PRESIDENT SEEKS A NATIONALIZED GOLD POLICY

U. S. Soldiers Landed In Foochow To Aid Americans

ACTION COMES ON HEELS OF NEW DISORDERS

Nationalist Party Goes Ashore to Protect Americans and Property; Troops go On Guard in American Quarters; Two Nationalist Marines Slain by Leaderless Rebel Band

Foochow, China, Jan. 15.—(AP)—United States sailors landed here today to protect American lives and property in disorders accompanying the evacuation of this fallen revolutionary capital by the retreating Nineteenth Route Army.

At the request of Borden Burke, consul in charge of the U. S. consular district, a national party came ashore from the American gun-boat Tulsa and immediately went on guard in the quarter.

The Tulsa had been standing by since Nationalist troops began a drive southward down the Min River valley and were led north to put down the secessionist movement in the Fukien province.

Early today two Nationalist marines were slain by the leaderless rebel band. Further disorders developed among opposing Chinese factions.

Shortly after the American were ordered ashore the Nationalist marines were withdrawn to vessels in a separate attempt by Admiral Chen Shao-Kwan to relieve the grave situation.

This, with the arrival of the 10,000-ton British cruiser Berwick after a dash from Hong Kong was believed to have lessened considerably the danger to the Foochow population.

MORE WEDDING BELLS FOR PITT

January Marriage License Total Swelled to 61 With Saturday's Business

Fourteen licenses to marry have been issued to Pitt County people since last Friday, records in the office of Register of Deeds J. C. Gaskins indicated today.

This carried the month's total to 61, with indications that the number would reach probably a hundred by the end of January. Five of the couples applying for licenses the latter part of the last week were white and the remainder colored.

Colored people have been leading the way to the altar for months, and only on one or two occasions did white people snatch the honor from them. Even then this was only for a day or so at the time.

Nearly two hundred couples obtained license here during the month of December compared with above a hundred for the two previous months. With January just half gone, employees in the office of the Register of Deeds were of the opinion that the present figure would be swelled to greater proportions when the month comes to a close.

The trek to the altar the last four months has been the most pronounced in years; in fact, in the memory of some of the oldest citizens. "Never have I heard anything like it," is the opinion evident on all sides, and many of them believe they never will again.

No section of the county has been immune from the epidemic. It has struck with telling effect even in the most remote sections and couples who had been delaying marriage for years because of poor business conditions, were the ones most seriously affected.

The condition was expected to continue for sometime to come, or at least until most of the eligibles have taken the vow.

J. R. DAVIS SUCCUMBS TO ILLNESS HERE

Farmville Banker and Business Man Dies After Serious Illness of Two Weeks

J. R. Davis, 71, banker and business man of Farmville, died at the local hospital this morning at 11:30 o'clock following critical illness of two weeks, although he had been in declining health for several months.

Funeral services will be conducted from the home of his brother, F. M. Davis, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, and burial will be made in the Farmville cemetery.

Mr. Davis is survived by two brothers, R. L. Davis and F. M. Davis, both of Farmville. He is unmarried.

He was a native of Farmville and spent all of his life there where he used his influence in the development of the business, social and religious life of the community.

He was vice-president and director of the Banks of Farmville since its organization in 1904, and a member of the firm of R. L. Davis & Brothers. He had been connected with the financial and business life of the city for over fifty years.

Mr. Davis was actively interested in the civic development of Farmville, and news of his death was received with sorrow by a wide circle of friends.

In addition to being one of the leading business men of Farmville, Mr. Davis was a member of the board of trustees of Farmville schools over a period of many years. He was intensely interested in education and his work in this connection aided materially in development of educational facilities of the community.

In addition to being in business with his brothers, Mr. Davis was interested in several other enterprises in Farmville and other sections of the county.

He was a man of keen business judgment and his vision played a conspicuous part in the development of the Farmville territory.

Survivors will be: Pall bearers will be: Active—George Davis, Fred Davis, Frank Davis, C. A. Lang, G. E. Ballew and Mr. Allen.

