Government Ends Pig Buying Role For Poor Relief

MILLIONS ARE PAID OUT FOR PIG PURCHASE

$50,000,000 Invested In Hogs to be Used in Relief of Needy This Winter; 6,000,000 Pigs and 150,000 Farrow Hogs Bought by Government; New Control Program Nearing Completion

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29.—(AP)—After spending nearly $50,000,000, the government stepped out of its role as a buyer of pigs and sows today at the close of trading in the livestock centers.

By nightfall the Farm Administration expects to have as a result of a month's purchases nearly 6,000,000 pigs weighing up to 100 pounds or more, and more than 150,000 sows soon to farrow.

When the storage rooms of the packing plants which have been processed for swine, the administration will have on hand upward of 100,000,000 pounds of pork prepared for distribution to the needy by the Federal Relief Administration.

Already a new program aimed to control future production of hogs and corn is being set up, and is being completed by the administration.

It was due to be announced within the next ten days and contemplates no more government purchases, but payment of benefits to hog and corn growers in return for agreements to cut production.

Administrators will also make early announcement of the rate of the hog processing tax which will supply the fund for the purchasing program.

A tax of a half cent a pound has been under consideration for the purpose.

ASHEBORO FACTORY IS CLOSED BY STRIKE

Asheboro, Sept. 29.—Bosson's hosiery mill was closed late Wednesday on account of differences between the management and the employees. The trouble started two weeks ago when the third shift was laid off to comply with NRA requirements. A committee from the union conferred with the management but no agreement was reached and a strike was called. A 25 per cent increase in wages was asked and denied.

The union held a meeting in front of the mill this morning and was addressed by Lawrence Hogan, labor leader of High Point. About 200 were present.

The mill is being picketed by labor union representatives but there has been no disorders as yet.

Ocean Oil Springs Found

Los Angeles.—(AP)—The United States Geodetic Survey has located two oil springs in the ocean bed near Redondo Beach and Hermosa Beach. The springs in deep water cover the ocean with oil film with a diameter of more than a quarter of a mile and gas fumes above the springs are pronounced.

THINK ROBBER TOOK CAR HERE

Officers Probe Disappearance of Car Recovered Near Kinston Today

An automobile stolen from W. F. Owens here about a month ago was recovered by Sheriff Whitehurst near Kinston yesterday.

The car had been abandoned in the woods about a mile and a half from Kinston, but apparently was none the worse for being in the hands of thieves for a month.

Identity of the thief or thieves had not been established today but the sheriff was conducting an investigation on the strength of several tools found in the car.

An overcoat and a bunch of master's keys were also said to have been in the car, and the officer believed the tools belonged to robbers, probably some who have been operating in this part of the state.

The tools were believed to have formerly been the property of the Norfolk Southern Railway and an effort was under way to check up on as to when they disappeared and in what manner.

The car disappeared while parked in Owens' garage in the western section of the city. Nothing was heard of it until officers were notified that it was discovered in a dense growth of woods near the Lenoir county capital. Aside from being empty of gas and oil, the machine was said to be in good condition.

CUBA FACES NEW STRIKE

Communists Call Six Hour Strike as Tribute to Former Leader of Party

Havana, Cuba, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Another element in the complex Cuban political scene was projected into the foreground today as Communists demand for a six-hour general strike in Havana.

Other questions were put aside after a day of new labor disturbances and reports of racial and revolutionary troubles in the interior. The general strike was urged by the National Board of Confederation as a tribute to Julio Antonio Mella, a Communist leader, who was killed in Mexico in 1929 and was timed to coincide with the burial of his ashes.

Several merchants declared that their establishments would remain open, but street cars were to be stopped, and garage proprietors indicated their sympathy with the proposal. Communists attacked the government on the grounds that it continued to be a government of the bourgeoisie and continues threatening workers, paying American bankers and giving offices to former Machadoistas.

Revival Begins At Bethel Church

A series of revival services opened at the Baptist Church in Bethel last Wednesday and will continue through October 8.

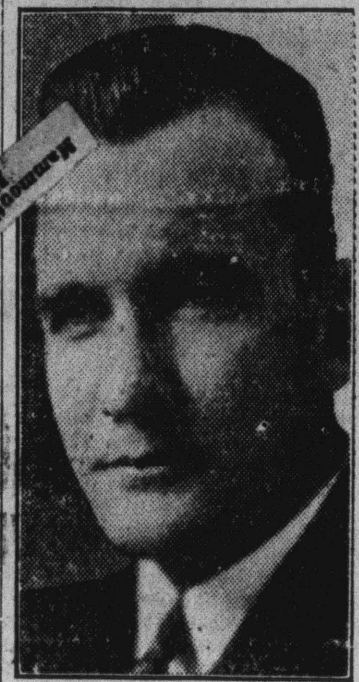

The services are being conducted by the pastor, Rev. Leslie Newman, and the singing is in charge of L. F. Lindsay, of Kinston.

Good crowds have been in attendance each night, including numbers of people from surrounding towns.

Hart the city streets for which are being sought regarding resurfacing and other improvements as part of the State projects under Federal highway appropriations. He promised to have a survey and findings committee here shortly. If necessary, and agreed to do all possible under the requests of Mayor Scott.

COUNTY DRIES ORGANIZE HERE

Dr. M. T. Frizzelle And Mrs. E. W. Harvey Candidates For Nov. Election

County-wide dry organization to oppose repeal of national prohibition in the November election was set up at a mass meeting at the courthouse here last night.

Representatives from the various townships of the various townships of the county were on hand and entered enthusiastically into consideration of the best far-reaching campaign since John Barlevorn was put in his grave many years ago.

Dr. M. T. Frizzelle, of Ayden, and Mrs. E. W. Harvey, of Greenville, were selected as candidates by the drys to be voted on in the November election.

Dr. R. H. Wright, president of East Carolina Teachers College, who was named county chairman at a meeting in Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church last Sunday, presided over the session last night, explained the nature of the meeting and declared he wanted Pitt County to vote dry in the November election regardless of what other sections did.

He asserted prohibition was not a political question, but a social one, affecting the millions of homes of the nation, and urged his hearers to go back to their individual communities and wage relentless campaign to see that the Eighteenth Amendment is retained as a part of the Constitution.

Although "key" men of the various townships have not been selected arrangements have been made for their selection, and representatives from the different precincts were urged to go back home, choose their chairman and get busy. The key men will consist of chairmen in each of the townships and the officers elected here last Sunday.

Officers of the organization said today they were greatly heartened by the good crowd in attendance last night and the interest manifested in the campaign and hoped to send drys to the polls in great numbers in November.

LABOR REBELS OVER NRA CODE

Organized Body Threaten to Appeal From Recovery Administration to Congress

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29.—(AP)—Organized labor today threatened to appeal from the NRA to Congress to secure a 30-hour work week in the Recovery Code.

William Green, president, gave this notice as a pre-convention gathering of some American Federation of Labor members.

Even then a number of NRA officials were considering the possibility of aiding them, realizing the President's stand on the wage raising and hour shortening effort so far as they could affect action to aid industries.

Green's 30-hour demand virtually elicited the absolute opposition of union labor to any such plan for the industry.

NRA officials giving thought to the problem also were quick to emphasize that the plan they are now drafting must be reviewed by Hugh S. Johnson before approaching the final drafting.

LEAF PRICES SHOW SLIGHT IMPROVEMENT

Medium and Better Grades Apparently Selling Better Here Today

An apparent strengthening of prices on medium and better grades was noted on the Greenville tobacco market today with low types holding about like they were.

Although the market was still congested with enormous offerings which growers have literally poured into the city throughout the week the situation was slightly improved over yesterday.

It was believed the glutted condition of the market would be relieved materially by completion of the week's sales this afternoon.

The market average price yesterday was some higher than the previous day and indications this morning were that it would be boosted still more with today's sales.

The official report of sales for yesterday, the week and season were made public today.

The market yesterday sold 1,522,942 pounds of tobacco for $170,727.40 at an average of $11.21 per hundred pounds.

