BELIEVE BABY CANNON WARRNS WILL BE HOME PARTY AGAINST IN SHORT TIME WET PLATFORM

Optimism for Return of Lindbergh Child Increases Steadily at Hopewell.

Hopewell, N. J., April 6.—(AP)—Optimism—unexpected but insistent course through this hill village today as reports flew that the Lindbergh baby would be home soon.

Neither police nor any one else in authority would sponsor the expected feeling. Villagers drew deductions from the cherry mien of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh as he turned out yesterday, cedar branch in hand, to help battle a brush fire that menaced his home on Sourland Hill.

Others recalled that he was cheerful and unworried shortly before he took off for Paris and said he couldn't tell from looking at him what he was thinking.

Lights gleamed in the home last night. The state police force stationed at the estate was being diminished, despite an announcement by Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, its leader, that no one had requested withdrawal.

The air of hope rested ultimately on two mysterious airplane flights Col. Lindbergh made over Martha's vineyard and adjacent waters off the Massachusetts coast, in a reported attempt to establish contact with a small yacht.

The fact that lights have been seen in the nursery from which 21-month-old Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., was stolen March 1, also fed the flame of hope, as did the continued absence from his Norfolk home of John H. Curtis, one of three intermediaries who believe they have established contact with agents of the kidnapers.

But police said they were unopposed of any reason to think prospects had brightened.

The Island of Martha's Vineyard was a center of interest again yesterday. Not many miles offshore the coast guard vessels hovered, while an amphibian like the one fishermen said they saw Lindbergh piloting Sunday flew over Nashawena Island.

Later a dragger believed to be the Alva, steamed past Martha's Vineyard. A civilian was said to have boarded this craft Sunday, and this was linked with the visit of the plane.

Mystery still marked the visit to England of Maj. Charles H. Schofield of the state police. Instead of going to Glasgow, as he was reported intending to do, he stayed in London yesterday. In Glasgow lives the mother of Betty Gow, the baby's nursemaid.

Col. Schwarzkopf disclosed that investigations abroad showed that none of the Lindbergh servants had any criminal record before coming to this country.

In his morning bulletin Colonel Schwarzkopf declared that "No lights have been burnt under any unusual circumstances in the nursery and there are no circumstances of any significance in this connection." He ignored a question which asked verification or denial of a report that the baby was returned to the home more than a day ago.

The rest of the bulletin detailed clues which faded into nothing as fast as they were investigated.

Hill Paid More Than $1,000,000 for Past Year

New York, April 6.—(AP)—The American Tobacco Company paid its president, George W. Hill, more than $1,000,000 for 1931.

This was disclosed in papers filed by the company in federal court here. The documents are in reply to a stockholders' suit by Richard Reid Rogers, who recently obtained a temporary injunction barring further bonus payments to officers of the company.

Mr. Hill's cash compensation consisted of $168,000 salary and cash bonus of at least $850,000, or a total of $1,018,000.

American Tobacco's net profit last year was $46,189,741, a record. Under the bonus plan, in any year when the company's net profit exceeded $13,369,000 the president was to receive 21-2 per cent of such excess.

LEGION ADVANCING IN UNEMPLOYMENT DRIVE

Raleigh, April 6.—(AP)—With a total of 15,840 placements reported in the American Legion's employment campaign, North Carolina has advanced from tenth to ninth place in the list of states.

Major Michael A. Perry, executive director, said reports received during the last 24 hours listed the following placements: Winston-Salem 135, High Point 77, Farmington 43, Sanford 15, Raleigh 9, Kannapolis 19, Clinton 3.

Bishop Says Democrats Face Repudiation if Wet Candidate is Selected.

Newark, N. J., April 6.—(AP)—Bishop James Cannon Jr. has sounded a warning to the Democratic party that it faces repudiation by the southern dry element which opposed Alfred E. Smith in 1928 if it names an anti-prohibitionist or adopts a wet platform in this year's presidential campaign. (Continued on page six)

JAP FORCES PUSH DRIVE

Military Campaign to Eradicate Armed Opposition to New States Continues.

Tokyo, April 6.—(AP)—The military campaign of the Japanese in Manchuria to eradicate armed opposition to the new federated state government at Changun continued active today on at least two fronts, according to dispatches to the Rengo (Japanese) news agency.

The Japanese column marching in from Korea pushed northward into the Chientao district and occupied Palsokoku, recently a trouble center.

The rebel forces of General Wang Teh-Lin are still concentrated near (Continued on page six)

ACTRESS HAS NEW DAUGHTER

Gloria Swanson Gives Birth to Her Second Child at Farm St., in London.

London, April 6.—(AP)—Gloria Swanson and her husband, Michael Farmer, wealthy Irish sportsman, were getting acquainted today with a new daughter, born last night at their home on Farm Street, in the fashionable Mayfair section of London.

The noted film actress and the baby were both very well, Mr. Farmer said. The baby was born a few hours after the parents had moved into their new home from the hotel where they had been living since they came to London several weeks ago.

It is Miss Swanson's second daughter. Her first child, Gloria, daughter of her second husband, Herbert Scarborough, film executive of Chicago and California, was born ten years ago. She also has an adopted daughter.

She and Farmer were secretly married at Elmsford, N. Y., last August. Their wedding was not announced until November 6, when it was disclosed by the officials who issued the license and performed the ceremony.

