tax, with the result that the total revenue from the revenue bill may be expanded somewhat. But the prevailing opinion is that the finance committee will reject most of the alternate tax plans suggested by the anti-sales tax group, with the result that the revenue bill will be reported into the House just about as it now stands, providing for about $31,000,000 in revenue a year.

AIRSHIP MACON AT BOT- TOM OF PACIFIC OCEAN

scouting fleet closed in around the Maccon. A rocket shot into the air to guide them.

The U. S. S. Pennsylvania observed the rocket signal of distress and pointed her bow toward the spot to pick up the ship's crew.

Radio officers here believed there might have been a severe explosion on the ocean of the skies, which was returning from maneuvers with the fleet.

The weather was rough off Point Sur, 25 miles south of Monterey. Giant searchlights shot through the darkness.

The quick calls for aid mentioned a "bad casualty" in the air and added that it "was falling."

This was followed by the single message "wait."

Shortly thereafter the Mackay

radio station here caught another SOS call saying:

"Will abandon ship as soon as we land on the water somewhere 20 miles off Point Sur, probably 10 miles at sea."

Lieut. Commander Wiley, the skipper, was the only officer who survived the crash of the dirigible Akron off the New Jersey coast April 4, 1933.

Wiley's efforts long had regarded him as a cool, capable commander.

The Maccon had been undergoing maneuvers with the fleet and was returning to its base at Sunnyvale, south of here, when overcome by the disaster.

Coast Guard boats put out from San Francisco to steam to the disaster.

The battleship Maryland at 6:30 p. m. radioed Navy headquarters here that she also had sighted the Maccon and was bearing about to head directly toward her.

There were 30 boats in the vicinity, navy radio reported.

The lightkeeper at Pt. Sur told of seeing the dirigible cruising above the surface ships, then suddenly disappearing from view. He said the Maccon again rose into the clouds and then disappeared from his view although he trained a powerful spy glass on the sea.

The disaster to the Akron, from which the Maccon's commander emerged alive, cost 73 lives. He requested transfer to duty aboard a battleship but later, his nerve apparently undaunted, again returned to the air.

Regarded as an authority on lighter-than-air craft, he once commanded the dirigibles Los Angeles.

Born in Missouri in May, 1891, Lieut. Commander Wiley was graduated from Annapolis in 1915. He was attached to the lighter-than-air service of the national defense forces in 1923.

way, bridge, slipped out of place and struck him, fracturing his pelvis bone.

He was brought to the Goldsboro Hospital and placed in a plaster cast. His physician stated that he is expected to recover, but that he will have to remain in the hospital and wear the cast for about eight weeks. He is an employee of the State Highway and Public Works Commission.

APPROPRIATIONS SOUGHT ARE NOW BOOSTED $3,500,000

Chairman Bryant said he was in favor of the enactment of the Hill Liquor Control bill or some similar bill, but thought that the revenue from the bill should go into the state general fund rather than be distributed back to the counties, cities and towns to be used for relief or other local purposes. He believes an increasing number of the members of the general assembly are now in favor of enacting a workable state liquor control bill to replace the present 13-year-old Turlington act and that the state should get some revenue from the sale of liquor, since it is being sold openly anyway in almost every section of the state. He would not say, however, whether he thought such a bill would pass the House at this time.

Unless the finance committees are able to increase the expected revenue from the bill, the only thing for the appropriations committee to do is to reduce the appropriations to come within the expected yield from the revenue bill Chairman Bryant said. As a result the appropriations committees are now meeting in closed sessions every day striving to scale down the amounts requested by the schools and other agencies so that the appropriations bill will balance with the revenue bill. As the revenue bill now stands, with the sales tax and all exemptions eliminated still in it and with other sections tightened, it will yield approximately $31,000,000 a year instead of the $29,999,663 which the original budget revenue bill was expected to yield.

There is still a possibility, of course, that the finance committees may adopt some of the new tax plans which the anti-sales tax forces are recommending in place of the sales and still keep the sales

Stops Coughs Two Ways!

There is now a doctor's prescription that does these two remarkable things:

1. In 15 minutes and with only one swallow, it relieves throat irritation—stops coughs.
2. Does a lot more besides. Acts internally to quickly drive fever and cold out of the system. Hence so much better.