For the week, the report showed sales totalling 7,102,046 for $804,152.46 at an average of $11.32 per hundred pounds.

For the season the market handled 9,795,712 pounds for $1,076,903.92 at an average of $11.16 per hundred pounds.

For the same week last season sales totaled 3,628,308 pounds for an average price of $10.71.

For the corresponding period last year 13,024,534 pounds of leaf was handled at an average price of $10.22 per hundred pounds.

CIVIL COURT CLOSES HERE

About Thirty Cases Disposed of During Term of Superior Court

After disposing of about thirty cases, the one-week civil term of Pitt County Superior Court came to a close today. The final session was given over to hearing of motions this morning.

This was the last sitting of the court until October 23 when a two-week civil and criminal term will convene.

Six or eight cases were completed yesterday, a half dozen of them going the compromise route after they had been called for hearing. Only one case of any importance was actually given consideration, it being that of the Greenville Development Company, developers of Chatham Circle, against the city of Greenville.

The development company contended the city owed it $1,020 for improvements made in the streets of the sub-division.

The city, on the other hand, contended that improvements made by the municipality since the section was annexed more than overbalanced the improvements made by the development company. It also contended the improvements were made by private interests when the district was not a part of the city.

The jury awarded the plaintiffs $24.80.

The jury was discharged yesterday afternoon after completing the damage suit, but Judge Harris remained in the city until today to hear motions from various attorneys.

Judge W. C. Harris, of Raleigh, presided over the term, exchanging benches with Judge J. Paul Frizzelle, of Snow Hill, who was in Raleigh this week hearing the Drake bank case.

LATVIAN FLIER RELIES ON JUNK-SALVAGED MOTOR

Paris.—(AP)—In a home-made airplane with a $6 motor salvaged from a junk dealer, Herbert Cukans, a Latvian reserve officer, hopes to fly from Le Bourget to Bathurst, Africa.

He picked Bathurst as his goal, because Latvia once had a colony there.

The entire airplane—wings, wheels, propeller and all—was made by Cukans in four years after he came across the motor in the Riga "flea market." It is an old 80-horsepower engine from a French airplane shot down during the war.

Four acres of ground on the farm of Emil Rudick, near Free Soil, Mich., yielded 250 bushels of wheat this year.

Late News Flashes From Over World

To Take Short Leaf Hours

Kinston, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Ernest V. Webb, president of the Eastern Carolina Warehousemen's Association, today said he was considering calling a meeting for sometime between now and Monday to pass on Governor Ehringhaus' request for a shortened sales day on the tobacco markets.

Webb said he felt sure the warehousemen would do anything the governor asked. He has been in communication with the governor.

FORD BESET BY TROUBLE

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 29.—(AP)—The Ford Motor Company, for many years free from strikes, today was beset by trouble in its assembly plant in Chester, Pa., Edgewater and Richmond, California.

There was a recent threat by Chester strikers to march to Dearborn and picket the Ford plant there. If they should try it would be the first such attempt by workmen.

Two marches on the Ford plant were started the past week, one resulting in four fatalities, but both were directed by avowed union sympathizers.

Ford officials announced yesterday they were returning to a five-day week, abandoning the four-day schedule which formed the basis of the strike complaint.

Central Bank Talked By Leaders At Capital

By BYRON PRICE (Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

Establishment of a United States central bank, owned and operated directly by the Federal government, is talked of among highest administration officials.

It is a step foreseen as a future possibility, rather than an immediate one. The discussion has gone so far, however, that the sentiment of industrial leaders is being canvassed quietly.

From the day that Mr. Roosevelt excoriated the "money changers" in his inaugural address, there has been much bad feeling between the administration and a large section of the banking world.

Some officials have indicated pretty plainly their conviction that the American banking system has ceased to function as intended. The cite the shortage of credit, at a time when credit is badly needed for business expansion, and when the banks have huge reserves in their vaults.

The bankers retort that the government itself has made lending very difficult, and in general has put the banking community into an impossible position.

Whoever may be right about this, the significant fact is that the conhousemen would do anything the governor asked. He has been in communication with the governor.

PITT SEEKING ROAD PAVING

Delegation Visits Raleigh to Boost Improvement of Bethel-Oak City Road

A delegation of Pitt County people went to Raleigh today to attend a meeting of the State Highway Commission and urge the paving of that stretch of road from Bethel to Oak City.

M. K. Blount, former State Senator from this county, was to act as spokesman for the committee. Having been born and reared in Bethel, Mr. Blount is familiar with the needs of the people of the community and will tell the Commission of the economic value of the paving of the road to the people of that territory as well as other sections of the State.

The Commission was to sit this morning at 10:30 o'clock.

The delegation was composed of M. O. Blount, of Bethel, and the following Greenville men:

S. T. White, J. E. Winslow, M. K. Blount, A. B. Corey, Jack Edwards, R. L. Powell, W. H. Hall, and J. H. Blount.

DAVIS GIVES $25 TO FUND

Farmville Man Makes Liberal Gift to Storm Sufferers on The Coast

Contributions to the Red Cross fund for storm sufferers along the North Carolina coast were swelled to $140 today by the receipt of a check for $25 from R. L. Davis, prominent business man of Farmville.

This was by far the largest individual contribution yet recorded and was received with gratification by members of the organization here.

W. J. Bundy, chairman of the Red Cross, again reminded the public of the suffering of people who were rendered hungry and homeless when the hurricane struck the coast two weeks ago, and urged liberal giving to the cause.

Although rehabilitation work has been pushed forward as rapidly as possible, much suffering still exists in the fishing villages which bore the brunt of the storm and relief imperative if disease is prevented from following in the wake of the storm.

T. Y. Walker, manager of State Theatre, announced today a midnight show would be given at 11:30 Tuesday night, the entire proceeds to be given to the storm fund.

A feature picture and specialty numbers by local talent will be presented during the show. A gay program was promised those who attend.

Cotton Ginning Drops in Pitt

Ginning of cotton in Pitt county prior to September 16 showed a slight drop compared with the corresponding period last year, a report from the Bureau of the Census today showed.

The report showed that 1,380 bales had been ginned this year as compared with 1,623 bales last season.

CAN APPLY FOR LOANS TO THE COUNTY AGENTS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29.—(AP)—The Farm Credit Administration announced today that residents of the storm-stricken counties of Carter, Craven and Pamlico in North Carolina may make applications for loans to county agricultural agents.

"Prompt action" will be given by the Federal Land Bank at Columbia, S. C., officials said. The action was taken to aid relief agencies in rehabilitation work in the section after the recent hurricane.

The average cost of a trip on an airplane in Continental United States is 6-10 cents a mile, says the Department of Commerce.

SAYS HEAVY SALES HOLD DOWN PRICES

Ehringhaus Declares Flooded Markets Overcome Facilities Of Buying Companies and Damage Tobacco; No Indication Warehousemen Will Take; Fear Situation Will Grow Worse

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 29.—(AP)—Tobacco warehousemen who nearly a month ago co-operated in a voluntary sales holiday proclaimed by Governor Ehringhaus today had a request from the governor to reduce auction sales from seven to five hours a day.

Believing the flooded markets to be the cause of the decreasing tobacco prices, particularly since the three-week holiday ended last Monday, Governor Ehringhaus today urged warehousemen to co-operate in the movement to curtail hours beginning October 2.

"I am informed," the governor said in the formal statement, "that the markets have been flooded to such an extent this week that requiring facilities of the buyers have resulted in a further depression of prices. It is feared this situation will grow even worse unless remedied."

There was no indication today what action warehousemen would take, although thus far they have co-operated to the fullest extent in the governor's effort to bring higher prices for tobacco. Also there was no indication as to whether the South Carolina warehousemen would be asked to follow a similar course.

Meanwhile as the five-day tobacco week drew to a close there was little change in prices which were a little higher than when the holiday was declared and below the part prices of 17 cents as sought by the Farm Administration.

