FLUE-CURED LEAF GROWERS TO MEET AT RALEIGH

Further Legal Tilts Over Gold Clause Are Indicated

BOND HOLDERS MAY NOW SEEK REAL DAMAGE

High Court Leaves Door Ajar For Further Litigation by Ruling Congress Acted Unconstitutionally In Wiping Out Gold Clause; Actual Damage May be Sought by Litigations in the Future

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19.—(AP)—Amid the New Deal's jubilation and world excitement over the five to four Supreme Court's decision under which borrowers could continue today to pay gold clause obligations with present paper money on dollar for dollar basis, there arose a number of developments, including:

Some experts saw potentialities for further legal battles for holders of gold bonds who might go into court, seeking to show they had suffered actual losses in purchasing power by the government's abrogation of the gold clause.

This view was based on the idea that the higher court left the door ajar for future litigation when it ruled that Congress acted unconstitutionally in wiping out the gold clause in government bonds, but that John M. Perry of New York, the petitioner in the case, had not shown or sought to show that he suffered damages.

While President Roosevelt was rattled, Secretary Morgenthau declared himself "very much pleased" and that administration tossed aside all its elaborate plans for an adverse decision. There was much thought over the possibility of new legislative steps. Observers watched to see if the government would make any move to withhold from holders of U. S. bonds the privilege of going into court officially to collect damages.

Senate inflationists, it was said by Senator Thomas, Democrat of Oklahoma, will start a new move to drop the value of the dollar still lower. Thomas praised the court's decision, declaring it showed Congress has "unresistable power in handling money."

Wall Street and commodity markets after experiencing something of a frenzy of buying yesterday, hoped that the end of the uncertainty over the gold clause would prove a tonic for the struggle back to prosperity.

PUSH PROBE OF $900 ROBBERY

County Officers Working on Clue to Entrance to Farm Home Near Falkland

County officers continued today their investigation into the $900 robbery last Sunday night at the home of Ray Moore, farmer, residing between Fountain and Falkland. Sheriff Sam Whitehurst, who is directing the investigation, said this afternoon no arrests had been made, although he was working on a pretty good clue. The safe where the money was kept was carried away by the robbers and had not been located today.

Moore and his wife were at church when the robbery occurred. Entering the home, the robbers bound Moore's 12-year-old son who had been left behind, lifted the safe into the car and escaped.

The youth was not freed until his parents returned home a short time afterward.

It was reported here yesterday that $800 had been obtained by the robbers, but Sheriff Whitehurst returning from the scene of the robbery late yesterday said Moore told him he had $900 in the safe.

The robbery was one of the boldest committed in this section in some time and officers were making every effort to round up the man or men responsible for it.

ETHIOPIA ACCUSED OF STALLING PEACE PLAN

Rome, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Ethiopia was accused today by a government spokesman of putting unacceptable conditions in the way of conducting preliminary agreement for the establishment of a frontier neutral zone in the region of the Italo-Ethiopian hostilities.

As a consequence, the spokesman said, Italy may find it necessary to take precautionary measures for disturbances of a dangerous nature. The official source said it was not true as had been previously reported at Addis Ababa that an agreement had been reached concerning the neutral zone.

Addis Ababa, Feb. 19.—(AP)—A government spokesman assailed Italy today for dispatching boisterous troops to Somaliland and Eritrea. Ethiopia, the spokesman said, is guided entirely by specific negotiations with Italy for settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian disputes. The official source said Ethiopia will not duplicate Italy's procedure, adding that their troop movement indicates a desire on the part of Italy to bring pressure to bear on negotiations for establishment of a frontier neutral zone.

Previously it was announced that an agreement had already been effected.

HAUPTMANN AND REILLY NEAR BREAK

Split Imminent Over Effort of German to Obtain Quick Appeal To Higher Court

Hauptmann Gets Respite. Trenton, N. J., Feb. 19.—(AP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann, the man convicted of the kidnapping and murder of the Lindbergh baby and sentenced to die in the electric chair the week of March 18, today won a respite from death of at least seven months.

The Bronx carpenter escaped a speedy execution of his appeal from conviction which was thrown before the state's highest tribunal, the Court of Appeals and Errors.

Hauptmann's New Jersey attorneys applied for and were denied a writ of grace by Counselor Luther A. Campbell. The denial automatically placed the Hauptmann case before the Court of Appeals and Errors.

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 19.—(AP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann's urgent plea for speedy action for an appeal from his death sentence stirred up controversy among his attorneys today and presaged an open break with Edward Reilly, chief defense counsel.

