Deny Motion for Direct Verdict or Acquittal In Foster Patronage Trial

WILL RESUME CASE MONDAY

Jury Sent from Court-Room as Attorneys Argue that Charge Against Republican Secretary-Treasurer be Dropped; Judge Rules that Mailing Notices of Campaign Pledges Constituted Solicitation.

Greensboro, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Judge Johnston J. Hayes today denied a defense motion for a direct verdict of acquittal on all but one count of charges of illegal solicitation of party funds brought against W. H. Foster, secretary-treasurer of the North Carolina Republican executive committee.

Judge Hayes ruled that mailing notices of pledges due on campaign fund pledges constituted solicitation. After his ruling, court was adjourned until Monday when the defense will start presentation of its case.

Foster accused of soliciting funds from federal employes in federal buildings, is on trial in United States District Court here.

The one count upon which a direct verdict of acquittal was not asked, involving alleged solicitation of funds from J. B. Fagg, former postmaster at Leaksville.

The other counts allege notices of payments due on pledges made were mailed to postmasters and read by them in postoffices.

It was argued they were not solicitations, but demands and contended the signed pledge cards represented contracts upon which payments could be collected as debts rather than contributions.

The jury was sent from the court room during the arguments on the motion.

Daniel Jackson, of Washington, representing the government, argued Foster started the actual act of solicitation when he entered postoffices and asked postmasters to come outside where witnesses testified, the question of contributions to the party was brought up.

Judge Hayes interrupted Jackson to say he did not see how a man could be guilty of soliciting campaign funds in a federal building when he called a man outside.

Jackson replied that the government contended entry into the post office constituted one element of solicitation and made Foster liable.

Fagg testified Foster told him he thought "about five percent of my salary would be a reasonable contribution" to the party.

Blimp Crashes, One is Killed

New York, Feb. 13.—(AP)—The Goodyear blimp Columbia crashed in a forced landing on the College Point (Queens) causeway today and police reported John Blair, 32, mechanic, was killed.

There were only two occupants of the dirigible when it crashed. The pilot, Prescott Dixon, escaped without injury. The blimp had been damaged in an attempted landing at Holmes' airport and apparently Dixon released helium from the bag as the only means of bringing the ship to earth.

The dead man's home is Rockford, Ill.

SAYS HOOVER PLANNED N. Y. INVESTIGATION

Sen. Dunnington Says G. O. P. Slogan is Beat Roosevelt Now Instead of November

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 13.—(AP)—President Hoover was charged today by a New York Democratic leader with planning the Republican legislative investigation of the Democratic administration of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, possible opponent of Mr. Hoover in the presidential election.

Senator John J. Dunnington, chief of the Democratic forces in the upper legislative house, declared the "new slogan of the Republican party is 'beat Roosevelt now instead of in November.'"

Dunnington said that "orders from Washington" were responsible for a legislative inquiry into each of the eighteen departments of the New York governor's administration. The resolution was adopted by the Senate Wednesday and sent (Continued on page four)

HARWOOD IS SUSPENDED

Warrant Also Served on Superior Court Judge in Tampering of Records Case.

Raleigh, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Warrant charging Judge John H. Harwood of the State Superior court bench with tampering with State records touching on criminal and civil cases against his daughter were issued today.

Shortly before the warrant was served the commission of Harwood as a special judge was suspended by Governor Gardner at Harwood's request. The action followed two conference between the governor and Harwood.

Governor Gardner said that Judge Harwood denied all charges and allegations of guilt. The judge issued a statement to newspapermen last night denying the charges.

Removal of Judge Harwood from active service as special judge leaves only three special judges, C. F. McRae, G. Vernon Cowper and Clayton Moore, though six are authorized by the legislature.

Governor Gardner said he did not expect to name anyone to serve in Judge Harwood's place unless it was found absolutely necessary.

The judge's letter requesting his suspension follows: "In view of existing circumstances, and feeling a deep sense of propriety, owing to the office I hold, I most earnestly request that I be relieved from duty as special judge of the Superior court pending a determination of the charges against me. I further ask that salary payments be suspended for such time as I may not be actively serving as judge."

Pudge Harwood was holding court in Rockingham when called here by Governor Gardner after Attorney General Dennis G. Brummitt reported the records had been mutilated and changed, and that the judge had been allowed private access to them under a court order.

China Will Fight to End Japanese Invasion at All Points.

Washington, Feb. 13.—(AP)—The Chinese government, through its legation here, today issued a statement that China cannot passively submit to Japan's invasion and slaughter of Chinese people, and therefore will resist "at all points and with all the forces at its command."

The statement asserted, however, that despite failure of efforts at peacemaking, the Chinese government still adheres to its "faith in world justice," and has "risked its own existence in the face of popular feeling in the hope that world wide pacific measures might check Japan's reckless course."

A detailed statement of the events leading up to the present battle at Shanghai preceded these assertions. The Chinese government said it had never doubted from the time of the Russo-Japanese war, that Japan intended to seize Manchuria at the first opportunity.

SEES BETTER TIMES AHEAD

John D. Rockefeller spoke optimistically of the business trend when he emerged from two weeks' confinement in his Ormond Beach, Fla., winter home because of a slight cold. The 93-year-old multimillionaire is shown in the garden of his Florida home after his illness. He said he felt fine and was eager to resume his daily round of golf.