FILES HIS ANSWER TO $75,000 DAMAGE SUIT

Greensboro, N. C., Sept. 29.—Victor Levy, Greensboro manufacturer, today filed his answer to the $75,000 damage suit brought recently in Guilford Superior Court by the administrator of J. E. Harden, manager of the Cone Mills, who was fatally hurt in the wrecking of Levy's car near Mprehead City in June.

Levy's answer is to deny that he was responsible for Harden's having been in his machine. He said Harden and Harry Dribben, New York man who was killed in the wreck, had made a special request for the loan of the car and that neither was an agent or acting for Levy, but both were purely and solely responsible to themselves in the matter.

Harden's administrator had charged Levy with criminal neglect in permitting the two men to use the car when Levy was said to have known it had a faulty tire.

ACCUSED OF BURNING PARAMOUNT TO DEATH

Charlotte, Sept. 29.—(AP)—"Pee Wee" Walker, Negro, tied Mattie May Gillespie, Negro woman he lived with, to the wall of her home drenched her clothes with kerosene and set them afire, a witness testified today at a coroner's inquest into the woman's death.

Dora Lee, Negro, was the witness. She said that while Mattie May's clothes were burning Walker kissed the woman and said "Goodbye honey." Mattie May burned to death early Monday.

Walker was held for trial in Superior Court.

NAZISM POSES QUANDRY FOR EUROPE'S PREACHERS

Berlin.—(AP)—The problems raised in Central Europe by Nazism were illustrated by two news items in one day's paper:

Father Thoma, parish priest of Schonach, Germany, was arrested for speaking ill of the Nazis.

Father Pirchegger of Graz, Austria, was arrested for speaking well of the Nazis.

CATS CAUSE TAR HEELS SOME WORRY

Chapel Hill, N. C., Sept. 29.—The Carolina football squad will present several brightly shining stars to Big Five gridiron society here Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, but whether the Tar Heel attack will click as a well-oiled machine against Davidson is another matter which is giving Head Coach Collins a good bit of worry.

The Davidson wingback in motion, who clips linemen with a ruthless finality that makes them wish they had stood by and let the Wildcats run, has been giving the Tar Heel ends and tackles great difficulty in practice this week.

Although this is one of the strongest points in the new attack Coaches Newton and McEver are bringing to Chapel Hill Saturday, the Wildcats used the formation on only one or two occasions when in scoring territory last Saturday. Eton was taken in low with Johnny MacKorell, their ace back, out of the line-up, and without showing more than a glimpse of the new attack they are saving for Carolina.

As if this weren't enough, Coach Collins also has plenty of worries about the Tar Heel attack. This week's work has been marked by a complacency of attitude which may be disastrous if it is to be taken as a sign of over-confidence. The coaches' big hope is that the players will be fresh and rested in good shape and anxious to go places Saturday, as a result of the lighter work this week.

It is still doubtful whether Big Bill Collins will be ready to go at right tackle Saturday. The star tackle has been laid up all week with a severe cold. If he is missing his place will be taken by "Babe" Daniel, a big husky who has been showing considerable ability, but a sophomore without seasoning under fire.

Present indications are that Daniel and Bill Moore, who has been looking best among the centers, will be the only sophomores in the starting line.

The other five members are all lettermen. The big guns of the forward wall are George Brandt, a senior at the right flank and a particularly brilliant defensive player and pass receiver, and George Barclay and Eddie Kahn, regulars at guard last year and this.

Among the backs who are being looked to for the most fireworks are Captain Bill Croom, who averaged a cool five yards a try last year; Charlie Woolen, a heady quarterback and a long-range kicker; Henry Burnett, veteran halfback and southpaw punter; and Dick Jackson, Jim McCochren, and Al McDonald, who form a likely trio of galloping youngsters.

Interest is running high here with plans being made to have a large cheering section join the University's 70-piece band in urging the Tar Heels on to victory.

Advance seat sales indicate an unusually large crowd for an opening game. There has been a heavy demand for season tickets which have been reduced 50 per cent.

Crochet Predicts Tennis Open Will Rival Davis Cup

Paris.—(AP)—A tennis "Open" which will rival the Davis Cup in importance is not far off, in the opinion of Henri Cochet.

The Great French net star threw this statement back at the French Lawn Tennis Federation recently after he had successfully turned to force the Federation into letting him play against Big Bill Tilden as an amateur.

"A cup for an 'Open' tournament soon will be created," he said the day he signed a contract with Tilden. "A cup which will form a pendant for the Davis Cup and the reputation of which will soon equal that of the Davis Cup."

Ability Alone Important
"On a court, racket in hand, whether 'pro' or 'pure,' champions are champions and their value alone is important."

Times have changed, the man who ruled the tennis world for several years added and "soon there will be no distinction between amateurs and professionals. There will be just players—good ones and bad ones, perhaps—but just players."

Cochet tried to bring the "Open" controversy to a head by announcing that he would play in a Franco-American match at Roland-Garros stadium with the Tilden troupe, but as an amateur. This puzzled French fans, but it didn't puzzle the tennis federation very long.

Lacoste in Accord
An emphatic "NO" was transmitted to Henri, when then turned professional and left a wide gap in French hopes for recapturing the Davis Cup. Cochet may never again play his best game, but he should be good for many years of high class "racketeering."

Rene Lacoste, captain of the French Davis Cup squad, in accord with Cochet. He says that "Open" are near at hand and that they will be important. He praised Cochet for not turning professional two years ago when he was master of tennis and for waiting until after France had lost the Davis Cup.

Alaska's mining school at Fairbanks has attracted students from Washington and Oregon, a distance of more than 3,000 miles.

MONTIE WEAVER

This is the ninth of a series of sketches on individual stars of the New York Giants and Washington Senators, world series rivals.

Washington, D. C.—The ailing right arm of Montie Weaver came around this season when Manager Joe Cronin and the Nationals were beginning to despair over their pitching staff.

"On August 5," says Cronin, "when Montie took the mound and beat the Red Sox and then four days later came back and trimmed the Yankees—that was one of the happiest weeks of my life."

Montie had proved a sensation in 1932 when he signalized his first year in the majors by winning 22 games. He was of little value to the Nationals for the first part of the 1933 campaign because of illness. But in August he returned to form and began showing the stuff that made him feared a year ago.

Montie pitches either side arm or overhand. His curve ball has been described as one of the best and should keep the Giants worried.

He quit the class-room where he was teaching geometry in the University of Virginia to take up baseball as a career.

He made his debut with the Baltimore club in 1930 and was sold to Washington for the 1932 campaign. Montie is another of those North Carolina pitchers, having been born in Hilton, N. C., June 15, 1908. He is a six-footer and weighs 175 pounds. He bats left.

OAKS STEAL THREE BASES GET FOUR WALKS IN INNING

Oakland, Calif.—(AP)—Although Oakland batters drew four walks, stole three bases and collected a sacrifice hit in one inning, they didn't score in that frame in a game against Seattle.

It was this way: Malho walked and stole second; Delivero sacrificed; Uhalt walked and stole second; Pool was walked and Uhalt was out off second; Pool stole second; Veltman was walked, and Lavagetto forced Veltman at second.

TRADITION GIVEN WALLOP AT INDIANA UNIVERSITY

Bloomington, Ind.—(AP)—College tradition has been given a mighty wallop, so far as Indiana University is concerned, by the State's division of public health.

Jordan River, flowing through the campus and around which nearly all Indiana tradition is founded, is not a river but a drainage ditch, "a stagnated series of polluted pools," and with its crumbling stone retaining walls ought to be covered over forever, the division has declared.

It is in Jordan River that upper classmen have ducked the freshmen, it was after Jordan River that the university named its old athletic field, it was to Jordan River that campus authors dedicated plays, books, songs, pageants and musical shows.

