GREEK FORCES
'SMASH' INTO REBEL LINES

Heavy Casualties Reported in Massed Encounter in Struma Area of Saloniki

Athens, Greece, March 5.—(AP)—Government bombing planes and heavily armed loyal troops smashed into massed rebel forces in the Struma area of Saloniki today and official reports of heavy fighting indicated a steadily mounting casualty list in Greece's civil war.

The government troops were closing in massed offensive against the rebels. Even as they swung into action twenty-one bombing planes left the Sedes airdrome to co-ordinate the bombing attack against the rebels in the north.

The troops moving forward surrounded a rebel battalion at Porio and these were reported to have laid down their arms.

Other rebel troops were captured at Nigritia.

The massed attack came with stunning suddenness in view of the government's announcement they had only one day in which to lay down their arms.

The sudden offensive indicated that Premier Panoyotis Tsaldaris and his ministers intended to clean up the previous situation without the loss of an hour's time.

No official word had been received in Athens as to the whereabouts of former Premier Eleutherios Konstantinos Venizelos whom the government accused of leading the rebellion. It was assumed that he was still in Crete.

It was reported that one of the rebel warships, the light cruiser Helles, was hastening to Crete with steam up ready to carry the seven-year-old "grand old man of Greece" to some foreign haven of refuge.

ALDERMEN TO MEET MAR. 7

Election of New Alderman and Consideration of Sewer Issue Are on Tap

Election of a new alderman and consideration of a proposal by owners of colored homes in the western part of the city for connecting the houses with city sewers lines will be the highlights of the regular monthly session of the Board of Aldermen at the city hall Thursday night.

The aldermen are scheduled to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of W. H. Norris, who resigned several weeks ago following his conviction in county court on a charge of operating a gambling house, although an appeal was filed to Superior court.

Although no prospect so far has been mentioned, it was expected three or four names would be presented for the post when the matter comes up for hearing.

At a special meeting last week the board heard a petition from property owners in the western part of the city that they be permitted to connect with the city sewer system over a period of two years, a third of the work being done now and the other two thirds within the two year limit. At the suggestion of the same property owners at a previous meeting the board revoked an order for the sewer connections for an indefinite period.

What will be done with the new suggestion is problematical, but it is destined to hold the spotlight when the aldermen assemble for their regular monthly meeting this week, and it is probable many of the property owners will be present to press for acceptance of their plan.

The original move on the part of the city for improvement of the sanitary situation among the negro population, but the property owners protested in large numbers, declaring the proposal was economically unsound at the time and some threatened to go so far as to close their houses if the order was carried out.

In agreeing to rescind its action the board required that sanitary privies according to state specifications be erected at each and every house.

The property owners evidently put their heads together after winning their point and decided to act now with federal aid available so far as workmen are concerned.

Several other matters, including payment of bills and okeying reports of the various city departments, will be considered by the board.

Turkish Troops
On Greek Border

Thessalonica, March 5.—(AP)—A wave of apprehension swept through the city of Thessalonica today when uniformed reports indicated that Turkish troops were congregating on the Greek frontier because of the civil war in Greece.

The same report said that the Bulgarian guards had been strengthened in view of the offensive in Greek Macedonia where loyal government troops are making a drive to suppress the rebellion.

HITLER PUTS OFF CONFAB
WITH SIMONPostponement Declared
Caused by Cold,
But Diplomats Have Another Version

Berlin, March 5.—(AP)—Reichfuhrer Hitler today postponed his scheduled conference with Sir John Simon, British secretary, on account of a cold, but Berlin diplomatic circles explained that Hitler was offended by yesterday's British "white paper."

Those diplomatic circles characterized his side-stepping of the conference Thursday as "a diplomatic form of cancelling the long expected talk completely."

The British white paper was given to parliament in connection with the British government's plan for an increase in military expenditures alluded to charges that Germany is re-arming, and said:

"This re-arming, if continued at the present state unabated and uncontrolled, will aggravate the extreme anxiety of Germany's neighbors and may consequently produce a situation whereby the whole republic will be imperiled."