Japanese Plan To Open Big Fight Coming Week

Tokyo, Feb. 13.—(AP)—The Japanese military forces, strengthened by a new division of reinforcement troops, will open their big drive upon the Chinese at Shanghai next week, it was stated in government circles today, unless a new proposal for the creation of a neutral zone around the city and the withdrawal of Chinese troops is accepted.

DISAPPROVE JAP ACTIVITY

Most Americans At Shanghai Condemn Japanese Military Operations in China.

Shanghai, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Most Americans living in Shanghai look upon and condemn the Japanese military activities here as "an unwarranted and unjustified war of aggression," the Rev. Emory Luclock, American pastor of the Shanghai Community church, told the Associated Press today.

The Rev. Mr. Luclock's congregation is made up almost entirely of Americans. He voiced, he said, the majority of all sections of American opinion here.

"The American community here," he said, "is, as far as I know it, unanimous and indignant in condemning the stupidity and inhumanity that have characterized Japan's entirely misnamed 'defense' operations in China."

Arrest Man For Killing Another 29 Years Ago

Bakersville, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Sheriff J. M. Gouge was expected to leave here today for Columbia, Mo., where George Presnell was arrested yesterday for slaying Lewis Buchanan here 29 years ago.

Although Presnell was reported as willing to return without extradition, the officer said he would obtain all necessary papers before leaving.

J. W. Bryant, county jailer here, said he remembered the slaying. Buchanan died a few minutes after being stabbed, he said, after he had made a remark to Mrs. Presnell which was presented by her husband. Mrs. Presnell is understood to be still living in this section, but was not reached regarding the new turn of affairs.

Missouri reports said Presnell admitted the slaying. He was quoted as saying he lived at Oskaloosa, Iowa, for 15 years, and married again, although Bryant said here he had not been divorced by his first wife.

The fugitive said he had frequently served on juries in the west, and once condemned a man to hang for slaying his wife. He was reported to have become financially independent.

Hurley Leaves Inquiry After Tilt With King

Washington, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Secretary Hurley today walked out of a Senate committee hearing on Philippine independence asserting he would not "remain here to be called a liar."

Hurley left the meeting after Senator King (D. Utah) had told the secretary he resented "as untrue" a statement the War Department head had made.

His voice shaking with emotion and ringing angrily through the committee room, Hurley leaped to his feet and asserting with vigor (Continued on page four)

CLEAR DECKS FOR RELIEF

Both House and Senate to Consider Credit Expansion Next Week.

Washington, Feb. 13.—(AP)—The speediest kind of committee work cleared the way today for action in both House and Senate and first of next week on the new bill to expand national credit.

In both branches the measure was given favorable report by the banking committees after only one day's consideration. The House is to take it up Monday, the Senate beginning debate the next day.

The committees acted on the assurance of Secretary Mills of the treasury that the legislation would, theoretically at least, release ten billion dollars of credit, and will "start the upward movement we are all looking for."

A change made in the Senate committee at the instance of Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, whose name the bill bears, will make sure that the legislation helps small banks. The amendment limited the Federal Reserve System's discounting of paper not hitherto eligible, to banks with a capitalization of $500,000 or less. This is a one-year provision in the bill. As a permanent factor the reserve system will have power to aid banks threatened with failure after they have exhausted all eligible paper.

A possible application for the gold to be released by the measure also has been indicated. The newly-free gold will amount to $750,000,000 or so, while there is no deposit in this country about $900,000,000 of gold earmarked for foreign countries. France principally. (Continued on page four)

STAGE RALLY AT FARMVILLE

First Event in Observance of Town's Incorporation Yesterday.

Farmville, Feb. 12.—The first event in observance of the 60th anniversary of the incorporation of the town of Farmville as Home Coming year, occurred on Friday, Feb. 12, the date of the ratification of the laws which formally put Farmville "on the map."

The celebration took the form of a dedicatory and noon day prayer service, when the citizens of the community met at 1:00 on the school grounds. Mayor R. E. Belcher presided, with Rev. C. B. Mashburn of the Christian Disciples Church in charge of the program, which included the singing of "America" by the student body; Scripture reading by Rev. J. Q. Beckwith Jr., Episcopal minister; prayers by Rev. H. L. Hendricks of the Methodist Church; reading of the original charter of incorporation; song, "America the Beautiful," and the planting and dedication of six sturdy oaks to the memory of the first City Fathers.

The first tree was dedicated to the honor of the first mayor James W. May, who was represented by his granddaughters, Mrs. Ione May Hooker and Miss Tabitha DeVisconti; great-granddaughter, Mrs. Ione Hooker Bradsher, and great-great-granddaughter, Ione Hooker Bradsher II, all of Greenville, with the exception of Miss DeVisconti.

The second tree was dedicated to the memory of Commissioner Sherod Belcher represented by his son Robert E. Belcher, who has served the town officially since early manhood and who is at present completing his 18th year as mayor. Commissioner Dorsey Jones was represented by his grandson, T. B. King; Commissioner William Joyner by his great-granddaughter, Miss Louise Smith; Commissioner W. G. Lang by his grandson, Jaop P. Lang and Commissioner James Joyner by his son J. Robert Joyner. Bronze plates were attached to the trees in turn by the representatives.