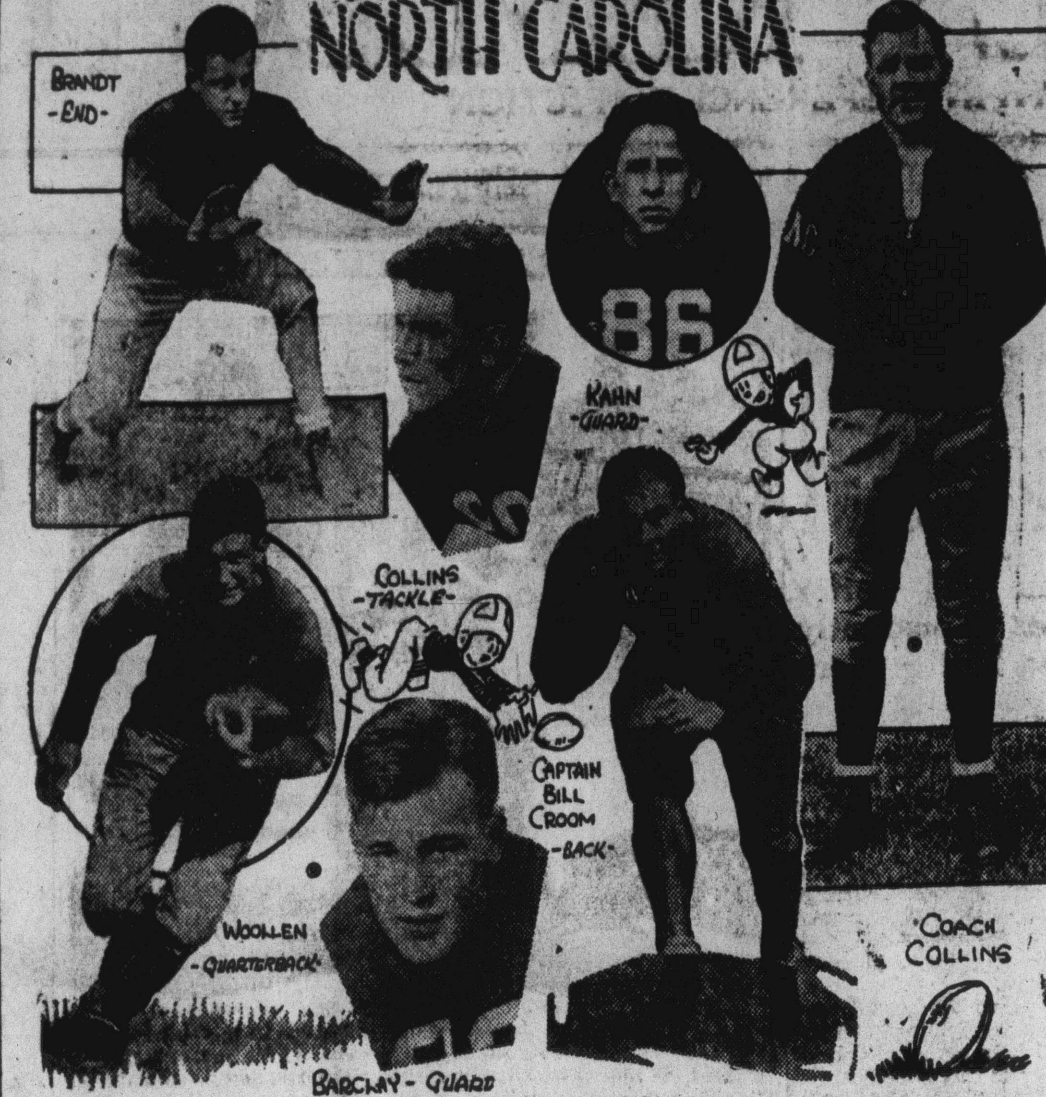

FARM BOY PITCHER PUTS QUIETOUS ON JOE HAUSER

Minneapolis.—(AP)—Marvin Denzer, a country pitcher who heaves hay and attends to other farm duties six days a week and plays ball on Sunday, has done something few American Association hurlers accomplished this year.

Facing Joe Hauser, who had just set a new home record for professional baseball, the rural moundsman held Joe hitless in four times at bat in an exhibition contest at Wilmar, Minn., between the Minneapolis club and an amateur league nine.

Hauser, the leading slugger in minor league baseball, tops the American Association in home runs, runs scored, runs batted in, and total bases—but to Denzer he was just another fellow with a bat.

Collection of the Louisiana five-cent gasoline tax totaled $3,294,539.24 for the first six months of 1933.

OUT LINES—SPORTS
Barrying injuries, these players are certain to see plenty of action in Carolina's opening game with Davidson at 2:30 o'clock in Kenan Stadium at Chapel Hill next Saturday.
Dean of the Big Five coaches, Coach Collins, who starred at end on the famed 1924 "Four Horsemen" team at Notre Dame is beginning his eighth year at Carolina.
Captain Bill Croom is regarded as one of the most dangerous backs in the state. He averaged better than five yards a try with the ball last year and is expected to prove a fine leader this season.
George Barclay is hailed as the finest guard to come up at Carolina since the All-Southern Ray Farris. He is a powerful boy of 180 pounds and a former star at Kiski.
Eddie Kahn makes a fine running mate for Barclay. Weighing 10 pounds more, he is fast at charging and leading interference, and is just as hard a tackler as Barclay.
Big Bill Collins, who plays right tackle, stands 6 feet 3, weighs 210 pounds, and is one of the most powerful men in Southern football. Bill is a brother of the head coach.
George Brandt is Carolina's brilliant right end. He is also a letterman in basketball and captain-elect of next year's baseball team. Brandt is one of the best pass receivers in the state, and the defensive exhibition he put up against Duke last year goes down in history as one of the finest performances in this state.
Charlie Woolen, Jr., is the Tar Heels' heady field general and one of its leading punters.

STATE WILL PLAY CRACK GA. TEAM

College Station, Raleigh, Sept. 29.—Coach Clipper Smith will send his State College Wolfpack through a final workout here this afternoon before the squad boards the train tonight at 10 o'clock for Athens, Ga. where it will meet the University of Georgia Saturday.

Although the Pack will board train at 10 tonight the train will not leave Union Station until three in the morning. The players will arrive in Athens around 3 in the afternoon Friday and Smith expects to hold a night workout there a short time after arriving.

Coach Smith has not announced a starting team for the Bulldogs game and neither has he indicated who would make the trip. It is thought however, that the Pack mentor will start in the line, Kenneth Stephens and Raymond Redding, ends; Vence Farrar and Clifton Daugherty, tackles; John Sanko and Carl Bernhardt, guards, and Steve Sabol, center. The backfield will be Capt. Mope Cumskey, fullback; Bob McQuase, left halfback; Bo Bohannon, right halfback, and Don Wilson, at quarter.

This combination is the same as started the Oatawaa game last week and gives Coach Smith eight monogram players, one junior and two sophomores. Farrar and Sabol are the first year men and Bernhardt, the junior.

Bob McQuase, State's great triple threat halfback, will do the kicking and most of the passing that is done Saturday. Cumskey has looked impressive in his line smashes this week and the Bulldogs will find him hard to stop. Don Wilson, stumpy but a hard driving quarter, will also be watched. He is State's ace blocker.

Kenneth Stephens and Raymond Redding will be the line stars Georgia will have trouble handling. It is the first time in the history of football that the two schools have met on the gridiron.

Michigan Boasts Great All-Time Mark in Big Ten

Iowa City, Iowa.—(AP)—The story of the rise and fall of Big Ten football teams throughout the history of gridiron competition has been chronicled for the first time by Frederic S. Beebe of the University of Iowa athletic department.

It is a tale of teams which swept from the conference cellar to championships in one meteoric season, of teams which never has won a championship, of teams which bloomed with promise at the opening of seasons and withered before November—and of others which waited long years to attain first place.

Michigan, with twelve championships, has been the only consistent winner and holds a wide margin over all other Western Conference schools with a percentage of .761.

Chicago's Glorious Past
Chicago, weak in recent years, piled up a percentage of .592 to rank second. The Maroons were strongest in the early years of the century, winning undisputed titles in 1907, 1908, and 1913. Their total of conference games played, 226, is higher than any other school's.

