Agricultural Refinancing Proposals Discussed At White House Conference

LEGISLATION MAY BE TACKLED TO RELIEF BILL

Roosevelt Plans to Present Farm Mortgage Financing Scheme to Solons in The Next Few Days; Prominent Leaders Of Congress go Over Plans in The Executive Office; House Has Already Acted On Relief Bill

Washington, D. C., March 23.—(AP)—Congressional leaders were summoned to the White House today for discussion of the farm mortgage refinancing plans with President Roosevelt in which he plans to submit to the national legislature in the next few days.

It is likely that the legislation will be tackled onto the administration farm relief bill which reached the Senate after passage late yesterday by the House.

Among those who gathered at the White House executive offices were Senator Robinson, the majority leader; Senator Byrnes, of South Carolina; Chairman Clegg, of the House Agricultural Committee; Senator Bankhead, of Alabama, and Senator Gore, of Oklahoma.

R. F. C. VIEWS CLOSED BANKS

Washington, D. C., March 23.—(AP)—Scores of closed or restricted banks throughout the country are being carefully examined by employees of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation with a view to the purchase of preferred stocks by the government agency so the institutions may be re-opened.

The Corporation is empowered under the banking act passed March 9 to go into partnership with banks who purchased preferred stock, thus acquiring capital for re-opening.

In some instances where banks still have first-class collateral loans are being made as in the past.

The purchase of stock, however, is being carried out with safety, officials have taken the attitude that the corporation stock-holding is equivalent to selective guarantee of bank deposits in the institutions it takes hold of, and that it must be careful to see to it that the institution is in such shape that there will be no danger of its closing again.

For this reason, as one man put it, the Corporation wants to know a lot about a bank in which it becomes a partner.

WOMAN DIES OF INJURIES

Miss Fales Succumbs To Injuries Received In Wreck Near Raleigh

Raleigh, N. C., March 23.—(AP)—Miss Genevieve Fales, of Wilmington, a Meredith College student, who was injured in an automobile accident near here Sunday, died in a local hospital this morning at 4 o'clock. Miss Fales suffered a concussion and double fracture of one arm and a fractured jawbone in addition to internal injuries when the automobile in which she was coming to Raleigh with Representative Harris Newman, of New Hanover, and Fred Cowan, Raleigh hotel man, skidded on a curve and crashed into another car.

START FIGHT ON DIPHTHERIA

State Department of Health Calls For State-Wide Battle on Disease

A State-wide campaign against diphtheria has been declared by the State Department of Health and the local health office is going to take an active part, Dr. R. S. McGeachy, director, said today. The object of the drive, it was said, is to interest people in taking precautions against the disease through inoculations provided through the public health departments.

Although there are very few cases of diphtheria in the county at this time, Dr. McGeachy said it would be advantageous for the people to take part in the State-wide fight against the disease, and in that way prevent an unexpected epidemic.

Pitt County for the last year has outclassed all other parts of the State from the standpoint of inoculations for typhoid fever, and it is the desire of the public health workers that increased use of the diphtheria antitoxin also may be in evidence this year.

It is the hope of State health authorities that every community will take part in the campaign to improve the health condition of the people and if that is done diphtheria should be greatly reduced during the next several years.

NEW ATHLETIC FIELDS ABOUT FINISHED HERE

Work at Third Street And College to be Completed in Short Time Now

Among the projects made possible in Greenville through Reconstruction Corporation funds are the athletic fields at the Third Street school grounds and at East Carolina Teachers College.

Third Street school can boast one of the finest athletic fields in this part of the State when work is completed, and while improvements are not quite as extensive at the college, the collegians are destined to have a playing field of great value.

Improvements at Third Street are rapidly being completed in preparation for the beginning of the baseball season. The turtle-back diamond is about ready and is probably the only one of its kind in this immediate territory.

The diamond is being built under the direction of G. V. Smith, manager of the Greenville club in the old Eastern Carolina League.

But the playing field is only a part of the improvements nearing completion. Two huge grandstands with a seating capacity of several hundred, have been provided on the western and southern parts of the field. The seating accommodations are probably the most extensive in the city's history of athletics and will add much to the comfort of the thousands of people expected to make regular pilgrimages to the field in coming years.

Then, there is the club house just completed. In this will be found showers for the young athletes. Other large and airy rooms will be used for general social activities of the various schools and as a community center.

At the college work of putting the baseball diamond in condition is under way, and the athletic department is speeding up activities because the baseball boys are ready and anxious to get down to actual practice for the spring schedule.

Both schools are proud of the improvements they have been able to make through labor provided by the R. F. C. funds, and it is believed they will give impetus to the development of the athletic life of the institutions.

