TWO OCEAN FLIERS KILLED AS PLANE CRASHES

Darius And Girenas Die When Lithuanica Lands In Treetops In Germany

BODIES OF TWO FLIERS BURIED UNDER PLANE

Plane Crashes as New York to Lithuania Non-Stop Fliers Mistake Treetops For Meadow in Fog; Police Find Gas Tank Empty; Believe Fliers Were Forced Down by Lack of Fuel

Soldin, Pomerania, Germany, July 17—(AP)—The airplane Lithuanica in which Stephen Darius and Stanley Girenas were attempting a non-stop flight from New York to Lithuania crashed early today at Kuhnadam and both fliers were killed. The plane was discovered in a forest. The bodies of the airmen were under it. A local farmer heard the crash about 7 o'clock this morning but the actual discovery of the crash was not made until a few hours later.

A party of aviation and police officials left immediately from Berlin for Soldin. Soldin is situated on a lake of the same name near the border line of two Prussian provinces, Neumark and Pomerania. Police surmised that the aviators in attempting to land mistook treetops for a meadow. There was some doubt about the exact time of the crash.

Investigators said the bodies indicated the men died sometime between 3 and 5 a. m. Women gathering berries said they heard the machine about 5 o'clock and that the noise suddenly ceased. Later a cyclist discovered the plane with the fliers underneath and the wings hanging in trees.

A rural policeman found a route map, copies of Chicago news papers and a pouch with letters on which were the names of Darius and Girenas and also of Victor Vesgiles of Wilkesbarre, Pa., who served as mechanic for the aviators. The discovery of the tragedy followed a stormy and dark night during which the plane was not seen in any section of Germany.

The Lithuanica struck the same patch of bad weather which forced Wiley Post to land at Koenigsberg, East Prussia, enroute from Berlin to Moscow. Police found that the gas tank of the Lithuanica empty. Hence they believed the pilots came down intentionally but because of fog were unable to see the treetops. The bodies were badly mangled. Several trees were snapped under the weight of the machine. Near the spot American cigarettes and candies were found.

BOYCOTT OF GERMAN GOODS IS EXTENDED

London, July 17—(AP)—A meeting of 25 or 30 representatives of principal countries has been convened by Samuel Untermyer, New York attorney, with a view to extending a boycott against German goods and an appeal to the League of Nations against alleged anti-Jewish atrocities in Nazi Germany.

The meeting will be held at Amsterdam next Thursday or Friday. Untermyer, explaining the conference and its purposes today, said a boycott already was well under way in many countries but that its effects had been cushioned by a decision to allow stores to use up German stocks already on hand. With the exhaustion of these stocks, he said, German manufacturers will begin to feel the full force of world-wide sentiment against repression of the Jews.

DISMISS TAX SUIT AGAINST ANDY MELLON

District of Columbia Court Also Turns Loose Other Former U. S. Officials

Washington, July 17—(AP)—A $20,000,000 tax suit against Andrew Mellon and other former government officials was dismissed today by Judge James Proctor in the District of Columbia court. The suit was filed by David Olson, former investigator for the special senate committee and charged Mellon and other officials with conspiracy to defraud the government in the settlement of foreign steamship company taxes. Justice Proctor in his decision sustained the demurrer raised by the defendants, said the suit did not make a good present cause of action. Unless Olson filed the suit in an amended form the settlement today will end the case. Olson was a former investigator for the banking committee which probed the stock market and banking.

