STALL EFFORT TO HALT ABANDONMENT OF GOLD

Roosevelt Measure For Abandoning Gold Will Be Passed On Monday

BOTH HOUSES READY TO ACT ON NEW ISSUE

Cancellation of Gold Clause Will Result In Freeing Of Billions of Dollars of Government Bonds And Mortgage; Senator Glass of Virginia Declares Legislation is Unconstitutional.

Washington, May 27.—(AP)—Possible attempt to challenge and break down the country's abandonment of the gold standard are to be forestalled by legislation formally cancelling the gold clause in billions of dollars of government and private bonds and mortgages.

The new bill declares that regard less of the demand in any country past or future for payment of gold and all coin and currency of the realm will be legally useable in payment.

It was submitted to congress late yesterday. The banking committees of the senate and house arranged to take up the proposal today and Chairman Steagall, of the senate, announced the representatives would pass the bill Monday. In view of the past vote on gold, the senate vote was assured.

MANY CIVIL CASES HEARD

About 75 Actions Disposed of In Civil Term of Court Here This Week

The first week's session of the two-week term of civil superior court which convened here last Monday morning adjourned yesterday afternoon. Work will be resumed Monday morning with a calendar of fifty or more cases set for consideration.

Seventy-five or more actions were disposed of in the session just closed records in the office of Frank Hargrett, clerk of superior court, revealed. Although only five or six cases were actually being heard during the week, the remainder were disposed of through the compromise route. Others were disposed of through dismissal of appeal. It was the first time in quite a while that the entire calendar was disposed of and this was due largely to the persistence of Judge Grady that the cases either be given hearing or disposed of in another manner. Hundreds of actions have been non-suited by Judge Grady during the last two years, and it was expected others would go the same route in the forthcoming session. Most of the non-suits resulted from disinclination of plaintiffs to push their cases. In other instances (Continued on Page Three)

FICKLEN WILL VISIT EUROPE

Local Tobacco Man to Make Second Trip Of the Year Continent

J. S. Ficklen president of the F. B. Ficklen Tobacco Company here will leave Sunday night for New York where he will sail on the Steamship Europa May 31 for a brief business trip in Europe.

He plans to spend a few days on the Continent and a few days in England, arriving back home about June 15.

Mr. Ficklen returned over a month ago from an extended trip to the Orient in the interest of the business which his concern is carrying on with several countries and expressed himself as highly pleased with the reception accorded him.

He has crossed the Atlantic every year of the last several years to keep in close personal touch with tobacco interest in the various countries and usually has some interesting comment on his observations dealing with the tobacco business.

Chicken stealing once considered a prank, has become a serious menace to North Carolina poultrymen, says Roy S. Dearstyne, State college specialist.

Thousands of People Flock to Chicago to Attend International Show

Chicago, May 27.—(AP)—A century of progress in international exposition—Chicago's second world fair—opened its gates today.

Conceived five years ago in the flush of the greatest prosperity ever known, its creation rode safely the rising tide of unprecedented economic distress that engulfed innumerable projects started in the golden days.

Today it was dedicated as a faza of achievement against huge odds and dams of determination. To date $37,500,000 has been expended in its building. The gates swung open at 8:30 and the vanguard of (Continued on page Three)

NAZI WOMEN URGED TO FORGET POLITICS, ENTRUSTING GERMANY TO HANDS OF MEN

Berlin, May 27.—(AP)—Having done their bit toward helping Adolf Hitler win the chancellorship, Germany's Nazi women have been told to go back to "kinder, kueche und kirche" (children, kitchen and church).