TIME FOR RE-DEPOSIT OF GOLD IS EXTENDED

Henderson, N. C., March 23.—Notices have been received by local banks from the Federal Reserve Bank in Richmond Va., requesting the names and addresses of all individuals known to be hoarding gold. It is stated that the date for the deposit of hoards withdrawn from banks since February 1 has been extended from March 17 to March 27 and the banks are requested to furnish the names as soon as possible after that date.

The letter from the Richmond Federal Reserve Bank includes this statement:

"It is requested that you prepare and forward to the board as soon as possible a list as can be made from information you are able to obtain of the names and addresses of all persons who have withdrawn gold from your bank or a member bank in your district since February 1, 1933, and who have not redeposited it in a bank on or before March 27, 1933."

The letter is signed by George J. Seay, governor of the Richmond Federal Reserve Bank.

HITLER ASKS REICHSTAG FOR DICTATORSHIP

Nazi Leader Promises Barbaric Severity to All Traitors in Germany

Berlin, March 23.—(AP)—Chancellor Adolph Hitler, shouting above the cheers of his Nazi deputies, demanded four years of dictatorial power from the Reichstag today.

He reasserted the issue of monarchy to the background and lifted destruction of Communism to the fore of his program, reiterating the familiar Nazi demand for arms equality and proposed a campaign of "barbaric severity" against all traitors.

Wave after wave of applause and cheers drowned his voice from time to time.

The Nazi, who controls the House, especially approved in his dictum that once adopted the Reich would be recalled only from time to time to be informed by the government of its act when the ascent of the Reich is desirable.

The first big cheer came when he expressed his approval of public decapitation of the men who set fire to the Reich building just before the last election.

There was applause at his announcement of the campaign of "barbaric severity" against all guilty of treason.

COAL MINERS STILL STRIKE

Polish Miners Remain Underground Until Government Promises to Relieve Them

Warsaw, Poland, March 23.—(AP)—More than seven hundred coal miners at Cakimontow, defying death to save their jobs, have begun their fifth day of strike in the dark, damp pits underground.

They refused to come to the surface unless the government guaranteed their jobs.

From Saturday until last night the striking miners refused to move. They finally broke the fast as they began the fifth night in the mine shaft after dealing out food which had been sent down to them, but instead of coming out they decided to send a representative to present their plea to the government.

J. C. GASKINS BADLY SCARED

Register of Deeds Forgets to Attend Court, And Gets Order From Judge

Claude Gaskins, affable register of deeds of Pitt county, was a terribly frightened man this morning, and a superior court judge was the cause of it all.

Several days ago Claude received a summons to appear as a witness in the Williamson court. The date was set for yesterday. Yesterday came and Claude, busy as always, had his mind on his business and forgot to go to Williamson.

When he appeared at his desk at the court house this morning, Sheriff Whitehurst faced him with a canvas ordering him to appear at Williamson at once or show reason why he could not.

Speaking of action, it is needless to say Claude put his legs into circulation and when he came to a halt to catch his breath he was all set to go to Williamson as fast as a high powered car could carry him.

Known as the incomparable character witness, Claude was expected to play an important part in the Williamson case, but just how important will not be known until he comes back home and becomes more articulate than when he "aired out" for the Martin county capital this morning.

FLOWER BOWL FOR COLLEGE

New Beautification Project Under Way At Teachers Institution Here

Beautification projects at East Carolina Teachers College continued to go forward rapidly and considerable improvement has been made in the grounds the last several months.

The latest development is taking place back of the Science Building near the Campus Building and when completed promises to be one of the most colorful of all.

This section of the campus was marred by a pronounced depression of the ground, but landscape experts at the college have found a way to convert it into a thing of real beauty. It is being transformed into a flower bowl and hundreds of plants in years to come will be found blooming in profusion in this area.

The edges of the depression have been rock-bordered, and this adds much to its attractiveness. Of course it isn't much to look upon at this time, but when the flowers begin to bloom it will be a thing of magnificent and splendid, second to none on the campus.

In the center of the bowl plans are under way for a sun dial and this was expected to draw interest from the student body as well as the hundreds of visitors who make annual pilgrimage to the institution each year.

To cut down the cost of providing flowers for the campus, bulbs have been planted near the flower bowl and these were expected to furnish a sufficient number of plants to afford extensive planting when it actually get under way.

An overflow system will furnish sufficient drainage for the bowl at all seasons of the year and will take care of excessive offerings from nature's sluice gates.

Dr. R. J. Slay, director of the Department of Science, is proud of the transformation taking place at the back of his building and believes it will be the cynosure of all eyes in the years to come.

Late News Flashes

Troops In The Legislature

Raleigh, March 23.—(AP)—A compromise figure for the University of North Carolina of $760,240 annually for the next biennium will be placed in 1933-35 supply bill by the House today as the Senate voted to exempt foreign stocks from ad valorem taxation and to limit reduction in valuation of property of 33 1-3 per cent.

