EXPECT ROOSEVELT TO ASK FOR DRY LAW REPEAL

Dry States Urge Chief To Make A Personal Appeal

SEEK TO CARRY OUT PLEDGES OF THE PARTY

Leaders in Doubtful States Believe Chief Executive Will Heed Their Call For Help In Setting Aside Prohibition Law; Farley Has Already Started Drive To Speed Repeal

Washington, June 3—(AP)—President Roosevelt is expected by Democratic leaders to make direct appeal to the states to ratify repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. Members of congress from doubtful dry states have urged the chief executive to make a personal appeal for action and they have gained the impression that he will do so shortly. His appeal, members said, would be based on the pledges of the president and party during the campaign and would stress the importance already mentioned by the president in messages to congress for obtaining additional revenue from liquor taxes.

Mr. Roosevelt has obtained a provision in the tax program of the industrial recovery bill permitting him to recommend increased levies in veterans appropriations of the amendment.

Furthermore, James F. Farley, who is chief of the Democratic national committee, has already launched a party drive to speed repeal.

He continued his financial activities even after the bank merger, and is reputed to have been quite wealthy. He was never married.

BRAZIL HAS VISION OF LANDS TEEMING WITH NEW CIVILIZATIONS

Rio De Janeiro (AP)—Looking to the time when Brazil expects a population growth comparable to the "good old days" in the United States, Pedro Salgado Filho, minister of labor, is studying systematic colonization of several of Brazil's undeveloped regions.

This country, larger than the United States, but with only 40,000,000 people, has vast areas awaiting development in temperate and subtropical zones in addition to the equatorial Amazonian country.

The first subject of study will be the Iguassu river region in Parana, southern Brazil, where the climate is much like that of Southern California. The project envisages nationalization of the banks of Parana river, where the greatest cataraacts in South America offer immense hydro-electric possibilities. Later the ministry will prepare programs for the Rio Doce region in Espirito Santo state, and the inland regions in Bahia and Piahy states, in the sub-tropical middle north.

FINALS OPEN AT COLLEGE WITH RECITAL

Artistic Playing of Pianists Marks Event At Teachers College Here

The twenty-fourth music recital last night opened the twenty-fourth commencement of East Carolina Teachers College. This was marked by the artistic playing of the pianists and the pleasing variety of the program. The poise and natural dignity of the players made the audience feel they were professionals rather than college girls. This was due in part to the fact that there is an unusual number of advanced students in the program. There were several selections by modern composers on the program.

The two song groups on the program were very greatly enjoyed. Mrs. Ruth Penberg sang and the glee club sang two songs.

The program was as follows: Etude Melodique by Rogers; Music Box by Liebh—Frances Rock. To the Rising Sun by Torjussen—Athaleah Muse.

Military Polonaise by Chopin—Mary Rabb.

Norwegian Dance No. 2 (Two Pianos) by Grieg—Edith Marsden.

Melba Watson.

Prelude—"Passing of the Cossacks" by Rachmaninoff—Elizabeth Smith.

O Moon Upon the Water by Cadman; Somewhere in this Summer Night by Carew—Ruth Penberg.

Soprano.

Gigue by Bach—MacDowell; A Scotch Poem by MacDowell—Melba Watson.

Prelude Op. 28 No. 15 by Chopin—Edith Marsden.

Country Dance by MacFayden—Katie Lee Johnson.

Reverie by Schutt; What the Forest-Brook Babbles by Poldini—Dorothy Sloan.

Gavotte and Musette by d'Albert—Katherine Bradley.

Kills Wife and Himself.

Spruce Pine, N. C.—(AP)—Dr. T. W. Deyton, 38, Spruce Pine dentist, and his 31-year-old wife were shot to death at their Denton home today. Authorities said the dentist shot his wife, the mother of three children and then killed himself. Both died instantly. Deyton with a bullet through his temple and his wife with one through her heart. In the Deyton home at the time were two relatives of Dr. Deyton, his brother and his wife, and four-year-old Jack Deyton, youngest son of the Deytons. No one was in the bedroom where the shooting occurred, members of the family said.

The reports of the year's work by chapters revealed that they have been busy. There are active chapters in Greenville, Raleigh, Roanoke Rapids, Rocky Mount, Goldsboro, Warsaw and Fountain.