This wonderful medicine is now sold under the name THOXINE. It is safe, pleasant—effective for adults and children alike. Take no chances with coughs and sore throats when you can get Thoxine—real prescription medicine for only 35c. Results guaranteed or you get your money back. Pitt Drug Co.—(Adv.)

How Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Bad Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fifth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminants. Thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins.

Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the blood. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

Literature Department Meets.
The Literature Department of the Woman's Club met on Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. K. T. Futrell. In the absence of Mrs. Charles Horne, chairman, Mrs. W. A. Darden presided.

The program opened as usual with an interesting current events quiz which Miss Agnes Wadlington gave a very interesting and inspiring talk on Dr. Tokonko Kagawa, a Japanese spirit, his message, his expatriate and glowing out of the depths of a great soul, and his adventurous life, flung out a running challenge to a world which has grown cold and cynical and is merely marking time. Here is a figure who on the stage of the world not only speaks with the voice of a prophet, but translates into heroic living those principles and practices which through all ages have been dynamic with redemption and creative influences.

At the close of this fine program, Mrs. Futrell served delicious refreshments, suggestive of the Valentine season.

Mrs. R. L. Harris, Misses Wadlington and Ruth Faison were guests of the club for the afternoon.

Rehearsal for "Fashion."
Final rehearsal of "Fashion," the play to be produced by the Senior class of East Carolina Teachers College was held last night in the Auditorium. All things indicated that this 19th century melodrama will be given tonight and tomorrow night will be most successful.

An elaborate program of the play is planned for the play. The play was written about the middle of the 19th century and the class plans to reproduce all five acts of it with the zest and artifice of the by-gone era.

There are thirteen persons in the cast, but many students aside from these have aided in its production. New scenery, footlights and plectrums embellishments have been constructed under the direction of Miss Mary Dimberger, director of the play, assisted by Miss Phoebe Hedrine of Greenville, Miss Phoebe Barnes of Vandemere, and Miss Helen Lassiter of Woodland. Miss Ethel Callis has charge of the new stage machinery, filling the position of stage manager.

The special music has been arranged by Miss Edith Marslander of Falkland, assisted by members of the college ensemble. The special features consists of a ballad rendered by Jack Humphrey of Beaufort; harmonica harmonies by a group of harp players, and popular favorites sung by Miss Elizabeth Overton of Greenville. During Act four the entire company will dance.

The make-up of the cast will be done by Miss Mary Shaw Robeson of Greenville, assisted by Miss Rhoebe Barnes. Miss Verda Wilson also of Greenville, is serving as prompter, and the lighting effects will be superintended by J. Thomas Bland. Miss Mae Hearne is in charge of the properties, assisted by Miss Lucy LeRoy of Goldsboro, and Miss Annie Horne of Greenville. The costumes are under the supervision of Mrs. C. E. Jones.

This play is being given as a portion of the FERA project in Community Drama under the direction of Miss Mary Dimberger. Miss Dimberger has directed other productions here, and she is noted for her success in them.

Lou Gehrig already has let it be known that he will demand a salary of $30,000 from the Yankees next season. He has been getting $25,000.

U. W. Girl Career Engineer.
The following article taken from the Seattle, Washington, "Times" will be read with interest by friends of Miss Fleming. She is the daughter of Mrs. J. L. Fleming of this city. Greenville still claims Miss Fleming, although she only spends a part of each year at home.

When you hear Miss Louise E. Fleming speak you think of mocking birds, daisies singing in the dusk and the heavy scent of southern night-blooming flowers. Miss Fleming is the pretty, efficient general secretary of the University of Washington Young Women's Christian Association and she is the one who presides every day in the little cottage on the grounds of University Temple. She is the one to whom a thousand girls take their problems of careers in after-graduation days, of entertaining for shy new Y. W. members, of making both ends meet in the budget. She is the one who reads hundreds of reports every month, who smooths out small difficulties and hurdles big ones, who is business woman one moment and gracious hostess another. It takes a lot of background and training, culture and education for a job like that, and Miss Fleming has them all. She hails from an old southern family in the tidewater region of North Carolina. She was born in Greenville, N. C., and there her family still lives.

