Secretary of Labor Probably May Quit After Action of Other Two Members

Havana, Cuba, Feb. 26.—(AP)—More trouble was piled on the shoulders of President Carlos Menéndez today when Cosme J. Torrente, Secretary of State, and Dr. D. Cardenas, Secretary of Justice of the Interior resigned.

The two cabinet officers claimed they were unwilling to accept the responsibility for conditions of the forthcoming presidential election in the face of the political opposition to the existing method of elections.

Part of this opposition was expressed in the student strike which developed as a threat of general revolutionary walkout.

The Marianista party, headed by Miguel Marianox Gomez, former mayor of Havana, decided to sever its connections with the Menéndez government because the government did not accept a plan for a non-political cabinet in which they stated state was a necessary basis for conduct of elections.

A source close to the presidential palace said Rogelio Pina, secretary of labor, also probably would resign.

Funeral Held Yesterday For Miss Fleming

Final rites for Miss Addie Fleming, 76, who died at her home in the House Station community Sunday night, were conducted from the late home yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock by Elders S. B. Denny, Primitive Baptist minister of Wilson, the family pastor. Burial was made in the family burying ground near the home.

Miss Fleming was a member of an old and prominent family and a large crowd from many sections of the county attended the funeral. The flowers were expressive of the high esteem in which she was held by the countryside.

She is survived by three sisters, a brother and several other relatives in this county.

The following out-of-town relatives were here to attend the funeral: Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Hurt, Mrs. Lizzie Fleming, Miss Selma Fleming, Mrs. Myra Fleming Mann, Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Fleming, of Enfield; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Fleming, of Raleigh; Phon Fleming and Mr. of Raleigh; Phon Fleming and Best Fleming, Robertsonville; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lillie, Mrs. Smithwick, of Jamesville; Mr. and Mrs. R. S. ## IN CASE OF STORM SWALLOW A SPIKE, MAINE CORD AXIOM

Portland, Me.—(AP)—The "pokes" or stomach of deep-sea cod or haddock caught in the Gulf of Maine often are found to contain small stones, nail, jack-knives, or even, so the fishermen says, silver coins.

Old-time hand-liners and trawlers have a ready explanation for this phenomenon.

"You see, when there's blow coming on," explained one Cundy's Harbor veteran, "the fish knows it, and they ballast themselves so they can ride it out easy-like."

The fishermen also know why a cod sometimes has money in his "poke." There's an old superstition among fishermen that when the luck is bad, the best way to bring fish is to cast money into the sea.

Even today, some older skippers will empty their pockets of change when the run is poor.

Prominent American Cattle Buyer Reported Slain by Band of Mexicans

Douglas, Ariz., Feb. 26.—(AP)—Messages report the assassination of a prominent American cattle buyer in the mountainous section of Mexico by renewed bandit raids in the region once ruled by Pancho Villa.

The victim was Ames Regan. When or how he died was not stated in the message to relatives here sent by Hilario Hablondo, prominent Mexican cattle buyer of the Catteras district. Regan's death was described as an "assassination" in the cryptic message from Las Veras.

Sewer Issue Flares Before Solons Again

Connection of several hundred negro houses in the western part of the city with sewer lines—an issue which has been a bone of contention between the city administration and property owners for some time—flared anew at a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen at the city hall last night after it had been deferred indefinitely at a previous meeting.

Although no action was taken on an appeal from property owners that they be permitted to make the connections over a two-year period, the aldermen deferred decision until their next meeting scheduled for the first Thursday night next month.

At a meeting two months ago the city fathers ordered that all negro houses in the western section of the city be connected with sewer lines, lifted tapping charges, and paved the way to one of the largest single sewer programs in the history of the city.

No sooner had the order been issued than property owners rose up in arms, attended the next meeting of the board en masse, opposed the order, and declared they had rather raise their houses than have to submit to such action. The aldermen listened patiently to the outburst of passion, agreed to reverse themselves and permit the issue to hang fire indefinitely. They specified, however, that all houses should be provided with surface closets as required by the State Board of Health in an effort to obtain the best sanitary conditions in the affected area possible.

The property owners, who were appalled at the tremendous expense to which they would be subjected in the sewer-connection program, relented shortly after the meeting, it was stated, and members of the board last night discussed the program for connections over a two-year period and agreed to act definitively at the next meeting.