GIRLS SPENT TIME IN GERMAN JAIL

New York, July 17—(AP)—Disinclined to talk about their experience, Meta V. Chapman, 19, of Trenton, N. J., and Anne Timpko, 20, of Tamaque Pa., were landed in New York today after spending 20 days in a German jail in charges of stowing away on the liner Bremen when it left here June 9. The young women were put ashore from the liner Berlin by German authorities, who had refused to accept their explanation that they lost themselves aboard the Bremen before it sailed and were forced to go along. They were returned in a third class cabin. They carried a letter from the American consul at Berlin vouching for their American citizenship, and immigration officials allowed them to land without delay in New York.

ban emphasizes one of the greatest handicaps we meet in solving such cases—the loss of time. The criminals war families to maintain secrecy on the threat of death to the victim. It is only natural that the families are tempted to comply with such orders. But it has come to the point where the public must be warned how to act when such crimes occur, and must be reassured on the score of protection from the federal government. Federal officers constantly emphasize and strictly observe the rules of secrecy. The public need have no fear of calling them in immediately. (Continued On Page Two)

TO TALK NEW DEAL HERE

Important Meeting of Eastern Chamber to Be held in Greenville Thursday

Indications are very favorable for having one of the section's most important meetings in Greenville, Thursday night, July 20th, according to a statement made by President Guy Elliott, of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce, the sponsoring organization for the meeting. The general theme will be about and around the "New Deal". The part of the "New Deal" that is being played by the application of the General Sales Tax for the State will be explained by Hon. Harry McMullan, director of the Sales Tax Division of the state. Mr. McMullan will explain the intricate working of the new law. A. J. Moxwell will also speak. Co. J. M. Harrellson of the Conservation and Development Department of the state will explain how the Public Works Act will be applied in this state. The Federal Government has made available the huge sum of $3,300,000 for this program. There is a strong probability that Eastern Carolina will be in line for quite a bit of this money. Col. Harrellson will tell how this is to be had. Others on the program include Mayor R. C. Flanagan, Greenville; J. R. Turnage, prominent Merchant of Ayden; Judge Clayton Moore of Williamston and others. President Guy Elliott will be toast Master and Secretary N. G. Bartlett will handle the details of the meeting. The "Dutch" supper will be served in the Friendly Dining Room. Reservation for plates should be made to R. L. Powell, Secretary Greenville Chamber of Commerce. The meeting is open to the general public.

WILL BEGIN PLOWING UP COTTON SOON

Government to Advise Farmers This Week When to Destroy Part of Crop

Farmers who agreed to plow up a part of their cotton crop under the federal crop production control program will be notified sometime this week when to begin plowing up the staple they signed to take out of cultivation. E. F. Arnold, director of the farm department, and head of the cotton sign-up drive in this county, announced today he had been advised by I. O. Schaub, state director, that notices of acceptance would be mailed out to county agents beginning Wednesday. The county agent will in turn notify township committeemen who will pass the information on to the growers. Commenting on the progress of the campaign in this county, Mr. Arnold said the final tabulation of belated contracts received in his office the latter part of the week brought total acreage to be taken out of cultivation in this county to 3,947. This was equal to about three thousand bales of the staple, practically a thousand bales more than the government quota required.

The telegram from the director of the state, which is a copy of that received from Washington, follows: "Secretary declared cotton program in effect today (Friday) at 1:45 p. m. Contract offers being rushed through tabulating unit with utmost speed. Will begin mailing notices of acceptance from secretary to producers in bulk to county agents Wednesday for distribution to local committeemen. Caution farmers not to plow up cotton until they receive their notice of acceptance showing that their offers have been accepted. HARRIMAN IS MISSING AGAIN

New York Banker Disappears From Nurses' Home in New York City

New York, July 17—(AP)—Joseph W. Harriman, former head of the Harriman National Bank and Trust Company, disappeared today for the second time from the Regent Nursing home 115 East 63rd street. William J. Donovan, chief counsel for Harriman, who is under bail of $25,000 on a federal indictment charging alteration of books of the bank, notified U. S. District attorney George Medlin of Harriman's disappearance. Donovan said Harriman slipped out through the servants entrance of the home and entered a taxi and that a boy standing close by said the taxi driver was told to drive to Fort Lee Ferry. Medlin at once telephoned Thomas Clien, agent in charge of the U. S. bureau of investigation here, and asked him to send out the usual alarm to federal guards at the Canadian border and at other points and seaports. While it would take several days for the aged banker to get there unless he traveled by plane, guards on the Mexican border also will be notified. Harriman attempted suicide after his first disappearance from the home May 19. A few minutes after he was found in a Roslyn, N. Y. hotel he stabbed himself over the heart. The wound was not serious and a few days later he recovered and was moved from the Mineola hospital to his home.