Over the objections of Reilly, Hauptmann from the death house in State Prison requested Floyd Fisch.

Bonded Road Debt Bill Introduced In House Today

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 19.—(AP)—To require the State Highway Commission to take over the balance of the bonded road debt of forty-four counties, including Pitt County, was introduced in the House this afternoon by Representatives Blount and Paylor, of Pitt, and four others. The bill would require the State Highway Commission to pay the balance on road bonds issued by these counties to build roads, included in the State Highway system. If the bill should pass, it would require the Highway Department to pay off a balance of $425,000 of Pitt County road bonds. The bill was referred to the House Committee on Roads.

Late News Flashes

Today In Congress.

Washington, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Out of the breathless excitement of the Supreme Court gold pronouncement emerged today a more careful administration study of possible future developments and a renewed interest in President Roosevelt's legislative program.

Mr. Roosevelt himself has given special attention to his message on a new NRA. It was expected to go to Congress today or tomorrow. As he worked, I. M. Ornburn, president of the Cigarmakers' Union, renewed organized labor's difference with the administration by telling the House committee that F. C. Williams, NRA chairman, was "one of industry's high night riders."

As the Senate debate on the $4,380,000,000 work relief bill continued and the measure faced a multitude of amendments including currency expansion program, the President allotted the Relief Administration another $45,000,000 to supply direct relief needs pending final action on the work bill.

Senator Tydings of Maryland introduced a bill calling for the payment of the soldiers' bonus in negotiable government bonds at their present face value, including interest.

The legislature bans slot machine. Raleigh, Feb. 19.—(AP)—The legislature today banned gambling slot machines in North Carolina.

Senate approval was voted. The bill already passed by the house to outlaw any devices which may be used for gambling.

Both divisions of the assembly spent most of the time on local bills.

MONEY BARONS LOSE CONTROL OF CURRENCY

Gold Clause Decision Brings About Big Change in Financial Structure of U. S.

Reflector Bureau. Sir Walter Hotel. Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 19.—"The money barons have definitely lost control of the currency," said State Treasurer Charles Johnson today. He was speaking of the "gold clause" decision handed down by the U. S. Supreme Court. "It affects North Carolina bonds not at all. They should retain their present price level," he added. "The same should be true at the verdict of county and municipal bonds."

Mr. Johnson was highly pleased at the verdict, and termed it "a victory for the people." "A few people," he went on, "have most of the money and heretofore they have manipulated the currency to suit their own ends. This decision means that we have definitely committed ourselves to the theory that the President and the Congress shall have full and complete control of our monetary policy. This I regard as much superior to the intricate process of control of the currency by the Federal Reserve system. It means that control will be more democratic and, as a result, the best interests of the people as a whole, rather than the interests of a chosen few, will be the dominating factor in determining the value of the dollar. You may quote me in full—I make no reservations."

Treasurer Johnson believes, as do many others, that the decision will stabilize the country to a great extent, removing to a large degree the uncertainty which has prevailed.

State and municipal bonds, he believes, will remain at their present price-levels because there is nothing in the decision to affect their redemption values.

END DRIVE ON PITT MALARIA

Health Department Announces Clinic Went Over the Top In Several Areas

The malaria survey which has been carried on by the Pitt County Health Department for the past week came to a close at Winterville yesterday.

This work could not have been brought to completion so early or carried on so successfully if it had not been for the voluntary services of the following physicians:

Dr. W. K. McDowell, F. P. Brooks and N. E. Ward, of Greenville; Dr. G. G. Dancy, M. T. Frazzelle, and G. H. Sumner, Ayden; and Dr. E. V. Tucker, of Grifton.

Mrs. J. P. Stowe, nurse, of Greenville, also rendered voluntary aid in the survey.

In addition to the above workers, Dr. Ennett said he wished to especially thank Roy T. Cox, Winterville; E. M. Kilpatrick, Ayden; and John Harvey, of Grifton, for their untiring efforts in getting the people out to the various clinic centers.

Dr. J. S. Liverman, Dr. N. E. Ward, Jr., and Mrs. J. P. Stowe, nurse, assisted Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, Health Officer, and Miss Edna McKee, nurse, Pitt County Health Department, with the tests made at Winterville on yesterday.

The number of blood tests made at that time was 137, making for the entire survey of the Swift Creek section a total of 563 tests. This is 65 more tests than was called for by the U. S. Public Health Service, and shows how interested are the citizens of this area in seeing themselves from blighting malaria.