Honorary—J. I. Morgan, A. C. Monk, J. O. Pollard, W. A. Pollard, D. E. Oglesby, Judd Walker, G. A. Roebuck, Mac Pollard, John T. Thorne, G. A. Rouse, J. Y. Monk, John Stancil, T. E. Joyner, B. S. Smith, B. O. Turnage, T. C. Turnage, W. J. Turnage, T. M. Dail, W.

DREDGE WORK APPROVED ON TWO CREEKS

CWA Gives Okay to Dredging Operation On Swift and Grindle Creeks

The Civil Works Administration has approved the use of two dredges in drainage and mosquito control work on Swift and Grindle Creeks. It was made known today at the office of K. T. Futrell, Pitt County CWA administrator.

The dredges carry additional appropriations for the two projects. Swift Creek receiving $32,000 and Grindle Creek, $49,000. This boosts the total fund for Swift Creek to approximately $100,000 and Grindle Creek approximately $50,000.

The total sums, of course, also include work on the tributaries of the two streams.

Mr. Futrell said the two projects were approved by telegraph Saturday night. A committee headed by Dr. R. S. McGeachy, who is directing the drainage work in Pitt, visited Raleigh Friday and told the State administrator of the need of dredges on both creeks so that the program might be a success. It was stated that so much rubbish had accumulated along both streams it would be a matter of impossibility to clean them by hand as is being done on most other bodies of the county.

The committee also reported favorably on the drainage of Pasterford swamp in Greenville Township. This carried a sum of $13,000.

Workers on relief projects in this county last week received a payroll of $14,000. Mr. Futrell said, and it was expected the total payroll this week would be $15,000.

The total quota of over 1,000 persons has been at work the last two weeks. The pay-roll has increased each week, this being caused largely by the beginning of special projects such as the improvement program at the college, public schools and activities confined to women.

STATE LEGION HEAD SPEAKS HERE TONIGHT

Capt. Tom Daniels, of New Bern, to Attend Seventh District Conference

Captain Tom Daniels, of New Bern, commander of the North Carolina Department of the American Legion, will speak at the Seventh District Conference of the Legion to be held at Sheppard Memorial Library tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Announcement of the coming of Captain Daniels was made last week by J. H. Rose, Commander of Pitt County Post of the American Legion. Captain and Mrs. Daniels will be dinner guests of Commander and Mrs. Rose at their home on Tenth Street.

District officers and post officials from all towns comprising the Seventh Street District were expected to attend the session and hear Captain Daniels outline the four-point program of the Legion, considered one of the most ambitious in history.

J. M. Caldwell, of Charlotte, State Adjutant, and Jack Lang, formerly of Farmville, but now of Charlotte, District Commander, will also attend the meeting.

Mr. Rose said this morning that final plans had been completed for the conference, and incidentally, the first visit of the State Commander to Greenville since his elevation to the high post.

The public has been given a cordial invitation to attend and gain some idea of what the Legion is attempting to do this year in the way of a national program.

HEVIA NAMED PRESIDENT OF CUBA TODAY

Secretary of Agriculture Chosen to Succeed Pres. Grau San Martin

Havana, Cuba, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Carlos Hevia, Secretary of Agriculture, was named president of Cuba today.

Havana, Cuba, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Government leaders, weary from a night-long session that ended without a vote, were called to meet again today to name a successor to President Ramon Grau San Martin, who tendered his resignation last night.

Carlos Mendieta, Nationalist leader, and Grau's young secretary of agriculture, Carlos Hevia, were reported to be the leading candidates over when members of the provisional junta, cabinet members and high army officers, were debating.

A well informed government official said Mendieta, former congressman and soldier, had the advantage because he was supported by Batista and his bayonets. Colonel Fulgencio Batista is commander of the army.

It was revealed that Secretary of the Interior, Antonio Guiteras, holder also of a portfolio of war, was refused admittance to the closed and well guarded meeting at Columbia early in the morning.