POST FLYING TO SIBERIA

American Round the World Flier Spends Only Short Time at Moscow

Moscow, July 17—(AP)—Wiley Post, American round the world flier, landed here from Koenigsberg, Germany, this afternoon and a few hours later soared away on the 1,830 miles journey to Novosibirsk, in Siberia. Perfect weather conditions prevailed from Moscow as far as the Ural mountains. Local weather officials gave the flier full meteorological information before he left and said that clouds between Novosibirsk and the Urals would clear up before they reached that area. Post refused a chance to snatch a few minutes sleep at Moscow that he might speed up mechanics work on his plane. It was 5:12 p. m. 9:12 (EST) when the American flier started the next leg of his journey. He was in Moscow 2 hours and 52 minutes. When he sped away from the Soviet capital a more than 48 hour growth of beard had disappeared from his face as he spent 15 minutes of his short stay here in the airport barbershop.

BALBO TAKES TIME TO REST

Italian Fliers Given Short Respite Following Festivities in Chicago

Chicago, July 17—(AP)—Weary from a continued round of festivities, General Italo Balbo and his 96 fliers faced a curtailed program today. Completing the last leg of their 6,100 miles flight from Italy in a hop from Montreal that ended Saturday evening when they sent their seaplanes down on Lake Michigan the airmen immediately became heroes of the nation's second largest city and were treated as such. It was early yesterday before they could get to the privacy of their rooms reserved for them at a large hotel for much needed rest.

DEMAND MORE PAY FOR WORK IN THE MILLS

Only One Minor Disturbance Reported; Regular Police Force On Duty; Several Window Panes Broken as Employees Attempt To Return To Work; Many Out Of Work Not Strikers

High Point, July 17—(AP)—A strike affecting 5,000 hosiery and furniture plant operators was called here today when mill officials failed to meet demands for a 25 per cent wage increase. Only one minor disturbance was reported and no extra police were on hand. Twenty-two seamless hosiery plants employing approximately 4,000 workers and 25 furniture factories employing about 1,000 operators were closed. Several window panes were broken when several employees attempted to return to work at one of the mills but this disturbance soon was quelled. The plant closed.

No more than the regular number of police patrolled the industrial section. Meanwhile a large part of the city's industries continued operation with the cotton and silk mills and hosiery plants and a few furniture factories operated on regular schedule. All operators idle today did not strike. Many were thrown out of work by action of fellow workers who put into effect the strike announced over a week ago when wage increase and an 8 hour shift was demanded. Many were prevented the gathering of large crowds.

CITIZEN HERE GETS REVENUE POST IN STATE

T. T. Hollingsworth Chosen Senior Collector in Sales Tax Division

Announcement was made yesterday of the selection of T. T. Hollingsworth, well known Greenville business man, as a senior collector in the sales tax division of the State Revenue Department. The tax was imposed by the last session of the General Assembly and became effective the first of the month. Mr. Hollingsworth was in Chapel Hill today attending a conference of appointees to the sales tax division who were to be informed concerning their duties. Although no announcement was made as to the territory which Mr. Hollingsworth would cover, it was understood he would be assigned to Pitt county probably with some adjoining counties. The appointment of the Greenville man for this position was received with interest by his friends. Until the past year he was in the hotel business here for a number of years. He has taken a prominent part in local politics during his residence in Greenville, having served as a member of the Board of Aldermen. He was active in the last campaign which resulted in such a huge majority for Democratic party members not only in this county but throughout the country.

