FRANCE TO SEEK LUMP SUM PAYMENT WAR DEBTS

Herriot Leaves For U. S. To Confer With Roosevelt On Grave World Problems

TO PAVE WAY FOR FRANCE'S AMBASSADOR

Although Former Premier Will Talk International Affairs With President it is Known he Will Make Appeal For Full Payment of $3,921,547,000 War Debt; Washington Remains Quiet

Le Havre, France, April 17.—(AP)—Premier Edouard Herriot left for Washington today to lay the groundwork for an eventual French proposal to pay a lump sum for the war debt owed the United States. He was aboard the Ile de France which sailed today for New York City.

His instructions were to be an observer instead of a negotiator as the French representative in the international conferences with President Roosevelt on world problems. But he will lose no opportunity to present the French case and pave the way for later negotiations for Andre de Laboulaye, the new French Ambassador.

Debts will admittedly play an important part in the recovery of the world and such plans loomed large in the French discussions. France's debt to the United States stands at $3,921,547,000 with $19,261,000 in default, the defaulted portion consisting of interest due last December 15.

Washington, D. C., April 17.—(AP)—Word from Paris that former Premier Edouard Herriot would seek to pave the way for a lump settlement of the war debt on his visit to Washington for conversations with President Roosevelt evoked no comment today at the White House or at the State Department.

Mrs. Julia Adams Buried Sunday

Funeral services for Mrs. Julia Adams, who died Saturday at her home near Grimesland after illness of six years, were conducted from her home Sunday afternoon at three o'clock by Rev. Bob Holmes, pastor of the Selmerdine Holiness Church, and burial was made in the family burying grounds.

The deceased was a member of the Holiness Church and was beloved by people of the community. She is survived by five sons, Bill, M. D., Tump and Timp Adams of this county and Horace Adams of Princess Anne, Va.; a daughter, Mrs. Thad Harris of Pitt County; two sisters, Mrs. Betty Sutton and Mrs. Jack McLachorn of this county. The following were active pallbearers: George Clark, Roy Smith, Pat Carroll, A. D. Clayton, W. N. Cox, and Wallace Caton.

SHORTAGE OF TAXES MAY SHORTEN TERM

Mocksville, N. C., April 17.—According to Colonel Jacob Stewart, chairman of the board of trustees of the Mocksville special charter school, it seems likely the school will not be able to operate more than eight months this year as the special taxes which finance the extended term are not forthcoming as rapidly as expected.

Mocksville has been an accredited high school operating a nine months' term since 1917.

Rate Goes Up

Cleveland, O., April 17.—(AP)—The magazine Steel said the steel operating rate was lifted three points to 20.5 per cent during the last week. Extension of consumer interest from pig iron and scrap to finished steel products was ascribed as the reason. All consumer classifications except the building industry participated.

SEE RESPITE FOR MRS. JUDD

Believe Sanity Verdict Will Not Be Reached Before Date of Execution

Florence Ariz., April 17.—(AP)—Winnie Ruth Judd, convicted trunk murderer, may win another respite from death. With many witnesses yet to be heard, it seemed possible a verdict of her sanity might not be reached before dawn Friday, the time set for her to hang for the murder of Agnes Ann Lerol.

ARREST MAN IN SLAVERY CASE

Harvey Hyman Is Held on Charge of Stealing Tobacco Last Fall

Harvey Hyman, young white man of near Greenville, was being held today on a charge of white slavery and the larceny of tobacco from a farmer near Farmville.

He was to receive hearing on the larceny charge at Farmville today after which he will be brought to Greenville and held pending action of Federal authorities on the white slavery charge.

Hyman was arrested at Wilson during the week-end following the return to this city of Miss Laura Beath, with whom he is alleged to have disappeared with last October. They are alleged to have lived together in Virginia, South Carolina and Florida before finally returning home.

Hyman was alleged to have stolen the tobacco and then to have disappeared with the young woman.

Chief of Police George Clark said this morning the Department of Justice officials at Charlotte had been notified of the case and officers were expected here within the next day or so to take action. Just what action will be taken in the case of the young woman was not definitely determined, but it was believed she would be sent to a home of detention.

CHOWAN MAN CATCHES 45,000-HERRING A DAY

Edenton, N. C., April 17.—Large catches of herring have been reported from fishermen on the Chowan River during the past few days.

Other fishermen in the vicinity are reported to be making fine catches also.

WOULD DROP CASE AGAINST AL GREGORY

Prosecutor Insists Upon Conviction of Five Other Britons At Moscow

Moscow, April 17.—(AP)—Prosecutor Vishinsky today recommended dismissal of charges against Albert Gregory, but insisted on conviction of five other British engineers of the Metropolitan-Vickers Electrical Company as "spies, saboteurs and bribers."

The prosecutor also asked mercy for two of the eleven Russians—one of the two was Madame Anna Kitzova—on the ground that they had partially redeemed themselves by betraying other defendants.

Vishinsky demanded the highest penalty for Basil Guesey, who he identified as the main saboteur, but left to the court's discretion the punishment to be passed against the others.

The prosecutor in effect recommended secondary punishment for five Englishmen by declaring them "organizers of this conspiracy and must be punished severely."

YOUNG FARMER IS A SUICIDE

Floyd Oakley Fires Bullet Through His Heart at Home Near Selmerdine

Floyd Oakley, 28, young farmer of the Selmerdine community, committed suicide yesterday afternoon at 3:30 by firing a pistol bullet into his heart at his home a short distance from Selmerdine.