FLIER BEGINS WORLD FLIGHT

James Mattern Leaves New York in Effort To Set New Globe Record

New York, June 3—(AP)—An aerial giant of all work will apply in his pockets and a grin on his lips, hopped off from Floyd Bennett field today in a single-handed try at the globe-circling record.

James Joseph Mattern, of San Angelo, Texas, who has done all kinds of flying chores from flogging leeches to Mexico to hopping the Atlantic, leaped down the million-runway in his "Century of Progress" and got away at 4:20 a. m. (E. S. T.)

The record of eight days, seven hours and fifty-one minutes was set two years ago by Wiley Post and Harold Gatty.

As to Mattern's first stop in the terrific grind, there were several versions and much confusion. First he was represented as hoping to get to Moscow without a stop. Later it was said Berlin, more than 4,000 miles from New York, was his first aim.

After he roared away, however, Jack Clark his personal representative announced that neither of these was right and that he would stop in Paris, about 3,600 miles from New York, get some sleep and go on to Moscow. Clark said he would make Paris in 27 hours.

The oranges were Mattern's only food supply. "All I need is them and a good tail wind to get over there in short order," he said with a smile as the crowd which had stayed up all night cheered.

Friends expressed the opinion he would land first in Berlin. After Berlin to Moscow or perhaps Paris where he plans to halt for "forty winks" at Yatska, Siberia. None and Fairbanks, Alaska, and Edmonton, Alberta. Then he hopes to fly non-stop back to New York.

TURKEY SPENDS MILLIONS TO IMPROVE COAL FIELDS

Ango (AP)—In behalf of Turkish coal production, the Turkish government has decided to spend $16,500,000 to build a railroad connecting the mining town of Filios with a new modern harbor at Ereghli on the Black Sea.

The railroad will be completed in three years and the harbor in six.

This coal region can, it is estimated, produce 5,000,000 tons of coal annually, as against the present output of 1,500,000 tons.

Roosevelt's Policies Abroad Are Opposed

By BYRON PRICE

The overwhelming support accorded the domestic program of President Roosevelt does not at this stage, appear likely to be repeated with respect to his foreign policy. Opposition to the new cooperative efforts abroad will be slow in developing, but may be none the less real for its tardiness. Plans are afoot to avoid, so far as possible, the necessity for senate ratification of the prospective international agreements. This merely might postpone, without diminishing, the political effect generally.

The central question is how far the United States should go in maintaining the peace of the world, and specifically the peace of Europe.

Some senators and other already have said Mr. Roosevelt proposes to go too far when he defines as an "aggressor" any nation which sends troops across its borders, and then promises the United States will "consult" with others about steps to

CIVIL COURT CLOSES HERE

Z. V. Murphy Awarded Judgment For $1,000 In Final Day's Session

Z. V. Murphy was awarded judgment for $1,000 against Walter Harrington and J. M. Harrington in the final session of the two-week term of civil superior court here yesterday afternoon.

The note was endorsed by J. M. Harrington for Walter Harrington and upon failure to recover Murphy filed suit in the court here.

Approximately 150 cases were disposed of during the two week term. The first week and almost a similar number the second week. The calendar for both weeks was completed with exception of a minor number of actions which were continued until the next term.

The cases were continued on account of the illness of the litigants. Numbers of actions were non-suited by Judge Grady the first week when plaintiffs showed a disinclination to push them.

Many cases which had been hanging fire two or three years were disposed of during the term and the progress made from day to day in the face of the time taken in completing lengthy issues was considered out of the ordinary.

Judge Grady has the happy faculty of keeping things moving all the time, and when litigants show a tendency to stall hearing of their cases the jurist relieves the calendar.

SEEK CUT OF COTTON CROP

Farm Organizations Would Give Bonuses To Growers Who Reduce Acreage.

Washington, June 3—(AP)—Spokesmen for the American Cotton Co-operative Association and the American Farm Bureau Federation today recommended a thirty per cent acreage reduction in the current cotton crop and payment of bonuses to farmers who cut their output.

C. O. Moses, New Orleans, secretary of the Cooperatives, said a substantial reduction was essential in order to bring back better times to the cotton producing points of the large surplus of American cotton which he estimated as in excess of 12,500,000 bales.

He added that payment direct to producers for acreage reduction should be a fundamental in any plan adopted.

He was presenting the attitude of the cooperatives at a meeting of producers, processors, cooperatives and cotton dealers called by George N. Peek, administrator of the new farm act.