The diplomats as they heard of Hitler's postponement jumped to the conclusion that Hitler was angry.

SIX ACTIONS
BEFORE COURTThree of Six Cases
Heard This Morning
Involved Charges of Driving Drunk

An even half dozen cases were disposed of at the opening session of County court here this morning, with Judge Dink James presiding.

Around a half dozen more remained to be disposed of this afternoon after which court will be adjourned until next Tuesday.

Rena Little, colored, charged with doing a little piece of carrying upon the anatomy of Mary Parker, also colored, in an altercation over the week-end, was given a 90-day jail sentence but this was suspended on condition that she remain of good behavior.

Travis Dixon, colored, charged with driving drunk, was fined $50 and cost and told not to drive an automobile again in six months.

The same sentence was imposed in the case of George Perry, appearing on a like charge.

Clifton Moore, charged with selling liquor, had a 90-day jail sentence suspended on payment of cost.

H. C. Ellis, charged with possession of liquor for the purpose of sale, was fined $25 and cost.

Carl Harper, charged with driving drunk, was fined $50 and cost and had his driver's license revoked for six months.

The fact that three of the six cases heard this morning involved charges of driving drunk, shows to what extent this form of law violation has developed in this community. The court is doing its best to discourage the crime by ordering both fine and revocation of license in each case, and it was hoped an improvement would be noted in the near future.

Negro Killed
By Automobile

Edenton, March 5.—Charles Hall, 30, Negro, was run down and instantly killed by an automobile Sunday night while walking on the Belvidere road near Winfall.

Robert Briggs, also colored, of Winfall, driver of the car, was arrested and is being held in the county jail at Hertford. Hall was a Chowan town farmer living at the northeast part of the county.

NASH COUNTY
POLICE CHASE
ROBBER BANDSharpsburg Chief of Police Wounded in Clash With Robbers
Last Night

Rocky Mount, N. C., March 5.—(AP)—Local police and county officers were trailing two suspected robbers in Nash County today after they had abandoned their car, guns and ammunition in Spring Hope shortly after daylight when they were challenged by officers notified in advance of the robbery plot.

The man attacked and wounded Chief of Police Dewey Dickinson in Sharpsburg about 2 o'clock this morning when he surprised them in a store there and officers took the chase when they were informed the men intended robbing a store in Spring Hope.

A pitched battle ensued when officers tried to make arrests and the men fled on foot, leaving their automobiles.

Bloodhounds are being used to track the men where they are reported to be in a swamp near Standhope, in Nash County.

Dickinson was shot several times with a repeating shotgun and is peppered with slugs, although he is given a chance for recovery.

Late News Flashes

Today in the Legislature
Raleigh, Mar. 5.—(AP)—Crowds which filled the senate galleries and lobbies to overflowing waited in vain today to hear legislative debate on the Hill liquor bill while the House worked busily passing a number of statewide measures.

The senate adjourned after spending more than an hour debating the Barker bill to tighten regulations on the practice of optometry and the liquor bill had not been mentioned on the floor.

It was learned the liquor bill had been placed according to its number (Continued on Page Four)

SOUP KITCHEN
FEEDS POORFifty-Three Children
Given 153 Bowls of Soup by Army Yesterday

The soup kitchen started by the Salvation Army here to meet the demands of children of the poor is doing a thriving business, it was reported today by Captain Stratford, head of the local organization.

Stratford said soup was served to 53 children at West Greenville school yesterday at noon. He stated that 153 bowls of the hot liquid were consumed by the children, in addition to 12 large loaves of bread.

The soup kitchen is not only being conducted for children, but for the unemployed of the city who have found it impossible to obtain work.

The Salvation Army, announcing its plan to feed the poor last week, called on the public to contribute as liberally as possible to the cause. Captain Stratford said that only two persons had contributed since his appeal, and declared further liberal donations would be necessary if his organization is able to carry out its work as planned.

The captain said several days ago that numbers of school children were forced to go hungry because of the indigent condition of their parents, and it was hoped to greatly relieve this condition that the soup kitchen was established.

