SCHOOL FUND NEARING GOAL

Two Contributions of $5 Each This Morning Swell Total to $368.30

Two cash contributions of $5.00 each today swelled the Daily Vacation Bible School Fund to $368.30.

With the fourth week of the school getting under way today, committee members were making special efforts to reach the goal of $400 required for operation of the institution.

Dr. Combs, who has issued so many appeals he has developed writer's cramp, and a suppressed muscular condition of the throat, asked that those who have not contributed get busy and do so at once.

Nearly three hundred children are enrolled in the school sponsored by the Ministerial Association in co-operation with the city school system.

Its object is to improve the moral, spiritual, mental and physical conditions of the students so their influence may count in the improvement of the student bodies of all schools here.

The faculty will throw all of its weight into the task of bringing the school to a favorable conclusion at the end of the week, and members of the finance committee are hopeful they will have enough cash on hand by the end of the week to take care of all expenses.

NEGRO JAILED IN CAR WRECK

John Daniel Held for Running into Machine Occupied by Young Women

Ernest Daniel, colored, was held in county jail here today awaiting County Court action on a charge of reckless and careless driving.

The charge grew out of an automobile collision at Parker's Cross Roads, about three miles north of Greenville on the Bethel highway.

Elizabeth May of Greenville, narrowly escaped death yesterday afternoon.

As the automobile occupied by the two young ladies came in the direction of Greenville, officers said Daniel drove onto the highway from a side road, striking the rear of the other machine and causing it to turn over two or three times.

Miss Hardee was said to have been knocked unconscious by the force of the impact, but regained consciousness shortly afterward. Both she and Miss Mayo, driver of the machine, escaped with shock and bruises.

They were rushed to the hospital for examination, but were later released when it was determined their injuries were of a minor nature.

The negro was immediately taken into custody by Sheriff Sam Whitehurst and brought to the county jail where he will remain until the August 14 term of County Court.

STILL THINK GERMANY IS BIG MENACE

French Mind Unchanged by Latest Suggestion of Peace From Hitler Regime

Paris, July 9.—(AP)—French officialdom today considered the menace presented by Germany as unabated by the gesture of peace in the speech of Rudolph Hess, aide to Chancellor Hitler.

Called a "superfluous" warning against invasion it was regarded here as an attempt by Hitler to discourage French effort to help Great Britain and the rest of Europe in defense re-approachment.

"The French veteran did not need any reminder of the fight of equality of Germans," said an official indicating at the same time that the speech was intended principally for German ears.

The French who reiterated their own desire for peace as a pacifist people regarded the speech as changing nothing since "it winds up the same demands for arms to which France cannot consent."

Unofficial political observers described the gesture of friendship made by Hess to two sources.

SECOND MAN DIES AFTER AUTO MISHAP

Carl Brown Succumbs To Injuries Received in Collision at Marsden Crossing

The automobile-train collision at Marsden last Wednesday night that claimed the life of Drury Spain Settle, of Greenville, today was responsible for the death of Carl Brown, also of Greenville.

Brown, 23 years old, died in a Washington hospital yesterday morning at 1 o'clock from internal injuries.

Robert Exum, of Snow Hill, driver of the coupe in which the other two were returning to Greenville, received only minor injuries and was released from the local hospital the day after the accident.

Funeral services for young Brown were conducted from his home here this afternoon at 2 o'clock by Rev. S. B. Denny of Wilson, assisted by Rev. N. I. Gresham, of Pinetops. Burial followed in the family burial ground at Macfield.

Young Brown was a native of Edgecombe County and had been making his home in Greenville for the last several years.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. J. T. Brown; four brothers, Henry T. Paul, Wiley and Earl Brown, of Greenville; three sisters, Mrs. W. L. Brown, Griffin, Ga.; Mrs. E. C. Mitchner, Greenville, and Sarah Brown, also of Greenville.

Palbearers were: Active—Robert L. Corbett, Rufus Brown, R. D. Brown, Charlie Harris, Offie Stancill, and Roland Daventport.