Miss Fleming was active in high school and college affairs. She held numerous positions, including presidency of the student body at Meredith College in Raleigh, N. C., and membership in the National Student Council of Y. W. C. A.

When Black-Draught Helps
Poor appetite, bad taste in the mouth, bad breath, coated tongue, sick headache—when due to a sluggish or constipated condition of the bowels, usually may be relieved by a dose or two of purely vegetable Thedford's Black-Draught.

"We have used Black-Draught in our family for twenty years because we have not found anything that could take its place," writes Mr. A. G. Gray, of Cusseto, Ala. "It has proved entirely satisfactory."

Thousands of other regard Black-Draught as their "family laxative." THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT

ANTIS SEEK TO BOOST BUDGET REVENUE BILL

Senate Drops Section and Thwarts Effort to divert State High- way Fund.

Reflector Bureau.
Sir Walter Hotel.
By C. A. PAUL

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 13.—A proposal to increase the budget revenue bill by almost $5,000,000 without imposing the sales tax, provision for more adequate support of schools, a broadening of the tax sales, recapturing of a portion of the ad valorem tax, and a stop-gap policy of tax levying are the high spots of the anti-sales tax group's substitute for the sales tax.

As predicted by this bureau, the anti-sales tax group did not produce a new bill, but offered their proposals as amendments to the present bill as drawn by the Budget Commission. Several of the features embodied in the anti-sales tax group's substitute for the sales tax.

The anti-sales tax group's substitute for the sales tax would raise approximately $34,000,000, an increase of about $5,000,000 over the present budget bill of $29,000,000. A total estimate revenue of $12,136,164 would be raised by the amendments.

Chief among the substitutes is a reversal in the North Carolina taxing policy by taxing the holders of corporation stocks per cent on dividends. At present such income is exempt from the provisions of the income tax law. Assessment of the 6 per cent rate, say the anti-sales taxers, would raise more than $3,000,000 annually.

They would also increase the franchise tax assessments by a levy of one-half of one per cent on property held by corporations in addition to the present levy of $1.50 against each $1,000 of net worth. Such an increase, they say, would amount to $4,682,679.

Insurance companies would have their tax burden increased by $350,000 by increasing the levies imposed on their premium receipts.

Next to franchise tax increases is a revenue producer in the form of a levy on an occasion tax on all persons whose gross incomes are more than $1,000. The tax ranging from $5 to $900, would, it is estimated, yield $4,241,394.

Interesting also is the item which would tax retailers, designated as a "privilege tax," one-fourth or one per cent on gross sales and whole-salers one-eighth of one per cent on all sales. Neither of these levies would be added to prices in the present manner of collecting the sales tax.

All calculations, said the explanatory note accompanying the proposed bill, were based on figures compiled by the Department of Revenue. Occupying the No. 1 spot in the explanation was the statement that "this tax program is proposed to (1) provide adequate support of schools and State government without ad valorem tax or general sales tax."

Dr. McDonald, House member of the Joint Finance Committee, who explained the program to that committee, laid emphasis on the theory of "ability to pay." He presented a compilation of exempt incomes from "one county," the work of the State Department of Revenue, which showed the number and sizes of untaxed incomes in that county. The program labeled is at "one county," but it is common knowledge that that county is Forsyth, the county which Dr. McDonald represents. His table showed that two citizens of that county whose incomes are approximately $1,000,000 each paid no taxes on their incomes because they were derived from untaxed stocks and bonds.

The program was accompanied by tables showing how North Carolina's tax policy compares with those of other States.

It is too early to predict with any certainty the outcome of the impending battle between administration forces and the anti-sales taxers. Earlier in the session most observers were inclined to believe that the revenue bill, substantially as written by the Budget Commission and which embraces the present sales tax, would be accepted. Recently, however, most observers are willing to concede the anti-sales taxers a chance to succeed in their efforts to junk the sales tax. It is still believed that the anti-sales taxers are in the minority and that, before they succeed, they will have to do considerable "missionary" work. They are doing just that. Within a few days an accurate picture of reaction to the substitute program can be drawn.