Coroner A. A. Ellwanger investigated the tragedy and said the cause was not known.

Oakley killed himself in the presence of his mother, wife and sister, and the coroner held that an inquest was unnecessary.

Funeral services were conducted from his late home this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock by Rev. E. L. Hillman, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church of this city. Burial was made in the family burying ground.

Oakley was a native of this county and had confined the most of his life to farming. He was well-known in the community and his death was received with great shock.

He is survived by his wife and two children, Margaret and Mamie; his mother, Mrs. J. J. Oakley; his two brothers, George and Johnnie Oakley; four sisters, Mrs. J. H. Cox, S. L. Cox, Mrs. A. J. Cox and Mrs. S. B. Cox, all of this city.

The following were pall bearers: Roy Gaskins, Roy Venters, Elwood Venters, Josh Smith, Oscar Williams, Snodie Sutton, Eddie Venters and Owen Daniels.

FOREIGN MINDED ROBBERS RAID CHILE'S DIPLOMATS

Santiago, Chile.—(AP)—A slippery gang of thieves here has a penchant for diplomatic prey.

The thieves raid only diplomats' homes and apartments. It is reported that the gang has "foreign brains."

Several envoys have lost furniture, dinner service and personal effects. One foreign trade official was sunning himself in the rear garden and his wife was sleeping while thieves ransacked the house, taking $750 worth of clothing.

MRS. JAMES BURIED HERE

Funeral Services Conducted From Methodist Church Today At 11 O'clock

Funeral services for Mrs. F. G. James, who died Saturday morning after a short illness, were held from Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church this morning at 11 o'clock and burial was made in Cherry Hill cemetery. The final rites were conducted by Rev. E. L. Hillman, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. Walter Patten of Fayetteville, and Rev. W. P. Watkins, former pastor of the church here.

The criminal term of Superior court which convened here this morning, recessed at the noon hour so that court officials and attendants might attend the last rites for the wife of the late Colonel F. G. James, for years a prominent member of the local bar, and mother of J. B. James, also a bar member.

The funeral was largely attended and the church was crowded to overflowing by relatives and friends of the deceased who was greatly beloved for her generous and kindly disposition and her effort to make life brighter for the more unfortunate of the community.

Each of the ministers paid tribute to the splendid Christian life of Mrs. James, and declared her untiring efforts to make the way easier and brighter for people in all phases of life would always be remembered by those intimately acquainted with her.

She was a member of the Methodist Church from early childhood and her work in behalf of the local congregation was outstanding for many years.

The daughter of the late James Burton and Pattie Sherrod Cherry, Mrs. James was a member of one of the oldest and most socially prominent families in this part of the state.

She is survived by three sons, James Burton, Larry M. and Charles James; two daughters, Mrs. W. T. Lipscomb and Miss Ada James, and several grandchildren. Among the grandchildren are Charles, Louis and James Skinner, who have made (Continued on Page Four)

AFFIRM MEANS JAIL SENTENCE

Court of Appeals Sustains Lower Court of 15 Years For Larceny

Washington, April 17.—(AP)—The District of Columbia Court of Appeals today affirmed the sentence of 15 years imposed upon Gaston B. Means following his conviction on charges of stealing $104,000 from Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean.

Means was convicted of having taken the money on his promise to effect the return of the kidnapped son of Colonel Charles Lindbergh for which he was given $100,000 in cash by Mrs. McLean and $4,000 for expense money.

STATE SHOWS CASH BALANCE ON MARCH 31

Total N. C. Debt the First of the Month Amounts to $182,424,000

Raleigh, N. C., April 17.—(AP)—The State of North Carolina had a cash balance in the treasury March 31 of $7,699,929.76, the combined monthly statement of the auditor and treasury showed today.

The State total for the first of the month was $182,424,000, including $12,230,000 in short term notes. Starting March with an overdraft of $2,196,991.81 in the general fund, receipts for the month were $5,344,548.25, leaving a balance of $3,147,554.44 before March expenditures of $1,941,754.33, were deducted.

The March receipts ran far above the usual monthly figures due to income tax payments which enabled the general fund to show a balance of $1,025,800 on April 1.

In the highway fund the balance March 1 was $4,568,747.91 and receipts for the month were $2,928,296.49, compared with expenditures of $2,097,022.74, leaving a fund balance of $5,400,021.66.

Though the tax balance was shown as $7,699,900 on March 31, a total of about $1,800,000 was already obligated, leaving available cash of $5,800,000.

RAIN STALLS DRESS PARADE

Bad Weather Cuts Sharply Into General Easter Observance Here

Although rain cut sharply into the general celebration of Easter here yesterday, fair weather today held forth greater possibilities for the observance of Easter Monday.

While schools were closed today in celebration of the holiday, other phases of business continued as usual and the business district was crowded at times during the day due largely to the opening of criminal court which never fails to bring hundreds of citizens from all parts of the county.

The celebration of Easter will come to a close here Thursday when the college gets down to work after a holiday extending since last Thursday. City schools were scheduled to reopen tomorrow morning. They closed last Thursday at the noon hour to give students and teachers an opportunity to enjoy the holidays.

Incessant rain prevented the usual dress parade here yesterday and also cut sharply into church attendance although services, some on regular schedule and were very impressive and inspirational. Special sermons and music were provided at most of the churches. They followed sunrise services. In the evening cantatas were held at Jarvis Memorial Methodist and Free Will Baptist churches.