ROUGH

Commenting on the sales tax administration, Director Harry McMullan admits that there are still a few rough spots to be ironed out. One of the roughest spots we know of is the road the legislators, who favored the sales tax, will have to travel to get elected again.

MORE RECOGNITION FOR PITT

News of the appointment of Tom Hollingsworth to a post as one of the Senior Collectors of the State Revenue Department will be received with approval by his friends in this county. Tom is well known and popular throughout the county and has taken an active part in politics. His appointment is another deserved recognition for Pitt County.

IS IT A FAILURE?

There are persons who declare that they favor the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment because the prohibition law has been an absolute failure and has brought no good to our country. While it is admitted that the prohibition law has not accomplished all that could be desired in the way of temperance it cannot be denied that the law has aided greatly in decreasing drunkenness in this country. As we have held from the start, the prohibition question is not a political one but one upon which each individual must decide according to the dictates of his or her own conscience. Whether you vote for or against the repeal measure it doesn't make you a bit better Democrat, Republican or other party member. It is a question that should be studied by every individual, interested in the future welfare of our people and acted upon according to their findings.

As to whether or not prohibition has been a failure we pass on to our readers the following extracts from a recent address by Justice Clarkson of the Supreme Court.

Justice Clarkson says:

"When the 18th Amendment went into effect, only 31 per cent of the states were wet and partially wet. After that 31 per cent went dry, here's what happened: (U. S. Census Reports and Court Records) Deaths from Alcoholism decreased 43 per cent, Alcoholic Insanity decreased 55 per cent, General Crime from Drink decreased 54 per cent, Drunkenness decreased 70 per cent, Auto Wrecks (Deaths) decreased 50 per cent, Drinking decreased 77 per cent.

"Here's what happened in Canada under legalized liquor: (Canadian Bureau of Statistics) Deaths from Alcoholism increased 100 per cent, Drunken Crime increased 89 per cent, Drunkenness increased 55 per cent, Drunken Drivers increased 830 per cent, Immoral Crimes (Ontario) increased 75 per cent, Auto Wrecks increased 42 per cent.

SYNOPSIS: Sick with apprehension because she has apparently caught Nicholas Boyd in deceit and Bishop, her step-father, in an affair with Boyd's wife, Georgie Bancroft determines to wait in Nicholas' apartment until he returns, and have it out with him. For Georgie loves Nicholas, and Nicholas has said he loves her. Suddenly the door is pushed open, and Bernie Boyd, Nicholas' wife, enters. Bernie asks angrily whether Georgie has been there before, and Georgie answers "Yes."

Chapter 43 NICHOLAS ARRIVES There was a dramatic silence, then Bernie asked: "And you are the 'innocent young girl' for whom my husband pleaded so eloquently last night?" "I don't know," Georgie said. "You don't know," Bernie laughed shrilly. "Perhaps you don't know that he has been asking me to divorce him, offering to pay me to divorce him?" She laughed again. "You must be very innocent, I should think."

She moved over to the fire and stared at her self in the mirror that hung above the mantelshelf. A sudden horror of everything seized Georgie. She took a stumbling step towards the door. "I'll go," Bernie turned sharply. "Oh, no you won't; as you've waited so long for my charming husband, you will wait a little longer. If you and Nicholas think you can make a fool of me you are mistaken. 'Innocent young girl' indeed!"

"Very well," Georgie said apathetically. She did not care what happened; her beautiful dream was ending sordidly, as surely most things did in life. The moments dragged by in absolute silence; Bernie had lit a cigarette and was puffing at it agitatedly, her blue eyes hardly leaving Georgie's white face. And then Nicholas came in shutting the door carefully behind him. For a moment nobody spoke, till at last, Bernie broke the eloquent silence with her sharp voice.

For a moment nobody spoke.

