HAVE FAITH IN LEAF PLAN

Agricultural Adjustment Administration Feels Confident Of Success

The signing of the marketing agreement marked the end of negotiations extending over several weeks, J. C. Lanier, member of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, said today. The Agricultural Adjustment Administration has been steadfast in its purpose of securing higher prices for this year's crop of tobacco. The signed agreement, in the opinion of the officials of the Administration, will produce this result.

Under the terms of the agreement the domestic companies agree to purchase, from September 25 to March 31, approximately 250 million pounds of flue-cured tobacco at an average price of 17 cents. The average price paid by these companies for their purchases last year was approximately 11-1/3 cents. Should it be determined at the end of the season that the purchases of these companies have not averaged 17 cents, and additional amount sufficient to bring the average to 17 cents will be paid over to the Secretary of Agriculture to be distributed pro rata to the tobacco growers who join in the reduction program.

The purchase of at least 200 million pounds by the companies after Sept. 25, is considerably more than what they would ordinarily purchase. It is felt that the increased competition, together with the cooperation of the export buyers, will result in a higher price for the market average. In addition to this advance in prices on the market, there has been levied a processing tax of 4.2 cents per pound on domestically manufactured tobacco. It is estimated that this tax will raise approximately 10 million dollars, and this money will be returned to the flue-cured tobacco farmers in the way of benefit payments for crop reduction, and to make additional payments to growers this year who sold before the price advance. Plans are now being worked out whereby farmers who sold their tobacco prior to September 25 will be paid an addition sum to compensate them for the low prices received prior to September 25.

FRANK SPEAKS ON PROBLEM OF WORLD PEACE

College Professor Heard at Union Service at Presbyterian Church

Universal draft to take the profit out of war and an educational program to show the awfulness of armed conflict and create a desire for peace were suggested as means of bringing about world peace by Dr. A. D. Frank, director of the Department of History of East Carolina Teachers College, speaking at the union service at the Presbyterian Church here last night.

Members of various denominations of the city attended the service and the building was packed to overflowing. The object of the service, sponsored by the Ministerial Association of the city, was to create a more profound sentiment for peace and is along the same idea being followed in other cities of the nation interested in doing away with further carnage.

Rev. W. S. Harden, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, presided, and a delightful musical program marked by a duet by Mrs. Dink James and Miss Agnes Fullilove, was rendered.

Rev. W. A. Ryan, pastor of the Fifth Street Christian Church, read the Scripture lesson from the 95th Psalm, and Rev. R. P. Pittman, pastor of the Free Will Baptist Church, made the opening prayer.

Mr. Harden explained the nature of the service, and said the association had chosen Dr. Frank to make the address because as a teacher of history in one of the outstanding institutions of the country, they felt he was capable of treating the subject in an illuminating way.

Mr. Frank declared that war offered the greatest threat to Christian civilization and declared an educational program through the schools and churches of the world offered probably the most direct plan to do away with future carnage.

He recalled the awful toll of life and property taken by the world (Continued on Page Three)

Eismark, N. D., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Governor William Langer announced today he would issue a proclamation this afternoon declaring an embargo on spring wheat shipments from North Dakota in an effort to raise prices and center attention on the farmers' plight.

LEAF PRICES MOVE UPWARD ON MART HERE

Prices bounded upward here again today and indications were that the highest price average of the season would be hung up.

There was over a million and a half pounds of tobacco on the various warehouse floors and farmers expressed satisfaction as the price situation showed renewed strength.

On the basis of reports from various markets of the belt Greenville again led the state from the standpoint of prices last week, making the highest average of the belt.

Last Monday saw the highest average price of the season paid out here, the figure going beyond the 15-cent mark. Since that time the average has hung between 14 and 15 cents.

With the rise in prices noted on sales today, tobacco men expressed belief a new record would be set here, helping the market continue to maintain the highest average of the state.

Total sales for the season at the end of the week stood at 23,061,374 which sold for an average of $12.77 per hundred pounds and for which the farmers received $2,946,005.44.

Germany Awaits New Move

Convict Shot To Death. Statesville, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Charlie Hilton was shot to death and Bud Travis was captured here today by officers who surrounded the two escaped convicts and outlaws after they stepped from an east-bound passenger train.

Both men, outlawed by the State of North Carolina, were armed with pistols which they drew when officers commanded them to halt. The two refused to halt and one of the officers fired at Travis who fell to the ground pretending to be wounded. At the same time Sheriff G. C. Kimball fired a load of buckshot into Hilton's body. Hilton was taken to a hospital where he died a few minutes later.