The appropriation bill was taken up by the House on second reading after a bill to regulate beauty parlor operators and employes was passed in amended form and returned to the Senate.

Senate action on taxing foreign stocks and limiting reduction in values of property came on the decisive vote on an amendment to the biennial revenue machinery act passed by the House.

The House provided for ad valorem taxes on stocks and unlimited reduction in valuation.

A score of amendments went forward in the House as the supply bill was reached, as it had been (Continued on Page Four)

The committee was scheduled to take up the measure today, but deferred the meeting until tomorrow. Later Chairman Hindsdale, of Wake, announced the beer proposal would be heard next week.

The Francis bill was the first beer bill before the Senate, but the House killed two somewhat similar proposals.

LARGE CROWDS GO TO REVIVAL

Baptist Meeting at Winterville Drawing Interest From Community

Large crowds are attending the series of revival services which are being held in the Baptist Church at Winterville, and the meeting promises to be one of the most successful conducted by the church in many years.

Rev. Charles H. Dickey, of Winterville, is doing the preaching. He is one of the best known members of the clergy in this part of the State, and has gained considerable recognition as a writer as well as a minister.

The service each day is preceded by inspirational singing conducted by choir leaders.

Members of the denomination have made extensive preparations for the revival, and it was expected the church would be crowded to overflowing each day. Numbers of people from other parts of the county were present last night and helped to swell the congregation to no little extent.

Chapter 40
JULES' TREACHERY

Perhaps they had just dumped him somewhere, Otho thought, apparently dead drunk, where he would be found and chucked into a cell to sleep it off.

But what was the game?
 And why, in spite of everything, was his heart singing a lark's song,

Margaret told herself the must not go mad.

Words failed the Sergeant-Major. "Yes, Sergeant."
 And shouting, Otho, albeit a little unsteadily, marched out into the sunshine, in search of Joe Mummery.

Margaret felt that she was going mad, and told herself repeatedly, and aloud, that she must not go mad. She must keep sane and be strong, for far more was now at stake than her own life, honor and safety.

Otho was in the hands, in the limitless power, at the savage uncontrolled "mercy" of Raisul.

How could he... how could Jules come up to her in the garden with smiling debonaire assurance and when she eyed him in cold and hostile silence, say:

"Oh come, make it up, Margaret. Let's kiss and be friends. No, don't go away. Listen, Margaret... Oh, all right, go if you like. But won't you speak to Otho/Belleme first?"

As she now stood tearing her handkerchief to rags, she saw the scene again.

How suddenly she had wheeled about.

"What? Otho here?"
 And the hateful,

"Ah-h-h! Thought that'd fetch you, young woman. Yes, our old pal, Otho, is actually here. Want to see him?"

"Of course I do. Where is he?"
 "Over on the other side. He sent his kind regards, and since he can't call on you, would you, for old times' sake, come and see him, if you're not too proud to talk to a legionnaire."

"I doubt if he said that. Of course I'll go and see him. I'd walk miles for me Otho. Will it be all right for me to go over to the barracks if you come with me?"

"Oh, I've managed better than that. Raisul's very kindly entertaining him in his quarters. He knew him at once. They met at Oxford in Jack's rooms, you remember."

And like the fool she was, she'd walk into the trap.

Simpleton to have trusted Jules Maligni for one moment. Why had not she seen danger the moment Raisul's name was spoken? Why hadn't she remembered what she knew—that the name Maligni was synonymous with treachery, villainy, lies.

And what had Raisul meant when he had stroked her face and neck, while Jules and that giant negro held her? What had he meant by saying, with his hateful, hateful grin, "Never mind, darling, never mind. He's alive—and he'll soon be kicking. Oh, I assure you he'll soon be kicking."

"Unless you rescue him, that is. He's safe enough I'm sure. His Margaret'll rescue him all right—when the opportunity is offered to her."

What did that cur mean? Rescue Otho? She could "rescue him, when the opportunity was offered?" What did Raisul mean?

What should she do?
 Colonel Le Sage!
 But how to get to him.
 Whoever opened her door should not shut it again.
 Like a creature distraught, Margaret paced her room, flung herself down upon her bed, and in a storm of weeping, found some relief.

Anon she sat up. This would not do. This would not help Otho.

What was that?
 There was someone at her door.

Why didn't the door open? She cape with hood attached, a commowas certain she'd heard somebody at it. She'd heard the key turn. Why didn't the door open?

 The door did open.
 With a supreme effort of self-control, Margaret refrained from hysteria.

The aged Hassan el Miskeen, the dumb slave, stood grinning and saluting on the threshold.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood—(AP)—Alice White has learned to "take it on the chin" and Jimmy Cagney, whom the producers often cast in such parts, taught her.

