COLLEGE PRESS ASSOCIATION MEETING HERE

Social Activities and Business Sessions Feature Convention Collegiate Writers

By E. J. LASSEN
Carl Goerch, editor of the The State spoke to delegates at the 26th session of the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association on various phases of newspaper work at a dinner-dance held in the Woman's Club yesterday at 7:30 p. m.

Goerch gave several interesting anecdotes relating to sensational stories which he has come upon during his travels about North Carolina. He said that the public is more interested in reading such stories than in reading news. He also told the methods used by him to get advertising for his magazine, gave the following tip to advertising managers among those present: "Look around among your student body and find some relative or close friend of a person to whom you wish to sell an ad and send for it."

"I advise the editors of newspapers to write to professional and business men and ask them for articles bearing upon current events. They will invariably consider such a request as an honor to them," said Goerch. Goerch spoke to the group on the interesting work possible in journalistic work, and of the close harmony that exists among those who work on publications. He said that a newspaper can make his entire life possible for him to meet people of all classes and types, to give him an added education which is not possible in most other types of work. He remarked at the high grade of ethics among newspapermen, and said that the fullest confidence can be placed in a news-worker when given a trust.

Dr. R. H. Wright, president of East Carolina Teachers College, welcomed the college editors and business manager, and said that the public does not take the press seriously enough, though its reach is far and its influence great.

"You future journalists are molding the news-writing of tomorrow," said Dr. Wright.

Jack Wardlaw and his Carolina Flutes Orchestra provided music for dancing following the banquet. The dance lasted until 11:30 o'clock.

A business meeting of the association was held in the main auditorium of the college at 10 a. m. today, at which various committees were appointed to serve during the convention. At 10:30 group discussions were held when men prominently in collegiate publications circles spoke. Frank Daniels of the Benson Printing Company, led the discussions of annual editors; A. Brandon of Rocky Mount, led the discussions of magazine editors; Andrew Beck of Edwards and Broughton Printing Company of Raleigh, led the discussions of the business managers; and A. D. Sickles of the Queep City Printing Company, led those of editors of newspapers.

T. Y. Walker, manager of the State Theatre, is entertaining the group with a theater party this afternoon.

A dance will be held tonight at 8:30 at the Woman's Club. Tomorrow at 9 o'clock, the final business session of the association will be held, after which the convention will adjourn.

The spring convention of the association will probably be held at High Point sometime next April. Delegates from the following schools are present at the convention.

Duke, North Carolina College for Women, Queens Chlorea, State, Wake Forest, Meredith, Flora MacDonald, Catawba, Salem, Mars Hill, Campbell, Greensboro College, Davidson.

WOMAN WITH GUN REPULSES PICKETS

Milwaukee, Nov. 3. — (AP) — A woman, pistol in hand held off 75 milk strikers pickets today until deputies arrived to disperse them.

Near Waukesha a crowd of pickets trooped into the barnyard on the C. W. Fletcher farm. The objective of the picket was a milk truck owned by a Milwaukee dairy company.

As the pickets moved toward the truck to dump its contents, Mrs. Fletcher appeared, fire in her eye and a pistol in her hand.

"Stay away from that truck," she shouted.

The hefty pickets backed away somewhat sheepishly. A few minutes later 16 deputies appeared, cleared the way with a tear gas bomb, and released the truck.

BANKS WILL TAKE HOLIDAY NOVEMBER 11

Armistice Day Will Be Official Legal Holiday in The Future

Co-operating with the American Legion in its annual observance of Armistice Day, the banks of this city will observe full holiday on Saturday, November 11. Information has also been received to the effect that the banks of the surrounding territory will observe a similar holiday.

Hereafter there has been some discussion as to whether or not Armistice Day was a legal holiday, and in view of the fact that tobacco markets in some of the cities wished to remain open for the day, it was impossible for the banks to close.