These are the "three K's" which Hitlerism considers the proper field for womankind. Marie Diers, a Nazi woman leader, announced the return to the hearth in an article appearing in the party newspaper. She said: "Your political mission, women of Germany, is at an end. That wicked conception—politics—reverts, not into the drabness of pre-war days, not into the ridiculous idolatry of things foreign, not into the old-maid philosophy of irresponsible over-the-teacup gossip, but into a feeling of calm security born of the realization that the leadership of our Reich is in the firm hand of a man. Go back to the peace of your homes with the conviction that (Continued on Page Two)

GIVES FACTS ON LOAN ACT

F. M. Wooten Tells of Effort of Government To Help Farmers Out of Hole

The Daily Reflector, for the information of its readers has secured information from F. M. Wooten, Secretary-Treasurer of Pitt National Farm Loan Association, and as local representative to receive applications for loans from the Farm Loan Commissioner serving in connection with the Federal Land Bank of Columbia, Columbia, South Carolina. That he has just received letter of Mr. Henry S. Johnson, Agent Farm Loan Commissioner, bearing date of May 23rd 1933, giving information of general importance to many farmers in Pitt County on the subject of "refinancing Farm Mortgages".

The substance of the Emergency Mortgage Act of 1933, ratified May 12th is of such great and general importance to farmers, and the general interest of our country, that it seems that a general meeting of such interest in Pitt County should be held that the benefits of this act might be discussed and understood.

This matter has been discussed among interested persons and particularly some who are endeavoring to help the general farm interest of the county as it is intended to be reached by this new law, and it has been by such persons agreed that a general meeting of those who are interested in refinancing farm mortgages be held in the Court House in Greenville on Saturday, June 3rd at 10:00 o'clock A. M.

JURIST RAPS 'HIGH' PHONE RATES HERE

Judge Grady Credits Carolina Telephone Company With Daylight Robbery

The wrath of a Superior court judge today descended upon the head of the Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company and brought forth a charge of "daylight robbery" through excessive long distance telephone charges.

The jurist is no other than Judge Henry A. Grady of Clinton, who is presiding over a two-week term of civil superior court here, and who specifically directed his criticism at the local office of the telephone company.

Judge Grady made two telephone calls to his home in Clinton during the week and there was such a vast difference between the charges that he decided to sit down and write his objections to the telephone office here. The first call, which Judge Grady "swears" did not last over a minute, cost him 65 cents. The second call involving less time than the first, taxed him 85 cents.

"I have always loved to contribute to eleemosynary and purely charitable organizations," Judge Grady wrote, "but at the same time I do strenuously object to be held up and robbed in broad daylight."

PROBE DEATH OF EXPLORER

Hollywood Police Begin Investigation of Suicide of J. W. Hey

Hollywood, May 27.—(AP)—A man identified as Captain J. W. Hey, and said by his wife to be an extensive landowner in Peru and former explorer of South American countries, died today under mysterious circumstances which caused police to order an investigation.

His wife and a friend E. J. Hergett, a herb specialist, said he dropped dead in their presence after announcing he had taken poison.

No reason could be given by Mrs. Hey for her husband's act. The woman told police that while they were seated at a table, Hey excused himself and went into a bedroom and a few minutes later returned. Mrs. Hey said her husband told her to take a note which he would dictate.

The purported note read: "I, J. W. Hey, have just taken four poisons. If I die it is my own fault." After dictating the note he signed it, his wife said, and then dropped dead.

BEGIN 'SPUD' SALES SOON

Shipment of Irish Potatoes to Begin In Bethel Community Next Week

Money was expected to flow freely into the Bethel community next week with the opening of the Irish potato season.

Although potatoes were being dug in small quantities this week, shipment to northern markets will not get under way until week when thousands of barrels of the delicious "spuds" produced in this section will be shipped out by train loads.

Long noted for its ability to produce fine Irish potatoes, Bethel has a crop this year which growers are proud of and with the price trend some higher than last year they were hopeful of receiving profitable returns.

In previous year when the potato industry was at its height, Bethel shipped from 4,000 to 4,000 barrels of spuds daily, or a train load of 25 to 30 cars.

Low prices in recent years put a slight damper in the industry, but this year growers were hopeful of shipping a bumper crop to northern markets and receiving a profit instead of loss on their production.

The season is usually comparatively short, lasting from one week to two weeks. However, it results in a considerable amount of money being paid out to Bethel growers, and this thrown into the regular channels of trade, usually improves the financial condition not only of Bethel but the entire county.