Honorary—C. O. H. Horne, J. A. Collins, E. W. Harvey, E. Y. Lovelace, H. L. Cherry, J. T. Mitchner, Chauncey Dupree, D. W. Hardee, J. G. Moye, B. M. Riggins, and J. C. Williams.

Brown and Settle were rushed to the Washington Hospital immediately after the accident, but Settle was dead upon arrival, and physicians said Brown had only "a fighting chance." Exum was brought to Greenville.

Exum picked up Settle and Brown on the Washington River bridge and was bringing them back to Greenville when they crashed into the moving freight train at Marsden several miles from Washington. Visibility at the crossing is poor and numbers of persons have been killed or seriously injured there in recent years. Brown's death was the third fatality charged to the crossing the last month, a potato inspector from Virginia having been killed in identical the same way as the two Greenville young men about three weeks ago.

RAIN AGAIN HALTS UNION SERVICE HERE

Handful of Worshipers Attend Short Devotional at Court House Last Night

Rain, which threw a damper on the opening of union services on the courthouse lawn the previous Sunday, last night repeated its performance and a handful of worshippers went into the courtroom for a brief devotional service conducted by Rev. A. W. Fleischmann, pastor of Memorial Baptist Church.

Because of the active part which rain is playing in the services, it was decided last night that services will be held in Memorial Baptist Church in case of rain in the future. The public will know that if it is raining at 7 o'clock Sunday evening services will be held in the church instead of the courtroom, and if there is no rain to interfere, the original plan of holding services on the courthouse lawn will be adhered to.

Rev. A. W. Fleischmann, last night's speaker, and official of the Ministerial Association, sponsors of the services, said the reason for carrying the services to his church in case of rain was because facilities of the courtroom were not sufficient, there being no musical instrument of any kind to aid in the song services, or sufficient number of books, etc.

Rev. W. A. Ryan, pastor of the Eighth Street Christian Church, was the initial speaker. Last night Mr. Fleischmann's brief remarks centered around the thought of God revealing Himself to those actually seeking His aid.

In spite of a torrential downpour at the church hour, a handful of faithful from various churches of the city were on hand to take part in the service.

HEALTH QUEEN TO BE CHOSEN

Pitt County 4-H Club Member Entered in District Contest at Washington

Around a dozen 4-H Club girls meeting, Pitt county will have the Miss Ethel Nice, Home Demonstration agent, left this morning for Washington to attend the district gathering of 4-H club members from several surrounding counties.

Attention of all club members was focused on the health queen contest, always the feature of the annual meeting, and Pitt countians were paying special attention to their entry. Miss Pearl Ward Barnhill of Pictious, who was selected as the healthiest girl in the county following physical tests made by several doctors here a few weeks ago.

The honor last year was captured by Miss Mildred Taylor of Pitt county, but in view of the fact that the state contest to select the health queen of North Carolina was not held, she will represent the county this year.

Should Miss Barnhill, who rated 100 per cent in the physical tests, capture honors at the Washington meeting, Pitt county will have the honor of sending two queens to the Raleigh meeting, the first time probably in the history of 4-H Club contests that such a thing has happened.

However, the club girls are not "counting their chickens before they hatch" but were optimistic over the chances for victory of this year's queen.

Miss Barnhill, 17, member of the Pictious high school student body, is not only perfect from a health standpoint, but is very comely and should take high ranking in a beauty contest also.

Selection of the health queen will not take place until late this afternoon and result will not be known here until sometime tonight or early tomorrow.

Hold Body Did Not Have Power To Sentence Him

RULING FROM LOWER COURT IS REVERSED

Former Assistant Secretary of Commerce Upheld in Fight Against Ten Day Prison Term Given Him in Air Mail Contract Case; Action of Higher Court May be Sought

Washington, D. C., July 9.—(AP)—The District of Columbia Supreme Court of Appeals today reversed a lower court ruling and held the Senate did not have the power to sentence William P. McCracken to ten days in jail for contempt in connection with the air mail contract investigation.

McCracken, former Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics, and L. H. Brittain, former vice-president of the Northwest Airways, Inc., were found guilty by the Senate February 14 and each sentenced to ten days.

Brittain served his term, but counsel for McCracken contested the legislative body's decision.