The service, which was treated with the dignity and solemnity befitting such an occasion was concluded with the sounding of taps by Ernest Barrett Jr.

The second event to take place in May will be a gala occasion, held in conjunction with the Washington Bicentennial celebration, with their signatures to these solemn instruments fulfill the obligations to which they have subscribed. We do appeal to you to rally around the covenant and the Kellogg-Briand pact, for only by so doing can you make the work of disarmament real and permanent."

If, he said, the covenant and the Kellogg pact prove to be bulwarks of peace and international justice upon which law-abiding nations can rely for safety during an armistice truce, the disarmament conference will mark a long step forward in the organization of peace.

"But if, by some unhappy mischance," he added, "these bulwarks should crumble, the Chinese people and the Chinese government would be regretfully compelled to put them above all other national tasks the building up of a national defense strong enough to secure respect and preserve against external aggression the territorial integrity and political independence of China."

Dr. Yen dealt more with the Far Eastern situation in his address than with disarmament. "My country and my people," he said, "are not seeking pity or soliciting the armed help of other nations in our hour of trial, but we do demand that the nations that have affixed their signatures to these solemn

Japanese Commander Reaches Woosung Sector as Blizzard Sweeps Over Country; Chinese Prepare to Withstand Fierce Attack; Promising Reports of Peace Negotiations are Shot to Pieces.

By JAMES F. HOWE.
(Copyright 1932 by the A. P.)
Shanghai, China, Sunday, Feb. 14.—Fighting along the Woosung front subsided early today but under cover of darkness the Japanese landed troops and tanks, guns and ammunition from seven transports which moved up the Whangpoo lake Saturday night.

Somewhere close to the China coast on the way from Japan more transports were bringing additional men and supplies for the big push General Kenkichi Uyeda plans to start as quickly as his men and materials are ready.

Saturday's fighting was limited to intermittent artillery fire, although there was one Japanese raid late in the afternoon when 15 men and a sergeant crossed Woosung creek and were beaten off by the Chinese defenders. They took one captive.

Through most of the day Woosung was protected by a blinding snowstorm from the Japanese aviators who nevertheless covered their usual patrol, dropping an occasional bomb.

General Uyeda, who arrived on Saturday, said he hoped it would not be necessary to increase the scope of his operations against Woosung and Chapei, and that he would not do so if the Chinese would agree to retire.

Shanghai, Feb. 13.—Japanese airplanes and big guns pounded the wrecks of Chapei and Woosung today with the heaviest bombardment since the fighting began two weeks ago and claimed they had stopped a Chinese counter-attack.

It was a prelude to the big Japanese drive which probably will begin early next week. As a blizzard swept across the Woosung sector, Lieutenant-General Kenkichi Uyeda, who will command the entire Japanese force, arrived at his headquarters and issued a statement to the effect that he had come only to protect Japanese life and property and that if possible he would avoid unnecessary hostilities.

Under cover of the storm the Chinese prepared their army of 25,000 men to withstand an assault by the Japanese force of about the same size.

Promising reports of peace negotiations, through the medium of the ministers of the United States, Great Britain and France also were shot to pieces when Nelson Johnson, American minister, who arrived here yesterday with the British and French diplomatic representatives, said he knew of no such peace prospects.

The voice of 100 American residents of Shanghai was raised in protest against the Japanese activities in a cablegram to United States Senator William E. Borah, of Washington. Their protest was against what they called the violence of Japan's methods.

They feared, they said, that if Japan were successful, world balance would be upset and the cause of disarmament would lose all it gained since the war.

The Rev. Emory Luclock, American pastor of the Shanghai community church, told the Associated Press the American community, so far as he knew it, was "unanimous and indignant in condemning Japan's entirely misnamed 'defense' of Shanghai." Had her punitive measures taken a "sane and more civilized" course, he said, she would have received considerable support from Americans.

The belief now prevailed, he said, that the Chinese attitude toward foreigners in general would suffer and the future status of the international settlement would be endangered.

The Japanese planes were out early, a few minutes after a blizzard this morning, to begin a thundering attack on Chapei again. Six of them followed up a bombardment which was begun by Japanese (Continued on page four)

FALSE ALARMS TROUBLESOME

Second Alarm in Two Days Proves Annoying and Expensive To The City.

This false fire alarm business is again beginning to assume serious proportions in Greenville and firemen and police were today casting about to put a stop to it.

The second alarm in two days caused the fire department to speed to the western section of the city last night to find no indication of a fire and no clue as to the identity of the alarmist. It was the same old story of the night before when the fire laddies responded to an alarm from west Fifth street and found themselves with no fire to fight.

This is the first time false alarms troubled the firemen in over a year now and they are going to do some thing about it.

Says Arms Confab Will Fail If League Crumbles

Geneva, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Dr. W. Yen, Chinese delegate to the world disarmament conference, told the conference this morning that its success or failure depends upon the outcome of the conflict between China and Japan.