Funeral Held
For J. A. Jones
This Afternoon

Final rites for John Allen Jones, 65, who died at his home on Evans street at noon yesterday, were conducted from Williams Funeral Home this afternoon at 3 o'clock and interment was made in the McGowan cemetery on the Cox Mill road. The service was in charge of Rev. M. A. Woodward, Free Will Baptist minister, of Winterville.

Mr. Jones had been sick about a week. He suffered a stroke of paralysis last Saturday and never regained consciousness.

He was a native of Pitt county and spent virtually his entire life in the Bell Fork community. He was engaged in farming and was well known throughout the section.

Surviving are the widow and five children: Roman, of Falkland; Roy, Jesse, and Mrs. Lovie Mills of Greenville; and Mrs. Bessie Brown, of Rocky Mount.

H. B. DAVIDSON
TESTIFIES IN
WIFE'S DEATHSays They Engaged in Argument Following
All Night Party at Pinehurst

Pinehurst, N. C., March 5.—(AP)—Bradley Davidson, Jr., testified today at an inquest into the mysterious death of his wife that he had an argument over who should put up her car in which she was found dead a few hours later after an all-night party.

Davidson said he insisted that his wife not carry out her threat of driving around the side to the back yard garage in the dark. After the clash, their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Campaigne Curtis, of New York, had alighted in front of the home.

The dispute was so persistent, he said, that the guests finally went into the house and to bed alone. He said he and his wife finally left the car in front of the house and went inside, retiring to different rooms.

Oliver Holmes
Sinking Fast

Washington, D. C., March 5.—(AP)—Former Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes was sinking rapidly today and his death was believed to be a matter of hours. The aged justice's former secretary, Mal Howe, said physicians found Mr. Holmes "noticeably weaker" on their visit this morning. He added that the venerable liberal was "sinking rapidly."

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG
News Behind The News.

Washington
By GEORGE DURNO
CAT: There is at least one Washingtonian who is unmoved by the prospect of an American Louvre to be built around Andrew Mellon's rumored gift of old masters. The cold one being a government official can be classed as a transient since he was brought into the case after a tax expert had prepared it. Robert H. Jackson, general counsel for the Bureau of Internal Revenue, is among those incredulous persons who see a trick even in the proffer gratis of a whole wallful of early masterpieces.

As the news columns probably informed you, word of Mellon's contemplated beneficence first broke from Pittsburgh where the U. S. Board of Tax Appeals is hearing a $3,000,000 tax evasion suit brought by the government against the multi-millionaire former Secretary of the Treasury.

It is said that Mellon was annoyed when he learned his attorney, Frank J. Hogan, had let the cat out of the bag. Hogan, however, is a most able barrister who has let cats out of bags in the past for such national headline figures as E. L. Doherty, Albert H. Fall and William P. MacCracken.

None of the foregoing interests Internal Revenue Counsel Jackson. But their point is likely to become clear as the case develops. Hogan's knowledge of the legal loopholes in the law which were left there when Congress passed it. What was done by the ex-Secretary's able counsel may look funny to the man in the street but quite correct to the Tax Appeal Board.

STIRRING: Secretary of Interior Ickes who doubles as Public Works Administrator, is very busy these days making a survey of possible projects that could be launched by a work relief bill would only pass.

With much fanfare progressive lists of these "available" projects are being made public. In one week their total amount jumped from $8,500,000,000 to $14,800,000,000. The idea obviously is to stir up some (Continued on Page Two)

COMMITTEES
ON FINANCE
MARK TIMEWork Virtually Halted
as Members Wait
For Data on Morganton Hospital

Reflector Bureau
Sir Walter Hotel

Raleigh, March 5.—The finance committees are taking their first breathing spell since the session opened almost 60 days ago and are now waiting for the appropriations committees to complete their estimates as to how much the total appropriation will amount to. The finance committees did not hold any meeting at all yesterday afternoon and the meeting this afternoon is expected to be devoted to other than the revenue bill, since the committee have completed their consideration of the money-raising measure until they get the figures from the appropriations committees as to the total amount their bill will contain.