Justice Daniel O'Donohue, of the District of Columbia Supreme Court, later held the Senate had the constitutional right to sentence McCracken in connection with disappearance from his office here of air-mail papers that were under subpoena by the Senate.

The majority in the three to two ruling by the higher court today handed down are:

"Unless there is to be an intermingling of the legislative and judicial power to deal with contempt thereby rendering it impossible in all cases as a matter of legislative power summarily to try the one accused without subjecting him to the statutory mode of trial provided for criminal offense protected by limitations and safeguards of the constitution, then we must and do declare the Senate is without jurisdiction to inflict punishment on the petitioner."

Frank J. Hogan, McCracken's counsel, contended in his petition to the court as he did on the Senate floor in the celebrated February trial that the Senate was without constitutional power to sentence a person for past contempt.

Leslie G. Garnett, United States District Attorney, said a course of further action had been denied, but that a writ of certiorari would probably be obtained and the case taken to the United States Supreme Court.

STUDY HOSPITAL PLAN THIS WEEK

Charlotte, N. C., July 9.—(AP)—Committees appointed by the Medical Society of the State of North Carolina and the North Carolina Hospital Association to work out a State-wide "group hospitalization" plan, will hold their first joint meeting at Chapel Hill next Wednesday.

An announcement that the committees have been called to meet, made public last night, said "considerable research will probably be necessary and several meetings of the joint committee before a final report and recommendations are made."

The aim of the committees is to work out a State-wide periodic payment plan for the purchase of hospital care which would be essentially hospital insurance.

Dr. I. H. Manning, of Chapel Hill, is chairman of the committee from the Medical Society, and J. Lyman Melvin, of Rocky Mount, heads the committee from the hospital association.

SPITE MARRIAGE

By Katharine Haviland Taylor

SYNOPSIS: The night before Marsha Moore has heard Geoffrey Torleton, the man she thinks she loves, introduce her to "the new Mrs. Torleton." Earlier in the evening she had refused Bob Powers; after the blow she has suddenly accepted him. Marsha just has awakened on her wedding day, more than a little frightened.

Chapter 13 MARRIAGE

MISS GERTRUDE, over poached eggs, was "amazed." She opened her lips, started to speak, closed them. Marsha regarded her with her chilly, quizzical eyes.

"Married at noon, you say?" asked Aunt Gertrude, after a gasp. "Yes."

"I wish I could be more certain, Marsha, that it is wise and kind for you to marry a good man—"

"Perhaps he isn't as good as he seems," Marsha answered. "We can always share that hope. No thank you, Alice, I'll take nothing, I think."

"Are you leaving town? Where are you going for your—ah—"

"Honeymoon, Aunt," put in Marsha; she added, "trifling word, isn't it, for a maiden lady who indulges in a certain sort of imagination?"

Miss Gertrude bridled; grew rigid. "I'll rather miss heckling you, dear," Marsha admitted. She rose then, with a murmured plea to be excused. She had her packing to do and she was quite through with her breakfast, which had consisted of two cups of black coffee. She was not nervous, nor excited, she assured herself, but the thought of food and trying to eat it had made her feel "odd."

"Jean will help you," said Miss Gertrude. "Why, thank you," said Marsha. She looked her surprise. Alone, Miss Gertrude, who usually ate methodically and steadily of her substantial first meal, sat motionless for some long minutes.

She washed, for the first time, that her relation with her niece had differed. "I am not to blame! I was never to blame!" she said aloud, to the amazement of Alice who entered the room at that moment. She had had, Miss Gertrude reasoned on, and as her friends agreed, a momentous task in the rearing of her niece. "No one could have done more!" she thought. "No one!"

YET the strange feeling of hollowness that filled her prevailed, and despite her strong certainty that she had never for one second been at fault in any difference that had been between her and her niece.

She dawdled over her eating. Alice watched her covertly and anxiously; she knew her mistress' obedience to hour and to the conduct it required.

Marsha, in her room decided to wear the Polart gray; Jean was packing her trunks and over-night bag. She had always hated her sleeping room, which had been inflexibly and awkwardly arranged by Miss Gertrude, who had said, "No arrangement that I make in my house, of my furniture, shall ever, while I live, be varied!"