Minnesota, a potent representative before 1916, ranks third with a .585 percentage. The Gophers won or started eight championships from 1900 to 1915. Wisconsin, a championship winner four times, was fourth with a .556 percentage.

Purdue's First Title in 1930
Purdue and Northwestern, among the most dangerous teams in the conference in recent years, rang seventh and eighth in the all-time standing. Purdue won its first title in 1929, while the Wildcats shared their first with Michigan in 1926.

Iowa, a conference leader in 1900, remained in the background twenty-one years before repeating. Under Howard Jones the Hawkeyes were undefeated in 1921 and 1922.

"There's One Sure Way to Compare Tobacco Fertilizer"

W. Burroughs
PRESIDENT, F. S. ROYSTER GUANO COMPANY

SEE if this doesn't sound like common sense to you. Look at the tobacco on the warehouse floor. Pick out the finest quality—the highest priced. Then ask which fertilizer was used. When you find that Royster fertilized tobacco is of superior quality and brings a higher price—then it stands to reason that Royster is the tobacco fertilizer for you to use. We ask you to make this fair comparison because it is the one sure way to judge fertilizer—by results. And Royster results speak for themselves from the warehouse floor.

Remember this: Royster Tobacco Fertilizer is made in one quality only—the best that money can buy at any price. That high standard is maintained by Royster experts who are constantly studying the tobacco plant—finding out all there is to know about its plant food needs—from the time the plant beds are sown until the crop is in the barn. These men of long experience locate, test and refine all materials to make sure that only the best obtainable go into Royster sacks. Year after year they check up through actual field tests—to make certain that every sack of Royster Tobacco Fertilizer contains the correct combination of materials to produce the finest quality leaf.

After nearly fifty years of successful results, no wonder we ask you to compare Royster fertilized tobacco with the rest of the tobacco on the warehouse floor. This easy test is the best salesman we have.

Many Thrills Are Offered by World Circus

The following comment concerning World Brothers-Buffalo Bill Show which appears here tomorrow was carried in the Portsmouth Star:

"The combined World Brothers-Buffalo Bill Wild West three-ring circus which arrived in town yesterday and gave its matinee performance this afternoon at 2 o'clock on the lot located at High Street and the Belt Line Railroad offers more than the usual thrills for the spectators."

"Exceptionally thrilling and entertaining too, was the performance of Doreto, the magic wire walker who is able to maintain his equilibrium on a wire better than most folks on the ground. Doreto's imitation of a drunk, in which he capers about freely, kept the spectators thrilled from beginning to end."

"Another entertaining feature was the performance of the Hood sisters, one eight and the other nine years of age. The contortionists, these little girls are better than many much older performers who have been seen here, and their act draws hearty applause from the hundreds of spectators gathered for the matinee performance."

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. J. H. Blount, served a delicious two-course luncheon, after which all the members declared it was even nicer than a trip to be back together.

ROUND TABLE CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. HIGGS

After about four months vacation the members of the Round Table Club met with Mrs. J. W. Higgs on Dickinson avenue Tuesday afternoon.

The decorations were lovely roses and calendulas. We were delighted to have as our guest Mrs. Davis, who has recently made Greenville her home.

Mrs. J. H. Rose, president of the club, presided.

After the usual routine of business, Mrs. H. E. Austin, chairman of the program committee, announced that Mrs. Rose would entertain us with "Changes in Religious Thought."

Mrs. Rose said that she had changed her subject to "Religion in a Changing Church," and with great interest we listened as she gave a vivid interpretation of the subject.

She portrayed youth's challenge to the church and the great need of a reformation and how a great revolution was going on, the crisis science and democracy, science the most outstanding.

We are now living in a most wonderful age. The essence of religion remains the same. We are now in the throes of industrial democracy.

We account for the growing indifference of women is because of their political careers and other worthwhile things expressing religious work in other lines. We should give more interest to the church, more members of the right kind are needed. Unselfish devotion would promote a great crusade.

Mrs. Rose called for a discussion of the subject and Mrs. Hillman responded in well chosen words and suggested that Mrs. Rose's paper be given to the Ministerial Association, to which all agreed readily.

Summer reminiscences were indulged in and greatly enjoyed. The visits were varied and most interesting.

A delicious ice course was served.

MRS. SPILMAN HOSTESS TO END OF THE CENTURY CLUB

The End of the Century Club met Tuesday afternoon, September 26th at the home of Mrs. J. B. Spilman.

The members were greeted by Mrs. Spilman in a most cordial and happy manner. The home was lovely with its decorations of many colorful flowers which was a perfect setting for the happy reunion of club members from their summer vacation.

After the club was called to order the president, Mrs. Spilman, presided over a short business meeting. The members were too eager to tell of their trips to spend much time on old or new business.

Through the different members we were carried over various parts of the country from seashore to mountains and into many different states—Mrs. W. S. Harden told most interestingly of an historic church—and of her visit in Georgia.

Mrs. B. W. Moseley gave a very vivid description of her visit to the mountains of North Carolina. Mrs. E. W. Harvey briefly told of a visit she made to Mt. Mitchell. Each of the other members gave most interesting news.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. J. H. Blount, served a delicious two-course luncheon, after which all the members declared it was even nicer than a trip to be back together.

My Beauty Hint

By REGINA WALLACE (Stage Actress)

In the use of eye shadow one should consider costume as well as complexion. The shade of eye shadow should complement the color of the gown. For instance, a touch of green shadow goes best with a red gown, or a light blue tint is most suitable with white.

By NANCY RYAN (Stage Actress)

One of the important gifts necessary to an actress is the ability to walk gracefully. It enhances one's attractiveness immeasurably. Borrowing a hint from native women of the tropics, one can add beauty to one's walk by practicing strolling across a room while balancing a large object, such as a basket, atop the head. Not only will it give rhythm and style to the walk, but it also improves posture.

too liberally on insecure collateral. The bitterness of this controversy may easily have a long-term effect, quite aside from the immediate issues involved. The administration in contemplating new banking legislation next session, and those who are framing it are not in a mood at this moment to deal over-generously with the present banking set-up.

Just Waking Up

The troubles Mr. Roosevelt is having with other powerful members of the financial community just now arise from the fact that many industrial leaders are just waking up to the significance of the recovery program.

When the recovery act was before Congress, there was little business opposition to it. The now-celebrated clause guaranteeing labor the right of collective bargaining went through with hardly any notice from the usually alert business lobbies in Washington.

Many industrial leaders grow more and more thoughtful day by day as they see the large employer asked to take sacrifices all along the line, while millions of laborers improve their lot.

Some of these leaders regard the whole process as nothing but a step toward "redistribution of wealth"—which they naturally abhor.

See Drastic Move

The prediction is being heard today in capital tea-table gossip that if too many great financial and commercial concerns continue to stand in the way of the administration purposes the President will gravitate more and more toward the radical school of economic thought and action.

Of course no one pretends to know whether that surmise is correct, but it is interesting that the prediction is not new. When Mr. Roosevelt was elected, many of his supporters felt he would try to get big business to go along, but if it refused to follow his leadership would declare war. The next few months should see the question answered.

Restrictions On Credit Retard Work of NRA

By BYRON PRICE (Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

The Roosevelt recovery plan has met its fittestly big disappointment in the failure of the banks to loosen credit restrictions during the September prosperity drive.

The administration had hoped that its appeal to patriotism, plus the normal seasonal urge, would induce more liberal lendings, so that many billions now idle in bank vaults could be put to work to help small merchants meet the costs of construction and quicken the commercial pulse generally.

Nothing of the kind has happened. In spite of as blunt words as the government ever addressed to bankers, Washington has about concluded that if more credit is to be provided the government will have to do the providing. Plans to that end probably will be announced shortly.

'Sideline' Rule Most Important Change in Code

New York.—(AP)—The most important change in the football playing code for this season easily is the new rule by which the ball is moved in 10 yards from the sideline every time it is downed closer than that to the boundary, in the opinion of Bill Langford, secretary of the rules committee.