SHIP SEIZED BY BRIGANDS

Captain of Norwegian Ship Shot Through Leg and Officers Held as Hostages

Hong Kong, China, May 27.—(AP)—Fourteen Chinese buccanniers who seized the Norwegian steamer "Prominent" at 2 o'clock Thursday morning, shot the captain in the leg, held the other officers prisoners, ran the vessel aground last night in Mirs Bay near this city and escaped as police fired upon them.

The ship was seized when near Parcel Island and reefed in the China Sea. Second officer George Jensen was on the bridge when one of the pirates covered him with a gun. He grappled with the man threw him to the deck but was promptly surrounded and overpowered by other pirates.

Captain H. Jensen heard the commotion and thinking it a coolie fight entered the fight with a club and was shot in the leg. The other officers were bound up while the chief officer O. Jensen was ordered to navigate the ship and the engineer was forced to remain at work in the engine room without relief while the vessel proceeded to Hong Kong.

Entering Mirs bay a police launch signaled the ship but the pirates did not reply and put out their lights. The police threw a searchlight on the vessel and opened fire. The pirates later ran the steamer aground and fled in boats, taking chief officer and second engineer as hostages. They were later

Elizabeth City, May 27.—Capt. Jack London, Federal officer, nabbed a Ford truck loaded with 125 five-gallon jugs and several 10-gallon kegs of liquor in Camden this week. The jugs and kegs were smashed by officers and a curious crowd gathered to view the wreckage. The truck driver fled leaving a Colt .45 automatic behind.

CLUBMEN MEET AT SNOW HILL

Kiwanians Enjoyed Delightful Meeting In Thriving Green County Town

The spirit of goodwill existing between Pitt and Green county people was plainly manifested last night when Greenville Kiwanians carried their regular twice-a-month meeting to Snow Hill. The citizens of the two towns mingled with one another, "swapped" expressions concerning conditions existing in the two sections and then took part in a meeting that has not been equaled in years.

Snow Hill, long famed for its pretty women, study men and hospitable spirit, showed the visitors what Greene county is capable of doing in the way of oratorical and musical effort and when the program was over Kiwanians were unanimous in declaring the meeting the most enjoyable they had ever attended.

Thirty or forty citizens of Snow Hill had been invited to attend the meeting and they entered into activities of the evening in a way that drew expressions of pleasure from the visiting clubmen.

In the absence of Rev. E. L. Hillman, who is taking his vacation in his home state of Mississippi, W. H. Woodard presided and the program was in charge of B. B. Sugg, Chairman. (Continued on page Three)

Late News Flashes

Speeds Measure.

Washington, May 27.—(AP)—Committees moved quickly today to speed along the administration's latest proposal—cancellation of the gold clause in public and private obligations while Congress worked on other parts of the Roosevelt program. The House bank committee approved the measure to make all obligations payable in legal tender money by 12 to 4 and a little later the Senate bank committee gave its approval by 9 to 3.

Steps were taken at once to bring the gold bill up in the House Monday. President Roosevelt signed the securities regulation bill at the same time as the Senate was going into debate on another of his proposals, the railroad reorganization measure.

The House was standing by to receive conference reports on some of the Roosevelt bills which have been passed on both sides but which need adjustment or change.

The assembly passed another controversial subject when it reaffirmed its stand of a year ago on prohibition. It approved the following declaration: "We believe the time calls for an educational crusade against the evils of the drink cure and call on our churches, Sunday schools and young people's societies to be tireless in their efforts to combat the (Continued on Page Four)

LET'S KNOW THE FACTS

In a letter made public today, Judge Henry A. Grady goes after the scalp of the local telephone company in no unmistakable terms as a result of what he deems overcharges on toll messages.

While Judge Grady's kick against the local company is one of the first to have been made in such a public way, we are aware that there seems to be an increasing desire on the part of the public here for an investigation into the affairs of the company, especially as to the rate structure, and based upon this we recently urged through these columns the instigation of such a hearing by the State Commission.

As previously stated, if the telephone company has nothing to hide they should welcome the investigation in order to put a stop to what might be unfounded kicks and rumors. If, on the other hand, the public is not getting a square deal, certainly the investigation would bring same to light.