This year, however, the day falling on Saturday, tobacco markets will be closed so the banks will observe the holiday. Under the recently drawn bankers' code Armistice Day has been set aside as a legal holiday, which means that as soon as the code is approved by national authorities there will be no more question as to whether or not the banks will observe the day. Next year, of course, Armistice Day will be on Sunday, but following the regular custom of observing holidays, the following day will be observed.

Pitt County Post of the American Legion is making preparations for observance of Armistice Day here, and making the day a legal holiday, will add much to the occasion.

Second Typhoon Hits Philippines

Manila, Nov. 3. — (AP) — A second deadly typhoon, the Visayas group of the Philippines archipelago within a week moved northward across the China Sea today leaving dead variously estimated between twenty and thirty and heavy property damage.

Accompanied by a torrential downpour, the wind reached a velocity of one hundred miles an hour, destroying hundreds of picturesque grass native huts, other buildings and a number of small boats.

FINE OF $500 PUT ON AUTOMOBILE KILLER

Hertford, N. C., Nov. 3. — Wealthy C. Riddick, negro, charged with manslaughter in connection with an automobile accident in which Lonnie Smith, ten-year-old Perquimans school boy was killed, was found guilty in Superior Court here yesterday afternoon.

Judge Walter L. Small said he would fine the woman $500 and costs, or impose a prison sentence. Defense counsel was allowed until today to find out if the woman can pay the fine.

The maximum penalty for manslaughter, said Judge Small, is 20 years in prison, and the minimum four months in prison.

LARGE CROWD HEARS FARLEY AT RALEIGH

Democratic Leader Urges Tar Heels to Vote For Repeal of Prohibition

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 3. — (AP) — Speaking to 2,500 North Carolinians in Memorial Auditorium here today, Postmaster-General James A. Farley urged that Tar Heel voters next Tuesday keep faith with the President and vote for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. Leading Democrats of the State, including Governor Ehringhaus, Senator Bailey and Congressman Lindsay C. Warren sat on the platform, as Mrs. Palmer Jernan, National Democratic Chairman, presided over the gathering. The National Democratic Chairman was given an ovation as he was presented by Senator Bailey.

It was obvious that his audience was composed of persons for and against repeal, and Cal K. Burgess, State Chairman of the United Dry Forces, sat in the second row in the audience. A delegation from South Carolina, headed by Senator James F. Byrnes and Democratic Chairman Claude N. Sapp, were here to drive Mr. Farley to Columbia this afternoon so he can make another repeal speech there tonight.

Farley opened his address by complimenting the wonderful history of this "grand old State," and recounted its contributions to the Democratic party, including the leaders in the present administration. He discussed the progress of President Roosevelt's program, and then turned to the wiping out of prohibition.

MUCH SECRECY AS TO FOREIGN GOLD BUYING

Domestic Price For Newly Mined Precious Metal Mounts to $32.57 Today

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3. — (AP) — A price of $32.57 was established today for Reconstruction Finance Corporation purchases of newly-mined gold, an advance of 21 cents over yesterday's quotation and 31 cents higher than the price of bullion at London quoted at $32.26, an increase of 15 cents over yesterday.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3. — (AP) — The United States today adhered to two reasons to strict secrecy as to its gold purchasing abroad—first to avoid stirring other countries into a monetary war and second to keep speculators in the dark. There were of course other facts behind the decision not to announce every day what the United States is paying for the bullion. Among these is that officials were not too anxious to tell the rest of the world what we are doing. Purchases are being left to the Federal Reserve of New York, which has authority to release the R. F. C. debentures for the gold.

Since the Reserve Bank has no authority to dispose of these debentures abroad, it is asking reserve member banks to import the gold and accept the debentures in payment.

Late News Flashes From Over World

World's Fair Next Year.

Chicago, Nov. 3. — (AP) — Officials of the World's Fair today decided to hold the exposition over for 1934. The action was taken by members of the World's Fair Association composed of original charter members of the organization that made the exposition possible. The members vote to amend the by-laws of the association to permit a continuance next year. Officials said they expected little difficulty in obtaining the needed legislation. About $35,000,000 has been taken in at the gate and by concessions since the exposition opened five months ago.