Representative Greeg Cherry and Senator Harris Newman, chairman of the house and senate finance committees, said they will hold up the revenue bill for a day or two more to give the appropriations committees a chance to get the revised figures they are waiting for from Dr. John McCampbell, superintendent of the State Hospital for the Insane in Morganton. Dr. McCampbell last week promised to revise his requested appropriation to include provision for additional nurses and with a view to working the nurses only 12 hours a day instead of 15 hours a day as at present, although at first he told the committee he could not operate the hospital without requiring the nurses and attendants to work 15 hours a day unless his nursing staff was doubled. The appropriations committee is hoping to get the revised estimates from Dr. McCampbell today or tomorrow at the latest, as this is about the only thing now holding up the completion of the appropriations bill.

The finance committees are going to report the revenue bill into the house by not later than Thursday. Chairman Cherry said today, even if the appropriations committees are not yet ready with their estimates. For it is now generally agreed that the house is going to take up the revenue bill ahead of the appropriations bill, with the result that it will probably be several weeks before it will have a chance to get into the house. Yet the chairman of the finance committees do not want to report the revenue bill until they have a pretty definite idea as to what the total appropriations will amount to.

Present indications are that the more conservative groups in the appropriations committees have won out and that the total called for in this bill will amount to between $32,300,000 and $32,500,000 a year. A few weeks ago a majority of the members were understood to be holding out for a bill amounting to approximately $34,500,000 a year. But at that time the committees had tentatively approved an appropriation of $22,000,000 a year for the public schools, the full amount required by the University of North Carolina and all its branches, together with a sufficient increase in allotments to all the other state state departments and institutions to provide for a 25 per cent increase in salaries and maintenance funds.

Mother of Twenty Dies
Halifax, March 4.—(AP)—Mrs. Veronica Briley, mother of twenty children, died today in her 38th year. Married when in 15 years old, she had eight children by her first husband and twelve by her second. Only nine survive.

These statements come from a prominent member of the Appropriations Committee and others high in legislative councils. Their names obviously cannot be used.

From the same source it is learned that the public school appropriations made last week will doubtless be written in the appropriations bill when it finally reaches the floor of the lower house. The appropriations for that purpose are $20,800,000 for the next year and $21,000,000 for the year following. This means that class-room teachers will receive a pay increase of 25 per cent, with a minimum increase of $80 per year a 190 maximum and a $150 average raise in salary. Superintendents would receive a 15 per cent raise, school bus drivers none. Actual school expenditures, on which the appropriations were made, were calculated to be $20,779,683.

Near Completion

Reflector Bureau,

Raleigh, N. C., March 5.—An appropriation bill calling for an annual expenditure of $32,300,000 is expected to be brought in by the joint Legislative Committee. The revenue bill as now written, which includes the sales tax with the levy at 3 per cent and the staple-food exemptions removed, is expected to yield $31,800,000 annually. Actually the revenue and appropriations measures are but a half-million dollars apart instead of from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 as is commonly reported. The $500,000 difference between expenditures and anticipated receipts will probably be made up by diverting from the highway fund an amount equivalent to 3 per cent of the sales tax levy, of retail gasoline sales to the general fund.

These statements come from a prominent member of the Appropriations Committee and others high in legislative councils. Their names obviously cannot be used.

LONG BEGINS
GUNNING FOR
GEN. JOHNSONDeclares He Will

Chief Over Coals
Thursday Night

Washington, D. C., March 5.—(AP)—Huey P. Long hearing today that Hugh Johnson had denounced him and Father Charles Coughlin as "demagogues appealing to lunatic fringes," promptly started gunning for the former Blue Eagle chief. Ruthfully assailing Johnson and his close friend, Bernard Baruch, as men who "have wrecked" the administrations of three Presidents, the Louisiana dictator shouted:

"Those wreckers from Wall Street ruined Woodrow Wilson, Herbert Hoover and President Roosevelt."