TWO WHISKEY STILLS TAKEN

Three Operators and 15 Gallons of Whiskey Captured In Falkland Area

Three distillers, two plants and several gallons of whiskey were captured by county officers in a raid in the Falkland community yesterday afternoon. It was revealed at the office of Sheriff Sam Whitehurst today.

The operators were O. B. Vinnell, white, William Williams and Mark Hines, colored. They were brought to Greenville and confined in jail to await preliminary hearing sometime today probably.

Fifteen gallons of whiskey and a considerable amount of paraphernalia also fell into the hands of the officers in what was described as "one of the most important raids" in months.

The stills were located about one hundred yards apart, and the smaller of the two was in full operation. Ten men were leaving the plant with worms and whiskey in their possession when they espied the officers and fled. Three of them were not as speedy as the officers however, and fell into the dragnet of the law.

The large plant was of a two hundred gallons capacity and the smaller one 75 gallons. Both were of the usual type used in the distillation of the illicit beverage in this community and capable of a considerable output.

The three operators will be given preliminary hearing here and bound over to the next session of county court.

POPE ISSUES A SURPRISE ENCYCLICAL

Pontiff Declares The New Spanish Religious Laws Constitute Grievous Attack On The Church; Message Delivered to The Vatican State Department; Art Treasures Turned Over to Spanish State

Vatican City, June 3—(AP)—The entire government of Spain has been automatically excommunicated from the Catholic church for signing a decree that gave the Vatican State Department announced today after Pope Pius had issued a surprise encyclical, declaring the new Spanish religious law constituted a grievous attack on the church.

The department explained that no decree of excommunication had been proclaimed because the act committed by the Spanish government came automatically under provisions of the canon law.

No advance notice was given to the pope's intentions to publish the encyclical until the Vatican State department announced it was ready today.

A religious congregational law was published in Madrid today calling religious orders to civil societies and turning art treasures worth millions of dollars over to the state.

The Spanish bishops and Archbishops called the new law infamous and oppressive.

The Pontiff said he had made representations to the Spanish government because of the error of its course in wounding the dearest and most deep-seated sentiment of the people in distributing mutual harmony while assuring his beloved children of the pleasure and lily while they were in the course of persecution.

NATIONAL ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES

Those who have followed the progress of the investigation into the affairs of Morgan, Mitchell and others are beginning to feel that Al Capone was a piker when it came to the income tax evasion racket.

This is another week-end and tomorrow is Sunday, meaning that there will be an increase in motor traffic. Again we warn, "It is better to be safe than to be sorry." Caution on the part of every motorist will do much toward cutting down the usual number of week-end automobile accidents.

The college commencement now in progress here has speakers on its program well worth hearing, and we urge all who can to attend the exercises tomorrow morning to hear Dr. Charles F. Meyers deliver the baccalaureate sermon and again on Monday morning to hear Dr. Will Durant deliver his address to the graduating class. Both these speakers are outstanding in their lines, Dr. Meyers being one of the outstanding Presbyterian preachers of this state and Dr. Durant a philosopher and author of note. Those who hear these two speakers have a treat in store for them.

THE OLD LURE

(News and Observer) Press reports from New York yesterday stated that the lure of increasing profits brought back thousands into the stock market today and scores of issues hit new 1933 peaks.

The child may have been burnt but apparently he does not yet dread the flame. The lure of easy money is still strong in America. Many students of national psychology believe that the end of the depression may be marked by another boom period that will carry the nation to another crash.

By the World FORGOT

A New Serial by Ruby M. Ayres

SYNOPSIS: Everyone has deserted Nicholas Boyd, the famous film star, excepting, apparently, George Bancroft—and Nicholas is not interested in George. He has played the hero once too often, and received a battered face and a lame leg as his reward. Now his contract has been cancelled and Bernie Boyd his wife, has refused to sell with him to an obscure life in England. He complains bitterly to George, on the ship, because of the world's unkindness to his fallen stars.

Chapter Six
SENTIMENTAL CHILD
There was a long silence; Nicholas was looking away from her, straight ahead of him with moody eyes, then presently George said: "You ought not to say things like that; everyone doesn't pass by on the other side."

"No," he agreed bitterly. "Some of them stop to stare and to say: 'Poor devil, behold how the mighty are fallen!'"

"And some of them," George said, "stop as you did in the picture and say: 'You've still got me.'"

"Do they?" he never met anyone like that.
There was another little silence, then George said, almost timidly: "You've met me."