It was an accident, Jimmy usually pulls his punches and he doesn't hurt, but in the "Picture Snatcher" scene Alice unexpectedly "leaned into it" and spoiled his aim. It hurt—but of course it wasn't his fault! Alice explains. And Jimmy is sorry.

To date, he believes, Alice is the only girl who really was hurt by his cinematic mistreatment.

But for that unpleasant and accidental distinction, Alice must give precedence in the list of Jimmy's victims to Mae Clarke, the girl who took that grapefruit in the face in "The Public Enemy." That incident was a landmark because it inaugurated the treat-em-rough policy in Cagney pictures.

Joan Blondell has suffered much in the films at Cagney's hands. Jimmy has rough-housed her through more reels than one can count off-hand. She's used to it, however.

"You need nerve," she observes, "but Jimmy is as steady as your make 'em. If you trust him, you can't get hurt—much. It isn't his fault that a girl needs insurance when she starts on a Cagney picture."

Loretta Young, who got pushed around in "Taxi" didn't like it. She said so, but they stuck by the script nevertheless. It's still a sore subject with Loretta, who has forgiven perhaps, but not forgotten. There was Virginia Bruce, too, who rates high among the victims because she was not only pushed but kicked in "Winner Take All."

Hollywood, Cal.—Ancestry-tracers would not lack material here.

There's Joan Blondell, for instance, in whose family there is a tradition linking it by direct descent to David Richard the Lion-Hearted.

Joan tells how several years ago in New York her younger sister informed her that "There's a picture of you in the Metropolitan Museum of Art—only you're wearing funny clothes and you have a beard."

Joan says that when she investigated, she found a portrait of the king's troubadour—with the same round face, the same mouth and the same large eyes Blondell fans see on the screen today!

The Bard Himself

And speaking of famous ancestors—young John Darrow claims William Shakespeare as one of his, although John doesn't write plays in an attempt to prove it. Another Darrow forebear was Thomas Willett, early mayor of New York City.

Then there's Andrew Jackson Rylee, descendant of the President for whom he is named, but who uses the name of John Preston in the movies.

Preston, tall, young, good-looking athlete, is grand-nephew of the fighting leader of other days, and in his possession are numerous relics of the one-time President, including spurs, belts and other accessories which he hopes to wear as the hero of western pictures—when he gets to be a hero in western pictures.

No Horses?

That is his ambition, strangely enough, or not so strangely, at that. For he was reared on a Texas ranch, has been athletic all his life, and it might be assumed that with this background he would favor outdoor pictures.

But his stage experience has been in drama, and his only movie work to date, in "False Faces" with Lowell Sherman, featured no horses, no more than his forthcoming part in "Dead on Arrival."

BAMA TACKLE, SHERIFF'S SON, IN DETECTIVE ROLE

Tuscaloosa, Ala.—(AP)—Bill Lee, one of Alabama's giant tackles, grew up in an environment of law enforcement—he's the son of a sheriff—and even in college has not forgotten the tricks of his father's trade.

Having an eye peeled for law breakers Bill spied a man at the university gym—a face that somehow was familiar.

Closer scrutiny brought recognition, and Bill called the sheriff of Tuscaloosa County to take the man into custody while he telephoned his father at Eutaw to come and get his prisoner—wanted in Bill's county since 1930 to answer a charge of grand larceny.

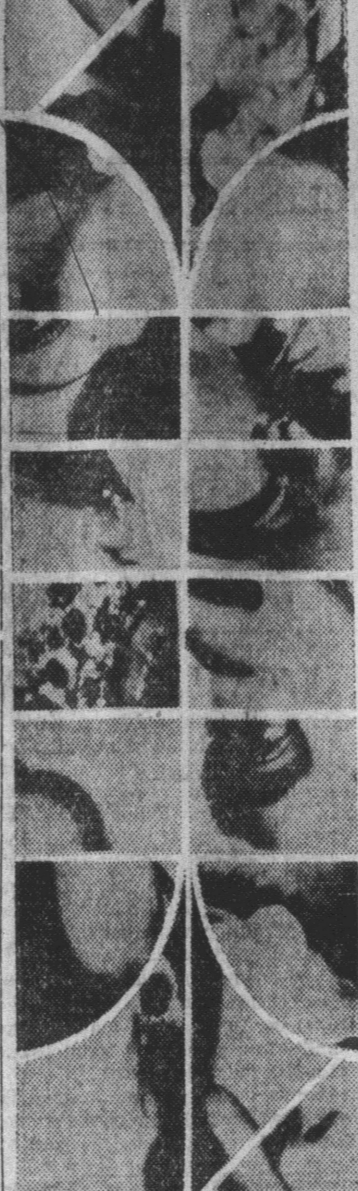

PLAN WATER-PROOF SUITS FOR CADDIES IN ENGLAND

Caversham England.—(AP)—Uniforms for golf caddies are the latest idea to combat England's "spoil-sport" weather.

glorious affair sufficient to protect the whole of the caddie bag from the rain.