The convicts came into Statesville and after alighting from the train started walking south of the station when officers surrounded them. The shooting followed.

Coroner N. B. Tomlin immediately called an inquest and exonerated the sheriff who he said was justified in shooting Hilton in line of duty.

Travis, 25, was sentenced from Alexander county for store breaking and escaped from state prison. (Continued on page six)

RUSH ACTION TO RELEASE BANK MONEY

Government Pushes President's Plan to Put Frozen Funds Into Circulation

Washington, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Government officials hurried to translate into actual dollars and cents for depositors President Roosevelt's plan for advancing approximately $1,000,000,000 on the assets of closed national and state banks.

The administration was completing organization of the depositors' liquidation division of the Reconstruction Corporation which was designated by President Roosevelt to stimulate distribution of frozen bank assets. The Reconstruction Corporation will supply the funds.

For those in authority over the closed banks the task was a fulfillment of President Roosevelt's plan of co-operation by a division in the quickest, possible manner of the assets.

A special advisory committee will be organized by the liquidating board to hurry the work.

U. S. WATCHES ARMS PARLEY

Nation Ready to do Anything Possible to Help Disarmament Discussions

Washington, Oct. 16.—(AP)—The United States was described officially today as heading toward the side line role for the next three or four days in the situation caused by Germany in the disarmament conference but to be ready to lend assistance to any possible continuation of a general disarmament program.

At the State Department Under Secretary Phillips said new instructions had been sent to Norman Davis, Ambassador at large at Geneva.

Instead the disposition was to allow discussions to continue between European governments for the next several days with the United States waiting to observe the results before acting further.

At the same time, Phillips reported receipt of a statement from Ambassador Dodd in Berlin that as a result of his protests from Foreign Minister Von Neurath of Germany against mistreatment of American citizens by Nazis assurance has been received that those responsible would be prosecuted.

HENDERSON APPEALS FOR DISCUSSIONS

Germany Declares Next Move up to Other Nations; British Leader Says League Covenant Must Not be Treated as Scrap of Paper; Only Nazis May Make Lists in Reichstag Election; May Abolish Presidential System

(By Associated Press) The World Disarmament Conference, two days after Germany's withdrawal from that body and the League of Nations, has adjourned until October 26 upon pleas for continuation of its efforts by the Reich chairman, Arthur Henderson of Great Britain.

"The struggle for disarmament must go on and the covenant of the League of Nations shall not be treated as a scrap of paper," was the message of Henderson to the International Peace Association at Geneva.

Plans for the Reichstag election November 12 in Berlin provides that only Nazis may submit lists in the balloting which may also bring an end to the presidential system.

This information was forthcoming along with the statement by government spokesmen that Germany now believes the next move is up to the other nations.

The Reich government came out strongly in support of the position of Norman Davis, American ambassador at large, against adjournment of the conference.

Vienna students unfurling a "swastika" banner demonstrated their sympathy in rioting which resulted in strong measures by the police.

Final Rites For Business Man Held From Home Yesterday Morning

Funeral services for J. L. Starkey well known Greenville business man, who died at his home here early Saturday morning, were conducted from his late home yesterday morning at 10 o'clock by Rev. E. L. Hillman, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church. Interment was made in Cherry Hill cemetery. He was 64 years of age.

The final rites were largely attended by sorrowing friends and the tremendous floral tribute told in a mute way of the esteem in which the deceased was held.

He was a native of Pitt county, having moved to Greenville when about 16 years of age. He was connected with the business life of the city for many years and was active in the operation of a battery and auto accessories establishment on Fourth street at the time of his death.

He was a member and former steward of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church and manifested considerable interest in the work of the denomination. He suffered from asthma most of his life, but in spite of his suffering, he was of a genial disposition and endeared himself to hundreds of people.

Liquor Control As Others Do It

POLITICS

By BYRON PRICE
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

Stockholm (AP)—While some Baltic countries have resorted to high taxation and definite state monopoly as a means of liquor control with free sale permitted. Sweden, through the Britt system continues to regard sale and consumption of liquor primarily as a social problem.

In basic principle the Britt system insists upon:
(1) Disinterested management and control of private profit.
(2) Revenue to the state
(3) Distinction between liquor sold for home consumption and in restaurants.
(4) Emphasis on the individual consumer.

In its daily operation the system as now developed provides for (a) sale of liquor at special stores and only to persons possessing the "pass book" certification, (b) complete information for the state regarding holders of passbooks, including drinking habits, occupation, size of family if married income, general qualifications as a citizen, and so on (c) sale of strong liquor at restaurants in restricted quantities and only when food is served at the same time, and (d) regulation of amount of liquor sold to individual according to age, sex, and so on.