Legislative Ramblings

sion to set up a compensation fund from which it would pay up to $600 for the accidental injury or death of a child while riding in a school bus. This same bill was introduced in the House at the same time by Representative Bowers of Avery County. The bill would authorize the payment of medical and hospital expenses for children injured in bus accidents.

Another bill designed to result in greater safety for school children and others who ride in public conveyances, is the bill introduced in the House by Representative Klutz of Catawba County, to require the use of safety glass in all school buses, taxicabs, passenger buses or other vehicles used for transporting passengers for hire, assembled or manufactured after January 1, 1937.

Another humanitarian bill introduced within the last few days, and recommended by Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus in his message to the General Assembly, is the bill introduced by Representative Gardner of Cleveland County, which would bring twenty-five types of occupational diseases under the Workmen's Compensation Law, regulate the payment of benefits, prescribe the conditions of payment and machinery of administration. This bill is now before the House Committee on Insurance.

General approval is being given the plan to insure North Carolina's school children who ride in school buses. The bill, drawn by Senators Horton, of Dunn would place liability upon the State for injuries or deaths, with $600 as the maximum benefit in either case. An identical bill was also introduced in the House so that passage of the bill might be expected.

The bill would create a fund for the purpose because, said Senator Dunn, commercial insurance would prove too costly. He pointed at accident statistics which showed that if the proposed bill had been in effect last year the payments would even if they had reached the maximum in every case, have still been far short of the cost of insurance.

Numerous legislators, when interviewed by this bureau, declared themselves as favoring the bill. It is expected that any serious opposition will develop.

The bill, say its framers, would pay parents $600 in case of death of a child as a result of a school bus accident, and would pay for hospitalization and other expenses, up to $600, in cases of injury. At present there is no provision at all for such liability. In fact, school buses now have many advantages under the law. One of them is possession of the right-of-way and, because of that, no one may collect damages from a school bus as a result of a school bus accident. Several legislators are in favor of changing the law so that in cases where the bus driver is at fault damages may be recovered from the State.

Nat Machlowitz, captain-elect, of the New York University football team, played four positions during the 1934 season. He also stars in baseball and basketball.

Spring Chapeaux Hold Side Tilt

With Feathers, Veils For Trims

Rose Valois designs this new "stocking cap" toque for early spring wear. She fashions it of silky black novelty straw, so soft it collapses as soon as it comes off. The trim is a curled black ostrich feather and the black veil woven with a shiny thread pattern.

By RITA FERRIS

(Associated Press Fashion Editor)

Paris—(AP)—Spring hats have joined the "forward movement."

Half the new ones are designed to sound the slogan "Eyes front!"

Sometimes the brim scoops well out over the eyes in poke bonnet effect, sometimes the trim is in the front, again the brims which roll upward are pulled well over the forehead. But the side tilt still holds.

Here are some other noteworthy trends in spring headgear:

The towering toques of winter have given place to flatter hats, with height often given by such effects as two quills raking skyward.

Feathers and flowers are much used as trims.

There are many novelty straws—soft and silky, shiny and reedlike or very rough.

Black, navy blue and hyacinth blue are outstanding colors.

These are advance pointers, however, for the real chapeau news must wait until dressmakers have done their writing on the fashion wall and the modistes know what spells "clothes" for the spring of 1935.

Suzi has launched her beloved sailors in new guises with a straight three inch brim and a beret crown which is shallow, but wider at the top than near the brim. One black model has an eagle feather sticking straight out and up in front, another two tall black quills rearing up on the side, a third two wings of white ribbon poised squarely in front.

Wide brims appear, too, though these are naturally less in evidence early in the season. One of the smartest is made with a brim of shiny cream reed straw and a crush crown of black felt.

Rose Valois likes toques and turbans for advance season wear and shows them made of everything from a soft crushable silky straw to ribbed white satin. There are white Turkish turbans with a rolled effect about the face finished with an upstanding brush of black feathers, stocking cap toques made of black silky straw and black straw toques with two red birds of paradise sweeping upward from each side.

A number follow the flower vogue by thrusting a cluster of gardenias in one side to nestle against the ear.

Veils are seen too. Sometimes on toques they film the eyes and nose, again on sailors they are worn extending three inches beyond the edge of the brim.