In the meantime, the property owners will try to obtain some kind of an estimate from plumbers, who seemed rather recalcitrant about furnishing figures when the matter was first presented. However, it was indicated something worthwhile would be accomplished by Thursday night of next week, when the aldermen are scheduled to meet again and it may be the program will go through without a hitch.

Labor for the project, it was understood, will be provided through the Federal Emergency Administration.

Dr. N. T. Ennett, director of the Pitt County Department of Health, spoke impressively in behalf of the connection program, urging the city to push the proposal as much as possible for the sake of improved sanitary conditions in that section of the city.

He called to the attention of the solons certain information compiled from the records of other cities, showing that in practically all instances definite steps had been taken to connect all houses with sewers.

The board adopted a resolution by Alderman Duncan requiring all houses erected in the future to be connected with sewer lines wherever such is possible.

In addition to discussion of this matter, the board passed on a contract entered into with the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad allowing the Water and Light Commission to cross railroad tracks of the company with a power line.

The board also ordered the placing of curbing in the single lot extension of Greenwood cemetery, and passed a resolution asking the Legislature to validate the sale of real estate for taxes for the past two years where collection has been enjoined.

STORMS STILL HARRASS SHIPS ON HIGH SEAS

Bay of Biscay Off Coast of France Continues to Remain Center of Tempest

(By The Associated Press)

Storm-racked vessels were tossed in seething seas in many quarters of the globe today as gales of the last few days continued to bring misfortune to weary mariners.

The Bay of Biscay off the coast of France remained the center of the turbulent tempest which crippled at least a half-dozen merchantmen in the area.

At least fifteen vessels which sent out messages of distress were struggling to ride out the storm or edge their way toward port at the end of rescue ship tow lines.

The latest craft to join the growing list of stricken steamer was the 5,350-ton British freighter Berey which reported its steering gear had been carried away off Portugal while it was enroute to Liverpool from West Africa.

RETURN FROM TOBACCO MEET

Pitt County People in Large Number Attend Raleigh Meeting Yesterday

Numbers of Greenville and Pitt County tobacco growers and others interested in the industry returned late yesterday afternoon and last night from Raleigh where they went to hear Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace and J. B. Hutson, chief of the tobacco section of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, discuss the tobacco outlook during the coming season.

After hearing Secretary Wallace declare that the administration did not plan to change its rulings calling for increased tobacco allotments this season, the gathering voted to "go along" with the administration in its effort to reach parity prices, providing a new sign-up is made next year.

While the decision proved disappointing to those who were holding out for allotments similar to those of last year, others were well pleased with the action and returned home prepared to abide by the government's program 100 per cent.

It was argued by opponents of higher acreage that it would bring about lower prices during the forthcoming season and accompanying collapse of the economic situation while proponents did not see where such a great change would be noticed.

A motion against increased acreage presented at the meeting was tabled after considerable discussion.

Much interest was centered around the decision in this county by reason of the fact that tobacco is the principal crop and the price situation means either prosperity or depression.

The farm department and the local control committee recently voted to stand by the government as others declared that higher acreage would mean placing the farmer back in the hole from which he has just emerged after years of poverty and privation.

REPEALISTS VICTORIOUS IN 4 STATES

Alabama Casting Ballot on Liquor Issue; S. C. House to Vote Tomorrow

(By The Associated Press)

Repealists chalked up victories in four States today with Alabama undecided what to do with its twenty-year-old law.

The questions, including modification of present laws for manufacture and sale of wine, manufacture and sale of hard liquor, were before the Alabama electorate. A vote of more than 175,000 was indicated.

Governor H. G. Jump of West Virginia, last night signed that State's liquor control bill creating a State monopoly effective March 1. Rival liquor legislative measures were passed by the Arkansas House and Senate. Both proposed package liquor sales, but are different in many ways.