In spite of the rain which continued intermittently last night, good crowds attended the musical programs and thoroughly enjoyed the splendid singing of choir members. All selections were reminiscent of that eventful period over nine hundred years ago when Christ won the great victory over death and held out to all the world the promise of immortality.

Hundreds of people, especially women, had laid aside wearing apparel in keeping with the Easter season, but their hopes of taking part in the annual parade were blasted when they arose in the morning and found clouded skies emitting a steady downpour. This proved something of a disappointment to the masculine element also but winter clothes were brought back into service and the wearing of lighter clothes was left until a later date.

BARRED AGAINST MEDICAL AID

An immigrant couple, Mr. and Mrs. John Vasco, barricaded themselves in their Hastings, N. Y., home threatening to pour boiling water on anyone who might seek entrance as part of their determined effort to prevent an operation which physicians said was necessary to save the life of their infant daughter. A doctor calling to attend the child's twin sister, who was taken suddenly ill, was refused admittance. Picture shows a crowd in front of the Vasco home. (Associated Press Photo)

COURT BEGINS ACTION HERE

Two Week Term of Criminal Court Faces Heavy Docket At Opening Session

The two-week term of criminal Superior Court convened here this morning, organized and then recessed until 1:30 o'clock this afternoon in honor of Mrs. Mangle Cherry James, wife of the late Colonel F. G. James, distinguished lawyer and member of the local bar, and mother of J. B. James, prominent Greenville attorney, who was laid to rest in Cherry Hill Cemetery at 11 o'clock.

Court this afternoon will delve into a docket of over a hundred cases involving charges ranging all the way from larceny to murder. Judge Henry A. Grady, of Clinton, is presiding.

The most important case to come up during the term is that of T. H. Barnhill, of Bethel community, charged with slaying his ward, Jesse Barnhill, to obtain $10,000 insurance, and manufacturing whiskey.

The case has been set for hearing for the last two terms, but was postponed each time to give the State more time to complete evidence. The docket is also cluttered with a number of other murder charges, in addition to many larceny, arson and whiskey cases.

Thomas E. Beaman, former U. S. Commissioner here will go on trial next week on a charge of embezzlement and arson. He is at liberty at this time following mistrial of a case in Federal Court charging him with receiving bribes from violators of the prohibition law.

The two weeks are expected to be among the busiest in years, and it was expected a big part of the docket will be completed by the end of the term.

CLINICS TO END EARLY IN MAY

Health Workers to Conclude Tonsil Campaign With Clinics in Greenville

The adenoid and tonsil campaign which has been conducted by the Department of Health the last two months will be concluded with clinics in Greenville the first or second week in May, it was announced by public health authorities.

It was expected from three to four clinics would be necessary to take care of the situation in Greenville where the school enrollment is considerably larger than any other place in the county. Two clinics, however, were necessary to take care of the situation in Grimesland where large enrollment and an abundance of bad tonsils and adenoids necessitate the action.

Only one other clinic will be held prior to the visit of the health workers to Greenville and that will be at Falkland April 23. Around twenty children were expected to be taken care of in that place.

The health workers visited Chicod last Friday and twenty children were operated on. The Chicod clinic was to have been held about a month ago, but was postponed on account of an epidemic of measles.

It was expected that over three hundred children will have been relieved of troublesome adenoids and tonsils with the holding in any similar campaign in the history of the county.

The extensive operations were made possible through funds appropriated to the county through the Reconstruction Corporation and the co-operation of nose and throat specialists of the city working in conjunction with members of the Department of Health.

PLANE SDROP BOMBS ALONG CHINESE LINES

First Concerted Movement in The Tientsin -- Peiping District Takes Place on The Lwan River; Japs Drop 100 Bombs Along Chwang River Sunday to Begin The Real Advance

Peiping, April 17.—(AP)—Bombing planes and heavy artillery went into action on a large scale today as Japanese troops were sent against the entire Chinese army in the coast region of North China proper near Liao to the south bank of the Lwan River.

It was the first Japanese advance into the Peiping-Tientsin district where there are considerable American and other foreign interests.

The Lwan River is 65 miles southwest of Shangkaiwan and only one hundred miles from Tientsin.

Changli where an American Methodist mission is located are numerous other towns to the north which fell in rapid order to the Japanese and Manchukuan army.

The Chinese had predicted sweeping over the Peiping route to the sea since the fall of Shanhaikwan January 3.

Japanese plane responsibility of the Chinese advance on the section and declared the move would not be made unless it was forced by attacks on the Japanese lines.

Japanese planes dropped one hundred bombs between one and three miles from the seaport to Chinwang River early Saturday to begin the real offensive, it was learned today.

GRANGE HEAD COMING HERE

Lecturer of National Organization Will Speak at Courthouse Tuesday

J. G. Farmer, lecturer of the National Grange of South Newbury, N. H., will speak at a meeting of Grange members at the court-house here tomorrow night at 7 o'clock and indications were that a large crowd would be on hand to hear him.

Mr. Farmer is considered one of the best informed men in the county of problems of the farmer and will discuss some of the paramount questions confronting the industry at this time during his visit here.

The operations of the Grange in hundreds of communities throughout the nation will also be dealt with as the speaker attempts to show what the organization is doing toward improving the condition of growers.

By reason of organization work which has been taking place in this county the last year or so, growers have manifested much interest in the Grange and leaders believed a large crowd would be on hand to hear the distinguished speaker.

Members of civic organizations and the public generally are invited to attend the meeting which will be held in the courtroom here. Mr. Farmer will also visit other parts of the State after speaking here. It was announced sometime ago by W. Keer Scott, master of the North Carolina Grange.