SODOMY CASE BEFORE JURY

Only One Case Disposed of By Court Here During Yesterday

Only one case was disposed of in Criminal Court here yesterday, and the other case begun shortly after the noon hour continued through the entire day, and this morning reaching the jury just before the court recessed for the noon hour.

The case disposed of yesterday was that against Noah Jones and Will Jenkins, negroes, charged with stealing hams from Joe Teel. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty as to both the defendants.

The sodomy case against Ray Jones was begun immediately following the noon hour yesterday and did not get to the jury until noon today.

J. H. Blount Approves Plan For Boosting This Section

J. H. Blount, head of the Blount-Harvey Company, one of the leading business establishments of this section of the State, and former president of the North Carolina Merchants' Association, this morning stated that he approved heartily of The Reflector's plan to tell the world about Greenville through an attractive rotogravure section.

Mr. Blount said: "Greenville is a good town, one of the very best in the entire State, for that matter, but it can be made an even bigger and better town by the addition of some diversified small businesses. With new industries, roll. New industries will bring workers, and skilled mechanics; of laborers, but skilled mechanics; of workers, executives, good citizens. With new industries, we means more people to support churches, schools, our stores, our theatres, our newspapers, and our municipal and county affairs.

"Decidedly southward is the trend of capital today, and those communities which have distinct advantages, such as Greenville, and combine them with a hospitable attitude toward investments, industrial, social and commercial, are the ones that are the ones that are reaping the greatest benefits as well-rounded communities.

"Every sane business man knows that this is the age of newspaper advertising, and that it will sell anything from a cake of soap to a city. I sincerely believe that our progressive little city offers as great opportunity for new industries as any in the eastern half of the State. It appears to me that the taking stock of the community periodically, and of its achievements is a most worthy undertaking. Your rotogravure edition in such attractive form should serve as a starting point for new and greater achievements for the community."

REVIVE TALK OF SUCCESSOR FOR JOHNSON

Johnson Says His Personal Connection With NRA Nearing An End

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3. — The question of a successor to Hugh Johnson as administrator of the National Recovery Administration has been revived as the result of the General's announcement of the reorganization of the NRA.

In some quarters the belief was expressed that Johnson probably was endeavoring so to fashion NRA that he could hand over to his successor an efficient and smooth-working organization. The division of authority, contemplated in the reorganization, removes the "one-man show" aspect of NRA which has been dominant from the start.

Johnson has said his own personal share in NRA is nearing an end. And there are indications that the President has given some thought to his successor.

There are others, however, who believe his stay at the helm of NRA will be prolonged further than originally intended. What may turn out to be a critical period for NRA has not yet been reached.

A Test Ahead?

It now appears that a final test of the validity of the National Industry Recovery Act will not reach the Supreme Court before the first of the year, if then.

James B. Beck, of Pennsylvania, former solicitor general and now a member of the House of Representatives, believes such a test is inevitable. Beck, a recognized authority on constitutional law, he said:

"It seems inconceivable that the industrialists of America, who have been accustomed to economic freedom will not... challenge the validity of the Recovery Act."

It may be Johnson will remain at the head of NRA until the Supreme Court has reviewed and passed on this question. Conceivably, a court decision might make necessary important changes in the plan of NRA.

General Johnson "could be a valuable man to have around in such a case."

Still the Soldier

Now that Johnson has re-organized NRA, one outstanding trait of his leadership is discernible.

He took the National Recovery Act in much the same way that he would take a plan of battle sanctioned by his commander-in-chief. He mapped a course falling within the exact limits of that act, and going no further.

Whatever differences he had with his subordinates revolved around this fact. With Professor Osburn and later with Dudley Cates it was the same.

These two officials appear to have envisioned a broader view of NRA than set forth in the act itself. Whatever might have been Johnson's ideas as to the future, he dismissed them. He was there to deal with an emergency, and with definite instructions.