DENY MRS. REYNOLDS HAS MADE AGREEMENT

Winston-Salem, N. C., March 23.—Benet Polikoff and Porter Graves, local attorneys for Libby Holman Reynolds, denied today a report that she has accepted a settlement of $2,000,000 as her share of the Smith Reynolds estate.

She is the widow of the late Z. Smith Reynolds, who was shot to death here last summer, and mother of his son who was born several months after the shooting.

The attorneys' denial was evoked by a recent story in the Columbus, O., American-Examiner stating that Libby Holman had agreed on a settlement.

SON OF COMEDIENNE ASHEVILLE BOOSTER

Asheville, N. C., March 23.—(AP)—Another booster for the scenery and beauty of Asheville and the surrounding mountain country is William Arnold, young son of Fannie Bryce, noted comedienne.

William, who is "Billy" to friends, is eleven years of age. He recently recovered from scarlet fever and has come to Asheville to regain his strength.

TWO ARRESTED, CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLEMENT

Greensboro, N. C., March 23.—(AP)—W. S. Isom and W. B. Stafford, of Summerfield, were arrested today on warrants charging embezzlement of more than $5,000 from the partnership funds of the Summerfield Lumber Company.

Isom is a partner with Howard Simpson, former-cashier of the Bank of Summerfield, in the lumber company, and Stafford is the company's liquidating agent.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sick and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Beware a substitute. 75c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

THERE IS BUT ONE RIGHT WAY

There still seems to be a difference in the Senate on the matters of the revaluation of property and that of repealing the exemption of foreign stocks from ad valorem taxes. While indications are that the Senate desires that the revaluation of property be restricted to a definite horizontal cut or a certain limit of reduction and likewise desires not to touch the foreign stocks question leaving the holders of such stocks to continue to enjoy special privileges by escaping taxation, it is our opinion that if these gentlemen of the Senate will turn their attention to the Constitution they will find that they duty in these two matters is clearly defined.

The Constitution clearly states that all property should be placed upon the tax books at its true value. Under this ruling every piece of property that is now on the tax books at other than its true value in money should be revalued without restriction or limitation and the value raised or lowered to make it represent a true value.

The Constitution likewise provides that all property shall be taxed by a uniform rule. So long as a farm worth $10,000 is taxed upon its basis of value regardless of whether it can produce one cent in revenue or profit to its owner while $10,000 worth of stock in a foreign corporation is taxed nothing for its worth and only 6 per cent of its actual cash earnings for the year there is discrimination against the holder of the real property in violation of the Constitution.

It seems to us that the duty of the Senate in this matter is clearly set forth but the question is whether the majority of the Senators, in the face of the lobbies of the privileged classes, will have the moral courage to comply with the provisions of the Constitution and do the right thing by ordering a revaluation without restriction and by repealing the abominable law passed ten years ago that extended special privileges to a certain class of taxpayers at the expense of other taxpayers in the state. There is but one right course. Will the Senate take it?

production this year. Based upon estimates of the Agriculture Department now comes a warning from Winston-Salem, one of the centers of the tobacco manufacturing industry of the state, and it is to be hoped that our farmers will realize that an increase at this time is indeed inviting disaster in the way of lower prices.

The Winston-Salem Journal says:

Fear has been expressed that North Carolina farmers would increase their tobacco crop as much as 37 per cent this year, in view of the reasonable price paid for tobacco last season. Indications are that this much increase will be effected, if plant bed sowings and tobacco land breakings can be depended upon.

Such an increase will be well nigh disastrous to the tobacco grower. It will mean that the farmers will add 37 per cent to their costs of production in plowing, fertilizing and cultivation. In many instances it will mean production of a poorer quality of tobacco than has been produced heretofore, because tobacco usually reflects the degree of attention it receives. Tobacco well cultivated and carefully primed and cured is certain to demand a better price than a crop otherwise managed.

Moreover the production of tobacco has been adequate over the past several years. There is no need for further poundage. The manufacturers can use only what their patronage will consume. They have no desire to buy more. If they buy more they do so at very low prices.

The farmer has but one safe course. That is to raise all the foodstuff and feedstuff he is going to need, and then to grow tobacco on the side. He will be making a certain living that way and will be supplying the tobacco industry adequately as well. It would really do no harm if everyone reduced tobacco acreage this year instead of increasing it.

My Beauty Hint

By JESSIE RALPH (Screen Actress)

My usual reply, when asked for my beauty secrets, is to say simply that, having no beauty, I have no secrets. But let me make a few suggestions to the girls of today—that they drink plenty of water instead of cocktails if they wish to keep their complexions. And if they have bright eyes and rosy cheeks, why disguise them with mascara and rouge? Live normally—that is my plea to the girls of 1933.