If the covenant of the league and the Kellogg pact are permitted to crumble to pieces over the Sino-Japanese situation the conference will fail. "The outcome of the present struggle to ward off external aggression in the most virulent form," he added, "must inevitably and largely determine the armament policy which the Chinese nation will pursue."

Boy Crazy

By GRACE PERKINS AUTHOR OF "PERSONAL MAID"

SYNOPSIS: While Hope Ross clean between them, and once more Hope lifted tray and dishes and flung them out her window into the rock brook below, on the theory that nobody could really tell whether or not she had eaten!

Chapter 18

"CALL AN AMBULANCE" An arm stole around Papa Ross's shoulder. A vivid, living arm, and a voice sharp with fear called into his ear.

"Dad—what's happened?" He uncovered his face slowly and gazed down at Goody. Gradually his distorted features quieted. "You'd better call an ambulance," he said tonelessly. "I've hurt him. I—thank God, I didn't have a gun."

"Dad—oh, Dad!" They both stiffened as the sounds behind the closed door of the billiard room reached their ears. Instinctively they moved aside as the knob was grasped and a voice spoke a short, hardened command.

The door swung open, and Hickey stood purple to the collar around his neck. Dobson, obedient, but panting, was growling at their feet. Barely did Hickey glance at them. Turned, with a mountainous dignity and marched to a ladder-back chair where slumped a bridegroom of less than two rounds of the clock. Carefully Hickey picked up his son. And marched, silent and with supreme dignity, past the two in the corridor.

"Is he badly hurt?" called Papa Ross sharply. At the foot of the staircase Hickey turned.

"Shall I—shall we call an ambulance?" put in Goody huskily. Hickey's arms sagged from the sheer weight of his muscular burden. One fleeting glimpse of the boy's bleeding face, eyes closed in grateful unconsciousness, struck the vision of the two who stood halting in the light of the billiard room.

"I will take care of my son," said Hickey with labored breath. "You take care of your daughter!"

Tightly he gathered his burden, and spoke to the dog at his heels. Goody and Papa Ross watched the procession up the broad staircase. Heard the voices in the upper hall. Heard the slam of the front door. Heard the sound of Hickey's car. And then—heard no more.

The following day, Mr. Ross did not go to his office. He himself unlocked Hope's door in the morning, and once more marshalled the cook in and out with a breakfast tray of food. The room was empty save for the hungry kitten cuddled in the tattered bedspread that had been tossed on the floor. From behind Hope's bedroom door came sounds of a running shower, gasps and gurgles of grateful shock in the bride's pliant treble.

When Hope wrapped in a hand crocheted bathrobe of orange, green, and lavender silken threads swung open her bathroom door and gazed about, her bright blue eyes lighted on the breakfast tray set in the sunshine so that the painted cherries and peaches and grapes stood out on the gay yellow china like a living fruit. Her nose crinkled, and her small bare foot tapped thoughtfully. A particularly rasping meow from Sassy made up her mind.

Kitten in her lap, Hope sat down and fed it cream and bits of parsley from her omelette. Disdainfully she tasted her orange juice, and wondered why a single taste should drain the glass. Merely for curiosity's sake she lifted the cover from one dish and closed her eyes faintly at the sight of hot bran muffins, and two pats of fresh sweet butter. The tang of coffee teased her.

She and Sassy scraped the tray acreage should join the reduction movement and contribute their part towards revival of prices. This is the only thing in the world that can bring about a return of good prices, and the farmer that says to himself "I'll plant my usual crop and let the other fellow cut," will most assuredly contribute to his own destruction. It is a movement affecting everybody and it is just as inescapable as the laws which govern supply and demand.

If there has been violation of the corrupt practices act in North Carolina, it will be brought out in the trial at Greensboro of W. H. Foster, chairman of the State Republican Executive committee. Foster is charged with having solicited donations for the party from federal office holders in a federal building.

If this statement can be proved by the government will deal severely with the defendant, but if it is not then he will go free as others have done when charged with similar violations.

Campaign and election fraud charges are becoming too frequent in this state for the good of public reputation, and the sooner the condition is cleared up the better everybody will like it.

It is costing the nation entirely too much money to investigate and prosecute cases of this kind, and if expenses could be cut right here it is probable the treasury might be able to find a comfortable sum to apply to its staggering deficit.

Then with infinite patience, she knotted together her sheets, and vigorously pushing her bed over to the window, fastened one end of her rope to the bedfoot. The long and she tossed out the window.

Next Sassy was tenderly picked in a tiny overnight bag, padded within boudoir pillows to protect his pedigreed bones.

Out the window, flung as far as possible, so that it might miss the brook, went her own full-sized valise. Next, with prayers and numbed pleas, the overnight bag containing Sassy.

Then with urgent speed, Hope climbed up on her bed and began to edge over to the window, grasping the sheet mightily, and testing its strength.

No doubt the servants had reported the various accumulations of cast out from her window. At any rate, before Hope had one foot out on her perilous journey she was unlinked and Papa Ross entered.

"Hope! Come in out of there, at once!" Pale but sharp-eyed, Hope stared at him.

"Not unless you're going to act human!" she called back sharply. "Come in here at once, I say."

"I'm going to Dickey!" "There's no Dickey to go to! Come in here."

Hope jumped to the floor, gasping. "What do you mean—there's no Dickey?"