HOLD TWO MEN IN CONNECTION WITH ROBBERY

Charlotte Men Held As Suspects in Robbery at Monroe Yesterday

Charlotte, N. C., Nov. 3. — (AP) — A. M. Hicks and S. L. Simms, of Charlotte, were arrested here today and taken to Monroe for questioning in the theft yesterday of $1,733 from the sheriff's office there.

The men denied any knowledge of the robbery which was accomplished when a clerk in Sheriff Frank Niven's office was called out by a ruse. While the clerk was absent the safe was rifled.

Soviet Device Still Waves

STEVENSON QUILTS POST

Head of Home Loan Board Resigns; John H. Fahey Named Successor

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3. — (AP) — William F. Stevenson, of South Carolina, resigned today as chairman of the Home Loan Board and President Roosevelt appointed John H. Fahey, of Massachusetts, to the office.

Stevenson in a letter to the President, continued as a member of the board. In the re-organization of the home owners' relief agency the president appointed T. D. Webb, of Tennessee, as vice-chairman.

Stevenson in a letter to the President suggested the adoption of a rotation system for chairman of the Home Loan Board, and in line with that policy asked that he be relieved of the chairmanship duties.

Mr. Roosevelt, who has been reported to desire greater speed by the board of refinancing mortgages, readily agreed with Stevenson's suggestion.

Teachers Meeting At Raleigh Today

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 3. — (AP) — With attendance expected to pass the 1,500 mark by tonight, North Central District teachers opened their eleventh annual convention here today. This morning was taken up with departmental meetings, and the first general session was scheduled for this afternoon.

Dr. Thomas H. Briggs, of Columbia University, will speak at the annual banquet tonight.

A general session tomorrow morning will conclude the convention. More than a score of departmental gatherings will be held.

Delegations Appear Before School Committee

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 3. — (AP) — Several delegations asking additional teachers or changes in the school transportation situation in their home districts appeared before the State School Commission here today. The Commission was in executive session most of the day as is customary, but it is understood certain legal fights to test the legality of salaries paid white and colored teachers were discussed. The white teachers get as high as $90 per month with the top salary for the colored teachers at $70. Among the delegations heard were groups from Bladen, Robeson Counties.

40 MILLION POUNDS SOLD

Season's Average Getting Closer to Parity $5,986,077.83 Paid Out.

Stronger prices were the order of market this week with the result that the day on the Greenville tobacco market the week's average for the period ending Thursday night was $19.31 per hundred pounds. Sales for the season have passed the forty millions pounds mark with growers being paid an average price for the season of $14.94. With the crop only about half sold, and with much of the better tobacco yet to be sold, belief was expressed by some that the season's final average would closely approach the parity price of 17 cents or better. Prices on the better grades have continued to show strength during the week just ended and many growers have averaged around 50 cents per pound for whole loads of tobacco offered this week.

The following official figures were made public this morning by K. W. Cobb, market supervisor:

Sales Thursday, 695,714 pounds for $17,208.88, average $19.31.
Sales for week, 5,634,776 pounds for $1,088,249.69, average $19.31.
Sales for season 40,336,564 pounds for $5,986,077.83, average $14.94.

Comparative figures show for the same week last season sales of $3,581,266 pounds for $323,053.91, average $13.69.

Season's sales to the same date last year were 31,813,992 for $3,892,873.78, average $12.23.

For the corresponding week of the 1931 season the average price was $10.74, which places the price this season almost twice that of the same week of the 1931 season and six cents a pound above the average price for the same week last season.

With lighter offerings at the present time and in view of the better price situation, warehousemen are advising the growers to market their crop as speedily as is practicable at this time.

PROOF OF THE PUDDING

There is an old saying that "The Proof of the Pudding is the Eating Thereof," and what is true in that case is true in getting the fight done on the tobacco markets. If you are not among the large number of growers now selling on the Greenville tobacco market we urge you to pay this market a visit and see for yourself that, grade for grade, there is no market anywhere that can surpass Greenville. The reason that the Greenville tobacco market has shown a continued growth from year to year until it now occupies the position of the world's largest market is because the newcomers to this market each year have become regular patrons of the market thereafter. If you are not now using the Greenville market we urge you to give it a trial.