LEGISLATIVE RAMBLINGS

By C. A. PAUL

"I heard that the man who introduced that bill was half-drunk when he introduced it," said Mrs. A. J. Haggood, Charlotte church-woman at a Methodist Sunday school class meeting Mrs. Haggood made the remark in a Charlotte Church, while the good ladies were discussing the now-famous Hill liquor bill.

Senator John Sprunt Hill, of Durham, introducer of the measure, is a life-long dry. His intimate friends have said that if the Senator has ever taken a single drink of whiskey it is news to them. For many years he was personally active in the Anti-Saloon League and the United Dry Forces and was one of their chief sources of contributions.

However, almost unanimously, the United Drys have engaged in denouncing Senator Hill. In this they are led by Cate Burgess, chief mogul of United Drys. The Senator, he declares that he is dry, but not "a blind dry," has not deigned to reply to Burgess and his former associates.

POLICE STILL BUSY PROBING ROBBERY HERE

Widespread Entrance Of Homes Sunday Night Holding Police Scrutiny Today

No additional arrests had been made by police today in connection with the entrance of robbers of eight homes here Sunday night, it was reported this morning by Chief of Police George Clark.

The police head said he was continuing to hold a negro named Clinton Dupree, taken into custody here in connection with the widespread entrance of residences on Fifth Street and Dickinson Avenue. Fingerprints taken from some of the homes did not check with those of the negro, Mr. Clark said, but Dupree will still be questioned in the belief that the fingerprints might have belonged to some other members of the robbery gang.

Dupree vigorously denied implication, but he has a long record record behind him, the police chief said, and will bear long questioning and investigation. The negro only a few days ago completed a sentence to the roads for larceny.

The thieves were evidently in search of money for in a number of places men's pants were found in the back yards with the pockets turned inside out. Only one thing of value was found missing following investigation of the various houses and that was a gold watch taken from the home of J. R. Moye.

Although house-breaking has been quite popular here for a number of years, especially during the depression, this is the first time that police have coped with such widespread entrances and all in one night. The extent of the robber band swings through the two residential districts was alarming and caused many persons who had been leaving their doors unlocked to bolt them tightly last night. In fact, numbers of shooting irons which had been permitted to become rusty for want of use were dug up and put into shooting condition.

ALIMONY SUIT BEFORE COURT

Mrs. Albritton Seeks Increased Fund From Her Mail Carrier-Husband

The one-week term of the Superior Court which convened yesterday morning with Judge M. V. Barnhill, of Rocky Mount, on the bench, continued hearing today in the alimony suit of Mrs. Annie Lee Albritton against her husband, B. G. Albritton, rural mail carrier operating out of the local postoffice.

The case was begun shortly before noon yesterday and is not expected to be completed before late tomorrow because of the great amount of testimony to be presented by each side.

Mrs. Albritton was allowed temporary alimony of $47 a month by Judge Frank A. Dancy in court here about a year ago, but this time she is asking for an increased fund, and that it be made permanent. She seeks the money for support for herself and two children by a former marriage.

In her complaint, Mrs. Albritton alleged she had been unable to live with her husband because of cruel and inhuman treatment, alleging that he beat her severely at times and made it impossible for her to live with him.

In Albritton's answer he declared his wife had been unfaithful and accused her of not living up to her marriage vows.

Numbers of witnesses were to be presented by both sides today and tomorrow and court attaches estimated it would be late in the afternoon before action was completed.

Prior to the beginning of the alimony suit court disposed of the divorce of Mrs. Alma Smyre against S. S. Smyre. The divorce was obtained on the grounds of two years' separation.

The University of Maryland has scheduled four football games in the Baltimore Stadium next year. Four others are to be played on the road, leaving only one game at home—that with St. John's, the opener.

Acreage Boost By AAA To Get Full Attention

MEETINGS TO ALSO BE HELD IN COUNTIES

Object of Meeting To Sound Out Sentiment of Growers of Acreage Increase Ruled by Adjustment Administration; Dean Schaub Urges Farmers to Signup For 1936-37 To Hold Prices To High Level

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19.—(AP)—A general mass meeting of flue-cured tobacco growers soon in Raleigh, N. C., was being planned today to obtain the sentiment of the producers on acreage increases approved this year by the Farm Administration. The suggestion for such a meeting was made last night by Dean I. Schaub, of the North Carolina College Extension Service, after flue-cured tobacco advisory committee expressed its recommendation of increased acreage. Schaub said similar meetings would be held in all flue-cured tobacco growing counties for the benefit of growers unable to attend the Raleigh gathering. The extension director expressed belief it would be impossible to sue new contracts for this season as was suggested last week by the North Carolina delegation who presented the increase acreage. He urged a sign-up for 1936 at 1937 before the flue-cured market season opens late this summer. Members of the advisory committee, headed by Claude T. Hall, Wooddale, N. C., and representatives of the flue-cured growing States, North Carolina, Virginia, South Carolina and Georgia, said the recommendation for increased acreage was predicted on the fact that many farmers outside the tobacco counties.