"Come down here, and I'll tell you. I want to talk to you, Hope." She glanced fretfully toward the window.

"But my kitty—it will die—" "The cook has your cat. Come here, I say, child. I have news for you. Bad news, I suppose, but I expect you to be thoroughbred enough."

"Has anything happened to Dickey?" "Only the strictest sense of duty, only the deepest faith in his sense of right—prevented Papa Ross from melting at that wail."

"No. Nothing has happened," he said slowly. "Except that he's come to his senses, I suppose."

"What do you mean?" "I don't know anything about him," Papa Ross shrugged, and wondered why he could not meet the child's eyes. "He hasn't been near me since he brought you home yesterday, and lost his temper to such an extent that he threw me against the door and very nearly broke my arm."

EDITORIAL Why Not?

Mrs. Herring has promised to give a section of the bookcase in which to place trophies, newspaper clippings, athletic pictures, and letters of commendation. Such a cabinet in the library would be an asset to the school and would be enjoyed by everyone. Why not do this tout de suite?

A dramatic club for those who have stage tendencies could present one-act plays once in a while to the pleasure of the entire school. An honor roll club could be allowed special privileges, such as occasional half holidays, or the privilege of leaving chapel first. Why not these two clubs?

Boxing, wrestling, soccer, volley ball, hand ball, tennis and swimming teams—all or any of these could be organized and contribute much to the life of the school.

If the band and orchestra would give concerts in chapel now and then, and if the glee club would contribute musicals occasionally, the school would feel more keenly the existence and good of such organizations.

Why not elect some cheer leaders and have pep meetings? How about some real school yells? And how about having more than a handful of patrons at our games? Could not the band attend the games and whoop up the spirits a little?

Other schools have these things, and we can too! Don't be reluctant about making suggestions that will really help. For example, don't you think parties and dances sponsored by the school would help us to be more friendly with each other?

THIRTY-FOUR MAKE HONOR ROLL. The freshmen lead the honor list for February with 13 on the honor roll. Thirteen is sometimes called an unlucky number but this thirteen was quite lucky. The fortunate freshmen are Helen Foley, Irma Cobb Dunn, Elizabeth Carico, Carl Abee, Neil Herring, Doris Clark, Ronald Slay, Herbert Scoville, Earle Shuff, Carl Langley, Mary Council Home and Doris Woolard.

FEW FAILURES. A comparison of the number of students having failed on one, two, three or four subjects for the February marking period with the mid-term failures of the four different classes shows a promising record.

for the first half of the year's work. The freshmen class leads this list with 34 February failures and 28 semester failures. The Juniors had 19 and 14. The sophomores come next with 18 and 14. Last and least came the seniors with an exceedingly low number, 8 for February and 7 for semester.

COLLEGE CATALOGUES. There are obtainable at present in the school library a number of college catalogues containing information concerning some of the most famous colleges in the United States. Many leading colleges are not represented in this collection, however, due to the fact that the bulletins are not issued until the spring. Anyone desiring further information and other catalogues should see Mrs. Herring so that she might order the desired material.

PRACTICES FOR CONTEST. Every week since the presentation of the operetta the glee clubs of the high school have been practicing regularly in view of the spring musical contest to be held in Greensboro.

Last year Greenville won second place in its class. This year the musical organizations are determined to win first place.

The songs chosen for the contest are: Girls' Glee Club, "Fairy Folk," by Lester; Boys' Glee Club, "Blow High, Blow Low," by Roberts; and Mixed Chorus, "The Long Day Closes," by Sullivan.

IT'S SIMPLY INEXCUSABLE. You cannot expect to make friends socially or in business if you have halitosis (bad breath). Since you cannot detect it yourself, the one way of making sure you do not offend is to gargle often with Listerine. It instantly destroys odors, improves mouth hygiene and checks infection. ABOUT TOWN

The installation of two improved fire alarm boxes in the business district is another indication of the effort of the fire department to throw an additional safeguard around life and property of the city.

The boxes are of the kind used in the largest cities of the country and will expedite future fire alarm. They prevent duplication of effort along this line, and put the firemen in position to render more direct service than under ordinary circumstances.

Greenville has one of the most efficient fire departments of any town of similar size in the state. It is always on the alert to improve its method of combating the fire demon and this has resulted in the saving of thousands of dollars worth of property in past years.

There is nothing like capable police and fire departments and as the city has both the citizenship may slumber peacefully every night secure in the knowledge of the best kind of protection.

More wide-spread respect for Sunday is the need of the world at this time, in the opinion of Rev. James J. Devery, who has been delivering a series of sermons here this week.

He deplored the growing disregard for the Sabbath day, and declared the people should return to the ways of their forefathers and pay proper attention to the dictates of the Bible.

People do more different things on Sunday now than they ever did before. What was considered as sinning 10 years ago is no longer a sin during this modern and progressive era, and as a result the things of the devil flourish to a more pronounced extent than any generation since our forefathers landed at Plymouth.

This condition must be corrected if the nation is to continue to enjoy the blessings it has in the past. No people can continue to violate the laws of God without suffering eventually, and America, great and powerful as she is, will be forced to come back to the ways of righteousness before she can rise to those unobstructed heights which made the lives of past generations things of beauty and grandeur.