They had another ceremony at Yuma, Ariz., on November 9, after Miss Swanson's decree of divorce from the Marquis De La Palaise De La Courduyrie, her third husband, became final. Miss Swanson's first husband was Wallace Beery, motion picture actor.

"She is a fine baby, with blue eyes like her mother's, and dark hair," the proud father told a group of friends who called to congratulate him. "We have not decided what to call her, but as she is like her mother she may be called Florida. My wife stood the ordeal bravely and could not be better."

Saves Life of School Child

Tarboro, April 6.—(AP)—Manse Doney, 9, stood out as a hero in this community today after saving the life of Jane Hardy, a school companion.

Manse was standing on a river bank near here when he heard screams. Investigating, he found the little girl had fallen from a boat and that her strength was almost exhausted.

Hurriedly, he sprang into the boat near the shore and pulled the child to safety.

N. Y. COLLEGE MEN STRIKE

First Disorders Attend "Walkout" At Columbia University Today.

New York, April 6.—(AP)—A group of Columbia University athletes walked a 15-foot strip of crepe from more than twice as many striking students today in the first disorder attending the one-day strike in protest against the expulsion of Reed Harris, editor of the Spectator, student newspaper.

The athletes supported the stand taken by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler and Dean Herbert E. Hawkes in the expulsion of Harris.

The scuffles started shortly after pickets took up their posts at the entrances to the university buildings. About 200 students went to the library steps instead of to their classes. Arthur Goldschmidt, a member of the Social Problems Club, which sponsored the one-day strike, mounted the pedestal of the Alma Mater statue.

"It is my sad duty to inform you that we are going to gag Alma Mater," he shouted.

About twelve athletes, led by Shelley Wood, a senior and substitute member of the crew, seized (Continued on page three)

REP. WOODRUM RAPS BOARD

Charges Farm Organization with Countenancing Racketeering Bodies.

Washington, D. C., April 6.—(AP)—Representative Woodrum, amid applause in the House today declared the high salaries officers of the grain stabilization corporation and the cotton cooperatives were "racketeers" and that the farm board had countenanced their practices.

The Virginian, chairman of the House appropriations subcommittee that drafted the billion dollar supply bill for the independent office, said that the "worst racketeering in the country is being done at the expense of the farmer."

Woodrum said that the farm board could stop the paying of high salaries to officials of the grain stabilization corporation and the cotton cooperatives if he helped organize "any day it desires."

"The farm board will argue that it has nothing to do with the salaries paid to officials of the stabilization corporations," Woodrum declared. "Either the farmers or the federal government pay the salaries from whom they get it, it is racketeering."

Woodrum said that a "$10,000 a year man in the stabilization corporations was a 'cheep man' and declared salaries ranged up to $75,000 a year and that they came from the pockets of the 'improvised farmers' or from the federal government.

Raleigh, (AP)—A portrait of former Governor Angus W. McLean has been secured for the gallery of former governors at the governor's mansion here, those of Blickett, Glenn and Morrison now being the only ones lacking.

MURDER TRIAL MOVES SLOWLY AT HONOLULU

Court Room Clashes Mark Effort to Obtain Jury in Trial of Americans.

Honolulu, April 6.—(AP)—Court room clashes made the guilt or innocence of Joseph Kahanavai in an assault upon Mrs. Thomas H. Massey the burning question as selections of jurors proceeded today for the murder trial of Mrs. Granville Fortzague and three navy men.

Opposing counsel disputed yesterday for the second time over whether the jury should be permitted to consider the fact the young Hawaiian was awaiting a new hearing after a mistrial when he was kidnapped and slain last January (Continued on page one)

BLACK ACE' PLANS OCEAN FLIGHT

Col. Hubert Julian (left), who, as chief of the Abyssinian air force, got himself in trouble when he broke up the emperor's pet airplane, is ambitious. He announced that he plans a non-stop flight from New York to India this summer. He is shown here with his assistant, Lieut. William J. Powell, as they tested their plane in San Diego, Cal.

ROOSEVELT FORCES WIN BY LANDSLIDE IN WISCONSIN

Atlanta, Ga., April 6.—(AP)—Eight delegates at large and a similar number of alternates to the Chicago national convention were named by the Georgia Democratic convention today on nomination of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York.

An exceedingly heavy Democratic vote in Wisconsin, normal Republican stronghold, was a conspicuous development of presidential primary voting yesterday in the western state and in New York.

BLUE MOLD IS VICTORY FUND DAMAGING PITT

"Blue Mold," tobacco plant disease reported to be causing widespread damage in Robeson county, is gaining an alarming foothold in Pitt county, it was revealed today by reports trickling into the office of E. F. Arnold, director of the Farm Department.

Mr. Arnold said the disease, which spreads with amazing rapidity, was reported in Bell Arthur, Farmville, Beaver Dam, Chiefo and other parts of the county and had caused great crop loss.

Mr. Arnold said it was impossible to say how much Pitt county people would contribute to the fund by reason of the fact that only a few of the township chairmen had reported the result of their canvass.

He expressed hope, however, the county would be sufficient to give Pitt county one of the leading positions among contributors from this state to the Victory Fund.