"I'll cover Johnson's case from hell to breakfast in a speech Thursday night," he told newsmen. Then he added:

"Be sure and spell his name H-o-o-e-y."

Jonesboro, N. C., March 5.—Funeral services were held Friday afternoon from the Merioneth Methodist Church, in Chatham County, for William Stouff, 21, of Goldston.

Begin Probe
Cruelty Charge

Charlotte, N. C., March 5.—Two negroes whose feet must be amputated as a result of their confinement to convict camp "dark cells," lay in a hospital here last night as authorities began investigation of their treatment.

The negroes, Woodrow Wilson and Robert Barnes, said they were forced to stand for twelve days with their feet frozen. As a result, their feet have almost "fallen off," and will have to be amputated.

County Physician C. S. McLaughlin said the prisoners had suffered from dyspepsia.

Judge Wade H. Williams, Mecklenburg County Superintendent of Welfare, Eugene Brown, Raleigh, superintendent of institutions, and J. B. Roach, head of the prison department of the State Highway and Public Works Commission, are co-operating in investigating of the case.

LEGISLATIVE

By C. A. PAUL

The office of Commissioner of Banks would be abolished and the duties of the present banking department transferred to the State Utilities Commission, under the terms of a bill introduced in the House yesterday by Representative Stone of Rockingham County. Representative Tam C. Bowie, of Ashe County, has already announced that he will support this bill.

This bill would put the regulation and examination of banks back in the hands of the same body from which it was divorced by the 1931 General Assembly, with the exception that at that time it was under the direction of the Corporation Commission composed of three men while the present Utilities Commission is composed of one full-time (Continued on Page Four)

FINAL RITES ARE HELD FOR
WRECK VICTIMStancill Stools Laid
To Rest in Reedy
Branch Churchyard
This Afternoon

Funeral services for Stancill Stools, 28, who died in the local hospital at 1:15 yesterday as result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident on the Greenville-Ayden highway, about two miles from Greenville, Saturday February 23, were conducted this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The final rites were held from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Stools, who reside several miles from Greenville, by Rev. Mr. Moye, Free Will Baptist minister, and burial was made in Reedy Branch churchyard.

Shortly after the accident in which young Stools was fatally injured, Jesse Moxingo, farmer of the Winterville community, was arrested and held under bond on a charge of driving drunk and assault with and without a weapon.

Stools and his brother Earl, were riding with Moxingo when the car crashed into the rear of another machine occupied by Henry Braxton and Jack Allen, also of the Winterville district, wrecking both machines. All were injured slightly, but Stools, suffering from a fractured skull, was unconscious when carried to the hospital and died without regaining consciousness.

He is survived by his parents, and the following brothers and sisters: Marvin, Earl, Ormond, Leon, Bonnie, Edgar, Alma, Leo, Carl and Minnie Lee, all of the Winterville section.

Young Stools was engaged in farming and had spent virtually his entire life in the Winterville community. His father operates the Heber Forbes farm, on the Cox Mill road, several miles from the city.

COUNTY BOARD
HAS LONG MEETEntire Day Spent in Discussions Without Anything Tangible Accomplished

Spending the entire day in discussions of governmental problems, the Board of County Commissioners adjourned last night about 7 o'clock and returned to their homes in various parts of the county.

Meeting yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, the commissioners spent practically the whole day discussing anything of note.

The usual bills were ordered paid, of course, and reports of the various county departments were read and approved, but it was one of those days that lots of wind-jamming is necessary without actually showing tangible results.

However, the board members understand themselves better about the things discussed and when they meet again it is likely considerable progress will be made.

R. T. Cox, of Winterville, presided over the session, and virtually all members were present and took an active part in the discussion.

He showed that his text, "For me to live is Christ, to die is gain," applies as much today as in the time of Christ. This text, he said, was the martyr of a missionary who gave his life for the cause less than a year ago.

Third Street P. T. A. Meets.

Dr. Ennett, health officer, addressed the Third Street P. T. A. meeting last night on the subject "Malnutrition or the Underweight School Child."

