Russia Alarmed Over Franco-German Pact 25,000 Persons To Be Put Out Of The Country

SOVIETS ASK FRANCE NOT TO ACT AT ONCE

Russia Afraid of Isolation From New Political Accord; Russia Gives Supreme Importance To Pact; Seeks Peace on The Western Boundary to Deal With Japan in Eastern Area

Geneva, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Alarmed that the prospect of a close understanding between France and Germany, Soviet Russia has asked France not to conclude any special political accord with another nation pending the state of the projected pact on eastern European securities.

Russia was described by League of Nations sources today as afraid of isolation of herself would result from the Franco-German political accord. It is understood that France has agreed not to make a special bi-lateral political treaty without consulting Russia beforehand.

France, it was said, will continue her effort to get both Germany and Russia into an eastern European securities convention, often called the eastern Locarno pact.

Such a pact, in the opinion of the French statesman, who proposed it, would mean peace on Germany's eastern frontier.

Russia had come to the point of giving supreme importance to the eastern pact as with peace assured her western boundary she would be left free to cope with the Japanese problem in the Far East.

The agreement between France and Russia was said to have been reached directly between Pierre Laval, French Foreign Minister, and Maxim Litvinoff, Russian Foreign Commissar.

BURGLAR GETS $125 IN NASH COURTHOUSE

Rocky Mount, Dec. 6.—About $125 in money was taken from an iron cabinet in the office of John Cornwell, Nash county auditor last night. Six hundred dollars in checks lying close beside the money was not molested.

The thieves gained entrance to the office with a key, and forced the cabinet.

A Nashville police officer spotted a person in the courthouse late at night, but was unable to determine whether he was white or colored.

SHOPPING DAY TO CHRISTMAS TO EXPLAIN COTTON-LEAF CONTROL ACTS

Referendum on Two Measures to be Explained at Meeting Here Saturday

A special meeting of tobacco and cotton growers will be held at the court house here Saturday morning at 11 o'clock for the purpose of receiving an explanation of the referendum on the cotton and tobacco control acts to be held December 14. It was announced today by E. F. Arnold, director of the local farm department.

Mr. Arnold said the purpose of the meeting was to inform growers of the vote scheduled on the Kerr-Smith tobacco act and the Bankhead cotton control legislation.

While it will be impossible to hold meetings in all sections of the county because of the short time intervening before the balloting, Mr. Arnold said a series of group meetings would be held in various sections beginning Monday and continuing two days until the date of the referendum. As many sections as possible will be visited during the short period of time ahead, the farm head said, and farmers were urged to attend each gathering and inform themselves concerning the important issues which they must decide.

Mr. Arnold expressed the hope that the court house would be crowded to capacity at the meeting Saturday in order that farmers may know the issues at stake and learn of the important part which the two control acts have played in the tobacco and cotton industry.

Similar referendums will be held in all sections of the county where cotton and tobacco is grown so that the government may be able to determine sentiment of farmers toward the effort to curtail production and raise prices.

Meteor Strikes On Farm In Farmville Territory

The terrific explosion reported from Kinston yesterday to have been heard in Lenoir and several surrounding counties was caused by a meteor, it was determined today.

Information from Farmville revealed that a section of the meteor weighing 12 1/2 pounds struck on the Cecil Dixon farm near Farmville with a terrific blast. The meteor was placed on display in a Farmville garage yesterday by Robert Wainright, who later returned it to his home to keep.

Other reports reaching here this morning stated that another section of the meteor fell on a tobacco barn on the Vandiford farm near Ormondsville, in Greens County, doing considerable damage to the structure.

The meteor was reported to have struck the earth about 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Immediately following the blast on the Dixon farm, Vandiford said farmers working nearby noticed a cloud of dust in a field and went to the spot and removed the meteor, a large piece of rock, from a 26-inch hole in the earth.

He said the blast was so terrific that dishes crashed from tables and windows rattled as if they had been shaken by an earthquake.