W. E. HOOKS ASKS ALL COUNTY CHAIRMEN TO MAKE FINAL REPORT BY FRIDAY

W. E. Hooks, of Ayden, chairman of the Democratic Victory Fund drive in Pitt county today said the campaign would be brought to a close the end of the week and asked that anybody desiring to give to the cause do so at once.

Mr. Hooks stated he had notified all township chairmen to submit final reports by Friday at which time books will be closed and the proceeds forwarded to headquarters of the Democratic National Executive committee.

Mr. Hooks said it was impossible to say how much Pitt county people would contribute to the fund by reason of the fact that only a few of the township chairmen had reported the result of their canvass.

He expressed hope, however, the county would be sufficient to give Pitt county one of the leading positions among contributors from this state to the Victory Fund.

The object of the Victory Fund is to raise $1,500,000 for paying off old party debts and financing the forthcoming national campaign for the presidency. Democratic organizations everywhere have responded to the call for aid and it was believed the bulk of the required sum would be raised. (Continued on page six)

VETERANS TO COMBAT MOB RIOTING IN NEWFOUNDLAND

St. Johns, N. F., April 6.—(AP)—War veterans were banded to combat mob shouting demands for increased doles for the jobless, attacked and roughly handled the premier of Newfoundland in doubt.

The disturbance yesterday, which started at the colonial house but quickly spread over the city, resulted from a charge that Sir Richard Squires, prime minister, in the harbor, conquered police and partly wrecked the house of assembly of this British Dominion. Liquor stores were looted. Several persons were hurt.

Rescued by three clergymen, Sir Richard took refuge in an undisclosed place and the mob was told he and his government had despatched their resignations. So far as was known early today, however, no official resignations had been tendered.

The riot culminated a series of troubles, financial and otherwise, which rocked the colony, Britain's oldest, for months, once before a mob, shouting demands for increased doles for the jobless, attacked and roughly handled the premier.

HOGS BOOST POCKETBOOKS

Shipments of Poultry and Potatoes Also Bring Additional Money to Pitt County

The shipment of hogs, chickens and sweet potatoes continues to swell the pocketbooks of Pitt county farmers who have been hard hit the last two years as result of unfavorable prices for the main money crops.

Shipments of this kind have already brought the producers in the neighborhood of $18,000, and the sum was expected to be increased (Continued on page five)

Less Teachers Handle Larger Enrollments

Raleigh, April 6.—(AP)—Fewer teachers were employed in the public schools of North Carolina this year than any school year since 1924-25 and at the same time the average daily pupil attendance showed a very marked increase over the preceding year.

Figures compiled by the State Department of Education and released today show that 23,341 teachers were allotted to instruct an average daily attendance of more than 710,000 pupils during the six months term just ending, this is the identical number of teachers employed to teach 596,211 pupils in 1924-25.

The peak year in employment of teachers was in 1928-29 when 21,702 were used. The Hancock school law went into effect the following year and the number in 1929-30 was 23,964 teachers instructing 672,893 pupils, an average teacher load of 28.1 pupils. The next year there were 24,250 teachers for 681,995 pupils, a teacher load of 28.5 pupils.

Under the school law which operated for the first time this year the teacher load was 31.6 pupils. The year 24,702 teachers were used the average number of pupils per teacher was 26.1.

During the six months term just ended the teachers were allotted $12,313,199.52 in salaries, or an average for the period of $51.15 each.

The department reported that average school attendance during the past decade had increased from 555,424 in 1922-23 to an estimated 710,000 for the 1931-32 session.

Injured Student Reported Better

Durham, April 6.—(AP)—Ashby Penn, 22, University of North Carolina student and son of the late Charles Penn, of Reidsville, vice-president of the American Tobacco Company, was believed out of danger today from a lung wound inflicted by bandits near Chapel Hill last Thursday.

Elwood Johnson of Siler City, and Lawrence Armstrong of Mount Holly, have been arrested as members of the party which fired on Penn when he drove Officer U. M. Rackley of Chapel Hill, in the chase which followed an attempted Weiner stand holdup.

Robert Thompson, former Mount Holly police chief, and Jack Thomas, said by Johnson to have fired the shot which struck Penn, are still being sought. Thompson was believed in Virginia and Thomas was being sought in the vicinity of Wilmington, his home.

Durham, (AP)—The Durham Ministerial Association has information that Representative Frank Hanson was ordered to trial here today for the murder of Miss Jackie Ruth Youngblood, a co-ed, on a confession he attacked and killed her but county officers still disagreed over his implication.

This confession, however, has been discussed by Coroner T. E. Barton, who returned a verdict of suicide, although no motive for suicide has been advanced. Eddington later retracted his confession and said he was in Winfield, La., the night Miss Youngblood was killed.

A police officer, who assisted in Eddington's arrest, said he was convinced the hobo did not kill the girl, but "was the cause of her death." Prosecuting Attorney Joe Joiner said he would have a "surprise" for the trial.

Miss Youngblood, a senior at Magnolia A. and M. College, was en route to Little Rock to spend the Easter vacation when she was killed.

JOSEPH HEWES MEMORIAL TO BE UNVEILED IN EDENTON

When the monument to Joseph Hewes, signer of the Declaration of Independence, is unveiled at Edenton, North Carolina, on April 28, it will be one of the outstanding features of the George Washington Bicentennial Celebration in the Old North State and the entire country. The memorial, erected by Congressional appropriation, will overlook beautiful Edenton Bay from the foot of the famous courthouse green.