Britt System Effective in 1919
Foundations of modern Swedish alcohol legislation go back to 1855 when special taxation put a stop to private manufacture of brandy (potato spirit) and modern liquor companies were established. In 1909 the prohibitionist movement reached the height of its power. In a voluntary plebiscite more than 1,200,000 men and women over 18 years pronounced for prohibition and only about 20,000 against. In 1919 the Britt system was placed in effect.

Country Is Districted
It divides Sweden into districts, each with a retailing company, which is also the center of registration. Each company keeps an alphabetically arranged central register containing data regarding all persons with whom the company has dealings, a sales register containing names of approved customers and a register of all purchases made according to date.

If single, the individual can be entitled to as much as three liters (about three quarts) of spirituous liquor a month. Married, with a family, he can be entitled to as high as four liters a month. Young men getting their first passbook, are usually granted two liters a month. Young working women, as a rule, get only one liter every three months.

Restaurants, which are permitted only a definite margin of sales profit, serve spirits and heavy wine only in meals.

State Shares Profits
Retailing companies employ private capital, but all revenue over 5 per cent of the net cash subscribed by the shareholders is paid to the state.

Wholesale companies, of which there are two in Sweden, are likewise restricted to a certain profit and are subject to control by the state.
"It can be claimed," declares Director John Bergvall, director of the Britt system in Stockholm "that the alcoholic legislation now in force in Sweden has been responsible for the decrease in chronic alcoholism and drunkenness in general."

Our tobacco market to date has paid out about three million dollars which means that there is money in circulation in this county and our people are going to buy. If you want to get your share of this increased business let The Reflector carry your message to these buyers. We are delivering and mailing our paper to over 4,800 subscribers daily which means the carrying of your message into many homes.

Here is part of a letter recently sent out by Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson, to all manufacturers in the nation, and we pass it on to our merchants as good advise.

General Johnson Says:
"We believe that the opportune moment is at hand for American industry to bend every effort toward increased sales.
"The modern method is advertising. The American public looks to advertising for news of good merchandise and good values.
"There has never been a time when the public was so alert for news, as now. Events have moved so rapidly that people would be completely ignorant of what is going on if they did not closely follow the press.
"This tremendous public interest in news can be capitalized by American industry. And the way to do it is to place the news about a good value or a good product side by side with other news of the world."

Y. W. C. A. VESPER SERVICES AT COLLEGE

Rev. T. C. Johnson, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Kinston, was the speaker at the Y. W. C. A. Sunday vesper services at East Carolina Teachers College. He used as his subject the single word, "Potentiality."

He compared the human mind and its potentialities to the acorn which develops the powers that lie dormant only when it becomes attached to the whole universe. Left alone it will become no more than it is.

Men have manifold latent abilities which when uncovered often bring forth unlimited achievements. All these things were done by our forefathers when they pressed onward until they reached the Pacific ocean; by Helen Keller when she conquered her blindness and deafness; and by Booker T. Washington when he overcame the disadvantages of being from a so-called "inferior race."

He repeated several times "the quotation that made the theme: "If there's a gulf to meet—a limit set! You and I have never reached it yet."

Christian Science Services.

"Doctrine of Atonement" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 15.

The golden text was from II Cor. 5:18: "All things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation."

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new." (2 Cor. 5:17)

The lesson sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy: "The atonement of Christ reconciles man to God, not God to man; for the divine Principle of Christ is God, and how can God propitiate Himself? Christ is Truth, which reaches no higher than itself. The fountain can rise no higher than its source. Christ, Truth, could conciliate no nature above his own, derived from the eternal love. It was therefore Christ's purpose to reconcile man to God, not God to man."

EXECUTIVE BOARD A. A. U. W. HOLD MEETING SATURDAY

The business of the state executive board of the American Association of University Women, in session in Greenville on Saturday, was pleasantly interrupted at noon by a luncheon at the parish house tendered by the members of the local group to their guests from out of town.

Covers were laid for thirty-five. Miss Luedie Turner presided. After the meal the visitors were introduced and asked to tell something about themselves.

Among those present from other North Carolina cities were Mrs. Clyde Milner, Dean of Guilford College, who is state president; Mrs. Ivan Jones and Mrs. B. Y. Tyner, Raleigh; Mrs. L. P. Davidson and Mrs. C. T. Wagner, Charlotte; Mrs. Wingate Johnson, Mrs. Melville Prongray and Miss Virginia Battle, Winston-Salem; Mrs. Jesse Puell, Asheville.