NAZI WOMEN URGED TO FORGET POLITICS, ENTRUSTING GERMANY TO HANDS OF MEN

(Continued From Page One) wipe out existing follies, but one also knows these years will pass by smoothly, tranquilly. At present the Nazi housewife is engaged in avoiding Jewish shops, being a "good comrade" to her husband, developing the "wehr" or military spirit in her children in short, tending to her house. Shame on German women who enjoy a cigarette now and then in the attitude of the Uim nazis, who have posted signs in all restaurants "The German woman does not smoke." Women, however, can be seen smoking in Berlin cafes, seemingly oblivious as yet to that Nazi doctrine. All in all, the change in government has wrought little outward change in German womanhood. Testimony to the eternal feminine appears even in the pages of Hitler's own Voelkischer Beobachter in the form of advertisements for "freshening" blond hair. The mode of the golden of platinum blonde has been described as probably the Hitler movement's most striking outward effect on Germany's womanhood. It fits the party's partiality for the Nordic race.

The White Cockatoo by Mignon G. Eberhart

Chapter 48 THE COCKATOO AGAIN

"Oh I didn't dream the priest was Francis. The beard and all that would have changed him. He had been educated in a church school—and well educated. He knew how to manage the—disguise. How and what to do." After a helpless moment I said: "But what of your own half? You'll be obliged to prove yourself to his lawyer—there'll be arrangements. I think I'd better cable the lawyer immediately." She nodded. "Then this man calling himself Francis Tally must be actually in conspiracy with the Lovschiem's. Also this charming substitute they have kept in waiting." "Substitute?" said Sue, roused. "They have the substitute already?" I explained. "And the point is," I finished, "we've got to hurry." Any plan now was dangerous for Sue. Ten millions instead of five. I said: "I'm going to call one of the policemen to stay here with you. Then I'm going to find Lorn."

thin and white and folded and that finally came entirely from the mass of red hair. It was athinfolded paper. Madame Grethe heard suddenly some small rustle, and she moved her head and cried, "Pucci!" in a strangled voice. "Put down your hands, Lovschiem. Give me that paper, madame." She did so. She did not hesitate, as I had known she would not. She took it gently and carefully from Pucci and put it in my hand. The paper was what I thought it was. A commotion of footsteps and voices arose outside, and the door was flung open and Lorn was there. Even in that hurried instant I was conscious of the singular look he gave us; it held surprise and a kind of disappointment and at the same time decision. Lorn pointed at me and said something very sharp, and the police fell upon me, and gripped my arms. "So," I said above things to Lorn. "So that is the reason. You must supply them with a murderer." "There's no use talking like that, Sundean," said Lorn. "You can't defend yourself. They will find the poison in your room, where I found it and thus was convinced of your guilt." I was dimly conscious that the man who had called himself Francis Tally had appeared in the doorway of the lounge. "Madame," I said to Grethe, "ask these policemen to free my arms for a moment. I won't try to escape—I couldn't." Then before their eyes I brought out the envelope in which Francis Tally's last letter to his sister had been sent. And I had also a small irregular piece of wax which I had found on the landing where the body of Michael Stravsky had lain. There was not a sound while I fitted the broken wax to the half of the seal which still remained on the envelope. The two pieces fitted exactly and made one. I said to Lorn: "You have killed and killed for the Tally millions." "Take him away! Arrest him!" "You killed Stravsky and you killed Marcel and you killed the priest. And when you killed Stravsky because you had witnessed the abduction and Sue's return and you thought Stravsky had got her token—when you killed Stravsky you broke this wax from the seal of the letter you were bringing Sue from her brother. It fell there. It's going to convict you." "And you killed Marcel so he couldn't tell what he knew of you. And you killed the priest because you discovered he was the real Francis Tally and that he'd seen the real Sue and that spoiled your plan. You killed him, and that's where you got Sue's token, at last. Her brother had found it and taken it—perhaps to see if it matched his own. And you trapped yourself when you did that.