BE SURE YOU VOTE

Regardless of your attitude on the prohibition repeal question, we urge you to be sure that you vote when the matter is to be decided at the polls next Tuesday. In some states the vote on the issue has been so small that now comes the cry that the issue was carried by only a small minority of the voters. Let us hope that such will not be the case in North Carolina. It is an issue upon which the people should decide and by that we mean all the people who are qualified to vote. Regardless of your views in the matter we urge you to vote them at next Tuesday's election. Only in this way can the wishes of the true majority be made known.

STORY WITH A MORAL

(Hickory Daily Record)
Americans always have liked stories with a moral—and what's more, we have always insisted on having the writer point out the moral in so many words, explaining just what he meant to convey. Fortunately, however, a writer in the current issue of The Rotarian Magazine has recounted a little tale with an excellent moral, but he has neglected to apply it to the NRA where The Record believes it belongs. It is a story of a medieval village that decided to hold a great feast. To insure its success, a huge cask was built into which each participant agreed to pour a bottle of wine. "If I fill my bottle with water," soliloquized one, "and empty it into the barrel with the others, surely it won't be noticed." The big day arrived, as days inevitably do, and with all the villagers assembled the great cask was tapped. And lo! only water flowed forth. Each of the villagers also had reasoned, "My bit will not be missed."

The world's smallest typewriter weighs but one ounce.

URGES DRY VOTE

Editor Greenville Reflector,
Greenville, N. C.
Dear Editor:—Will you allow me space in your paper to make an appeal to all those who favor retraining the prohibition law in our Constitution to go to the polls on Tuesday, November 7th and say so? This is the first chance we have had since 1908 to say whether we believe the present law is the best so far found to regulate the liquor traffic, and to say that we want it to remain the law of the land, until something better is proposed. So far, nothing has been offered as a substitute for it, but what has already been tried and discarded. Regardless of what other States do in this matter, let us say by our votes that we believe in the law, and don't want it repealed. It will mean that our State will be talked of all over the United States, and will help us to keep our own State law from being repealed. If all who are against repeal will vote on Tuesday, we will win by a big majority. Men and women, cast your votes on Tuesday for "No convention and against repeal." (Signed) W. S. HARDEN.

CHILDREN'S DAY AT VANCE COUNTY FAIR

Henderson, Nov. 3.—While no actual estimate of the attendance were available, it was evident to every one that the crowd at the Golden Belt Fair Wednesday was the largest so far of the week. It was school day at the fair and thousands of children from all over the county and many from adjoining counties were in attendance.

All afternoon and all evening until after 10 o'clock the grounds were crowded with people and automobiles, and the shows, concessions and rides enjoyed a bounteous prosperity for the time. It was apparent that folks had money to spend and they were spending it.

HUGE BENEFICATION BY HOUSE OF MITSU

Tokyo, Nov. 3.—(AP)—What is believed to be the largest private benefaction in Japan's history, a $5,400,000 foundation for relieving distress among peasants, was announced today by the old wealthy Mitsui banking family.

Scientific and industrial research and requests to charity organizations were included.

Vernacular newspapers recalled that reactionary patriotic agitators in the last two years made the Mitsui house a target as a result of agrarian poverty and resentment against capitalist profit.

STOKES Y. T. H. F. FATHER AND SON BANQUET

Stokes, N. C., Nov. 3.—At a recent meeting of the Young Tar Heel Farmers' organization, plans were begun for the annual Father and Son banquet. The question of how the banquet should be financed came up. There was a suggestion that each member of the Y. T. H. F. organization bring two pounds of tobacco, which each one agreed to do. A Tobacco Day was set aside for the vocational teacher. All boys brought tobacco on that day excepting those who had none, and they agreed to pay the price of two pounds.