The report from Kinston yesterday said some of the largest buildings in the city were shaken. A bright flash followed by explosion was also said to have been noted in Greene, Craven and Jones County as well as in Pitt.

LEAF MART TO CLOSE FRIDAY

With one of the best records in history to its credit from the standpoint of money paid out, the Greenville tobacco market will close for the season tomorrow.

The market today had paid out $16,073,203.49 as compared with something over fifteen million last season.

The total amount of tobacco handled my the market, including yesterday's sale was given today as 51,185,568 pounds. With only a small amount of scrap on the floors of the warehouses and a similar amount expected tomorrow, the total figure was not expected to be boosted to any extent.

The official report of sales made public this morning revealed that 44,382 pounds of scrap were sold yesterday for which growers received $5,354.96, at an average of $12.07 per hundred pounds.

Farmers were jubilant over the high prices which they received for this year's crop, and the financial situation of the entire section has been improved to no little extent.

ALDERMEN TO OKAY CAR TAGS

Several Other Matters To be Considered at Regular Meeting of Board Tonight

The regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen will be held at the city hall tonight at 8 o'clock.

The principal matter scheduled for consideration is the approval of the new automobile license tag to be used by the city during next year.

Although state plates went on sale the first of the month, city tags were ordered held up until they could be given official okay by the board. The tags had not arrived in time for approval at the last meeting.

The tags are the same color as those used by the state. They will be offered for sale as usual at the city clerk's office, although state plates are sold at the Carolina Motor Club office here.

In addition to this matter the board was faced by the payment of bills, okaying reports of various departments heads and several other matters pertaining to the operation of the city government.

BOARD TO MEET AGAIN FRIDAY

Commissioners Defer Action on Mooted Question at Session Here Yesterday

After discussing several matters of business, the Board of County Commissioners adjourned late yesterday afternoon until 7:30 Friday night when another session will be held to name a superintendent of the County Home and for discussions of several other questions awaiting consideration at this time.

The board met yesterday morning to complete business left over from Monday's session, but most of the day was consumed in discussing the Swift Creek Drainage project and completion or organization for the new year.

The board received a report from the government on the Swift Creek drainage situation. The report told of the enormous amount of work involved in completing the job started with CWA funds, but left incomplete when the government funds were exhausted. The report was of a favorable nature, and indicated the government is planning to complete the project as soon as possible and relieve the danger from malarial and damage to property caused by overflow of the stream.

J. O. Harris is the present superintendent of the county, but it was understood at the meeting Monday there are four or five other candidates for the position and all will be given proper consideration before the board makes the appointment.

Roy T. Cox, of Winterville, who was elected chairman of the board following induction of the new board Monday, presided over the session yesterday and announced before adjournment that another meeting would be held Friday evening to complete unfinished business and clear the deck for the usual amount of business to face the organization the first of the month.

"Haven't you expressed an opinion as to the guilt of these defendants?" the judge asked.

Hood replied that he might have discussed the case, but didn't recall expressing an opinion as to whether Mrs. Grice and Sasser were guilty. Judge Parker then said it had been reported to him that Hood had said Mrs. Grice "ought to be punished as well as Satterfield."

NEGRO HELD IN SEVERAL THEFT CASES

Part of Loot Taken From Automobiles Recovered by Police

James Redmond, 22, colored, was held in the city jail today awaiting preliminary hearing on charges of larceny growing out of the stealing of clothing from numbers of automobiles parked in the business district of the city.

The negro will be given preliminary hearing in police court Saturday morning and probably bound over to the next sitting of criminal court on several counts of larceny.

Chief of Police George Clark said Redmond was taken into custody yesterday and that a considerable amount of the stolen property was found in his home. The officers said they had succeeded in recovering seven suits of clothes, four raincoats, four overcoats and a considerable amount of ladies' wearing apparel.

Virtually all of the clothing was new, Mr. Clark said, it having been taken from automobiles shortly after being purchased. He said the negro stationed himself in various parts of the business district and watched cars. When persons stored goods in their cars and then went back to do more shopping, the negro robbed the cars in their absence.