But looking around the room, Marsha had from it a sense of safety for, even though you started disillusioned, marriage was a voyage which took you—no one knew where!

She did not even know where she was going physically with Bob, when he was her husband. He had said, the night before: "You want Doctor James to marry me?"

And she had said, "If you don't mind," at which he had laughed that full, short laugh which tells of a heart over-brimming with happiness and to which he had said, "I don't think, my dear, I shall mind marrying you very much!"

Then, to his question of where she wanted to go she had answered she didn't care and he had offered to arrange the matter entirely, if she would like.

Dressed, she stood before a long mirror. She looked as well as she ever had in spite of the long, wakeful night; pallor and shadowed eyes heightened her beauty rather than diminished it.

Well, she was ready for it; the definite step she was taking. And again the stiff, untired wings of her new soul stretched. "I must keep it from hurting him!" she thought fervently. "It must not hurt him!"

Miss Gertrude appeared at the door. "It is time we leave," she said.

DOCTOR JAMES said, "But of course you want to be married in the church!" Marsha found it strange to be following him; close to sickened by the seriousness of a matter at which she had expected to laugh.

The day that had dawned so sulky was cold and crisp and bright; the sunlight, sifting through a stained-glass window, laid a pattern of softened color upon the chancel floor.

Marsha had said, "I will," and she felt Bob's hand beneath her arm and his pressing it close against him. "I must have away," she thought, and in the dimmed, remote matter

And Another One During the Seventy-third Congress this particular committee, from the newspapermen's point of view, was about the hardest of all to pry loose. It handled some of the most important and far-reaching legislation of the session.

The members were close-mouthed. Little information escaped from the inner sanctum. What went on behind those closed doors probably never will be known entirely. At this luncheon party, however, Luce, of Massachusetts, ranking Republican of the committee, hinted at a rather remarkable situation. At his party's chief representative in a council where some of the most controversial and bitterly-contested legislation of the session was formulated his words are worthy of note.

Partisanship of the baser sort has been out of sight and forgotten," said Luce. "As I look back over the fifteen years I have served on this committee, I find it hard to recall a single instance when, behind closed doors in an executive session, any man has sought partisan advantage by his vote or by his speech."

Printed in blue instead of a shade of red, the color generally used on stamps of this denomination, the 3-cent commemorative pays tribute to Jacques Cartier, French navigator whose explorations 400 years ago culminated in the discovery of the St. Lawrence River.

Blue is the color usually reserved for the 5-cent value, or its equivalent, because that is the denomination used for international postage. As a result Canadian paper writers have been requested to use the stamp only for domestic mail.

The Cartier stamp, which depicts the explorer surrounded by some of his crew at the tiller of his sailing ship, is somewhat larger than the usual run of pictorials.

This year also is the anniversary, the one-hundred fiftieth, of the settling of United Empire Loyalists in Canada in 1874 after the American revolution. They had decided to remain subjects of the King of England, thus their exodus across the northern border.

In commemorating their migration, Canada is presenting a 10-cent olive green picture stamp showing in a central group a loyalist, his wife and two children. In panels at the sides are drawings of Britannia and an Indian. A crown above the Union Jack is in each of the upper corners, while the inscription on the stamp reads: "1776 United Empire Loyalists 1784."

Soviet Balloonists Three stamps, each bearing a portrait of the three Soviet balloonists who perished when their balloon crashed in Russia after a flight to the upper atmosphere last January, have been prepared by Russia. They are for airmail.

A somewhat unusual design has been followed, the portraits being centered in small squares on the stamps against a background of the "stratosphere" Sirius in flight. In the meters—30th January, 1934.

The 5 kopic has the picture of the young scientist Usyswin, the 10 kopeck the radio engineer Wassenko and the 20 kopeck the commander Fedosenko. All of the stamps are perforated and are printed on water-marked paper.

Christmas Seals Collectors of adhesives do not confine their gathering of such items to postage issues—at least some of them don't. Quite a number save national Christmas seals.

Since the first one appeared in 1907 there have been nearly 70 major varieties in the 28 designs. In addition there have been numerous minor types such as variations in perforations or slight differences in engraving or printing.