This tobacco was graded and sold in Greenville. It weighed 96 pounds and sold for $23.95, and averaged $24.95.

The banquet will be given at Stokes High School sometime between the two holidays—Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Sundown Stories

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

"Of course," growled Jelly Bear, "there are apple trees and nut trees in Fiddle Muddle, but Willy Nilly will never get in his supplies for the winter if we are around there—and it may be that later on we'll need some of his food too."

"But Grandpa Grouchy Galump has a beechnut tree, a chestnut tree, and an oak tree with fine acorns, and two apple trees on his place."

"We can have a marvelous feast. We'll wait until the sun goes down and while I'm eating you can stay on guard. While you're eating I'll stay on guard. It will be dangerous, because those Galumps are always on the look-out for trouble."

As soon as the sun went down and it became dusk the Bears started their feast. The nuts were so good, the apples juicy and delicious.

Once Jelly Bear fell from the apple tree and lights appeared in the Galumps' little pink house. "They heard me fall," whispered Jelly Bear.

"Hush," said Honey Bear. "If we keep very quiet, they'll think we just heard a creaking branch."

After a short time the lights were turned out in the Galumps' house and all was still. The Bears continued their feast and it was almost dawn before they stopped eating.

"Just a short nap," said Jelly Bear, "and we'll be away before the daylight comes."

They curled up for a few winks of sleep but after their feast they were soon sleeping heavily and soundly. It was thus that Grandpa Galump saw them.

"I'll get my gun!" he exclaimed when he saw what had happened.

Bi-Lateral Pan-American Trade Pacts Program For Montevideo Conference

By GIDEON SEYMOUR
Montevideo, Uruguay, Nov. 3.—(AP)—The republics of the Americas, getting together for the first time in five years, will convert their seventh Pan-American Congress here in December into an economic conference.

It will be only one-third the size of the world gathering in London and therefore — they hope — have three the chances for success.

Convinced that economic problems overshadow every other governmental topic of the day, but that the world conference was too unwieldy and tried to solve them on too broad a scale, the Pan-American nations will not try to make an agreement embracing the whole hemisphere.

Instead they will plan for two-nation trade agreements which can be extended until they achieve the results of a hemispherical pact.

This system, they believe, can reckon with individual details which no general agreement could consider.

It is hoped by Uruguay that all twenty-one republics of the Pan-American Union will send delegates to Montevideo, as they did to the last congress in Havana in 1928.

Invitations have been sent to El Salvador, although its government is not recognized by the United States or several other American neighbors, and to Panama, the only country which sent no delegations to London.

"Brass Tacks" Program
The congress will open December 3, and leaders hope that it may adjourn three weeks later.

Enrique Buero, secretary general of the congress, "brass tacks" program which allows but two days for the formalities of organization and sets time limits on oratory.

It contemplates that by Christmas the congress shall have built a foundation upon which the republics from the Great Lakes to Cape Horn can be laced and cross-laced by bi-lateral treaties into an economic entity which can pull itself out of depression.

Washington naval pact and under construction since 1928, are only half finished.

Officials at the Ferrol and Cartagena shipyards report the craft will not be ready for another five years and some navy officers fear the ships will be obsolete before they are floated.

The eleven include two cruisers an airplane carrier seven destroyers and a submarine.

Outrageous Fortune

Chapter 41
THE MAJOR CALLS
AS JIM RANDAL entered the free library in Ledington, a car stopped at Miss Patsy Arbuthnot's wicket gate and a small dapper man got out.

He was an air of military impatience, and after the briefest intervals his knock was repeated, and so loudly as to bring Patsy Ann out of the scullery without waiting to dry her hands.

He wore an air of military impatience, and after the briefest intervals his knock was repeated, and so loudly as to bring Patsy Ann out of the scullery without waiting to dry her hands.

Her color rose. She put up a hand to her hair, laid a grimace on her temple, and said in an agitated voice:

"Oh good morning, Major Anderson — I'm dying!"