NAME FOREST FIRE WARDENS

R. W. King, Chief Warden, Announces Fire Fighters in Every Township

A move to protect the forests of Pitt County has been launched here with announcement today by R. W. King, forest fire warden, that wardens had been named in every township of the county.

Mr. King said an effort would be made to curtail the annual loss suffered in several sections of the county during the spring and summer months. Forest conflagrations have cost the county thousands of dollars each year, and it is the hope of the warden this loss will be greatly reduced this year.

The wardens will be on duty all the time, the chief warden said, and farmers who need them to help control fire on their places were urged to do so before the blaze gets out of control.

Mr. King also urged farmers to be careful in burning off ditches and land during the spring season, declaring that numbers of disastrous fires have been known to originate from such causes.

People going into the woods to cut tobacco wood were also cautioned by the warden to take care how they handle fire and to see that all cigar or cigarette butts are stamped out before leaving the woods.

The warden said new enthusiasm had been injected into the task of forest fire control with naming of the new wardens in various townships and expressed the hope that the public would co-operate in every way possible in the fight on the fire demon.

Wardens in the various townships follow: W. W. Young, Beaver Dam; Robert Joyner, Farmville; Alex Dunn, Belvoir; Vernon Forbes, Falkland; Jesse Manning, Bethel; Josh Smith, Chiloc; Walter Brown, Ayden; L. A. Fulford, Ayden; L. E. Manning, Ayden; Lee Manning, Grifton; O. G. Gulley, Greenville; Ernest Avery, Winterville; M. W. Simmons, Pate; and T. L. Perkins, Stokes.

Game wardens in the Pisgah National Forest in North Carolina say baby deer frequently will frolic with children of the neighborhood, but show fright at the approach of the grown-ups.

TRAMP HELD FOR ROBBERY

Haddock Latham Arrested Here Yesterday For Breaking Into Freight Car

Haddock Latham, described by police as a tramp of the Fount community, was held here today charged with stealing two cases of cigarettes from a Norfolk-Southern freight car in the western part of the city Monday morning.

When arrested yesterday afternoon police said Latham confessed stealing the cigarettes and selling them to a negro for $2. The "fags" were valued at $20, and police expected to recover them sometime today.

The robbery took place when a freight train parked the car on "Y" Sunday night to be carried into the yards Monday morning. Latham said he broke into the car during the early morning, walked down the track with the cigarette under his arm and sold them to a negro he was not able to identify.

Chief of Police George Clark said the man, ragged and dirty, confessed he committed the theft immediately upon being questioned by the police station.

The police said Latham completed a term on the roads in Edgecombe county for larceny. Latham will be given hearing in the regular Wednesday session of city court and bound over to next session of Superior court.

THREE FACTS

(News and Observer)

The incontrovertible facts are:

1. North Carolina's tax structure places a much lighter ad valorem tax burden on corporations than practically all other American States.

2. Changes in North Carolina's tax structure in recent years have favored corporations and individuals of large means.

3. Federal and State income tax reports show that the incomes and tax-paying ability of corporations has been much less reduced than in the case of individuals.

Acting in the light of these facts, the Legislature, if it seeks justice in taxation, will certainly levy those taxes on corporations proposed by those members who revolted from the administration's program to seek no new taxes in these better times save by a deeper thrusting of the tax gather's hand into the pockets of the poor by new sales taxes on the necessities of life.

No one has proposed any other tax burden upon the corporate wealth of the State than is now carried by the masses of the people.

Actually less is asked. All that is proposed is that the corporations pay to the State in taxes a part of the share of tax reductions which they have received.

Here is one instance, certainly, where Representatives McDonald and Lumpkin have pointed out money or taxes where the money is not. Unless this Legislature is prepared to deliberately levy taxes on the basis of taxes from those too poor to be able to pay and yet not paying their share, it will promptly adopt the proposals for increased retentive taxes on those corporations which not only pay most of the money but also have received most of the tax relief.

Montana Rides Again

A RAPID-FIRE ROMANCE BY EVAN EVANS.