An elaborate program for the dedication has been planned by the committee in charge, the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission has been advised, and men of national repute will participate as speakers for the occasion.

The principal speaker will be Charles Francis Adams secretary of the navy. He will be introduced by Josephus Daniels of Raleigh, war-time secretary of the navy in President Wilson's cabinet.

Congressman Sol Bloom of New York, associate director of the U. S. Commission, will respond to the address of welcome by J. L. Higgins, mayor of Edenton. The presentation of the monument will be made by Brigadier General Louis H. Bush, assistant quartermaster general of the U. S. army; it will be accepted by Governor O. Max Gardner.

The introductory remarks to the celebration will be made by Judge Francis D. Winston, chairman of the North Carolina George Washington Bicentennial Commission. Congressman Lindsay Carter Warren will preside as master of ceremonies.

A pageant harking back to Revolutionary War days will be the feature for the afternoon. Actors and actresses will be garbed in authentic Colonial costumes.

Edenton is now making arrangements to play host to the thousands of visitors from all over the country who are expected to attend the ceremonies.

The dedication of this memorial to Joseph Hewes comes at a most appropriate time and is fittingly associated with the bicentennial celebration of George Washington's birth. Hewes rendered conspicuous service to his country during the Revolutionary War and was known as a friend of Washington's. He died in 1779 in Philadelphia, his death being directly due to overwork occasioned by his activities in Congress.

Born in Kingston, N. J., in 1750, Hewes moved to Philadelphia where he acquired a comfortable fortune as a merchant. He went to Edenton sometime between 1756 and 1763. Here he was "a particular favorite with everybody," and was generally regarded as "one of the best and most agreeable men in the world," the patron and greatest honor of the town.

As a delegate from North Carolina to the Continental Congress, Hewes at first opposed absolute independence. He nevertheless strongly supported the policy of non-importation to protest British taxation of the colonies, although he knew his private business would suffer considerably thereby. Later he overcame his own objections to separation from England and signed the Declaration of Independence in accordance with the wishes of the people of North Carolina.

He was the real head of the committee to fit out and arm vessels; and, as chairman of the committee of marine, he was in actual fact the first executive head of the United States Navy. His best service was perhaps as a member of the secret committee on supplies from abroad. His business training and ability and his experience as ship owner stood him in good stead. He is said to have used his own fleet of ships to bring supplies to this country at his own expense.

It was Hewes who procured a commission for John Paul Jones, as an officer in the navy, and it was he who gave the new immortal sea-fighter his start toward fame by finding him a ship to command. The city of Edenton enjoys the added distinction of having been the home of James Iredell, famous lawyer, legislator and justice of the U. S. Supreme Court. It is also justly famed as the scene of the "Edenton Tea Party" held in 1774. Edenton was settled about 1683. It served as the capital of the colony of North Carolina from 1772 to 1776. It now contains many historical structures and items of interest.

Miss Mabel Barnhill has been called to Weldon on account of the death of her brother-in-law.

Mrs. Claude James was gracious hostess to the members of the Wednesday Afternoon Bridge Club at the home of her mother, Mrs. Sallie Bunting, on Wednesday.

Interesting games of bridge were played at two tables at the conclusion Miss Annie Dare Hooker was presented a pretty gift for making high score.

Light refreshments were served to the members of the Cheerio Bridge Club and a few additional guests were delightfully entertained Thursday afternoon by Mrs. William Andrews at the lovely country home of her father, Mr. Whitehurst.

The home, thrown ensuite, was artistically decorated with a profusion of lovely spring flowers. Five progressions of auction bridge were played at four tables. Mrs. Leland Andrews Jr., was winner of top score and was awarded a lovely prize.

The hostess, assisted by her sisters, Misses Annie and Etta Whitehurst, served a delicious sweet course.

House Democrats Now Have Clear Majority of Ten

Washington, April 6.—(AP)—A decision which brought to a stop the congressional career of Peter C. Granata of Chicago, gave the Democrats office. House today a full ten vote lead over their Republican enemies.

Mr. Granata was voted out and Stanley H. Kunz was voted in by the House yesterday. It was a decision on an election contest brought by the latter, the Democratic congressional candidate of the eighth Illinois district, against the Republican who had been seated at the outset of the session on the strength of his certificate of election.

The standing of the parties in the House now is: Democrats 221; Republicans 211; Farmer-Labor 1; Vacancies, 2. Oklahoma may furnish the other side of the same test shortly. Chas. O'Connor, Republican, is seeking to oust Representative Disney, Democrat, of the first district. An election committee was to vote on the issue today, reporting to the House for a final decision.

TAR HEEL BAND LEADER FORMS NEW BANJO TEAM

Chapel Hill, April 6.—Jack Wardlaw, well known orchestra leader and banjo soloist, who was graduated from the university last year, and Buford Turner have formed a banjo and guitar team called "Jack and Bouf, the Banjo Maniacs," and are starting a southern tour playing for theatres, radio stations and hotels.

Wardlaw took his college orchestras on three European tours, and it was his band that had such a successful run at Myrtle Beach last summer. He is keeping his organization together, but it leaving it at his new home in Columbia, S. C., under other management this time.

Turner, a former student of Limestone College, has toured the south as banjo and guitar soloist with different orchestras for three years, and was featured soloist for the J. F. G. Cooze Company's radio string ensemble in 1930 and 1931.