"Hang it all, the girl looked as if she had been killing a pig."

"With this in the back of his mind, he removed his hat and said, 'Good morning.'"

"I'm afraid I'm an early riser," he proceeded. "It's come on a matter of business. Perhaps I might see Miss Leigh."

Lindbergh Flights Give U. S. Lead IN Arctic Lanes

Copenhagen. — (AP) — America has "the inside track" in plans for establishing a trans-Atlantic airline connecting the United States and Europe by the northern route, because of missionary work by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

This point was brought out by the administration of Greenland following reports in the London press that the British had provisional plans for a weekly service between Liverpool and Montreal.

Americans Get Option
The Danish Colonial authorities feel themselves morally bound to Pan-American Airways, the American organization, which has been given an option by Greenland for bases there.

"The Imperial Airway (the great British organization," the governor said, "has not even discussed with us the possibilities of using the Greenland link in a trans-Atlantic air route and, having promised the American company represented by Col. Lindbergh to consider granting a concession to it, we cannot permit Imperial Airways making use of Greenland."

British Fail To Act
Consequently, we cannot help the British before having concluded negotiations with the Americans.

"A regular air route over Greenland cannot be carried through careful investigations and technical organization. So far, the Americans are the only ones who have systematically investigated conditions."

SEVERAL ARE INJURED IN BUS-CAR COLLISION

Weldon, N. C., Nov. 3.—Tuesday morning, October 31, while en route to Weldon, the Halifax school bus met with an accident near here, J. B. Barnhill, driver of the school truck, attempted to pass a produce truck. As he came abreast the driver of the produce truck increased his speed which prevented the school bus getting past the truck, and as the bus was meeting a car and could not get back to its side of the road, the car and bus crashed head on. The car, a sedan, burst into flames from the impact and was completely demolished. It was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs of Philadelphia, who were en route to Florida. They escaped without injury.

Several occupants of the bus were painfully injured, receiving cuts and bruises.

Lindbergh Suspect

John Gorch, wanted for questioning in far-spread places, was taken into custody in Boston for a quizzing in connection with the Lindbergh kidnapping case. Officers noted a resemblance to the much sought "John" who received Lindbergh's $50,000 ransom. But John F. Condon, intermediary, said he was not the man. (Associated Press Photo)

when a committee from the Alumni Association composed of Chas. Robbins, Jr., Edwin Hedrick, Riley Martin, Miss Annie Robbins, Rosalie Andrews and Mrs. Riley Martin met with Prof. J. H. Allred and Coach C. Virgil Yow plans were laid for home-coming day which is to be held on the 25th of November at which time the old men who played football for the Panthers when High Point College was putting out a football team, will come here to meet a team composed of the boys now in school at the Pointers institution coached by Coach Yow.

experts are constantly studying the plant food needs of tobacco—from the time the plant beds are sown until the crop is in the barn. These research men spend their entire time locating, testing and refining materials, and developing the correct combination of these materials to produce the finest quality leaf. And their continuous field tests prove that Royster Fertilizers bring real, practical results.

When you use Royster Tobacco Fertilizer, you can be certain that it is the finest fertilizer you can buy—no matter what you pay. That is because for nearly fifty years we have made only one quality of tobacco fertilizer—the best that can be made. And that is why there is more Royster Tobacco Fertilizer used in North Carolina and Virginia than any other brand.

New York Cotton

New York, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, one to three points advance on higher Liverpool cables and further advance in the government gold price. Trading was moderate after the fall, but orders were well divided and fluctuations were narrow. After selling up to 9.60, December reacted to 9.57, with the general list a point or two above yesterday's close at the end of the first half hour. Little more price-fixing developed during the middle of the morning, and the price worked up a point or two generally, but business continued quiet. At midday December was holding at 9.59 and May 9.95, with active months showing net advances of three or four points.

Hull made this statement at his press conference after being closeted an hour with Dean Acheson, under-secretary of the treasury.