SYNOPSIS: The Montana Kid, Brother Pascual, and the steel-hard Rosta are on the edge of the Valley of the Dead. They are there because Rosta, with whom Montana tried to do the Church a signal service, has been captured by the devilish General Estrada and condemned to a living death in the blistering valley. Now they are watching two guards feed a long string of prisoners toward the valley entrance; one mistress a woman, and Montana is prevented from shooting him by Rosta.

Chapter 22

FIGHT

THE guards were kicking the woman to her feet again, laughing.
Then, with a shouted command, they started the string of the condemned forward into the throat of the valley.

But the two guards did not follow immediately. They seemed to realize that whatever the lips of the valley closed over would never pass through them again. They remained to argue heatedly over some money which one of the rascals held in his pocket.

Perhaps it was the overplus out of which the officer of the Rostales had been cheated.

But Montana, as he watched, saw a chance for action stranger than anything he had ever dreamed of before. He looked at the friar, still lost in profound prayer.

He looked quickly at the girl;

"A gift for you, Felipe!"

then he started down the slope behind the rocks, swerving quickly from one to another until he was very close to the spot where the two still argued.

They were not men. They had the faces of beasts. The evil that was in them made them seem like two blood-brothers. And now with snarling mouths and reddened eyes they threatened each other.

They were still at it when the Kid stepped out from behind the nearest boulder.

"There's a better way, brothers," he said.

They started and faced him with one movement. Both were armed, but only with knives, and that long-barreled Colt in the hand of Montana, held no higher than his hip, watched them both with a single eye of darkness.

"I've been hearing," said Montana,
"that only choice men can get work in the Valley of the Dead, my friends, and because I want to take a look at the place, I've decided to make a vacancy. Which one of you ought to die?"

They stared at him; they stared at the gun.

"You, there," directed Montana,
"you with the frog face, pick up that length of rope and tie it to the wrist of your partner."

The thing was done.

"Now, you on the right, tie the other end of that rope to your friend."

The man obeyed.

"THE pair of you have knives," said Montana. "I sit here as the judge. God knows that there's nothing so useful you can do as die. The winner lives, then, and I step into the sands of the other rat. Start! You understand? Or do you want me to sit some lead into your hides?"

The smaller of the two seemed to take in the idea first. His knife came out in a flash as he said, "A gift for you, Felipe!"

And he struck the blade into his companion. There was weight enough in the blow and it was well enough aimed, below the left shoulder, but with a light, tinkling sound the blade snapped in two. The point, no doubt, had struck a rib bone.

"Francisco!" screamed Felipe.
"Devil!"

And he hurled himself right at the other.

Felipe had the strength, the length of arm, and a knife which was unbroken. He had the relentless vigor of a bulldog, too. But Francisco was as wily as a snake. He could not run, because of the rope that tied him to his companion, but he could use that rope to jerk Felipe off balance.

A long slash had ripped open the breast of Francisco. But he had wit enough to spring far to the left and throw his body to the ground. Felipe tumbled after him, met in falling by the up-biting knife fragment in the hand of his foe.

They rolled together like two tomcats.

The fight was as brief. Big Felipe lay on his back, his throat well opened, a dozen other jagged wounds in his breast, from the rapid knifework of Francisco, and Francisco, pouring blood, dragged himself up and sat on the body of the dead man.

HE untied the rope from his left wrist.

"Well," said Francisco, "I am done for. But that doesn't matter. I sit on

Frigidaire On Its Fourth Million

An historic incident in man's everlasting battle to defeat the health and life destroying activities of poorly protected and preserved meats and foods occurred several days ago in Dayton, Ohio, when the 3,000,000th Frigidaire came down the assembly tracks, starting this General Motters division on its fourth million. Greeting the 3,000,000th Frigidaire were: left to right, C. A. Copp, general sales manager, and E. G. Biechler, president and general manager, who were members of the pioneer Frigidaire force, H. W. Newell, vice president in charge of sales, and Frank R. Pierce, sales manager.

Nineteen thirty-five models of Frigidaire, world's fastest selling electric refrigerator, were shown today for the first time in the showrooms of Smith Electric Co., dealer here for the products of this unit of General Motors.

Sensationally new in design, carrying all the efficiency features required for household food protection and preservation and priced for every purse and purpose, the line consists of sixteen models in four series, all featuring the famous Frigidaire super freezer, which, according to Mr. Smith, is a remarkable contribution to economical home refrigeration.

"The super freezer, principal feature of an electric refrigerator that has everything," Mr. Smith said, "provides the cold necessary to properly preserve food, to freeze ice cubes and desserts."