The nation paused yesterday to honor the memory of Abraham Lincoln whose life has been glorified by his sufferings and heartaches of the Civil War days.

Peerless of fearless leaders of the nation during one of its greatest eras of distress, the life of Lincoln stands out in bold relief against the purgatorial blackness of war representing the highest and best of the nation's citizenship.

While at the very zenith of his power—at a time when his loving hands would have prevented the desolation and suffering of a fallen South—this stalwart of the people was shot down by the bullet of an assassin. The grief that swept the nation was unspeakable. Great men who had known him for what he was—a champion of the people—all the people—wept on one another's shoulders so great was the shock of his untimely passing.

The nation will forever honor him for his many virtues, his unwavering belief in the indissoluble union, and last of all his unconquerable desire to take back into the fold with loving arms a people who were forced to suffer the hate and malice of his enemies following his death.

Although there will be no reduction of cotton acreage by law this year, there is going to be a distinct cut in acreage and production, in the belief of prominent members of the industry.

And if history repeats the farmers are going to be elated by price improvement. Records show that previous declines in the cotton market were followed by higher prices after the growers had reduced their crops and curtailed production.

This fact should be given careful consideration by the farmers, and those who contemplated usual

4-H Clubs.

They are studying room improvement and in each club the girls show a spirit of courage and enthusiasm for making their homes more attractive by contributing their interest and efforts. Room improvement to them means using what they have to the best advantage. Surprising things are done with goods boxes and a few nails. The Belvoir 4-H club is meeting again Monday morning to make equipment for a dressing room for the basketball girls in their school.

Home Demonstration Clubs.
Sixty-six home demonstration club women met this week to continue study of foods and nutrition. ## "The Whole Town's Talking" Play To Be Given By Senior Class February 17th and 18th

An outstanding event of the winter term will be the presentation of "The Whole Town's Talking" by the Senior Class on February 17th and 18th.

"The Whole Town's Talking" by John Emerson and Anita Loos is a farce in three acts. The play was an outstanding success on Broadway, with Ruth Chatterton starring.

The class has been fortunate in securing Miss Evelyn Smith as coach.

Wrae Ward will play the part of Henry Simmons, a typical American manufacturer. The part of Harriet Simmon, his wife, will be played by Carolyn Connor. Evelyn Wright takes the part of Ethel Simmons, their daughter, a bit spoiled but beautiful and charming.

Chester Binney, Simmon's partner, is played by Henry Oglesby. Tucker Lunch plays the part of the motion picture actress, Letty Lythe. Her director, Donald Swift, is Marjorie Flythe. Roger Shields, a young Chicago man who knows how to make love, is played by Elva Schryer. These will be supported in the cast by Roelyn Satter white as Nila Wilson; Kathryn Johnson as Sally Otis; Catherine Flaucher as Annie, the maid; Florence Vincent as Sadie Bloom; Helen Williams as the Taxi Driver; and Nanette Smith as Mrs. Jackson.

county winner will enter a district contest the first week in May. Further information is being furnished the girls.

FARM WORK GOES AHEAD

Considerable Activity Reported Among Farmers of County This Week.

(E. F. Arnold, County Agent)
Pitt County Mutual Exchange conducts its second record poultry sale for the season this week, 14c being the highest price paid for hens. Aiden loaded 4,242 pounds for $377.92; Greenville loaded 14,067 pounds for $1,982.29; Bethel loaded 4,728 pounds for $662.57, making a total of 23,037 pounds for $3,222.78. 460 farmers attended these sales. This brings the total sales this year to 66,866 pounds, which has brought $8,513.74 of new money to Pitt county. 1,060 farmers participated in these sales.
W. W. Shap, state swine specialist, was in the county this week and assisted the county agent in establishing three record hog feeding demonstrations. Information received by the county agent from the growers now indicate that 15 carloads are on feed at the present time and no doubt before fall there will be 20 cars marketed from Pitt county.
Hogs at the present price will bring the growers from 50c to 60c for their corn, the market value of which is at present from 20c to 30c. If the trend of prices is upward this spring, which has always been true in the past, it may be possible for the farmers to market their corn through hogs for a price better than 60c per bushel.
W. F. Schilling, poultry and dairy member of the Federal Farm Board will speak at a series of regional meetings on the marketing of poultry. The meeting for this region will be held at Rocky Mount Wednesday, Feb. 17, at 2:30 p. m. at the Chamber of Commerce hall.
Those interested in this line of work and methods of marketing will do well to attend this meeting.

Mr. Schilling is a highly entertaining talker and has had a great deal of experience in the marketing of poultry and dairy products. I feel that it will be a profitable meeting for bankers, farmers, merchants and others interested.

Mrs. Isley Addresses P. T. A.
Farmville, Feb. 12.—Portraying George Washington as a leader of men and giving her audience an insight into his ordinary, everyday living, Mrs. R. W. Isley of Snow Hill delivered an address to the Parent-Teacher Association Tuesday afternoon, at its regular meeting, which was most inspiring and enlightening.

She introduced her subject by saying that one of the results already realized from the Bicentennial celebration is that Washington is being taken from his lonely pedestal by his fellowmen, who are rapidly learning to love him as a human being.