ABOUT TOWN

Delinquent taxes will be advertised by the county the first Monday in May, it was announced following the meeting of the commissioners here Monday, and people who do not wish to be subjected to this extra expense should get busy and settle up before that date.

The action covers only 1931 delinquents and is in accordance with a ruling recently handed down by Attorney General Brummitt holding that the General Assembly's tax legislation applied only to the 1930 levy.

As the county government, like every other phase of business, is seriously affected by the economic situation, it should be the purpose of taxpayers to settle all overdue taxes at earliest convenience and help the county meet its obligations.

East Carolina Teachers College, for the first time in its long and useful career, is making its debut in the realm of baseball this season. The opening game will be played with Atlantic Christian College at Wilson Saturday, and the local lads hope to be able to return home with the bacon.

One of the outstanding things about diamond activities of the college is the fact that Ralph Deal, head of the French department, is doing the coaching. He is one of the most versatile members of the faculty, having shown a marked proficiency in the field of teaching, preaching and public speaking, and who doubts but he will prove just as successful at the coaching job.

Ralph has "pinched-hit" in many an emergency and if the boys run short of batting material it would not be surprising to see the coach rush up to the plate and crack out a winning run. It is just like him to do the unexpected, and while he would be setting something of a precedent for coaches by such action, it wouldn't be out of the ordinary for Ralph because cracking conventions and shattering traditions are in his line.

According to his own version, he got his start in life cracking dirt behind the most obstinate of animals, the lowly mule, and has been in a cracking, crushing, crushing mood ever since.

Schools usually have a tough time on their initial bows in the field of athletics, but under the commonsense direction of Prof. Deal, as he is known around the college, and plain Ralph, as he is denominated by brothers of the same lodge, the future of E. C. T. C. literally scintillates with promise.

We are with you, professor, hammer the old apple until its juice spatters over fandom and gives them an eyeful of what real baseball looks like.

Six months' schools have closed in Pitt county and from all information available, the term was a successful one in spite of the shortage of funds occasioned by the passage of new legislation by the last General Assembly.

Pitt county, like every other part of the state, has found it difficult to make ends meet this year, and while shortage of state appropriations at one time threatened to eliminate the possibility of the extended term, this has been dissipated and children will go through the full year.

The Board of Commissioners and City Aldermen considered the question not long ago and it was the unanimous opinion of each body that the schools should be continued under all circumstances, and to make this possible, the public was asked to pay up their taxes and do their bit to help the situation.

President Hoover's proposal to reorganize the government along economical lines isn't meeting with the approval of members of the Democratic party.

The fact is, according to leaders of the party, President Hoover's recommendations sufficiently specific.

Kitty Frew

By Jane Abbott

SYNOPSIS: When Kitty Frew sees her husband's car parked outside Marge Crosby's house, she persuades herself that Gar is conferring with Marge's committee about their little theatre work. Though Gar's sister Carol has warned her of Marge's interest in Gar, Kitty is sure she can keep Gar happy in his home.

Chapter 31 GOODBY, BUDGET BOOK

Kitty waited for Gar to tell her what the "committee" had done that afternoon.

But he said nothing about it. He said nothing about his deal, or the bills, or why he had been absent from the office during the middle of the day.

He was in high humor and Kitty thought: "It's all right." They talked about Sally and Phil. "We'll go to the wedding, won't we?" Kitty gave a little sign of dismay. "Oh, dear, just when I thought we wouldn't have any extra expenses!"

"There you go!" Gar warned, laughing. "We'll make it, some way. Oh, say—" he changed the subject abruptly. "What do you think? Carol's left home. Set up for herself in two rooms over a garage on Elmwood terrace. She's dotty."

"Gar, maybe she'll be happier now."

Gar stared at Kitty. He made a sound of disgust. "Happier! What's the matter with her being happy at home. She's just plain crazy."

Kitty had an impulse to tell him of what she suspected between Carol and Somerset. But she checked it on sober after-thought. She knew Gar would feel no sympathy.

"What does your mother say?" "What I say—that she's nutty. She's going in for arty stuff—selling Russian doo-dabs." Kitty could not see Carol's move as Gar pictured it.

The next afternoon she went to Elmwood terrace. She took a chance on following a man with a long packing box who might, she thought, be delivering a part of Carol's stock of "doo-dabs." To her delight Carol opened a door to the man. She saw Kitty standing behind him.

"Oh, hullo! Wait a minute—" she signed the book the man gave her. "How did you know where I was?" Her greeting was not altogether gracious but there was a new excitement on her face and she stood aside for Kitty to enter the little hallway.

"Oh, he did, did he?"

Carol led the way up the narrow stairs, the big box across her arms. "I suppose he had a lot to say!" Kitty was surveying the room she had entered. It was a pleasant room, with little window nooks at each end. It was in a confusion of boxes, half unpacked.

Carol put her burden down. "Well I'm here!" She said it with a hard little note of triumph. "Isn't it a cute place? I'm going into business here, selling peasant dresses and Russian books and pictures. I'm getting out cards. I'll send you one. My friend, Nina Barikoff, is helping me. You don't know her, of course."