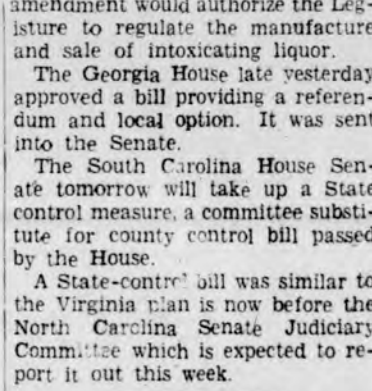

The Texas State Senate Committee on Constitutional Amendments approved a proposed constitutional amendment to eliminate Texas's 16-year-old prohibition clause. The amendment would authorize the Legislature to regulate the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor.

The Georgia House held yesterday approved a bill providing a referendum and local option. It was sent into the Senate.

The South Carolina House Senate tomorrow will take up a State control measure, a committee substitute for county control bill passed by the House.

A State-control bill was similar to the Virginia plan is now before the North Carolina Senate Judiciary Committee which is expected to report it out this week.

MISSING RICH MAN RETURNS

Moses Gulesian, Boston and Newton Millionaire, Found in Mission House

Newton, Mass., Feb. 26.—(AP)—Moses Gulesian, 71, former millionaire Boston and Newton real estate dealer, returned to his Newton home today after being located last night at the Bowery Mission, his son-in-law, James Beck, of Newton, told The Associated Press.

Gulesian was met at the station by his wife, Mrs. Grace W. Gulesian and his son-in-law and wife, Mr. and Mrs. James Beck, of Newton.

Beck said his father-in-law had been placed on a Boston-bound train by officers of the Bowery Mission and made the trip to Boston unaccompanied.

He said Gulesian was suffering from amnesia. He could give no account of his movements since leaving Newton last Tuesday. The son-in-law expressed belief that he apparently "did not come to" until he told officials his name in the Bowery Mission.

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 26.—(AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee No. 2 voted to report the Hill liquor bill to the Senate without prejudice.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind The News.

Washington

By GEORGE DURNO

OBJECTION: The other day a bill came up in the House under unanimous consent to add a sixth judge to the District of Columbia Court of Appeals. Rep. Tom Blanton of Texas, a veteran objector, raised his voice in protest and the bill went over.

There is news behind the news on this one.

Readjustment of Federal Communications Commission's personnel and a squaring of patronage differences between the White House and Capitol Hill are involved.

SETUP: The Congressional grapevine says that Judge Eugene Sykes chairman of the Communications Commission, will get the judgeship when and if the bill passes.

Sykes recently was confirmed by the Senate for a 7-year term on the communications body after Senator "The Man" Bilbo, of Mississippi, had forced a hearing on his fitness for office. Sykes also is from Mississippi and Bilbo opined as how the radio chairman worked in the 1934 primary campaign for the reelection of Senator Stephens—whom "The Man" defeated.

Meanwhile A. M. Sprall of New York took an appointment on the Communications Commission and passed up the opportunity to run for reelection to his seat in the House. As a gesture of Congressional courtesy to a former member Prall's nomination was confirmed while the others were held up. It is reported Prall will become chairman of the Commission as soon as Sykes moves up and out.

CUSTOM: The District of Columbia Court of Appeals is the "supreme court" of the Communications Commission under a specific provision of law. There are five members of this court. One is in ill health. (Continued on Page Two)

OPERATORS OF GAMING HOUSE PAY FINE HERE

Two Operators and Eight Gamblers of Ayden Fined in Court Today

Two operators of a gambling house and eight gamblers, arrested by officers in Ayden last Saturday night, were given hearing in County Court this morning and fined.

Abraham Williams paid a fine of $50, cost deducted, and W. T. Dennis, $25, cost deducted, on charge of operating the gambling house. They were ordered to padlock the filling station in which the gambling house was located and not to enter it or permit it to be opened for a period of six weeks.

The alleged gamblers, who were fined $10 each, were:

J. T. Simon, J. B. Dennis, Lyman Haddock, John Vann, Buron Corbett, F. S. Worthington, Charlie Cannon, and Ray Stokes.

All were of the Ayden community and were said to have been in the midst of a poker game when officers walked up and caused a cessation of the unlawful activity.

Delving into a docket of two dozen or more cases, court disposed of several actions before recessing for lunch. Several defendants appearing on charges of driving drunk either found their way to the roads or paid fines with licenses revoked.

It was indicated that work would be completed during the late afternoon, although it was probable the sitting would be extended until tomorrow if more than usual time is involved in hearing some of the issues.