He stated that the three chief causes of malnutrition in school children are:

1. Physical defects, such as deformed teeth, adenoids, enlarged tonsils, etc.

2. Improper or insufficient food; or both.

3. Excessive exercise or over-fatigue.

He gave the mother a very simple rule for diagnosing underweight, saying that: "When you undress your child for bed tonight, stand on a short distance and see if you can count his ribs; if you can, he is underweight."

He further stated that the most important cause of malnutrition is excessive exercise or over-fatigue. He urged the parents that such children not only retire early, but that they have an hour's rest period every day just after returning from school. In illustrating the relationship of rest to good nutrition, he cited the example of the farmer who first plows the pigs he would fatten.

In conclusion, he reminded the audience that the same principle that applies to children applies to adults; the underweight should eat more and rest more; the overweight eat less and do more.

Informal Tea At College.

The first of a series of informal Sunday afternoon teas, when the students of the college and their parents or visiting friends and members of the faculty can meet socially, was given Sunday afternoon from four-thirty to five-thirty o'clock in the parlors of Fleming Hall.

Miss Katherine Hotzlaw of the faculty, and Frances Newsum, president of the Student Government, were hostesses. Miss Mary Green, of the faculty, poured tea and Misses Mary Love, Bertha Lane, Virginia Akers, Iva Costen Grant and Betty C. Davis served. Around two hundred guests called during the hour.

The senior class has taken charge of re-furnishing these parlors and making them attractive. They have contributed some new furniture and had the old pieces restored and added draperies and rugs.

These teas are a part of the new social program planned by the Social Committee, composed of representatives from the students and the faculty. Miss Lucy LeRoy, of the Senior class, is chairman of the committee.

Winter Term At College Nears Closing Today

This is the last week of the winter term of East Carolina Teachers College, which will close on Friday afternoon. Examinations are being held at the last class periods, as usual, with no special time set aside for them.

The spring term will begin next

GREAT RICHES

by Mabel Howe Farnham

SYNOPSIS: James Stimson, 171, an orphan, is being raised by his grandparents, who are the "best people" of New Concord. James is expected to do many fine things, and does his best to live up to the expectations. But there is one drawback; because he is an orphan, not only his grandparents but all the family friends feel called upon to take a hand in his upbringing.

Chapter Two

GRANDMOTHER

NO LITTLE boy that ever lived loved his grandmother better than James loved his Grandmother Stimson.

Old Sarah was such a pretty dainty old lady that no one could help loving her. Sarah, her daughter, had much of the Governor's dignity, but she never could compare to her mother in looks.

The older Sarah's cheeks were as soft and kindly as her voice, and her eyes, even when she was close to seventy, remained as clearly blue as the first violets James used to gather for her each April on the river banks below the Mansion. Never in all his life did James hear her speak to him harshly or to anyone else for that matter—and somehow she always understood him a thousand times better than anyone else did.

The others loved him just as truly,

They, with the inborn tact of the negro, never said anything to distress him. So James was a big boy and going to school before he found out that he was an orphan.

Harold Meyers, the butcher's son, threw this up to him as somehow disgraceful and sent him home crying as if his heart would break.

His grandmother and aunt had gone that afternoon to Mrs. Jackson Crowell's kensington, so it was Aunt Lou who comforted him, by assuring him vehemently that he did have a mama and a papa, the very grandest mama and papa that ever had been borned and no common trash like no Meyerses. Indeed, his mama and papa had been so very high-toned that the Lord God on High had Himself sent for them to come and live with Him, close to His golden throne.

"Are they sitting on golden chairs?" James asked.

"Setting on golden chairs and sleeping in golden beds with silken and velvet pillows and eating embrosial food often golden plates stuck solid with emeralds and diamonds."

"WHAT'S embrosial food, Auntie Lou?"

"You're the pesterin' child. It's whut the Lord God on High and the angels eats. You ain't supposing that but Grandmother understood the working of his young soul and mind in a truly marvelous manner.