"You!" he said scornfully. "You're only a child, a sentimental child who knows nothing of the world."

"You look like a robin," Nicholas said.

"Just now you said I wasn't a child."
"I was mistaken; you're just a baby who ought not to be allowed out alone."

"But I'm always alone," she insisted gently. "All my life I've been practically alone."

"I suppose you've got friends."
She shook her head. "Not many. I know people, of course, but there isn't anyone I'd die for, if you mean that."

"His fleeting smile came again. "Sometimes it's easier to die for people than to live for them," he said somberly.

Then suddenly he sat upright, carefully lowering his lame leg to the deck. "Well, it must be nearly lunch time," he said.

"Can I talk to you again some time?" George asked.

"It seems beyond my power to prevent you," he answered.

"But you don't mind?" she urged anxiously.

"As long as you don't try the kissing experiment on me," he said cynically.

George smiled. "It wouldn't be necessary," she answered.

"What does that mean?" he asked.

"Only that I know already that I like you—awfully."

"For a moment he stood looking at her, and she asked quickly: "What are you thinking about?"

"I am wondering if you are as innocent as you look," he answered rather brutally.

"I don't know what that means."
"Then you probably are," he answered shortly and without another word he turned away and left her.

"Why do you always wear that color?" Nicholas Boyd asked.

"George glanced down at her fork, a fluffly crimson affair that fell in soft folds to her ankles and was cut away at the neck and arms. "I like it," she said simply.

"You look like a robin," Nicholas said.

They were sitting in a corner of the Winter garden, and in the distance the band was playing. As usual, it was George who had sought out Nicholas, not he who had looked for her.

"I love robins," George said, in a pleased little voice. "We get lots where I live."

Grimesland Will Meet Leaguers Here Monday In Exhibition Contest

With a day off from workouts which they have been undergoing since last Monday, the Greenville club of the Coastal Plain league marked time today awaiting their first exhibition game here Monday afternoon with the strong Grimesland team.

The leaguers completed their first week of practice yesterday afternoon with a six inning game among themselves, and Manager Milton Harrington stated today he was highly satisfied with the showing made by the first team in the initial skirmish.

The coming of Grimesland, rated as one of the fastest teams in this section of the state, was being anticipated with considerable interest here as this will afford fans an opportunity to gauge the strength of the local club. Grimesland, playing such men as Herbert Cobb, former American Association player, Jim Gardner, of Macesfield and Mark Page, of Elm City will present probably the strongest lineup of the season when they meet Greenville's entry in the Coastal Plain circuit which opens next Wednesday afternoon.

However, after the workout yesterday, Harrington felt confident his lads would be able to give a good account of themselves and probably capture their first exhibition game.

Harrington had intended giving the "pink slip" to some of his players yesterday in the beginning of the weeding out process, but the day was far too chilly to permit an accurate estimate of the ability of the various men seeking berths on the club, and the elimination work was deferred until the first of next week.

Only one man so far has been shipped and he hit the road Friday after he had been told he didn't have a chance to make the grade here.

The public has been urged to attend the exhibition game Monday and get some idea of what the local club is going to look like when it takes the field against Ayden in the opening of the league here Wednesday afternoon. Ayden, like the other three clubs comprising the circuit, is making an effort to place the best team possible in the field the opening day and that she will put up a spectacular fight for the first game goes without saying.

Full support of the club is going to play a big part in the outcome of the season, Harrington said today, as he called on fans to be in their places in the commodious grandstand and bleachers when the umpire yells "play ball" in the exhibition game Monday.

SPORT SLANTS By ALAN GOULD
In any conversation with Colonel Jacob Ruppert, the subject of one of his favorites, Babe Ruth, is likely to crop up. I found the colonel in no way reluctant to discuss it. We had talked about the days when Ruppert's main sporting hobby was horse-racing, his favorite horse the renowned Gotham and his pet jockey "Snapper" Garrison.

"One of the greatest that ever lived," said the Colonel. "Knew more than many trainers. He rode several great races for me."

"My pride has always been in having the best" went on the man who now owns the world champion Yankees and has invested something like $10,000,000 in this richest of baseball enterprises. "I wanted my horses to win and I was never satisfied until the Yankees won more world series games in succession than any other team in baseball history."