YOUTHFUL JOURNALIST ABANDONS PARTY

Asheville, N. C., Jan. 15.—(AP)—NeRobert Spiker, 13, of Las Vegas, Nev., member of a group of students at Robert E. Lee Military Institute, Los Angeles, Calif., who are on a transcontinental automobile trip, ran away from the party here today, but later was picked up by police.

The officers were asked by Major Richard M. Cannon, who with Mrs. Cannon, is supervising the trip, to look for him.

When he was located young Spiker objected, officers said, to being returned to Major Cannon's care and they wired his grandfather and guardian, E. H. Hart, of Las Vegas, asking if he wished his grandson to continue the trip.

While awaiting a reply the boy was being kept at police headquarters.

Major Cannon is a son of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

SEVERAL ARE NABBED FOR ESPIONAGE

Nine Foreigners and 30 Russians Arrested By Moscow Police In Roundup

Moscow, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Nine foreigners and thirty Russians were under arrest today in what Soviet police believe was a new case of espionage which may rival the dramatic Metropolitan Vickers affair.

Diplomatic circles in Germany, Austria and Denmark who sought information in the matter were refused permission to see the prisoners and were given no details of the case except that the men had been arrested on a charge of sedition in the Soviet code covering espionage.

The arrests were carried on over a period of months beginning in September and ending in December.

LEAF MARKET PUSHING NEAR OLD RECORD

Sales This Week Expected to Carry Market Near 72,000,000 Mark

The Greenville tobacco market this week will continue to push still nearer the goal of 72,000,000 pounds of tobacco established by the market several years ago and it was hoped the end of the season would find total poundage beyond that figure.

At the end of the weeks sales last Friday the season poundage stood at 69,129,460 and sales this week are expected to find the figure much nearer the goal.

Although offerings continued light today they are expected to pick up the remainder of the week with the coming of clear weather. Sales last week were lighter probably than usual due to damp, rainy weather, but the coming of sunshine was expected to inspire farmers to give immediate attention to re-working the remainder of the crop for marketing.

Although no definite date for the closing of the season has yet been set, it was indicated this would take place probably during the early part of February.

Farmers have been urged repeatedly to re-work the remainder of their crop as this would play an important part in the price which they receive.

The price situation showed quite an improvement last week with an increased number of buying orders in the hands of the buying companies and there was every indication this condition would continue this week, and in fact, until the closing period.

Complaint of reports from various markets of the belt over the week-end showed that Greenville was leading by 1,180,000 pounds.

Brantly Youth Passes Sunday; Burial Near Bath

James Edward Brantly, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Brantly, died suddenly yesterday morning at 9 o'clock at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Martha Waters, near Whitehurst station. Death followed illness of two months.

Funeral services were conducted from the home of Mrs. Waters this afternoon at 2 o'clock by Rev. Luther Little and burial was made near Bath in Beaufort County.

This was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Brantly, who formerly lived in Greenville.

VIRGINIA TOBACCONIST IS BURIED SUNDAY

South Boston, Va., Jan. 15.—(AP)—Funeral services were conducted from the home here Sunday afternoon for John S. Irby, 30, prominent tobacconist, who was found dead in his room Friday morning, apparently from a heart attack.

Interment was in Oak Ridge Cemetery.

Roosevelt Asks Congress For Permission To Reduce Gold In Dollar 60 Per Cent

Late News Flashes From Over World

Revives Gold Regulations

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today issued an executive order reviving gold regulations over foreign exchange transactions extending the license policy to individuals as well as the banks.

Dollar Drops

(By The Associated Press) The dollar declined severely in foreign exchange markets today after President Roosevelt sent his message to Congress dealing with the monetary situation.

In terms of the market at New York quotations on the dollar value were $6.31 of parity.

Based on the prevailing price of domestic gold of $34.06, it announced it had a value of about $60.69 per cent for more parity. An announcement made at Washington that effected a 50 per cent reduction in the permissible limit to revaluation at 60 per cent.

The President said he wanted the government to get any dollar profit resulting from the cutting the content and proposed that out of such profits the government set up a $2,000,000,000 fund for the purchases and sale of gold in foreign exchange.