It seems to us that Governor Ehringhaus took somewhat hasty action in turning down President Roosevelt's request that the North Carolina Legislature co-operate with the national administration by giving its attention to legislation that would do away with slave wages
by prescribing a minimum wage scale for women and minors employed in industry. We agree with President Roosevelt that legislation along this line is "a great forward step against lowering wages," and we repeat that Governor Ehringhaus's action seems somewhat unwarranted in view of the fact that he turned thumbs down on the matter without even pre-sentsing it to the legislature to get their sentiment upon it. Like every other state in the Union at this time, the people of North Carolina,
we believe, have utmost confidence in Mr. Roosevelt's efforts in behalf of the common good and we don't believe that the governor's action in this matter meets with the approval of the people of the state.

When the legislators get back to the grind in Raleigh after the Easter holidays the big question will be the sales tax or how to get the needed revenues. As we have said
many, many times before,
there are sources from which ample revenues to run the state can be derived without a sales tax if the legislators will but have the courage to tap these sources and we continue to urge that any further tax to be placed upon the masses of our people come only after these other sources have been taxed to the limit. In emergencies like the present, when a great number of our people are even without the necessities of life, those who are continuing to prosper and roll up big profits are the ones who should carry the burden of government and in view of this there should be no sales tax that would add to the burdens of the already sorely distressed
"little man."

While we are on the subject of taxation, there is an effort before the legislature that would change the provision in the Constitution that now limits the income tax in North Carolina to six per cent, regardless of the size of the income. There are no limitations on taxes on land and other forms of property and we see no reason why there should be such a low limitation upon this form of taxation. Cer-

The White Cockatoo

by Mignon G. Eberhart

SYNOPSIS: Jim Sundean stumbles over a murdered man in the corridor of his hotel in a little French town. The murderer might be Sue Tally, Lovschien, manager of the hotel, Madame Lovschien, the man known as Father Robert—or some one else. But inconveniently the French police believe the mur-derer is Sundean, and shadow him continuously. Sundean wants very much to talk with Sue, but finds her always in the company of a newcomer, David Lorn.

Chapter 13

MYSTERIOUS MR. LORN

David Lorn arrived during the afternoon. Because I felt restless and tired of the enforced inactivity, I watched Lorn's entrance and registration and his subsequent progress through the lounge in Marcel's active convey with more interest than I should have otherwise given him.
I had, of course, no premonition that he was to become such an active and important figure in the really hideous affair which, had we but known it, had only begun.

He was, however, not a man who would have commanded ordinarily any attention. He was medium tall, medium slender, his hair was medium brown, his face just a face, and his clothes ordinary traveling tweeds.
His chin was perhaps a little smaller than his nose and forehead promised. And it seemed to me that his bright and her face as sweet as I remembered it from the previous night.

I got to the lounge. In the lobby
there were two policemen, again.
Madame Gretha was there, and Lovschien, looking, somehow, smug.

One of the policemen approached me and tapped my shoulder, and then suddenly another one was at my elbow and was gripping it rather firmly. They were saying something in French to me, and then Lovschien undertook to interpret.

"What a misfortune! What a misfortune," he said. "They wish—oh, most mistakenly—but they insist upon arresting monsieur. They are taking you away at once."

"There isn't enough evidence," I cried sharply. "You can't arrest me.
This is absurd."

The police tightened their grip,
and Lovschien, rubbing his hands,
said softly:

"Ah, what bad luck! You see, monsieur, there is new evidence against you."

My reception in a French jail was not at all what I might have expected. I was inclined to suspect that, it being at the hour when the Frenchman feels a need to repair to a cafe, the entire machinery necessary properly and formally to enter a prisoner was not, for the moment, on hand. Owing to my hazy knowledge of French and to the unexpected turn the situation was so soon to take, I never did discover what the real and formal procedure consti-

Lorn was a "medium" sort of man.

darkish eyes were rather guarded, seeing more than they appeared to see. Then he disappeared into the tiny lift, and I rose and strolled to the lobby and looked at the register.

The cockatoo watched too, and I was as conscious of his knowing eyes as of Madame's, which were as wise.

The newcomer's name was below
mine on the otherwise clean page.
It was David Lorn, and the place of residence was New York, which told me exactly nothing except that, presumably, here was another American. It is strange, now that it is over, to think of that handful of Americans, synthetic and real, set down in the old hotel in Arme, all of us drawn into the mad and dreadful struggle that centered around Sue Tally and was until the very last so ruthless in its terrible advance and yet grimly inexplicable.

My own part in it was sheer accident. So was Marcel's—poor little Marcel. Yet none of us could escape.

Madame, I think, would have talked, but I had no wish to. My day's thought had come to very little except the bare conclusion that I could do nothing then but await developments. I saw no one in the corridor. I heard no one as I went to my room. I knew that Mrs. Byng and the red-bearded priest and Marcel and the cook and the maid were about somewhere, but for all I saw of anyone but Marcel they might have been dead and buried. Even Lovschien had inexplicably vanished.

I tried to sleep, there in my own room, but succeeded only in staring into the fire, which Marcel had thoughtfully kept going, and smoking innumerable cigarettes.

Cursing myself for getting into the affair—although I don't know just how I could have kept out of it—for coming to Arme at all, for staying at the hotel, for having promised to meet Jack there, for planning a holiday in Spain, and for a number of other equally irrelevant affairs, I roused at last to the fact that I was letting the silence make me nervous.
A walk in the wind would clear my head.