Chief Clark said the robberies had been continuing over a period of 30 days. He stated that complaints of car thefts had been received at his office almost daily during the period, and the negro probably would have gotten by with the job had some of the clothing not been found in his possession when officers visited his house yesterday.

The search for additional clothing continued today and Chief Clark said he hoped to be able to round up the major part of the stolen property by the last of the week.

The officers reported this afternoon that a number of foreign made blankets, bed spreads and children's clothing was recovered. They said it had been determined that the bed spreads had been taken from a truck at one of the local tobacco warehouses, and asked persons missing goods of this kind to visit the police station to establish ownership.

Chairman Garrett Says Tuberculosis Christmas Seals Moving Rapidly

R. M. Garrett, chairman of the Tuberculosis Christmas Seal Campaign in this county, said this morning he had been encouraged greatly by the success of sales in various parts of the county.

He stated several of the committee chairmen in the various townships had disposed of their quotas and asked for more.

R. A. Fleming, chairman of the Grimsland area, reported he had sold his quota and asked for more.

The Training School at East Carolina Teachers College sold its quota the first today and obtained a new supply.

Miss Eloise Garrett and committee have sold over 2,000 seals and were reported to be still going strong. Civic clubs and other organizations were said to be making progress.

Anybody needing additional seals have been asked to notify Mr. Garrett, The Daily Reflector or Reid Gaskins at State Bank and Trust Company.

Chairman Garrett urged the public to buy liberally of the seals, declaring that the money derived from such sales plays a big part in coping with the tuberculosis situation in this county as well as the State Sanatorium. Seventy-five per cent of the fund is kept at home.

News Behind The News

Washington By GEORGE DURNO

Silence: Much ado has been made over the way NRA's new bosses have abandoned General Johnson's old "goldfish bowl" policy and shut themselves up behind a barrier of heavy silence.

Printed demands have been made rather persistently that Chairman S. Clay Williams and his colleagues shall start letting the public in on what's stirring inside the Blue Eagle's nest. Charges have been made that these men are mishandling their publicity—or lack of it.

The truth is that the NRA helms men aren't talking because they haven't been prepared to say any-

Local People To Receive $8,000 in Dividends Dec. 20

Beginning with a meeting in the court house here a series of meetings will be held throughout the county during the next few days to inform the farmers regarding the ballot to be cast on December 14th on the Kerr-Smith tobacco control law and the Bankhead act regulating the sale of cotton. Be sure that you attend the meeting to be held in the court house here Saturday morning or one of the meetings to be held elsewhere in the county during the next few days to acquaint yourself with these two important laws upon which you must vote on the fourteenth.

Roosevelt is going to recommend to Congress as to NRA's future. Meantime there has been a quiet cleaning out of the eaglets who had filled the nest with clamor. It has been smart work to shut themselves up and become as mysterious as competent corporation executives are forced to be while developments are between hay and grass. Uncle Sam is getting the benefit of what every good business man very well knows.

As pointed out recently by our New York column, W. Averell Harriman, who has been placed in charge of NRA public relations, knows nothing about publicity and by implication is ideally fitted for the job of saying nothing. The one sure tip-off that a federal agency is beginning to fade has been when the Washington corps of correspondents stops making it a part of daily call. A few months ago the corridors of NRA were full of

I did not kill Osborne

By VICTOR BRIDGES

SYNOPSIS: Jerry Mordant and Nicholas Trench are at the farmer's fat. With Molly O'Brien, the two young men are engaged in trying to recover a valuable formula, stolen by the murdered John Osborne from Molly after the death of her father. Assistant persons also are trying to find the formula, and most of them believe Nicholas has it, since he has been accused of the murder of Osborne, although later he is acquitted. Jerry just has joined Nick.

Chapter 19 SIR WILLIAM AVON

"SORRY to have been so long," said Jerry. "I don't know why, but I was a bit sleepy this morning."