DRIVER'S BILL IS MODIFIED, BUT NOT MUCH

Measure Expected to be Enacted into Law by General Assembly in Short Time.

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 13.—The drivers' license bill will likely be enacted into law, after much delay, virtually as drawn by a sub-committee of the Senate Roads Committee. Consideration of the bill has been delayed at the motions of several Senators to consider the measure at later dates. It was thought for a time that perhaps some of them would voice serious objections, but no effort to defeat the bill has been made, although some amendments have been accepted as compromises with those who have objected to certain features.

One of these, offered by Senator Spence, roads chairman, would require all drivers of public passenger vehicles to be at least 21 years old. At the same time the section relating to school bus drivers was removed. At the same time the section relating to school bus drivers was removed. Other amendments offered by Senator Spence to meet various objections removed from the bill the section the liability for minor drivers upon parents, guardians and employers, because such provision are a part of existing laws, and a clarification of the section dealing with those who shall be denied a license. The latter amendment would deny a license to any driver figuring in an accident, "which accident is obviously the result of negligence of such drivers."

Senator Ferrell, of Forsyth, who last week objected strenuously to the clause which would make any drivers guilty of a misdemeanor who failed to carry with him at all times his drivers' license withdrew his complaint when Senator Spence offered an amendment which would permit any driver to produce his license at any time before his trial upon such a charge. Producing a license before the trial would cause the action to be dropped.

It is now thought that the bill will be adopted without many attempts to further amend it. Observers doubt the existence of any serious attack upon the bill when it reaches the lower House. Senator Spence and others are anxious to push the bill through both Houses as rapidly as possible because future highway legislation will depend greatly upon the driver's license law. No definite action can be taken on those measures until the present bill has become law. Among the legislation to be drawn as a result of the drivers' license bill is some provision for an increased highway patrol. It is apparent that no drivers' license law can be enforced without a larger patrol than now exists. Many favor the removal of the patrol from the Revenue Department to the Highway Department. Almost unanimous is the opinion that the patrol should have as its sole duty the patrolling of the roads. At present the patrolmen collect bad checks, gather gasoline samples, and perform various other duties.

An increase in the size of the highway patrol means that the State must at once set about recruiting additional patrolmen. At least 90 days are required to train recruits for the patrol after they have been selected. There is considerable sentiment too for the establishment of barracks for the patrol. Some legislators believe that the patrol would be more efficient if it was quartered in such barracks. A proposal has been made that barracks be built by prison labor at some of the State prison camps. Proponents of the idea say that they could be built at a very low cost. Such a move is highly probable. Then there is the question of a radio broadcasting system for the patrol with all cars and motorcycles to be equipped with receiving sets. The setting up of such equipments will depend almost entirely on revenue. If patrolmen are to be quartered in barracks it would mean that, in the future, no married men would be enlisted. Such a step would be in line with highway patrol management in other States.

It is very likely that collection of gasoline samples for inspection will be made by the Agricultural Department and that the collection of bad checks will be done by deputy revenue collectors in order that patrolmen may devote their entire time to patrolling the highways. This also is in line with rules laid down by Michigan and Pennsylvania, where State patrols are highly successful.

All these steps will be given due consideration when the drivers' license bill is enacted. Legislative leaders are determined that that will be soon.

BUS DRIVERS ELIMINATED IN MONEY BILL

Opponents Of Sales Tax Would Add $5,000,000 to Revenue Without New Tax.

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 13.—Refusing to be tricked into adopting a section that might cost the State millions of dollars and compel the diversion of from $2,500,000 to $3,000,000 from the highway fund to the school fund later on, the Senate struck out the section in the drivers' license bill that would have required adult drivers for school buses before passing it on second reading Tuesday.

Instead, it decided to defer consideration of this question until the school machinery act comes up for consideration and after the revenue bill has been reported out, so that the Senate may have some idea as to how much money will be available.

When the drivers' license bill came up last week, a certain group seemed to be very anxious to force the bill through the Senate as fast as possible, also to include in the bill the section which would require all drivers of school buses to be 21 years old or over. For a time there seemed to be growing sentiment for this section and strong pressure was brought to bear for it by some of the school forces, although a good many county superintendents were opposed to it, contending that student drivers have proved to be better and safer drivers than adult drivers.