"With it on the more popular lifetime precool models is the new quick freeze switch that permits a housewife to freeze cubes and desserts quickly, on completion of which the unit switches back to normal operation and holds a steady low temperature."

"The 1935 Frigidaire are the requirements of housewives based on sents the sentiment of 100,000 famierators or will buy them in 1935."

CREDIT: Financial conservatives point to the figures for commercial loans as proof that the government is barking up the wrong tree in its efforts to expand private credit.

Federal Reserve member banks report business loans outstanding at about $4,537,000,000. Despite the pressure of unprecedented excess reserves this represents a decline of $238,000,000 from the October peak and $28,000,000 from the first of the year. There has been a steady sag for four months.

The banks insist it is not their fault. They argue that they would like nothing better than to put the huge volume of reserves to work and make themselves some money—but business still lacks the incentive and confidence to borrow.

Meanwhile the government maintains its position that the $2,300,- 000,000 in excess reserves—basis for a potential credit expansion of $23,- 000,000,000—MUST be used somehow. If private enterprise continues apathetic you're likely to see federal borrowings greatly enlarged in an attempt to get this credit medium in circulation through every possible channel.

MORTGAGES: Did you ever stop to count up the government agencies that finance mortgages in one form or another?

There are no less than six—the Reconstruction Finance Corporation,
the Federal Housing Administration,
the Home Owners Loan Corporation, the Federal Savings and Loan Association, and the Farm Credit Administration. A potent seventh—the Federal Reserve System itself—will be added if and when the pending amendments to the banking law are enacted.

Comment runs that real estate certainly ought to get somewhere with all this assistance. But so far it remains as depressed as a playboy at a prohibition picnic.

The new home loan appropriation —which will probably be authorized by Congress—calls for $250,000,000 in cash that wasn't accounted for in budget estimates. But what's a budget among friends?

RIDDLE: Anti-New Dealer make merry about the misadventures in the social securities bill. They claim the President would be rebuffed to veto every law he recommended and call that a lively staple of Washington efficiency.

The boys who doped it out got their figures twisted somewhere and the project was launched without an adequate check-up. It has now been discovered that it would lead the government into progressive bankruptcy—and that would make a sweet issue. Secretary Morgenthau is reported as plenty bothered.

This dumps a tough riddle in Congress' lap. It would hardly do for the President to repudiate his own program publicly. So the lawmakers must work out sweeping changes which will satisfy the national demand for social security without sinking the Treasury for keeps.

Big Four Garage Will Open New Plant Tonight

Improvements in building and equipment of the Big Four Garage on Fifth Street have been completed it was announced today, and the formal opening will be held tonight beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Numbers of additions have been made by the firm which converts it into a "one stop" station, making it possible for motorists to obtain any kind of automobile service. One of the most noticeable improvements is the filling station at the front of the building which will cater to the public in one of the busiest sections of the city.

With the addition of an Almet greasing equipment the firm is better able than ever before to take care of this feature of automobile work. This enables them to shoot grease to the frozen parts of a car under 7,000 pounds of pressure.

With improvement in equipment the concern is able to take care of any kind of automobile repairing in quick order.

Chrysler and Plymouth automobiles and Diamond T. Trucks are handled by the firm along with Firestone tires. The showing of each in the various display rooms on the two floors occupied by the firm will be extensive at all times, it was said.

The Big Four is under the management of J. E. McGowan, R. L.
Jordan, and H. L. Pruett, who are well known in the automobile field because of their wide association with the industry.

LONDON'S HAT MODES
LEAVE 'PILBOX' BEHIND

London.—(AP)—The "Marina pillbox" hat, reportedly still the rage in Paris and the United States, already has been forgotten here.

In swift succession, the style set by the new Duchess of Kent last winter has given way to the "shovel hat," the "Glenary," the "halo," the masculine homburg, and now the "chocolate box"—the last a dark brown square not unlike a scholastic motorboard with the rim left off.

London designers are now waiting for the fashion-setting duchess to return from her honeymoon cruise to start yet another mode.

A bountiful dinner was served on the lawn.

Was Weak, Easily Worried

"I felt weak, tired and very nervous," writes Mrs. Clifford Wehnt, of Smyrna, Ga. "It seemed like everything worried me. Children got on my nerves with their noise at play. My mother had given me Cardui when I was just a girl for run-down condition, and I was better from taking it, so I decided when so nervous and weak that this was the time to take Cardui again. It surely did help me. I am stronger and my nerves are better."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician. (Adv.)