Other actions disposed of were:

Charlie Williams, whiskey for sale, judgment suspended on payment of cost and good behavior.

Will Rice, colored, driving drunk; six months on the roads.

Columbus Foreman, driving drunk; $50 and cost and drivers' license revoked for six months.

Dolvin Jones, driving drunk; $50 and cost and license revoked for six months.

Bessie Thomas, colored, larceny; judgment suspended on payment of cost.

Cassie Dunn, colored, larceny of car battery; judgment suspended on payment of cost and $6 to the school fund.

LEGISLATIVE RAMBLINGS

By C. A. PAUL

The Appropriations Committee have been asked to adopt the "trick" automobile license tax now in use in Mississippi and Florida which is supposed to be non-removable from a car, once it has been attached to it, and which was rejected by the Division or Purchase and Contract about a year ago as not being worth the additional cost, it was learned here today. It could not be learned whether or not the Appropriations Committee have decided to adopt the new "trick" license. It is known that the company which manufactures this license, and which is patented, has a lobbyist here working for it and that if it could get this license adopted it would mean a contract that would amount to about $100,000 a year or more for this company.

The present license tags now in use, which are manufactured by prisoners in a factory located within the Central Prison enclosure here, cost the State about $25,000 a year. (Continued on Page Two)

BUS STATION NEEDED

The recent change in bus schedules here with more trips daily in each direction is quite an improvement over the old schedules, but one change we consider is worse from the city's standpoint is that of the stopping place of the buses. Under the new arrangement whereby one of the drug stores has been designated as a bus station, one of the busiest streets in town, a through highway, is used as a stopping place for the buses which causes considerable congestion of traffic especially when two or more of the buses are here at the same time. At the new location there is no place for the buses to stop except on the street.

The city should require the erection of a bus station here or at least the designation of a terminal where the buses could park without stopping in the middle of one of our busiest streets.

There is no just reason why the city should have to put up with congested traffic conditions to accommodate the bus lines when we get little or no taxes out of them.

ON TO RALEIGH

If you cannot go to Raleigh Thursday to lend your support to the movement for repayment to the counties that spent their own money for state highways, get in touch with your representatives in Raleigh now and let them know that you are behind the movement and wish favorable action on the part of the General Assembly. The more support the representatives from the counties have from back home, the better their chances of getting favorable action will be. If you can attend the hearing in Raleigh Thursday afternoon be there, but if not, write or wire your legislators now and tell them that you favor support of the measure.

The bill which would add a sixth member provides that the chief judge may select any five members to sit in judgment.

This may sound intricate but similar arrangements are made frequently between the White House and Congress.

Ever since Huey Long's attack on Postmaster General J. M. Farley the Louisiana Senator has been chock full of the anonymous and otherwise, often, placed high crimes and misdemeanors in the name of the Democratic Party.

In the course of retelling President Roosevelt's nomination and election, and then dispensing patronage for nearly two years, Farley has trod on a lot of toes. Many of those which ache, whether with cause or not are now trotting to Senator Long with the urge to pour gasoline on a smoky fire.

Big Jim's idea has been to ignore the Louisiana Kingfish but he will have trouble doing it. Debate is unlimited and the law of libel does not run on the Senate floor. Huey plans to carry the torch until somebody gets burnt—and he is not without knowledge that the administration is planning an explosive backfire.

COMPROMISE New Dealers are getting a bit apprehensive about the bonus.

Informed sources say the White House has decided to lay back and wait for House action before stepping into the fray openly.

Inspired whispers meanwhile are revolving heavily around compromise. The President has his veto power as a last resort and the soldiers lobby is well aware of it.

SLICE A lot of ideas for financing the $2,100,000,000 bonus immediately have been tossed on the fire. Inflationists particularly are taking advantage of the White House dilemma.

Mr. Roosevelt in this connection has notified Congressional leaders that the $4,800,000,000 work relief bill is as far as he proposes to go in increasing the national debt.

This doesn't stop the bonuses. Some of the ideas for cash payment would take it out of the $4,800,000,000.

RENTAL: A movie firm wants to use of Boulder Dam as a backdrop for a feature picture in which several well known stars will appear.