It was as I turned from the north corridor into the main hall of the middle part of the hotel that I finally saw Sue Tally.

She was standing in a sort of recess. The man Lorn was with her, and they were talking very low and so earnestly that they did not appear to see me at all. Yet, in spite of their being so unguarded as to not see my passing, I had an impression that they did not wish to be seen together. It was undoubtedly Sue; and her hair was as soft and tainly this provision should be changed to permit a reasonable increase in the higher brackets of incomes during emergencies.

tuted.

As it was, I was simply searched, finger-printed, and led to a cold little room, locked in, and then through the grating asked politely to remain there, which seemed a redundancy.
Lovschien had blandly refused to tell me what the new evidence was,
and while the gendarmes who arrested me did enough talking, the only word I was sure I understood was oui, which is unmistakable.

I did manage to drag up the words for paper and pen from some faint school-day memory, both of which they brought me. Thus I spent my first hour in a French jail composing somewhat feverish telegrams to the tion in choral singing is one of the lot Jack.

The telegrams, however, were never sent.

Cove Creek Dam Key To The New 'Power Empire'

By FRANK L. WELLER

Washington. (AP)—An almost forgotten spot on the rugged Tennessee terrain 300 miles from Muscle Shoals—the proposed site of Cove Creek dam in the Clinch river—becomes the most important point in the Tennessee watershed under bills in Congress to create the Tennessee Valley authority.

It is there that the first shovel will strike earth and the first dollar would be spent in the administration's ambitious scheme to awaken the industrial possibilities of the vast territory which for 14 years has looked to Muscle Shoals development for leadership.

For as many years congressional bickering over the question of private or public development of power and fertilizer resources of the government's $150,000,000 war-time investment near Florence, Alabama, has kept incumbent construction along the Tennessee river in the background.

The House bill authorizes immediate appropriation of $10,000,000 to begin the administration's program, $2,000,000 of which is to be available for work on the proposed dam. Muscle Shoals proper becomes just one of the problems incidental to development of the entire valley.

Work on Cove Creek dam is in keeping with the President's desire to stimulate employment and business in the Tennessee valley. Engineers have estimated it will cost $34,000,000. It will be 225 feet high with a reservoir of 83 square miles, raining water back 50 to 70 miles in the Clinch and Powell river valleys to protect Knoxville, Chat-tahooga and neighboring points from floods and to supply water in dry seasons.

AROUND THE WORLD

SWISS ON ANXIOUS SEAT AS TOURIST TIDE FADES

Berne.—(AP)—Switzerland looks forward with anxiety to the coming tourist season. Although hotels have reduced prices by more than 35 per cent the number of visitors dwindles steadily.

Swiss net profits from tourists used to be nearly 250 million Swiss francs, or $50,000,000, annually.

Tourists furnish 60 per cent of the income of the hotels, which employ 70,000 persons, or more than either the railroads or the watch-making industry.

Swedes Teach Idle to Sing

Stockholm.—(AP)—Free instruction in choral singing is one of the vocational and cultural courses offered unemployed young people here.

of any fan's attention. They believe in "names."

If they are names the major studios have discarded, so much the better. These have been built to order for exploitation by the quickies. The major has made them, the quickies cash in. And often, for special productions, the quickies splurge on borrowed talent from the major studios.

Lacking the self-consciousness of their big sisters in the industry, these smaller independent plants reveal naively in old-time showmanship.

There is whoop-to-do in their selling, boisterous enthusiasm. You find no "artistic dignity" in their billboard art. They believe in lurid lithographs, and these line their office walls.

They are a quaint lot of factories. Their pictures seldom cost a lot, because they are hawk-like in their battle on overhead. And usually they make money.

Hollywood—(AP)—Local movie actors and actresses are combining business with pleasure in their European jaunts this spring.

Temping offers from British film studios are coming to Hollywood "names" at times when spring wanderlust is naturally strong, and the result is that instead of brief week-ends at neighboring resorts more lengthy "vacations" are calling players away from Hollywood.

Time was when a Hollywood star's departure for the British films was a virtual admission of defeat. It meant that she was "washed up" here and that she was only squeezing the last nickels and dimes from her earning power before giving up the ghost. British pictures were not very highly regarded both here and at home.

But British producers have been active and apparently are making a determined bid for some of Hollywood's laurels. Harry Lachman, American director who started the ball rolling in the English talkie field commented the other day on the change that has occurred in English picture circles.

"Several years ago, when I was there," he said, "it was rarely that a London theatre played a British picture. Today you find six and seven English films at one time in the capital."

Constance Cummings, after making her name in Hollywood films, went to London for several pictures; James Lucie and Russell Gleason are there; Boris Karloff is on loan from Universal; Jeanette MacDonald, Charlotte Greenwood, Herbert Marshall, Ernest Torrence, Charles Laughton, Leslie Howard, Jean Hersholt, Marguerite Churchill, Hollywood, are others either at work in London or going there. Gloria Swanson made her latest film there.

For many of these it's a chance to travel and get paid for it. For others, better salaries than they can command here are the inducement. The British studios make films most economically and hence are able to meet Hollywood salaries—at least some of them.

Greek Church Mourns Martyrs

Warsaw.—(AP)—Metropolitan Dionysius, head of the Greek Church in Poland, has set aside November 1 as a day of mourning for members of the faith who allegedly were killed in Russia in connection with the Soviet anti-religious movement.

BABY NAMES STEAMER

AT GLASGOW LAUNCHING

Glasgow.—(AP)—Ann Lithgow, 21-month-old daughter of Sir James and Lady Lithgow, christened a steamer here.