A. A. U. W. Meets.

"The most outstanding woman in the world today," said Mrs. J. E. Winslow last night, in a talk before the members of the A. A. U. W., "is seemingly by common consent Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

Mrs. Winslow, scheduled to discuss 1934's most notable woman, said she was greatly influenced in her choice by two things—the fact that Mrs. Roosevelt had put Mrs. Roosevelt at the head of her list of leading women of 1934, and that the Gimbel award of a medal and $1,000 was given Mrs. Roosevelt for outstanding public service during last year.

The speaker then proceeded to sketch in the background of Mrs. Roosevelt's life, and show her strength and her weaknesses, her marked characteristics and her manifold activities. "A human dynamo" is the term most often applied to Mrs. Roosevelt by the press, she said.

Mrs. Roosevelt's principles of housekeeping were discussed—the fact that she has everything going like clock-work, yet so flexible that meals and rooms can be adapted to the unexpected guests with ease, though in the last notes of Ike Hoover, the old chief usher of the White House, shocked perhaps at her unconventional ideas of hot dogs and scrambled eggs as the proper food for the inaugural buffet luncheon, we find the comment: "Mrs. R.—is no housekeeper."

Another striking characteristic brought out was her strong belief in freedom, which she once defined as something most people talk about, without doing anything to gain it. Mrs. Roosevelt has always wanted a free life for her children, refusing to influence them against their better judgment; and she has always insisted on freedom of action for herself.

She is interested in a bewildering number of activities outside her home. As everyone knows three of her chief interests have been a school for girls, in which she was teaching when her husband was elected President; a magazine on "babies," which she still edits; and a furniture factory set up to give employment to cabinet makers and carpenters out of work, where antiques are reproduced. But there are many other fields in which this versatile woman is interested.

The A. A. U. W. was delightfully entertained by Miss Evelyn Hart and Mrs. Winslow, at the Winslow home on Fifth street.

The March program of the association promises to be of great interest. Dr. Wells of State College will give an illustrated lecture on "Natural Gardens of North Carolina."—Reported.

LONDON HEADS DRESSED AFTER MARINA COIFFURE

London. (AP)—The new "Marina coiffure," introduced at a recent party by the Duchess of Kent, fast is becoming the rage in London.

The coiffure makes a long line from the neck to the forehead, rising toward the top of the head. The raised effect is achieved by a long row of curls starting from the center of the head and coming low down to the middle of the forehead.

The back and sides of the head are flat, and the effect is a combination of a severe and soft style.

Immigrants Enter Paraguay

Asuncion, Paraguay. (AP)—A though Paraguay is living under conditions, a trickle of immigrants continues to arrive in this island country. Several hundred White Russians have taken up farm land recently, and a river boat brought fifty-eight Spanish and Polish farmers recently. The Paraguayan government encourages the entry of farmers by exempting them from military service.

Idle Army Re-forests Shensi

Shinfa, China. (AP)—Planting of 1,000,000 trees in four months was the goal set by Shensi authorities for the province's idle soldier thousands. All of Shensi's modern roads were built by soldiers.

Makes You Lose Unhealthy Fat

A Norwich, Conn., lady writes: "I lost 16 lbs. with my first bottle of Kruschen. Being on night duty it was hard to sleep days but now since I am taking Kruschen I sleep plenty, eat as usual and lose fat too."

To take off fat—take on half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—a quarter pound jar lasts 4 weeks—Get it at Pitt Drug Co. or any drug store in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the easiest, surest and safest way to lose fat your money gladly returned.—(Adv.)

LONG SESSION LEGISLATURE IN PROSPECT

All Controversial Matters Still Ahead Of Solons Sitting at Capital City

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

By J. C. BASKERVILLE

Raleigh, Feb. 19.—The present session of the general assembly is just beginning to get started. The first four weeks has proved to be no more than a mere warming up of the legislative motor, most observers now agree. Some even think the legislature has gone into reverse gear during the past week and is further from adjournment now than it was five weeks ago. Few now believe there is any chance for the session to adjourn before April 15, while some think it will probably be May 1 before it can adjourn.

Despite the fact that the legislature is now beginning its sixth week, not a single piece of major legislation has been enacted and neither of most important bills of the sessions—the revenue and appropriations bills—are expected to be ready to bring onto the floor of the House for at least ten days yet. No one has any idea how long the House will take to discuss and pass the revenue bill, since the big fight of the anti-sales tax forces to eliminate the sales tax from the bill will be made all over again in the House.

Many observers believe that at least two weeks will be required to get the revenue bill through the House. It is also anticipated that the House will make a number of changes in the bill, that it will accordingly be sent by the Senate to the Senate finance committee, where even more changes will be made. It is also regarded as certain that the anti-sales tax faction in the Senate will put up a stiff fight and perhaps succeed in getting new sections added to the bill or amendments adopted.