"It has been apparent for several years that the width of the playing field—160 feet—was not sufficient to permit the full strategical values which the rules contemplate," Langford said.

Will Popularize Laterals

"Heretofore only when the ball went out of bounds over the sideline was it brought in, the distance then being 15 yards, whereas a ball which became dead near a sideline was put in play from that spot. That almost invariably meant the loss of the succeeding down. A gain was practically impossible and the team with the ball deliberately ran it out of bounds in order to gain leeway for succeeding plays."

The new rule, Langford believes, will have the effect of popularizing the lateral pass and thereby open up the defense, which has been increasingly difficult to pierce near the goal line.

"Lateral passing has been on a constricted scale," he said. "Largely because of the fear the ball would be downed close to the sideline. Because most of our bowls are surrounded with concrete and steel stands it would have been impracticable to increase the lateral dimension of the playing field, but this change will have the effect of accomplishing the same result."

Reduce Penalty For Clipping

The only other change of importance in the code is the broadening of the definition of "clipping," so that blocking by running or diving into the back of a player who is not carrying the ball now constitutes a foul.

The penalty for clipping was reduced to 15 yards from the point of the foul, in the belief that officials will be less hesitant in calling fouls than with the former heavy penalty of 25 yards.

King Tut's Curse

Paris.—(AP)—Friends of J. F. Cellerier, noted French research scientist, are wondering if he is the latest victim of King Tut-ank-amen's vengeance on the excavators of his tomb.

Cellerier has lost the use of his left eye as a result of ultra-violet ray tests on a small wooden statue from an ancient Egyptian funeral chamber, sent to him by Henri Verne, director of national museums.

In the test, he was astonished to observe "an exceptional luminosity" emanating from the figure. Shortly afterward he felt a pain in his left eye, from which he eventually lost the sight.

He did not dare blame the strange brilliancy of the statue, said his official report, "although it certainly had been coated with an unknown organic substance." He hopes to regain the use of his eye on a month's leave of absence from the national physical testing laboratory, of which he is director.

INVENTOR 'LISTENS IN' TO HOUSEFLIES' TALK

Heisingers.—(AP)—Communication between two houseflies has been registered by a new type of sound-camera, says the inventor, Scheinert Larsen, a young Norwegian student, who demonstrated at the Northern Entomological congress in Oslo.

"The apparatus is so sensitive that it is able to register the beating of a fly's wings, even if they are moving at the rate of 10,000 beats a minute. The inventor stated he had successfully 'listened in' to insects that conversed by rubbing their feelers one against another."

Outrageous Fortune
 by Patricia Wentworth

SYNOPSIS: A dazed man picked up after the wreck of the Alice Arden is identified by Neta Riddell as her husband, Jimmy Riddell, and taken to Neta's brother's home in Liddington. He has been talking in his sleep of emeralds and murder. Shortly after his removal from the hospital, Caroline Leto, calls there, thinking he may be her distant cousin, Jim Riddell. She is leaving, disappointed, when the nurse recalls a scrap of a letter in the man's pocket, with the signature "Caroline." So Caroline continues her apparently hopeless search. Meanwhile the man awakes and is told by Neta that he has stolen the famous Van Berg emerald—although he remembers nothing back of his awakening. Now Neta describes their meeting and the beginning of the Van Berg job.

CHAPTER 11
 "YOU SHOT VAN BERG"

NESTA laughed.

"Well, that's where I came in. You tried pretty hard to make me believe you were crazy about me, but you needn't imagine I was such a fool as to believe you. You were crazy about the emeralds, and you needn't have troubled to make love to me, because I'd taken the length of your foot in the first five minutes."

"But you married me."

"Did you think I was going to trust you? I married you because I meant to get my share."

"And why did I marry you?" said Jim Riddell pleasantly.

Nesta colored high.

"For what you could get out of me," she said. "You wanted my help, and you thought it was safer."

"It's very interesting," said Jim. "Won't you go on?"

"Interesting!" She struck her cigarette against the arm of the chair and sent the ash flying.

"Very. Do you mind telling me how you helped?"

"I was staying with old Caroline Bussell. I've known her all my life—she's some sort of twenty eighth cousin. She's been housekeeper at the Hall since the year one, and she does what she likes with Mr. Est-whistle. When you spoke to me that day in the drive—"

"Yes?"

"I was going to go next day, because the Van Bergs were coming. I will say you had a nerve."

"What did I do?"

She stared at him resentfully.

"Why you got me to work it so that I stared on. It was quite easy for old Caroline. She said I was her cousin and the Van Bergs didn't care. And then—"

"And then?"

"She reached out for another cigarette, struck a match, and looked at him over the little yellow flame."

"Are you trying to make me believe I'm telling you something you don't know?"

"I can't make you believe anything," said Jim.

She threw the match into the grate just short of the spangled shavings.

"Oh, have it your own way! Do you want me to tell you how you pinched the emerald?"

He had himself well in hand. He said coolly:

"I stole them?"

Nesta laughed.

"You make me tired, Jimmy Riddell! You stole them?" She tried to mimic his voice. "Do you think you can act the innocent with me like that after the way I've heard you talk in your sleep? Why, you've never stopped talking, and if I hadn't got you out of that hospital in double quick time, we should all have been inside." She laughed again at his blank look and flung out: "Jug—oh—stir! Haven't ever done time, I suppose? Well you will over this if you don't cure yourself of talking at night."

MORE MONEY IF YOU HOLD BACK

Indications are today that the congested condition on the tobacco markets is winding and it is to be hoped that it is not just a temporary lull before another big rush next week. Governor Ehringhaus from the very start has urged the growers not to rush the market and we add our plea to what has already been said on the subject. Of course we realize that many of the growers are placed in the position that they must sell some of their crop to derive some needed cash but if there is any possible way around it, do not continue to rush the markets. It is our honest opinion that prices will be better after the rush is over and there is opportunity to place your tobacco on the market and sell it the same day while it looks its best. We believe the farmer who holds his tobacco until the present congestion is over will make money by so doing and we are sure that our farmers need and want to get every cent out of their crop possible.

HE LEANED FORWARD WITH HIS ELBOW ON HIS KNEE AND HIS CHIN IN HIS HAND.

"You say I took these emeralds?"

"I say you did—and I'll say it was a pretty nippy bit of work. Pity you shot him, though."

He jerked away from the word.

"What are you saying?"

"You shouldn't have carried a gun," said Nesta maliciously. "I said so all along."

He got up. His spine had gone cold. He felt the sweat break out upon his temples.

"What's that you're saying?"

Nesta got up, too.

"I'm saying that you shot Mr. Van Berg."

He went over to the mantelpiece, leaning on it with his two hands, his head bent between them, his eyes staring blankly at the spangled shavings in the grate.

What nightmare was this? He had broken into a house, stolen property, shot a man for a handful of green

 By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

"I know what I'll do!" Willy Nilly exclaimed. "I have an idea."

He rushed back to his house where Rip and Top Notch were sleeping soundly. Christopher was perched on the porch outside waiting to see what Willy Nilly was going to do.

"I'll let them sleep," said Willy Nilly. "They're tired out and they can't help me." He went over to his tool box and picked out a big shovel. Then he went outside again.

"Aren't you going to take the time to dry off?" asked Christopher Columbus Crow. "Wading through all this water isn't going to help you any."

"I haven't time to think about that," said Willy Nilly. "I must get those Bears out of their cave. I can't rest until I do."

He went back to the cave and began shoveling the muddy, watery earth around the cave. It was soft and slushy and Willy Nilly worked quickly, but the work was so huge that it was hard to move.

He pushed and pushed and pushed and still it wouldn't move.

"Why don't you make a deeper hole on one side," suggested Christopher, "so the rock will fall over."

into it. The rock can lose its balance as much as anyone."

"That's a fine idea," said Willy Nilly. So he made a big hole on one side of the rock and at last the rock fell over. Now the entrance to the cave was clear.

Willy Nilly went inside.

"Honey Bear! Jelly Bear! Are you all right?" he shouted. But only silence answered him.