Her mother held her, bade her: "Say 'Hasbeldown,'" and the baby managed to articulate the name as the 9,000-ton cargo boat started down the ways.

Residents aver that any bright Scotch baby would pronounce the word.

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—(AP)—The decision of Eugene Meyer to resign as governor of the Federal Reserve Board and return to private business may have at least one immediate effect in the capital.

Huey Long of Louisiana, the self-styled "Kingfish," will be robbed of one of his favorite topics on which to make speeches in the Senate.

Almost since Long's coming to the Senate, many of the colorful Louisiana senator's bitter attacks have had Eugene Meyer as a central theme.

Senator Huey could never get more worked up or scream more vehemently than on these occasions. He accused Meyer of being responsible for a great many of the country's financial ills.

He kept it up to the very last. The day before Meyer's resignation was officially announced, he took the floor to attack him.

Whether Meyer himself ever commented on these attacks by Long or what he thought about them, outsiders never knew. He is not the kind of man who would say.

Actually, although Meyer, since as far back as 1917, has been an important figure in the official life of the capital, few men have occupied the positions he has in those years who have had as little known about them personally.

Those familiar with the official haunts of Washington are able to recognize the broad-shouldered, bald, bespectacled man when he visited its Capitol Hill to appear before a congressional committee or when he is sighted around the treasury.

But that's about all.

His many positions in the government during the last 15 or more years have earned for him the reputation as "the government's handy man."

In almost every major project providing emergency financial aid for agriculture and other industries he has been called upon either for counsel in setting up the relief agency or for active supervision.

He was managing director of the War Finance Corporation, the government organization which for several years conducted an industry and agricultural loan business at the rate of seven million dollars a day. He was a member of the Federal Farm Loan Board for two years, and has been governor of the Federal Reserve Board since 1930.

His first government post was on the advisory commission of the war-time council of national defense.

(In loving memory of my dear husband, S. A. Cayton, who died April 12, 1932.)

Tis spring, the earth is putting on her mantle of green.

The birds are singing in the trees. It brings to my mind the one I have lost.

Whose face I shall never more see.

One year ago he left us.

Left this old world of sin.

The angels opened the pearly gates And bid him enter in.

We loved you, oh, so dearly.

We were so kind and good.

And why you had to leave us.

We have not yet understood.

The family circle has been broken.

And time can never mend.

But we can put our trust in Jesus.

And on Him we can depend.

Gone: How can I speak the word.

It brings to my memory afresh.

And why he was taken from us By the victim we call death.

What is death? that we dread its sting.

Tis only lifting the veil.

Where we meet our loved ones face to face

Where sorrow doth not prevail.

Though we see through a glass darkly.

But then face to face.

We shall see our Saviour as He is.

And all that has been saved by grace.

The flowers we laid on your grave.

Have withered and decayed.

But the love we have for you Will never fade away.

We can only say, in the teachings of Paul: "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith. Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous Judge, shall give me at that day; and not to me only, but unto all them also that love His appearing."—II Tim. 4:7-8.

"O death where is thy sting? O grave where is thy victory?"—I Cor. 1:55.

—Mrs. S. A. Cayton.

Talks To Parents

By Alice Judson Peale

Children enjoy playing baby. There are certain children who will always elect the part of the baby when playing "house" or "doctor" with others.

Sometimes such children will play baby all by themselves. A mother, hearing the typical gurgling and crowing sounds of an infant, found that her six-year-old boy had just gone to bed. When she asked him for an explanation, he merely looked sheepish and said: "Oh, I'm just making believe that I'm baby brother, that's all."

"Oh, just for fun, was the not too illuminating reply.

Play has been explained variously as a sort of practice for the things which the child will have to do as an adult, or as a pleasure in the practice of newly acquired powers, or often as expressing the child's wish to be grown-up already. But certainly "playing baby" cannot be explained in any of these ways.

Playing baby is explained by psychoanalysts as an expression of the child's wish to recapture the pleasures which he enjoyed as a baby when everything was done for him and he was loved and cherished without being required to give up anything in return.

Especially, it is thought, is the child likely to turn with pleasure to this form of play if too much is required of him in the way of independence and self-control and if his parents generally hold him to too high a level of conduct.

Then, too, the child who has had to suffer the intrusion of a younger brother or sister often plays baby so that he may enjoy in make-believe the privileges which he sees the new-comer enjoying.

CAROLINA TO DEFEND HER TENNIS TITLE

Chapel Hill, April 17.—Carolina will enter a strong team in defense of its championship at the North Carolina College Tennis Tournament beginning on the Duke courts Monday and ending on Wednesday.

The Tar Heel players will be Wilmer Hines, Lenoir Wright, Walter Levitan, Rieky Willis, Harvey Harris, John Dillard, Ike Minor, John McGlinn, and possibly Lawrence Jones.

Dave Morgan and Harley Shuford, two other veterans and regulars from last year, will be playing in the Mason-Dixon tourney at White Sulphur Springs and will not compete. Hines has lost the singles title to a team-mate for the past two years, but is the favorite now that Bryan Grant is not back with the Tar Heels.

He is a former National Junior champion and has won local and State tournaments all over the South, but has yet to win his first singles title in this competition.

Hines, who is Carolina's number one man this year, won the doubles title with Grant in 1931 and with Harley Shuford in 1932. This year he will make a bid for a third title with still another partner, Lenoir Wright.