TWO WEEKS COURT TERM BEGINS HERE

Judge Frank A. Daniels of Goldsboro Presiding Over Sessions

A two-week term of Superior Court, for the trial of civil and criminal cases, got down to work this morning on a calendar of between sixty and a hundred cases. Judge Frank A. Daniel, of Goldsboro, presided.

The first week will be confined to the hearing of civil actions and the second to criminal.

Although the civil calendar is a full one, it was expected the majority of cases would be disposed of. The criminal docket will be one of the heaviest in several months, due largely to the fact that this is the first sitting of criminal court in three months. The session will be marked by the selection of a six months' grand jury and the charge by Judge Daniels.

Two cases of importance will be considered by the grand jury, the murder charge against Heber Ayers, held for the alleged slaying of Floyd Cox early in December, and the criminal attack charge against Jim Green, negro, confessed assailant of Miss Marie House, several miles from the city Sunday before last. He is also alleged to have beaten Miss House's escort, Steve Edwards, over the head with a club, knocking him unconscious and producing injuries which required fourteen stitches to close the scalp wound.

Several other actions of more or less importance to the people of the county are scheduled to come up for hearing during the week.

LEAF HOUSE DESTROYED BY FLAMES

Central Warehouse At Robersonville Burned to Ground Saturday Night

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the Central Tobacco Warehouse at Robersonville Saturday night entailing a loss of several thousand dollars, according to information received by tobaccoists here yesterday.

The Greenville Fire Department responded to a call for aid and assisted Robersonville firemen in battling the flames which also destroyed a small dwelling house in close proximity to the tobacco building.

The redrying plant owned by W. M. Seales of Greenville, also caught fire several times, but each time firemen played a stream of water on the structure and prevented serious damage.

The origin of the blaze was undetermined. A small amount of tobacco in the warehouse also was said to have been destroyed.

The fire had made such headway when discovered that the volunteer firefighters found themselves unable to cope with the blaze and sent a call for aid to Greenville and surrounding towns.

Lespedeza For Retired Acres

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Reduction of cotton and tobacco acreage is a ready-made opportunity for making a large scale demonstration of lespedeza as a soil building, erosion control and forage crop, in the opinion of Dr. A. J. Pieters of the Department of Agriculture.

LIMIT TO HIS POWERS UNDER PRESENT LAW

Chief Executive Expresses Relief That A ny Revaluation Under 60 Per Cent Would Not be For Public Good; Wants Government to Get Any Dollar Profit Resulting From Reduction

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—(AP)—President Roosevelt asked Congress today to nationalize the country's gold policy and to give him authority for a regulated flexible dollar with a maximum cut of 60 per cent in the gold content.

Under the present law he is limited to a 50 per cent reduction in any cut of the gold content he deems wise.

In his action the President did not actually devalue the dollar, saying: "Because of world uncertainties I do not believe it desirable in the public interest that the exact value be now fixed."

"The President is authorized by present legislation to fix the permissible limit to revaluation at 50 per cent."

"Careful study leads me to believe that any revaluation at more than 60 per cent of the present value would not be in the public interest. I, therefore, recommend to Congress that it fix the upper limit of permissible revaluation at 60 per cent."

The President said he wanted the government to get any dollar profit resulting from the cutting the content and proposed that out of such profits the government set up a $2,000,000,000 fund for the purchases and sale of gold in foreign exchange.

WOMAN IS INJURED WHEN DOOR FALLS

Kinston, N. C., Jan. 15.—Mrs. J. Eason, 82, member of a prominent Snow Hill family, was seriously injured when a door fell on her in her home, a report said today. Her right thigh was broken. Her condition was reported satisfactory. Mrs. Eason's husband is a former county commissioner.

GIRL'S BODY FOUND IN LAKE

Mystery Surrounds The Drowning of Miss Pearl Fulton at Kings Mountain

King's Mountain, N. C., Jan. 15.—(AP)—The body of Miss Pearl Fulton, King's Mountain school teacher and a member of a prominent family, was found floating in Lake Monticla, two miles from here, early this morning.