The Sound Sleepers
 By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

Willy Nilly's heart sank when no answer came from the Bears.

"They probably have starved or have been suffocated," he thought sadly. He went deeper into the cave. It was dark, but now he could dimly see the two Bears huddled together.

"They were probably terrified," thought Willy Nilly, "and clung together to the very last."

And there, in the darkness, Willy Nilly sat down and sobbed.

Suddenly one big furry body stirred, then another moved. Then came a low growl, followed by a second low growl.

"Is that you, Willy Nilly?" Jelly Bear asked. "Is it time to get up? Has it stopped raining?"

"Time to get up! Stopped raining!" repeated Willy Nilly. "We've had a terrible flood and the whole countryside is still under water. Have you slept through it all?"

"I don't know how long we've slept," said Jelly Bear, "but we certainly do feel very much rested."

"Oh, I've had a marvelous sleep," said Honey Bear. "There's nothing like a gentle rain to soothe one to sleep."

"A gentle rain!" exclaimed Willy Nilly. "So that's what you think we've had. Come outside with me and you'll see, and we'll tell you what has happened."

Lazily, sleepily, the Bears trundled after Willy Nilly, splashing through the water back to his house while the Crow flew overhead.

They listened to the account of the flood, they could see much that had happened, but all they said was: "We could stand a second helping of food."

DRYS OF NASH COUNTY EFFECT ORGANIZATION

Nashville, N. C., Sept. 28.—The dry forces of Nash County were organized in a meeting held in the courthouse here with S. F. Austin, Nashville attorney, as head. Other officers elected were: Mrs. H. M. Finch, of Rocky Mount, vice-president, and A. S. Ballard, of Nashville, secretary. The principal address of the occasion was made by Mrs. Frances Rentrow Doak, of Raleigh, who discussed the advantages of the Eighteenth Amendment and made a plea against its repeal. Mr. Austin also

GREENVILLE MARKET REPORT

The market sold yesterday 1,522,942 pounds for $170,727.40 and average price of $11.21 which was 62 cents per hundred higher than Wednesday's average price. Competition among the buyers appeared more spirited today on some of the grades indicating improvement in prices.

Considerable damaged tobacco continues to show up.

In so far as the Greenville Tobacco Market is concerned, there is being displayed a splendid spirit of cooperation with the Government in advancing the prices, and we confidently believe that a close approach to parity prices will prevail for the season's average.

You will not find the tobacco buyers on any market cooperating in every way more splendidly than the buying forces on the Greenville Tobacco Market. This fact alone is more responsible for Greenville being the world's largest Tobacco market than any one factor. When such conditions as this exist on a tobacco market, better prices for the growers is always the result.

We advise against rushing your tobacco to the market as we believe prices will strengthen as the season progresses.

The Board of Trade does not permit under penalty of $50.00 fine, any warehouseman to reserve floor space for anyone. The principle of first come first served under the By-Law must be carried out.

Tune in on Greenville's Radio Station WEED every day (except Sunday) at 9:45 A. M., 12:45 P. M. and 5:45 P. M., for latest tobacco market reports. Will find it on your dial around 142 or 1420.

The WORLD of STAMPS

By QUINTON JAMES
The design made by a young Dublin artist, R. J. King, is being used on the new stamp issue of the Irish Free State in commemoration of Holy Year.

In two denominations, two-penny for inland postage and three-penny for foreign, the stamps will replace the present issue. The designs are identical except for the value, the two-penny being pearl green and the three-penny blue.

King's design was successful in an open contest, in which he won a prize of $250.

Eucharist Stamp
An unusual combination of signs and symbols interpretative of the event it commemorates is embodied in the new Brazilian 200-reis stamp issued in connection with the first national Eucharistic congress held in that country.

Data compiled by Prescott H. Thorp, stamp expert, show that the stamp, red in color, carries quite a bit of information. At each of the four corners is a Greek cross with a date. The figures on the upper pair of crosses refer to the landing in Brazil of Pedro Alvarez Cabral in 1500, while on the lower pair the dates relate to the period during which the Eucharistic congress was held in Brazil.

In the center is a lozenge surrounded with two lines of inscription, the outer reading, translated, "first national Eucharistic congress," while the inner says, "venerable adoration of the blessed sacrament." In the lozenge is an ostensorium, a vessel used to display the host to the multitude during holy communion resting on a fish, with the Greek letters and Omega at either end as indicative of the beginning and the end. The fish is an ancient device symbolical of Jesus Christ and comes from the Greek word "Ichthus."

What's Happening
From information available in New York stamp centers, five Latin-American countries—Paraguay, Salvador, Uruguay, Brazil and Guatemala—have issued "flag of the race" stamps in celebration of Columbus' discovery of America.

Collectors are evidencing considerable interest in reports from Washington that a complete change in all designs of current U. S. stamps is being considered. The present basic issue has been in use since 1923.

New Whirligig Microscope Can See Two Ways

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)
Worcester, Mass.—(AP)—A new, whirligig microscope which can look in two directions at once is in use at the Marine Biological Laboratory here.

It allows the scientist to magnify and to compare two groups of microscopic animals simultaneously while subjected to high centrifugal forces. The feat is much like being able to see both New York and London populations simultaneously.

The whirligig is a double centrifuge microscope, devised by Dr. E. Newton Harvey of Princeton University, and R. Fred Loomis of Tuxedo Park, N. Y., the broker-scientist. This centrifuge is a disc somewhat bigger than a dinner plate, rotating at several thousand revolutions a minute.

Opposite each other, near the rim of the plate, two holes are sunk in the disc, but they do not penetrate it completely. In each of these depressions is placed a group of living animal cells. Connecting the holes is a corridor, making a straight line across the plate. The corridor is fitted with mirrors and lenses, which reflect the images of the animals in both holes to a mirror sunk in the exact center of the plate.

Looking at the central mirrors through a microscope ocular, the scientist sees both colonies simultaneously.

When the plate revolves, the cells begin to reveal the different substances of which they are composed. Centrifugal force separates the substances, causing them to gather in layers like stripes on stick candy. The layers form because the materials have different densities. The lightest of these stay closest to the center of the whirling plate, while the heaviest move outward toward the rim.

This separation does not kill the animals. Therefore ordinarily invisible life processes can be seen in action better than by any other method yet devised.

An example of the use is to divide a group of cells of the same animal, putting half into each hole. One of the cell groups will be in sea water, the other in narcotic liquid. Then the microscope shows moment by moment how the cells react differently to the narcotic than to their normal environment.

MOSLEMS PUSH PROJECT FOR PALESTINE UNIVERSITY

Bombay.—(AP)—Efforts to found a great Moslem university in Palestine are being pushed forward.

A delegation, including Syed Aminal Hasan, the grand mufti of Palestine, and Mohammed Ali Pasha, an ex-minister of the Egyptian government, came here and issued a statement claiming that encouraging support has been received from Moslems in India.

A committee to collect funds also has been formed in Iraq, they said.

CIRCUS HAS MANY FEATURES

The combined World Bros. circus Buffalo Ranch Wild West and Buckley Bros. equine paradox coming to Greenville next Saturday Sept. 30 has a long list of prominent features including Capt. Walker, who enters a large steel arena with a group of monster Nubian lions and puts them through an exciting and death courting performance. He even has them leaping through hoops of fire. Heading the circus performance is the Yousepp troupe of whirlwind somersault acrobats, who make triple somersaults from a teeter board to the shoulders of each other. Dorendo, a wire walker who does somersaults on the silver thread and the Nelson sisters, clever equilibristas. Buckley's trained and dancing horses are seen to advantage and there are trained ponies and cupid, the little mite of a horse that is claimed can talk and read numbers.

There are trained elephants, dogs, goats and even a camel that does things out of the ordinary and a bunch of really funny clowns who work all through the performance. The Renfrow family of English pantomimists are seen in high still walking and the wild west presents Bud Horne, in person, the well known and popular western picture star as well as several champions in riding Jim Hughes, making three, four and six horse catches at one time and Joe Clark an Australian whip cracker who has whips with lashes sixteen feet in length and who can cut a cigarette in two held in the lips of his lady assistant and snuff out a lighted match standing away at a distance of nearly twenty feet.