This will mean that the revenue bill as passed by the Senate will be quite different from the bill as it is passed by the House and that it will be sent to a conference committee and no one knows how long it will take for the Senate and House conference committees to agree or for the House and Senate to accept the recommendations made by these committees.

The same procedure is also in prospect over the appropriations bill, although it is not expected that quite as much time will be required to consider this bill. However, if the school forces are not satisfied with the bill as reported and decide to put up a fight to boost the appropriations for schools above the amount recommended, they may be able to cause a lot of delay. It is also generally conceded that the fight to divert a portion of the highway revenue to the school fund or back to the counties to be used in retiring county road bonds, will break when the appropriations bill gets under discussion in the House.

If the appropriation for the University of North Carolina is reduced by the committee from its present figure, as now seems likely, a determined effort to restore the allotment to the amount requested will undoubtedly be made on the floor. So about ten days to two weeks may be required to get the appropriations bill through the House.

In addition to these two bills are the numerous measures the administration has recommended, very few of which have even been introduced yet. Among these are bills to change the present state-wide law with regard to tax foreclosure suits, to amend the workmen's compensation law to include certain occupational diseases and to compel insurance companies to accept certain risks whether they want to or not and probably one or more bills to provide for some form of unemployment insurance. Virtually all of these measures are highly controversial and are sure to cause much debate.

WINGATE WILL PLAY PIRATES HERE TONIGHT

Wingate College basketball team will meet the East Carolina Teachers College quint here tonight at 8 o'clock in the college gymnasium. Coach Doc Mathis' locals have won five or the last seven games that they have played. Tonight they will be seeking revenge for their defeat in football by the visitors.

Captain Johnson and Davis were the big guns in the Pirates' win over Atlantic Christian College Saturday. Wingate will bring here one of the best junior college teams in the State. They are presenting an unusually tall group of players which will greatly handicap the smaller local squad. The Pirates have two more home games; these are with Elon and Norfolk Division of William and Mary College. Thursday the locals leave on a three-game trip into the central part of the State. They will play Davidson Freshmen Guilford and High Point College.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Feb. 19. (AP)—The golden lining of yesterday's apparently had some of its luster in today's financial market.

Although the supreme court's acceptance of the new deal monetary legislation was still considered a constructive influence many nimble stock dealers were inclined to cash in their profits from the exciting upturn of the previous session.

With the exception of the metals most quiet groups displayed an easier time.

Trading turned quiet after an active opening.

Bonds were rather steady. Grains and cotton yielded some of their Monday's advances.

Foreign exchange yields were reactionary in face of the dollar. Closing stock tone was rather heavy.

Transfers were 1,100,000 shares.

bills but the house passed the Cooke bill to allow county commissioners to buy soil erosion prevention machinery and provide it for the use of farmers.

Committee meetings on proposed taxes on power and insurance companies and on allotments for public schools were set for this afternoon. The finance committee will hear protests against the McDonnell-Lemkin substitute tax proposal and in executive committee the appropriations committee will study school money.

Interest was also already leaning toward hearings tomorrow afternoon in the Senate chamber on the Hill bill to create a system of state liquor stores. Senate committee approval was voted on a substitute bill to require the vaccination of infant children between the ages of 6 and 12 months against diphtheria.

Favorable report was voted by the House committee on bills to raise salaries of superior court solicitors.

New bills introduced included measures to amend election laws, provide for criminal prosecution and set the hour of balloting. Bills to tighten regulations on the practice of pharmacy and the sale of medicine; a proposal for election of an athletic station at N. C. State College, and a bill to direct the highway commission to pay loans made by counties to the state for road construction. House action on bills to raise salaries of school teachers and other lower paid state employees was deferred when the measure was sent to the appropriations committee. It had the approval of the salaries and fees group.

er, Flemington attorney, and member of the defense counsel, to start appeal procedure today. Fisher was signed by Hauptmann as "my chief defense counsel."

Hauptmann's action tended to increase the uncertainty existing in the ranks of his counsel. A report of ill-feeling between Riehl and Hauptmann was current.

The first move contemplated by Fisher was to request an order from Justice Trenchard to compel Hunterdon County where Hauptmann was convicted to defray the cost of printing 1,600,000 word record for appellate purposes.

Riehl, telephoning Ebert Rosecrans, another defense counsel, said all appellate action would be delayed indefinitely with judicial technicalities to be canceled.