THE SUBCONSCIOUS

The destiny of man lies in his mind: it is the soil through which our daily needs come, and all else accomplished by mankind flows first, through the realms of his mind. The subconscious mind is the laboratory of the brain and is able to afflict the human species, but it must not be regarded as a mind separate from consciousness. The subconscious is used as a term that refers to our "other selves." In a sense we all have double personalities, and often multiple personalities. It is quite impossible for us to keep in the immediate consciousness all of our mental life and accumulation of experiences but all of it is stored away in the subconscious realms. The vast bulk of our psychic life is latent and remains so until recalled by observation or by symbol of association which enters the realms of the stored mental life, and like a flash the relative is abstracted from the subconscious. Very often, however, we experience inability to recall some name of some certain past experience and while we know that the mental material is stored away in our memory, we are nevertheless unable to recall it at the moment, and then often it will flash up in the mind as if coming "out of the clear sky." When difficulty to recall it felt—such implies that the memory has been elsewhere; perhaps giving attention to other complexes, during the time we made endeavor to recall. The proper association of an idea will often and quickly recall to our minds something that we had otherwise vainly sought to remember! HARRY DANIELS, Wilmington, N. C.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS BY ROBBIN COONS. Hollywood—Among the new pictures is "International House," in a vein more burlesque than satire and with a little of the fantastic thrown in.

Peggy Hopkins Joyce heads the large cast of the picture—it might be called a sort of "Grand Hotel" of slapstick comedy—but comedy honors go to W. C. Fields, Stuart Erwin and Gracie Allen. The story, pretending to little rhyme or reason, centers about efforts of various interests to purchase a new television invention which affords opportunity to introduce numbers of Rudy Vallee, Baby Rose Marie, and other performers. The plot gets the stars together in a Chinese hotel, where nonsense prevails until Peggy Joyce gets her man in this case Fields.

A Good "Build-Up" Henry Garat got a considerable share of the close-ups in "Adorable" with Janet Gaynor, and camera attention such as usually is granted only to one a studio is "building" for further honors. The role was not a new one for him. He had played it abroad opposite Lillian Harvey, and some critics said that he might be considered as a worthy rival to his countryman, Chevalier.