At the business meetings, several possible educational projects were discussed. It was definitely decided to make available to all branches a list of names and addresses of all members in the state, and a list of all material that has been put into print by individual members.

The business sessions were held on the campus of East Carolina Teachers College, and the visitors expressed themselves as being most favorably impressed by what they saw of the college and the town of Greenville.

Each girl should take her contract home and get permission from her parents before signing it. Then she should keep a copy of the signed contract with her club work in order to check on herself.

The contracts are quite similar to the ones used last year. They were made according to the requests from the 1933 club officers. An effort has been made not to give the girls too much to do as we would prefer doing less and doing it better and with a greater number of completions. I expect to meet each club monthly, but would urge the leaders to call the clubs together as often as possible to check on the work being done.

This month demonstrations are being given in the making of hot dish mats for the senior groups. Next month we shall have contests in each group, with judges and announce the winners in each club.

Achievement Day, Nov. 14. Mrs. J. L. Nobles entertained the Hopewell club and Mrs. Ola Tucker entertained the Red Banks club.

Most clubs will have an all-day meeting either in November or December.

LANIER REPLIES TO HANCOCK

conclusion of the Growers' Meeting, after the present agreement had been fully discussed, every grower present, with the single exception of Mr. Hall, unanimously advised the Administration to sign the proposed agreement, and to do so at once.

"During the entire negotiations Mr. Hancock's attitude has been one of bitter opposition to any plan other than his own. He has at times seemed more concerned with the possibility of increased prices to consumers than with the prices the farmers were getting for their product. The entire Administration has been primarily concerned with efforts to raise the price of this year's crops. The agreement as signed was approved by several other congressmen from North Carolina and Virginia, all of whom advised the Administration to sign this agreement.

"Mr. Hancock has tried to block negotiations tending to advance prices for tobacco with the argument that cigarette prices might advance. Now that the agreement has been signed, it appears that he is trying to wreck the production reduction campaign so that he might say that the Marketing Agreement has failed to bring about the desired results of increased prices for tobacco.

"Speaking for myself as a native of a great tobacco growing section, and as a tobacco farmer, I am willing to stand or fall on the proposition that this plan will result in millions of dollars in additional returns for tobacco growers for this year's crop. As a member of the Agricultural Administration, I have carefully studied all plans which were offered. I am familiar with the conditions of supply and de-

AT THE PITT COUNTY NEW DEAL FAIR

This is a picture taken at the Pitt County New Deal Fair which starts today at the Greenville fair grounds of Billy Ritchey's Water Circus which is one of twenty big acts presented twice daily in front of the grandstand. Ritchey's Water Circus is made up of six performers, each one a top-notch in his or her line. The show features Captain Soolomon doing a full guiner from a 110 foot ladder, the show also has many other stars of the swimming and diving world. This one attraction will give the fair patrons this week many thrills.

The Agricultural Building is crammed full of exhibits of Pitt county products which will be of interest to those attending who are interested in home grown products. Mighty Sheesley and his Mile Long Midway arrived late yesterday and the workmen immediately started setting up the riding devices and tented theatres which will do much to spread joy this week amongst Pitt county folks. The management has more than fulfilled their promise in bringing the biggest and best carnival ever to play the fair here.

The grandstand acts are all set to give their initial performance this evening. After the grandstand show each night there will be an elaborate display of fireworks.

From all indications, it will be more than worth your while to pay the fair a visit.

Tomorrow is Children's day. All the city and county schools will give a half holiday. All the children have tickets and will be guests of the fair. All shows and rides will be five cents to the children.

As a special attraction for Tuesday only the management will present "Fritz" the dog from movieiland in a series of almost human canine feats.

mand, and also am familiar with the size and quality of the present crop of fine cured tobacco. I want to go on record as saying to the other tobacco growers, that if they will support the Production Reduction Campaign, it, together with this Marketing Agreement, will certainly result in the tobacco farmers receiving 3c to 4c more per pound for this year's crop than would otherwise have been received.

"The only thing that can defeat this increased price will be the success of a plan to mislead farmers by loose talk designed to defeat this program. I think that all the farmers, in view of the size of this year's crop, will agree that the average would not have been above 12c, had it not been for the program undertaken by the Administration. Under this plan, which has been adopted, all indications point to an average above 15c for the entire crop and above 17c for the crop yet to be sold. In addition, farmers who participate in the reduction program will receive approximately $10,000,000 in additional payments for acreage reduction.