Over the week-end, however, it became known that the adoption of this section to require adult school bus drivers was being backed by some of the school forces in an effort to use this as a club to compel diversion of about $2,500,000 a year from the highway fund to the school fund or else to transfer the entire school transportation system to the Highway Commission. It is agreed that if adult school bus drivers should be made mandatory, the cost of school transportation would at once be increased from the present cost of $1,500,000 a year to $4,000,000 a year, and that in order to get the money for this increased expense it would be necessary to either divert it from the highway fund or transfer the entire school transportation system to the Highway Department, which would merely be another form of diversion. It is estimated that it would cost the highway department from $4,000,000 to $4,500,000 a year to operate the school transportation system with adult bus drivers.

The belief of the school forces backing this move, according to county superintendents not in sympathy with this move, was that rather than be saddled with $4,000,000 a year additional expense by having the school transportation system saddled on it, the highway department would compromise by agreeing to divert $2,000,000 or $3,000,000 a year to the school fund. Then it would have been possible to get a last-minute amendment through to the drivers' license law changing the age limit for drivers back to 16 or 18 years.

But when the drivers' license bill came up Tuesday afternoon in the Senate, many of the members were already wise to the situation. Senator Walter Powell, of Whiteville, Columbus County, a member of the State School Commission, made an enlightening speech in which he pointed out that the figures for the last few years show that in most cases student drivers have been more careful and efficient than adult drivers. He pointed out that for the school year 1933-1934, during which 240,000 children were transported 115,000 miles a day in 4,079 school buses, that only three children were killed and only seven injured seriously enough to require hospital attention.

During this same year there were 3,100 student drivers and 979 adult drivers. There were only six accidents involving student drivers, and only one in which a death resulted. Only six children were injured in these accidents, Senator Powell pointed out. There were three accidents involving buses driven by adults in which two children were killed and three injured.

During the first five months of the present year, 2,925 students have been driving buses, only four of whom have been involved in accidents. In these four, accidents 21 children were injured but none killed. One child was fatally injured in falling from a school bus, but not in an accident. During this same period 1,085 adult drivers have also been driving buses, have had several accidents but no fatal accidents. In one of these accidents with adult drivers, the school bus containing 42 children turned over but not a child was injured, owing to the safety body now required on all school buses.

WOMAN BADLY BURNED WHEN CLOTHES IGNITE

Fayetteville, N. C., Feb. 13.—Mrs. David R. Tillmuth was severely burned about the back this morning when her clothing ignited as she stood near a stove in her home on Rowan Street. Her husband suffered burns on the hands in extinguishing the flames with a blanket. His prompt action probably prevented very serious injury to Mrs. Tillmuth. Her condition last night was described as painful but not necessary serious. She is being given treatment at her home.

NEW INSTRUMENT MADE TO TELL 'MEAN' TIME

York, England. —(AP)—A new transit instrument to determine "mean" time all over the world has been completed here for the observatory at Greenwich. Believed to be the largest in the world, the instrument has taken two and a half years to build and weighs about ten tons. Readings will be taken from a graduated glass circle instead of a silver one, as in the present instrument.

Round the circle are placed several microscope arrangements, each illuminated, so that instead of taking one reading, twelve separate readings are taken and the mean of the 12 readings gives the absolute time.

WORK ON PARKS BEGINS HERE TODAY

(Continued From Page One) completed and will also be a pride to the entire community, members of the Garden Department said. The municipal swimming pool, one of the finest in this part of the state, was completed the latter part of last summer and was not used much over a month before the weather became too cold for swimming. The park will be ready for opening along with the swimming pool and will be patronized by thousands of people daily, including many out-of-town people who come here to shop from time to time.

HAUPTMANN'S FATE NOW WITH NEW JERSEY JURY

(Continued From Page One) time after the jury retired. The defense objected to failure of the court to deliver twelve other instructions. An adjournment was taken at 12:05 o'clock. Hauptmann was led from the courtroom to the cell when the attorneys completed the arguments on the charge. Instructions were not to bring him back until the jury is ready with a verdict.

Flemington, N. J., Feb. 13.—(AP)—The murder case against Bruno Richard Hauptmann was given to the jury today at 11:15 o'clock.