"I wanted Ruth because he was baseball's greatest hitter and I paid more for him than any other ball player. He far exceeded our expectations. He is still great but it is my hope that the Babe will know enough to retire before he goes too far down the hill. Of course I hope he can continue to give the Yankees his best as a hitter for one or maybe two more years. But this is his twentieth year and I must recognize he cannot go on forever."

"What I mean is that I think the impression of Ruth should always be one of greatness on the ball field, of a batsman feared by every pitcher, not the memory of an elderly heavyset man who was finally forced to step down and out."

"You ask whether there is anything to the possibility of Ruth going to another club, like the Red Sox, to manage the team? All I can say is no one has approached me on the matter and I have given it no thought. Times have changed and the days of an $80,000 salary, even for another Ruth are gone, but so long as the Babe is happy with me and producing home runs, I am happy, too. I think millions, like myself still get their biggest thrill out of seeing home runs break up a ball game."

What Ruth Really Cost
It has never been generally known and it was not disclosed at the time but the fact is that the acquisition of Ruth cost Colonel Ruppert the astounding sum of $450,000!

The explanation is that before Harry Frazee, then owner of the Red Sox, would accept a flat cash offer of $125,000 for the Babe, he (Frazee) had to dispose of a $325,000 mortgage on the American League park in Boston.

Colonel Ruppert's partner at the time, Col. T. L. Huston, was disinclined to participate so Ruppert finally took over the mortgage. He still has it and he is satisfied it was a good investment, on all accounts.

Dislikes Annual Debate
The Yankee Colonel has been satisfied to pay Ruth nearly $1,000,000 in salary since 1920 but he dislikes the annual spring-ballyhoo that has become associated with the signing of the Babe in Florida.

"I would much rather we got that over with and forgot it quickly," said the Colonel, "but the Babe has been a little stubborn at times and maybe I have been somewhat intransigent myself. Many times, however I have gone more than halfway to meet Ruth's demands."

Phillip Kevyes Yonge of Pensacola, Fla., has served as a member of the state board of control for institutions of higher learning for twenty-five years.

Australian 'New Guard' In Militant Fascist Parade

Sydney.—(AP)—Efforts are being made to establish a fascist organization in Australia. Eric Campbell, founder of the Australian New Guard, a patriotic organization is touring Germany Poland and Italy examining similar movements there. It is expected that when he returns to Australia the New Guard will abandon the passive role it assumed after last year's defeat of socialist candidates at the polls. If the government bans the revamped fascist organization as an illegal body, members say it probably will be transformed into a secret society.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED AT BRIDGE LUNCHEON

Mrs. W. S. Bost was a charming hostess Friday morning at her apartment on Fourth street. Four tables for bridge were set amid a colorful variety of summer flowers. Miss Agnes Gaskins, making high score, was awarded a beach bag. The low score prize, a novelty bridge pencil and holder, fell to Miss Margaret Ward. At the conclusion of the games the hostess served a delicious barbecue luncheon. Each guest found on her plate a wedding ring, to which was attached a miniature shower, the streamers bearing the names "Mary Wall and Jimmie, June 25th." This was to announce the engagement and approaching wedding of Miss Mary Wall Bost and James Exum of Snow Hill. Miss Bost found a bride on her plate and was remembered with a pretty piece of lingerie. Miss Bost, a popular member of the younger set, is the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Bost of this city. Mr. Exum visits here frequently and has made a host of friends. The wedding is being looked forward to with interest.

Moves To Cut World Wheat Surplus Would Limit the Production

By FRANK L. WELLER (Associated Press Farm Editor) Washington—(AP)—International efforts seeking to decrease world wheat surpluses are concerned with a situation in which five major exporting areas are hammering prices at Liverpool. The part the United States plays in this picture appears in figures showing that this country's share of the world export trade in wheat has increased 3.21 per cent in the last decade, while sister exporting areas have experienced violent fluctuations.

A chart prepared by the Department of agriculture shows that from 1909 to 1931, inclusive, this country averaged 10.59 per cent of total world exports, climbed gradually to 12.77 per cent in 1928-29 and to 13.79 in 1931-32. Canada and Russia represented the extreme in fluctuations. The latter, dominating in exports before the war, faded out entirely until 1931-32 when she regained 9.98 per cent of the then-important 29.69 per cent she commanded from 1909 to 1913.

Canada, sharing about equally with the United States, Argentina and the Danubian countries prior to the war, supplied almost 50 per cent of the wheat in export channels in 1928-29, but had slipped back to 25 per cent in 1931-32. The Canadian and Argentine shipments in 1928-29 comprised almost 75 per cent of the entire world wheat movement, but accounted for only 45 per cent of it against 42 per cent by Australian, American and Danubian shipments in the five-cornered race that featured the 1931-32 season.