"In view of these figures, it would appear that Mr. Hancock's statement that this program is a "sop" and a "flop" is merely a catch phrase to mislead rather than a statement of expected results from this program.

"The statement that the grower did not have a Chinaman's chance of receiving benefit payments for this year's crops is as false as it is misleading. This, however, is true: If Mr. Hancock for reasons best known to himself, succeeds in misadvising the farmers so that the sign-up campaign for the 1934 and 1935 crop fails, then he will be able to claim the glibful honor of having completed the destruction of the hopes of tobacco farmers for economic freedom for years to come.

"It is unfortunate that he should

LEGION MEETS TUESDAY NITE

Progress of Membership Drive to be Reported at Monthly Meeting

Reports on the progress of the American Legion membership drive now in progress here will be heard at the monthly meeting of the Pitt County Post of the Legion at the Third street school hut tomorrow night at 7 o'clock.

In addition, Commander J. H. Rose announced he had arranged for a delightful program of songs and music.

The Legion membership campaign opened the first of the month and will be concluded at the end of this month. Four membership teams to scour the countryside for new members were named and the progress they have made will be reported at the meeting.

The two teams losing will be required to provide the winners with a free supper at the end of the drive. This has added impetus to the movement and the post is witnessing one of the greatest campaigns of the kind probably ever conducted here.

A giant sign had been painted on the side of R. E. Harris Company's store, corner Evans and Fourth streets, and from this vantage point the public is able to determine the progress of the campaign. The names of the officers have been placed in the sign and the enrollment of new members will also be included.

FRANK SPEAKS ON PROBLEMS OF WORLD PEACE

war, describing it as the world's greatest tragedy, costing $600,000,000,000, twice the value of the combined resources of this nation.

The world war nearly wrecked civilization, he said, as he pointed to gathering clouds in Europe. He spoke of Germany's withdrawal from the League of Nations and the spirit of unrest and revolution in other countries, and declared "other great wars" to be inevitable.

Speaking of the causes of war, he said they were varied, but declared nationalism and selfish patriotism to be contributory factors. He said national egotism had caused the various nations of the world to become "puffed up" with only the thought of their own interests in mind. In other words, he stated, "we have developed a cult for war."

The world at this time, the speaker stated, is unable to find any force to bring peace. Military leaders are unwilling to substitute justice for force, and efforts to reduce armaments hold out little hope for a solution of the problem.

"We must create a universal desire for peace," he asserted. "It is an educational task for churches and teachers of the world, but the movement must begin at home." He urged the creation of international good will with each nation having confidence and faith in what the other fellow is doing.

Merely as a suggestion he said he thought universal draft to take the profit out of war for the minority, and a profound educational program beginning in the home and extending throughout every phase of human endeavor would be direct factors in providing peace for future generations.

One Sure Way to End Coughs and Colds

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, and attacks the seat of the trouble.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Your own druggist is authorized to refund your money on the spot if your cough or cold is not relieved by Creomulsion. (adv.)

WHAT ABOUT THE POOL

There still seems to be little or no talk and no action with reference to the swimming pool project. As we have said many times, Greenville needs and should have an adequate swimming pool and now is the opportune time to get it. If we pass up the present opportunity to build it with government funds, it will probably be many a day before we get a municipal pool here.

STILL AHEAD

Published figures over the week-end showed the Greenville Tobacco Market still leading for the season's average price which is one of the best reasons why growers of this section should use the Greenville market for the sale of their tobacco. Greenville has long enjoyed the reputation of being the "Best Tobacco Market in the State" and based upon the price figures is still living up to this reputation.

GROWERS WILL GET PARITY

There can be no doubt that the tobacco growers will profit this year from the action taken by the government, according to J. C. Lanier, who was here for the week-end, and the future good the farmers are to derive will depend upon how well they carry out their part of the contract to reduce acreage for the next two years. Commenting on the tobacco situation, Mr. Lanier declared that with this year's big crop, but for the action of the government, the farmers would probably receive far less for the crop than they are going to receive and then, too, there is a fund of $10,000,000 to come from the processing tax to be paid to the growers if necessary to bring the season's average price up to the parity price.

This statement from Mr. Lanier, despite contentions by some to the contrary, should be assurance to the growers that the government is not going to let them down and should make the growers more determined to continue to carry out their part of the contracts by cutting their acreage next year. The government is not going to let the growers down and the growers must see to it that they do not tie the government's hands in the future by an overproduction.