ROOSEVELT'S "NEW DEAL":

WHEN CARDS MADE HISTORY

The cards were shuffled... The President began to deal them almost before the players were seated—it was the promised "new deal"....

The nation locked at the first five cards of the hand it relied on to beat the depressions' holding.

The first card had spread across it in marching letters—"Sound Banking!"

"Beer!" marked the third. Boldly the fourth card proclaimed drastic steps for "Farm Relief!"

Forests and public construction for "Unemployment Aid!" were written on the fifth.

How were the cards to be played?

"SOUND BANKING" was the first card: Long lines of depositors at bank windows... Bank holidays... Gold going abroad... Collapse threatening the entire economic system... Old man depression taking the tricks.

Then with dramatic suddenness, almost immediately after he had taken his oath, President Roosevelt proclaimed a nation-wide banking holiday, announcing that banks would not re-open until sound.

Congress clothed him with dictatorial power to meet the monetary crisis, authorized additional currency, stopped the gold flight!

Many banks opened again... Experts prepared laws for permanent reform....

"ECONOMY" was the second card: The President said a $5,000,000,000 accumulated deficit threatens. The government's credit must be preserved... He must cut a half billion or more to bring the budget into balance....

Again the Congress gave him the power verging on the dictatorial, passed a bill permitting him to slice hundreds of millions from veterans' relief expenditures, millions more from salaries millions more in government reorganization.

The government's credit thus protected, the treasury floated a loan of several hundred millions—which was twice over-subscribed....

The dollar, sinking on foreign exchanges, gained... Those who sold the dollar short lost millions....

"BEER" was the third card. Majorities in both chambers of Congress were pledged to prohibition change but other matters seemed more pressing... Beer! could wait....

Then, suddenly again, in a two-paragraph message, the President asked Congress to legalize beer....

The brewing industry sprang to life, estimated it would spend about $370,000,000 in 12 months to rehabilitate a thousand or more plants.

It would, it said, bring work to a half million... Would indirectly affect millions more... Would brew some 25,000,000 barrels.

Government tax experts figured. At $5 a barrel this was revenue of $125,000,000—to strengthen, still more budget-balancing efforts....

"FARM RELIEF" was the fourth card: Farmers organized to prevent—by force, if necessary—the sale of their farms to satisfy mortgages.... They picketed roads to keep food out of cities... There could be no recovery unless farm purchasing was replenished....

Again the President asked for dictatorial powers, urging passage of bill that would allow the administration to apply a number of farm measures as conditions justified....

It was an experiment to return to millions their economic strength.... The government could retire land, could tax processors of farm products... Prices must be pushed to 1909-1914 averages....

Said seven major farm organizations: "Delay will be fatal."

"UNEMPLOYMENT AID" was the fifth card: Between 11,000,000 and 12,000,000 were jobless... Incomes of millions more were slight... Jobs fewer.

The President said he should provide funds for the states, would spend millions in reforestation, other millions in public construction....

These were direct acts for emergency aid... More employment was to come from the revived brewing industry, from renewed business industry that would follow increased farm purchasing power and government expenditures....

Old man depression plays his game with the jobs for stakes... He had won many tricks... Would the cards from the new deck beat him?

About NEW YORK

By WILLIAM GAINES

New York—Charles "Buddy" Rogers is still with us, although his orchestra ballyhoo out in a pianissimo puff.

Now the curly-haired idol of the flapper era looks forward to a return to pictures.

He came back to town recently, or a vaudeville engagement. Buddy was still doing a turn at orchestra leading, but he didn't have his own musicians. He borrowed the theater's band from the pit.

There was a long publicity build-up for his invasion of New York last spring, at the head of his own orchestra. Buddy was supposed to be fulfilling a life-time ambition when he took the baton in hand to lead his California Cavaliers.

Buddy's orchestra, as you probably know, didn't create any large sensation. But he doesn't look upon the venture as a flop. His band, he says, played through a certain number of weeks, as contracted for by the management of one of the big hotels. Whether Buddy was pressed to extend his engagement or not doesn't matter now.

"It all seemed very glamorous and alluring when I watched that amorous orchestra from out front," he told me. "But I didn't realize what a tough job it was to whip them into shape—what long hours of practice were necessary."

Buddy For World's Fair? Buddy had an orchestra in college, and a boys' band back in Olathe, Kansas, but all of that was just child's play. As for rehearsing a musical organization to win the favor of this choosy metropolis—well, the grind in movie studios is a cinch by comparison.