Barney Welch of Duke is expected to be the biggest obstacle in his path to a championship. In a dual match this year, Welch had match point on Hines twice and pushed him the limit before the Tar Heel won 5-7, 6-3, and 10-8.

The Carolina golf team is looking forward to the State tournament at the nearby Hope Valley Country Club next Thursday and Friday as an opportunity to get another shot at the crack Duke links quartet.

Coach John Kenfield said today that the Carolina team would probably be composed of Alan Smith, Captain Billy O'Brien, twin Laxton and Carl Cramer, with Wilson Coffin and Ed. Michaels also being entered in the play for the individual championship.

The first four Tar Heels accounted for three neat 72's and 74 in their first dual meet with Duke this year, but the Blue Devil quartet turned in four 71's and played golf of the Walker Cup variety to beat the Tar Heels 12 to 6.

The dual rivals split their brace of dual meets last year and another brace of tournaments. Duke won the State championship, but Carolina beat the Dukemen by a single stroke for the Southern title.

SPORT SLANTS

The Yankees not only stake their world championship banner in this year's baseball campaign but carry over two other distinctions into the new season, to wit: (1) a record now standing at 211 consecutive games without being shut out, and (2) Lou Gehrig's consecutive playing streak, which reached 1197 games at the close of 1932.

Strange as it may seem, it is nevertheless a fact that the Boston Red Sox, with whom the Yankees open the American League race, were the last club to shut out the Ruppert Rifles and the pitcher registering this rare achievement was none other than old Wilky (Cy) Moore, the sinker-ball man from Boneta, Texas.

Moore blanked the Yankees, 1 to 0 in the second game of a double-header at Boston on August 2, 1931. Old Cy had staged a comeback with the Red Sox that year, after being shipped to St. Paul by the Yankees. Whether this feat impressed Manager Joe McCarthy or not, he seized an opportunity to regain Moore's services in a trade a year later and used him effectively in a relief role up to and including the last world series.

The Yankees have been shut out on their home grounds only once in the past three seasons. That singular circumstance developed on one July afternoon when George (Rube) Walberg, giant left-hander of the Athletics, applied the white-wash with his blinding speed and sweeping curve ball. Grove and Earnshaw have been unable to do it.

Wes Ferrell, great Cleveland right-hander, twice came within a run of blanking the Yankees on their own proving grounds.

It's possible of course, to spike some of the big Yankee guns some of the time, but silencing all of them is strictly a job for the Army and Navy.

There are some pretty fair reasons for the objections of some of the golfing clan to the omission of Bill Burke's name from the roster of the 1933 American Ryder Cup team.

Burke didn't keep up in 1932, his hot pace of the year before, when he won the National Open from George Von Elm in a marathon playoff, but his record is as good or better than several of the Ryder Cup selections for the two-year period since the last international joint with the British.

Bill's play was a sensation of the 1931 matches at Columbus, which preceded his victory in the Open

BIG FIVE TO SWING INTO ACTION TODAY

Raleigh, N. C., April 17.—The annual Easter Monday baseball game between State College and Wake Forest today will usher in Big Five activities for the week.

The game will be played on Freshman Field at State and will begin at 3 o'clock.

"Lefty" Barnes, who has proved the master of State for the past two years, is picked by Coach John Caddell to hurl for the Deacons today. Barnes will be opposed by Rudy Seitz, big right-hander and star of State's staff of fright-handers. The Deacon southpaw has beaten State four times in the last two years. In 1931 he won the Easter Monday game 10 to 4, and later in the season, defeated the Techs 1 to 0. Last year the Easter game was won 5 to 2, and in the second game State again lost, 8 to 1.

State's 1 to 0 win over the Baptists in the Easter game of 1930 was the Tech's last win over the Deacon crew.

Wake Forest was winner of the State title last year, losing only one Big Five game during the season. The team that won the title is back this spring, and in games already played, has demonstrated it will be in the fight for the honors again.

Coach Charlie Doak has developed the hardest hitting team State College has had in years. In its recent invasion of our Virginia schools, State will also play V. M. I. here Thursday afternoon and will meet Duke University in Durham Saturday afternoon.

State College's freshman baseball team will meet Campbell College here tomorrow afternoon on Freshman Field at 4 o'clock.

The game is the second of the yearlings have scheduled with the Blue Creek aggregation, having met them there Friday. The game was lost 13 to 6. Stuart Flythe, right-hander, will pitch for State.

The third week of spring football drills begins at State College this afternoon. A number of scrimmage drills are expected to be held during the week. Much time is being spent by the coaches in developing a kicker and a center for next fall's team.

Rome.—(AP)—Double dating of documents and newspaper items dealing with government activities is used here, the symbol for the current year being "1933-XI." The XI stands for "eleventh year of fascist rule."

Australians Losing Wanderlust.
Canberra.—(AP)—Australia lost 60 per cent less of her population by migration last year than in 1931, says the commonwealth statistician. Arrivals totalled 41,997 and departures 45,686, the net loss of 3,689 contrasting with 12,061 in 1931.

Hank Schalldach, star of the West team in the last annual East-West Shrine football game, has signed to play rugby for the San Francisco Olympic club.

METHODISTS GIVE CANTATA

Impressive Musical Program Largely Attended Here Last Night

The Easter cantata "Life Everlasting," was presented by the choir of the Methodist Church last night assisted by Mrs. T. M. Watson and Spruill Spain.

Despite rain which continued throughout the day, a large crowd attended the service and thoroughly enjoyed the splendid selections. The program was in charge of Mrs. G. B. W. Hadley, church organist, and virtually all members of the regular choir participated.