James was a big boy before he knew he was an orphan.

Grandmother, like Grandfather, was an almost inexhaustible mine of stories. But while Grandfather told of the big things, told of stirring epoch making circumstances and events, Grandmother filled in the gap by telling of the little things.

With his grandmother's help the past of the fifties and early sixties became more real to little James than the eighties and nineties of his boyhood. As a result, James III, his whole life long, was to keep his roots fresh and green in the rich loam of his grandparents' past.

James and Sarah Stimson's first home was a small brick cottage, still standing on North Second Street, just a block from the wharf at which the struggling town began. From her kitchen window Sarah had been able to watch the biweekly steamers, loading and unloading their freight to the haunting musical chants of the darky roasts, and taking on or putting off a motley collection of passengers—whites and blacks and Indians.

Now the Stimsons lived at the extreme Southern edge of the town in a long, rather narrow house, the first James had built at the top of the river bluff in 1871. Later the stream of fashion turned to the North, but the Stimsons stayed on. For many years the Mansion, as it was called, remained the show place of New Concord and visitors in the town were driven out and shown its brightly exterior and spacious grounds and its fine cases out of ten, entertained within its hospitable walls.

Though the taste of the period ran to Mahogany rods, cupolas and fretted balconies, James built his house on simple Georgian lines. It was of common native brick, which mellowed to a lovely ash rose, with huge chimneys at either end, and a fan-windowed doorway and white pillars facing the river. Sarah had wanted awfully to have a tower, but James would not hear to it.

Living so far from other white children of his own age and condition the third James Stimson's first playmates were little colored boys.

Tuesday morning, a short vacation of a prolonged week-end will come between terms. This year two days instead of one, as for the past few years. This gives the staff time for getting term records clear and details in readiness for rapid registration so class work will begin promptly, and lets the students have a little breathing spell before the last term begins.

Mrs. Skinner Honored.

Tarboro, March 5.—Mrs. Hyman Phillips was hostess at a tea Wednesday afternoon at her home on Main street to honor her mother, Mrs. Charles Skinner of Greenville, N. C., on her seventy-fifth birthday. The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion, a color scheme of yellow and white predominating in the dining room. A limited number of friends of the honoree from Greenville and Tarboro were present.

Cardui for Better Appetite

"I was so nervous and depressed. I felt like I wanted to tear my hair" writes Mrs. R. W. Kilpatrick of Houston, Texas. "I would get ashamed of being so easily upset. I took Cardui at this time and after the third bottle, my strength began to mend. The pain was less. I quit having the depressed feeling."

A better appetite often is one of the first results of taking Cardui, and as nourishment is improved, many disagreeable symptoms of a run-down condition go away. But of course, if Cardui does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.—Adv.

ANCIENT ENGLISH BLUE LAW HITS IN TWO DIRECTIONS

*Farmington, England—(AP)—Farmington's butchers and council are deadlocked over the question of Sunday observance.

For years it has been the practice of the butchers to kill their animals on Sunday.

The council, quoting an ancient statute placed on the books in the reign of Charles I which imposes a fine of $160, warned the butchers to stop.

The butchers, however, threatened to retaliate under the same act which imposes penalties on those who do not attend worship.

They said they would keep tab on couchmen and report those who failed to go to church the number of times required by the ancient statute.

New York Cotton

New York, March 5.—(AP)—Cotton futures responded fairly steadily, five points higher to one point lower, with disappointing Liverpool cables offset by trade buying of near months.

At the end of the first half-hour March was selling around 12.28, or within two points of yesterday's closing, while later months were about net unchanged to three points lower. At midday the market was quiet with prices net unchanged to eight points net lower.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, March 5.—(AP)—Selling surges today jolted the stock market out of its recent calm. Losses of around three points predominated after the first half hour and trading pace picked up on momentum on the decline.

Brokers unable to blame the down turn on any particular piece of news were inclined to attribute it to tired holders who had decided to get out while getting was reasonably good.

Just how much influence was provided by the extra uncertainty was a matter of argument.