"If you will insist on dragging us to expensive night clubs and dancing till three o'clock..." I began.

"Was it as late as that?" He dropped into an easy chair and ran his fingers through George's silky coat. "Still, we didn't have a bad time, did we? I think Molly enjoyed herself all right."

"I'm sure she did," I said. "A simple nature like hers..."

"Simple nature be blowed! I tell you, Nick, that girl's a wonder. She's not only pretty, but she's got brains and guts, too."

"According to the best scientific authorities," I observed, "most young women have."

With a sudden smile Sir William stepped forward.

"Look at the way she bluffed those two thugs in your studio," he went on with growing enthusiasm. "Masterly bit of work I call it! And the jolliest thing about her is that she's so easy to talk to. We got along together like a house on fire."

"What were you discussing?" I inquired.

"You, chiefly."

"It's a fascinating topic," I admitted.

"She's worried about you, Nick. Got it into her head that she's no right to lead you into any more trouble."

"Oh, that's bunkum," I objected. "What I want to find out is who killed Osborne. Until I do, every fool in England will go on believing that I'm a murderer!"

"That's what I pointed out to her. I explained that we were both acting from entirely selfish motives. You wished to clear your name and I was thirsting to try my hand as a sleuth. If we were able to help her at the same time so much the better."

"Well done, Jerry," I said. "I'd no idea you were such a diplomat."

"I've always been underrated by my friends." He glanced across at the clock. "When is this appointment of yours with Avon?"

"One-fifteen," I replied.

"That will give us time for a walk first. George wants some exercise so I'll come along with you as far as Hyde Park Corner."

"What are you doing afterwards?" I inquired.

"I thought I'd lunch with Molly at the Milan and wait for you there. When you're through you can come along and tell us the result. I'm yearning to know what he wants to see you about."

"It ought to be interesting," I agreed. "By the way, I rang up old Crosswell just now, and he suggests that I should go to dinner with him tomorrow night."

"You didn't mention anything..."

"Not a word. Until I've seen Avon I think we'd better keep the whole thing to ourselves."

"That's my opinion." He got up and with a joyful bark George bounded towards the door. "Just you and I and Molly for the present; of course, I don't count Dawson."

"Does Dawson know?" I inquired. Jerry yawned. "I expect so. It's no use trying to keep things from Dawson. I gave it up long ago."

The world seemed to me a very agreeable place, as, with George padding sedately at our heels, we emerged through the Admiralty Arch into the ordered peace of the Mall.

Buckingham Palace loomed up ahead of us in all its reassuring ugliness. Jerry, who was telling me about his late trip, rambled on cheerfully from one experience to another, while a stream of smooth-running cars, with their well-dressed occupants loling back against the cushions, added to the general atmosphere of comfortable security.

When we arrived at the gate opposite St. George's Hospital, Jerry came to a halt.

"I think I'll turn round and toddle back now," he observed. "If I take George along Piccadilly he will stop and look at the shop windows."

"WELL, you can expect me some time about three," I replied. "I should think I ought to be through with Avon by then."

"Don't rush it. There's no hurry as far as we're concerned. If it's anything to do with Osborne get as much out of him as you can." He whistled to George who was eyeing a large Alsatian that had just trotted up from behind us. "I've a notion," he added, "that we're on what they call the brink of discovery."

protection has been that he imposes complete responsibility on his ranking subordinates. When one of them gets in a jam that particular person takes it on the chin and no blame accrues to the White House.

Mr. Roosevelt put a coordinator over his brood to keep them from getting in each other's hair or trying to run the New Deal machine in two directions simultaneously. Unfortunately only the fellow who is told he is right is pleased. The other one resents taking any advice or orders except from the White House direct.

Pressure: Jim Farley's hired men are working night and day on their procs of ocean mail and foreign air mail contracts in an effort to have a final report ready by January 11 as scheduled. It will be physically impossible, however, so they are drafting a preliminary report to reach President Roosevelt's hands about December 15.