"I think it's splendid, Carol." "Well, it's got to go." Carol frowned at the box which she was trying to open. "I've staked everything I own on it. I sold every bit of jewelry I had and I've borrowed money, too—but not from my mother!" She threw back her head and leveled a sharp meaning glance on Kitty.

"I'm sure it will go! Perhaps Dorcas Taber—she's on the Times, you know—will give it a story."

"Thanks, you needn't bother to say anything about it to Gar's friends. I don't want them around. I wouldn't let Margery Crosby inside my door!"

Carol was thinking of Somerset, Kitty knew. If only she could win Carol's confidence—talk it out with her, tell her that Somerset wasn't worth her caring for.

and unless he does so the Democrats plan their own economy movement.

This challenge evidently clearly indicates to the President that proposals and recommendations must be accompanied by actual facts before they receive consideration. The Democrats are in an economy mood and when they get through in Washington it is a foregone conclusion the government will be operating more cheaply than any period since the end of the World War.

Chicago is upset again with promise of interference from Al Capone in forthcoming elections.

The overlord of the underworld, although confined in a federal prison, is reported to be crystallizing sentiment in opposition to law and order in the Windy City, and the law-abiding citizens are fearful of trouble.

Capone, it is believed, would like to gain control of the political life of the city to help him get out of prison without serving the full term, but that he is doomed to defeat is beyond doubt.

The gang element is a vital force in Chicago, but surely it cannot control the majority of voters of the great city, and it is absolutely nonsensical to think for a moment that any political pull the gangster might get would enable him to escape serving his full term.

Uncle Sam did the sentencing in this case and the grim old gentleman will not let politics stand in the way of the gangster paying in full for his crime against the public.

"Let me help you unpack some of these boxes, Carol."

"They've got to be unpacked," Carol conceded.

"You see I know something about hanging stock away," Kitty laughed. "I was working in Stratton's all that time Gar thought I was in Bridgewater." It came to her that if she made confidences to Carol she might win Carol's return.

Carol stared at her, amazed, across the brightly embroidered garment she had taken out of the box.

"I wanted to be independent until Gar began to work, you see." "I don't see why you ever came back to Gar."

"Oh, Carol!" Kitty protested, laughing. "I never really left him—I was only waiting. And everything is beautifully all right, now."

"Oh, you think it is, do you?" "Why, of course!"

Kitty began to clear a table for some books. She took up a framed photograph which was lying there, face down. Carol snatched it out of her hand but not before Kitty had seen that it was Paul Somerset.

"I'll take care of that," Carol protested, coloring.

"Carol, I know you know Paul Somerset. I saw you with him one day, at Hoffman's."

"I'm all through with him!" Carol cried, passionately. But she held the photograph against her breast, her eyes belying her words.

Carol put the picture down with a little air of carelessness. "I told him if he wanted to let Marge Crosby make a fool of him—" But she could not keep to the manner. Her lips began to quiver. "I said I was through with him but if he so much as crooked his little finger at me I'd go to him!"

"It was that way with me, Carol, about Gar, after those weeks," Kitty said simply, sympathetically. And the two girls looked at one another, a little solemnly, wholly friendly, now.

"Oh, well—" Carol caught up some books, handed them to Kitty. "Put these anywhere. We've made a good start. Another day and I'll be settled."

Kitty went home, rejoicing. She'd broken down Carol's indifference. They were friends.

She told Gar when he came home that she'd hunted Carol out.

But Gar wasn't interested in Carol or what she was doing.

When they sat down to their meal he scowled at the nicely browned chops.

"See here, Kit, you won't get sore, will you, if I lay down the law to you?"

She laughed at his preface in spite of the pang of alarm she felt.

"I don't want you to go market—the way you do. Mother told me—Mrs. Close told her—Carrying a basket. The least you can do is appear to live like a lady—"

A great anger flooded Kitty so that she shook his mother—how dared she talk to Gar of her, so!

Gar took her silence for agreement. He modified his tone. "Probably it didn't occur to you how it looked. But now you know how I feel about it."

He did not notice that she ate nothing, that her eyes were dark.

"I don't want you working like a housemaid, either, Kit. They have women here in the building who'll come in."

Following Gar's suggestion, Carley, a soft-voiced mulatto girl, was established in the apartment. She came each day at eleven o'clock and remained through dinner. Kitty ordered her days' needs by telephone. They were delivered at the service door.

She threw her budget book away. When her week's allowance was exhausted she charged what she had to get.

She spent her mornings curled on the divan, reading. Afternoons she walked or shopped or went to Carol's. One day she telephoned to David and met him again for tea.

She dressed with elaborate care every evening for dinner. She'd bought two new dresses, a stock of undergarments, stockings, shoes, paying for them out of her precious savings.

She was very gay; when she and Gar went out with the "crowd" for dinner or to dance or to play bridge she was vivacious, lightning quick with witty retort, dazzling to poor Tubby.

She was very gay—and she was frightened, frightened at herself, at this mad recklessness that possessed her, at the burning anger she carried deep in her heart and smothered with laughter. She'd forget it, she had said to herself.

After a little she came not to resent Carley, in the kitchen, or to criticize her. "Being a lady isn't such hard work, even for me," she thought.

With Carol she could forget her hurt. She knew now that Carol liked to have her come to her rooms. Often they ate lunch together, frugally, at the end of the deal table on which Carol displayed some of her books.