Outrageous Fortune by Patricia Wentworth

SYNOPSIS: By sheer accident, Caroline had found her cousin, Jim Fossil, whom she had thought drowned. But his memory of past events is confused; he has been told by Neta Kiddell that he is her husband, and worse, that he has stolen the Van Berg emeralds and shot their owner. And his memory shows him flashes of himself drinking with Van Berg and of the emeralds in Van Berg's hands. Jim cannot disprove Neta, since he cannot remember his immediate past. So Caroline starts to London to check up on Neta's story, and on the train hears that glasses are being tested for finger prints by the police. She is frightened.

Chapter 25

SUDDEN DECISION

"There was a tray with whisky and soda and two glasses in Mr. Van Berg's study, and the police took 'em for finger-prints. And Mrs. Henry says to me, 'That wasn't no plain straightforward burglar,' she says. 'If a burglar comes in on a gentleman in the middle of the night, they don't sit down and have drinks together—not much they don't,' she says."

"Were the glasses full or empty?" said the shy young man.

"Empty down to the last drop," said Mrs. Rodgers. "And what's more—but there, praps I didn't ought to repeat that."

"I'm sure none of us will let it go any further," said the elder Miss Borling.

"Well, I don't know as I'd better, seeing as Mrs. Henry wouldn't ha' told me if it hadn't been for me overhearing what passed between her and Mrs. Van Berg's maid."

Caroline's heart began to beat hard and fast. What was she going to hear? She felt as if at any moment this fat good-natured woman might say something that couldn't ever be unsaid again—something dangerous, something that might hurt Jim.

Everyone was begging Mrs. Rodgers to go on.

"Well, I don't know as I ought. That's the worst of talking—you run on, and then you can't take it back again. Lor bless me if we haven't got to Meade already!—and perhaps just as well, for I might have said more than I ought. Now, I wonder if anyone 'ud be good enough to hand my basket out after me. It's a deaf easier to get out backwards when you come to my size."

The fish looked and clanked to a standstill. The shy young man opened the door. Mrs. Rodgers backed out, took her basket, and bade the carriage at large an affable farewell.

WITHOUT having thought of it beforehand, Caroline found herself saying, "Please may I pass?" She had to say that because the schoolboy was standing right in the doorway. He moved as the guard came along to shut the door.

Caroline said in a soft breathless voice, "I'm getting out," and jumped down on to the platform just as the train began to move. She didn't wait for the guard to scold her.

Mrs. Rodgers was already giving up her ticket. Caroline ran after her and caught her up just outside the station where Meade Hill runs steeply up between hedges full of bramble and elder.

Mrs. Rodgers stared at her in astonishment, and Caroline realized that she had no idea what she was going to say. It must have come over her suddenly that she simply couldn't let Mrs. Rodgers go, and now that she had caught her up she said the first thing that came into her head.

"Can I help you with your basket?" Mrs. Rodgers looked her up and down.

"What's a young lady like you want to carry my basket for?"

"I'm going your way."

"And how do you know what way I'm going, miss?"

Caroline looked rather as if she had been caught stealing jam. Her lips trembled into a smile.

"I ran after you," she said.

Mrs. Rodgers set down her basket in the road and nodded.

"Honesty's the best policy. What brought you after me? For by the look of you you hadn't any thoughts of getting out here."

"No," said Caroline, "I should truly like to carry your basket." She picked it up, and they began to mount the hill.

"And that's what you came after me for, I'll be bound!"

"No—I came after you because I wanted to talk to you."

"That's straight anyway. And what have you got to say?"

"I didn't want to say anything. I wanted you to tell me what Mrs. Henry told you."

"Mrs. Rodgers—"

Mrs. Rodgers turned a streaming crimson face upon her.

"Talk on this 'ill, I can't," she panted, and Caroline had to get what comfort she could from that.

At the top of the hill there was a stile, and on the step of the stile Mrs. Rodgers seated herself and proceeded to get her breath. Caroline stood before her with the basket and felt her courage slip and slip away.

"Well?" said Mrs. Rodgers at last. Caroline looked at her imploringly.

"Excuses!" cried Top Notch. "You're heartless and cruel. The Chickens' parents are beside themselves with worry. They are crying their rooster and hen eyes out, sobbing that their soft, adorable little chicks are lost forever."

"They were thoughtless but they didn't mean to be cruel," said Christopher Columbus Crow. "They were too worried about themselves and forgot even to mention the Chickens to me. But I remember where I found the Ducks. The Chickens must be near there. I'll get Willy Nilly and show him the way. You'd better come, too, Rip."

"The little Chickens never came home from the nature class," Christopher cawed as he reached Willy Nilly's. The little gnome-like man had been putting away food for the winter. He had filled a whole pantry full of good things and was relaxing in the work he was accomplishing, although he had not nearly finished.