The Post Office is going to recommend that the President ask Congress to establish a system of outright subsidy for the merchant marine and commercial aviation without using mail as a subterfuge. Should Congress fail to agree it will be proposed that FDR drastically modify existing mail contracts.

The President, under the law can modify these contracts or even cancel them outright up to April 1, 1935.

Salvation Army Pays Liabilities.
 "All debts contracted by the Salvation Army have been paid in full."
 This was the statement made today by Capt. Chas. Stratford, commander of the local Salvation Army post. The captain and his wife arrived here seven months ago, and through their untiring efforts and spirit of unselfishness they have liquidated all debts amounting to over $400. This is the first time since the Army opened its work here in 1927 that the Army has a clean slate.

Capt. Stratford went on to state:
 "There may be one or more outstanding debts that I know nothing about and if these bills are presented they will be promptly paid."

The captain certainly deserves the appreciation and support of the citizens of Greenville inasmuch as the Salvation Army has passed through the hardest seven months of its history in Greenville.

The captain is also fitting into our local program as a valuable citizen having joined the Rotary Club and the Little Theatre in which he is taking an active part. The Rotary Club has claimed him as their athletic director and turned the club and equipment over to him with which he expects to organize an up-to-date club for the young men of our city.

Barbre-McGowan.
 A wedding of unusual beauty and dignity was solemnized yesterday afternoon at four o'clock in Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, when Miss Janice Elizabeth McGowan and William Davis Barbre were united in marriage.
 Against a background of palms and ferns, baskets tied with yellow tulle and standards of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums were used. The light from numerous yellow candles, and the glow from the late afternoon sun made a lovely setting for the wedding party. The pews were also marked with yellow tulle.
 Mrs. R. A. Tyson presented a program of nuptial music including "Estralla," "Shubert's Serenade," "One Alone," and "Serenade" as the guests assembled.
 Preceding the entrance of the wedding party Mrs. J. H. Waldrop sang "Because," by deHardelet, and "I Love You Truly," by Bond. During the ceremony "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" was softly played. The Wedding March from the opera Lohengrin was used as a processional.

Mrs. Tyson and Mrs. Waldrop wore gowns of rust crepe and their flowers were shoulderettes of Joanna Hill roses.
 First to enter the church were the ushers, Edward B. Thomas, Jr., of Kinston, C. B. Barbre of Goldsboro, David Hardee and Howard Waldrop. They entered two at the time down opposite aisle and stood on either side of the restrum.
 Miss Ruth Horne and Miss Ann Lee Hooker, as bridesmaids, were next to enter and took their places on the astrum. Miss Horne wore a gown of dark green velvet, made with short train, full sleeves and cowl neck, with trimmings of gold. She wore a turban of velvet and maline with short veil bordered in gold. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of tulle roses tied with yellow tulle. Miss Hooker wore a similar gown of bronze velvet, with matching turban and carried an arm bouquet of tulle roses.

 Next to enter was the Maid of Honor, Miss Emily Barbre of Washington, Ga., sister of the bridegroom. Her gown was of black tulle velvet, with silver trimmings, made similarly to those worn by the bridesmaids. She wore a velvet and maline turban with short veiled in silver and carried an arm bouquet of pernet roses tied with silver tulle.
 The bride entered with her brother, Charles McGowan, at the same time the bridegroom entered, down the opposite aisle, with his brother, Ray Barbre, of Kinston, as best man.
 They were met at the chancel by Dr. G. R. Combs, pastor of the church, who united them in marriage, using the impressive ring ceremony.
 The bride was never lovelier than on her wedding day. She wore a most becoming model of sapphire blue velvet, made entrain, with full sleeves and collar of silver lame. Her hat was of velvet with brim of silver. She carried a bridal bouquet of roses and orchids showered with valley lilies.
 As the party left the church, Mrs. Tyson played the Wedding March from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream."