The combined circus will show here for the extremely low admission price of 25 cents to all.

COUNTRY SCHOOL TEACHER HEADS HIGH STATE COURT

Texarkana, Ark.—(AP)—Starting his career in life as a country school teacher, Judge C. E. Johnson has become chief justice of the Supreme Court of Arkansas.

Deciding upon law as a profession early in life, Judge Johnson studied at night and taught in the country schools. He did not have the advantage of law school or even of a college education.

The knowledge he was able to dig out for himself enabled him to pass the state bar examination in 1911. He hung out his shingle at Delight, Ark., and began his struggle to get ahead.

His rise was rapid, and now at 45, he is one of the youngest men ever to occupy the bench of chief justice of Arkansas' highest court.

Doesn't Know His Age
Thompsonville, Mich.—(AP)—On the outskirts of Thompsonville lives Shaq-Wa-Go, or "Indian John" as he is known, who is so old he does not know his age. But he can recall starting a trading post when about 17 years of age on what is now the site of Grand Rapids, before Louis Campau, the French trader, reached the country. Campau reached Grand Rapids in 1827, which would make "Indian John" about 123 years old.

Population Drive Started by Nazis Stresses Heredity

Berlin.—(AP)—Employing the slogan, "Victory or Death," the ministry of propaganda has launched a campaign to familiarize the nation with population problems.

German citizens, says an appeal sent to all-German newspapers, must be taught to think in terms of "biological," or hereditary.

Societies Enlisted
"Fundamentals must be hammered into the consciousness of the nation," says the appeal.

"Germany's vast number of 'refugees,' or civilian societies, have been drafted for the campaign. They have been asked to cut fees for members with large families and to distribute propaganda literature so "every German in the remotest village will be reached and permeated through and through by this enlightenment."

Pamphlet material can be ordered from the Nazi party offices. All profits derived from the sale thereof will be turned over to needy large families.

Fury Men Ridiculed
Pointing out that penetration of all phases of the nation's life by the hereditary idea, has always been a Nazi aim, it is stated:

"That a puny microscope and insignificant individual should put his own welfare before that of the nation, is petty and despicable."

"Hereditary-thinking," it explains, "extends beyond the narrow sphere of the individual, into the vast reaches of generations, centuries, and millenniums."

The advance extended to 10.08 for December and 10.90 for May later in the morning, making gains of 15 to 17 points.

Southern selling was more in evidence than yesterday and market at midday showed reactions of several points from the best under realizing.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Little rays of continued hard and laudable rays of sunshine continued to trickle through the market clouds today, but the scattered effulgence apparently was not of sufficient strength to promote blossoming of prices generally.

Stocks were cheerful in the early hours when most categories improved under the leadership of all-cotons and metals.

For awhile the activity was promising, but soon trading died down to a dribble and many insignificant gains were eliminated. National Distillers which met "ex" whiskey divided at 80 instead of Monday because of the new two-day delivery rule got up about 6 points at one time but yielded half of it.

U. S. Smelting showed advance of four points after an extreme gain of six points. Others up fractionally to around a point included Dome Mines, Homestake, Alaska-Juna, American Smelting, U. S. Industrial alcohol, Union Pacific, General Motors, Chrysler, Standard Oil and John Manville. American Telephone was heavy, losing about two points, while U. S. Steel and Consolidated Gas ease.

Stocks dipped in the late trading today influenced by heaviness in American Telephone and other utilities.

ers a 17-cent average for their tobacco.

The congressman visited the governor and made the statement in an interview as he was leaving the governor's office.

"This plan certainly is not going to give growers 17 cents for their tobacco, if this contract they are now considering which proposes to sign up buyers for only 250,000,000 pounds of the 550,000,000 pounds to be sold, is finally adopted," Hancock said in reply to questions.

He referred to the proposal now being studied by the agricultural adjustment administration which would sign up domestic buyers to buy 250,000,000 pounds of weed and would depend on the word of export companies that they will do all possible to maintain a 17-cent price level.

"Including the processing tax and all that, the plan would not give the farmers a 17-cent average," the congressman said.

He pointed out that 58 per cent of all tobacco sold goes into export trade.

Congressman Hancock said he told Secretary Wallace that the tobacco farmer "whose product yields $400,000,000 yearly to the government in various taxes deserves the most consideration which can be given a farmer."

The congressman figures that under present conditions a parity price for tobacco is nearer 18 cents than the government figure of 17 and if prices of other commodities continue to go up the parity price will be 20 by time the markets close.

Talk Roads at Raleigh
Raleigh, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Bids totaling $400,000 were received today by the state highway and public works commission for construction of 11 projects in North Carolina and the commission heard numerous delegations on road matters during the day.

A Pitt county group asked the commission to build immediately a road from Bethel to Hobgood, Senator A. B. Corey and former Senator M. K. Blount headed the delegation.

Drake Offers No Evidence
Raleigh, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The defense in the trial of W. B. Drake former banker on trial charged of making false reports and embezzlement this afternoon decided not to offer testimony to rebut the state and arguments were started.

This morning Judge J. Paul Frazzelle presiding, over ruled a defense motion for a direct verdict of not guilty and after a conference with states attorneys announced they would offer no witnesses.

McKee Out For New York Mayor
New York, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Joseph C. McKee announced his candidacy today for mayor of New York City.

His announcement was handed out by Charles Keegan, his associates his associates set at rest one of the most vigorously played guessing games that had struck New York circles. McKee will run as an independent against Major Fiorello LaGuardia, independent Republican running under the fusion banner, and Mayor John O'Brien, the candidate of Tammany Hall.

than consolidation of these interests into one government banking house?

The Roosevelt advisers are studying what happened to the first and second United States banks which were organized and abandoned in the early days of the republic. They insist the third United States bank, if one materializes, can escape the mistakes of its predecessors.

As To Guarantees
Incidental in the present consideration of these matters in Washington is a plan to amend the deposit guarantee program which will become effective January 1 over the protest of many bankers.

The new proposal is that instead of making the banks pay for the insurance fund backing deposits, the depositors themselves pay a small fee. Any depositor could decline to pay the fee and stay outside of the guarantee arrangement if he wanted to.

Legislation among one or more of the lines indicated may be expected at the next session of Congress.

Prussia Repeals Old Blue Law
Berlin.—(AP)—An obsolete law of 1815 prohibiting "the dangerous practice of smoking tobacco in the public streets" on penalty of a two shaler (about $1.50) fine was rescinded by order of the prussian ministry of interior. By the old law, an "informer" of the offense was rewarded with half the penalty.

From 1764 to 1815 the penalty for smoking was $18.75.

Denver, Colo.—(AP)—When Mrs. Amelia Gonzales missed some dust under one of her carpets she called police. It was gold dust she had been saving for some time—two ounces of it—valued at about $60.

She was getting ready to take advantage of the better price which followed President Roosevelt's lifting of the gold embargo, when thieves took the dust, Mrs. Gonzales said.

Robbery Hoax Fatal

Joseph Gregorovio, New York youth, plotted a fake holdup to become a hero and overshadow the problem of $5 which he had borrowed on his father's grocery account. As part of the plan he asked his friend, Louis Zelenka (above) to wound him in the arm with a rifle. Zelenka told police he intended to graze his friend's arm but the wound was fatal. A YEAR AHEAD IN DESIGN AND PERFORMANCE

The trend is definitely, unmistakably toward the V-8. Motorists know it is better. Automobile engineers admit that Ford has revolutionized all previous ideas of performance and economy with this remarkable 1933 model. The coming years will see many more V-eights on the road. Cars of fewer cylinders will be out of date... The Ford V-8 is a good investment because it is a full year ahead in design and performance. It leads in size, speed, smoothness, safety and comfort and it delivers 18 to 20 miles per gallon of gasoline. Drive it yourself—and see!