"Well, what have you got to say for yourself?" Nicholas ignored her; he crossed the room to Georgie and spoke in an agitated voice. "Why did you come here? It was sheer madness. I wrote to you." Bernie's mocking laugh broke the following silence. "Very pretty! Very pretty, indeed!" Nicholas turned. "You will please go," he said quietly. "I will take you down to your car." She faced him defiantly. "Go! And leave you to your innocent young girl! Last night you begged me to divorce you. There was to be no scandal, you said." She drew a sharp breath. "I rather fancy that I shall have something to say in the matter now. It will make a pretty story, Nicholas, you and this."

"You will please go!" he said. She laughed in his face. "You've changed your tune since we were in America," she flung at him fiercely. "Have you told your innocent young girl how you begged me not to leave you?" There was a terrible silence, then she laughed again, though with less confidence.

"Well, I'll go," she said; she turned her head and looked at Georgie's bowed little figure. "Make the most of him," she said (Deaths) increased 42 per cent. In the United States under legalized liquor there were 98 Keely Institutes, they have been reduced to 11 under the 18th Amendment, a decrease of 90 per cent. There were 275 institutions in all for the treatment of alcoholic diseases, now there are only 68. Decrease in drunkenness caused 207 to close. In Chicago during legalized liquor the Washington Home for Men, for drunkards, had 700 to 1,000 patients at a time and had treated 300,000 drunkards. Since the 18th Amendment it has been turned into a hotel. No patients. "Wet Canada has, in proportion, 3 times as many automobile wrecks as dry United States. England has 4 times as many and Germany 6 times as many."

crime, which we plan, will unite local and federal law enforcement systems into a much more effective protection for the citizens. In kidnaping cases we are bending our efforts toward two primary ends: First, to return the victim, and to return him safely. Second, to take steps to punish the perpetrators of the crime. But, first and foremost, the families can be assured that the utmost secrecy will be observed, in so far as the bureau of investigation is concerned.

Finger-Printing Improved Our system of crime apprehension cannot be fully described, naturally since discussion would place criminals further on their guard. However, it can be said that since kidnapings have been on the increase we have built up a finger print system that is proving of great value. Local law enforcement officers are forwarding us all finger prints of persons who have been in any way involved in kidnaping cases. These finger prints have shown us recently that cases taking place in widely divergent sections of the country were perpetrated by the same individuals. Obviously that information simplifies detection. Further, we have completed case histories here of all persons who have been involved in federal cases including complete information on their associates and hide-outs. That further simplifies the matter of locating suspects.

In a recent widely discussed kidnaping case we were able to solve the crime because the family notified them in forwarding all mail to our offices in such a way that the finger-prints on the envelopes were preserved. Those prints solved the case. In another case the kidnapers used an airplane. Obviously, no private family could hope to deal effectively with such modern methods. The only way is to turn to such agencies as the bureau of investigation, that is equipped to cope with the present-day organized underworld.

How Time Is Lost: We were not notified of the O'Connell kidnaping until Monday night. The young man disappeared Friday. We learned of it through a telegram to Senator Copeland of New York. That meant four days of supremely valuable time was lost. Let me emphasize again, the family in such a situation can depend on federal officers for quiet, efficient secret operation. The spirit of this department is, first and last to get results.

It is difficult to say just why this hideous crime is on the increase. Most likely, the expected repeal of the eighteenth amendment is driving criminals into this new field, as they foresee the loss of a good living through the sale of liquor. Legalized beer has already deprived many of them of their usual illegitimate employment. We are planning, and are already receiving, much closer co-operation with local authorities. If necessary

The President, presumably not wedded to any detail of the plan submitted by his "brain trusters," listened carefully to the opinions expressed by the congressional leaders and attempts to harmonize the views of the two groups. Just so long as the main objective is retained, he doesn't care. He'll make concessions here and there, for, after all, it is up to Congress to translate the plan into law. He is, so to speak, the balance wheel between the political theorist and the practical politician.