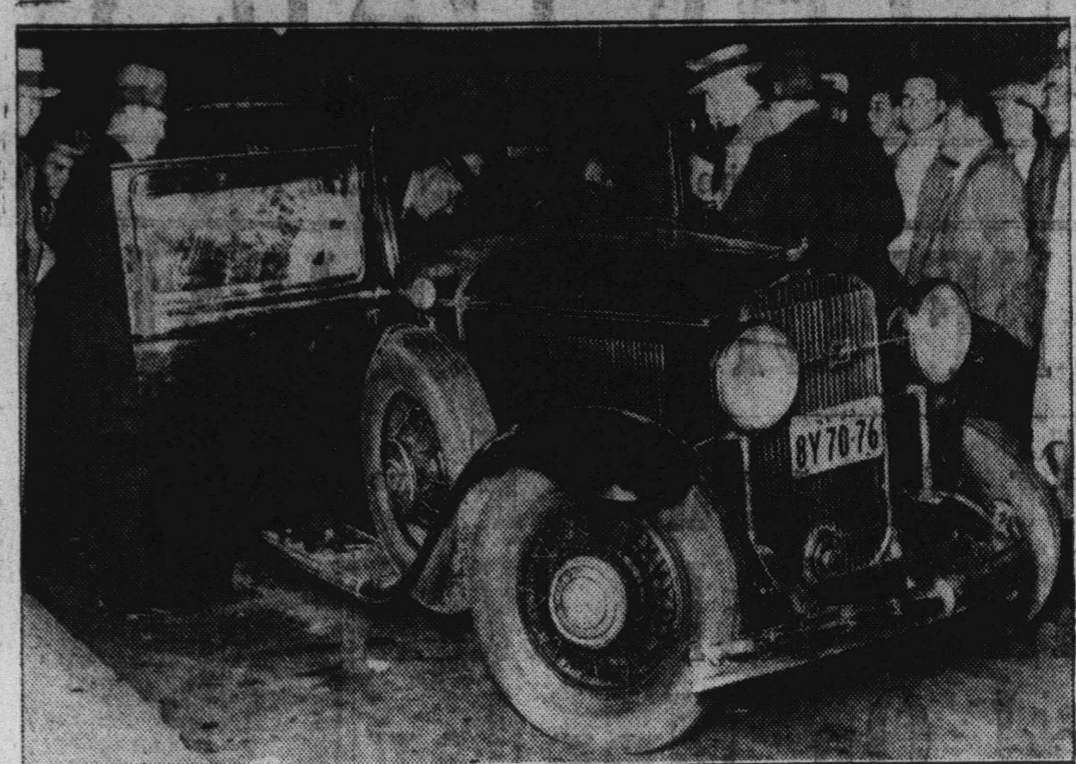

Faking Nonchalance Bank from her adventure in the shark-infested waters of Havana Ann Harding is busy on her new picture with William Powell. And, under the circumstances, the studio has forgiven her tardiness. Miss Harding and her secretary, Maria Lombard, are tossing bouquets at young Alexander Kirkland, fellow survivor of the sea drama that took the life of a Cuban sailor. When the sailor who attempted to swim for help went down it was Kirkland alone who saw his death, and he did not tell others until they were safely on shore.

A Lure Now he comes forward with his bill seeking industrial recovery which carries with it a tax increase. And he adds that provision should be made for the reduction or elimination of these new levies "whenever the repeal of the eighteenth amendment... shall have been ratified and the repeal of the Volstead act effected." Political observers here think no more subtle or astute approach could have been made to the question of repeal than this. He has thrown out a lure, they say, that will be hard to resist.

The hour was ideal for a garden party. The guests were received at the entrance of the garden by Mrs. Travis Hooker and Miss Sallie Joyner Davis. Ione Hooker Bradsher, dressed in yellow organdie, seated in a chair draped in white and decorated in green fern and yellow flowers, was first in the receiving line. Mrs. W. H. Bradsher, Mrs. Mamie Bradsher, Miss Holtzclaw, Miss Bonnewitz, Miss Evelyn Gilliam and Miss Freeman assisted in receiving. Miss Frances Morton directed the guests through the archway of pink rambler roses to the punch table. The table was covered with a lovely linen Madeira cloth and the punch bowl was banked in double purple larkspur and yellow coreopsis, college colors. Mrs. J. B. Cumming, Mrs. Edna Dodson and Miss Faye Barnes served the guests with delicious punch and cookies. In the rose covered pergola, Mr. and Mrs. Ryan asked the guests to register in a hand-painted register decorated with the class colors, green and white, and the class flower, lily of the valley.

The college ensemble, Miss Gorell, director; Miss Mead, pianist; Mrs. Adams, flute; Miss Bunning, violin; Miss Roberson, cello; Miss Briggs, violin; Sam Quinerly, violin, and Miss Morton, cornetist, played several numbers of lovely music during the evening, and the enthusiasm in which it was received by all present expressed in a feeble way their appreciation and gratitude for their beautiful music which added so much joy to the party.

Miss Virginia Perkins was chosen queen at the State Theatre last evening, in the queen's contest sponsored by the Junior Woman's Club. Ten young ladies took part in the contest.

Scouts Planning Treasure Hunt

Troop 33 of the Greenville Boy Scouts will go on a treasure hunt Monday night, beginning at the Rotary Club. Six weeks ago a similar event occurred and this event is expected to be as successful.

After the hunt, which will probably last an hour, plans for the summer will be taken up in detail. These plans include a 3-day camping trip with Troop 30, several hikes and several overnight hikes.

The personnel of Troop 33 has been improved by the addition of Jimmy Batson, former Henderson scoutmaster, who will assist Bill Taft in his present duties.

To Hold Study Class. The Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church will have the annual Bible study class for four consecutive mornings next week, beginning on Tuesday, May 30, at 10 o'clock, in the church. Studies in the Psalms will be taught by Miss Ruth H. Housh.

The first lesson will be an introduction to the Book of Psalms. It is important for those who are going to attend these classes to be present at the first meeting. Friends from other churches are invited to join the Presbyterians in this study.

Seeing Through My Windshield

(By ETHEL NICE, H. D. A.) Home Canning.