When he heard about the Chickens the tears began to stream down from his eyes. "I'm afraid these cold autumn nights will have proved too much for them," he said mournfully.

REVIVED BICYCLE RIDING IS NEW TRAFFIC PROBLEM

Memphis, Tenn. —(AP)— Bicycle riding, welcomed back as a revival of good, clean fun, became a "menace" for a time here.

That was the way Douglas Johnson, chief of the police traffic bureau, described the fad when folks started riding around at night without lights on their vehicles.

Rental agencies agreed to equip their wheels with front and rear lights.

Telling Willy Nilly

No one knew whether the little Chickens had perished in the dark woods.

"We didn't think we could help them," the little Ducks said, "and we became so interested in our swimming lesson after our sleep that we forgot about them. We thought, too, that when daylight came they would be able to get back

GREENVILLE TOBACCO MARKET REPORT

EVERYBODY PULLING TOGETHER IN BEHALF OF THE TOBACCO GROWERS SELLING ON OUR MARKET HAS MADE GREENVILLE THE OUTSTANDING MARKET OF THE ENTIRE BRIGHT TOBACCO BELT.

Greenville market sold Friday nearly 600,000 lbs. more tobacco than any other market in Eastern Carolina. Prices stronger today than any time this season.

Several hundred growers from distant counties sold here for the first time this season. They were convinced Greenville is paying more for tobacco, grade for grade. A large per cent of the offerings today, as in several days past, were common and medium tips. Better grades selling above 40 cents.

You will not find the tobacco buyers on any market cooperating in every way more splendidly than the buying forces on the Greenville Tobacco Market. This fact alone is more responsible for Greenville being the world's largest Bright Tobacco market than any one factor. When such conditions as this exist on a tobacco market, better prices for the growers is always the result.

Let us suggest that every one preserve warehouse bills of sales and see that they are dated.

Tune in on Greenville's Radio Station WEED every day (except Sunday) at 9:45 A. M., 12:45 P. M. and 4:45 P. M. for latest tobacco market reports. Will find it on your dial around 142 or 1420.

BLUE LAW MAYOR CLAMPS LID UPON PEIPING NIGHT LIFE

Peiping. —(AP)—Once the gayest city in northern China, Peiping has joined the "blue law" towns of the world.

Yuan Liang, new reform mayor, has closed all the dance-halls and cabarets of the ancient capital. He wants Peiping to shine only as a center of culture, art, beauty and historical classicism.

Several hundred professional dancing girls and cabaret performers, members of the Dancing Girls' Union, implicated the mayor to reconsider his decision, but to their treatise Yuan Liang returned only a serene smile and said nothing.

The edict also affected foreign princes, diplomats, statesmen and 700 American marines, who offset the tedium of life in Peiping by visits to the places of frolic.

If anybody wants to dance in Peiping now, he must go to the European hotels. There one must dance with one's wife or husband or rela-

Talk Of 'Labor Party' Finds Administration Watchful, Says Price

By BYRON PRICE
 President Roosevelt's political managers picked up their ears intently when agitation for a "labor party" suddenly was revived at the Washington convention of the American Federation of Labor.

Mr. Roosevelt has made no secret of his desire to unite all "liberal elements" into a continuing working organization under democratic and insurgent republican leadership. Emergence of any real "labor party" would complicate that plan seriously.

Although the project appeared to be getting nowhere with federation leaders the President took occasion to reassert his leadership when he spoke at the dedication of the Gompers statue.

All in all, the Roosevelt managers appeared unworried by the net results. President Green of the federation, who a few days before had been complaining that the NRA did not give labor enough praise, Mr. Roosevelt in his convention speech and asked his colleagues to stand by the government. Whatever the background of that speech, it cheered administration leaders immensely.

These leaders do not now look for the development of any powerful independent labor movement in politics, but what labor as a unit can be kept in line behind Roosevelt remains to be seen.

In the past efforts to corral "the labor vote" on a national basis for anybody have resulted in repeated failures.

Eyes On The Treasury
 Politicians of every feather are taking increased interest in the state of the United States treasury. Whether the budget is balanced or is a matter already in controversy, President Roosevelt recently said it was, but Republican House Leader Snell insists no such conclusion can be reached except by "trick bookkeeping."

The official figures early in October, entering the second quarter of the fiscal year, showed expenditures outrunning receipts by around $200,000,000. Included in the outgo, however, was about $300,000,000 listed as emergency payments so that considering "ordinary expenditures" alone, the budget appeared $100,000,000 to the good.