The first seals were issued by the Delaware Chapter of the Red Cross in 1907, while the next year the American Red Cross was in charge. Then in 1910 the plan of handling was changed, the American Red Cross issued them, but the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis provided for their sale.

This procedure was followed until 1920 when the National Tuberculosis Association assumed full charge of their issuance and sale. Proceeds are used to combat tuberculosis, the income from the seals, which appear each Christmas time, being credited with making the campaign against tuberculosis successful. The seals bear no franking value as postage, but may be placed on a letter going through the mails as a courtesy gesture.

Senator's Observation The late Senator Lane, of Oregon, Democratic member of that body during war times, once made an observation of this practice which is still quoted on Capitol Hill.

"Executive sessions, executive sessions!" he moaned. "They are the rat holes down which the rights of the people disappear."

A new slant on this Congressional practice came to light near the close of the last Congress. It was more or less by accident and probably not intended to go any further than the informal gathering where the incipient occurred. It was at a luncheon given by Steagall, of Alabama, chairman of the House Committee on Banking and Currency, in honor of Prall, of New York, third-ranking Democrat on the committee, who was retiring from Congress at the close of the session.

At the party were most of the Democratic and Republican members of the committee.

And Another One During the Seventy-third Congress this particular committee, from the newspapermen's point of view, was about the hardest of all to pry loose. It handled some of the most important and far-reaching legislation of the session.

The WORLD of STAMPS

By QUINTON JAMES Canada is commemorating two historical events by the issuance of a 3-cent and a 10-cent special postage stamp.

Printed in blue instead of a shade of red, the color generally used on stamps of this denomination, the 3-cent commemorative pays tribute to Jacques Cartier, French navigator whose explorations 400 years ago culminated in the discovery of the St. Lawrence River.

LOOK AT BRAKES AND BODIES. NOW THAT PRICES ARE ALL THE SAME

TODAY, MOST PEOPLE KNOW that the prices of "All Three" low-priced cars are pretty much alike. Models may differ a few dollars... but it's safe to say that a Plymouth Special Six, delivered at your door, costs about the same as the comparable model of either of Plymouth's two competitors. So when you look at "All Three" today... there's only one thing to think about... WHICH IS THE BEST CAR—WHICH GIVES YOU THE MOST FOR YOUR MONEY? We'll admit "All Three" are good automobiles. But before you buy any, consider these things: When you step on the brake, will that car stop dead in its tracks? When your wife and children drive away, will you know they are safe, in a body of steel reinforced with steel? Even if Plymouth COST MORE, which it probably doesn't, it would be worth it. The Special Six has Hydraulic Brakes, Safety-Steel Body, and the same Individual Wheel Springing that is used on the most expensive cars for a more comfortable back-seat ride. It has Floating Power to end vibration. It has the luxuries that make you proud to own a car. Yet its price is right in line with comparable models of its two biggest competitors. Look at the prices on the right. See the car at any Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler dealer. Then decide.

PRICES AND FEATURES OF THE NEW PLYMOUTH SPECIAL SIX 4-Door Sedan $620 2-Door Sedan $580 Town Sedan $655 Business Coupe $560 Rumble Seat Coupe $590 HYDRAULIC BRAKES. Always equalized. Eliminate dangerous swerving. Save frequent relinings. SAFETY-STEEL BODY. Best safety insurance you can have on today's busy highways. FLOATING POWER Engine Mountings. Keep vibration away from you. You ride relaxed. INDIVIDUAL WHEEL SPRINGING. Best of so-called "knee-type" springs, as used on the most expensive cars. Four piston rings instead of the usual three. Four-bearing Crankshaft—Valve-seat Inserts—Oil Filter—Steel Artillery Wheels—Dual Trumpet Horns. Prices as low as $485 for Standard Plymouth. All prices f.o.b. factory, Detroit, subject to change without notice. Time payments to fit your budget. Ask your dealer for the Official Chrysler Motors Commercial Credit Plan.

Water Safety. With the increased hours of leisure which have come to the American people in the past few years we turn our attention to the forms of recreation that will afford the most pleasure and enjoyment.