Once upon a time use of the damsite was okayed. Now it is held up while Public Works officials in Washington do some reconsidering. Somewhere along the line it was suggested that the movie company ought to pay for the privilege of shooting its footage in front of the world's largest dam.

Hollywood, it is understood, will be willing to pay—but not without a squawk. West Point, Annapolis, the Panama Canal and other bits of government property have been used gratis in the past.

FAMILY: President Roosevelt retains his broad smile and light banter far better than other Chief Executives.

Recent White House callers report, however, that he is privately burned up over the gossip attacks on his family.

Former President Hoover bore this cross more publicly. When a newspaper commented on his older son's connection with an aviation company Mr. Hoover devoted almost an entire press conference to some steaming observations on the unfairness of the story in question.

this amount including the cost of the steel, enamel, ink and labor. According to an estimate obtained today from the Division of Purchase and Contract, the cost of making the supposedly non-removable auto license tags would amount to at least $75,000 a year more than the cost of the present tags, bringing the total up to at least $100,000 a year. For in addition to having to buy additional steel for the various parts of the tag two specially designed bolts go with each tag, so that more than 1,000,000 of these special bolts would have to be used. These bolts and other parts of the plate would also increase the shipping weight and the cost of mailing out the tags.

The main trouble with these "trick" tags, according to those who have examined them, is that they are really not non-removable. The contention of the manufacturer of these tags is that it is necessary to destroy them in order to take them off a car, thus making it impossible to shift plates from one car to another.

Sinnett, internationally known mystic, lived up to his advance reputation yesterday and thrilled, mystified and entertained two capacity audiences at the Pitt Theatre. Below are answers to questions by Sinnett which have been sent to him in care of the Reflector:

Q—Will Greenville play Sunday baseball in 1935? R. L. P.
A—Yes, I see this city entering a league which will play baseball on Sunday this season. There will be some opposition to this movement but you will have Sunday baseball this season.

Q—Mrs. S. M. S.—Am I going to have a car in the spring?
A—No, I do not see you purchasing an automobile until the last part of September.

Q—On what date will my husband return? Mrs. R. J.
A—You can expect your husband the last week of this month. If you wish detail information come to the theatre and see me in person.

Q—Should we build a home this spring? Mrs. C. E.
A—I see you building a home in the spring and you will be making a very wise move. At the same time to invest as much money as you are planning in this home is not good judgment. Because there is indicated a change in a few years to a different part of the country and you would not be able to sell a place like you have in mind without a great loss.

Q—Will my brother marry the girl he is going with? Miss M. G. L.
A—There is indicated a marriage for this young man and his girl friend in June.

Q—Will the career I have chosen be for the best?
A—You are a subject of Venus. In other words Venus is your ruling planet and you will succeed in the vocation you are preparing yourself for. At the same time I do not see you following this vocation through life. You will be employed in a different type of work around your fortieth birthday.

Q—Where is the wrench I have lost? Mr. P. H. G.
A—I see this wrench lying under some old fertilizer bags by the side of a post where you laid it last year. Go look where I mention and you will find this large stubborn wrench but it will be practically ruined with rust.

Q—What should I do, I am very unhappy. Miss E. E. D.
A—Your unhappiness is selfishness. Get the idea out of your head that you have people to do everything for you. Do a little for yourself. You have formed an inferiority complex and nothing more. Come Eighty-seven rural members have been enrolled since January 1st. Belvoir school community has furnished 37 per cent of this total. The number of rural readers is now 1,717. There are now 346 books in the rural schools, being read under the direction of the teachers. Six teachers in the Pacolus school are using books from the library. This is the largest number from any one school at present. A grade mother of Fountain school came to the library, selected a package of books and took them out. She goes to the school building once a week and directs the selection of these books for two grades.

First Church of Christ, Scientist.

"Mind" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all churches and societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 24.

The golden text was from Job 28:28: "Behold, the fear of the Lord, that is wisdom; and to depart from evil is understanding."

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "The hearing ear, and the seeing eye, the Lord hath made even both of them."—(Prov. 20:12).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "There is more Science in seeing and hearing spiritually than materially. There is more Science in the perpetual exercise of the Mind-faculties than in their loss. Lost they cannot be, while Mind remains. The apprehension of this gave sight to the blind and hearing to the deaf centuries ago, and it will repeat the wonder."