A watchman at the lake said he heard a car park near the lake about midnight, but paid no attention to it until daylight, when he found it on the lake bank and saw the body about fifty feet out.

He notified police, who announced after an investigation, that they had uncovered no evidence of foul play, but an inquest would be held.

The girl retired at the usual time last night and apparently went out after the family was asleep. She was clothed only in a night gown and bed clothes. Miss Fulton was the daughter of Mrs. H. T. Fulton, and was active in the town's social and religious life.

BLOND GODDESS A New Serial By Herbert Jensen

SYNOPSIS: Frank Grahame, stunner and explorer, tells his friend Winslow about his experience of the day before. Frank, obeying a hunch that came when he saw a silhouette like picture through the window of Myberg's office, followed the car of Janice Kent, who had been counting on him. The famous movie executive, Frank straightens out the tangle that followed a collision between Miss Kent's car and a nondescript taxicab; he believes the collision was planned, and suspects it has a connection with a certain picture of Myberg. But Janice will not credit Frank's hunch. Frank finds himself drawn toward Janice.

Chapter Six SUDEN MYSTERY

"THEN," continued Grahame. "Miss Kent told me that such a thought was ridiculous since Ortega owned a nice automobile." He smiled ruefully. "Her opinion was illogical, feminine and—"

Winslow laughed. "Not at all, Frank. The girl was right. Look here. . . . Ortega hasn't shopped his idea about Hollywood. It's an original, and Myberg's handling him with kid gloves until we're launched on production. Kent knows that. She wants to be in that picture. So do I.

"Although Ortega looks like a bull, he is really a rather personable fellow, and seems to have lots of money. We can't be snooty with him or he'll take his idea elsewhere. Sure we could go ahead without him, but he's got a political pull down where he springs from, and above all we want to go ahead with this thing with as little expense and competition as possible. These days, mistakes are costly."

"I see what you mean," said Grahame slowly. "But why would Ortega, assuming it was he in the tan car last night, engineer an accident? It is annoying Miss Kent? Did she turn him down and he is taking this method to—"

"Listen, Spin, some of those South American birds are dynamite. Particularly with women. You know how they go for blondes. That driver I hit was one of our local boys. A type that would do anything for money, and damn little of it. I wouldn't know what Ortega looks like if I found him in my soap, but—"

Winslow's snort of derision interrupted him. "What an imagination, Frank! What an imagination! You've led such a melodramatic life these last few years that your mind works that way. Forget it. It wasn't Ortega, and if it was, it was just an unexpected accident. Sure, he sends her flowers. He's stuck on her. Bound to be. She's the first movie actress he's met and she's damnably pretty. I suspect you're a little that way yourself, but take some advice from uncle. Lay off."

Grahame was slightly startled. "Why—" he began.

HIS companion grinned with mock malice but withal there was an expression of concern in his eyes.

"Perhaps I'm a great guy to talk to much, Frank. . . . anyhow that's my reputation, but occasionally I speak with a grain of common sense. That girl is not for you, or for any other man for that matter, for at least some time to come. Too ambitious. Not that she's to be blamed for that. She's fought her way to the top around here and she's cagey enough to know that a husband might dim that universal sweetheart appeal stuff that gets her over so big. So she's not having any, thank you.

"She has lots of money and made it herself, legitimately. It's common knowledge around the studios that she was poor once and she's keeping what she's got—"

"Spin—" Grahame's face grew dully red.

The other, in the act of mixing himself another waded him to silence. "It isn't that you would be classified in her mind as a fortune hunter, Frank, although there's lots that would. Yes, of course, I'm talking too much, but we were good friends once and I'm tipping you off even if it's at the price of our friendship." The stunt pilot's mouth drew into stubborn lines.