There are a few major points pertaining to water safety that, if mastered by the swimmer, will make him a safe swimmer, which is much more important than being a good swimmer.

Tips on CONTRACT

By TOM O'NEAL Valuation of Discards. A. M. F. asks if there is not some valuation of discards by the defense which will indicate the safe direction of a finesse.

With many deals, the correct way to handle a finesse when it can be taken either way is a pure guess. Good defensive players will refrain from echoing with discards in that suit lest the declarer place the missing honor.

In some cases, bids made by the adversaries will enable the declarer to place honors on the assumption that the bids were sound.

An alert declarer will watch discards closely to give the defense a chance to err if desperate measures are needed.

Sidney S. Lenz in his work on auction, which could be perused with profit by contract players, today gives an example of a declarer profiting by a defendant's echo.

Against a no trump contract the king of hearts was led from six to the ace-king. Leader's partner had two low hearts and the declarer four to the jack.

The main reliance in the hunt for a missing honor, when there are no clues from the bidding, a card counting, reasoning out from opponents' following suit and discards how many cards of each suit were held originally by each opponent.

LOCALS TAKE TARBORO FOR FOURTH RIDE

Tarboro's cellarites proved a stubborn foe for Greenville Saturday afternoon, but the locals finally came out in front of a 5-4 score after 13 innings of battling.

A double by Ty Wagner and an error produced the winning run. Woodlief started on the pitching hill for Tarboro, which Saturday went under the managerial guidance of Olin Perritt. Woodlief gave nine hits and three runs before being relieved in the third by Stineke. Stineke was stingy in the ten remaining innings, giving only five hits.

Manager Harrington was Greenville's starting finger and he twirled until the 11th, when he was relieved by David Smith. Harrington allowed a dozen hits and all Tarboro runs. Smith gave only one hit in his tour of duty. The locals made three errors; Tarboro made two.

Laughton made five singles in six trips to feature for Tarboro. Wagner, with three singles and a double, featured Greenville's attack. Wagner caught for the Greensies; Richardson for Tarboro.

Greenville plays Tarboro tomorrow, returning home Wednesday to take on the first place Ayden outfit.

Manager Harrington said today he would send "Lefty" Dean to the mound against Ayden and if the speed ball artist is going good a different story from other contacts with the league leaders is anticipated.

AYDEN WINS

Snow Hill, July 9.—Ayden went 14 innings to get a 4-3 victory over Snow Hill here Saturday, and the result gave Ayden a two-game margin over the locals in the battle for second place.

Doug Johnson, Wake Forest College athlete, pitched the route for Ayden and did a fine job. Sively and Newsom divided hurling duties for Snow Hill and Newsom was the losing finger.

Knowles opened the 14th for Ayden by hitting a one-baser. After the next two men had been retired Knowles stole second and scored on Mitchell's double.

Ayden scored two in the first and Kinston matched this with a singleton in the first and another in the eighth. Each team scored a run in the 11th to carry the battle into further overtime play.

Fleiding of Miller and Wall featured for Ayden. Mewborn and Tuck were the fielding stars for Snow Hill. The locals outbit Ayden 11 to 10.

Stephenson caught for Ayden; Roye caught for Snow Hill.

BALL PENNANT TO BE RAISED BY CLUB HERE

Wednesday will be a red letter day for members of the local ball club of the Coastal Plain League and fans generally when the pennant captured by the club last season will be raised with appropriate exercises at Third Street School athletic field.

The exercises will get under way promptly at 3:45 and the presentation of the pennant will be made by Mayor R. C. Flanagan, of Greenville. Bruce Eure, president of the league, and G. V. Smith, manager of the local club, will participate in the exercises.

A flag-pole was being erected on the athletic field today in readiness for the ceremonies expected to be witnessed by the largest crowd ever to assemble on the field.

After the flag is raised the Greenville High School band, followed by members of the ball club and officials of the league, will parade around the park in celebration of the day.

With Ayden, last season's contender with Greenville in the championship race, pushing the league this season, it was expected that a great big billy goat would be ridden into Ayden sometime tomorrow, bearing the inscription: "Ayden hasn't got our goat yet."