The money spent on the emergency recovery program will be subject to a sound discussion, because this kind of spending hardly has begun.

The farm administration has paid out only about $100,000,000, mostly to better the hog producers. Public works actually has disbursed even less although it has allotted on paper a sum of $2,000,000,000. The Reconstruction corporation, once the big spender, is passing out of the back picture because it is receiving unpaid loans almost as fast as it is paying out.

Treasury bookkeeping is so complicated that politicians are able to draw all sorts of conflicting conclusions—arbitrary ones will as the 1934 campaign approaches.

Patronage Pleas Persistent
 Underground pressures for democratic patronage is growing every day. As weeks go by with many rat appointments still unmade members of congress are wondering whether the patronage lever isn't being reserved to ease administration legislation through at the January session.

The strange part about it is that, although Postmaster General Farley continues to smile and take it on the chin, in his ostensible role of "patronage dispenser," the real decisions are being made by the White House, itself.

UP Go Broadway's S. R. O. Sign Again
By NOEL THORNTON
 New York (AP)—The theater, mourned as dead by its tearful followers for three years, is springing suddenly to life again with all the lusty enthusiasm of a newly born babe.

Playgoers who apparently have been on some desert isle exile since 1930 are reappearing in legion, and managers of Broadway amusement temples are once more chanting that joyful chorus of "Standing Room Only." Of seven new shows arriving in the early season, five proved to be outstanding hits. One hit in three trials is usually considered a high average. Of the 13 attractions on Broadway, nine are selling out almost every performance.

The new stage season has been slow in starting, what was only about one-third the normal amount of new plays arriving during the first five weeks. However, the grand parade is now well under way, and it is a voluminous rush to the rialto.

The new hits provide a melange of moods in entertainment from the comely, sentimental "Ah, Wilderness" to the satiric, cynical revue "As Thousands Cheer."

"Ah, Wilderness" Eugene O'Neill's new play, set a precedent when it excited the usually dignified, conservative Theater Guild first nighters to cheer so lustily that George M. Cohan, its principal player, was compelled to step to the footlights and make a curtain speech.

Even such musical shows as new shows, even those that are not financial successes, have distinctive merit. These ramorous "swoosing" productions which once flitted in and out of the theater for an engagement of a week or two seem to have disappeared.

The new shows whose Broadway opening were awaited—even amid the acclaim for the first five hits—likewise promised excitement. In one, Leon Gordon's "Undesirable Lady," Nancy Carroll had put the movies aside to play the lead.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Muddled financial markets today groped hesitantly for elusive price trend indicators generally hugged oasis of safety while awaiting for developments.

Transactions were at a minimum and most leading issues showed a sagging tendency. The rails and various industrials were quite heavy in times, due to the widening of the gap between bids and offers. Grains dipped and rallied and cotton slipped. Bonds showed a drifting mood. The dollar again spurred in foreign exchange dealings but later gave up some of the gain.

Values fell sharply as quiet selling during the forenoon gathered momentum in the late dealings and spread to all parts of the list. Total transfers were 2,500,000 shares.

HAD NO CONNECTION WITH HOTEL SEIGE

Washington, Oct. 16.—(AP)—The State Department today asserted that Ambassador Summer Welles at Havana had no connection with the assembling of Cuban army officers at the National Hotel there, from which they were subsequently dislodged after a pitched battle with soldiers.

The department's statement, understood to have been prompted by the circulation of rumors in Havana said:

"The department has been informed that an effort is being made to involve the embassy at Havana in the action taken by the Cuban army officers last month in taking refuge in the National Hotel, and in subsequent events.

"With regard to this matter the department can state unequivocally that, far from instigating the assembling of the officers in the National Hotel, Ambassador Welles had no knowledge of their intention until the event took place. Moreover, Mr. Welles was equally unaware of any of their subsequent plans, never having spoken to any of them either individually or collectively or having attempted to communicate with them since they took refuge in the National Hotel."

FAVORS EXECUTION OF BAD CRIMINALS

Chicago, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Capital punishment for habitual criminals and motion pictures of the executions for "education" of first offenders.

This today was the prescription of Chicago's famed municipal judge Thomas A. Green, for deterring crime. Judge Green presides over the largest felony court in the world.

Commenting on the recent declaration by H. L. Mencken, that all habitual criminals should be hanged, the jurist said:

"Mencken is right about executing habitual criminals. . . . But at the same time greater and more intelligent efforts should be made by society to prevent first offenders becoming repeaters. An important step in this direction would be the filming of actual executions for their benefit."