"Listen. It's said there was an invalid father once. He's gone now, but things were pretty tough then for her. She's like the little princess in the story whose body was bruised by the pea through six thicknesses of mattress. Janice Kent can sense a pan of dishwater and the life it represents six rooms off. It's not that she's cold and selfish, it's—"

GRAHAME'S throat was a little dry as he said, "Selfish! She's fine clean, and young, and charming. She inspires loyalty. I watched some dynamic leadership it enjoyed under Balbo. One of his first acts after taking the portfolio was to continue to the general air staff a secret program to improve the services already remarkable efficiency.

Here is what Cesare Redelli, who taught the Duce to fly back in 1920 and 1921, has to say about the pupil who, while immersed in preparations that were to mould the destinies of Italy, found time to pedal his bicycle over to Avore air field, near Milan, and try his hand at piloting.

"A pupil who scoffs at danger—not for show, but because he is accustomed to it—makes the instructor feel he can achieve results. I always felt that way with Benito Mussolini in my ship."

that little monkey Greene with her last night. He's her slave and works like the devil for her. His bellyhoo smells like the circus, but—" they say she pays him ten thousand a year, although he probably gets half of that."

"She loves it. And as for loyalty, "He gets his ten thousand all right," stated Grahame stiffly. "She told me so herself."

"Bunk," said Winslow, swallowing from his glass.

Grahame eyed him coldly.

I watched that monkey, Greens, with her.

"You wouldn't think she'd lie to me, do you?"

"Wouldn't I? The stunt man laughed and Grahame wondered why he had never before noticed how disagreeably Winslow could laugh.

"Frank. . . you sound as if you're getting it rather bad. Don't do it. That gal, candidly, is reputed to be the coldest piece of goods that ever dimpled at the Kleigs out here. She'd cold-deck her own grandmother. Scisish? Perhaps not in a general sense. But on the lot—remember I say 'on the lot'—she'd swipe a starving extra's lunch if she didn't get hers on time. She—"

At the look on Grahame's face he paused and took a swallow of his drink. "Now don't get headed about it, buzzard. I told you, this is just a friendly tip." The remaining contents of his glass gurgled down his throat. Ice tinkled through the quiet room as he set down the glass. He glanced oddly at Grahame.

"Sorry, old man. Maybe I don't like blondes, I guess. That's all. Got to be going. See you later."

As the paneled door shut behind him, Grahame caught sight of the reflection of his own grim face in the varnished surface. Anger boiled suddenly within him. Winslow didn't like blondes, he guessed! The ass! What a lousy way to talk about a girl!

Winslow's cynicism had crystallized some of his own emotional responses toward Janice Kent. Why, she was the sweetest, dearest, most beautiful—Fifty million fans couldn't be wrong, could they? Winslow. . . a gossip hundred-a-week stunt man libeling the most brilliant star in a fragment of stars. He told himself to forget about it.

In spite of the CWA work being done here there is still a large number of unemployed persons in this county and it is to be hoped that present efforts to obtain authorization to put more people to work on the CWA projects will be successful. Last reports indicate that there are still around 2,000 unemployed persons registered at the local office.

According to reports issued today, Greenville is still leading this season's tobacco sales by over a million pounds. With just a few more weeks of the season there is little doubt that this market will finish the season ahead of all other markets.

Pitt County farmers have signed the government tobacco contracts almost a hundred per cent. Now in the future if the farmers would decline to sell their scrap tobacco the shortage caused should cause even higher prices for the other tobacco. A pound of scrap sold to a factory counts in the season's crop just as much as if it was a pound of high grade tobacco and as long as scrap is available it will be used in place of higher priced tobacco. Scrap tobacco would be worth more to the farmers placed back on their land than the small amount of money they receive when they sell it.

DEADLY HIGHWAYS

(Chattanooga News) A speeding truck dashes into a bus on the Ringgold Road at dawn—one dead, three hurt, both bus and truck burn.

We hear of few fatalities in railroad wrecks nowadays, but we have had three dead and a number of injured on highways near Chattanooga within a week. Railroads kept working until they had, by steel equipment, block signals, etc., reduced fatalities to a minimum. But the highway traffic is practically unregulated.