Mrs. Barbre is the pretty and attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hugh McGowan. She is a graduate of the city schools and East Carolina Teachers College. Since the announcement of her engagement she has been extensively entertained.
 Mr. Barbre, formerly of Washington, Ga., is a son of the late C. C. Barbre and Mrs. C. C. Barbre. He was formerly connected with the Blades Motor Co., of this city, and is now with the Thompson Motor Co., in Kinston.

First Church of Christ, Scientist.
 "Ancient and Modern Necromancy. Alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism. Denounced." was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, December 2.

The golden text was from Third John 1:11: "Beloved, follow not that which is evil, but that which is good. He that doeth good is of God; but he that doeth evil hath not seen God."

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "Save us, O Lord our God, and gather us from among the heathen, to give thanks unto thy holy name, and to triumph in thy praise. Blessed be the Lord God of Israel from everlasting to everlasting; and let all the people say, Amen. Praise ye the Lord." (Ps. 106:47-49).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The Apostle Paul refers to the personification of evil as 'the god of this world,' and further defines it as dishonesty and craftiness. Sin was the Assyrian moon-god. The destruction of the claims of mortal mind through science by which man can escape from sin and mortality, blesses the whole human family. As in the beginning, however, this liberation does not scientifically show itself in a knowledge of both good and evil, for the latter is unreal."

Entertain Wedding Party.
 On Tuesday evening following the rehearsal for the Barbre-McGowan wedding, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. McGowan entertained members of the wedding party and out of town guests at their home on East Eighth street.

An attractive arrangement of pink and white chrysanthemums was used throughout the home.
 The dining table was covered with a cloth of Italian cut work, centered with a two-tiered wedding cake decorated with wedding bells. Fan vases of pink roses and low silver holders with tall pink tapers were placed on opposite corners of the table. Pink tulle festooned from the center light was fastened at the corners of the table with graceful bows. Mrs. W. E. Hooker, seated at the table, served ices in wedding shapes from a silver platter.

Mrs. L. L. Rives, Mrs. C. L. Barbre and Miss Dorothy Drew Warlick passed decorated cakes, mints and salted nuts.
 Much merriment was caused by the cutting of the wedding cake.

Pierce Grange Meets.
 Pierce Grange met in the club building on Tuesday, December 4. The meeting was opened by Mark Smith, Harry B. Caldwell of Greensboro, secretary of the N. C. State Grange, addressed a number of Grange members and friends, discussing some of the outstanding principles for which the Grange is known.

He outlined the legislative program of the State Grange which will be submitted to the legislature when it meets early next year. The most important are probably:

1. Amend the constitution so as to permit a $1,000 tax exemption for each home owner.
 2. Amend constitution so as to permit taxation policies that encourage and reward (by lower tax rates) soil conservation.
 The funds formerly derived from above sources to be displaced by those derived by:

3. Amend constitution to permit levying of more than 6 per cent on incomes of higher bracket.
 4. Include livestock and farm machinery as well as household furniture in $300,000 tax exemption.

5. Demand that a certain percentage of federal taxes be redistributed to the states according to population under state administration and control.
 6. Reduction of automobile license tax. Retention of general sales tax (as emergency measure).
 7. Adoption of a standard North Carolina driver's license.

Mr. Caldwell also reminded his hearers of the facts that the National Grange is the oldest farm organization in the United States, and the only farm fraternity in existence in which the family is taken as a unit.

It is composed of over 800,000 members in 34 states (having two this year, Tennessee and Arkansas). The Grange has helped secure for rural America numberless benefits such as fairer taxation, lower freight rates, R. F. D. of mail, better schools, better credit and marketing facilities.

O. M. McLawhorn announced the meeting of the Pitt County Pomona Grange in Sheppard Memorial Library auditorium Monday night, December 10, at 7 o'clock.

 After the meeting Mr. Caldwell entertained with several stunts.