Nevertheless, he may take another crack at baton waving. He said he had been invited to lead an orchestra at the Chicago World's Fair this summer, and if his movie prospects

91% of All Human Ills Originate In Stomach

Failure to Supply Body With Essential Minerals Allows Excessive Acids to Destroy Health and Vitality.

Medical science, constantly searching for ways to prolong life, frequently come forward with startling statements of their findings, but no more astounding announcement has been made in recent years than the statement of an eminent Chemist who now declares that "There is no natural death. All deaths from so-called natural causes are merely the end point of progressive acid saturation."

TIMELY WARNING

An amazing statement indeed but a warning that if heeded, should improve the health and well being, increase the joy of living, and prolong the lives of millions of men, women and children who might otherwise drag through a weary life to an untimely end.

ACIDITY KILLS MILLIONS

Health authorities now agree that 91% of all diseases originate in the stomach and are caused by poor cooking, improper diet, and the eating of highly refined foods. Your doctor knows that the 11 essential Minerals and all Vitamins are contained in foods in their natural state and could be live with you constantly, carefully select and prepare everything you eat, you would never need medicines of any kind. This being impossible, science has been searching for years, trying to compound formula that would make up for the deficiencies of these vital elements—and at last their efforts have been rewarded.

AID TO NATURE

INTRAMURAL SPORTS GROW AT N. C. STATE

Raleigh, N. C., March 23.—Intramural sports will be conducted on a larger scale at N. C. State College this spring as a result of increased interest in the program by campus organizations.

Interest in the program has almost doubled during the present school year and J. F. Miller, director of intramurals and physical education, says he expects the student entries this spring to out-number those of any past term.

Miller estimates that 1,498 students have taken part in the different intramural activities since the fall term last year. With the completion of the spring program in June, he says, the number will probably exceed 2,000. A number of individuals engage in more than one branch of sports activity.

The activities are run on competitive basis—fraternity competing with fraternity and dormitory competing with dormitory. There are fifteen teams represented in the fraternity group and fourteen in the dormitory league. Points are given to teams in each group playing in events and silver trophy cups are presented the fraternity and dormitory scoring the highest number of points for the season.

Sigma Nu is leading the fraternity league with 909 points and Second Floor of 1911 is leading the dormitories with 870.

The program this spring will call for competition in recreational baseball, tennis and track. The fall and winter schedule consisted of tag football, horseshoes, basketball, athletic stunts, swimming, handball, volleyball, and gymnastics.

Grimesland Again Takes Bethel in Tow

Tuesday night, March 21 in the Bethel gym, the Grimesland boys again defeated the Bethel boys 25 to 19.

At the end of the first half it was hard to tell which team would win. However, in the second half the Grimesland boys gained several points. J. Bullock scored highest for Bethel, while J. Proctor and A. Proctor scored highest for Grimesland.

The line-up: Grimesland—J. Proctor, T. Fleming, M. Heath, A. Fleming, A. Proctor. Bethel—J. Bullock, I. Manning, J. Dunn, A. Warren, C. Carson.

SPORT SLANTS
By ALAN GOULD

This is a story about the great struggle that the undergraduate athletes themselves are making at Cornell University to keep their sports program going this year under a "cash and carry" system, but it is typical of the spirit manifest now in dozens of other colleges and universities in the United States.

Rather than abandon their annual trip to Boston for the triangular track meet, with Harvard and Dartmouth, the Cornell boys did some quick figuring. They allowed for a drop of 25 per cent in the gate receipts, anticipating the meet would draw at least $3,000. It never had gone below $4,000. Each member of the Red team paid a deposit of $10 before leaving Ithaca, as a further precaution against a deficit, but with the hope and conviction they would get this back and have some reserve for the intercollegiate the following week.

It didn't look like much of a risk, especially as Harvard made arrangements to house the visiting athletes and helped in every way to reduce expenses. But on the night of the meet, Boston was blanketed with a snowstorm and the gate receipts fell to a new low, only $2,200. The Cornell boys competed with the knowledge their personal deposits not only were lost, but that they probably would be assessed further.

As a result only a handful of Cornell athletes were able to make the trip to the championship meet in New York. One of them, Captain Joe Mangan, finished second in the mile run despite being badly spiked on the first lap, but he was forced to withdraw from the two-mile relay.

Sportsmanship Lauded
The fact that the Cornell men made the trip to Boston in the first place was striking evidence of the fact that athletics in American colleges are the result of a spontaneous desire and enthusiasm for competition by undergraduates," commented the Harvard A. A. News.

"Their spirit, their sportsmanship, their competition in no way reflected their knowledge of their personal loss and every Dartmouth and Harvard man who knew the facts could not help but say admiringly: 'What boys! Cornell should be proud of them.'"

DUKEMEN OUT TO MAKE THE SPRING TEAMS

Durham, N. C., March 23.—Many members of the Duke University football team have turned their attentions to other sports now that spring grid work is over.