Raymond Mercola at College.

Raymond Mercola who was a member of Byrd's first expedition to the Antarctic regions, this morning gave to the students of the college a thrilling account of his experiences.

He first told of his efforts in getting accepted, showing his persistence. In spite of repeated failures, he followed the party to New Zealand and where he joined them. He told of the conditions on which they were accepted and that the wages were a penny for two years, but said there was not one who went with the first expedition who would not go with the second. He not only gave a report of the scientific work of the Commission, but told of the daily life of the men and the way in which they managed to pass the time during the six months of darkness. A school was formed, which saved some of them from going crazy, he believes.

He said there is no guesswork about the findings of the Byrd expedition, because they were scientifically calculated and recorded from direct communication. He gave a brief report of what Byrd had done for the cause of science and for America.

He corrected a number of erroneous ideas that people have about it. There is no life there save whales, penguins, and a few seals and birds, and explained why.

He excited great interest in students about the present expedition so they will follow it more intelligently. He closed by paying a most glowing tribute to Byrd and made students want to hear about the present expedition.

Conetoe Is 'Stepping Out.'

One of the biggest and most elaborate local talent shows of the season is being staged at the Conetoe High School on Friday evening, March 1st.

"Hello, Everybody, Hello," is the title of the performance. It is a hilarious three-act musical comedy that moves with "airplane speed" which is the theme and source of its plot. It is a brand new show, and is being personally directed by its author and producer, Brandol F. James of Chapel Hill.

Mr. James who is a music graduate of the University of North Carolina, and who has been associated with the Playmakers, the distinguished Shawn Dancers, and the Jitney Players of Madison, Conn., has availed himself of a variety of talent in and around Conetoe. The ten principals are composed of members of the local school faculty and out standing community talent. There is a supporting cast of seventy-five chorus people in a variety of song and dance numbers, some of which are "comic-choruses" performed by small boys, a new feature in musical comedy work.

The director reports pleasing results from rehearsals that are now being held, and he expects to produce an even bigger and better show than the one which he directed here last season.

West Greenville P. T. A.

The Parent-Teacher Association of West Greenville School held its regular monthly meeting on Friday evening, Feb. 22, in the school auditorium.

After a short business meeting, Miss Jane Hadley's grade presented a very unique patriotic program. The stage was decorated to represent a school room. Excitement was reigning in the school room as the children prepared their patriotic program which was to be presented on Washington's birthday. The program given by the children was entertaining as well as very instructive and reflected much credit on the part of both pupils and teacher.

Miss Hadley's room won the attendance prize for the month.

a suggestion with England that a separate agreement be reached with the British on the matter of air forces. The idea of Germany being to separate the united front of England and France which she had to face in dealing with the London proposal. Germany hopes to upset those two nations by dealing with separately over what is a paramount issue in England.

Prior to the discussion of current events by Mr. Ryan there was a musical program lavish in its proportions served up under the Aegis of Phil Goodson of the attendance committee. First, he presented Miss Fullilove and Mrs. Dink James in a duet accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Ray Tyson. With beautiful blended voices they sang "Silvia." Next Mrs. Helene Kirkpatrick, accompanied by Mrs. Tyson, rendered "Hands Across the Table" in lovely voice.

Just as though it were every-day occurrence, the program next brought Mrs. Kirkpatrick and Charles James in a duet, "In the Gloaming," followed by Charles James in a solo "The Isle of Capri," who sang in a good voice. But best of all the music was saved for the last which was rendered by a trio composed of Miss Fullilove, Mrs. James and Charlie James. The song was entitled, "Pale Moon." It was done in rare form, achieving beautiful tonal effects in a nice balance of voices.

The guests for the evening were: John Lewis, Mayor of Farmville, a visiting Rotarian, Dr. L. D. Eubank, H. H. Duncan, Billy Tolson, and Dave, Tullage.

The attendance prize given by Gerald Mitchell was won by Lyman Ornduff.

All Rotarians were invited to be the guests of the Pitt Theatre following the close of the meeting. In the absence of club president, Vice-President Carl Adams presided.