Sometimes Carol talked to Paul Somerset. She'd known him two years. It had been a clandestine acquaintance. "Do you think I'd take a chance on inviting him to the house?" She'd said bitterly. "I wasn't going to have him laughed at!"

They never talked of Gar or Mrs. Frew. If Carol began Kitty quickly changed the subject.

(Copyright, Jane Abbott) David and Kitty stumbled upon a surprise, tomorrow. And Kitty is afraid of herself.

Snow Hill Falls Before Greenville High Attack

A winning streak started at the opening of the conference season with Tarboro here last Friday enabled Greenville high school to take Snow Hill in tow at the Third street school grounds yesterday afternoon by the score of 9 to 5.

The game was featured by liberal use of the willow by both clubs, Greenville registering ten bingles and Snow Hill eight. The local lads, however, taking advantage of Hoath's wildness in the first inning, sent six runners across the rubber to virtually put the game on ice.

With the bases loaded in the first inning, Roger Taylor, ace moundsman of the local club, sauntered up to the plate and nonchalantly rapped out a sizzling banger to send three runners tearing homeward. Two hits and free passes accounted for the other three tallies in that frame.

Jones replaced Heath following the withering stick attack and held Greenville hitless and scoreless until the fifth when singles by Sumner and Gaston accounted for another score. Two more markers were registered in the sixth on a passed ball, double by Seago and single by Dail.

Gaston led the stickwork for Greenville with three safeties out of four times at bat. Taylor came in for second' play with two doubles out of five times up.

For Snow Hill Barrow grabbed the lead with the stick, accounting for a triple and double, while Shirley, brother of "Mule" Shirley, star of the old Eastern Carolina League who found his way to the majors, was credited with two singles.

Greenville accounted for a total of ten hits and Snow Hill eight. Greenville used three pitchers to insure the safety of the winning streak. They were Taylor, Smith and Dail. Taylor yielded three hits and two runs in three innings, Smith three hits and two runs in two innings, and Dail two hits and one run in four innings.

Each of the moundsmen showed up to good advantage, especially Berry Dail, who emerged victorious in the initial conference clash with Tarboro last week.

Although the game with Snow Hill had no conference significance it enabled Greenville high to get in better fettle for the second conference game with Washington Friday. The Pamlico lads are ancient rivals and fans are promised one of the most spectacular clashes of the season as Greenville fights desperately to cling tenaciously to her unbeaten record.

Sport Jots

Macon, Ga., April 6.—(AP)—The pruning knife hung over the Brook-Dodgers today as they prepared to part company with their "far" team, the Hartford Senators of the Eastern League.

Macon, which formerly housed a Brooklyn farm and now is Hartford's training ground, is the traditional place at which a few rookies are lopped off the list.

Cincinnati, O., April 6.—(AP)—Two of the most promising younger members of the New York Yankee pitchers are on the injured list.

Paul Andrews is under treatment for an infected foot while Johnny Murphy, the former Fordham star is suffering from an injury to the index finger of his left hand.

Denver, April 6.—(AP)—Although his Athletics have had nothing to do for a couple of days while making their way toward the east, Manager John McGraw of the New York Giants has not been entirely idle.

He has decided on the personnel of his second team which will make the trip home via a route different from the regulars. On this squad will be Pitchers, Chaplin, Lieber Parnelee, Genewich, Turner, Signor, Smith and White, Catchers Healey and Danning; infielders Eddie Moore, Marshall, Leslie and English; outfielders Joe Moore, Fuller and Martin.

Philadelphia, April 6.—(AP)—Tied for the mythical "city championship" the Athletics and the Phillies resume their series today.

The Mackmen defeated Princeton, 3 to 2 yesterday after the colts had out-hit them 10 to 7.

The Reading team was defeated by the Phillies 5 to 2.

Kansas City, Mo., April 6.—(AP)—Manager Stanley R. Harris of the Detroit Tigers is beginning to suspect he is the American League reincarnation of Job, who also had lots of trouble.

Pitcher Earl Whitehill has a sore leg. Charlie Gehringer has twining in his throwing arm, although it is improving. Pitcher George Uhle has a strained back muscle. Bill Rhiel has a badly swollen finger. The Tigers lost their fourth straight game to the Kansas City Blues 10 to 2 yesterday and the opening of the American League season is only six days away.

Manila, April 6.—(AP)—The "Mackmen" defeated Princeton, 3 to 2 yesterday after the colts had out-hit them 10 to 7.

The Reading team was defeated by the Phillies 5 to 2.

Wonder Horse Dies In Calif.

By RUSSELL J. NEWLAND
Menlo Park, Calif., April 6.—(AP)—Phar Lap is dead.

All the world of turf and thoroughbred mourned today the passing of Australia's wonder horse—whose silks have been lowered in the final chapter of a career as glamorous as any in the history of racing.

Word of his death from colic came late yesterday.

Only a little more than two weeks ago this great red gelding had signaled his North American invasion by winning the rich Agua Caliente, Mex., handicap, a matter of $50,050.

His return trip by motor ran up the coast was uneventful. He was quartered contentedly in private stables here, awaiting a special race at Tanforan track. It was to be a prelude to an attack on one of the strongholds of racing in this country, Chicago.

An autopsy showed the great thoroughbred died from the effects of green feed nibbled from a California field, after he had withstood the rigors of a 10,000 mile sea voyage across the Pacific.