The big fly-by-night trucks, the huge buses, the speeding private vehicles—these are combining to produce more dead on our highways within a year than were killed in the American army during the entire World War.

Duce Brings Air Skill to New Job

By JOHN LLOYD Rome.—(AP)—Benito Mussolini's job as Air Minister, latest addition to his personal assignments, brings him into contact with an old love. Flying is dear to the Duce's heart and not at all outside his experience.

In taking over the ministry from Air Marshal Italo Balbo, he set his hand to a task with which he is quite familiar—for Mussolini has flown through the mill; he knows what it is to pilot a plane, and what it is to crack up.

Those who are familiar with his passion for the air say they understand what the leader felt when he sent his blackshirt fliers winging their way across the ocean and had himself to stay at home. Now they comprehend his joy at taking personal charge of the organization that trained those fliers. He intends to give the service the

Orders Inventories Of Utilities In This State

By J. C. BASKERVILL. Raleigh, Jan. 15.—The new Utilities Commission today cracked down on all the electric, gas, street railway, water and telephone companies doing business in the state and ordered them to file with the commission a complete inventory of all their physical properties and equipment, with specific instructions as to how these inventories shall be made. The electric street railway, water and telephone companies are given until April 1, 1934, to file their inventories, while the gas companies, except where operated by an electric company, are given until February 1, 1934. These inventories are to cover properties and equipment as of December 31, 1933. The reason the companies operating gas properties exclusively have been given only until February 1 is to file their inventories, is that these companies agreed to make their inventory back in November have been working on them since that time and now have them about completed, the order explains.

RED MEN START NEW YEAR WITH A RUSH

The chiefs of Withlacoochee Tribe had a very busy time last Friday night as they assembled around the council fire. Sachem Leon E. Stokes had his warriors to scout the forest and they were not long in capturing three palefaces. It was a brilliant sight as they entered upon the war path to see the anxious and curious expressions those palefaces wore. But they proved to make good Red Men. And the tribe gave them the grasp of freedom. Friendship and charity, and hope that the Great Spirit would safely guide them through the long trails that we must travel while we remain in the forest of life. In the final round up they were very proud Red Men indeed to know that they had been adopted into the Totemic Bond.

The WORLD OF STAMPS

By QUINTON JAMES. The four hundredth anniversary of the founding of the seaport city of Cartagena, capital of the department of Bolivar of the Colombian republic, is being commemorated by a special set of stamps from that South American country.

The stamps used for this purpose are four of the "wealth of Colombia" airmails of 1932, which have been revalued in the surcharge in black that also includes the dates 1533 and 1933 and 10 centavos on 50 centavos, dark green and brown; 15 on 20, orange and black; 20 on 20, orange and black; and 30 on 20, orange and black. The watermark is quatrefoils in multiple.

Soviet Commemoratives.

Three Soviet Russian pioneers slain in the turmoil of the earlier days of that republic, have been honored on the three stamps issued in connection with the anniversaries of their deaths. Each stamp bears the photograph of the man to whom respects are paid. On the one is Soviet Representative Worowsky, killed 10 years ago; on the three is Revolutionist Wolodarsky, slain 15 years ago, and on the five is Revolutionist Uritsky, killed in 1918. Each stamp bears the years of the birth and the deaths of the three men.

Special Issues.

For the first time in a number of years, a compilation of all of the stamps issued by the various countries of the world to commemorate some particular event or individual is being put together. It shows there have been 500 or more such stamps printed. The author of this compilation is

Supper In Bed

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER. The cow, whose hoof had been hurt wandering around in the blizzard, was not able to go through the little hall upstairs that led into Willy Nilly's bedroom.

she was stuck, and could move neither backward nor forward, they did not know what to do.

"I'll tell you," said Christopher Columbus Crow. "You see I'm always discovering something. Now there is a way for Mrs. Bossy Cow to get through the hall.

"Hoo-hoo, moo-moo," moaned Mrs. Cow. "It is not polite to make remarks like that," said Willy Nilly to Christopher, but he did not speak very harshly as he really was much upset at having the cow for a visitor.