The canning season is with us. Wonder who canned green beans earlier than Mrs. O. F. Wildman of Falkland? After serving beans at home and dividing with the neighbors a week, Mrs. Wildman started canning them, Wednesday morning, May 24. Indications are that there will be quantities of garden vegetables in the near future and all surplus should be preserved for winter use. Often the later gardens are not so good and we should not leave our canning until later.

(We wonder, too, why Mr. Wildman planted Irish potatoes in his porch boxes.)

Relief Canning. Arrangements are being made to do community canning from the relief gardens in several sections of the county. All details have not been completed but plans will soon be completed for the canning at Greenville, Grimesland, Ayden, Farmville and Falkland. Any other sections that wish to do community canning will receive help from this office by letting us know they are ready to can. During the month of June we hope to can several thousands jars.

Joint Club Meeting. Next Friday, June 2, at 3 p. m., club members of Grifton, Pierce, Hopewell and Winterville will meet at the home of Mrs. N. O. Hodges of Renston for a joint meeting. Mrs. Hodges has a lovely lawn and we have asked her to let us meet there in order that the woman may see what she has done. Mrs. Hodges has practically all native plants and shrubs and has done the work herself. Visitors are welcome.

time, I called No. 49 at Clinton, N. C. (my own home number) from No. 405 here in Greenville and talked with Mrs. Grady not more than one minute. The operator charged me 65 cents, which I paid to Mrs. Annie Quinerly, the owner of No. 405.

"Last night at 10:30, I called No. 49, Clinton, and talked with my wife less than one minute. Your operator charged me 85 cents. I can swear that I did not use the phone last night as long as I did last Monday in the daytime.

"I have not paid Mrs. Quinerly for last night's message; but, to the contrary, I am enclosing my personal check for that amount, 85 cents. I am doing this in order that I may preserve the cancelled check as a memorial of my visit to Greenville, and in order that I may send it to my children and grandchildren as evidence of your kindness and hospitality to me while I was holding court here in your beautiful city.

"Being of Irish ancestry, I am naturally generous, and I have always loved to contribute to eleemosynary and purely charitable organizations; but, at the same time, I do strenuously object to being held up and robbed in broad daylight.

"I am sending a copy of this letter to the N. C. Corporation Commission so it may know the extremely low charges that you are making to visitors. It may be helpful later on as evidence of the poverty of our Public Service Corporations here in North Carolina, who are unable to pay taxes in proportion to what other people pay, and yet able to keep a hired lobby at the State Capital during the entire some of the litigants had died making hearing of the cases impossible. Judge Grady believes in reducing the docket as much as possible and his ability to get action on cases which have been hanging fire for years has greatly improved the situation here.

The majority of actions heard this week consisted of suits for damages and each required from a day and half to two days and a half in completing. After non-suit had been ordered in the $46,000 damage suit against the A. C. L. railroad yesterday afternoon, the remainder of the session was spent in dismissing appeals and non-suiting a number of actions.

WORLD FAIR THROWN OPEN (Continued from page one) what was hoped to be an eventual attendance of 50,000,000 began streaming through roads, streets and passes of the city-made out of the waters of Lake Michigan. The fair will close November 1.

The actual opening was without ceremony. The clicking of the turnstiles, however, was followed by a day of pageantry including the official dedication by Postmaster James A. Farley, representative of President Roosevelt.

As a climax tonight, science will loose a ray from the star Arcturus to turn on the switch lighting all buildings. Today's exercises were centered in huge Soldier field which will be followed by a march to the fair grounds.

The program called for speeches by Farley, Rufus Dawes, president of the fair, Chicago's Mayor Kelly, Governor Horner of Illinois, and then the public was to 'go see it'.

Tonight's exercises will be held on the far-reaching esplanade of the hall of science court. Lawrence Tibet, noted opera star, will sing the national anthem as Arcturus's rays turn the vast grounds into a blaze of illuminated color.

POPPY ARE SOLD TODAY (Continued from Page One) Saturday preceding Memorial day. Memorial day this year comes on Tuesday, and although no observance had been planned here graves of the men who fell in the World War will be decorated by the Legion and its Auxiliary tomorrow.

Preparations have already been made for visiting every grave in the county and before the day is over a bunch of flowers will adorn the resting place of the men who gave their all in behalf of a great cause.