Whether Ayden sets the goat, however, will be determined after the flag-raising here when the club takes on the "Bugs" in what promises to be one of the most thrilling games of the season.

With Ayden riding next to the top of the standing of clubs and Greenville on the next rung to the bottom, Manager Millington said today he planned to send that master speed ball artist, "Lefty" Dean, to the mound in an effort to annex another badly needed victory.

Tech locals captured five out of six games last week, and with Dean going good, there is every indication he will give Doc Smith's lads considerable difficulty in "taking away the bacon."

KINSTON TOPS NEW BERN

Kinston, N. C., July 9.—Big Bill Wheaton, New Bern hurler mastered Bithan Heam's sluggers once last week, but he couldn't do it twice. Kinston's Coastal Plain League team staged a run-around Saturday afternoon to defeat New Bern, 11 to 2, and shelled Wheaton off the mound in the fifth frame. The Hearmen scored six in that frame. Flythe replaced Wheaton.

Physic held the visitors to seven hits, while the home team was finding the New Bern moundsmen for 17.

Zaiser, Kinston infielder, got a homer, but batting honors went to Lane, local outfielders and New Bern cast-off, who got four singles in five trips. Two-baggers were fairly numerous. New Bern made three errors. Kinston two, H. Ferobe caught for New Bern; Tatum for Kinston.

New York, July 9.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, two to four points higher on better Liverpool cables and reports of clear hot weather in Texas.

October sold up to 12.15 after the call and was ruling around 12.14 at the end of the first half hour and active months generally showed gains of seven to eight points.

The market remained quiet later in the morning with fluctuations narrow. After showing signs or about nine to ten points during the early trading on pre-bureau coverings and trade buying priced eased off with October ruling round 12.12 and the general market about five to seven net higher when trading was suspended to receive the export report. The figures brought in a spurt of covering which sent prices of October to 12.37 when the market reopened for business after the 20 minutes interval in trading, making an advance of 30 to 32 points.

Late News Flashes

agreement for cotton ginners is expected to be announced late today by farm administration officials.

Negotiations over the agreement have been going on for several months. Differences between the administration and representatives of ginners over prices to be charged for the first processing of cotton delayed action.

Ginners and the administration were unable to agree on the schedule at the conference in Washington two months ago and subsequently a series of open hearings were held throughout the South to discuss the proposed agreement.

Ginners desired to set a minimum price for their work, contending that the amount of ginning to be done this year would be less than ever before because of the Bankhead Cotton Compulsory control act and therefore to guarantee a fair return for their labor they should be promised under the agreement a schedule for uniform charges. Thirty-five cents per 100 pounds of seed cotton was suggested for North Carolina.

Monroe Mill Workers Strike

Monroe, N. C., July 9.—(AP)—The Union Mills, formerly known as the Lemere Mills, a combed yarn plant under the management of the Johnson Mill Company of Charlotte, closed early today after about a dozen workers struck.

Officials said they knew of no reason for the strike at the mill where 200 operatives are employed.

Mill officials would not elaborate on their statement that a dozen workers had quit and that the mill would be closed an indefinite period.

Nips Revolution in Bad

Havana, July 9.—(AP)—Raids for arms were spread throughout Cuba today by Colonel Fulgencio Batista, commander in chief of the army who is convinced he has thwarted what would have been a major revolution inspired by former army officers.

Batista ordered the arrest of several ex-officers as well as enlisted men. Some three-score are already in jail charged with conspiracy. Jubilant with what he considers a triumph over his enemies, Batista said some members of the ex-officers' association whose headquarters were raided Friday planned to make him a member of the association.

MOTOR OF 1902 CAR JUST KEEPS RUNNING

Waynesville, N. C.—(AP)—Here's the record of the motor in an automobile bought by C. G. Allen in 1903.

He drove the car for years and then sold it to a taxi operator who ran it a long time.

Thereafter the motor was dismounted and was used to run a concrete mixer.

Two years later it was placed in a truck and furnished motive power until that vehicle wore out.

Again the motor was dismounted and for the past fifteen years has been turning a corn mill.
