regarding the railroad outlook was manifest in the dealings in both stocks and bonds for a time, but a general upturn of 1 to 3 points in leading shares in the early trading, was more than lost as the session wore on.

Losses of a point or two from the previous close were registered during the afternoon in such issues as U. S. Steel, American Can, National Biscuit, Woolworth, Santa Fe, New York Central, American Telephone, American Tobacco, "B", Allied Chemical, General Motors and others. The radio preferred issues dropped to new lows, reflecting omission of the class "B" dividend. Selling, however, was in small volume, and the market turned extremely sluggish.

Wall Street appeared to be giving considerable attention to the German situation, and rumors, denied in authoritative quarters, that a complete abandonment of the gold standard there was in early prospect, caused considerable discussion. International bankers pointed out, however, that so far as a free gold standard is concerned, it has already been virtually suspended by the various control measures in effect. The prospect of a complete abandonment of a gold base appears to be linked with the possibility of a Hitlerite government.

It was pointed out however, that Hitler has been quoted as urging maintenance of German private credit standing.

GASOLINE EXEMPT
Raleigh, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Gasoline is exempt from the provisions of the new merchants' license tax, the State Department of Revenue and Attorney General Brummitt ruled today.

The ruling says it was believed that the legislature "intended" to exempt gasoline as a free sales tax of six cents per gallon is levied on the commodity. Also, the license tax could not apply to stations directly controlled by manufacturers of gasoline. The tax is not levied or processed by the reporting taxpayer are exempted.

GASTONIA—(AP)—A Gaston county Superior court jury acquitted R. B. Linberger of charges of slander brought by Miss Johnnie Walters and Charles B. Hills. Linberger was convicted in City court but appealed.