Faculty Bridge Club.
 Fountain, Dec. 5.—The regular meeting of the Fountain Faculty Bridge Club was held Monday night with Misses Emma McArthur and Frances Dilda hostesses, at the home of Miss Dilda. The guest of honor at the club was Mrs. H. B. Mayo, bride of the principal. Other guests besides the faculty, were Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Smith of Arthur.

After four progressions of bridge high score prize was awarded Mr. Mayo, and Mrs. Mayo was presented a bride's book in which she had each member of the faculty to write a recipe for happiness.

The bride and groom then led the way into the dining room. The table was lovely, with a lace cover and having a huge cake, on which was a miniature bride and groom, as the centerpiece. Much merriment was enjoyed as each person cut a slice of cake, wondering who would receive the ring, the thimble, etc. Wine was served with the cake. At this time the faculty presented their gift to Mr. and Mrs. Mayo.

After returning to the living room games and contests appropriate for the occasion were enjoyed for awhile.
 The hostesses served ice cream in attractively arranged "flower pots"

HIGH BEGINS CAGE ACTION

By WM. WATSON MORGAN

More than two dozen candidates have reported to Greenville's high school basketball team.

Coach Henry Woods started practices Monday afternoon with twenty-eight players reporting. Others are expected to report soon.

There were only three letter men from last season's squad to greet the coach. The letter men on hand are Carroll, Pearce and Ed Wells.

It will take Coach Woods several days to find "who's who." Every boy that reports will get a chance to show his ability as a basketballer before the pruning knife is put into action.

The coach will have a number of promising players in Neal Herring, John Wells, George Lautares, Morris Bland, Joe Hatem, Martin Swartz, Bernice Eilers and Herbert Wilkerson.

New York Cotton

New York, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, two points lower to one point high, with Southern selling and disappointing Liverpool parity offset by the trade buying.

Prices eased off slightly after the call with December selling down to 12.53 and May to 12.61, or two to four points net lower.

At midday March was selling at 12.60 with active months generally holding within a point or two of yesterday's closing.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The stock market was a highly selective affair today although the progressive trend still appeared to predominate.

Trading was quiet active in the various groups. The coppers came to life for substantial gains and the aviation and farm machinery divisions improved materially.

At the same time most of the old line leaders were unable to do anything in particular and scattered profit taking in the recent outstanding gainers tended to restrain sportsing proclivities.

The gains quieted down after their sharp upturn and cotton sorted a little to run away from the rest of the commodities. Bonds were fairly firm.

Foreign exchange recovered mildly in terms of the dollar. Transfers were 1,500,000 shares.

Munitions Hearing

Washington, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Evidence that the DuPont Company sent a shipment of powder to Holland in 1929 for reshipment to China—was received today by the Senate probers.

This came after Senator Clark of Missouri asserted that it was not necessary for the United States to enter the world war "except to protect the munition makers' profits."

DUKE ALUMNI TO MEET HERE

the election of officers for the ensuing year, brief remarks by one or two members of the local group and perhaps a short musical program.

Present officers of the association are Dr. J. M. Barrett, president, and Mrs. Rufus Stark, secretary and treasurer.

The Duke University Day Dinner here is one of many to be held in North Carolina and other states in commemoration of the tenth anniversary of the creation of the Duke Endowment, making possible Duke University, on December 11, 1924.

At least two dinners will be held in countries outside the United States.

The number of local Duke alumni groups is now sixty-four, and a large proportion of them will have meetings in observance of the tenth anniversary. In 1929, seventeen meetings were held; in 1930 the number had grown to thirty-eight; in 1931, there was a total of fifty-two meetings, and in 1932-33 about the same number. In addition to dinners in leading cities all over North Carolina, meetings were held last year in eleven other states, one of these being as far away as Los Angeles, California.

An interesting feature at many Duke University Day meetings this year will be the presence of parents of Duke students now at the institution. Wives and husbands of alumni are also expected to attend the various gatherings.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep... Vigor... Vitality

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS... a doctor's prescription... which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.

But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fix you up in 15 minutes, for they may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS... the old reliable relief that contains no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS if your druggist © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.