Mrs. Westley R. Willis presided over a business session held prior to the address. Miss Phillips, coach for the benefit play sponsored by the Association, presented the play. The monthly attendance prize was won by Grade 1-A, Miss Annie Perkins, teacher.

MOVIE DOGS TO APPEAR AT STATE THEATRE
Tarzan, Polar Ipsi and Zander, famous movie dogs which have been paying Greenville a visit the last several days, will appear at State theatre this afternoon at 3 o'clock and again tonight at 8:30 o'clock. The dogs are the property of Frank Barnes, of Los Angeles, California, and are considered among the most intelligent in the world.

SAYS HOOVER PLANNED N. Y. INVESTIGATION (Continued from Page One) to the lower House for concurrent action by the Republican majority there.

"The new triple play of the Republican party," said Dunning in a statement, "is Hoover and Mills to Macy to the Republican controlled legislature." Ogden Mills, secretary of the treasury, is viewed as one of New York's Republican spokesmen at the White House; W. Kingsland Macy is the state chairman of the Republican organization.

Every recent situation in the New York legislature has been censured by both Republicans and Democrats as relating to the move to nominate Governor Roosevelt for the presidency. Republicans have Roosevelt with using his quarrels with the legislature as a venue to get him the nomination; Democrats cite Republican opposition to the governor in the legislature as a move to block Roosevelt.

"Of course," said Dunning of the investigation, "orders from Washington must be obeyed. Mr. Hoover unquestionably realizes that he must be obeyed. Mr. Hoover unquestionably realizes that he must have New York state behind him if he wishes to occupy the White House for another four years. Mr. Hoover also further realizes that he will be unable to defeat Governor Roosevelt if the governor is his opponent."

The purpose of the meeting, it was said, will be to discuss matters vitally affecting the life of the various branches of Masonry and all members were not only invited, but urged to be present and assist in consideration of the problems.

CLOSE SERIES OF SERVICES

Mass and Papal Benediction Concluding Features At Saint Peter's Church.

The mission services in St. Peter's Catholic church were brought to a close this morning with mass, a brief instruction on perseverance in well doing, and the papal benediction. The pastor, Father Gable, himself a missionary of wide experience, expressed himself as very well pleased with the manner in which his parishioners and their non-Catholic neighbors attended the exercises, and the interest which they manifested in the discourses on the teachings and practices of the church.

Asked at the services last night whether he believed in teaching the theory of evolution in the schools, the missionary said he would let some learned evolutionists answer the question as they did at the Scopes trial. Professor John M. Coulter of Chicago University says: "One of the hardest things in my teaching experience has been to check the tendency of my students to use one fact as the starting point for a flight of fancy that is simply prodigious. (The Meaning of Evolution is Science Remaking the World P. 188). The three following opinions were quoted from a symposium in Nature, July 11, 1925. Professor D'Arcy Wentworth Smith, University of St. Andrews: "I feel none the worse that no schoolmaster ever dreamed of teaching Darwinism to me, nor has it ever been among the lessons which my own children learn. Few schoolmasters are really fit to teach it, and children have other fish to fry."

Professor W. J. Sollas Professor of Geology, University of Oxford: "It should be left to the universities and even then the implications of all evolutionary theories should be carefully borne in mind, for the effects of some of them, if rashly introduced into ethics, personal social, or political might prove disastrous in the extreme." Professor F. A. Bather of the British Museum: "Evolution is a theory of creation. There are other theories held by thousands of well meaning people, which may not be taught in the schools of certain countries. Perhaps it is just as well not to teach any theories. A teacher who is not himself an investigator is liable to be too dogmatic and to bring forward a theory as a ready made explanation of matters which he (like the rest of us) is unable to explain. The right of free thought is one thing; the guidance of the young is another."

"Evolution said the missionary is a matter that concerns for the most part only scientists, but in a few important details it involves religion. Evolution is merely a theory and incapable of final proof or demonstration we learn from the scientific opinions. Dr. Robert A. Millikan, Nobel prize winner says: "The pathetic thing is that we have scientists who are trying to prove the evolution. A scientist can prove." Professor H. Newman of Chicago University: "Relieved as he may be to admit it, honestly confess the evolutionist is not a man who is not a list to admit that there is no absolute proof of organic evolution."

Professor Thomas Hunt Morgan: Columbia University "Within the period of human history we do not know of a single instance of the transformation of one species into another." Most startling of all is the declaration of Professor Albert Felsmann of Erlangen who says: "The more deeply I pursue the alleged evidence of it (the theory of evolution) and sought to gain, through special investigation some essential proofs of the genetic relationships of animals, the more clearly I recognize that the theory is a seductive romance, which deceptively pretends to give results and explanations, rather than a doctrine built upon a positive foundation."