Montana Rides Again

A RAPID-FIRE ROMANCE BY EVAN EVANS

SYNOPSIS: The Montana Kid and Brother Pascual enter the Valley of the Dead to try to rescue Mateo Rubriz, condemned to work himself to death in its blistering heat. Montana has just been submitted to a gruesome test by Juan-Silva, master of the valley, and has emerged victor. Pascual has been put to work in the fields; now he sees the brutal treatment of the prisoners at the end of their day's unendurable labor.

Chapter 40.

MATEO

THE guards lassoed the first man to bolt from line, threw him flat on his face, and beat his back raw with their whips. Afterwards they threw him inside the threshold, since he was not able to walk, and over that prone body the rest of the condemned stumbled.

Once inside, each man made for a bunk, in a desperate scramble. These bunks rose in tiers of five deep, with narrow aisles between them. The swiftest or the strongest took the lowest bunks, not because they were simply easier to reach, but because during the night the foul stench of humanity kept rising in the air.

But many who lagged too far behind in the general rush got no place whatever for the night. And most of those who failed were the men who had been in the valley so long that the labor, the climate, the frightful food, had worn them to a frail shell. They would die soon.

"Who says that a friar is here?"

What the friar could see made him drop to his knees.

He was still praying when a bull-toned voice bellowed through the room: "Who says that a friar is here? Who says that a big man, a giant, a priest or a friar, is here with us?"

The friar leaped from his prayer to his feet.

"Mateo!" he cried.

He heard a grunting answer, and then the thumping of heavy foot-falls. Towards that sound he hurried in turn. And suddenly the tremendous grasp of Mateo Rubriz was on him. He put his huge arms around the bandit and crushed him with an embrace. It was like hugging a huge, rounded barrel.

"How have you brought you here? The dog Estrada—was it he? Answer me, brother—Mateo—my friend—"

"I came with El Keed, to find you, Mateo."

"To find—me? Here? You came willingly? Willingly do you say, Pascual?"

"Ay, willingly."

"And El Keed—he is here? Where is he?"

"In the hands of Juan-Silva."

"San Juan of Capistrano, forget all my prayers. Remember only this last one—let the hands of El Keed close on the windpipe of the devil, Juan-Silva!"

Rubriz began to beat his breast with his great hands.

"What have I done that God should be so good to me?" he said. He recovered his voice a little and went on: "But I told you—I have always told you, Pascual—that the saints had marked me out for a great thing. Otherwise, why should they have given me two such friends as you and El Keed?"

"Mateo cried out as though in pain. "Now I am ready to die," he said.

"It would be better to pray, brother," said the friar. "Pray for El Keed!"

"I shall pray," said Mateo Rubriz. "And yet I have a better hope than prayer. For the three of us—what fools they were to let the three of us come into this one valley! We shall find things to do. Do you doubt that?"

"I know that the mind of El Keed is never quiet. It stirs even at night. I have heard him call out softly in his sleep. Sometimes of horses, sometimes of guns, or of gaming, or the name of a gringo girl or Rosita!"

"May a curse—" began Rubriz.

"Peace, brother," commanded the friar, with a certain austerity. "She repents. And it is she who keeps the good horses and waits for us outside the valley."

MONTANA had been taken, blood dripping, naked, straight to the presence of terrible old Juan-Silva and the ancient man had sat up and looked at the Kid with his eyes which were too young, saying: "It is El Keed! And now it shows that it is better to try a thing three times, so as to make perfectly sure."

"And now it is time for us to treat our guest in another manner. Take him quickly, Emilio. You know where the rooms are where we give honor to a guest. Open the press to him and let him find his clothes. Quickly! Quickly! So that he may change his mind about us!"

They took the Kid off in haste, therefore, and the gray-headed captain of the guard said, muttering: "No man ever before was treated like this! Not even the tax-collectors! Some one is growing too old!"

There was everything that a man could wish, it seemed to the Kid, in the rooms to which he was taken. The ceilings were high. The air was heavenly cool, forced by fans through constantly showering water. The very sound of which ran like a blessing through the mind of Montana.

When he had dressed himself he was cool to the point of real comfort.