"Don't be so conceited about your brains and your discoveries," growled Top Notch, "but tell us what to do."

"Mrs. Cow," said Christopher, "you must try to stretch yourself out as far as possible, which will make you slightly less enormous—not much, but enough, I hope.

"Then when you have done that you must breathe in as hard as you can and try to hold your breath until you reach the bedroom."

Mrs. Cow did as Christopher suggested and to the great delight of all she got into the bedroom. Then she rested upon the bed and Rip brought up her supper on a tray.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS DEATH MEDICINE MAN

Fayetteville, Jan. 15.—C. E. McGrath, a patent medicine vender, was found dead here yesterday under mysterious circumstances. The body, bearing no marks of violence, was found about 25 yards from a negro house on Guthrie street. Police Chief J. Ross Jones said the body appeared to have been dragged from the house to the spot where it was discovered. Two negro inmates of the house are being held by the police pending investigation.

THINKS REDFERN IS HELD CAPTIVE

Saint John, N. B., Jan. 15.—(AP)—One of the last men known to have seen Paul Redfern as the American flier flew over the Caribbean Sea nearly seven years ago says there is hope for believing Redfern still lives.

Captain I. A. Habre, master of the Danish freighter Christian Krohg which directed the pilot to land shortly before he disappeared on his inter-continental hop, expressed belief that Redfern is now held captive by a tribe of wild Venezuelans.

Late one afternoon in August, 1927, the Danish freighter, bound for Rio de Janeiro, was plowing Caribbean waters miles off the Venezuelan coast. The crew idled about the deck in intense heat.

Suddenly there was an increasing hum from the north. A tiny speck rapidly too the form of an airplane which began circling over the ship. Scraps of paper fluttered from the plane. Retrieved from a small boat they bore this terse message:

"Point ship to nearest land—wave flag or handkerchief for each one hundred miles distant—Redfern—Thanks."

WOUNDS HIS BROTHER IN DRINKING ROW

Goldboro, N. C., Jan. 15.—William McArthur, white man of near Seven Springs, this county, is in the Goldsboro Hospital, having been cut by his brother, Woodrow, twenty, Friday night. A gash six inches long was cut in his side, severing the muscles, but not entering the abdomen. Though seriously wounded he is expected to recover. Woodrow is in Wayne jail. Officers stated that the brothers had been drinking and got into a quarrel.

For Hard Coughs or Colds That Worry You

Cremolium is made to give supreme help for coughs or colds. It combines 7 helps in one—the best helps known to science. It is for quick relief, for safety. But careful people, more and more, use it for every cough that starts. No one can tell which factor will lead. That depends on the type of cold. Cremolium costs a little more than lesser helps. But it means the utmost help. And it costs you nothing if it fails to bring the quick relief you seek. Your druggist guarantees it. Use it for safety's sake. (adv.)

Luckies

Reach you fully packed

THE TOBACCO DOES NOT SPILL OUT

Good tobaccos... real good tobaccos... that's the reason for Lucky Strike's fine, smooth quality. We use only the center leaves of the finest Turkish and domestic tobacco plants. Not the top leaves—because those are under-developed. Not the bottom leaves—because those are inferior in quality. We use only the center leaves—because these are the mildest leaves—fully ripe for perfect smoking. Only these choice tobaccos are used to make Luckies—so round, so firm, so fully packed—and no loose ends to spill out. That's why Luckies are always mild and smooth. That's why always "Luckies please". And don't forget—"It's toasted"—for throat protection—for finer taste.

Greenville Tobacco Market Report

Greenville Leading 1,180,000 Lbs.

Prices today higher than anytime since reopening. Inside information reveals the fact that Greenville was leading all markets at the close of sales Friday January 12th, 1934 over 1,180,000 pounds. No fancy grades being offered. Some of the better grades selling up to 46 cents.

We will probably stay open balance of January. Let us urge that you market your tobacco quickly as possible while we have seasonable weather for grading.

Everyone appreciates the patronage given the Greenville market and we know it will pay you to continue to sell in Greenville.