Concerning the question of evolution and the origin of man's body the speaker quoted the following words from avowed evolutionists, D. Marcellin Boule, the leading authority of France says: "We must confess, however damaging the confession may be to our amour propre, that we are still too ignorant to give an answer to the supreme question, or to solve in full the perplexing problem of our original." Professor W. Branco of the University of Berlin declares: "Palaeontology tells us nothing on the subject—it knows no ancestors of man." Father Devery's lecture last night dwelt at some length with the doctrine of papal infallibility. "In the first place," he went on to say, "infallibility does not mean, as some are inclined to think, that the Pope is thereby preserved from all danger of personal fault. For other words infallibility does not mean impeccability. It is equally wrong to confuse infallibility with the notion of inspiration. The evangelists were divinely inspired and moved to write, but the Pope is not so inspired. He may not add to Christ's revelation one single syllable, nor subtract from it one jot or tittle. His duty is faithfully to teach what Christ has revealed, and for the fulfillment of that duty alone he has received the gift of infallibility. By this we mean that when the supreme pontiff teaches points of faith and morals contained in Christ's revelation, teaching them to the entire church, and teaches them for all to believe, he is protected from falling into error. His authority as teacher extends only to the field of faith and morals. He is not empowered to speak with official authority on matters purely secular as, for example, history, science, politics or economics. His views on history and politics are received by faithful as they receive the views of any other scholar. He teaches only in matters fully religious because he is duly elected and inaugurated in the office of Simon Peter, which office was established by Christ and by him promised divine support and protection. For proof of this the speaker appealed to the text: "And Jesus answering His said to Him: Blessed art thou Simon Bar-jona, because flesh and blood hath not revealed this unto thee, but my Father who is in Heaven. And I say unto thee that thou art rock and upon this rock I will build my church." (Matt. XVI, 17).

COLLEGIANS MEET DEFEAT

East Carolina Teachers College quint was defeated 37 to 21, last night by the basketballers of Norfolk branch of William and Mary College. The Teachers were seriously handicapped by loss of Hearn, regular center who has been ill but who played in the final few minutes. His absence made it necessary to switch Tucker to the pivot post.

and the local Collegians, tallying 13 points for high scoring honors of the game. Brown, forward of the Norfolk outfit was next with a dozen points. The visitors held a 21-10 lead at the half. Tonight Farmville will come to Greenville to seek revenge for their previous defeat.

HURLEY LEAVES INQUIRY AFTER TILT WITH KING

The incident climaxed two stormy sessions of the Senate insular committee. At the previous one Hurley became engaged in an acrid dispute with Democrats who advocated freeing the islands. Hurley, expressing the administration's viewpoint that the islands should not be given independence until economic independence is assured, registered mounting anger under the questioning of Senator Cutting (R. N. M.) and King (D. Utah) who have measures before the Senate for independence. When King began asking him a question, the secretary started to answer before it was finished. "Just a minute," exclaimed King, "you try to answer before the question is asked." "You have absolutely undertaken to distort what I said," exclaimed Hurley, his face flushed and his voice rising angrily. "I resent what you said as untrue, as some of your other statements have been," King shot back.

It was then that the secretary of war arose and left the crowded committee room. Washington, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Secretary Hurley and Senator King patched up their differences today after a sharp verbal clash between them which led the secretary of war to walk out of a senate committee hearing on Philippine independence.

JAPANESE PLAN TO OPEN BIG FIGHT COMING WEEK

(Continued from Page One) the United States, Great Britain and France, who are now in Shanghai. They will be asked to request the Chinese to withdraw to permit the establishment of the neutral zone. If they decline to make the request, it was said officially, the Japanese themselves will demand the withdrawal of the Chinese within a stated period. The last contingents of the reinforcement division are expected to be landed at Shanghai early in the week. In the meantime, a spokesman for the foreign office said Japan would remain in the League of Nations, even if China's demand for consideration of the Sino-Japanese question is brought before the full assembly next week, unless she was "driven out." She would fight her case, he said, and official circles added the government did not believe it assembly could do much anyway. The league council, these sources said, would be likely to make any ultimate decision. Japan is anxious to have the Shanghai problem settled by international negotiations, the foreign office spokesman said, the scope of which would be limited to Shanghai alone, without bringing Manchuria in, or touching the broader issue of the anti-Japanese movement in China, or the boycott on Japanese goods.

FALSE ALARMS TROUBLESOME

(Continued from Page One) sent to the roads last year following one of the most pronounced epidemics of false alarms in the history of the city, and others found guilty of a similar charge will likely suffer the same fate. False alarms, firemen have reiterated time and again, are not only dangerous but very expensive to the city. Every time the department responds to an alarm the city treasury is short about $25, and during these days of depression, that amount of money assumes mountainous proportions in the eyes of the sorely pressed city officials. In addition to the cost, the lives of the firemen are jeopardized every time they leave the building. Acci-

Had Japan's resentment found expression in saner and more civilized ways, and had there been the slightest indication toward the international cooperation that is now so emphasized in the Japanese official statements, Japan would have received considerable support from many Americans.

CHINA WILL FIGHT TO END

(Continued from Page One) as well as a shield from behind which they directed artillery fire to which the Chinese could not reply effectively without endangering foreigners. "The Japanese military forces and civilian uniformed elements," it continued "have killed and injured an incalculable number of Chinese—peaceable, unarmed men, women, and children—estimated between one and two thousand, and imprisoned and maltreated many others and executed many without trial. "The Japanese government excuses these atrocities by alleging military peril due to the proximity of the Chinese population and near Chinese troops occupying their regular stations.