Headed by Freddie Crawford, selected as one of the four greatest tackles in the country last fall, ten gridgers are out for track. They are: Crawford, Smokey Tarrall, John Brownlee, Chuck Rossiter, Al Means, Ken Abbott, Al Keller, Howard Andrews, O. C. Britton, and Marion Brumbach.

Out for the baseball nine are "Horse" Hendrickson, Earle Wentz, and Corky Cornelius.

Captain Roger Jeacock, No. 1 man on the Duke University golf team, has never been beaten in a duel meet in collegiate circles.

Peacock was undefeated in seven meets last year, downing among others Billy Howell of Washington and Lee and Alan Smith of North Carolina. He has won his lone match so far this season.

Twelve track performers, either members of the varsity or freshman teams last season, have been lost by the 1933 Duke University cinder path outfit.

The co-captains, Kid Brewer and Bill Hicks, Walter Sharpe, pole vaulter, and Sam Smith, high jumper, finished their years of eligibility. Williams, shot put; West, javelin; Berry, quarter-miler, and Erickson, miler, were forced to drop out by scholastic difficulties. Thompson, javelin; Nichols, half-miler; Adkinson, high hurdles and high jump, and Davis, hurdles and broad jump, are not back for various reasons.

Colored Home is Damaged by Fire

The kitchen and back porch at the home of Claude Chapman, colored, on West Fifth Street, were badly damaged by fire this morning about 3 o'clock. The loss was placed by firemen at around $300.

The blaze, of undetermined origin, has gained such headway when discovered that the kitchen and porch were practically doomed when the firemen arrived.

The department was called out earlier during the night to put out a burning automobile, but the alarm was not sounded.

Goldboro, March 23.—Suit for $15,000 has been filed in Wayne Superior court against the National Surety Company and A. N. Bateman, employe of that company, by Mrs. Cora Loftin of Mt. Olive. The plaintiff alleges that on August 8, 1932, she fell over a pile of rocks and stone that the defendants had left on a lot at Mt. Olive when the postoffice was being built there. She alleges that she sustained a broken right shoulder and arm and other injuries.

New York Cotton

New York, March 23.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened very steady, nine to thirteen points advance on higher Liverpool cables and trade buying, and in the absence of heavy selling. Liverpool sold a little cotton here early, but offerings were light after the call and prices worked up 6.40 for May and 6.76 for October, making a net advance of ten to eighteen points.

Prices were three or four off from the best at the end of the first half hour. Offerings were smaller after the close of Liverpool and the market was quieter later.

Prices held fairly steady.

At midday May was selling around 6.35 and October 6.69. (Courtesy Speight & Co.)

Stock Market

New York, March 23.—(AP)—The stock market threw off its reaction move of the last five sessions and recovered for a time today.

An upswing of prices in the first hour carried a number of issues up two to four points as shorts sought to cover in a market from which selling pressure had been missing.

Trading slackened later, but more than half of the early advances were still retained by early afternoon.

Early strength also appeared in cotton and wheat.

Gains of 7 or 8 points in Allied Chemical and Case were shaded by a point or so later.

American Telephone lost more than a point on an upturn of three and a half points and Gas slid back a point after rising three points. A two-point gain in U. S. Steel was cut in half.

Gains of two to three points in Union Pacific, Santa Fe and New York Central and other issues were reduced, although rails developed new strength in the third hour.

Various strong groups in the rail trading included farm instruments, mail order, wet stocks and others.

Demands Relief Measure
Washington, D. C., March 23.—(AP)—Aid to the jobless in congested industrial cities was subscribed as the aim of the President's reforestation program.

While Miss Frances Perkins was telling a joint session of the House and Senate Committee of the purpose of the measure, Secretary Bryns related plans under way for recruiting jobless men in industrial cities into a civilian conservation corps.

Miss Perkins in her first appearance as Secretary of Labor before a Congressional committee entered into a give-and-take cross-examination by the committee, members and defended the program from charges that it would tend to reduce wage standards for unskilled labor.

She called it a relief plan and not an employment program, and said employers realized that the purchasing power of wage-earners must be sustained if business was to prosper.

Bill Calls For Bond Issue.
Washington, March 23.—(AP)—Speaker Rainey told newsmen the treasury today was considering and Congress very shortly will receive recommendations from President Roosevelt for enactment of a farm mortgage refinancing plan calling for possible issuance of $2,000,000,000 worth of bonds.

"A tentative draft of the bill is in the hands of Secretary Woodin for any suggestion he might have to make," Rainey said.

He predicted for the state of seige this bill will be added in the Senate to the farm price fixing bill passed yesterday.

As the measure now stands, Rainey asserted, it calls for a bond issue to provide funds for refinancing.