A good illustration of this was to be seen in the industrial recovery act. There was talk that as far back as last Christmas, Roosevelt had before him the industrial recovery plan. It was not, however, until the Senate passed the Black 30-hour week bill that he brought it out. And then comes the third group—those charged with the administration and approved by the Congress an approved by the President.

He has been associated with the industry from boyhood up, having worked on the local market. In recent years he has confined his attention to cultivation of the weed in addition to keeping close tabs on the national and international aspects of the tobacco situation.

A graduate of the University of North Carolina, Mr. Lanier saw service in the world war as a commissioned officer. A year ago he was elected commander of the Pitt county post of the American Legion and was proposed as state commander by the post last year.

His intimate knowledge of tobacco both from the growing and marketing standpoint, combined with his legal talent eminently qualify him for the high post to which he has been selected and knowing the condition of the grower as he does, he should be able to do much for advancement of the industry in the new field.

LOCALS GRAB LEAGUE LEAD; TRIM AYDEN

Greenville today was tied with Snow Hill for first place after having defeated Ayden Saturday afternoon by the score of 14-4 while Kingston was taking Snow Hill in town on the Greene county boys' own home grounds.

The league leaders will not have a chance of testing their supremacy for top honors until next Friday when the locals visit the Greene county capital to attempt to knock Mule Shirley's proteges for a row of cocked hats.

Ayden will visit the local field Wednesday to furnish half holiday crowds with amusement for the afternoon.

Signon was in old time form at Ayden Saturday afternoon and let that club down with only eight hits which were so well scattered they were not able to be converted into additional runs.

While he was pitching straight ball in pitches, his teammates bumped Flythe, Johnson and Barbee for a total of 16 hits, the majority of which were converted into markers.

"Runt" Bostic grabbed batting honors for Greenville by connecting for five hits out of six trips to the plate. One of his drives went for two bases.

Miller, Smith, Dean and Harrington accounted for two bingles each, with Dean and Smith registering three-baggers.

Lambeth, Ayden short stop, was the big noise for his club connecting for three hits out of four trips to the plate. One of his drives went for two bases.

The box score follows:

Out of 632 times at bat Greenville players of the Coastal Plain League had obtained a total of 177 hits. The average for the entire club was reported as .280.

The way the boys are batting was presented in the weekly batting averages by Bert Moyer, official scorer-keeper of the local club.

"Lefty" Dean, one of the mound aces of the local club, led with the willow by obtaining 15 hits out of 36 trips to the plate. Hitting the ball to far corners of the field, Dean's counters were liberally interspersed with drives for extra bases.

In addition to pitching he plays outfield and first base at times as relief jobs.

Tommy Hicks occupied second place in the batting race, being credited with nine hits out of 24 trips to the rubber. We Say So, Too
London, July 17. — (AP) — The leaders of the World Conference have decided after long consideration that too many cooks spoil the broth.

Unless they change this view the conference which will take a recess on July 27 will not be reconvened in its entirety.

The belief that the parley should not be revived after the recess was voiced at this morning's meeting of the steering committee, it was understood. There is a growing feeling which at least some of the American delegation concur that the conference has consists it is so unwieldy that it blocks its own progress.

Pitt Prisoner Paroled.
Raleigh, July 17.—(AP)—Governor Ehringhaus today granted a 30-day reprieve to Bryant Stone, convicted in Wilkes county of the murder of his son-in-law, Wayne Cowan, and scheduled to die Friday at state's prison.

Edwin Gill, parole commissioner, also announced he would hold a hearing in the courthouse at Winston-Salem on Friday in the case of Eugene Hines, Forsyth county negro, sentenced to die for the murder of Lacy Witherspoon, another negro, in a fight over a negro woman. Hines was given a reprieve last week.

The governor announced the parole of Pete Ford, white man, sent to prison from Pitt county in September, 1928 to serve 15 to 20 years for murder in the second degree. The sentence was later commuted to 10 to 15 years, as the trial judge and solicitor have recommended a parole immediately.