The day was a full one for the church, beginning with a sunrise service yesterday morning, the regular 11 o'clock service with special sermon and music and concluding last night with the cantata.

One of the most impressive parts of the morning service was the receiving of 21 additions into the church. Cantata solo parts were sung by Mrs. J. E. Kirkpatrick, Mr. Johnston, J. H. Blount, Mrs. J. H. Waldrop, Mrs. H. A. Thorson and J. H. Rose. Appearing in a duet part were Mrs. Karsnak and Mrs. Thorson, and in a quartet were Mrs. Karsnak, Mrs. Watson, Spruill Spain and J. H. Rose. The cantata opened with a description of the darkness and grief which shrouded the world after the crucifixion and while Christ was in the tomb and was concluded with a very impressive presentation of the joy which reigned throughout the land with His victory over death.

A Washington Day Book

By HERBERT PLUNGER
Washington, D. C.—There was genuine relief in evidence on Capitol Hill among members of Congress when that perennial subject of beer was finally cleared from the legislative decks.

Both proponents and opponents of legalization of the beverage were happy that it was at last out of the way.

As Mrs. Mary Norton, of New Jersey, chairman of the committee in the House that made beer available to the residents of Washington, expressed it:

"The House is so tired of the subject of beer that it seems no longer necessary to maintain order in the chamber when the subject is under consideration. I want to get rid of the subject for all time.

The fact that congress legislates for the District of Columbia, and had to go back over the same ground to provide beer for Washington that it traveled in considering the national legislation, is perhaps the reason the subject became so trying on congressional nerves.

It was the same procedure every time the question came up in the house. Almost every move could be called beforehand.

A member of the committee in charge of the legislation would bring up one phase of the subject for consideration. Immediately Tom Blanton of Texas would be on his feet.

Blanton, a skillful parliamentarian seemed to be using every trick he had in his parliamentary bag fighting beer. He would demand roll calls, make points of no quorum, force division of votes—everything that would cause delay.

On the day the house took final action, when it was apparent that he was fighting a hopeless battle he appeared as determined as ever.

New York Cotton

New York, April 17.—(AP)—The stock market began the new week with moderate reaction in sympathy with principal commodity markets.

Trading was in light volume and the market analysis was encouraged by the list's tendency to turn dull on the decline.

The list stiffened at midday and numbers off issues covered losses of a point or two.

American Telephone, still under the influence of first quarter report, lost two points and failed to recover.

Food shares with few exceptions held steady and gold mining issues were firm but the other major groups were heavy.

U. S. Steel sagged a major fraction.

Stock Market

New York, April 17.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady to four points lower under liquidation and selling.

Trading was active at the start. Prices worked off to 6.67 for May and 7.05 for October by end of the first half hour, and active movements showed losses of eight to ten points. Declines extended to 6.63 for May and 7.01 for October later in the morning, making losses of 13 to 16 points on the general list.

Prices steadied on covering and the market at midday showed rallies of four or five points from the lowest.

Late News Flashes

ed a purported criticism of Alabama jurymen in a public statement attributed to Samuel Lebowitz, chief of defense counsel.

The action came after Judge Horton had sentenced Haywood Patterson, first of the negroes convicted to die in the "electric" chair June 16.

Judge Horton read from a Decatur newspaper a statement from Attorney General Thomas Knight of Alabama taking issue with a purported statement of Lebowitz as printed in the New York Tribune.

This statement quoted Lebowitz as follows:

"If you ever saw those creatures, those bigots, whose mouths are as in their face, whose eyes poke out at you like frogs, whose chins drip tobacco juice, bewhiskered and filthy, you would not ask how they could do it."

The order called for C. W. Massey, chairman of the board of commissioners; A. J. Barbee, clerk of court, and Sheriff W. G. Belvin, to appear before Judge Barnhill during the afternoon.

The negro attorneys were acting for James Packer, negro, charged with second degree murder of Halie Brooks, white, who was killed in a riot at the Durham county home Dec. 5, 1932.

In addition to this the attorneys also entered a motion that the indictment be set aside on grounds that the negroes were barred from the grand jury.

Plan Bank Reopening.
Greensboro, April 17.—The North Carolina Bank and Trust Co. directors in a special session today adopted a general provision of a plan for rehabilitation of the bank looking to reopening on an unrestricted business basis.

President N. S. Calhoun said he was not at liberty to reveal details of the plan pending approval by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and state bank officials.

Turns Down Work Bill
Washington, D. C., April 17.—(AP)—The Senate today refused to reconsider passage of the five days a week bill and sent it to the House where important modifications are in prospect to meet administration suggestions.

The vote against reconsideration, 52 to 32 removed serious obstacles to the administration farm bill as motion had been pending a week and four previous efforts to bring it up had met with Republican opposition.

The administration has endorsed principles of the bill, but wants it made more elastic with limitation on hours extended wherever it would work a hardship on an industry.

Twenty Republican and twelve Democrats voted for the motion to reconsider and ten Republican and forty Democrats against it.

Both Senators Bailey and Reynolds of North Carolina voted for the motion.

Tuberculosis Serious in Pitt
Raleigh, N. C., April 17.—(AP)—One out of every four Pitt County children tested for tuberculosis is found to be infected while only four head of its cattle of a thousand were suffering from tuberculosis, Dr. R. S. McGeachy, of Greenville, told the Public Health Association today.

The doctor urged greater attention to tuberculosis prevention and treatment for humans.