The jury received the case after an hour and ten minutes of charge by Justice Thomas W. Trenchard. Action was taken at once to bar the room so that the jury could begin its deliberation on the charge against Hauptmann as the kidnaper and murderer of Baby Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr.

The jury received the case after an hour and ten minutes of charge by Justice Thomas W. Trenchard. The jury received the case after may conclude from the evidence that the baby was slain by someone who entered the nursery of the Lindbergh home through a window by means of a ladder.

The defense had contended that the baby was carried upstairs of the home by someone on the "inside" and that the ladder was a part of the plot. The court also charged the jury that it may conclude that the baby's sleeping suit was stripped from the child at a point at which other notes that followed.

Betty Gow said she found the thumbprint. The evidence was important to the State's case because the baby's body was found in Mercer County. Hauptmann is charged with murder in Hunterdon County.

The State contends that the uncontradicted evidence of Colonel Lindbergh and Dr. Charles Mitchell and other experts justifies the reasonable inference that the felonious stroke occurred in East Amwell Township in Hunterdon County.

"When the child was seized and carried out of the nursery window and down the ladder, the defense contends death was instantaneous; and from the evidence, you may conclude if you see fit that the child was stricken on the first day of March in the township of East Amwell in this county, and died as a result of this stroke."

Reviewing the ransom money which Dr. John F. Condon said he paid Lindbergh's $50,000 to Hauptmann, Judge Trenchard said:

"It is argued that Dr. Condon's testimony is inherently improbable and should, in part, be rejected by you, but you will observe that this testimony is corroborated in a large part by several other witnesses whose credibility has not been impeached in any manner whatsoever.

"Of course, if there is in the minds of the jury any reasonable doubt as to the truth of any testimony, such testimony should be rejected. But upon the whole there is any doubt in your minds as to the reliability of Dr. Condon's notes?"

"It is argued," Justice Trenchard said, "that Colonel Lindbergh could not have identified that voice and that it is unlikely the defendant would have talked with Dr. Condon."

"Well, the answers to those questions are for determination by the jury."

As to the gang theory expounded by Edward J. Reilly, the defense chief, he said:

"It is argued by defense counsel that the kidnapping and murder was done by a gang and not by the defendant and that the defendant was in no wise concerned therein. The argument was to the effect that it was done by a gang with the connivance of someone or more servants in the Lindbergh and Morrow homes."

"Now, do you believe that? Is there any evidence in this case whatsoever to support any such conclusion?"

The doors of the courtroom were locked as the charge was given. The Associated Press was the only news service subscribing to the official transcript of the proceedings and was able to report the instructions as they were delivered.

The judge declared it was a matter of importance as to whether Hauptmann wrote the original ransom notes which were found in the Hunterdon nursery and the thirteen other notes that followed.

He recalled the State expert's testimony that Hauptmann wrote them. Hauptmann's denial and the testimony of one defense expert who said Hauptmann did not write them. He said "the weight of the evidences to prove the genuineness of the handwriting is fully before the jury."

As to the disputed panel in Hauptmann's closet which bore the penciled telephone number and address of Dr. Condon, he said:

"If you believe that he did write the initials on the panel, although he now denies it, you may conclude that it throws light on the question of whether or not he was conferring with Condon."

PREPARE FOR DRIVE AGAINST MALARIA

project by Federal relief forces last year, is being relieved of logs and rubbish by emergency forces at this time, but will not be completely drained unless the health department's malaria drive goes through. Malaria can never be stamped out of the district until breeding places of mosquitoes have been eliminated as much as possible, it was stated, and it is for this reason that every effort is being put forward to convince the government of the prevalence of malaria in extensive form.

Dr. Ennett urged the people of the various sections involved to note the dates on which tests are to be made and to be on hand and help the cause along. It is not only in behalf of health, but for improvement of the economic condition of the communities by reclamation of valuable farm lands which for years have been idle because of inundation by creek waters.

Already the year's Sensation!

1935 HUDSONS and TERRAPLANES

with the ELECTRIC HAND

An exclusive feature... standard on Hudson Custom Eight; optional (for a small amount extra) on all other 1935 Hudsons and Terraplanes.