At any rate the British pound rallied briskly and London gold prices were reduced. United States government bonds were again firm but secondary rail bonds were in supply. Grains and cotton were hesitant. The last stock tone was heavy. Transfers were 800,000 shares.

and might not be reached before tomorrow.

Senator Griffin, of Franklin, precipitated a long argument over the optometry bill which would prohibit the employment of licensed optometrists by business firms which sell their wares and which also would prohibit bait or installment advertising.

After the Franklin solon lost in an effort to strike out the section relating to the employment of optometrists and lost a motion for a roll call vote on the bill he voted aye on second reading and did not vote on the final passage.

The bill will become law upon ratification. Observers saw in this fight a disguised filibuster to prevent reaching the liquor bill today.

House approval was voted the Garner bill to place persons suffering from occupational diseases under the same benefits of the workmen's compensation act as are now accorded persons injured in industry.

Amending it so as to make it apply to places with populations of more than 2,500, the House passed and sent to the Senate the bill to regulate photographers in the State by allowing the State Photographers' Association to set up a board of 12 members to determine and license members of the profession.

House approval on first reading was voted the bill to appropriate $25,000 for a tuberculosis sanatorium in Western North Carolina, and the Taylor bill to protect foods and grasses for wild fowl in Currituck Sound.

The House was given an unfavorable committee report on the important bills.

The Bender measure to create a commission and appropriate money for old age insurance; The Bowers bill to provide for payment of damages up to $600 for death and injury of children in school bus accidents; and the Cooper bill to increase salaries of state employees 30 per cent.

Relief Bill Reported Back to Senate

Washington, Mar. 5.—(AP)—The Senate appropriations committee reported the $4,800,000,000 relief bill to the Senate today after defeating the McGarran prevailing wage amendment by a tie vote of 12-12.

The administration victory stirred Democratic leaders to confidence and hope that the senate would pass the bill as reported.

commissioner and two associate part-time commissioners.

It is understood from reliable sources that Representative Stone is connected with a bank in Rockingham County and has become perved at the manner in which the present Banking Commission dealt with his bank.

The bill is not expected to get out of committee.

The long-awaited resolution calling upon the North Carolina General Assembly to ratify the child labor amendment to the Constitution of the United States has at last been introduced. It was introduced in the House Monday afternoon by Representative Ernest Gardner, of Cleveland County, and was referred to Judiciary Committee No. 1 for hearing.

While the bill is expected to be reported either favorably or without prejudice, so it may be placed on the calendar, it is not expected to pass, since present indications are that there is a strong majority opposed to the ratification of this amendment.

"It's simply a question as to whether North Carolina Democrats want to vote for a Republican $75,000 appropriation for prohibition enforcement or a Democratic $250,000 for the same purpose," said Senator John Sprunt Hill here today as he discussed his liquor control bill.

"It is time that the liberal dries in North Carolina become aggressive dries," he continued. "It is high time that we call a halt to prohibition by duress and substitute in its stead temperance. Just now we have neither."

Democratic legislators will be put on the proverbial spot, according to Senator Hill, when they are forced to choose between his bill and the Jonas measure. The Hill bill, while setting up a State-owned system of liquor stores after a referendum on the question would allocate $250,000 for enforcement of the dry law in those communities electing to remain dry by statute. The other measure, an opposing one, made by Republican Representative Charlie Jonas of Lincoln, would appropriate $75,000 from the general fund toward prohibition enforcement by the State. Senator Hill is, of course, a Democrat.

Sensor Hill is of the opinion that the liberals of the State are in open revolt. "And," he added, "the young people and the older liberals aren't going to leave me behind."

The Jonas proposal to allot $75,000 and sixty officers, furnished by the State to combat widespread dry law violations, was termed by most observers here as a political move—an effort on the part of Jonas to capitalize on the threatened revolt of dry Democrats, many who long ago were ready to bolt the party because the Republican party in the State has become politically dry.

The Hill bill, introduced by a lifelong dry, was termed by its author an "honest attempt to solve a troublesome question."