Guarded by attendants who who watched his every movement by day and slept near him at night the big horse is believed to have picked up a mouthful of green food while exercising in a field adjacent to his quarters.

Veterinarians think a bit of fox-tail, or alfalfa or barley, sodden with dew induced the colic. The horse was valued at $500,000 by D. J. Davis of San Francisco, joint owner with Harry Telford of Australia of the mount.

Raleigh, —(AP)—Henry L. Stevens, national commander of the American Legion who plans a trip to Europe this summer, said he would invite the Prince of Wales to the next national convention, to be held in Portland, Ore., next September.

HOGS BOOST POCKETBOOKS

considerably by additional shipments new in the offing.

E. F. Arnold, director of the Pitt County Farm, Director, stated today the shipment of six cars of chickens had brought poultry dealers $12,000 and two or three carloads remained to be shipped before the season is over.

The sale of six cars of hogs brought $4,000 and the sum will be swelled considerably by the movement of additional cars during the next few days. Two cars of sweet potatoes have been shipped by to date and these netted the growers $1,100.

Mr. Arnold said two carloads of hogs were being loaded at the stock yard here today and would probably move toward northern markets tomorrow. The farmers are paid for their offerings at the time of sale.

Another carload of sweet potatoes was being loaded at Bell Arthur, making the third shipped to Chicago.

No More Gas In Stomach and Bowels

If you wish to be permanently relieved of gas in stomach and bowels, take Basalman's Gas Tablets, which are prepared especially for stomach gas and all the bad effects resulting from gas pressure.

That empty, growling feeling at the pit of the stomach will disappear; that anxious, nervous feeling with heart palpitation will vanish, and you will again be able to take a deep breath, without discomfort.

That drowsy, sleepy feeling after dinner will be replaced by a desire for entertainment. Bloating will cease. Your limbs, arms and fingers will no longer feel cold and "go to sleep" because Basalman's Gas Tablets prevent gas from interfering with the circulation. Get the genuine, in the yellow package, at any good drug store. Price 25c.

Always on hand at Greenville Drug Co., and Pitt Drug Co.

Registration Notice!

The Registrar will be at the following places on dates designated for registration of voters for Municipal Election to be held on Monday, May 2nd, 1932:

April 8th and 9th—Chas. Horne's Drug Store.
April 11th and 12th—Hill Home's Drug Store.
April 13th and 14th—Pitt Drug Co.
April 15th and 16th—Eldridge Drug Co.
April 18th and 19th—Water & Light Office.
April 20th and 21st—Home Furniture Store.
April 22nd and 23rd—Warren's Drug Store.
April 25th and 26th—Savage Store, 11th & Evans Sts.
April 27th and 28th—J. Key Brown's Drug Store.
April 29th and 30th—Water & Light Office.

J. O. DUVAL, City Clerk.

from this county this season. The first car of potatoes ever shipped from Greenville left last week and growers, it was said, have already received settlement.

BRIDGE PARTY ROBBER TAKEN

Salem.

The prisoner at Salisbury told officers when he was arrested that he was J. I. Dabis of Cincinnati. They found 180 quarts of whiskey in his automobile.

Greensboro police said they learned of Dabis' true identity from a man arrested here who said he was James Deal of Washington. They quoted Neal as saying he had come here to see Mrs. Scates to get Wallace out of jail.

Young Scates, son of A. M. Scates of Greensboro, is a member of a family prominent in North Carolina. He was connected with the robbery of the Galloway home by William Pryor, 18, of Chicago, who confessed to participating in it when arrested there.

Two masked bandits took $20,000 worth of jewelry from Mrs. Galloway and three women guests who were playing bridge at her home in March, 1931.

Pryor, when arrested several months ago, said the jewelry was pawned in New York. Most of it later was recovered.

Scates was arrested on a liquor charge last summer and was sentenced to the chain gang in Forsyth county. Later he was transferred to a gang near Durham and made his escape.

He escaped before Pryor's confession which implicated him in the robbery of the Galloway home. The Galloway home was robbed in March, 1930. Mrs. Galloway was playing bridge in her library with three friends when two masked men entered and held them up.

While one stood guard with a gun, the other went up stairs, routed Mr. Galloway from his bed and locked him in a closet. He returned to the lower floor, took their jewelry from the women and locked them in a bathroom.

No trace was ever found of the two hold-up men until last month.

Pryor was arrested in Chicago following an attempt to hold up a barbecue stand. He said he and Scates robbed the Galloway home and told where the jewels were pawned in New York. Most of them were recovered.

Scates at the time was believed to be serving a term on the Forsyth county chain gang following conviction on a liquor charge.

He was arrested in Winston-Salem last summer in a car containing liquor and at that time gave his name as John Davis. He was convicted under this name and sentenced to the roads. While he was serving his term it was disclosed that he was Scates, son of A. M. Scates, of Greensboro, real estate operator who a few years ago was accounted one of North Carolina's wealthiest men.

Later Scates was transferred to a state prison camp in Durham county. When Pryor's confession linked him with the robbery of the Galloway home, it was discovered he had escaped on January 12.

At the time of his arrest in Winston-Salem on the liquor charge, Scates was accompanied by a man who said Al Fox, a Washington newspaperman. Officers here were uncertain whether the Fox arrested here with Scates is the same man.