With exports from five major areas tending to depress prices at Liverpool and world stocks some 350,000,000 bushels above normal right at a time European importing countries are exerting every possible economic and political power to grow their own wheat, there has arisen international effort to decrease surpluses.

The Overseas Wheat Committee composed of delegates from the United States, Canada, Australia and Argentina, has concluded negotiations at Geneva and gone to London with a three-point program: 1. Limitation of production and possibly of exports. 2. Liquidation of stocks. 3. Maintenance of a reasonable import margin in European deficit countries.

The present aim of the Overseas Committee is said to embrace a 10 per cent reduction in acreage in the four countries represented.

Hollywood — That habit the late Florenz Ziegfeld has of sending letter-length telegrams across the country in directing his show business may enjoy posthumous usefulness.

Billie Burke, the widow of the "Follies" creator, says she will look to his files of them for further ideas as she assists in the revival of the stage spectacle which added glamour to Broadway in Ziegfeld's heyday.

The late showman was projecting another edition of his Follies in conjunction with Ned Wayburn and Bobby Connolly, his associates, at the time of his death. The plans he began, some of them elaborated in these telegrams, will be carried out. Ziegfeld's fondness for telegraphing was the subject of many anecdotes during his life, but none is more indicative of his passion for cross-country "wiring" than Miss Burke's serious remark that he actually had a callous on the under side of his finger—the result of penning off message after message.

Optimistic

Billie Burke is inclined to be optimistic concerning future editions of the "Follies". "The thought of 'Billie Burke Ziegfeld presents' terrifies me," she admits, "and makes me feel terribly presumptuous. We are going to do the best we can although without his guiding genius it is a question whether we can do it exactly in his way."

Hollywood drafted from the "Follies" many of its famous stars, and it is not unlikely that the new "Follies" will come to Hollywood in search of talent.

Not Leaving Screen Billie Burke's screen career will not be affected by her Broadway enterprise. She will be gone through the summer but, when she will return, with a play under Samuel Goldwyn's auspices as a possibility.

She is interested, too, in the screening of a story of Ziegfeld's life as written by William Anthony McGuire with herself as collaborator. For this incidentally, she says no attempt will be made to find an actor who resembles Ziegfeld in appearance.

Relief Canning

The Falkland Home Demonstration Club will meet next Tuesday to can green beans for the community garden. Other communities will start their canning programs in the near future.

Mildred Taylor Winner. Miss Mildred Taylor of Pactolus is a happy girl these days, and has every right to be. Her final rating in the district health contest held at Washington, N. C., was 100. Dr. Edwards of Washington, who has examined the teeth of the health contestants for the last four years, said he had never seen such teeth as all the contestants had this year. There has been a marked improvement each year. Dr. Carter, eye, ear and nose specialist of Washington, who helped examine the contestants, said that he was surprised that any such clean throats existed anywhere. Mildred will compete in the state contest the first week in August at Raleigh. All 4-H girls who are over 14 years of age and in good standing are urged to attend the 4-H short course in Raleigh which will be held the same week. The health pageant will be a part of the program there.

4-H Camp

A joint 4-H camp will be held at Neuse Forest June 13-15 for all 4-H Club girls in good standing of Edgecombe, Martin and Pitt counties. Letters are being mailed out requesting each girl who is going from Pitt to get in touch with the Home Agent by Wednesday evening, June 7. Those who have signed up at that time will receive further instructions. We want all girls who can go with us, but it is impossible to make the detail arrangements without knowing how many are going. The camping dates are a little early because of the earlier tobacco crop this year.

Picnic and Program

Friday night will be "Family Night" for club women and their families. At 6:00 a picnic supper will be spread on tables near the lake on the campus at E. C. T. C. Following the supper we shall go to the auditorium of the Austin building for the cotton dress contest and to hear Mrs. James S. McKimmon, our state leader of home demonstration. Anyone interested in this program is invited to come. Each family will bring a picnic basket large enough for their own family and it will be spread together. Let this be a part of your summer vacation.

In closing he pictured a glorious civilization in the future if all work together for a balanced government, with agriculture, industry, and all other departments working in harmony and none trying to take advantage of the others each realizing success depends upon a balanced civilization.