Electric Hand . . Steel Roofs . . Balanced Riding . . 1935's Three "Hit Features"

Introduced only a few weeks ago, the Electric Hand is already the year's sensation! Faster, smoother, easier shifting without ever taking your hands from the wheel. And nothing new to learn!

You'll find the first steel roofs on these Hudsons and Terraplanes—and the only bodies completely of steel. You'll find balanced riding—with the plus advantage of the exclusive Hudson method of springing that cradles the entire car.

Even greater performance from cars long known as the greatest and smoothest performing of all stock cars. Greater strength, in cars that proved their ruggedness recently in 175,000-mile Ruggedness Runs. Big Bendix Rotary-Equalized Brakes—that always stop you safely!

Compare Hudson and Terraplane with other cars—and buy on facts.

Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER
Washington, D. C.—Senator Nye of North Dakota, and his Senate committee investigating the munitions industry are having no end of trouble.
First, when the Nye committee was going at full strength, bringing out allegations about activities of the so-called merchants of war, the White House selected a committee of its own to study means for taking the profit out of war.
The move "is amazing to me," said Nye. "The investigation will continue," said Vandenberg, of Michigan, a member of the committee. "So far as we are concerned, we're going to march down the middle of the road" and carry out instructions, said Clark, of Missouri, another member of the committee.
Chairman Nye, when the 74th Congress was convened, almost immediately went before the Senate and asked for more money to continue his investigation.

Senate Response Slow
For some reason the Senate didn't respond with any visible degree of alacrity. That, despite the fact that Nye presented his request in a prolonged speech in which he was helped materially by members of the committee. The Senate finally gave him $50,000 of the $100,000 for which he had asked.

While the North Dakotan and his colleagues on the committee were trying to persuade the Senate to advance them sufficient money to carry on, the other side of Capitol Hill was heard from.

Unexpectedly, Representative McSwain, of South Carolina, chairman of the Military Affairs Committee of the House announced that his committee had ordered an investigation, beginning immediately, of the proposal of a universal draft embracing the idea of putting both men, money and materials in the same category in times of war.
And, to add zest to his announcement, McSwain said that "among the first witnesses" to be called would be Bernard M. Baruch, financier and chairman of the old war industries board, and Hugh S. Johnson, former Blue Eagle chief.

Both are members of the specially-appointed White House committee to study means for taking the profit out of war—Baruch being chairman.

Bonus Measure Again to the Front
Washington, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Although Congress was in recess, the loss of the Macon, another administration maneuver against prepayment of the bonus, and the bare chance of a Supreme Court decision in the gold case made for some what of a ferment in the capital today.

President Roosevelt and Secretary Swanson rejoiced that the loss of life was no greater in the dirigible's disaster and showed there would be no immediate official attempt to get funds to replace the ship. They didn't consider that tighter-hair-air crafts were to be dispensed with finally, however.

Not mentioning the bonus, the President in a press conference repeated his views that any increase in the budget should be accompanied by revenue to meet the cost. His words were regarded as a special plea for restoration of government salaries April 1—but not the $2,100,000,000 cash veterans proposal.

Seeking to compose administration and organized labor differences on the $4,800,000,000 work relief bill, the Senate appropriations committee voted to require payment of prevailing local wages on public works only when the President finds lower rates are disrupting private wage levels.

Seek to Halt Boundary Dispute
Addis Ababa, Feb. 13.—(AP)—The Ethiopian and Italian governments agreed today to the establishment of a neutral zone where hostilities recently have occurred and to name a boundary commission.
The agreement was reached by representatives of the two nations after several days of intensive debates.
First reports of the understanding said that the commission named would investigate the situation which has arisen between Ethiopia and Italy over the boundaries of this empire and the Italian colonies of Somaliland and Eritrea and would attempt to end the boundary dispute.

Ramblers to Meet Wingate College

The Ramblers will meet Wingate College here Friday night in a game that should interest lovers of good tight games. Wingate handed the Ramblers their only defeat and the Ramblers are determined to split 50-50 with them.
The passing and shooting of the Ramblers has improved much and if all indications are correct, a fight will be necessary to defeat these girls again.
The game is to be called at eight o'clock.