REALTY STILL TWO GAMES AT FORCES AHEAD HIGH TONIGHT

Around Thirty Deeds Of Transfer Filed Here During The Last Few Days

Real estate continued to move rapidly for this season of the year in Pitt county today with twenty-nine transfers having been reported in the office of the register of deeds here the last few days. The record of transactions was similar that of the previous period with the exchange of farms and lots being about equally divided.

The largest of the transactions reported during the period was that of J. C. Smith trustee to H. C. Norman, 240 acres of farm land for a consideration of $9,000.

The next most important of the transfers was that of Prudential Life Insurance Company to H. H. Tripp, 93 acres of land for a consideration of $3,700.

Although the movement of realty here at this time is not as good as it was during the fall and early part of the winter, it is sufficiently active to carry much encouragement to property holders who have been watching the gradual revival with much interest in recent months. Although the transfer of city lots probably leads the list it is at once evident that farm property has been very active and hundreds of farms have changed hands during the past year.

The list of deeds filed for registration here recently follows:

New York Cotton

New York, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, one point lower to four points higher with March liquidation against 165 notices and commission hose buying. Prices were steady after the call with March selling up from 12.26 to 12.34 and with the general list soon showing net advances of about three to six points. The market was up to 12.37 for March and 12.56 for July later in the morning, making net advances for five to nine points on the general list, but the bulge attracted selling and at midday prices were off two to three points from the best.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York Feb. 26.—(AP)—Trends were a trifle cloudy today's financial markets but here and there firming tendencies were in evidence. Stocks on the whole were slightly improved but the trading volume during the most of the session was only about half of that of yesterday. With speculative forces waiting for some news to give the list a good push one way or the other, selectivity and caution continued to dominate the dealings. Grains, cotton and livestock were in better demand with hogs again leading the late division. Bonds were somewhat nervous. Prime corporation loans and United States government securities were a trifle reactionary. Small variations were the rule among the leading foreign exchanges. Renewed pressure appeared in the rails penddidded the unsettled condition of the stock market in the late trading.

Ruth Signs With The Braves
New York, Feb. 26.—(AP)—Babe Ruth, for 21 years the brightest star in the American league, today was given his release by the New York Yankees and immediately signed a three-year contract with the Boston Braves of the rival National league as vice-president and assistant manager.

Under terms of the contract announced jointly by Ruth and Emil Fuchs, president of the Boston Braves, Ruth will share in the profits of the club if any and will be given an opportunity to purchase stock.
Negotiations for his affiliation with the Braves have been carried on by correspondence with Ruth, who returned last week from an around the world cruise with the consent of Colonel Jacob Ruppert owner of the Yankees.

Map Plans For Relief Bill
Washington, Feb. 26.—(AP)—A conference of American Federation of Labor officials and all the legislative representatives of unions having headquarters here, convened today to map plans for keeping the McCarin wage amendment in the $4,880,000,000 relief bill.
Federation officials said the purpose was to lay plans to fight the opposition to the McCarin amendment. They promised a statement of their discussions of the meeting.
Meanwhile Senate Republican independents announced a move probably would be made Thursday to force the bill out of the appropriation committee for another showdown on the floor.

In Congress.
Washington, Feb. 26.—(AP)—A prediction that the $4,880,000,000 work relief bill would receive congressional approval without the deadlocked prevailing wage amendment was made today by Secretary Ickes.
The public works administrator gave no reason for his optimism other than to say "There is a very great demand for the public works relief bill."
With Senate advocates of the wage agreement standing pat, however, administration leaders on Capitol Hill did not make any indication of trying to bag the highly barricaded bill from the Senate committee.

WHEN YOU WANT TO MAKE UP AND DON'T KNOW HOW...
I'm your best friend
I am your Lucky Strike
Others may disappoint. I never do. I'm always mild, always fine to taste—because I'm made of fragrant, expensive center leaves, only. Turn your back on top leaves. I do. They're raw, bitter, stinging. Turn your back on bottom leaves because these coarse, sandy, grimy bottom leaves don't belong in your smoke. Before I consider it worthy, every leaf must be a center leaf, mild, fine-tasting, fragrant. That's why I'm your best friend.
LUCKIES USE ONLY THE CENTER LEAVES... CENTER LEAVES GIVE YOU THE MILDEST SMOKE
They Taste Better
